President Ram Nath Kovind on Monday lauded children for raising awareness about handwashing during Covid-19 pandemic, and said that a programme launched by the Prime Minister in January had received a tremendous response.

"Thirty-two children have been chosen for the Pradhan Mantri Kaunsaal Sampath scheme for displaying visual, exceptively creative and interesting performances in various events like drama, dance, singing and swimming," the President said.

"Most children also work towards making all of them abide by the practice of handwashing, by the way they interact with their friends, neighbours and other people," he added.

At an event held at Rashtrapati Bhavan, the President said the Centre had launched the Pradhan Mantri Kaunsaal Sampath to create awareness of handwashing.

"It has been observed that children have been able to understand the importance of proper handwashing, and they have been able to keep spreading the message to their families and more widely," he said.

"I am sure that the other children, who have not yet been chosen for the scheme, are not far from being chosen," the President added.

The President said the programme was aimed at instilling a habit of handwashing among the children, and it was hoped that this habit would continue even after the programme was over.

"The Prime Minister has pledged to make India open defecation-free by 2019. The Centre’s efforts in this direction are gaining momentum," he added.

"The children have been able to contribute in this direction, and it is hoped that their efforts will continue," the President said.

"I am confident that the children, who have been chosen for the scheme, will continue to spread the message of handwashing and cleanliness," the President added.

The President also thanked the children for their efforts in creating awareness about cleanliness and handwashing.

Under him, America abdicated its role as the beacon of democratic norms. Trumpism may be on the wane there but it is alive and flourishing in India

Happy new R-Day!

Being celebrated in the midst of a raging pandemic, this year’s parade will register many firsts.

The Republic Day is all about pomp, show and glory. Primarily, it showcases India’s military might and features its tankers, missiles, torpedoes, submarines and aircraft. Among the pageantry, the Aero India at航 is a big event.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson had been invited as the chief guest but he had to cancel his visit in the backdrop of the outbreak of a new Covid variant in the UK. Before this, India didn’t have a chief guest at the R-Day parade for the last six years. In 2019, Second, due to COVID restrictions the route of the parade, which begins at the Rashtrapati Bhavan, has been shortened and after the start of the event at the National Stadium (India Gate) instead of the Red Fort as was the case till 2019. The soldiers marching down Rajpath would wear masks, as will the spectators. For those, there will be no grand starting-finish by the motor cycle and the size of the colour guard has been reduced from the regular 144 to 96. The parade has also been cancelled this year due to the pandemic. All this has been done to ensure that the social distancing protocols are adhered to. Even the number of spectators has been brought down to 25,000 from 1.25 lakh last year.

The tableau of the Union Territory of Lakshadweep will participate in the parade for the first time, featuring the Indian Astronomical Observatory, located at Hanekur Island, one of the world’s highest peaks for solar, galactic and gamma ray telescopes. Among the others, the other states will participate of the country’s first woman fighter pilot, Flight Lieutenant Bhawana Kanth, and a fag with the newly-educated Faluda jet that will be part of different formations during the R-Day flaying. The Air Force will also have the Navy contingent from the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, which will participate in the NDA contingent. The parade will also be accompanied by the culture and tradition of the ancient temple town. On the other hand, the Republic Day—which is celebrated with patriotism and fervour—will be marked by the farmers’ tractor rally on restricted routes inside the Capital.

Lung cancer in never-smokers

It has been observed that lung cancer in smokers and non-smokers is different on molecular and genetic levels. In fact, a bulk of the non-smokers who report lung cancer have never consumed tobacco in any form. While we do not have 100% of people who die from lung cancer in the US every year gives us a 20% risk for lung cancer, not all people who get the disease have any risk factors. In fact, a bulk of the people who report lung cancer are women. A number of factors can trigger lung cancer in non-smokers, including environmental factors, radiation, and inflammation.

Inflammatory compounds, as well as a bulk of the skin and topical applications, enter epithelial cells. In addition, cytokines that are released can attack the gums and mouth, and cause pain and inflammation.

The correct way to protect our skin from the sun is to use sunscreen and wear clothing. Many people do not take the proper measures to protect their skin, such as using sunscreen or wearing long sleeves. It is important to use sunscreen with a high SPF and to reapply it throughout the day.

Lung cancer is a leading cause of death worldwide. It is estimated that we will lose 2 million people to lung cancer by 2050. A bulk of the non-smokers who report lung cancer have never consumed tobacco in any form. While we do not have 100% of people who die from lung cancer in the US every year, it is estimated that we could reduce the number of deaths from lung cancer by taking preventive measures.

Whether you smoke or not, it is important not to take any risk to your respiratory health. Always report the doctor if you experience the following symptoms:

- Cough that lasts more than 2 weeks
- Blood when you cough
- Repeated chest infections
- Unusual tiredness
- Difficulty breathing when you lie down
- Having two or more of these symptoms

Making good choices is key
The Republic Day march makes for a visual treat. But is that still relevant and important? Experts speak. By Chakravart Mittal

MAGNIFICENT Marches by the regiments, India Army, Navy, Air Force, Police, and the Indian Defence Services, latest medical, ornate, weapon systems, colourfull uniforms displaying the beauty of different states of Republic Day parade in Delhi, which has always been a visual treat. But beyond eye-catching shows, what does the event of celebrating our Republic mean for us?

Devdutt Pattanaik, Author and Illustrator:

The idea of republic has basically been created out of the Constitution, which serves to remind us what we are as a country. The truth is that we are distinct and differentiate from one another. We all define equality differently in the ways we interpret it. The idea of equality too is different for every body. Hence, this Republic Day, it is time to remember that equality in the lives of our society is not a form and game. It can be different for various sections of the society. It is changing every day because of the work by the Supreme Court, determination of people, and the changes that the people want.

MAYA SHARMA, Queer Activist:

We, the people of India, this January 26, 2021, resolve to go on an expedition to the values of Constitution of all over ages. We’re all4407a. The idea of equality has, only transcended, rather than diminished. It has been an extraordinarily instrumental tool in the journey of a number of people supporting and joining the queer movement. It’s a moment. It’s a dream. It’s a fire. It’s to gather others, be it our fellow queers and indoors, the pride, and the queer allies. The emergence of a ‘Republic’ that was once exclusive has given voice to the diverse, the rights, LGBT, VAM, CAA laws and violence—these have brought people together with compassion like never before. How remarkable it is. What an experience of freedom, diversity, democracy, and inclusion. We must continue this post-independence legacy of our freedom of expression!

Dr Bhuvan Lall, Author:

A biographer of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, over the years, I have come to understand the significance of freedom. This Republic Day, we need to celebrate the freedom that the armed forces, in difficult terrains and under deteriorating weather conditions, certain bodies defending and standing up for freedom in the democratic world.

Harish Iyer, Gay Rights Activist:

This is a moment of joy, to be present in the team, to be a part of the movement. We are taking the society, including the marginalised, into a new era of equality and have brought people together with compassion like never before. The work by the Supreme Court, determination of people, and the changes that the people want.

Chelsea sack manager Frank Lampard on Monday after 18 months in charge, with former Paris Saint-Germain boss Thomas Tuchel reportedly set to replace him at Stamford Bridge.

Sunday's 3-1 FA Cup fourth-round win against Championship side Luton was not enough to save Lampard, whose team have slumped to ninth place in the Premier League.

"We are grateful to Frank for what he has achieved in his time as head coach of the club," Chelsea said in a statement.

"However, recent results and performances have not met the club's expectations, leaving the club mid-table without any clear path to sustained improvement."

The club's Russian owner Roman Abramovich said:

"This was a very difficult decision for the club, not least because I have an excellent personal relationship with Frank and I have the utmost respect for him.

"As a man of great integrity and has the highest of work ethics. However, under current circumstances we believe it is best to change managers."

Former PSG boss Tuchel, who was abruptly sacked by the French champions in December, is in line to take over, reports said.

Chelsea are struggling in ninth place in the Premier League table, 11 points behind leaders Manchester United.

Lampard signed a three-year deal in 2019 and despite a transfer ban, led them to the FA Cup final and a fourth-place finish in his first managerial campaign at Stamford Bridge.

But a huge outlay of around £220 million on new players including Ben Chilwell and German attackers Kai Havertz and Timo Werner has failed to translate into improved results.

Lampard's points-per-game average of 1.67 is the fourth-lowest of any permanent Chelsea manager in the Premier League.

Tuchel only became available after PSG lost to Bayern Munich in the Champions League final, which they lost to Bayern Munich.

The 47-year-old German won back-to-back league titles with PSG, but that was not enough to satisfy the club's Qatari owners, who replaced him with former Tottenham manager Mauricio Pochettino.

Prior to PSG, Tuchel impressed at Borussia Dortmund, having started his managerial career with Augsburg and then Mainz.

Lampard is Chelsea's record goalscorer and won three Premier League titles during his glittering playing career at Stamford Bridge, as well as the Champions and Europa Leagues and other domestic honours.

The former managerial pair will also face Chelsea in the League Cup final this month and Tuchel has the season in charge, they reached the Champions League play-off final, which they lost to Atletico Madrid.

Tuchel then became the club's full-time manager after being appointed temporary interim manager to replace Lampard in July 2021.

"He is an important icon of this great club and his status here remains undiminished," said Abramovich. "He will always be warmly welcomed back at Stamford Bridge."
