Lotus blooming in mire created by TMC: Modi

PM raps Didi for insulting people of Bengal, vows ashol poriborton; Mithun joins BJP

Prime Minister Narendra Modi addresses a public meeting ahead of West Bengal Assembly elections at Brigade Parade Ground in Kolkata on Sunday

AP

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Prime Minister Narendra Modi explained the “poriborton” narrative during the Sunday’s mega election rally at Brigade Parade Ground in Kolkata even as he launched a blistering attack on Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee for “letting down and insulting the people of Bengal” who had reposed faith in her by voting her to power in 2011.

“This will be the ashol poriborton (real change) and not the fake one unleashed by the Trinamool Congress when people brought Mamata didi to power with great hopes, but she betrayed them and chose to play the limited role of a bua (aunt) to her own bhatija (nephew) considering not for once the plights of lakhs of other nephews that looked up to her for respite,” said the PM, taking a dig at the Chief Minister for allegedly unleashing a regime marked by “corruption and nepotism.”

Cine star Mithun Chakrabarty on Sunday joined the BJP in front of a massive saffron crowd at the historic Brigade Parade Ground in Kolkata. The megastar, who received praises from Modi, said he had been inspired by the PM’s ideas.

“Yes I have been involved in some kind of extreme politics in my early years as I wanted to do something for the poor and downtrodden ...

now I have joined the BJP as I have seen the PM doing the works that correlate with my dreams... So I have joined this party and will campaign for it,” the former TMC Rajya Sabha member who shared an excellent chemistry with the erstwhile Left Government too said.

Reciting a dialogue from one of his movies where he said, “I am a cobra ... whose one bite will transform you into a photo frame.”

Attacking Mamata for allowing “syndicate raj, tolalabji (extortion) and corruption” to flourish during her rule, Modi said, “Your Government has seen so many scams that a ‘scam Olympics’ can easily be organised here.

The PM reminded “nepotism” and “cut money” had been the only considerations for getting an appointment in Government jobs. “But after the BJP comes to power on May 2, things will change forever... we will bring ashol poriborton and not the fake one.

“Bengal will become sonar Bangla (golden Bengal) and from city of joy Kolkata will graduate into city of opportunities... new flyovers will be constructed, new infrastructures will be developed, industrial investment which had become a story of the past will return to Bengal...”

“The smaller cities and towns will get adequate infrastructure to sustain a self-supporting economy, food processing and port land development which have great prospects in Bengal will be developed ... there will be new opportunity for the farmers, workers and businessmen, slum dwellers will no-longer have to live in shanties and they will be given pucca houses,” the PM said.

Taking a jibe at Mamata for often abusing him Modi said the Chief Minister often gets angry at him and calls him Ravan, daitya and danav (demon).

“I want to ask you Didi that why you are so angry at me for the rise of BJP in Bengal” he said, adding that Lotus bloomed only in swamps.

“The mire (read misrule) that the Trinamool Government has created in Bengal has led to the blooming of Lotus,” he said.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Sunday responded to Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s vitriolic attack launching a scathing counterattack calling “him and Home Minister Amit Shah the biggest tolalab (extortionist) and syndicate” operators of the country.Mamata, who led a massive march against rising fuel and cooking gas prices in North Bengal city of Siliguri, said, “Here the PM is calling TMC a syndicate and our men tolalab ... but I must say there is no bigger tolalab than him and Shah and no bigger syndicate run by him and the HM.”

She said the PM is “peddling lies to mislead the voters,” adding “the lesser people cannot extort more than ₹500 or ₹1,000, but what could be the amount when the people up there do the same”.

Cong accepts 25 seats as DMK fails to yield

DMK to fight on 180 seats, deal inked

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

After weeks of dilly-dallying, the DMK allocated 25 seats to the Indian National Congress on Sunday for the upcoming election to the Tamil Nadu Legislative Assembly. The DMK will contest on 180 seats in the House of 234.

The deal was signed by DMK chief MK Stalin and president of Tamil Nadu Congress Committee KS Alagiri in the presence of All India Congress Committee leader Dinesh Gundu Rao.

“The DMK and the Congress have sealed the seat-sharing deal. The Congress will contest on 25 Assembly seats and the Kanyakumari Lok Sabha seat. Both cadre will now work together. We will win big,” Rao said.

The gloom on the face of Alagiri and Rao during the photo session made it clear that the Congress had to eat humble pie in the negotiations with the DMK. The Congress had asked for at least 40 seats, a seat lesser than what it was allocated by the DMK for the 2016 Assembly election.

But the party that ruled singlehandedly till 1967 and had contributed all-time greats like K Kamaraj, N

Sathyamoorthi, C
Rajagopalachari, R
Venkataraman and C
Subramanian to the nation was at the mercy of the DMK leaders who cited the low striking rate of the Congress as the reason for the reduction in the number of seats.

The only consolation for the Congress is that it has been allocated the Kanyakumari Lok Sabha seat where a bypoll is being held on April 6

India’s Covid cases cross 18K in 24 hrs

Maha, Kerala, Punjab, Guj account for 84.71% of new cases

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Though cases are on the rise, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan on Sunday said, “We are in the end game of the Covid-19 pandemic in India” and to succeed at this stage, politics should be kept out of the Covid-19 vaccination drive.

“People should trust the science behind vaccines and ensure that their near and dear ones get vaccinated on time,” he said while speaking at the Delhi Medical Association’s (DMA’s) 62nd Annual Delhi State Medical Conference (MEDICON 2021) in collaboration with Dharamshila Narayana Hospital on Sunday.

Vardhan said over 2 crore Covid-19 vaccine shots have been administered so far and

The number of people who have recuperated from the disease surged to 1,08,68,520 which translates to a national Covid-19 recovery rate of 96.95 per cent, while the case fatality rate stands at 1.41 per cent. Indra evictees’ woes

NHRC warns State for lackadaisical attitude

Seeks ATRs from CS

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Expressing serious displeasure over lackadaisical attitude of Odisha Government, National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has warned State Chief Secretary to submit a compliance report of recommendation made by its Special Rapporteur and Action Taken Reports on additional submission filed by petitioner stating present condition and human rights violation of Indravati evictees, for more than three decades. It may be pertinent to note here that NHRC has been passing a series of directions since 2013, adjudicating petitions and submissions filed by Supreme Court lawyer and rights activist, Radhakanta Tripathy. Stating failure, negligence and inaction of State of Odisha, Tripathy alleged that despite lapse of substantial period of time, after investigation of case in 2018, direction was passed by Commission to send a compliance report on thirty two recommendations made by Commission for protection of human rights and overall development of affected area.

Earlier, acting on a petition filed by Tripathy in 2013, NHRC directed Chief Secretary, Government of Odisha, to constitute a team of responsible officers to look after needs & problems of rehabilitated persons but that was yet to be complied with. Tripathy further alleged that State authorities have been playing dirty tricks of consuming time and delaying process of ensuring basic human rights of lakhs of victims most of whom are 3rd generation. The Special Rapporteur has visited few areas and submitted interim report explaining therein tragic condition of human life due to failure and inaction of State. Tripathy drew attention of NHRC for a permanent solution of issue of human rights of victims in a time bound manner. He too requested NHRC to solve problems faced by victims for generations regarding denial of basic amenities to hundreds of villagers belonging to Nabarangpur, Rayagada, Kalahandi and Koraput districts due to Indravati Hydro Electric Power Project.

Considering non-responsive attitude of State officials & comments of complainant, NHRC asked Chief Secretary for submission of additional report in light of comments of complainant within four weeks, failing which Commission would be constrained to issue coercive process.

India to get eyes in sky for real-time border info

Earth observation satellite GISAT-1 to be launched on March 28

PTI ■ BENGALURU

India plans to launch on March 28 an earth observation satellite that will provide it near real-time images of its borders and also enable quick monitoring of natural disasters. GISAT-1 is slated to be lofted into space by GSVL-F10 rocket from Sriharikota spaceport in Andhra Pradesh’s Nellore district, about 100 kms north of Chennai.

“We are looking to launch this Geo imaging satellite on March 28, subject to weather conditions”, an official of the Bengaluru-headquartered Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) told PTI on Sunday. The rocket will place the spacecraft in a geosynchronous orbit. It will be subsequently positioned in geostationary orbit, about 36,000 kms above earth’s equator, using its onboard propulsion system. The launch of GISAT-1 onboard GSVL-F10 rocket was originally planned for March 5 last year but postponed a day before the blast-off due to technical reasons.

Experts said positioning the state-of-the-art agile earth observation satellite in geostationary orbit has key advantages. “It’s going to be a game-changer in some sense for India”, a Department of Space official said.

“With onboard high resolution cameras, the satellite will allow the country to monitor the Indian land mass and the oceans, particularly its borders continuously”. Listing the objectives of the mission, ISRO has earlier said the satellite would provide near real-time imaging of the large area region of interest at frequent intervals.

It would help in quick monitoring of natural disasters, episodic and any short-term events. The third objective is to obtain spectral signatures of agriculture, forestry, mineralogy, disaster warning, cloud properties, snow and glacier and oceanography.

GISAT-1 will facilitate near real-time observation of the Indian sub-continent, under cloud-free condition, at frequent intervals, ISRO said.

The planned launch of GISAT-1, weighing about 2,268 kg, comes close on the heels of the successful February 28 PSLV-C51 mission that orbited Brazil’s earth observation satellite Amazonia-1 and 18 co-passengers, including five built by students.

Fire damages forestland in Balangir dist

SUDHIR MISHRA ■ BALANGIR

Even as the fire in the Similipal forest is yet to be fully controlled, a forest fire has been reported from Balangir district.

According to the Forest Survey of India fire alerts issued daily, around 350 fire points are detected in the Balangir Forest Division by satellite tracking. Forest official are on their toes to rise to the occasion. The department is constrained by shortage of ground-level staffs to deal with the situation. It has become common for locals to witness forest fires in Mathkhai, Chandali and nearby forests and mountains at Ghat along the Balangir-Patnagarh road since last week. Trees in the Balangir forest shed their leaves by the month of February. The fallen leaves serve as a major cause of aggravating forest fire further. The burnt forest surface tells a tale. On Saturday night, there was a major fire in the aforesaid area, said a local, who frequently visits Patnagarh.

After the outbreak of forest fire, it is birds which suffer a lot as their habitats are gutted or damaged and they cannot stay in smoky environment. They are seen flying over there trying to escape from heat and smoke, but only to die.

Nobody knows how many eco-friendly reptiles, animals, birds, insects die during the forest fires as their habitats are engulfed by huge fires from all sides leaving them no space to escape. On Sunday morning, smoke billowing out from the forests could be visible from roadside.

There were reports of fire in the Matkhai forest and its spread quickly towards top making it difficult to douse it. "We are doing our best to check the fire," said a forest official, who was fighting fire atop the hill. "The fire will be contained soon," he added.

Nayapalli murder: 5 held for ransacking PCR Van

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

The Commissionerate police on Sunday arrested Sudhir Prusty and his brother Sagar Prusty for allegedly murdering one Tukuna Das at IRC Village in the Nayapalli area on Saturday.

Besides, the Nayapalli police also arrested five persons over their alleged involvement in ransacking a PCR Van and thrashing the two accused.

The accused were arrested after their identification from the CCTV footages and the statement of the PCR van staffs. It also alleged that the arrestees had allegedly misbehaved with an woman cop, who was present in the PCR van.

All the arrestees were later forwarded to court. It might be mentioned here that a mob had attacked the two brothers after snatching them from police custody, with plastic pipes leaving the duo critically injured.

DCP Umashankar Dash said it is not the job of the police or the people to punish the accused. It is for the courts to decide what punishment they should be meted for the crimes they have committed. He appealed to people not to take the law into their hands.

However, a friend of Tukuna made a startling revelation regarding the incident. He alleged that Jatia was killed by Sudhir and Sagar over some intimate videos of his sister.

"Sudhir and Tukuna's sister had love affair long time back. Sudhir was also a friend of the deceased.

However, Sudhir and Tukuna's friendship turned bitter when the former started blackmailing the sister of the deceased on the basis of the woman's intimate videos following her marriage with another person," claimed the deceased's friend Jitendra Pradhan.

'State's law and order situation worsening'

BJP also targets Govt on crimes against women

PNS ■ BHUBANESWARE

The law and order situation is worsening rapidly in the State. The common people's grievances are not being addressed at the local police stations and justice not provided to them.

Besides, police are shielding the accused involved in crimes against women and children. The criminals involved in political murders are being protected by cops. The people have lost faith on the police stations.

The BJP adopted a resolution in this regard at its State executive meeting here on Sunday. The party urged police to uphold their Constitutional duties to provide justice to the common people. The party warned the Home Department, the DGP, district SPs and other police officials that according to Constitutional process, they must provide justice to the people and not become tools in the hands of ruling party leaders.

Addressing the meeting, Union Minister Dharmendra

Pradhan said the BJP Odisha family is committed to serve the people of the State to fulfil the mantra of Prime Minister Modi's vision of Purvodaya and Aatmanirbhar Bharat.

Pradhan said, "Due to the relentless efforts of party members and the people's blessings, the party is steadily marching ahead and achieving very good results in the State politics."

Woman attacked; chain snatched in city

50 to 60 snatchings reported per month

PNS ■ BHUBANESWARE

With the soaring gold prices, it has become dangerous for women to venture outside their homes wearing gold jewellery in the State capital Bhubaneswar. But police are yet to plan a strategy to curb the menace.

In the latest glaring example, two bike-borne miscreants armed with sharp weapons allegedly snatched a gold chain from a woman in Bhubaneswar while she plucking flowers on early Sunday morning. The victim was identified as Anasuya Behera and is a resident of Khandagiri Bari area under the Bharatpur police station in the city.

As per reports, the miscreants followed her while she was out of her home to pluck flowers. One of the biker attacked her with a sharp weapon when she resisted the loot. However, But he managed to snatch the gold chain from her neck before fleeing the spot on the bike.

The loot incident has been recorded in a CCTV camera in the locality which has been scrutinised by the police. Her husband Dr Sharat Kumar Behera, put the blame entirely on the local police. "Snatching has become a common thing in this area as criminals find it easy to loot without any police patrolling." The snatching menace in the city has become a challenge for the Commissionerate police. Miscreants on power bikes are targeting women even in front of their homes and are able to flee from the spot.

City DCP Umashankar Dash said, "We have been witnessing an average of 50-60 snatchings cases per month in the last few years. A majority of these crimes are committed by criminals after getting out on bail."

Int'l Women's Day today

Choose to challenge; challenge to change

PAYAL AGARWAL

Challenging a distorted mentality that considers women as property, commodity, and a liability is as much essential as separating a rotten apple from a basket of fresh fruits. The stereotype that is deeply rooted to subjugate women needs to be challenged. Even religion, culture, tradition helped in glorifying the rituals which are to be performed by women for men such as fasting, etc.

"Kanyadaan" too is quite praised in Hindu tradition which symbolises the act of giving away one's daughter as a gift to her husband and her in-laws. It is the culture that celebrates the birth of a boy and associates a girl as a liability.

The National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) data reveals that crimes against women increased by 7.3 per cent from 2018 to 2019. Challenge gives the space for arguments, discussions, debates which pave the way for change. Raja Ram Mohan Roy dared to challenge the immoral Sati system prevailing in India, which finally led to its abolition. Bhanwari Devi, a member of the OBC Kumhar caste, worked as a Saathin (Friend) in the Rajasthan Government Women's Development Programme to prevent child marriage.

Her fight for injustice led to the formation of the Vishaka Guidelines (protection of women from sexual harassment in workplaces) in 1997. This helped in forming the base for Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013. The "Me Too" movement by Tarana Burke served as a guidebook for the powerful storm against the entrenched power structure. The sharing of journalist Priya Ramani about being sexually harassed by boss reflected the power imbalance in India.

Her courage gives space to other women to speak up and her acquittal by the Delhi High Court in a criminal defamation suit slapped against him by none other than the accused MJ Akbar celebrates the victory of women like Ramani who came up against injustice to them against all odds.

The court ruled that the right of reputation cannot be protected at the cost of the right to life and dignity of women. The court finally set up a precedent for women to speak up against sexual harassment at any platform of their choice and even after decades. Her case is a reminder that truth can be a more powerful weapon than a brigade of lawyers and people of influence.

The recent wedding of Dia Mirza and Vaibhav Rekhi was solemnized by a female priest (Sheela Atta) which is traditionally being performed by a male priest and their very denial of Hindu rituals of 'Kanyadan' and 'Bidaai' is itself a step towards generation equality. More so, choosing to challenge is much more important.

Bid to downgrade B'pur HPO chief post stokes resentment

Appeal made to refrain from move

KRUSHMA CHANDRA PANDA ■ BRAHMAPUR

There is widespread resentment against a recent move of the Union Government to withdraw the Senior Post Master from the Brahmapur Head Post Office, which is a gazetted post, and replace it with a junior level officer.

The postal associations have already appealed to the Director General of Posts, New Delhi and Chief Post Master General, Odisha to refrain from such step-motherly action towards the neglected region and intimidated about the undue hardship to be suffered by the denizens. Various trade unions consider the Union Government's move a well planned conspiracy to degrade the post and to destroy the quality of the postal service in the region. It may be noted here that, the post of Senior Postmaster of Brahmapur was upgraded to a gazetted post in 1983 because of the struggle of the people of the region.

According to an estimate, the Brahmapur Head Post Office is currently one of the biggest business-hub for postal services in the entire Odisha and has achieved many records of glory for rendering good service to the nation.

Presently, the Senior Post Master of Brahmapur is shouldering the responsibility for smooth functioning of 48 Sub-Post offices including the rural branch post offices under its administrative ambience with more than 70 staffers. The Union Government's plan to downgrade the office will not only affect the financial capacity of the Postal Department but also would also substantially reduce the quality and standard of services being rendered. The employees will be worst affected due to replacement of the post with a junior grade. At this crucial juncture, there a growing demand among the local public not to downgrade the post keeping the larger interest of the postal services in the region.

On March 2, a delegation of the Brahmapur Joint Council of Action (JCA) members met Brahmapur MP Chandra Sekhar Sahu and discussed about the impact of the Union Government's move. MP Sahu reportedly assured the delegation to take up the matter with the Union Ministry soon.

'Climate change disasters most pressing challenge now' Webinar held by OES

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

A webinar on the theme 'Individual and collective roles to combat climate change' was organised under the auspices of the Orissa Environmental Society (OES) on Sunday.

While president of OES Dr Sundara Narayana Patro chaired the meeting, chief speaker of the occasion was Director, India and South Asia, The Climate Reality Project India, New Delhi, Aditya Pundir. In his speech, Pundir highlighted the various climate-related disasters occurring globally and described how the ecosystems and diverse species inhabiting them, including humanity, are increasingly affected by these happenings.

He emphasized that it was imperative for the Government to limit the use of fossil fuels to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and prioritise alternative energy sources such as solar energy.

On the other hand, the people of Odisha must prepare and empower themselves to cope with the adverse effects of climate change as well as to make their own contribution to combat the most pressing challenge of time, he stated. In his presidential address, Dr Patro emphasized the need to adopt simple lifestyles, protect natural resources, respect nature and identify ways to address climate change adhering to Gandhiji's teachings. OES secretary Dr Jaya Krushna Panigrahi in his welcome address acknowledged the seriousness of climate change and expressed that it is the moral responsibility of everyone, from an individual to the globe, to make their own contribution for mitigating the impacts. Prafulla Kumar Dhal, life member introduced the guests. Mineral, metal sector stood by Odisha in fighting Covid

AK SAHOO

The relatively better economic performance of Odisha during the Covid pandemic can be because the State's economy is significantly dominated by the manufacturing sector, which primarily is founded upon the rich mineral resources of the State.

As per the Odisha Economic Survey 2020-21, the share of the Industry sector in State Gross Value Added (GVA) has remained around 40 per cent since 2011-12 but it is expected to be 36.26 per cent, as per 2020-21 (AE).

The manufacturing sector is the largest contributor with a share of 17.55 per cent to GSDP in 2020-21 (AE), followed by mining and quarrying (8.98%). Odisha's industry sector is mostly led by mining and metal industries which includes mining of mineral resources like iron ore, bauxite, coal, chromite and others as well as the production of steel and aluminium.

The Union Government under the ESMA (Essential Services Maintenance Act) exempted 'production, supply or distribution of coal, power, steel or fertilizers' and 'operation of mines of iron ore, cooking coal, thermal coal, limestone, dolomite, manganese and chromite as well as operations of ferroalloys and iron ore pellet plants which supply critical raw material for steel making'.

Such moves helped Odisha's industry sector that provides about 30 per cent of employment in Odisha during the pandemic to continue its operation and contribute to the State's economy. Operations of these industries also facilitated allied sectors like road transportation of raw material and finished goods, port operation and rail transport.

At present, the total installed capacity of steel plants is 32.82 MTPA, as per the Odisha Economic Survey 2021. The State is now the largest steel and stainless steel producer in the country. More than half of the aluminium in India is produced in Odisha also.

In the financial year 2019-20, Odisha produced about 19 million tonnes of steel and in the financial year 2020-21, the steel plants in Odisha produced about 20 million tonnes of steel (up to December 2020). Similarly pellet making capacity and sponge iron making capacity in Odisha is about 30 million tons and 15 million tons. From April 2020 to December 2020 the State-based plants have produced about 9.6 million tons of pellets and 3.8 million tons of sponge iron.

Considering their iron ore requirement and mining operation to support the production of steel, pellet and sponge iron, it is estimated that these industries have contributed more than Rs 3,500 crore of revenue to the State exchequer.

This revenue is from mining levies such as royalty and contributed to the NMET and DMF and does not include the GST applicable on the value-added products. Such huge revenue contribution during the time of the global pandemic, when the economic activities were severely affected due to the pandemic control measure, is a great respite for the State economy and the Government.

In addition to these, the operation of these industries also helped in ensuring employment to over ten lakh families, directly and indirectly. The aluminium industry of the State also continued its operations and supported the State's economy in a similar fashion. Continued operation of metal and mineral-based industries is also evident from the report on the traffic handled by Paradip Port, which is a major port of India. In 2020-21 (up to January 2021), the Port handled more than 150 lakh MT of iron ore, 82.88 lakh MT of iron ore pellet, 12.45 lakh MT of Hot Rolled Coils, 8.14 lakh tons of steel billets, 2.28 lakh MT of steel slabs, 1.35 lakh MT of steel plates and various other materials.

Data reveals that the amount of most of these materials handled by Paradip Port has increased, compared to the previous year. These mineral metal industries which include some of the large industrial organisations in the State such as Tata Steel, Odisha Mining Corporation (OMC), NALCO, Vedanta, Jindal Steel and Power, Aditya Birla and JSW have also contributed significantly to the State Government's fight against Covid-19 in various ways.

The Government of Odisha was the first State in India to set up exclusive Covid-19 hospitals with support from corporate social responsibility (CSR) funds of industries. On March 29, 2020, the Government signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with two private hospitals to set up dedicated Covid-19 hospitals with CSR funds of the Odisha Mining Corporation.

Several companies like Tata Steel, JSPL, Nalco, MCL and several others set up dedicated Covid-19 care centres / hospitals at various locations in the State.

These companies also assisted the Government and administrations' fight against Covid-19 with various CSR activities like providing free food to the needy, distribution of face masks, sanitisers, community sensitisation drives etc.

Some of the companies also helped in facilitating the supply of oxygen and ventilators to the Covid-19 care centres run by the State Government.

Several mining and steel companies in Odisha also contributed significantly to the Chief Minister's Relief Fund (CMRF) and PM CARES Fund. Odisha Mining Corporation contributed Rs 250 crore to the CMRF.

Companies like SAIL, Jindal Stainless, IMFA and others contributed considerably to the CM Relief Fund.

Similarly, JSW, Jindal Steel, Vedanta and several other companies having a significant presence in Odisha's mining and metal industry donated to the PM CARE Fund.

Such efforts by the State-based metal and mining industries were also very helpful for the State Government and the local administrations to fight against and control the global pandemic.

Reserving a part of a portion of mineral resources for use by industries operating in the State would work as an incentive for investors, new and existing, to invest in the State, which in turn will generate more revenue to the State exchequer as well as create more employment thus facilitating welfare programmes and socio-economic development initiatives by the State Government.

We must recognise the fact that despite all efforts, Odisha still lacks attraction for other industry sectors like automobile, electronics and others.

The industrial climate remains very attractive for metal and mining industries because of various natural advantages like raw material, port and others. The State Government need to continue promoting this sector further and encourage existing investors for brownfield expansions. This is because existing investors know the State's industrial environment and it would be easier for the State Government to reach out to them.

Secondly, brownfield expansions would require less land acquisition and minimal displacement, which is a major challenge for most industrial projects across the globe. Existing facilities created by the industries such as railway lines, water supply, rehabilitation mechanism etc. can be used, reducing the overall cost of the projects.

Existing infrastructure like railway corridors and roads can be used optimally. There will be more conservation of agricultural land and minimal damage to the forest and environment as less land would be required for the project and related infrastructure.

The High-Level Clearance Authority (HLCA) and State Level Single Window Clearance Authority (SLSWCA) of the State Government should give preference and priority to brownfield projects over green-field projects. Newer technology in steel making and mineral processing like hydrogen-based steel making, coal gasification technology, automated drilling, use of the internet of things (IoT) and artificial intelligence in mining should also be encouraged to minimise the environmental damage and maximise productivity.

Odisha should incentivise such brownfield expansions by providing exemptions in taxes and electricity duty. An assurance for time-bound clearance of various permissions and approvals required for the project would also be highly beneficial.

This will in long run create a robust industrial economy of the State, reducing employment pressure on the agriculture sector and further expanding the service sector in the State. The State with its existing band of investors can be a lead producer of metal and mineral resources, thus becoming an industrial powerhouse of India.

PM ADDRESSES JANAUSHADHI WEEK
‘Poor saved ₹50k crore due to health schemes’

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday said the poor and needy have been able to save ₹50,000 crore annually due to various health-related measures taken up by his Government like providing affordable medicines, healthcare and reducing the prices of medical devices. He was addressing the virtual conference on 'Janaushadhi Week' and dedicating 7,500th Janaushadhi Kendra at North Eastern Indira Gandhi Regional Institute of Health & Medical Sciences (NEIGRIHMS) in Shillong.

Jan Aushadhi Kendras were launched by the Modi Government in 2015 to provide affordable medicines. In a virtual address at the 'Janaushadhi Week' celebrated across the nation from March 1 to March 7 to create awareness about the 'Jan Aushadhi' scheme, the Prime Minister said it is helping countrymen living in tribal areas in the North East and the mountainous areas.

The Prime Minister, who also interacted with people from different parts of the country, further said, "It is clear from my discussion with people who run the Janaushadhi centres at every corner of the country and some of its beneficiaries, that this scheme is becoming a very big companion of poor and middle-class families. This scheme is becoming the medium of both service and employment". Underlining the various steps taken up by his Government to make healthcare affordable to the poor and needy, he said prices of essential drugs as well as medical devices such as stents and knee implants have been reduced manifold.

"It has led to the saving of ₹12,500 crore per year for the needy people. The Ayushman Bharat scheme is helping 50 crore people get ₹5 lakh worth of treatment. Over 1.5 crore people have already taken this benefit. It is estimated that it has led to savings of around ₹30,000 crore for people. "It means that if we collate the savings being affected by Janaushadhi, Ayushman Bharat and decline in prices of drugs and stents (medical devices) if we only take Government schemes in the health sector, then poor and middle-income groups are saving around ₹50,000 crore per year," the Prime Minister said.

To enhance medical education, he said before 2014, where there were about 55,000 MBBS seats in the country. In 6 years, it has been increased by more than 30,000. Similarly, in the PG seats — which used to be at 30,000 — more than 24,000 new seats have been added. The Pradhan Mantri Bhartiya Janaushadhi Pariyojana aims to provide quality medicines at an affordable price. Sales in the financial year 2020-21 (up to March 4, 2021) have led to a total saving of around ₹3,600 crore for citizens, as these medicines are cheaper by 50-90 per cent than market rates.

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi will on Tuesday inaugurate the 'Maitri Setu' between India and Bangladesh — a bridge built over the Feni river, the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) said.

He will also inaugurate and lay the foundation stone of multiple infrastructure projects in Tripura during the event, it said.

symbolises growing bilateral relations and friendly ties between India and Bangladesh, the PMO said. setting up an Integrated Check Post at Sabroom.

It will help ease the movement of goods and passengers between the two countries, provide new market opportunities for products of North East states and assist seamless movement of passengers to and from India and Bangladesh, the PMO said.

The project is being taken up by the Land Ports Authority of India at an estimated cost of about ₹232 crore, the statement said.

The Prime Minister will also lay the foundation stone of National Highway (NH)-208 connecting the Unakoti district headquarters at Kailashahar with the Khowai district headquarters. It will provide an alternative route to the NH-44. PTI

Cong Parl committe plans to corner Govt in House

PNS/AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI

With the Parliament all set to reconvene on Monday after a brief interval during the Budget Session, the Congress Parliamentary committee met on Sunday to discuss the issues to be raised in the House to corner the Government.

Chaired by Congress parliamentary party chairman Sonia Gandhi, the virtual meeting of the party leaders also had the participation of G-23 members like Anand Sharma and Manish Tewari besides newly appointed Leader of opposition in Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge and leader of the party in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chaudhary.

Former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh, AK Antony and Jairam Ramesh also attended the meeting in which the Congress discussed the strategy to counter the Government on issues like farmers' agitation, fuel price hike and unemployment.

Former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi targeted the government on farm laws and tweeted: "Livelihood is right not favour, PM Modi, please give MSP"

Recently, Sonia had targeted the Government over the disinvestment of PSU by the Government. In an article, she wrote: "The Modi government is using the economy's collapse since the pandemic to rush headlong into its mission of handing over large portions of India's wealth to its favourite crony capitalists. It has announced its intent to become cash rich by selling the family silver, through hasty privatisation of India's public sector undertakings (PSUs)."

She said the Modi government has explicitly embraced "privatisation", instead of "disinvestment".

On the issue of newly floated social media rules, the Congress has demanded answers from the government.

Congress Spokesperson Supriya Shrinete said: "It is absolutely certain that at the time of corona, when the entire world including all of us were standing rock solid with the Government and hoping that the Prime Minister is thinking about our lives, our livelihood, he was thinking about how to sort out this crisis, he was actually preparing to stab us in the back by first compromising with the freedom of speech and expression in the country by first controlling free press."

Mallikarjun Kharge, the newly appointed Leader of Opposition, said: "They are choking agriculture and most importantly, they have no plan to address the growing concern of unemployment in the country."

According to a Rajya Sabha bulletin, the reports of Standing committees of Health, Energy, Science and Technology, Forests and climate change will be presented in the Upper House.

On the first day of the Parliament, the newly appointed members will take oath and reports of parliamentary committees will be presented. Besides, Union Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad will move the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, which has been passed by the Lok Sabha.

The Congress and Left MPs are planning to move a Resolution that this House disapproves the Arbitration and Conciliation (Amendment) Ordinance, 2020 (No. 14 of 2020) promulgated by the President of India on November 4, 2020.

While the Law Minister will move the Bills for consideration and passing, to amend the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, as passed by the Lok Sabha, be taken into consideration.

How much liability would pension for divorced daughters of freedom fighters incur: SC to Centre

New Delhi: The Supreme Court has asked the Centre as to how much financial liability will a divorced daughter of a freedom fighter incur if given family pension like an unmarried or a widowed daughter.

A bench of justices UU Lalit and KM Joseph posed the question after the Centre told it that if at all the court allows family pension to divorced daughters of freedom fighters besides the unmarried and widowed daughters, then it will incur a financial liability and open a Pandora's box.

"How much will be the financial liability? Divorced daughters" cases would be very minimal and thus minimum liability would be incurring. Divorce daughter cases are hardly of any number in the country", the bench observed.

The top court was dealing with a question whether a divorced woman is entitled to her freedom fighter father's family pension like an unmarried or widowed daughter as two different high courts have given contradictory opinions on the issue.

The matter was brought before the top court by Himachal Pradesh resident Tulsi Devi (57), who has challenged a high court verdict of last year dismissing her plea for grant of freedom fighter family pension on grounds that there was no provision made in the rules.

During the hearing, advocate Dushyant Parashar, appearing for Devi, said the divorced daughter of freedom fighter should be put on a par with the widowed or unmarried daughter.

He said that his client's father has sacrificed his life for the country and she cannot be allowed to lead a life of penury in view of no source of income to sustain herself and survive.

Parashar said that a circular of the Ministry of Defence (MoD) dated December 14, 2012 records the intent for extending the benefit to divorced daughters on a par with widowed or unmarried daughters. PTI

Fruit growers demand 100% duty on Iranian apple imports

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Worried over a market flooded with Iranian red apples which is cheaper, an organisation of fruit and vegetable growers from hilly States and union territories on Saturday demanded imposition of 100 per cent duty on apples imported from Iran and other countries via Afghanistan under the South Asian Free Trade Agreement (SAFTA).

Kashmir-based apple growers have expressed concern over what they call an illegal import of Iranian apples from Afghanistan to India. They say Iranian produce is being sold in mandis across India and it is inflicting heavy losses on apple traders of Kashmir.

"To safeguard the interests of the domestic growers and associates, the import duty on apple should be levied 100% on realistic basis and import should be fixed. Otherwise, this undervaluation of duty will result in losses of revenue to the respective Government," Hill States Horticulture Forum (HSHF) said. The forum said it has also decided to first approach the respective governments for redressal of the vital issues which include "illegal and unlawful import of apples from Iran and other neighbouring countries through Afghanistan under SAFTA at Zero per cent import duty."

The colour and texture of the Iranian apple closely resembles the Kashmiri apple, which is famous for its juiciness and distinct flavour. Kashmiri horticulturists are worried about losing market share to the imported apple this year — because it is cheap.

The forum said this is not only harmful but will prove fatal for small and marginal fruit growers. "The sale of these apples in Mandis ... has resulted in 30%-40% decrease in prices for domestic farmers this year and there is an anticipation that if this continues farmers in these apple growing states will have no market left and will have no means of sustenance," it added.

Jaishankar, US' special envoy for Afghanistan discuss peace talks

New Delhi: External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and US special envoy for Afghanistan Zalmay Khalilzad spoke over phone on Sunday and discussed the latest developments pertaining to the Afghan peace talks.

Last November also, Jaishankar and Khalilzad had held talks during the latter's India visit on the historic peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan Government and related issues.

"Received a call from US Special Representative Zalmay Khalilzad @US4AfghanPeace. Discussed latest developments pertaining to peace talks. We will remain in touch," Jaishankar tweeted on Sunday.

India has been keenly following the evolving political situation after the US signed a peace deal with the Taliban in February last year.

The deal provided for the withdrawal of American troops from Afghanistan, effectively drawing curtains on Washington's 18-year war with Taliban in the country.

India has also been maintaining that care should be taken to ensure that any such process does not lead to any 'ungoverned spaces' where terrorists and their proxies can relocate.

India has been a major stakeholder in Afghanistan and it has extended developmental assistance to tune of around $3 billion in the last few years to the country. PTI

CCPD slams Delhi Police for inaction

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Coming to the rescue of a 55-year-old man suffering with Cerebral Palsy and whose premises has been illegally occupied by a Delhi lady cop for the past one year, the Court of Commissioner of Persons with Disabilities (CCPD), under the Social Welfare Ministry, has expressed displeasure at the Delhi Police's failure to act against its personnel for cheating the person with disability (PwD).

"...this is not merely a matter of civil nature but a matter of abuse of a person with disability by a representative of the Government and provisions of Section 7 of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016," said the court in a recent hearing in a petition filed by PwD Brijesh Kumar Jhamb.

Jhamb had alleged that except initiating departmental enquiry (DE) the police had not taken any action against the erring cop Manisha posted at Security Line, Vinay Marg who was neither paying her rent nor vacating the premises.

On the basis of the Jhamb complaint, the CCPD issued notice to Delhi police which was represented by ACP Satveer Singh (Security) during the case hearing on February 2, 2021.

Commissioner for Persons with Disability Upma Srivastava expressed shock that in "cases where a property is occupied illegally, it is normally police approached for eviction. However, contrary to this in the present complaint, a lady constable of police is herself harassing the complainant", this despite that the complainant's condition was pathetic who was trying hard to make the two ends meet in the absence of rental income, his only source of income.

The Court has now directed the Delhi police to expedite the DE against the erring cop as well as deduct rental amount from her salary to ensure that Jhamb can live a dignified life.

Given the seriousness of the situation and the assurance given by the respondent that necessary action will be taken towards redressal of the complainant's grievance, Commissioner Srivastava has also suggested imposition of considerable penalty on the lady police constable including suspension from the service and recovery of the entire due amount of rent for cheating a person with disability.

Initially Jhamb had approached the district DCP (South East) and SHO of the area who dismissed the matter calling it 'tenancy dispute between landlord and tenant, which is civil in nature and no police action is required'.

According to Jhamb, he had rented out his premises at Govind Puri, Kalkaji to Manisha in October 2019 on a monthly rent of ₹8,500. He alleged that she stopped giving rent from February, 2020. Jhamb also alleged that Manisha behaved rudely with him and threatened him of dire consequences if he reported this matter to any one further.

Unhappy at the police response, the court noticed that "miscarriage of justice is being carried out by a representative of Delhi Police which should not be taken lightly by her superiors."

"As evident from the hearing held, the condition of the complainant is pathetic who has been reduced to a hand to mouth existence on account of loss of the basic source of his livelihood, i.e. the rental from his flat," said the court in a five page order.

"Till such time the inquiry is over, the rental amount be deducted from the salary of the lady constable and deposited in the account of the complainant to ensure that he can live a dignified life," it further said.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The National Medicinal Plants Board (NMPB), under the Ministry of AYUSH, has filed patent for bio-production of secondary metabolites from Bel (Aegle marmelos), in-vitro production of secondary metabolites from tree species of Dashamoola (10 roots used in ayurveda) through hairy root cultures and development of anti-cancer and anti-inflammatory agents from Dioscoria floribunda.

"While the first two projects belong to the Institute of Forest Genetics and Tree Breeding (IFGTB), Coimbatore, the third project is being carried out by Central Institute of Medicinal and

TAMIL NADU POLLS

Bring in Priyanka slogan echoes in Kanyakumari

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

Even as the BJP has decided to field Pon Radhakrishnan (69), former Union Minister of State for Finance and Surface Transport in the Narendra Modi Government (2014-2019) as the party candidate for the April 6 byelection to Kanyakumari Lok Sabha seat, a section of Congress leaders in Tamil Nadu has asked the party high command to bring in Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, AICC general secretary as a candidate.

The seat fell vacant as Congress leader H Vasanth Kumar, who was elected to Lok Sabha in the 2019 General Election succumbed to Covid-19. Vasanth Kumar had won the 2019 Lok Sabha election by defeating Pon Radhakrishnan by more than 2.6 lakh votes. It is to be seen whether the Kanyakumari electorate would prefer this time a candidate who was thrashed in an election held two years ago.

Karti Chidambaram, MP, senior Congress leader has asked the Congress High Command to field Priyanka Gandhi Vadra from Kanyakumari as the Congress candidate and this has found acceptance among a large section of the party cadre. The people of south Tamil Nadu have been enthused by last week’s visit of her brother Rahul Gandhi MP to the three districts of Thoothukudi, Tirunelveli and Kanyakumari which are Congress strongholds.

Radhakrishnan who had won the seat in the 1999 and 2014 Lok Sabha election had been defeated from the constituency six times, making him a veteran of battles.

“ I am always available to the people of the constituency whether I am in power or not and this makes them come to me for all their needs. Ill continue to do what I could to help the people,” said Radhakrishnan.

M Ravinson, lawyer and a senior citizen from Kanyakumari said as the constituency happens to be a stronghold of the Congress, the result is a foregone conclusion. Radhakrishnan won in 1999 because of support by the DMK while in 2014, the Congress, the DMK and the BJP fought separately.

There were reports that the BJP would field a new face but the announcement has made it clear that the party in Tamil Nadu is still under the control of Ponnar, as Radhakrishnan is addressed.

Early Gujarat polls likely if BJP wins in West Bengal: Minister

Valsad: A Gujarat Minister on Sunday claimed Assembly polls in the State could be brought forward from late 2022 if the BJP wins in West Bengal.

Elections in the eastern state will be held in eight phases from March 27, while counting of votes will take place on May 2.

The term of the present Gujarat Assembly is till December next year.

Talking to reporters in Umargam in south Gujarat’s Valsad district, state Forest and Tribal Affairs Minister Raman Patkar said the environment is conducive for early polls in Gujarat at a time when the BJP is winning everywhere.

“When the BJP is winning all around, then (the party’s) parliamentary board and the state and national leadership understand that it is better to hold elections (in Gujarat) in this conducive environment,” he said.

“And if BJP wins in West Bengal, then the announcement (for polls in Gujarat) can be made in a short time,” Patkar claimed.

Patkar’s statement comes against the backdrop of the BJP registering a massive victory in the recently-concluded local bodies polls in the state.

The party won 90 per cent seats in the local bodies polls, as well as all six municipal corporations, 75 out of 81 municipalities, all 31 district panchayats and 196 out of 231 taluka panchayats. PTI

Book dedicated to Ernakulam Press Club out

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

News about news reporters may not have that much attraction for newspaper readers. Most of the daily newspaper readers are not aware of the process involved in the making of news reports which fill the daily's sheets. The lives of journalists, the unsung heroes and heroines of the media industry, fade into oblivion once they retire from service or walk into the autumn of life.

This is the reason which prompted PA Mahboob, veteran journalist, who authored “Untold Stories by Journalists” which is being released by Congress leader A K Antony, whose profession as a politician was launched from Ernakulam. This is the first comprehensive account of how journalists in Ernakulam district built the first-ever Press Club building in the country.

In modern times, scribes rush to the government with petitions and memorandums seeking hike in monthly pensions, medical benefits and accommodations, journalists of yesteryears struggled to meet both the ends of life together. Most of them were the carry forward products from the freedom struggle movement, according to P Rajan, octogenarian journalist and chronicler of Kerala politics, who played a major role in making the dream of scribes in the district to have a building of their own.

“This is the first ever Press Club building in the country, having completed the construction in 1968. The then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi inaugurated the four-storied building on December 15, 1968,” writes Mahboob quoting from various news reports that appeared in the editions of December 16, 1968.

What makes this building unique in many ways is the cost of construction, the speed with which it was built and the fact that the journalists who did not seek any financial aid from the State Government for the building.

“The plot of land on which the building stands was bought from the Kerala Government paying the prevailing market rate. The cost of construction was met by a lottery. We journalists spread out across the State to sell the lottery, each ticket costing Re one. The first prize was Rs 10,000/- and a Herald Car,” reminisces P Rajan, the lone surviving member of the journalistic fraternity of those days.

Besides being the first ever Press Club building in the country, this institution is the one that pioneered the concept of Meet-The-Press. Politicians that include Prime Minister, union cabinet ministers and former heads of State had participated in the Meet-The-Press programmes organized by us and this later caught up with the rest of the nation,” said Mahboob, who literally started his journalistic profession as a primary school student with the Press Club.

“I have seen my late father, himself a journalist and his fellow journalists sharing space on the footpath as well as in the verandah of a studio near the Ernakulam Guest House, the favorite accommodation of VIPs frequenting Ernakulam. Those days I used to ride a bicycle to Ernakulam to help my father,” said Mahboob.

The 369-page account has been done in the characteristic style of reporters, without any embellishment or adjectives. “That’s how we reporters file our copies from the Press Club and it is the professionals in the newsroom who make it in readable format. There was no newsroom staff for this book,” said Mahboob with a smile. The book is not about just how the building was constructed. It has many incidents like “behind the news”, accounts of how reports developed over the time in that era when telephone was a rare commodity, cars were luxury while Akashwani was the only source of news.

J&K: Hundreds of Rohingyas vacate temporary dwellings to escape crackdown

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

A day after more than 150 illegal immigrants from Myanmar were shifted to a “holding centre” in Hiranagar hundreds of panic stricken Rohingyas vacated their temporary dwellings in Kiryani talab area of Bhatindi and adjoining areas to escape police crackdown on Sunday.

Questioning the police action against them some of the senior members of the community also alleged that they were being targeted in the election season because they belong to the ‘Muslim’ community.

Meanwhile, the common markets where the majority of Rohingyas had set shops and run their small business units wore a deserted look in the area. Jawans of para military forces were deployed in and around their dwellings to maintain a strict vigil.

Kiryani talab area remained the focal point during the day.

Large number of these Rohingyas had converged there to chalk out future course of action in the wake of a strict action against them.

Rohingyas moves with their bags and baggage to escape police action in Jammu

Mohd Zubair told The Pioneer, initially we had no clue where members of the Rohingya community were shifted.Late in the night we came to know through different news platforms that police had shifted them to Hiranagar in Kathua. He said, “family members of Rohingyas spent the long night waiting for their relatives to return home”. In the absence of any concrete information about the whereabouts of their relatives, the majority of these Rohingyas were gripped with fear and not willing to go before the policemen.

According to local residents in the area the police had directed them to report at MA stadium around 11.a.m for carrying out verification of their documents and UNHRC cards.

Instead of visiting MA stadium, a large number of these immigrants from Myanmar, accompanied by their family members, stepped out with ‘bags and baggage’ and started marching towards ‘Mecca Masjid’ located in Bhatindi.

As they were marching through the streets local policemen on duty tried their level best to convince them to return to their dwellings. These Rohingyas spent the major part of the day occupying lanes and bylanes in the area. Late evening they were directed to return to their plots and were also given a deadline of atleast four days to sort out their issues at work including pending payments.

Meanwhile, some of the senior members of the Rohingya community also appealed to the Government of India to give them some time to settle their payment issues at work before shifting them to any other place. They also appealed to the centre govt not to penalise all of them for fault of few among them involved in wrong doings.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Risky resolve

Will Mamata's decision to contest Nandigram backfire or bring her back to power?

Electoral politics is a tricky game and, for political parties that are practically a one-person show, it's especially important for the supremo to choose to contest from such an Assembly seat that it sends a strong message among the masses that the leader is attached to the grassroots and doesn't hesitate to take the rivals head on. This has a psychological impact on the voters, not only in the particular constituency the leader contests from but across the State, which helps consolidate the vote bank in that party's favour. TMC chief Mamata Banerjee seems to have hit the right note by deciding to contest from Nandigram, the seat held by her one-time confidant Suwendu Adhikari who dumped the TMC to join the BJP in December. By doing so, Mamata — who is beleaguered by a spate of defections from the TMC in the five months preceding the Assembly elections — has taken the fight to the BJP's camp and tried to project a pro-poor image by returning to her political roots. The Trinamool's sweep of Nandigram in 2007 is one of the key factors that paved the way for her political resurrection and catapulted her to power in 2011. Adhikari, who wields considerable influence in the constituency, had thrown down the gauntlet to Mamata to contest from the seat. Now, Mamata seems to have accepted the challenge and asserted that "this is a smiley election". It might appear to be a case of simple political enmity but there is no denying that it has deeper political connotations.

With almost 40 per cent Muslim voters and a sizeable number of Dalits in the constituency, Mamata might be confident of her win and Adhikari, after all, may not have very bright prospects of defeating her but the contest here will certainly be demanding on her in terms of time, energy and attention to other seats; in other words, a victory in Nandigram might cost Mamata a few other constituencies. At a time when Didi is already licking the wounds inflicted by scores of defectors, her special focus on Nandigram might cost the Trinamool dear in West Bengal. Undoubtedly, Adhikari — who was the architect of the ouster of the Left from Nandigram in 2007 — is the BJP's biggest acquisition but the saffron party's real objective is to oust the TMC from power and not just win the battle of prestige. So, from this viewpoint, Mamata's decision to contest from the constituency might actually serve the BJP which has already launched its "Mission 200+". Moreover, Mamata's dropping out of Kolkata's Bhowanipore seat, which she represented for two terms and where her party trailed in the 2019 general elections by a few thousand votes, has given the saffron party ammunition to mock her by saying that it shows her nervousness. Whether it is Didi's apprehensiveness or a bold, calculated move, or the BJP's ploy to make Mamata channelise all her energy and focus on to Nandigram, thus making her a spent force elsewhere, is the moot question which only voters will answer. For now, with the recent turn of events, West Bengal has become a hot spot of politics with the parties doing all that they can to win the elections.

Diabolical dowry

A young woman's recent suicide in Ahmedabad must jolt our conscience and nudge us to correct course

We are living in the 21st century but it seems, for a majority of women in India, we are still living in ancient times when a woman's worth was quantified by the amount of dowry she brought along at the time of marriage. What else can explain the shameful fact that when women are going into space, working as scientists and leading countries and global bodies, young women in our country are forced to end their lives because they are unable to bear the harassment meted out by their husbands and in-laws over "inadequate" dowry? The latest in the long line of victims of a despicable and archaic system, which was abolished and criminalised in India in 1961, is a 23-year-old woman from Gujarat who ended her life by jumping into Ahmedabad's Sabarmati river. Before dying, she shot a video and made an impassioned plea to all Muslims for ending the dowry system as "it is illegitimate and forbidden". Though the woman's husband was arrested for abetting her suicide, and many prominent leaders from the community have condemned those who take dowry and asked people to end this social evil, it will not bring the woman back.

Dowry is a blot on our society and country where we worship goddesses and women are considered the incarnation of Lakshmi and Durga. It is a shame that in a nation whose Prime Minister has given a clarion call for "Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao", our daughters are either killed or forced to commit suicide over dowry. The National Crime Records Bureau's 2017 report is an indication of the gravity of the situation as India recorded nearly 7,000 dowry-linked deaths. Also, dowry deaths rose from 19 per day in 2001 to 21 per day in 2016. As usual, the fingers will point towards weak law enforcement and non-implementation of laws, but the fact remains that the laws are adequate to end this malaise. The Supreme Court recently made it abundantly clear that it will not tolerate harassment of women for dowry. It is we, the people, who have to change. Parents must educate their daughters and stop seeing them as a burden. If you have a self-reliant daughter with good education and a job, you don't have to pay someone for her upkeep. Women, too, should refuse to marry men who seek dowry. It is only when the parents and women grow a spine that this evil practice will end. Don't expect anyone else to come and help you. This Women's Day, do take a pledge to help yourself.

Exorcising the OROP conundrum

The 'One Rank One Pension' imbroglio is tormenting our Defence personnel and veterans, who continue to lose hope each passing day

DEEPAK SINHA

One issue that distinguishes the Narendra Modi Government from its earlier iterations is the manner in which it has used the military, quite successfully at that, to portray an apparently muscular foreign policy, not least for the domestic audience. This has allowed it to reap rich dividends at the hustings. Yet ironically, apart from praising the military in public, Modi has done little for them on the ground, displaying little concern for the morale or well-being of its personnel.

Take the issue of welfare of our servicemen. The Government has reduced Canteen facilities, is intent on opening up and monetising Cantonment lands, adding to the insecurity of families of servicemen separated over long periods due to their spouses being deployed either operationally or on training. In addition, he has refused to authorise the Non-Functional Financial Upgrade (NFFU), which is authorised to other Central Government services, including the Central Armed Police Forces, thereby lowering their status and emoluments in comparison to the other services. The plain fact is that the grant of NFFU to bureaucrats allows them to get OROP, through the back door as it were, because nearly all of them now retire in the Apex Grade.

All these little pinpricks rattle and more so this Government's unwillingness to implement OROP in letter and spirit as envisaged by the Parliamentary Committee headed by veteran BJP MP Bhagat Singh Koshyari: A definition that had been accepted by both Houses of Parliament and the then UPA Government in power. What is particularly galling is that Modi used this very issue to galvanise the serving and veteran community during the 2014 general elections.

His sanctioning of a distorted version of what had been promised earlier forced the veterans to launch peaceful protests on June 14, 2015, which continue to this day. The fact that the Government has done nothing to resolve matters, and instead resorted to issuing misleading statements and even violence against them, is undoubtedly a precursor as to how this Government will handle the farmers' protest in the long run.

At the end of the day, the issue is very simple. All that the veterans demand is a chance to live out their retirement with dignity, feasible only if their pensions are protected from rising inflation as the majority retires relatively young; that this Government is unwilling to do so reeks of hypocrisy.

For example, even while this Government opposes OROP for its military veterans, it lost little time in ensuring that all Members of Parliament receive pensions calculated in much the same manner that military veterans have been demanding. In 2018, it amended Clause 8A of 'The Salary Allowances and Pension of Members Act, 1954' to provide for an increase in the authorised pension every five years on the basis of the Cost Inflation Index, which clearly links pensions for all former members to what is received by the incumbent.

This unfair treatment, especially the Government's refusal to put in public domain the Justice Reddy Committee (to look into anomalies in OROP) Report, submitted in October 2016, forced the military veterans to approach the Supreme Court. Over four years later, the case has made tardy progress mainly due to the Government's efforts to delay.

By not taking cognisance of this issue, the Bench has not been kind to the veterans, who continue to suffer and lose hope as each day passes. What is worse, the Justices hearing the case, now in the final arguments stage, have repeatedly postponed the hearing on the grounds they have not had the requisite time to study and understand the case in detail. The next hearing is in a few days and one hopes the Bench will actually hear the case and not kick it down the road.

Oddly enough for the vast majority of us, not particularly conversant with the intricacies of the judicial process, this hearing in itself appears to be completely superfluous. This is because the Supreme Court had on September 9, 2008, in its judgment in the case of Union of India and Maj Gen SPS Vains and Others, ruled: "No Defence personnel senior in rank can get lesser pension than his junior irrespective of the date of retirement and similarly placed officers of the same rank are to be given the same pension irrespective of the date of retirement." These are directions that the Defence Ministry has yet to fully implement and which in no uncertain terms accede to what the veterans have been demanding.

Interestingly enough in 2014, when the Supreme Court was passing directions to the Government to correct the anomalies in the pensions of High Court Justices, then Chief Justice of India P Sathasivam directed that "one rank one pension must be the norm in respect of a constitutional office", a benefit which Justices of the Supreme Court already enjoyed.

Finally, can it really be the case that in a democracy like ours, the constitutional authorities do not see themselves as mere public servants and believe themselves to be superior to other Government servants and ordinary citizens?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PUNISH THE PROTOCOL VIOLATORS

Sir — The Government must step up its awareness drive with respect to COVID-19 vaccination as many people are still not aware of the importance of getting vaccinated. Most of these people are from villages who don't follow the safety protocols. They neither sanitise their hands regularly nor wear a face mask.

The Government must advertise the list of the centres where jabs are being provided in vernacular newspapers across the nation. It must also announce it on radio and telecast the list on national television. The information will help ensure that senior citizens choose their nearest hospital for immunisation in a hassle-free manner.

Further, just imposing a fine on those who err is not enough. There should be strict punishment for not wearing the mask. It is also seen that police officials often misuse their powers and threaten the poor in the name of not adhering to the guidelines. They extort money from poor vendors who fail to wear mask or who do not wear it properly. The Government needs to disseminate information with respect to Coronavirus vaccination through all mediums of communication. It is also the responsibility of the citizens to maintain social distancing and get themselves vaccinated when their turn comes. Even for those who have taken the jab, precaution is first and foremost. We have no idea how the virus mutates or changes its form and becomes lethal. We must remember that prevention is always better than cure.

GOVT MUST ACT TO END THE PLIGHT OF FARMERS

Sir — The ongoing farmers' protest is the result of the Government's arrogance as it is not ready to agree to the demand of the growers. The farmers are demanding complete repeal of the three contentious farm laws and are not ready to settle for anything less. The Government, on the other hand, is hell-bent to impose these laws as it is in consonance with its agenda of rampant privatisation. It will be a setback to the prevailing Minimum Support Price (MSP) system

Food wastage is a curse

It refers to the editorial 'Blasphemous' (March 6). It is a sin to waste food but the reality is that when people go to restaurants and eateries, they waste food as they order more than they can eat. The rest of the food in their plate is thrown into dustbins. Despite the Government's attempts to provide food security to all, it is still a distant dream.

Thousands die of hunger every year in India and abroad and yet people don't realise the importance of not wasting food. The United Nations Environment Programme's (UNEP) report 2021 showing 50 kg per year per person food wastage is both worrying and disheartening in view of the fact that the wastage accounting for millions of metric tonnes, if saved, can save thousands of lives of the hungry and the malnourished.

We must not forget about the plight of those who go to bed hungry. Thousands of labourers, who were recently forced to leave the big cities and migrate back to their villages during the COVID-19 lockdown, are struggling hard to sustain themselves. We have responsibility towards our poor brethren. It is also seen that people who order food at home too waste much in their plate. While placing an online order, we must take care that we order only the quantity which we can easily consume. There is a lot of wastage of vegetables, fruits and other items like fish, meat and eggs during transportation and due to lack of proper storage facilities.

for the crops and will finish off the Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (APMC) mandis in India.

The 100-day period of protest is a blot on India's democracy and the treatment meted out to the protesters is simply inhumane. However, the Opposition is with the farmers. Congress leader Rahul Gandhi hit out at the Centre over the farmers' protest and said nails were laid at Delhi's borders for those, whose sons risk their lives at the country's borders.

Farmers, mostly from Punjab, Haryana and western Uttar Pradesh, have been camping at several border points of Delhi, including Tikri, Singhu and Ghazipur, since November 28 last year but farmers across the India are now coming out in their support.

WHY NEED CELEBRITY ENDORSEMENT?

Sir — Companies signing celebrities as the brand ambassadors for their products seems to be the trend. While the intended purpose of such a move is to push up the sales, when a product has a fair market share, what is the need for brand ambassadors?

Further, when a company can achieve a sizeable market share for a product on its own strength, why should it spend unnecessarily? And naturally, such expenditure will have a bearing on the buyers as product price will go up, for where else will the company find money to meet such heavy expenditures?

To sum up, a product does not need any endorsement if it has a fair share of acceptance in the market. Even if celebrities are roped in, seldom does it help boost the sales, for the people know better about the products than the celebrities. The product must be of such quality that consumers purchase it even if a celebrity doesn't endorse it.

EMPOWERMENT
BEGINS AT HOME

Parents have to walk the talk and drive home the point that the girl child is no different from her male sibling

RAVI CHANDER KOCHHAR

Women's empowerment has often been a buzzword and the central theme of numerous seminars, webinars and panel discussions in the recent past. This is more so as International Women's Day, which is celebrated on March 8, approaches. At every such forum, it has been emphasised that a woman must have the courage to stand up and make her presence felt to ensure that she gets her due in every walk of life, be it her family, educational institutions or the workplace. All stakeholders, including the Government and society must play their respective role in ensuring women empowerment, for nurturing and effectively taking women on board for nation building.

Here, rather than mere formulation and enactment of various policies and provisions, society has a much more important role to play in achieving the desired outcome. If you study life histories of those who have made a mark in society, they follow a certain pattern with commonalities including their upbringing, education and career profile, further signifying the impactful role societies play in women's empowerment.

As it is said, "charity begins at home", the starting point for women's empowerment is within the family where each sibling must be given equal opportunity all through their formative years. In this regard, parents can play a very important role and both mother and father have to walk the talk and consciously drive home the point among the children that the girl child is no different and doesn't have to be treated differently.

The second stage which equally influences the mindset of the young generation towards the principles of gender equality and women empowerment is at the educational institutions. It is here that they come out of their homes and join peers of both genders. These children are under the mentorship of their teachers and the onus lies with the schools and colleges to ensure that the girl child is given a fair chance at every level, not only in academics and research but in all other extracurricular activities as well. It is up to the management to ensure an equal opportunity to all. There should be no discrimination in the selection process and every male and female candidate should be given a fair chance. Thereafter, all through their career, it must be ensured that women are given opportunities at par with their male counterparts and assessed on the same parameters for professional appraisal and promotions. It is also the responsibility of the management to create a conducive work environment devoid of any form of discrimination.

Further, considering the special needs of women and the biological differences with men, maternity and other leaves should be granted at the appropriate time. On the other hand, women must not take any undue favour or advantage and must climb the ladder of success on their merit. Be it professional, administrative, or interpersonal relationship, women must move with confidence. They must prove themselves as competent, committed and self-motivated. Moreover, there is a need to change the male mindset and men must understand that in today's competitive world with the ethos of gender equality at the helm, if any woman is better, they must accept the fact, learn to respect her authority and take orders from a female boss. Remember there are no free lunches and every opportunity comes with a price tag. The question is whether you are ready to pay the price!

Defying norms
for better lives

Sadly, in spite of women's foray into many non-traditional fields, only one-quarter of Indian women, compared to 82 per cent of men, are in the labour market

This year, two women created history by joining the Telangana Southern Power Distribution Corporation Limited (TSSPD-CL) as junior powerline workers and becoming a part of a workforce that has solely comprised men in the State. The women did so after qualifying tests, including climbing up an electric pole. Still the job didn't come on a platter. The duo had to knock on the High Court's door, challenging the corporation's stand that "such posts are reserved for men."

Nevertheless, despite such occupational segregations and archaic rules, many women dared to storm male bastions. Surely, Delhi's Mehrunnisha Shokat Ali is one of them. She has been working as a bouncer for the last 15 years, demolishing the notion that women belong to the weaker sex and need men's protection. "I was always fascinated by people in the Army and the police. But I couldn't nurture any such ambitions as my highly orthodox father was totally against giving any of his daughters an education. Thankfully, my mother sent us to school", reminiscences Mehrunnisha. "When I joined the NCC in school, my father got furious and burnt my uniform. Luckily, by that time, I had learnt some basics of judo and boxing. Later, after seeing a posse of well-built men in black suits in the show Indian Idol, I wanted to become one of them", she recounts.

However, after her father suffered a loss in business, the responsibility of becoming the family's breadwinner was thrust on her. Luckily she met Arun Rana, who owns a security agency and a restaurant in Hauz Khas, South Delhi. Rana engaged her in his restaurant as he was "looking for women bouncers to put female customers at ease and found her very capable of easing any tension." Now, in her mid-30s, Mehrunnisha, who maintains a strict workout regime, has earned the experience of working with many high-profile women and men in the world of film, entertainment and business. She looks forward to launching her own security agency with her sister Tarannum, who is also a bouncer.

Unlike the Ali sisters, for 24-year-old Sabina working for a top global brand in Gurugram, the path was less bumpy. Sabina confidently says: "I learnt martial arts in order to become a bouncer. I am not in the profession for money alone, I get a lot of respect in my workplace. I shall marry, only if I am allowed to work." Now, the vice-president of a security agency with a pan-India clientele, Sabina admits that "there is a growing demand for women security personnel and many clients consider them safe, more disciplined and efficient."

The security business is not the only glass ceiling that women are breaking. While, in the Indian psyche, alcohol, cocktails, booze are still taboo words and going to a bar is a strict "no, no" for girls, there are many women like Delhi's Suchana Bera Sharma, who are breaking the barriers here too. A management degree-holder, Suchana is a mixologist and currently the India brand head of a major player in the global spirits industry. A prolific travel, cuisine and lifestyle writer with a huge Instagram following, Suchana explains that "mixology is not only about creating a unique blend, but delving deep into the history and culture of each drink by continuously educating oneself, along with hands-on experience." A young mother, she gives the credit for her success to her parents, husband and two siblings and says "more women are now shaking off inhibitions, coming forward and supporting each other."

Though women at the steering wheel may not be a uncommon sight, but, choosing it as a vocation is. Notwithstanding age-old biases about women drivers, Delhi's Anjana, Kolkata's Manasi and Jaipur's Ganga are professional drivers. Leaving behind their traumatic past, all of them got their training under the 'Women at the Wheels' programme of the Azad Foundation, a multi-city-based NGO. Anjana, who has been driving commercial cabs for the last eight years, now confidently says that, "I enjoy my work. I got my heavy vehicle driving licence in 2020 and am ready for any challenging job." Trapped in an unhappy marriage with a drunkard husband who had no fixed income, Anjana was desperately looking for a job to feed her two children when Azad Foundation came to her aid. Anjana, now, in her late-30s, says that "my life's only mission is to fulfil the dreams of my two children. My husband no longer interferes in my life, though the separation suit is still pending in the court." Manasi, a victim of child marriage, proudly says, "I use my Alto 300 car for commercial rides, which I got under the West Bengal Government's Gatidhara scheme in 2019. This way I can feed my family." She lost her husband even before her first child was born. Manasi was soon thrown out of her in-laws' house, while, her impoverished father was equally unwilling to bear her burden. In search of a living, she left her father's home for Kolkata, got a job at a loan financing company for a paltry sum, which enabled her to put her son at a care agency. In her lone struggle, she was duped by an unscrupulous man with false promises of marriage, who deserted her once she became pregnant. The local church came to her rescue and her life got irrevocably changed once she came in touch with the Azad Foundation. Now, her elder son is in a boarding school, the younger one studies in a reputed school in Kolkata and Manasi is saving money for a house of her own.

While, Ganga's poor father married her off at an early age, and at her in-laws' place, she faced continuous harassment, initially, for dowry, and later, for giving birth to two girl children. When she came to live with her husband in his workplace at Jaipur, she attempted to commit suicide along with her daughters when she couldn't bear the mental and physical torture any more. She was rescued from the railway station and given shelter at a welfare home, where she worked for some time, and put her daughters in an orphanage. Today, her daughters stay with her, study in good schools, and she is the owner of two cars. She drives one herself while the other one is driven by her sister. Ganga says that "I don't want to look back, and I would like to help more women who suffered like me."

Amrita Gupta, director, research and advocacy, Azad Foundation says that in order to encourage resource-poor women, who are mostly first generation learners, a flexible training mode is followed, covering technical skills for the licence test, and also transformative aspects like spoken English, self-defence, basic etiquette. On an average, about 300-400 women get training every year and about 50 per cent of them get placements.

Sadly, in spite of women's foray into many non-traditional fields, only one-quarter of Indian women, compared to 82 per cent of men, are in the labour market, says a World Economic Forum, 2020 report. Worryingly, this is likely to shrink further by 23.5 percentage points in the post-pandemic phase, says Oxfam.

This major gender gap in employment can only be reversed by turning the focus on women in economic revival strategies and adopting a gender-sensitive approach in a post-pandemic world. Only then will we be able to create a 'New India.'

When the unsung dare to dream and sing despite all odds

If we look around us, in the communities closest to us, we may find many such women shining beneath the rubble of class, caste and poverty

It is quite customary to see the world applauding women achievers around the time of the International Women's Day, which is today. Scores of felicitation ceremonies where women trail-blazers are recognised for their contribution are organised across the length and breadth of the country and around the world. It is encouraging to see the accolades and to learn about the women who are finally being given their space under the Sun.

But this article is a story about a young woman whom few know and as of now, her public face is limited, to say the least. She is not part of a large organisation. She is the daughter of the woman who helps to keep the wheels of my domestic set-up move smoothly. Her name is Shilpa and she is all of 23.

SWATI PAL

The writer is Principal, Janki Devi Memorial College, University of Delhi. The views expressed are personal.

I first heard about Shilpa when her mother started helping me out at home around six-and-a-half-years ago. She is the eldest of four siblings, all girls. Her mother would often tell me sorrowfully about how she would be taunted by others for not having borne a son and I would pacify her and tell her that I, too, was one of four daughters. It was always wonderful to hear about her daughters and slowly as the anecdotes were narrated, I learnt about Shilpa.

I learnt that she could sing Hindi, English and even Punjabi songs. Soon I was delighted to actually hear her sing and she sang with her father, a man who makes his living by setting up a food stall where he sells the most delicious biryani among other delicacies. The father sang melodiously but Shilpa's voice simply held me spell-bound. It was powerful, it was musical and it was like liquid gold. Not a note out of place. And the felicity with which she sang English songs quite took my breath away.

Shilpa was never interested in studies but completed her school education till the 12th standard. Hearing her talk in English and listening to her sing, in three different languages with equal fluency, I understood as never before that the university of life is as educative as actual institutions of repute and concrete.

Shilpa tells me, and I quote her own words, in English, "I did not learn to sing. I used to sing on my own and listen to the songs on radio and TV. I heard a brother (boy) singing, his name is Vijay. He took me to his NGO named Ideal Youth Health and Welfare Society and when we went there, he told me that we could sing there. That platform became my identity for me."

As time went by, Shilpa met like-minded people at the NGO, people who nurtured a passion for singing like herself. And with them, she formed a band, the Savitribai Phule Band. I marveled at the appropriateness of the name: Who better than the great Indian social reformer and educationist, Savitribai Phule often credited as being the mother of Indian feminism, to name one's band after. The band members are Shivraj, Raja, Aman, Varsha, Neha, Sunil, Rohit and Shilpa herself.

Shivaraj is the Coordinator. Sunil plays the cohone, Aman and Varsha, the guitar and Neha and Raja form the chorus. Shilpa is the lead singer of the band and is accompanied by Rohit. They have performed professionally at various places in Delhi including the Viswa Yuva Kendra where their performance was hugely appreciated and also at Lucknow and Chandigarh.

Shilpa is a representative of women who dare to dream, who are powerhouses of talent and creativity, who do not allow their social standing to come between them and the world. If we look around us, in the communities closest to us, we may find many such women, who are precious gemstones, shining beneath the rubble of class, caste and poverty.

The college which I have been a part of for close to three decades has many such students. Students who come from the most underprivileged situations but that did not prevent Aisha from becoming a writer, Smridhi from becoming a police officer and Shweta from becoming a professional photographer (names have been changed). One may have been a Delhi Road Transport bus driver's daughter, another may have had a sex worker as her mother and yet another may have a parent who sweeps the road. But they became who they are today, after beating all odds. On the sheer dint of their talent and hard work.

When I asked Shilpa what her dreams and plans for the future are, she answered fearlessly and confidently, "I want to be a very big singer in the future. I want to take my band forward and perform abroad."

She trains daily. Sings wherever called. Her passion burns bright. She is undaunted by circumstances. Failures never dim her ebullient spirit. So she may have no definitive plan of action but somehow, I know she's going to make it big, as big as the dreams she has. If she is only allowed to sing, the way she wants.

Biden marking ‘Bloody Sunday’ by signing voting rights order

AP ■ WASHINGTON

A new executive order from President Joe Biden directs federal agencies to take a series of steps to promote voting access, a move that comes as congressional Democrats press for a sweeping voting and elections Bill to counter efforts to restrict voting access.

His plan was being announced during a recorded address on the 56th commemoration of “Bloody Sunday,” the 1965 incident in which some 600 civil rights activists were viciously beaten by state troopers as they tried to march for voting rights in Selma, Alabama.

“Every eligible voter should be able to vote and have it counted,” Biden says in his prepared remarks to Sunday’s Martin and Coretta King Unity Breakfast. “If you have the best ideas, you have nothing to hide. Let the people vote.”

Biden’s order includes several modest provisions. It directs federal agencies to expand access to voter registration and election information, calls on the heads of federal agencies to come up with plans to give federal employees time off to vote or volunteer as nonpartisan poll workers, and proscribes an overhaul of the government’s Vote.gov website.

Democrats are attempting to solidify support for House Resolution 1, which touches on virtually every aspect of the electoral process. It was approved Wednesday on a near party-line vote, 220-210.

The voting rights Bill includes provisions to restrict partisan gerrymandering of congressional districts, strike down hurdles to voting and bring transparency to a murky campaign finance system that

A never-before-seen effort to ignore, undermine and undo the will of the people.”

Biden’s remarks also pay tribute to the late civil rights giants Rev. CT Vivian, Rev. Joseph Lowery and Rep. John Lewis. All played critical roles in the 1965 organising efforts in Selma and all died in within the past year.

Where ISIS ruled, Pope calls on Christians to forgive, rebuild

AP ■ QARAQOSH (IRAQ)

Pope Francis urged Iraq’s Christians on Sunday to forgive the injustices committed against them by Muslim extremists and to rebuild as he visited the wrecked shells of churches and met ecstatic crowds in the community’s historic heartland, which was nearly erased by the Islamic State group’s horrific reign.

Christian and Muslim leaders in Mosul have welcomed Pope Francis’ visit to the Iraqi city devastated by war and are calling on Christians who fled the Islamic State group’s onslaught to return.

At each stop in northern Iraq, the remnants of its Christian population turned out, jubilant, ululating, decked out in colourful dress, though heavy security prevented Francis from plunging into the crowd as he would normally do. Nonetheless, they simply seemed overjoyed that he had come and that they had not been forgotten.

It was a sign of the desperation for support among an ancient community uncertain whether it can hold on. The traditionally Christian towns dotting the Nineveh Plains of the north emptied out in 2014 as Christians — as well as many Muslims — fled the Islamic State group’s onslaught.

Only a few have returned to their homes since the defeat of ISIS in Iraq was declared four years ago, and the rest remain scattered elsewhere in Iraq or abroad. Bells rang out in the town of Qaraqosh as the pope arrived.

Speaking to a packed Church of the Immaculate Conception, Francis said “forgiveness” is a key word for Christians.

“The road to a full recovery may still be long, but I ask you, please, not to grow discouraged. What is needed is the ability to forgive, but also the courage not to give up.” The Qaraqosh church has been extensively renovated after being vandalized by IS militants during their takeover of the town, making it a symbol of recovery efforts.

Iraq’s Christian population, which have exited here since the time of Christ, has dwindled from around 1.5 million before the 2003 US-led invasion that plunged the country into chaos to just a few hundred thousand today.

Francis’s visit to Iraq, which was on its last day Sunday, aimed to encourage them to stay and help rebuild the country and restore what he called its “intricately designed carpet” of faith and ethnic groups.

Earlier Sunday, Francis, dressed in white, took to a red carpeted stage in the north’s main city, Mosul, surrounded by the grey hollowed-out shells of four churches nearly destroyed in the war to oust ISIS fighters from the city.

It was a scene that would have been unimaginable years earlier. Mosul, Iraq’s second largest city, was at the heart of the IS so-called “caliphate” and witnessed the worst of the group’s rule inflicted on Muslims, Christians and others, including beheadings and mass killings.

Myanmar police fire on protesters

AP ■ YANGON

Police in Myanmar’s ancient former capital, Bagan, opened fire on Sunday on demonstrators protesting last month’s military takeover, wounding several people, according to witness accounts and videos on social media.

At least five people were reported wounded as police sought to break up the Bagan protest, and photos showed one young man with bloody wounds on his chin and neck, believed to have been caused by a rubber bullet. Bullet casings collected at the scene indicated that live rounds were also fired.

The city, located in the central Mandalay region, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site in recognition of the more than 2,000 pagodas or their remnants still situated there, dating from the ninth to 13th centuries, when it was the capital of a kingdom that later

Iranian-British national ends 5-year sentence in spy case

AP ■ TEHRAN (IRAN)

A British-Iranian woman held in an Iranian prison for five years on widely refuted spying charges ended her sentence on Sunday, her lawyer said, although she faces a new trial and cannot yet return home.

Nazanin Zaghari-Ratcliffe was able to remove her ankle bracelet for the first time since she was released from prison on furlough last March because of the surging coronavirus pandemic, the lawyer said. She has been under house arrest at her parent’s home in the capital of Tehran since. Her long-running case, playing out against the backdrop of a decades-old debt dispute between Britain and Iran, has strained diplomatic ties between the countries and sparked international outrage.

UK Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab on Sunday welcomed the removal of Zaghari-Ratcliffe’s ankle tag but called for her to be allowed to return home.

Sharma Oli and the Communist Party of Nepal (Maoist Centre) led by Pushpa Kamal Dahal ‘Prachanda’, in a huge blow to the two warring leaders amidst a tussle for power.

The CPN-UML and CPN (Maoist Centre) merged in May 2018 to form a unified Nepal Communist Party following victory of their alliance in the 2017 general elections.

On Sunday, an apex court bench of justices Kumar Regmi and Bam Kumar Shrestha issued the verdict giving authenticity of the Nepal Communist Party (NCP) to Rishiram Kattel, who had registered the party at the Election Commission (EC) in his name prior to the formation of Nepal Communist Party (NCP) led by Oli and Prachanda. The Kathmandu Post newspaper reported. Kattel had challenged the Election Commission’s decision to register Nepal Communist Party (NCP) under Oli and Prachanda in May 2018. The Bench said that a new party cannot be registered with the Election Commission when it already has a party registered with a similar name.

“The Supreme Court has passed a verdict in our favour,” Kattel’s lawyer Dandapani Poudel was quoted as saying by the paper. “We have won the case.”

Nepal’s Parl holds first meeting after reinstatement by SC

Kathmandu: Nepal’s reinstated lower house of Parliament held its first meeting on Sunday during which the lawmakers belonging to the ruling Nepal Communist Party’s (NCP) splinter faction led by Pushpa Kamal Dahal ‘Prachanda’ boycotted the session.

President Bidya Devi Bhandari last week summoned the session of the House of Representatives in accordance with the Supreme Court’s Feb 24 ruling which annulled embattled Prime Minister KP Sharma Oli’s “unconstitutional” decision to dissolve it. PTI

GLOBE TROTTER

SRI LANKA CATHOLICS MARK ‘BLACK SUNDAY’

Colombo: Sri Lankan Roman Catholics attended Mass dressed in black on Sunday, with prayers and protests calling for justice for those killed in coordinated suicide bomb attacks on Easter Sunday two years ago. Church bells tolled and prayers were chanted at 8:45 am, the time when bombs were detonated almost simultaneously at two Roman Catholic churches and a Protestant church during Easter services on April 21, 2019. Bombs were also set off at three top hotels targeting locals and foreigners who were eating breakfast.

Swiss vote on proposal to ban face coverings in public

AP ■ BERLIN

Swiss voters delivered their verdict Sunday on a proposal to ban face coverings, both the niqabs and burqas worn by a few Muslim women in the country and the ski masks and bandannas used by protesters. A projection after polls closed pointed to a very close result.

The measure would outlaw covering one’s face in public places like restaurants, sports stadiums, public transport or simply walking in the street.

There would be exceptions at religious sites and for security or health reasons, such as the face masks people are wearing now to protect against Covid-19, as well as for traditional Carnival celebrations. Authorities would have two years to draw up detailed legislation.

The Swiss government opposes the measure and says that people covering their faces is a “marginal” issue. It argues the measure could harm tourism — most Muslim women who wear such veils in Switzerland are visitors from well-heeled Persian Gulf states, who are often drawn to Swiss lakeside cities. And it says that it wouldn’t help the women affected.

It backs instead requiring people to show their faces if requested to do so by authorities. Supporters of the proposal, which is coming to a vote five years after it was launched and has come to be known colloquially as the “burqa ban,” argue that the full-face coverings symbolise the repression of women.

Harry, Meghan to delve into tough royal split with Oprah

AP ■ LOS ANGELES

The time has finally come for audiences to hear Meghan and Harry describe the backstory and effects of their tumultuous split from royal life.

Sunday night’s airing of a two-hour special hosted by Oprah Winfrey will provide the first, and unprecedented, peek into the couple’s departure from royal duties and the strains it has placed on them.

How it’s received is likely to depend on which side of the Atlantic Ocean viewers are on.

The show, which includes Winfrey’s interviews with Meghan and Harry, will air first in the United States — Meghan’s home country — at 8 p.m. Eastern. Hours earlier, Harry’s grandmother, Queen Elizabeth II, will deliver a royal address before Commonwealth Day.

British audiences will wake up Monday to headlines and social media posts about Winfrey’s special, but won’t be able to see the full interview until Monday night when it airs on ITV. Royal interviews that aren’t tied to a specific topic are rare, and prior televised sessions have often proved problematic. Prince Andrew’s 2019 BBC interview about his links with convicted sex offender Jeffrey Epstein led to his own departure from royal duties after he failed to show empathy for Epstein’s victims.

Harry and Meghan’s departure from royal duties began in March 2020 over what they described as the intrusions and racist attitudes of the British media toward the duchess, who is biracial.

Clips released ahead of the airings suggest that at least Meghan will have some pointed criticisms of royal life. In one she describes the royal family as “the firm,” a nickname that is sometimes used affectionately and sometimes critically.

Rouhani: Iran ready to take steps when US lifts sanctions

Tehran: Iranian President Hassan Rouhani said Sunday his country was prepared to take steps to live up to measures in the 2015 nuclear deal with world powers as soon as the United States lifts economic sanctions on Iran.

In a meeting with Irish Minister of Foreign Affairs Simon Coveney, Rouhani said: “Iran is ready to immediately take compensatory measures based on the nuclear deal and fulfill its commitments just after the U.S. Illegal sanctions are lifted and it abandons its policy of threats and pressure.”

Rouhani criticised the European signatories of the historic nuclear deal for what he said was their inaction on their commitments to the agreement. He said Iran is the only country that kept its side of the bargain. AP

AP ■ ROME

Business confidence in India touches decadal high: FICCI

FIANS ■ NEW DELHI

As the demand scenario improves and economic activities gather momentum, a FICCI survey shows that confidence among Indian businesses and entrepreneurs is significantly high and the business confidence index is at a decadal high.

The Overall Business Confidence Index stood at 74.2 in the current round, against the index value of 70.9 reported in the previous survey and 59 reported a year back.

“The recently announced Union Budget 2021-22 has been forward looking.

This together with measures announced as a part of the ‘Aatmanirbhar Bharat’ package has infused optimism among the industry members and the same is corroborated in the improved outlook for various operational parameters,” said a statement by the industry body.

In the current survey, though the proportion of respondents anticipating better sale prospects in the near term remained unchanged at 66 per cent from the previous survey round.

However, the companies were buoyed to regain some control over pricing power.

Nearly 27 per cent respondents expect an increase in the selling price of their products over the next six months as compared to 21 per cent stating the same in the previous round and 14 per cent a year back.

The statement said improved economic conditions and greater pricing power is likely to drive profits of corporate India over the next two quarters.

The percentage of participants citing higher profits over next six months increased to 36 per cent in the latest survey from 33 per cent respondents stating likewise in the previous round.

Further, the outlook on employment and exports also reported a discernible improvement.

Nearly 35 per cent respondents were optimistic about better hiring prospects over the next two quarters (up from 22 per cent stating the same in the previous round).

Export prospects were also reported to be better in the current round with 41 per cent respondents indicating higher outbound shipments.

The corresponding number in the previous round was 27 per cent.

Furthermore, the proportion of respondents citing ‘higher to much higher’ investments in the coming six months witnessed an upswing in the current survey when compared to the previous round.

Nearly 31 per cent participants said they foresee ‘higher to much higher’ investments over coming six months as compared to 19 per cent participants stating likewise in the previous round.

The present survey drew responses from a wide array of sectors and was conducted during the months of January and February 2021. The survey gauges expectations of the respondents for the January to June 2021 period.

Centre proposes to raise LIC’s authorised capital to ₹25K cr

FIANS ■ NEW DELHI

With a view of listing the state-run insurance major Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC), the government has proposed to raise the authorised capital of LIC to Rs 25,000 crore.

As per the amendments proposed under the Finance Bill 2021, the authorised share capital of LIC shall be Rs 25,000 crore divided into 2,500 crore shares of Rs 10 each.

The share capital of the corporation shall consist of equity shares and preference shares, which may be fully paid-up or partly paid-up, said the Finance Bill.

“The corporation may from time to time increase its issued share capital, with the previous approval of the Centre, whether by public issue or rights issue or preferential allotment or private placement or issue of bonus shares to existing members holding equity shares, or by issue of shares to employees pursuant to share based employee benefits schemes, or by issue of shares to life insurance policy-holders of the Corporation, or otherwise,” it said.

However, the central government shall at all times, not less than 51 per cent of the issued equity share capital of the corporation and for five years after the IPO, the Centre will hold not less than seventy-five per cent.

The mega IPO is likely to take place around Diwali this year. Presenting the Union Budget for FY21-22, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had said that all the announced disinvestment processes, including the LIC IPO will be completed in the upcoming fiscal.

Petrol prices unchanged across metros for 8th day

In the national Capital, petrol was sold for ₹91.17 per litre on Sunday

FIANS ■ NEW DELHI

Oil marketing companies (OMC) kept fuel prices unchanged for the eighth consecutive day across the four metros on Sunday.

In the national capital, petrol was sold for ₹91.17 per litre on Sunday.

Similarly, in Mumbai, Chennai and Kolkata, the fuel was priced at ₹97.57, ₹93.11 and ₹91.35 per litre, respectively, all unchanged from the previous levels.

The surge in the retail prices comes despite a surge in crude oil prices. Brent crude futures are currently over $69 per barrel.

After a spike in global oil prices seen over the last two weeks with crude price jumping close to $67 a barrel, prices had fallen to around $63 a barrel but it rose again to cross $69 a barrel mark now after the OPEC+ decision to continue with crude production cut in April.

In tandem with petrol prices, diesel prices too were unchanged in Delhi, Mumbai, Chennai and Kolkata at Rs 81.47, Rs 88.60, Rs 86.45 and Rs 84.35 per litre, respectively.

Petrol and diesel prices have been rising continuously since February 9.

In the 14 increases since then, prices have gone up by Rs 4.22 per litre for petrol while diesel rate has risen by Rs 4.34 a litre in Delhi.

The increase in the previous weeks has taken petrol to cross historic high levels of Rs 100 a litre in several cities across the country.

The petrol and diesel prices have increased 26 times in 2021 with the two auto fuels increasing by Rs 7.46 and Rs 7.60 per litre, respectively so far this year.

Oil companies’ executives said that petrol and diesel prices may increase further in coming days as retail prices may have to be balanced in line with global developments to prevent OMCs from making loss on sale.

Shiprocket records multifold jump in D2C women sellers on its platform

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

E-commerce logistics firm Shiprocket on Sunday said it has recorded several fold jump in women entrepreneurs that directly ship products to consumers which range from healthcare to personal care, electronics, etc.

The logistics firm registered a 273 per cent growth in the volume of shipments year-on-year done by women sellers when compared to February 2020.

“Shiprocket observed that there was a nearly 700 per cent increase in the women seller count on its platform between February 2020 and February 2021 with the count going from a little over 2,000 to more than 20,000 women sellers in a year, taking the total to almost 23,000,” Shiprocket said in a report.

The new report compiles various trends observed by Shiprocket from February 2020 to February 2021 with a sample size of over 23,000 women sellers across India highlighting growth of Women in D2C (direct to consumers) sector and opportunities for ‘womenpreneurs’, the company said.

The D2C sellers may get orders from famous e-commerce portals, their own website or over phone and ship their products directly to consumers.

“D2C has become a segment with immense traction in recent times among women. More and more women are now venturing into entrepreneurship through online selling. On our platform, there has been a major uptick in the number of women D2C sellers since early last year,” Shiprocket co-founder and CEO Saahil Goel said.

Shiprocket observed that a large chunk of the traction from women sellers, over 24 per cent, came from social media while online stores accounted for more than 12 per cent, offline channels comprising nearly 10 per cent.

The least traction was observed from marketplaces which accounted for a little over 3 per cent. The logistics platform also identified that Tier-I cities, with nearly 55 per cent, had the maximum women sellers while Tier-II cities followed closely with over 45 per cent.

Shiprocket identified the top 5 categories in which women sellers operate to be Healthcare, comprising over 39 per cent, Personal Care, consisting of more than 25 per cent, apparel, comprising of nearly 19 per cent, over 10 per cent women in electronics, and kitchen products accounted for almost 7 per cent of women sellers, the report said.

Health schemes, lower drug prices led to annual saving of ₹50k cr for needy families: PM

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday said the poor and needy have been able to save Rs 50,000 crore annually due to various health-related measures taken up by his government like providing affordable medicines, healthcare and reducing the prices of medical devices.

Modi, who dedicated to the nation the 7,500th Janaushadhi Kendra at North Eastern Indira Gandhi Regional Institute of Health & Medical Sciences (NEIGRIHMS) in Shillong, also said the move to provide affordable medicines through the Janaushadhi scheme is spreading across the length and breadth of the country.

In a virtual address at the ‘Janaushadhi Week’ celebrated across the nation from March 1 to March 7 to create awareness about the ‘Janaushadhi’ scheme, the Prime Minister said it is helping countrymen living in tribal areas in the North East and the mountainous areas.

“Today when the 7,500th centre has been inaugurated, it has been held in Shillong. It is clear from this how much public health centres are expanding in the North East,” Modi said.

The Prime Minister, who also interacted with people from different parts of the country, further said, “It is clear from my discussion with people who run the Janaushadhi centres at every corner of the country and some of its beneficiaries, that this scheme is becoming a very big companion of poor and middle-class families. This scheme is becoming the medium of both service and employment.”

Underlining the various steps taken up by his government to make healthcare affordable to the poor and needy, he said prices of essential drugs as well as medical devices such as stents and knee implants have been reduced manifold.

“It has led to the saving of Rs 12,500 crore per year for the needy people. The Ayushman Bharat scheme is helping 50 crore people get Rs 5 lakh worth of treatment. Over 1.5 crore people have already taken this benefit. It is estimated that it has led to savings of around Rs 30,000 crore for people.”It means that if we collate the savings being affected by Janaushadhi, Ayushman Bharat and decline in prices of drugs and stents (medical devices) if we only take government schemes in the health sector, then poor and middle-income groups are saving around Rs 50,000 crore per year,” the Prime Minister said.

GST evasion: CBIC asks field offices to exercise max caution, prudence in property attachment

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The CBIC has directed its field offices to exercise utmost prudence and maximum caution in attachment of property of a taxpayer and said that such a remedy can be considered in cases involving GST evasion, fake invoicing and delay of more than three months in depositing tax collected.

The Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) has come out with guidelines for provisional attachment of property under GST Act which tasks the Commissioner to exercise due diligence and carefully examine all the facts of the case, including the nature of offence and amount of revenue involved, and also record on file the basis on which he/she has formed such an opinion to attach property of the taxpayer.

“It is reiterated that the power of provisional attachment must not be exercised in a routine/mechanical manner ... The remedy of attachment being, by its very nature, extraordinary, has to be resorted to with utmost circumspection and with maximum care and caution,” the CBIC said.

In the guidelines the CBIC listed out types of cases where provisional attachment can be considered to be resorted to subject to specific facts of the case.

These include where a taxable person has supplied any goods or services or both without issue of any invoice with an intention to evade tax; or issued invoice or bill without supply of goods or services or both; or fraudulently availed input tax credit.

Also cases where a taxpayer has collected any amount as tax but has failed to pay the same to the government beyond a period of three months from the date on which such payment becomes due; or fraudulently obtained refund; or passed on input tax credit fraudulently to the recipients but has not paid the commensurate tax would qualify for provisional attachment of property.

The provisional attachment of property would be valid for a period of one year.

“It should be ensured that the value of property attached provisionally is not excessive. The provisional attachment of property shall be to the extent it is required to protect the interest of revenue, that is to say, the value of attached property should be as near as possible to the estimated amount of pending revenue against such person,” the CBIC said.

DoT to issue demand notes to telcos on upfront payment for spectrum bought in auctions

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) will issue demand notes to telcos next week on an upfront payment for spectrum acquired in the just-concluded auctions, sources said.

The demand note follows auctions raking-in winning bids of over ₹77,800 crore, for 855.6 MHz of spectrum. Billionaire Mukesh Ambani’s Reliance Jio spent the most in the auction, picking up 488.35 MHz spectrum in bands such as 800 MHz, 1800 MHz and 2300 MHz for ₹57,122.65 crore.

Bharti Airtel bid about ₹ 18,699 crore to acquire 355.45 megahertz (MHz) out of the total 855.60 MHz of radiofrequency acquired by all telcos, while Vodafone Idea, bought 11.80 MHz of spectrum worth Rs 1,993.40 crore.

DoT sources told PTI that the demand notes will be sent out to the three companies this week, and entails largely the upfront payment for spectrum that is ready to be allocated.

Spectrum will be offered for assignment for a validity period of 20 years. As per the auction terms, successful bidders can pay entire bid amount in one go, or exercise an option to pay a certain amount (25 per cent for spectrum won in 700 MHz, 800 MHz, 900 MHz bands or 50 per cent for spectrum won in 1800 MHz, 2100 MHz, 2300 MHz, 2500 MHz bands) upfront with remaining amount in a maximum up to 16 equated annual instalments, after a moratorium of two years.

A DoT official said the demand notes together total about Rs 20,000 crore, but did not provide operator-wise break-up.

About 2308.80 MHz of spectrum, that carry telecom signals in seven bands worth nearly Rs 4 lakh crore at start price, was up for bidding in the auction held recently. Although the spectrum finally acquired by telcos fell woefully short of this overall kitty and bids hovered at reserve price, DoT said, and analysts concurred, that auction outcome and response had surpassed initial expectations.

FPIs pull out investments amid rising bond yields

FIANS ■ MUMBAI

As the rising bond yields in the US cause panic in the global markets, foreign portfolio investors (FPI) have turned to sell their holdings.

FPIs have pulled out a net Rs 881 crore from the Indian equity market in the first week of March. They have pulled out a net investment of Rs 5,595 crore from the debt segment, showed NSDL data. However, the net investment in the debt-VRR segment was at Rs 1,320 crore during March 1-5.

The rising bond yields have nearly brought a halt to the bull run both in the global and the domestic equity markets. Further, investors also have taken to profit booking after markets touched record highs, analysts said. Investors are hoping that the upcoming Federal Open Market Committee’s meeting would stress on keeping interest rates subdued for some more time which may stabilise the bond markets. Inflow of FPIs in the current financial year has been robust and Rs 2.62 lakh crore of net investments have been made in FY21 by FPIs.

Global trends, oil price to dictate market trend this week: Analysts

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Stock markets will focus on long term bond yield trends, crude oil prices and macro-economic data this week as investors look for cues amid volatility, according to analysts.

Besides, investments by FPIs (Foreign Portfolio Investors) as well as domestic investors, movement of rupee against the US dollar and developments on the coronavirus front are likely to be closely watched for cues.

“The US 10 Year G-Sec yields have surpassed 1.5 per cent on a closing basis which is somewhat negative for global equities.

The Dollar Index has also moved up from 90 to 92 level, which is seen as a negative for emerging market currencies and also equities.

“In the absence of any major domestic trigger Indian markets could take a cue from global developments and the US markets,” said Rusmik Oza, Executive Vice President, Head of Fundamental Research at Kotak Securities.

The tone of the market seems to be on the downside, for now, Oza added.

On March 5, benchmark BSE Sensex tumbled over 440 points and the NSE Nifty cracked below the psychological 15,000-level amid relentless sell-off in global equities as US bond-market turmoil continued to rattle investors.

The 30-share Sensex plummeted by 440.76 points or 0.87 per cent to close at 50,405.32, continuing its falling trend for the second day on Friday due to concerns over bond yields. The NSE barometer Nifty ended lower by 142.65 points or 0.95 per cent at 14,938.10.

“In the coming week, the market will be mainly focusing on the expectations on whether the Fed, in its upcoming meeting, will maintain its accommodative stance in a rising bond yield market.

THE FUTURE IS SOUND

Whether you are preparing for government jobs or upskilling to reach greater heights in career, the audio format will continue to influence learning, shares DUSHYANTT KOHLI

Audio has never gone out of vogue as citizens today are able to learn on the move. With the utility of audio going beyond radio services and entering into the digital realm, people are provided new learning opportunities. Be it news, entertainment or educational information, audio is converting anytime into learning time, considering that accessibility has become ubiquitous and affordable. Since radio, the subsequent advancements in technology moved the audience towards television and personal computers for their everyday needs. More importantly, education and learning through the internet began to take shape in the early 2000s, laying the foundations for an EdTech industry. Due to the unexpected COVID-19 pandemic, students, schools, training institutions, and colleges now view learning outcomes through a different lens. Within a span of a year, e-learning platforms have disrupted the ecosystem.

However, as a developing nation, there are several challenges that we need to cope with. For instance, all the major e-learning platforms require high quality video streaming and internet connectivity so that users are able to avail the resources they have to offer. Unfortunately, several corners of India are yet to see the infrastructure that can present high-bandwidth content for all. Beyond this, people across generations are suffering from various health effects on account of excessive screen times as school lectures and live interactions are primarily in the video format.

In fact, recent reports suggest that the current average screen time every week is around 6.9 hours, on account of the ample time available during the pandemic. Indians access their internet mostly through their smartphones, and within a year, it has increased by 25 per cent, from 4.9 hours to 6.9 hours from April 2020 onwards. Such trends do not indicate a healthy precedent, and audio could prove to a suitable hands-free alternative. Even for education, video creation and development are arduous processes that require time and effort to achieve quality. We often forget that a majority of competitive exam aspirants hail from tier III, IV cities, and rural areas that lack the resources to afford video-based services. With price constraints and limited access to the latest technologies, the chances of aspirants who wish to crack examinations is hindered. On the bright side, the gap is now being addressed by audio services, through podcasts, audio lectures, and bite-sized audio clips on course concepts due to easy production processes and low costs.

Diversity in course offerings and exam prep

In the last couple of years, we have seen the proliferation of several EdTech apps, delivering different levels of education across all age groups. Similarly, several audio-based learning apps are offering multiple courses on their platforms, making it ideal for candidates preparing for government exams to be on top in the highly competitive space. Be it courses like current affairs, static GK, History or English. They are delivered by subject matter experts in the audio format, which helps in sequencing audio content for exam preparation, and cracking government jobs.

Moreover, some of these apps also have versions that cater to feature phone users, which function on low bandwidths and affordable data packs. It makes it easier for users to download or stream content while consuming far lesser data as compared to video services. In fact, exclusive exam preparation content is available in vernacular languages like Hindi, Bengali, and others as well, reaching a wider audience beyond the big cities. In addition to this, career coaches and teachers realise the quality, reach and potential of audio-based learning. The students are increasingly expressing a desire to learn from the best, and short audio content and clips from experts is the preferred format, and it is redefining their approach towards job seeking.

Effectiveness of audio-based learning

The quality learning programmes are often unaffordable even in the realm of digital. Here is where audio is playing a transformative role as it is bringing inexpensive services into the deep corners of the country by merely utilising existing infrastructure. In fact, several players in the podcasting and audio-based educational space are serving millions of students every day, making it an effective medium for consuming good quality exam preparation content.

The critics often question the efficacy of audio as a medium of learning. They argue that providing both text and audio material for preparation could overwhelm aspirants. However, there is enough evidence from the scientific world that points towards audio's role in improving the cognitive abilities of listeners. The argument is that repetitive listening can lead to better retention of concepts. Analytical reasoning too can be understood through audio, which is contrary to popular notions that audio's role in imparting education is inadequate for attaining reasoning abilities.

Going by examples from the real world, we can understand how customer care services, doctors and medics, and musicians develop an ear for sound, structure, and form. Similarly, even in audio-based learning, it becomes easier by replaying audio files and practicing concepts by visualisation.

This trend is identifiable in India as more and more users are consuming audio content in their native languages, ensuring better retention.

Reasons for audio's resurgence and how the future looks

One of the most impressive aspects of audio that has only been rediscovered during the pandemic is the positive effect of passive listening. Since the lockdown and COVID-19 restrictions were imposed, a majority of citizens remained indoors, relying on all the tools at their disposal to bring their lives back to normal. Audio-streaming services and apps underwent astounding growth, thanks to the increase in content consumption by users while staying home.

It further justifies the fact that people feel comfortable carrying out their daily chores and listen passively to educational content, thereby, saving precious time. Further to this, it is enabling the conversion of non-study time into learning time, due to hands free devices that play audio files through voice commands. Therefore, whether a person is preparing for government jobs or upskilling to reach greater heights in their career, audio will continue to influence learning, and impact even the future generations.

Attain wisdom

People should strive to achieve values and ethics as these shape character, says

RAJYOGI BRAHMAKUMAR NIKUNJJI

Off lately, governments across the globe have come to accept the fact that the absence of right values is the cause of various ailments, including the on-going COVID-19 pandemic. Millions and billions have been spent and are still being spent by countries on re-establishment of values in our present-day degenerated society, but, as is evident from the result, success evades them all. The elderly people grumble and complain that the millennials have thrown values to the winds. Some allege that the whole society has become corrupt; others say that because of corruption, the government has become almost bankrupt. Newspapers are full of news about ghastly crime. Religious leaders say that religion is being defamed.

In fact, every individual is an eye-witness to the degeneration of morals and all are crying for values. But why are all efforts not showing any tangible transformation in even a few thousand people? That's a million dollar question. If we ponder deeply over the matter, we will find that there is no human being who does not adopt any values whatsoever. Everyone does imbibe some values. However, the values differ from man to man, depending upon his world-view or his belief system because every man has some belief about his own identity, about the society, about man's nature, about time and space, etc...

Similar everyone has some views about religion, education, business, media, government, politics, etc. This network of beliefs gives him/her a world-view, different from the world-view of others. It is this world-view that determines a person's outlook, attitudes and pattern of behaviour.

People across the world practice values taught by religious preceptors or some public figure. For example, some people put into practice vedantic, buddhist, jewish, christian, muslim values, while some others try to imbibe Gandhian values or values taught by some leader. Now, all the above mentioned set of values were advocated by different souls, according to their world-view. However, there is no universal code of conduct available for all people to follow. No one has, until now, given a comprehensive, all-inclusive, totally rational and absolutely correct world-view because such a view can be given only by one, for he (god) alone is perfectly moral, truly knowledgeable, all-virtuous and the parent of all souls, whichever religion, philosophy or world-view they may profess. He is of impeccable character, without any weakness, incomparably just and fair, totally free from prejudice of any sort, above any sectarian, regional, racial or narrow view and without any consideration of benefit to himself. He has not even the least degree of selfishness but is overwhelmed with love for all and the will to be generous, kind, compassionate, cooperative, friendly and ever-helpful.

But what is essentially relevant in the present context is that he has the knowledge of the present, the past and the future in its entirety and without any gaps. The knowledge which he has is not divided into any departments or compartments but is wholesome. It does not have any inner contradictions. It is final and does not require any research or future confirmation. It takes into account all religions, culture, geophysical circumstances, human nature, etc. It is theoretical, practical and also experiential. It has distilled wisdom, without any impurities, fallacies and pseudo elements. It does not have even a grain of fake or artificial ingredients. So, the world-view formed on the basis of that revealed knowledge or divine wisdom is the only one that is capable of removing a person's flaws of character. It is that knowledge which brings right type of values and transformation in one's life.

It is, therefore, essential that those who earnestly and sincerely feel that our society should be value-based should also make all efforts that they themselves and all others should have the right world-view, for without it, cultivation and development of right values will remain mere a wishful thinking or an unrealised dream.

Chalhan is a nondescript hamlet located one and a half kilometers from the main road in Shalla Gram Panchayat of Gohar block of Mandi district in the hilly state of Himachal Pradesh. Agriculture is the main source of livelihood for the residents of this village who own five to seven bighas of land on an average. Till two years ago, the village did not have a link road and was considered a major development challenge by its inhabitants.

Anybody who fell sick had to be taken on a chair or charpoy (cot) by at least four men to the main road from where they could be taken to the nearest hospital. The farmers had to hire ponies for carrying their produce to nearby markets. It became a tedious task, especially during the monsoon. The tough, hilly twisted trails become muddy, slippery and risky to commute. The government's commitment to work towards connecting rural India, the long-standing demand of the villagers for the link road finally materialised two years ago.

"The link road has transformed our lives," says Purnanand, a resident of the village. Now the pickup vans and ambulances can easily come on this road which is connected to the state highway. "We are now able to save money that we used to pay for hiring ponies. Sometimes our vegetables would perish or we had to sell them at throw away prices. Now we can sell them at a much higher price because of which our income has gone up," shares Purnanand.

Villagers witnessed the transformation brought about by link roads in Shalla Gram Panchayat and hoped that a similar development would touch their lives, says SARITA BRARA

This is the story of every household in 35 small and big villages in Shalla Gram Panchayat. All these villages have been connected by link roads to their main road heads for transportation. A single household hamlet of Jeyog too was connected via a link road one year ago.

Hetram recalls the day his mother fell sick. He had to wait for a day to get help from men from nearby villages to carry his mother to the main road from where she was taken to the hospital. They carried her on a chair on the steep path on hilly terrain. It took them almost an hour to cover the small distance. Overwhelmed by the Panchayat's concern,

"It took almost five years to connect every single village and hamlet in all the seven wards of this Gram Panchayat with road heads," informs Raj Kumar, the Panchayat Pradhan. The last village that was connected by a link road was a few months ago in November 2020. Shalla Gram Panchayat is indeed a remote area of Mandi district tucked away in a difficult mountainous terrain. The process to get these link roads was equally difficult.

"It wasn't easy at all - making rounds of the concerned departments for sanctions and clearances, pleading villagers to part with their land for the sake of the convenience of all others. One has to apply every method from cajoling to counselling to get consent for using their land for the benefit of the villages otherwise everyone in the village has to struggle," says Raj.

The roads have undoubtedly changed the lives of the villagers. Many farmers in these villages are today earning a decent income by growing cash crops like peas and other vegetables. This wasn't doable earlier because of the fear that their produce will perish before it could be transported to the market. Another constraint was the money required to be paid for the ponies which cost them a lot.

The construction of a 16-kilometer-long road has solved connectivity issues of a population of over 1,000 people in five villages. It has given a boost to tourism as it connects them to a famous temple. This road has also been metalled. With lakhs of people travelling here, opportunities for employment have opened up. The Gram Panchayat has also been able to increase its revenue from parking fees for the vehicles.

For Udhham Singh, a resident of Village Chhatti, it is a matter of envy as his village is located on the boundary of Shalla and Tulna Gram Panchayat. A home guard with agricultural land, Udhham has been running from pillar to post to get a link road sanctioned for his small village but has not been successful in his endeavors so far.

"My village, with nearly half a dozen families, is approximately five kilometers from the nearby road head. Since my village does not fall under Shalla Gram Panchayat, they can't construct the road from their allotted funds," shares Udhham Singh.

The challenges of this village are also the same. The health and transportation of agriculture produce are the main concern of the villagers here as well.

Connecting villages to road heads in this state, especially in extremely remote and hilly terrains is a tedious task. Getting clearances, especially for the villages that come under forest areas is not that easy, carving out roads through mountains is time consuming, costly and difficult.

According to the information available on the official website of The Public Works Department (PWD) of Himachal Pradesh government, 6,948 out of its 17,449 villages were not connected by road till the end of October 2020, which means that nearly 40 per cent of the villages in the state were not connected. Their challenges are endless. Monsoon and winter become even more difficult due to the lack of connectivity. Seeing how the lives of inhabitants of Shalla Gram Panchayat has been transformed through these link roads, villagers of other remote regions are full of hope that soon their prayers will see the light of day.

CONCERNED ABOUT DRUG USE? THIS APP HELPS

Researchers at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign are developing a new smartphone app that may help teach young adults how to talk to a peer if they are concerned about that person's drinking or drug use.

The app named "Harbor" prompts the user to answer several questions about their friend's substance use behaviour and provides feedback on the potential seriousness — a feature that may be especially helpful to people who feel conflicted about intervening.

Designed for people aged between 18-29, Harbor teaches young adults how they can "act as first responders for their close friends who demonstrate risky substance use behaviours," according to the app's lead developer Douglas C Smith from the varsity.

TRUSTED SUPPORT MAY HELP BATTLE DEPRESSION

Learning about their health through a trusted source may help teens take better care of themselves, leading to less depressive symptoms, says a new study.

The study indicated that trust played a factor in whether receiving health information improved depression.

The more that adolescents trusted their parents or teacher as a credible source of health information, the more likely they were to experience less depression.

Additionally, even though adolescents reported that they trusted traditional media — like TV, radio and newspapers — more than online content, only content from social media or websites resulted in actual changes in behaviour.

"This study was actually inspired by my students, after several of them came to me really stressed out," said researcher Bu Zhong from the Pennsylvania State University.

OBESITY – BIGGEST KILLER OF HUMANKIND

For over two decades, obesity has emerged into a bigger health crisis globally and in India, than hunger.

Obesity is now the leading cause of disabilities and deaths around the world. More so, during the COVID-19 pandemic when lakhs of people died across countries, one key reason was the ailments associated with overweight.

On the eve of World Obesity Day, healthcare professionals underlined the need to enhance awareness on this ever-growing lifestyle disease, which is fast emerging as the biggest killer of humankind in the modern era.

"Over the past century, the world has progressed on many health parameters. Today there are very less deaths among kids due to immunisation against ailments; and availability of food is shifting focus away from malnutrition. However, changing lifestyles and easy access to high-calories food is pushing children and adults towards obesity, which unfortunately has some devastating outcomes at times," said Dr Riyaz Khan, CEO, Continental Hospitals.

KIDNEY STONES LINKED TO BONE PROBLEMS

People with kidney stones may be at risk of osteoporosis or bone fracture, says a new study.

The study, published in the Journal of Bone and Mineral Research, found that approximately one-quarter of individuals with kidney stones had a diagnosis of osteoporosis or bone fracture around the time of their kidney stone diagnosis.

"We hope this work raises awareness regarding the possibility of reduced bone strength in patients with kidney stones," said lead author Calyani Ganesan from Stanford University in the US.

"In our future work, we hope to identify which patients with kidney stones are at higher risk for osteoporosis or fracture to help guide bone density screening efforts by clinicians in this population," Ganesan added.

YOUNGSTERS TOO DRUNK TO USE PROTECTION

One-fifth of young adults forget to use contraception at the height of passion because they are too drunk to remember when having sex, says a study.

The study, commissioned by OnePoll with 1,200 participants aged between 16-25 years, indicates that many youngsters are taking unforeseen risks due to a lack of knowledge, education and intoxication.

The study showed that four in 10 have had sex during a night of drinking alcohol, while 13 per cent have had intercourse and not remembered the following day whether they had used protection or not, reports The Sun.

"We need to arm our young people with as much information as possible before they get to the point where they are experimenting with sex and drink," said Joanna Buckard, a spokeswoman for The National Organisation for FASD (Foetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder) in the UK.

India Eves suffer heavy loss on return

PTI ■ LUCKNOW

Lizelle Lee and Laura Wolvaardt shared the highest opening wicket stand against an under-prepared India to give South Africa an emphatic eight-wicket win in the first ODI of the five match series here on Sunday.

Asked to bat, India never got the momentum it needed and could only manage 177 for nine despite sedate fifty from skipper Mithali Raj (50 off 85) and a quick-fire 40 off 41 balls from her deputy Harmanpreet Kaur

Lee (83 not out off 122) and Wolvaardt (80 off 110) helped South Africa chased down the target in 40.1 overs with a record 169-run stand.

India would quickly like to forget their first outing in 12 months and come back much stronger in the next game against a side which has come into the series with substantial game time.

The South African opening duo did not look any sort of trouble against the India pacers as well as their highly rated spinners. Lee smashed 11 fours and a six while Wolvaardt collected 12 boundaries.

Veteran India pacer Jhulan Goswami (2/38), playing her first game since November 2019, was the most impressive in an otherwise disappointing bowling effort. Debutant pacer Monica Patel got only four overs in which she conceded 20 runs.

The spin-bowling troika of Rajeshwari Gaekwad, Deepti Sharma and Poonam Yadav failed to provide any breakthroughs that were needed to keep India in the game.

Earlier, the 62-run stand between Raj and Kaur steadied the innings after India lost their first three wickets for 40 runs, including star opener Smriti Mandhana (14 off 20), who looked in sublime touch during her short stay.

Harmanpreet, playing her 100th ODI, looked ominous but played one big shot too many to be caught at long off. She

Need more time to rediscover rhythm: Harman

Indian women's ODI vice-captain Harmanpreet Kaur on Saturday said the team was lacking match practice and will need time to get back into rhythm after being away from International cricket for a year due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

"We didn't get any International cricket for a year. Apart from three IPL games we didn't get much time to work as a unit. As a team you need to spend time and get ready for any series," Kaur said at the post-match press conference. "Nowadays everybody is looking for a big total, every game we want to score more smashed six boundaries in her entertaining knock.

Raj, who took some time to get going in her first game since November 2019, then shared a 52-run partnership with Deepti Sharma (27 off 46) to keep the innings moving. But her dismissal off a full-toss than 250 but for that you need some time and matches.

"In the past few years we had built a rhythm but we will need time to create that rhythm and next game we will try to do that as a unit," added Kaur, who was playing her 100th ODI.

The Indian team last played on March 8 last year when they lost to Australia in the T20 World Cup final.

Additionally, they got only two days of nets before the series, making it tougher for the players to be at their best from the word go which was visible as India struggled with the bat, managing 177 for nine in the designated 50 overs.

The 31-year-old conceded that her side was guilty of throwing away their wickets and lacked partnerships with both bat and ball.

"When you are playing after a long time there are chances were you can collapse but they bowled well and we threw our wickets. As a bowling unit, there were no partnership, you need partnership whether it is bowling or batting," she said.

"Today I felt our bowling was also not upto the mark, our spinners are good but it can happen if you are playing after a long time, sometimes things cannot be in your favour. We had a bad day out, Laura Wolvaardt 80; Jhulan Goswami 2/38).

BRIEF SCORES

India: 177 for 9 in 50 overs (Mithali Raj 50, Harmanpreet Kaur 40, Deepti Sharma 27; Shabnim Ismail 3/28, N Mlaba 2/41). South Africa: 178 for 2 in 40.1 overs (Lizelle Lee 83 not out, Laura Wolvaardt 80; Jhulan Goswami 2/38).

Gerrard leads Rangers to league title

AFP ■ GLASGOW

Rangers have waited 10 years to get back to the top of Scottish football and Steven Gerrard his whole career for a league title, but the time has finally come for the blue side of Glasgow divide.

Celtic's latest stumble at Dundee United on Sunday sealed what has been known for many months, that runaway leaders Rangers were not going to be caught as they stopped the Hoops from setting a new record of 10 consecutive Scottish league titles.

While both sides of the Old Firm divide have had their periods in the wilderness as the other won nine-in-a-row before, neither had previously plunged the depths Rangers have over the past decade.

Relegated to the fourth-tier of Scottish football after going into liquidation in 2012, it took Rangers four years to get back to the top flight.

Even on their return to the Premiership, they were ill-equipped to compete with a Celtic side that won 12 domestic trophies in a row between 2016 and 2020.

Gerrard was the first Rangers manager to be given a third season to prove himself after failing to win a trophy in his first two.

"It's been a long journey over the three years. There has been some real lows in there," said Gerrard after Saturday's 3-0 win over St Mirren opened up a 21-point lead at the top of the table.

"We've played with maturity and control throughout the season. What we've seen is a team that is now in a place that can play with maturity, control and style.

PATIENCE PAYS OFF

That patience has more than been rewarded as the Gers have romped to the title without losing a game, but it had also been earned.

Celtic may have prevailed in the previous two seasons, but the signs were there that there was substance to go with the star dust of Rangers appointing the former Liverpool and England captain.

Gerrard delivered two league wins over Celtic in his first season, Rangers' first since 2011, then in his second won at Celtic Park for the first time in a decade.

However, it was the mark he was making on European football that proved an even better barometer of Gerrard's tactical nous.

After being embarrassed by Progres Niederkorn in the Europa League first qualifying round the season before Gerrard arrived, Rangers find themselves in the last 16 of that competition for the second consecutive season.

For all their domestic silverware and a huge financial advantage over the rest of Scottish football in the past 10 years, Celtic's last victory in a knockout tie of European competition came in 2004.

Gerrard's European record was built on an organised defence that could quickly spring to counter-attack dangerously.

In his first two seasons, having to be the protagonists with the ball against the rest of Scottish football would often prove Rangers' undoing.

A shock 1-0 home defeat to Hamilton shortly before Scottish football shutdown due to the coronavirus pandemic a year ago was a case in point.

Many fans that night at Ibrox turned on Gerrard and did not believe he could take Rangers any further. However, a five-month break as the 2019/20 Scottish season never restarted allowed the 40-year-old to reflect and come back with the perfect blend between attack and defence.

Domestically, Rangers have conceded an incredible nine goals in 32 league games. In Europe, they went on the front foot to beat Royal Antwerp 9-5 on aggregate in the last 32 of the Europa League.

The use of a narrow front three and flying full-backs to provide width has earned comparisons with the style used by Jurgen Klopp to turn Liverpool into title winners after a 30-year wait.

Gerrard never got his Premier League winner's medal at Anfield as a player, but his achievements in handling the Glasgow goldfish bowl have already seen him strongly linked with a return to Liverpool once Klopp moves on.

That time will surely come. For now, Gerrard has earned himself a hero status in one half of Glasgow to match what he experienced as a local legend on Merseyside.

Lewa hat-trick tops Haaland double

AFP ■ MUNICH

Robert Lewandowski scored a hat-trick to leave him on 31 Bundesliga goals this season and seal Bayern Munich's 4-2 comeback home win over Borussia Dortmund on Saturday.

Dortmund raced into a 2-0 lead as Erling Haaland netted twice in the first nine minutes behind closed doors at the Allianz Arena.

However, Lewandowski then struck twice - the second from the penalty spot - to haul Bayern level before the break.

Leon Goretzka put Bayern ahead for the first time with two minutes left before the Poland striker completed his hat-trick on 90 minutes.

"The quality is certainly there, that's our DNA," said Thomas Muller of Bayern's fightback.

The win leaves Bayern two points clear of RB Leipzig at the top of the table.

"We shook ourselves up at 2-0 down and deserved to win because we were the dominant team for (the last) 60 minutes," said Bayern coach Hansi Flick.

Bayern have won the last five meetings between the clubs.

"We weren't good enough. We started well, but didn't play good enough football. We should have been more brave," said Dortmund midfielder Emre Can.

The match delivered on its billing as the battle of the Bundesliga's star strikers.

Haaland scored with just two minutes gone when his shot clipped the heel of Jerome Boateng.

Bayern were reeling after nine minutes when Thorgan Hazard flicked the ball back inside for Haaland to again smash the ball home.

Dortmund could have been 3-0 up on 25 minutes, but Thomas Meunier squandered the chance to shoot.

A minute later, Bayern pulled a goal back when Leroy Sane squared the ball for Lewandowski to score.
