Nigerian held for drug peddling, 153 gm of cocaine seized in Hyderabad

A 24-year-old Nigerian national was arrested on Tuesday by the Excise and Taxation department on the charge of peddling cocaine.

His name was Dickson Ekere, a Nigerian national. According to Excise and Taxation department sources, they had positioned a team at the Hotton Club to crackdown on drug trafficking in the city. Every Saturday, the Excise and Taxation department team goes around the city to check for drug peddlers.

On Tuesday, the Excise and Taxation team arrested a Nigerian national who was in possession of 153 grams of cocaine.

The man, who claimed to be a Nigerian national, was a repeat offender and was arrested earlier on similar charges.

On the matter, Superintendent of Police (SP) Chiranjeevi told The Hindu that the man was under the influence of drugs when he was arrested and that he had no inculcating factors.

In the recent incident, on Tuesday, the Excise and Taxation department team was patrolling in the area when they saw the Nigeria national, who was seen selling cocaine to a young boy for Rs 1,500.

The Excise and Taxation department team immediately seized the cocaine and arrested the Nigerian national for peddling.

MDMA, commonly known as ‘Molly’ or ‘Ecstasy’ and commonly used to be sold at Rs 1,500 per gram, was seized in the case. According to a senior Excise and Taxation officer, the drug was seized from him. The Excise and Taxation department team later shifted the accused to the Gandhi Hospital.

The Nigerian was earlier arrested in September last year on charges of drug trafficking and carrying 18 grams of cocaine from him then.

The case of Kolkata’s Lift Project has highlighted issues with planning, execution, and implementation challenges. The project was expected to provide greater accessibility to the city's residents, but the outcomes have been less than optimal. The project's challenges have raised questions about the overall effectiveness of urban planning initiatives in India.

The project's delays have resulted in significant costs to the city's taxpayers. The project's execution has been marred by corruption allegations, and the project's completion date has been extended multiple times. The project's sustainability has also been questioned, with concerns raised about the project's impact on the city's environment.

The project's failure has raised questions about the effectiveness of urban planning initiatives in India. It has also highlighted the need for better project management practices and stricter accountability measures to ensure that such projects are completed on time and within budget.

The Daily Government’s decision to overhaul its excise policy is a win-win for all the stakeholders.

In a move that sent spirits in the Capital soaring, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Government has decided to bring about major changes in its antiquated excise policy. These include lowering the minimum age for consumption of liquor to 21 years (from 25 years), ending the retail alcohol business, overhauling a labyrinthine tax system to boost Delhi’s revenue, closing down the teen bars and improving the experience of the user experience. These reforms were a long time coming because, with Delhi being the national capital, any questions related to alcohol use and availability are bound to be a source of inspiration.

But given the legal drinking age in a majority of the States in India, lowering the age will not increase the number of underage drinkers. But that is precisely what this government is trying to do. The younger generation must be taught to drink responsibly.

Bid seasonal fever goodbye

With the change in season and increased outdoor activities, it is an accomplished fact that cold and coldness. Those who have a cough or a cold are at greater risk of getting from fever and flu-like symptoms. Living in the urban stress of COVID-19, many are scared if it is normal or if it is going to be more serious. The temperature increase in the city is also a worry for those who suffer from asthma and allergies.

This includes medicines like antihistamines (nasal sprays, decongestants), bronchodilators, corticosteroids, and in severe cases, even antibiotics. The symptoms are high fever, cough, cold, sore throat, headache, fatigue, and swollen lymph nodes. The main cause of this is the weakening of the immune system due to seasonal changes. People who suffer from chronic conditions such as asthma, diabetes, and heart disease are more likely to suffer from severe symptoms. It is important to take necessary precautions to prevent the spread of these infections and to ensure proper hygiene and sanitation practices.

Prevention:
- Wear a mask while outside.
- Wash hands frequently.
- Avoid close contact with sick people.
- Get vaccinated.
- Stay indoors if possible.
- Stay hydrated.

Important Tips
- Keep a clean environment.
- Use disinfectants to clean surfaces.
- Practice good hygiene.
- Avoid close contact with sick people.
- Wear a mask when outside.
- Get vaccinated.
- Stay indoors if possible.
- Stay hydrated.
