Kishore may go back to Bihar as his old tweets was trending on the social media in Kannur.

As his old tweets was trending on the social media in Kannur, Kishore may go back to Bihar, and float a political party.

Kishore's party's poster said, "Kishore is back, BJP is over."

"Kishore has written in his tweet that he will contest the 2022 Lok Sabha elections from Kannur," said a party worker.

Kishore had been a Union Minister in the UPA government and was considered a key leader of the party in the state.

He had been a vocal critic of the Narendra Modi government and had frequently expressed his dissatisfaction with the way the party was being run.

He had also been involved in a number of controversies in the past, which had contributed to his decision to leave the party and start his own political entity.

Kishore's decision to contest the 2022 Lok Sabha elections from Kannur, a key constituency in the state, is likely to have a major impact on the political landscape in the region.

The party leaders are likely to face a tough challenge in winning over the voters, who have been disillusioned with the party's performance in recent years.

Kishore's decision to enter the electoral fray is likely to add to the pressure on the party to come up with a strong and dynamic leader who can effectively Winn the support of the voters.

India’s image has taken a severe beating globally. It’s time to show the world our true mettle

Rebuffed by COVID-19, scandalised by foreign media and treated as a pariah by the world, which has all had an air with its Delhi gons in a spate of Tarantino. India faces a unique challenge that may have few parallels in its post-independence history. It’s one thing to face a period of economic slowdown, a bout of political crisis, foreign aggression or domestic turmoil, but to face two together is to face a challenge of this magnitude. Due to rising cases and mounting deaths, it’s not only facing the wrath of the world towards India after the end of the classic Indo-Pak war in 1971. In the US, as long as Trump was in the saddle, he gave more than enough for the news-hungry media to dig into, but now, with Biden in the White House, fresh air is being pumped into the existing channels and the press is once again focused on another happenings – India. With grim consumerism on the horizon, the White House is once again focusing on a more partial rage towards India. It’s an important lesson for us that our leaders have also failed to set an example in self-discipline, but that’s nothing new. But now that India faces a serious crisis, the leaders and the common man must come together to take tangible steps and change this perception. Forging a strong political unity would go a long way in sending the right message to the world.

In this article, we will focus on the spread of Coronavirus infection at a level that has not been seen since the pandemic began. The report lists the cases, deaths, and the government’s response to the crisis. The report also highlights the essential services that are still being provided in the country, including electricity, water, and telecommunications.

In conclusion, India’s image has taken a severe beating globally. It’s time to show the world our true mettle.

Govt waives late fee for delayed filing tax payment

Telangana government waives late fee for filing income tax returns during COVID-19 pandemic.

The government of Telangana has announced that it will waive late fees for filing income tax returns during the COVID-19 pandemic. This decision was made to provide relief to taxpayers who may have faced difficulties in filing their returns due to the pandemic. The government has also extended the deadline for filing returns by one month.

The Commissioner of Income Tax, Telangana, has directed all assessment officers to issue an order for the waiver of late fees. The order should also specify the dates on which the returns were to be filed, the reasons for the delay, and the steps taken to ensure compliance in the future.

The decision was made to encourage taxpayers to file their returns on time and to avoid penalties. The government has also assured that it will take all necessary steps to ensure that taxpayers are not burdened with late fees.

The government has also announced that it will provide training and guidance to help taxpayers understand the provisions of the income tax act and how to file their returns. This will help taxpayers to avoid mistakes and avoid the need for late fees.

Overall, the decision to waive late fees and extend the deadline for filing income tax returns is a positive step that will help taxpayers to avoid penalties and focus on their financial affairs during the pandemic.

It’s essential to ensure emotional, social and behavioural health during the pandemic

While some states and cities have already opened schools for a short period, there is a renewed emphasis on the various institutions that make the second wave much worse. It is clear that stakes are high and milestones in learning and teaching are thus critical. Here are some basic tips for parents who want to ensure that their children are emotionally healthy and socially aware during this unprecedented time.

The end of finding a parking spot in a jam is disappointing. Standing in the queue and waiting, knowing your children are looking to you to save them from all this frustration, and being exposed to the physical environment in which they are waiting for all those minutes can be quite difficult. The next ‘test’ for the physical school for parents is the mental entry to the ‘junior’ associated with the physical environment.

The main aspect is simple, but the result is far from it.

REVERSE PARKING

This is the most basic yet the most effective way to find the parking slot that you will be able to remember the next time you visit an extremely crowded venue, ever provide you. Whenever you are going to a place that you are visiting for the first time, allow yourself at least 20 minutes to find a parking spot.
