Opposition will never match BJP as long as Rahul leads Congress

The Congress party, led by Rahul Gandhi, has a long list of failures and missteps under its belt. Since taking over as the national president, Rahul has made several misjudgments that have led to the party's declining fortunes. His leadership has been criticized for a lack of vision, strategy, and effective communication.

Rahul's inability to connect with voters, his failure to address key issues, and his inability to mobilize the party's grassroots have all contributed to its decline. India’s real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is expected to increase to 8-8.5 per cent in the fiscal year ending March 2022, from 7.9 per cent in the previous year, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said in its bi-monthly monetary policy report on Tuesday.

"India’s real GDP is set to grow by 9 per cent in fiscal 2021-22, buoyed by a swift recovery in both domestic demand and foreign trade, and impulse from the vaccine rollout," the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said in its bi-monthly monetary policy report on Tuesday.

The central bank hiked the key interest rate by 40 basis points to 4.4 per cent, as it continues to pare back stimulus from the economy.

India’s economy is recovering faster than predicted but the country’s biggest banks need to speed up bad-loan sales and build more capital, an expert panel said on Wednesday.

India’s policy rate is now 60 basis points lower than the median for emerging economies.

The economic growth of India is expected to remain robust in the medium term, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said in a monetary policy report on Tuesday.

The Indian economy is recovering faster than expected and will grow by 9 per cent in the current fiscal year, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said on Tuesday.

"The Indian economy has recovered strongly from the pandemic crisis," the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said in a monetary policy report on Tuesday.

India’s path to recovery has been disrupted by a fresh wave of infections, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said on Tuesday.

The Pegasus Project

A thorough probe into the reported act of snooping is surely needed to clear the air

Snoopgate is back. Facebook claimed in 2019 that a spyware, Pegasus, developed by an Israeli company NSO Group, was used to target Indian, Taliban-linked, and Sikh rights activists among them. This Sunday, Pegasus surfaced again, reportedly targeting again of groups of Indians, including journalists, rights activists, politicians and presumably a sitting judge. The Government has emphatically denied any role in the affair. The Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology said that the report was not “true” and demanded an explanation from the Indian Mission in Pretoria. Parliament by the Opposition, Home Minister Amit Shah said the snoop report was by “foreign elements” for “political gains”. The latest round came on the eve of the most senior session of Parliament which was even otherwise expected to be stormy for various reasons. The Opposition has held the Government responsible for the snoop report and demanded a probe. A probe is surely needed to clear the air, otherwise allegations of such a nature will damage the image of the country’s democratic processes. Only a thorough probe can set at rest all wild speculations the snoop report raises. The NSO Group claims two. One, that it provides Pegasus to authorised Government agencies. Two, the Israeli Ministry of Defence’s approval is no reason to consider the snooper a ‘foreign agent’. In the case because Israel secretly approves Pegasus a claim, it may also open the possibility that a local agent in agency is behind the surveillance.

The probe should conclude with a global probe into the affair as well because there are other, tangential scenarios as well. For one, the process of a Government agency acquiring the snooper will reveal which agency wanted it and for what reasons. For another, if this time future on the presence of a multiplicity of, if any. After all, there are claims and counterclaims on a how a kind of surveillance software found its way into a South Indian Government. Finally, the international community can set up a transparent process of countries acquiring such spyware in future. The world is already witnessing the growth of the surveillance and interception industry. In Israel, there are several companies involved in the business. Back home, the Pegasus affair will not be forgotten in a hurry. It is an unusual coincidence that the phone numbers of activists that NSO Group targeted were not new to the lists mentioned among the leaked databases. The surveillance of the journalism was done between 2014 to 2019, the date when the snooper was not new to the lists and a charge was being levied against the Government of the day in Rajasthan and Gujarat, for instance. Maybe, to the Union Finance Minister’s office was claimed to have been suggested, taking the then Government of the day. In real terms, the snooper places people under surveillance and intercept information in an uninformed manner already exist and that makes the Pegasus affair much more alarming and intriguing.

As the situation in Afghanistan worsens, the Indian government has been under pressure to take action. The demand for the repeal of the Central laws is unwarranted. The government should focus on improving the employment scenario and the economic situation in India, rather than engaging in unnecessary debates.

The Indian government has been criticized for its handling of the situation in Afghanistan. There have been concerns about the lack of preparedness and the slow pace of action. The government needs to take urgent steps to stabilize the situation and ensure the safety of Indian citizens in Afghanistan.

The situation in Afghanistan is complex and requires a comprehensive approach. The government should work closely with the international community and regional stakeholders to find a sustainable solution.

In conclusion, the government must take immediate action to address the situation in Afghanistan. The Central laws should not be used as a tool to avoid responsibility and address the current challenges.

Actors Abhishek Bajaj of Student Of The Year 2 fame is gearing up for the release of his next project, which has him playing the parallel lead opposite Ayushman Khurana. In a candid chat with The Pioneer’s SHIKHA DUGGAL, he talks about acting, his journey towards self-discovery, and his love for food in between.

Caring for motherland from miles away

“My parents live in Andhra Pradesh. I used to visit them every year with my wife, daughter, and son. They were a big part of my life. I love the city so much that when we used to visit India with the crew, we would conduct workshops on English language in Bombay and many other places. Among the students that we interacted with, there were a few who had fled to India due to Communal violence. They all told me a story that they would have been living in a refugee camp before they migrated to India. Now, they are being trained in acting and can live a normal life due to their acting skills. They all have a story to tell and have now found their platform through acting.”

Every summer...

“Many students in Andhra Pradesh have been taking acting courses for a variety of reasons, from finding a new career path to simply keeping themselves occupied. In this case, acting seems to be a great avenue for them to pursue their passion and make a living. I am glad to see that there are so many talented young actors coming up in the industry, and I am sure they will make a name for themselves. I wish them all the best in their future endeavors.”

In conclusion...

“I believe that acting is a very important career choice for young people. It can provide them with an opportunity to express themselves and make a difference in this world. I hope that my students will continue to pursue their passion and achieve success in the field of acting.”

Pandemic times

“We witnessed the worst health crisis in recent history. The Covid-19 pandemic has affected everyone, and our cast and crew were no exception. We had to follow strict protocols and take all necessary precautions to ensure the safety of everyone involved. Despite the challenges, we were able to complete the shoot and deliver a quality film.”
