Panel will review in 4 weeks, Govt informs apex court

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre is all set to revisit the upper limit of income fixed for determining the Economically Weaker Section (EWS) category for reservation in NEET admissions for post graduate medical courses.

The Centre on Thursday told the Supreme Court that it has taken a considered decision to revisit the limit of ₹8 lakh annual income criteria in four Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told a bench of justices DY Chandrachud, Surva Kant, and Vikram Nath that the Government will set up a committee to revisit the criteria within four weeks.

Mehta said that NEET (PG) counselling would stand postponed for a further four weeks as per assurance earlier given to the court.

The top court was hearing a batch of pleas filed by the students challenging the Medical and Counselling Committee (MCC) July 29 notice providing 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Class (OBC) and 10 per cent for EWS catin the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET-PG) admissions for medical courses for the current academic year.

Justice Kant said that the EWS quota is a very enabling and progressive kind of reservation and all States should support the Centre in its endeavour. The bench said that the only question is that the determination of the category should be in a scientific manner and it appreciates that the Centre has taken a decision to revisit the criteria earlier fixed

Senior advocate Arvind Datar, appearing for petitioners (students), said since a lot of time has passed and the Centre should push back implementation of the EWS quota for the next academic year and the current year counselling should be allowed

The bench agreed with

asked Mehta whether it could push the implementation of the Constitutional amend ment for the next academic year and allow the counselling to go on for the current academic year.

Mehta said that the Government has taken a decision to implement the 103rd Constitutional amendment from the current academic year and pushing back would not be appropriate.

He said that if the determination is done earlier than four weeks then it will inform the court.

The bench told Datar that four weeks is not unreasonable and it doesn't want to push the Government to do it earlier otherwise the criteria would be fixed in an unscientific and haphazard manner.

Shashank Advocate Ratnoo, appearing on behalf of some OBC candidates, requested that the application of reservation to OBC students should not be deferred as the Centre is planning to revisit the EWS criteria

The bench said that it has not said anything about OBC students and is not disposing of the petition. It then recorded the submission of Mehta and posted the matter for further hearing on January 6.

Alarm over deadly Covid variant in SA

Variant most mutated version of Coronavirus

PNS NEW DELHI

Even as many countries in Europe and elsewhere reel under the multiple surges of the Covid-19 waves, British experts have sounded alarm over a new deadly Covid variant believed to have emerged in "Botswana" in South Africa. The variant is the most mutated version of the virus till now, according to a news report.

South Africa last year detected the Beta variant of the virus although until now infection numbers have been driven by the Delta variant, which was originally detected in India. The new variant found in Botswana carries 32 mutations, many of which are highly transmissible and vaccine-resistant, and has more alterations to its spike protein than any other variant, the report said.

Only 10 cases of the strain, which could eventually be named "Nu", have been detected so far. But it has already been spotted in three countries, suggesting the variant is more widespread. There are no cases in India, but a senior official from the Union Health Ministry said that they are keeping a watch on the new development.

News agency IANS quoted Professor François Balloux, geneticist at University College London, saying that new variant might have emerged in a lingering infection in an immunocompro mised patient, possibly some-one with undiagnosed AIDS, the report added.

Changes to the spike make it difficult for current jabs to fight off, because they train the immune system to recognise an older version of the virus.

Dr Tom Peacock, a virologist at Imperial College who first picked up on its spread, described the variant's combination of mutations as "hor rific", the report added.

He warned that B.1.1.529, its scientific name, had the potential to be "worse than nearly anything else about", including the world-domi nant Delta strain.

Scientists MailOnline, however, that its unprecedented number of mutations might work against it and make it "unstable", preventing it from becoming widespread.

He said a cell was immediately constituted in this regard and it started functioning in May 2015. Thereafter, comprehensive steps were taken to eradicate the malpractice of sex-determination and female foeticide under the Pre-Conception & Pre-Natal Diagnostic Techniques (PNDT) Act and Medical Termination of Pregnancy (MTP) Act. Also, volunteers were used as decoys to identify the Diagnostic Centres etc conducting sex determination tests and an incentive of Rs 1 lakh was given to informers in the State for giving information about it. In the last five years around Rs 3 crore has been given to such informers," Dr Agarwal said. He added women excelling in sports like hockey and wrestling has also had a massive impact on changing the mindsets thereby enhancing the 'sex-ratio at birth'. Other initiatives like Laadli, Aapki Beti-Humari Beti have also played a pivotal role in enhancing the genderratio, he added.

A Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal and Punjab Education Minister Pargat Singh days after the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) supremo had promised sweeping education reforms in the State if his party elected to power in 2022 polls. Kejriwal on Thursday ended up urging the people to vote for the Congress, but with a rider. He asked the people to vote for the Congress only if they were happy with Punjab's schools and current education system. At the same time, he asked the people to vote for AAP if they want a brilliant education system like Delhi.

"Those who are happy with Punjab's schools and the current education system, vote for the Congress. Vote for AAP if you want a brilliant education system like Delhi in your state," tweeted Kejriwal in response to Pargat Singh's tweets in which he said that the Delhi Chief Minister might have missed the developed picture of Punjab's education system as he is a Delhiite and gets interested in Punjab issues only around elections. Responding to Kejriwal's tweets, Pargat Singh tweeted, "Punjab being better than Delhi is not my personal opinion as you are insinuating but based on an official national survey. #Education RevolutionInPuniab".

"Punjab having almost 1.5 times more teachers than Delhi for the same number of students is not an opinion or a "jumla". In fact it is based on an answer to a question asked by the LokSabha member from Punjab @BhagwantMann ji on 2nd August this year. I am really grateful to him," said Pargat Singh in a related tweet.

In a series of tweets, "Punjab having a fair and transparent online transfer policy is a fact which can be confirmed by thousands of happy teachers in #Education RevolutionInPuniab"

Twitter war erupts between Kejriwal, Pargat Singh

'The political sagacity of people of Punjab is never in doubt as they can easily make the difference between "asli" and "nakli" as they did in 2017 and 2019 #Education RevolutionInPuniab," he added.

Pargat Singh, a day before, had tweeted, "Arvind Kejriwal ji, there is already a revolution going in education in Punjab. It is another matter that you missed it. It is understandable for a Delhiite whose interest in Punjab is aroused only around elections. Punjab topped the country in school education in National Performance Grade Index (NPGI) in the most recent survey. Delhi came 6th. Punjab was above Delhi on all 5 parametres

- learning outcomes, Access,

Infrastructure & Facilities, Equity and Governance in the survey,"

time when the war of words between the Congress and the AAP has intensified ahead of the assembly elections.

India, China and Russia will hold trilateral talks in the virtual mode on Friday on issues including Afghanistan and other regional issues. External affairs ministers of the three countries will take part in this annual event.

Incidentally, Jaishankar and Lavrov are likely to take part in the first ever two plus two talks between India and Russia in the first week of December alongside President Vladimir Putin's summit with Prime Minister Narendra Modi here. The two plus two dialogue will see foreign and defence ministers of the two countries holding extensive talks on strategic and defence

As regards the talks on Friday, officials said the meeting, being held under the Russia-India-China (RIC) trilateral framework, will be chaired by Jaishankar.

The 18th meeting of the foreign ministers of the Russian Federation, Republic of India and People's Republic of China will be held in digital video-confer-

The three foreign ministers are expected to deliberate on regional issues of mutual interests including the situation in Afghanistan. "The foreign ministers are expected to discuss further strengthening of RIC trilateral cooperation including exchange of views on various regional and international issues of importance," the ministry said.

India took over the chairmanship of the RIC after the last meeting of the trilateral in Moscow in September last year. Following Friday's meeting, Jaishankar will pass on the chairmanship of the RIC to the Chinese foreign minister for the next one year.

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

As many as 116 big cats have died so far till November 20, 2021—the highest in the past three years— much to the disappointment of wildlife activists and tiger lovers. The figures include 27 tigresses and 15 cubs.

A dozen of them died

every month on average for the first seven months of the year. The signs that this year was being cruel to the big cats were evident with 84 mortalities reported till July. Since predators succumbed to death were reported in the country. The number fell to 96 in 2019 but 2020 saw a 10 per cent rise in the deaths, nearly 106. There was no let up in the deaths in 2021 also. Among the States, Madhya Pradesh known as Tiger State' reported highest casualties at 39 followed by Maharashtra (21 deaths), Karnataka (15) and Uttar Pradesh (9)

The Wildlife Protection Society of India (WPSI), an

of which 48 due to poaching itself. This is a startling number when compared to the government data available from the Tigernet data which puts the poaching figure at 9. India has 52 tiger reserves spread across 18 States having 2,967 big cats.

The data compiled by the Tigernet, a data based e-platform under the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA), a statutory body under the Union Environment Ministry, shows that most of the deaths ie at least 76 per cent of the total mortalities have vation activities puts the numbeen reported from inside the ber on a much higher side. It tiger reserves itself. This shows clim that till November 2021, that the big cats might have poaching as confirmed by the seizure of the skin and the body

> In 98 deaths, the officials are uncertain of the cause of the death. The number of deaths outside the reserves were 54, indicating the shortage of the space in the tiger reserves to accommodate all the big cat, calling better management, enhancement in protection strategy, sensitisation of villagers living on the fringes of the tiger reserves who usually electrocute or poison the striped predators in conflicts.

Study: Key to longer life associated with physical activity even during sunset years

ontrary to the general per-Ception that one should slow down as one ages, a team of researchers has said that the key to longer life is associated with physical activity even during sunset years.

The researchers from Harvard University said that physical activity shifted energy away from processes that compromised health and toward mechanisms in the body that extended it. This guarded against chronic illnesses such as cardiovascular disease, type 2 diabetes, and even some cancers, said the study published in Journal PNAS. The study used evolutionary and biomedical evidence showing that people, who evolved to live many decades after they stopped reproducing, also evolved to be relatively active in their later years.

The response also causes the release of exercise-related antioxidants and anti-inflammatories and enhances blood flow. In the absence of physical activity, these responses are activated less," the researchers said.

People must choose to exercise, that is, do voluntary physical activity for the sake of health and fitness. Physical activity levels have been decreasing worldwide as machines and technology replace human labour. The researchers' advice is for people to do something and to try to make it enjoyable so they will keep it up.

Even small amounts of physical activity—just 10 or 20 minutes a day —substantially lower the risk of mortality.

The World Health Organisation already recommends that children and adolescents aged five to 17years should do at least 60 minutes of moderate to vigorous-intensity physical activity daily. In fact, on Thursday, the

WHO issued a statement, calling upon the nation in its South-East Asia Region to accelerate action to address insufficient physical activity which is as high as 74 per cent among adolescents, to arrest and reverse the growing epidemic of NCDs and promote physical and mental well-being.

"Physical activity helps prevent NCDs such as heart disease, stroke, diabetes and some cancers, which continue to be leading killer diseases in the Region and a risk for severe disease and deaths in the ingoing Covid-19 pandemic," said Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh, Regional Director, WHO South-East Asia Region while addressing a virtual meeting of health officials and partners from member countries where the Regional Roadmap for implementation of Global Action Plan for Physical Activity (GAPPA) was launched.

The Regional roadmap aims to facilitate context-specific activities to achieve 10 per cent relative reduction of insufficient physical activity by 2025, and 15 per cent improvement in global levels by 2030.

Globally, 23 per cent adults and 81 per cent adolescents aged 11-17 years do not meet WHO recommendations for physical activity. In the WHO South-East Asia Region, physical inactivity among adults is around 15 per cent and 74 per cent among adolescents.

Kolkata Municipal elections on Dec 19

Ademand made by the opposition parties that the elections to all the 115 civic boards be held on a single day notwithstanding, the West Bengal State Election Commission on Thursday announced the much-awaited elections for the Kolkata Municipal Corporation would be held on December 19.

The SEC announcement came regardless of a petition --- filed by BJP State vice president Pratap Banerjee --- pending in Calcutta High Court seeking simultaneous elections to all the 118 civic bodies

The elections to the Municipal Corporation was however not announced in the wake of some legal tangles over bifurcation of the Bally municipality from the Howrah Board. State Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar who had earlier in a meeting with the State Election Commissioner requested him to hold simultaneous elections to all the municipalities withheld his permission for the Howrah Board demanding more clarifications on the issue.

According to the SEC notification December 1 will be the last date for filing nomination and scrutiny would be conducted the following day. December 4 has been fixed as e last date for withdrawal of candidature. The poll process will be completed by December 22 meaning thereby that the results will be declared either on December 21 or 22.

Meanwhile, the BJP alleged that the announcement of the poll process by the SEC was in "utter disregard" of the Court's authority as a public interest litigation is already pending before the Court seekiung the municipal boards.

The petition pending before the Division Bench of Chief Justice Prakash Shrivastava and Justice Rajarshi Bharadwai will be heard on November 29. The Court however would not intervene in the SEC's decision to issue a noti-fication for KMC elections lawyers said.

The Opposition parties have been asking for simultaneous elections apparently to put the Trinamool Congress nder pressure

As an image building exercise after its thumping victory in the Assembly elections the TMC leadership has been asking the lower rung workers to avoid rigging whereas the opposition leadership has been trying to create a situation where the rulers are forced to rig polls, said BN Chakrabarty a political expert.

Critics also feel that the election results in Kolkata would impact the outcome of polls in the North Bengal districts where the BJP has a good support base.

NOIDA AIRPORT —

Uttar Pradesh is moving on the path of development: CM

New Delhi: Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Thursday said the country has to decide if the sweetness of sugarcane will grow or the followers of Pakistan founder Muhammad Ali Jinnah will cause mischief in the State, in a veiled attack on the Samajwadi Party (SP).

Adityanath trained his guns at the Opposition as he joined the foundation-laying ceremony for the Noida International Airport in the Jewar area of Gautam Buddh Nagar in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. SP leader and former Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Akhilesh Yadav had last month equated Jinnah with Mahatma Gandhi, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel and Jawaharlal Nehru, saying all of them helped the country achieve independence. His remark had invited severe criticism from the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), among others.

He said Uttar Pradesh is moving on the path of development and highlighted various efforts of the Government. The BJP leader also thanked the over 7,000 farmers who gave consent for the acquisition of their land for the airport without any controversy. He said the ceremony was a "much awaited" moment for western Uttar Pradesh and important because this is where farmers had taken forward the initiative to add sweetness in the region with sugarcane cultiva-

"Some people had tried to add bitterness in the sugarcane region of Uttar Pradesh with a series of riots. Now the country has to decide if the sweetness of sugarcane will grow or Jinnah's followers will cause mischief," Adityanath said as he addressed the gathering of thousands. Citing various infrastructure projects worth thousands of crores of rupees in Noida and Greater Noida of Gautam Buddh Nagar, the chief minister said lakhs of job opportunities would be generated in the region in the coming days.

It was PM's direction to build Asia's biggest airport here: Min

New Delhi: Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on Thursday said it was Prime Minister Narendra Modi's direction that Asia's biggest airport has to be built in Uttar Pradesh, as he joined the foundation-laying ceremony for the Noida International Airport.

Scindia said the airport, located in Jewar in Gautam Buddh Nagar district in western Uttar Pradesh, will bring investments worth ₹34,000 crore and the first phase of the Greenfield project is expected to be completed in 2024 with a capacity of 1.2 crore passengers annually. "By the last phase of development, the Noida International Airport will even surpass Delhi's Indira Gandhi International (IGI) Airport and become India's leading airport,"

Scindia told the gathering. He said earlier, there were only four airports in Uttar Pradesh but now, there are nine airports and this (Jewar) will be the 10th airport in the state, as he hit out at the previous non-BJP governments. "It was Prime Minister Narendra Modi's direction that Asia's biggest airport has to be built in Uttar Pradesh,"

BJP building airports only to sell them off: Akhilesh Yadav

Lucknow: Samajwadi Party (SP) President Akhilesh Yadav on Thursday said the BJP is laying the foundation stone of Noida International airport while selling other existing airports in the country.

Addressing a rally organ-Addressing a rany organised by Janwadi Party (Socialist), an SP ally, near Chaudhary Charan Singh International Airport in Lucknow, Akhilesh said "How can the BJP be believed when on one hand it is making new airports, and on the other hand selling the existing ones?"

The Lucknow airport was given on lease to a private company earlier. chief's comments came on the day when Prime Minister Narendra Modi laid the foundation stone of the Jewar International Airport in Greater Noida. government airport was sold and the other is being made. I fail to understand the reason. "BJP said the poor with slippers will travel in aircraft, the poor should let the BJP know how many of them have travelled in planes," he said. He said the BJP Government is engaged in disposing of airing from these airports, when even the Delhi Airport is suffering losses.

He asked what will happen to the "rights and honour" of the people in a country where public property is sold off.

'In a country where things are sold off, government institutions are sold off, what will happen to the rights and honour for which Ambedkar gave us the Constitution, what will happen to the future generations? Who will give them jobs, livelihood and reservation?" said the former Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister at the 'Janvadi Jankranti

During his address, he asked the Chauhan community to extend its support to him, saying if it comes along the BJP will suffer a "historic defeat" in the upcoming elections.

Anna Hazare undergoes angiography, stable now

Mumbai: Veteran social worker and renowned Gandhian Anna Hazare underwent an angiography at Ruby Hall Clinic in Pune on Thursday afternoon, within hours after he was rushed there for treatment of chest pain. Eight-four-year-old Hazare, who lives in Yadavbaba temple at Ralegan-Siddhi in Ahmednagar district of western Maharashtra, had been complaining about chest pain for the past two to three days.

"After he was admitted to our hospital, a team of doctors examined him thoroughly. We did an electrocardiogram (ECG) on him. The test revealed minor cardiac abnormalities," the hospital's Medical Superintendent Dr. Avdhut Bomadwad said.

Shortly afterwards, a team of heart specialists comprising the Chief Cardiologist Dr. P. K.

Grant and Dr. C. N. Makhale conducted an angiography on Hazare.

The angiogram revealed a minor blockage in his coronary artery. The procedure was performed successfully. He is receiving the appropriate line of medical treatment," said Dr. Grant, who is the Managing Trustee of the hospital, said. Dr. Grant said that Hazare's condition was "stable" now and he would be discharged from the hospital in a couple of days.

HC commutes death penalty of 3 convicts to life

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

More than seven years after a trial court treated them as "repeat offenders" and handed out the first-ever capital punishment to them under new provision 376 (E) of Indian Penal Code (IPC), the Bombay commuted the death sentence of three "common" convicts in the twin 2013 Shakti Mill gang rape cases to life imprisonment. Quashing the death sentence awarded to the three convicts under the new section 376 E of the IPC that came to be incorporated in the law after the December 2012 gang rape in Delhi, a HC bench of Justices SS Jadhav and PK Chavan upheld the conviction of the convicts punishable under section 376D of the IPC, thus reducing the original capital punishment to rigorous imprisonment for life.

"While setting aside the sentence of death penalty, it may appear to the public at large that we play a counter majoritarian role. However, the Constitutional Courts are bound to take into consideration the judicial mandate not by considering just individual rights or the rights of the criminal, but to follow `the procedure established by law," the two Judges observed in their

"At the cost of reiteration, we would observe that Section 376E of the Indian Penal Code is not a substantive offence, but is a punishment contemplated for repeat offenders under section 376D, 376DA, 376DB of Indian Penal Code . We would not take a pedantic approach to mean that it contemplates commission of an offence after the first conviction as under section 75 of the Indian Penal Code. But it would mean that the sentence of death penalty may be awarded in a case which is tried after the first conviction for a similar offence as in the case of Rajendra Wasnik," the Judges noted.

The three convicts Vijay Jadhav (19) Mohammad

Qasim Shaikh alias Qasim Bengali (21) and Mohammad Ansari (28)—whose death sentences have been commuted to rigorous imprisonment for life --are common convicts in both the July 31, 2013 telephone operator and August 22, 2013 photojournalist gang rape

It may be recalled that on April 4, 2014, Principal Judge Shalini Phansalkar Joshi had awarded capital punishment to Vijay Jadhav (19) Mohammad Qasim Shaikh alias Qasim Bengali (21) and Mohammad Ansari (28), after noting the three convicts deserved death penalty for repeat offences under section 376 (E) of the IPC and that there was no scope of reformation of the trio.

'The gang-rape accused were not only enjoying the act of sexual assault but also the survivor's helplessness. ..It was executed in the most gruesome manner with no mercy or show of human dignity to the survivor," the trial court Judge had observed then.

'Absconding' Mumbai ex-top cop Param Bir Singh finally surfaces

Mumbai: More than a week after he was declared "proclaimed offender" by a city court in an extortion case, Mumbai's former Police Commissioner Param Bir Singh appeared before the Crime Branch Unit 11 office of the Mumbai police on Thursday morning. Singh, who had been missing for nearly six months now, was subjected to a first round of questioning in connection with a case registered against him. Earlier in the morning. Singh -- upon his arrival at the Mumbai Airport from Chandigarh -- said: "I will join the investigation as directed by the court".

On November 22, the Supreme Court had granted Mumbai's former Police Commissioner Param Bir Singh protection from arrest and asked him to join the investigations in the inquiries initiated against him. A day after the apex court's directive, a city court order declaring him as a "proclaimed offender" and ordering him to appear before the Court or Investigating Officer within 30 days, was pasted outside his Juhu residence

"Singh is required to appear before Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Esplanade, Mumbai or investigating officer to answer the said complaint within 30 days," reads the order issued by the court," read a court order pasted on the door of the former Police Commissioner's flat at Juhu in north-west Mumbai. In the order signed by Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, 37th Court, Esplanade, Mumbai, on November 18, a complaint has been made before the court that Singh has committed (or suspected to have committed) offences under sections 384, 386, 388, 389 (all sections relating to extortion), 120-b (criminal conspiracy), 201 (destruction of evidence) and 34 (common intent) of Indian Penal

The order also stated that an arrest warrant has been issued against the accused (Singh) and that he has absconded himself to avoid the service of arrest warrant to him. At Monday's hearing at the Supreme Court, Senior Advocate Puneet Bali, appearing for Singh, informed the bench that "the petitioner is very much in India but apprehends actions being taken by the State of Maharashtra". Singh had moved the Supreme Court seeking protection from arrest and for other reliefs, after the Bombay High Court had on September 16, 2021 dismissed his petition challenging two preliminary inquiries launched against him by the Maharashtra government for alleged violation of service rules and another for alleged corruption.

While dismissing Singh's petition on the ground that it was "not maintainable", a HC division bench comprising Justices S S Shinde and N J Jamdar said that "it is a service matter" and asked him to approach the Central Administrative Tribunal (CAT), which is an appropriate forum. (When) the petitioner approaches the appropriate forum, then the same shall be heard and decided without any prejudice to the HC's order," the HC bench said.

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Director General of Jammu & Kashmir Police, Dilbagh Singh on Thursday came out with all guns blazing after the Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) Chief and former Chief Minister Mehbooba Mufti once again raised question marks over the authenticity of an encounter in Rambagh area of Srinagar in which three terrorists were gunned down by the police late Wednesday evening.

Reacting strongly to these allega-tions DGP Singh told reporters in Jammu, "there are people in the civil society who somehow understand the reality but try to say something which is away from the reality". He said, "unfortunately there are people who have started looking at the killers as innocent people".

Singh was responding to a straight question in which he was asked to comment on the tweet posted by the PDP Chief in which she had stated, "After yesterday's alleged encounter at Rambagh legitimate doubts are looming over its authenticity. As per reports & witnesses it seems that the firing was one sided. Again the official version far from the truth is not in line with ground realities as seen in Shopian, HMT &

Mexican Ambassador lauds Khadi popularity

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Mexican Ambassador to India, H.E. Federico Salas, who visited the Khadi India Pavilion at the India International Trade Fair 2021, on Thursday, lauded the global popularity of Khadi and clicked selfies with the portraits of Mahatma Gandhi and Hon'ble Prime Minister Narendra Modi, at the selfie point in Khadi pavilion. He was received by Manoj Kumar, Member (Marketing), Khadi and Village Industries Commission.

The parties that select candidates with criminal records should face the possibility of deregistration

The judiciary, the executive and the legislature agree that politics has to be decriminalised. Where they disagree is on the extent of decriminalisation. The judiciary asks the latter to amend existing laws to permanently ban convicted persons from contesting elections. The executive is unwilling to take that step. The process of decriminalising politics, as a result, is held to ransom by the lack of unanimity among the pillars of democracy. The Supreme Court on Wednesday raised the issue once again, asking whether the Government was amenable to amending the law. There was no clear response from the Government. The row finds resonance at a time when assembly elections are due in several States including Uttar Pradesh that has the largest number of criminal cases pending against sitting and former legislators. Over 1,300 such cases are being heard in 63 specially constituted courts. Many of the cases have been dragging on for years. At the national level, the Association for Democratic Rights informs us, 363 MPs and MLAs have declared criminal cases against them. The cases, in which charges have been framed, have been pending anywhere between five and seven years. There are over a score MPs with 43 cases between them, and over 100 MLAs with 315 cases, pending for 10 years or more. There are over 170 cases where the punishment is a life term. It is not known how many sitting members did not disclose any cases against them.

The question is, should one go the whole hog to decriminalise politics. As of date, legislators convicted of a crime and given a minimum of two years imprisonment stand disqualified. A landmark judgment of the Supreme Court also said they cannot contest elections for six years after their release. Out of the hundreds of legislators who face thousands of cases against them, only 11 have been disqualified so far. That is a poor conviction rate by any standard. The well-known reason for this is that cases drag on, or are dragged on, for years and the accused persons contest polls during the pendency. The Supreme Court also raised the question of whether a person should be disqualified from membership in a legislative body on the mere framing of criminal charges against them, but a fivejudge bench ruled it could not disqualify them at that stage. Instead, it asked the Government to bring in such a law. The Government, which is against the recommendation, evades a clear stand on the principle of decriminalisation. Politics cannot be decriminalised by mere disqualification for a certain time. The disqualification has to be permanent upon conviction in heinous criminal cases. Where charges are framed, the courts must dispose of them within a specified time so that the accused face automatic, permanent disqualification upon conviction. Political parties which select candidates with criminal antecedents should face the possibility of derecognition or deregistration. Will the cat bell itself?

Water woes

There's a pressing need to nationalise rivers in the subcontinent before we perish arly this week, when the shutters of Aliyar Dam in Tamil Nadu were raised, • there was a major protest demonstration by the people of Palakkad in Kerala. The water level in Kannadipuzha flowing from Tamil Nadu to Kerala rose to an alarming level and put the lives of thousands of people staying along the banks of the river in danger. The proactive media in both the States conveniently blacked out the report. The shutters of Aliyar Dam were opened by the Tamil Nadu Government to save the lives of its people along this river. The concern of the TN Government to save the lives of its people from the impending disaster is understandable. But the DMK Government should show the same concern for the lives of more than four million people in Kerala who stay along the banks of Mullaperiyar Dam which may burst any time once the water level in this largest and oldest gravity dam in the country crosses the 138-ft mark. As pointed out by this newspaper in a report, the Mullaperiyar Dam is a water bomb ticking by the second and the possibility of a major disaster stares the people of four Kerala districts in the face. The 140-year-old dam has outlived its utility and age has caught up with it.

It is time to decommission this dam and build a new one, as suggested by the Kerala Government.

But, strangely, Tamil Nadu vehemently opposes this idea. Geologists have warned time and again that the region around Mullaperiyar Dam is "pregnant with earthquakes". While Tamil Nadu turns a blind eye towards this warning, the State's politicians are highly critical of the Centre's move to build the Indian Neutrino Observatory in the region and cite studies by geologists to oppose the proposed research laboratory. Aren't these double standards exposing Tamil Nadu's 'Heads I win, Tails You Lose' attitude? Tamil Nadu's opposition to the Karnataka Government's move to build the Mekedatu Dam across the Cauvery river is the same. Karnataka has the right to build a dam on its own land and there are no laws restraining it. The Mullaperiyar Dam agreement has inherent weaknesses in it. The Union Government and the Supreme Court should not take recourse in the apology that "though laws are there, public resentment has to be taken into consideration". It is time rivers in the subcontinent are nationalised and people — irrespective of region, religion, caste and community — get justice equally.

Supranationalism will hold us back

Marxism believes the nation-State to be an exploitative instrument of capitalists, just as Islam believes it to be the death of its faith

he recent war of words, law and politics began when Aryan Khan, the son of Bollywood actor Shahrukh Khan, was arrested and kept behind bars for some weeks. The Left-Liberals vociferously alleged that that this happened because he is Muslim, forgetting that he is half Hindu. This controversy grew louder and worse when Indian bowler Mohammed Shami gave away a few runs to Pakistani batters in the recent T20 World Cup. I feel this is a baseless allegation; and I am neither Liberal nor Left. To make matters worse, Pakistani Home Minister Sheikh Rasheed declared "Indian Muslims share our sentiment", which can mean that they are all Muslims first and Indian or Pakistani later.

At Etawah in Uttar Pradesh, the State's former CM, Akhilesh Yadav has compared Pakistan's founder MA Jinnah to Nehru, Sardar Patel and even Gandhi. 'They had all combined to win independence", said Akhilesh. UP CM Yogi Adityanath has taken strong objection to such comparisons, but no Muslim appears to have contradicted Akhilesh. There are innumerable such instances around the Muslim identity. The late Syed Shahabuddin repeatedly advocated the importance of Muslim identity above most issues. His pet expression was "Muslim Indian"; he refused to ever say "Indian Muslim". Clearly, he meant that the pan-Islamic loyalty supersedes national identity.

The recent example of the Pakistani winners of the recent T20 cricket match emphasising that their triumph was that of Islam, and not merely of Pakistan, is by no means an isolated one. Some years ago, when Wasim Akram was the captain of a Pakistani team that lost a match to Bangladesh, Akram said he did not mind as Pakistan had lost to a "Muslim brother". This clearly meant that the ummah is far higher than the nation. This Islamic supra-nationalism is unpopular as was the Jewish sentiment of "Jew first, and zerman, British or French later. The origin of supra-nationalism is probably a Judaic phenome-

Egyptians to work as labourers to build stone upon stone. It was clear that there was no Pharaonic intention to ever release them. The Jews felt cursed, miserable and hopeless. When their Prophet Moses, with Herculean difficulty, released them and led them to Israel, they could only think of God and overlooked any State or country. Ironically, they did not have either for centuries until the British helped them after World War II, in 1948.

Supra-nationalism has often been described as transnationalism, whereby a citizen's loyalty to his country is superseded by an allegiance beyond the borders to say, an empire, religion or something higher. In some ways, it is a suzerainty over and above sovereignty. A Jew's supreme allegiance is to Judaism and not to a country. Even after the nation called Israel was attained in 1948, for a Jew, Jehovah commands a higher loyalty. Chaim Weizmann, the leading figure in the movement for establishing a separate homeland for the Jews and Israel's first president, illustrated the point by saying, "There are no British or French Jews; there are Jews in Britain and France

It is telling that the acclaimed poet Mohammad non. Jews were captured by the Iqbal who wrote 'Sare jahan se

SUPRANATIONALISM HAS OFTEN BEEN DESCRIBED AS TRANSNATIONALISM, WHEREBY A CITIZEN'S LOYALTY TO HIS COUNTRY IS SUPERSEDED BY AN ALLEGIANCE BEYOND THE BORDERS; TO SAY AN EMPIRE. RELIGION OR SOMETHING achha, hindustan hamara' came back from Europe, turned supra-nationalist and remained so. Yet, he did not become a total separatist unlike Jinnah. In all probability, many a Muslim is similarly confused and is a prisoner of his feeling. Except the rich families, there is nowhere they can be welcome. Where then is there a place for supranationalist feelings? Have they, more particularly, not thought of what happened to the Jews in Germany and elsewhere?

The fourth Abrahamic sibling, Marxism too, is supranational in nature. Marxists, in adherence to their supranational nature and thinking, have destroyed their native countries. Does that mean that Muslims, who are also supranational, would end up being destructive of their countries? Well, without the country of nature, their countries become poor. Their ethos does not encourage production or a productive culture. This has been explained most eloquently by Prof. Timur Kuran, who has proved how Islamic laws have held back the Muslim ummah in economic progress.

In sharp contrast, the Jews, who are also supra-national are believed to have the Midas touch. Their priority is the pursuit of wealth and successfully so. But Jews were unpopular in Europe, because they were suspected of caring more for themselves than for their

The Marxists are another community of supra-nations without any faith in any god. In fact, they deny god and call religion "the opium of the masses". The objective of the communists is to unite the workers of the world. Their enemies were the rich or what they called the bourgeoisie, whose overthrow is necessary to what Marxists believe will be transfer of power to industrial workers or the proletariat. In a vicarious way, Marxists became enemies of even the small farmers by collectivising or taking over their farms. In the end, the Marxist ruined entire countries, as their history proves it. In the pursuit of its supranational ideology, Marxism also believes that the individual nation does not matter much. In fact, Marxism believes the nation-state to be an exploitative instrument of capitalists, just as Islam believes the nation-state to be the death of its faith.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NEED TO KEEP A CHECK ON POPULATION

Sir — The damage done due to excessive population growth is long-lasting. Let us not forget that the scars of the Emergency are still with us. Men used to be part of family planning initiatives but after they were forced to sterilise, they continued to remain completely out of family planning programmes even today. Government now mostly works with woman and child health programmes. Mistakes of that era are not what new Governments with a robust electoral mandate would like to repeat.

Therefore, it is time to ask some of the prejudiced voices within the Government and the ruling parties not to venture into terrain they may not fully understand. Family planning programs benefit not only parents and children but also the society and nation by keeping the number of new births under control. A controlled population growth will allow sustainable distribution of resources among the already vast population of India. This would also help ensure that basic amenities are provided to every citizen of the country and natural resources, which are already depleting, do not get exhausted too early. MR Jayanthi | Mumbai

A MOTHER'S BATTLE FOR HER BABY

Sir — A real-life story in God's own country Kerala has captured the imagination of the public. It was a powerful human drama involving a myriad of human instincts and emotions unfolding before our eyes. It revolved around the central theme of a mother's spirited fight to get back her child given in adoption by her parents without her consent. The pain of separation from her baby for more than a year was deeply moving and ennobling. The suspense and uncertainty ended with the DNA test results confirming that Anupama S Chandran and her partner Ajith Kumar are the baby's biological parents. The proof of parenthood provided by the paternity and maternity tests put an end to the legal wrangles and settled the matter once and for all.

Anupama's parents did wrong by forcibly taking away the baby (amount-

GIVE EMPLOYMENT, NOT JUST FREE FOOD Sir — The announcement of extension of the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana till March next year is welcome. The announcement is apparently backed by political will ahead of the Assembly elections in various States. This decision to support poor Indians is absolutely appreciable. There are poor families in the country who still can't cope up with the economic upheaval of COVID-19. The Government data indicates that it is the port and the largest in Asia and the fourth largest in the world with six runways.

Worldwide, all major metro cities have more than one airport, London has six, New York has three and Washington has three airports. Hence, the much awaited new Jewar airport is a welcome development for the entire region. The project is expected to finish up by 2024 and create employment and attract investment. The project will significantly boost commerce, connectivity and tourism which will bring new avenues of job opportunities for thousands of people during the construction and operation of the airport. The airport will also help exporters from Western Uttar Pradesh as it will directly connect major centers of export with international markets. It will have an integrated multi-model cargo hub also. The project is indeed a step forward but we took a lot of time in taking this step. Now the Government must strive to complete the project well with-

However, it is also worth noting that the distribution of free food has its limits. One day it has to be stopped. It is, therefore, essential to ensure employment to the youth of this country rather than only ensuring their food needs. If the daughters and sons of a family get employment opportunities equivalent to their skills and potential, it will itself ensure their well being and healthy sustenance. The Government must prepare employment alternatives to make citizens meet their ends by themselves rather than providing free food. This is a crucial matter and it should not be taken up by the Central and State Governments.

FIRST COLUMN INDIA SHOULD WORK ON NEW-AGE TRADE POLICY

Imposing high tariffs on imports to check trade imbalance won't vield much results

here are hectic times ahead for India to catch the bus on trade deals with major trading partners around the globe. India has been late on the global trading platform and has already missed several low-hanging harvest deals. A reviving inflationary economy in almost every corner of the globe, taken with severe supply chain issues due to over dependence on China, is forcing major economies to stitch trade deals with strategic partners and major trading blocs. The entire globe has huge dependence on China for automobile parts, steel, pharma products to IT hardware. Now crippled, due to delay or no supplies from China, most of them are looking at alternate destinations for securing their supply chains. India is not part of any major regional trading bloc after it walked out of the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), led by ASEAN group of nations where there are several side shows at play. One of the key reasons for India walking out of RCEP is the China factor, where the latter has huge influence on shaping trade deals with ASEAN members. India has had a free trade agreement with ASEAN; however, the agreement was restricted to goods.

On review by Government of India, it was found that the free trade agreement (FTA) on goods with ASEAN created a trade imbalance skewed towards more imports from ASEAN to India. Several experts have pointed out the reason to be India not signing a simultaneous agreement on services, where India has competitive advantage. It is ASEAN member countries as a bloc that is being looked as a viable alternative by European Union and Australia due to their agile manufacturing policies. India, if it has to reach the stated target of $2 trillion in exports from goods and services in the next couple of years, has to start working towards an integrated narrative on trade deals encompassing all government departments. The trade of 21st century is increasingly being dictated by digital trade policies and nudges on climate change, human rights issues.

India has done well to start looking at new partners for finalizing trade agreements in some form, including the European Union, Australia, United Kingdom and UAE. All of these are rich, developed economies where the considerations for finalising a deal are pretty mature. India has had a lull in its trade relationship with the US for nearly half a decade now, but there are signs of revival after the visit of US Trade representative Katherine Tai this week. The past principles of imposing high tariffs on imports as a measure to check trade imbalance and, or resist a not a so friendly country would not yield much results in the current situation. It can be counter-productive leading to India being isolated from lucrative trade agreements. Most economies today understand the power of data-driven opportunities for trade and India has to step up its game at the global stage on the digital front. Its digital policies need to be interoperable with its potential and existing trade partners. India's outlook to shape a futuristic digital economy could only be successful with the investments or riches generated through trade. Another issue that India needs to focus on is remove non-tariff trade barriers that manifest in cumbersome compliance requirements. These are seen as major hurdles to trade and have to be reviewed from economic advantage point of view. It requires the entire Government approach to gear towards reaching a $2 trillion target.

World Philosophy Day: Must be a good reason

Philosophy aims to further our knowledge, advance our reasoning abilities, explore our possible future as a species and stimulate the thinking capacity

t Is nearly two decades since World Philosophy Day was established. Mostly, it is a day celebrated by phi-Losophy departments, philosophy journals and publishers, and humanities scholars. Some of them organise outreach events on this day, the third Thursday of November (as formalised by the UNESCO) to share some of the core values in the modern academic discipline known as philosophy with the general public, especially the young who may have had very little exposure to it.

There is a central faith in philosophy which is that the life preserving apparatus within us is evolving steadily towards a better and wider understanding of the possibilities in our universe. This is not a far-fetched belief at all.

Many of today's designers and testers of intercontinental missiles may not have reflected on how ancient communities developed archery to obtain food and to discourage raiders. It is quite sophisticated to speak of vibrations and String Theory in the 21st century, but for users of mere sticks and spears to use a narrow strip of hide as a bowstring to launch a sharp shaft was a leap of imagination. Very likely, it was discovered in play by children and adapted by an astute adult observer. So do not lose sight of whatever it is your kids are

As with many other lofty achievements and ambitious dreams of humankind, Philosophy too has particularly simple origins. And in the way that school physics teaches us how an arrow could fly by informing us about kinematics, deformation due to strain, velocity, the parabola, and the law of gravitational attraction - it is possible to outline in a classroom setting, the methods by which human thinking can soar.

We initially develop our reasoning abilities because the right conclusions can prove extremely advantageous or even save our lives. A freshly killed prey is a sign that the predator is still in the vicinity. The size of the prey is an indicator of how dangerous its attacker. A question, whether and how soon hyenas will arrive, could arise depending on one's knowledge of the territory.

To interpret phenomena and respond accordingly is part of our nature. Realising the value of accruing information, we became voracious information-gatherers even tens of thousands of years before we started compiling encyclopedias.

Just as the application of fire, and the newly introduced flavour of salt transformed the process of food preparation and made meals safer and tastier, and even thereby improved the quality of dinner conversation (!), the continued development of language and activity specialisation (weapon maker, hunter, peeler, berry collector) within the herd led to the acquisition and sharing of a lot more knowledge.

The first thing we learn to ask is really not questions, but for guidance. As parents cautioned kids not to chew some berries and leaves, or to keep their distance from particular insects, the young learnt to point or name things and ask for a Y/N or OK/Not OK response from the group elders. Thus, the first 24*7 assistance came into existence to advise instantly on basic safety.

This led to the first 'What' and 'Where' questions, what animal or tree did you see, and where was it? These queries pertained to information for immediate or future use. Memory came to develop as every member had a larger information base, and each following generation received more inputs from the start than the earlier. The origins of the 'Who' question are easier to figure out, but a lot more thinking will be needed to account for how the others viz. wnen, How and wny wnich lead us to more complex ideas and principles came into human language and regular thinking.

To reflect on philosophy is to take a dip in a river instead of having a shower at home. A refreshing experience with greater openness. We connect with the water that descends to the plains from the mountains instead of availing it from a domestic fitting. Our thinking relates directly to the elements in a situation in place of being conditioned by household arrangements, equations, and traditions. It draws deeper and directly from the planet, and from multiple founts of yore.

Philosophy aims to further our knowledge, to advance our reasoning abilities, to explore our possible futures as a species, and to stimulate the thinking capacity in whosoever possible. It encourages the use of methods like framing a few likely hypotheses, considering the evidence or lack thereof for each of them, and impartial like math, medicinal like botany, retrieves from the ancient past like archaeology, loves breadth like cosmology and astrophysics, is revelatory like religion, and enterprising like quantum physics. a musical instrument: what generally happens is that we rarely pick up an instrument in a shop through our own impulse or prior decision. Typically, it is an instrument we have seen and heard a lot and there is someone nearby to help us learn it. The particular instrument could demand manual accuracy or lung power or shoulder strength or lightness of touch, and so could specially suit our physical makeup. It has its own lineage of performers and composers. What matters is not all the gossip about musical history, the brands of manufacturers, the names of concert venues, or reports of album sale figures. At the core of it, there is a proficiency to be reached through sincere pursuit and practice, and to relate to the arranged sound in a deep way through an attentive unity of playing and listening. Musicians can relate to each other transcending their geography, culture, instrument, and musical tradition.

In so far as the developmental process goes, in philosophy too, a similar beginning is made. At one level, there is an identification with a broad approach or an ancient or modern tradition. A lot of name-dropping ensues and controversies are brought up for taking sides. What really matters though is the recreation of the spirit of a beautiful piece of be compared with learning to play present. Or a compelling revision and diligent updating of a dominant paradigm so that it can benefit many more in society or pave the way for a greater addition of new knowledge.

Philosophy is often taken to be about discord because there are contentions, counter-arguments and often vehement exchanges. Above the clamour, it is possible to realise that it can and does foster concord. In a sense, its function in nature is to maximise meaning.

Climate justice to net-zero emission: A change in narrative

(The writer is a creative director, advertising faculty, and an amateur epistemologist. The views expressed are personal.)

India needs to emphasise to the world where its scorecard is better than many of the developed countries, who frequently lecture India on emission flows

Recently, yet another COPs meeting was held in Glasgow. Compared to the low-key meetings in the last couple of years, this year's meeting seems to have ended on a high note. The developed countries have been quite successful in delinking the narrative of stock of historical emission in the carbon space, contributed by the developed countries, to the issue of current emissions. The bad guys are of course the emerging countries like India and China. The nudge towards this was slowly evident in the last few years when pressures in various forums was being built on developing countries to identify the peaking year of carbon emissions. Many countries including China followed suit and identified the peaking year as per their development pathways. To my best knowledge, India never officially announced a peaking year even though they may have worked in the official circle before announcing 2070 as the target year for Net Zero emissions. A bold announcement by India's Prime Minister in a meeting like this gives a strong message.

As I recollect, a similar message by the Prime Minister in Paris meeting paves the way for the significant shift towards renewable in India's energy spectrum. However, the task is much more challenging this time. India has to depend mostly on own resources as developed countries are not very forthcoming in allocating funds to developing countries like India for the transition.

Moreover, as climate changes become more evident as years go by, it is expected that the pressure will be on all countries including India to advance the target year for net zero emissions. Thus, India needs to do the homework seriously on pathways to reduce emissions. Also, India needs to emphasize to the world where its scorecard is better than many of the developed countries who frequently lecture India on emission flows. By and large, India approach most of the time.

For instance, there are two board sources of emission: consumption process as well as production process. It is in our interest where we stand vis-a-vis each of the components. On the consumption side, India's households emit a minuscule compared to the rich households of the developed countries. This is true even for the ultra-rich households of India versus the same in developed countries. This happens because of contrasting life. Many of the Indian consumer electrical goods are energy efficient due to the introduction of star rating system of such goods by BEES, thereby lowering emission. Similarly, most of the Indian personal automobiles are fuel-has taken has taken a laidback efficient compared to fuel by government and/or the guzzling automobiles of USA,leading to lower emission. However, Indians are not very forthcoming to point out these facts in the global meet with evidences. Alas, Indian researchers have not invested in this kind of fact-finding research for global consumption. The production process needs more attention as most emission takes place here. Here also, there are sectors where Indian industries compare well with the developed ones. We need to do an objectives analysis of such cases and produce evidence to the world. In the process, we will know where we need to take corrective actions. Of course, these need in-depth research where the funds need to be invested private sector.

Over the years, a lot of investment came in the energy intensive sectors from the developed countries due to the laxity in Indian environmental norm. More such investments may be forthcoming as other countries strengthen their environmental norms to gear their economy towards net-zero emission target. It is high time that India also takes an objective decision regarding the environmental norm, how best these polluting industries may be modernized and whether the investment policy on establishing such industries should be revised. Our major trading partner, European Union, is discussing the imposition of a carbon border adjustment tax on imports based on the amount of carbon emissions resulting from the production of a product in question. India needs to have a well-thought-out policy on energy-intensive prod-

India's agricultural practices need introspection. Free power, free water in the Northern India belt has encouraged deep-water paddy cultivation practices which inadvertently leads to higher emission. India's farm sector nearly accounts for 14 per cent of the country's total greenhouse gas emissions, preceded by electricity (44 per cent) and manufacturing industries and construction sectors combined (18 per cent). Thus, the farm sector needs special focus if we have to achieve net zero emission.

Blast near school in Somalia kills 8

Al-Shabab claims responsibility

Mogadishu: A large explosion outside a school in Somalia's capital on Thursday killed at least eight people, including students, witnesses said. The extremist group al-Shabab claimed responsibility for the attack. The al-Qaida-linked group controls large parts of rural Somalia and continues to frustrate efforts at rebuilding the Horn of Africa nation after three decades of conflict.

Beijing: The Chinese military on Thursday asked the US to stop "close-in reconnaissance, interference, provocation" in the disputed South China Sea after the recent accident involving an American nuclear-powered submarine in the region.

The USS Connecticut struck an object underwater in the South China Sea (SCS) last month. Eleven sailors on board the submarine were injured in the accident.

Commenting on the US Navy dismissing two senior officers of the nuclear-powered attack submarine, Chinese Defence Ministry Spokesman Sr. Col Wu Qian told media here that since the collision occurred, the US side's awkward and secretive attitude has inevitably raised doubts.

EU regulator authorises Pfizer's Covid vaccine for kids 5-11

AP ■ THE HAGUE

The European Union's drug regula-L tor on Thursday authorised Pfizer's coronavirus vaccine for use on children from 5 to 11 years old, clearing the way for shots to be administered to millions of elementary school pupils amid a new wave of infections sweeping across the continent.

It is the first time the European Medicines Agency has cleared a Covid-19 vaccine for use in young children. The agency said it "recommended granting an extension of indication for the Covid-19 vaccine Comirnaty to include use in children aged 5 to 11." At least one country facing spiking infections didn't wait for the EMA approval. Authorities in the Austrian capital, Vienna, already have begun vaccinating the 5 to 11 age group. Europe is currently at the epicenter of the pandemic and the World Health Organisation has warned the continent could see deaths top 2 million by the spring unless urgent measures are

The EMA green light for the vaccine developed by Pfizer and German company BioNTech has to be rubberstamped by the EU's executive branch, the European Commission, before health authorities in member states can begin administering shots.

Earlier this week, Germany's health minister Jens Spahn said shipping of vaccines for younger children in the EU would begin on Dec. 20.

The United States signed off on Pfizer's kids-sized shots earlier this month, followed by other countries including Canada. Pfizer tested a dose that is a third of the amount given to adults for elementary school-age

Bangladesh sends hundreds more Rohingya refugees to island

Dhaka: Bangladesh on Thursday began relocating hundreds of Rohingya refugees to an island in the Bay of Bengal, despite ongoing concerns from rights groups over the conditions on the vulnerable low-lying island and that no refugees should be sent

The Rohingya are a Muslim ethnic group, over 700,000 of whom fled persecution and violence in neighbouring Myanmar in August 2017. Bangladesh has been sheltering 1.1 million of the refugees in crowded camps near

A U.N.-sponsored investigation in 2018 recommended the prosecution of Myanmar's top military commanders on charges of genocide, war crimes and crimes against humanity for the violence against the Rohingya.

A senior Bangladeshi official overseeing the relocation, Mohammad Shamsud Douza, said that a navy ship would take 379 refugees from Chattogram city to the Bhashan Char Island which lies off the country's southeastern coast.

"They are going there vol-untarily. All the 379 refugees have chosen to live there for a better and secure life," he told The Associated Press.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday laid the foundation stone for the Noida International Airport at Jewar in Uttar Pradesh, which would be one of the largest in Asia.

Commenting on the development, industry body CREDAI-NCR President Pankaj Bajaj said: "Noida has been waiting for this day for 20 years. Noida has competed with Gurugram as the premier ceremony for the Noida International Airport at Jewar, in Gautam Buddha Nagar

suburb of Delhi with one hand tied behind its back." Corporates and MNCs have always preferred Gurugram over Noida due to the proximity of Indira Gandhi

International Airport, despite

Noida having better infrastructure and access from Delhi, he said.

"Over the next few years, this differential will disappear," Bajaj said, adding that the sentiment in Noida market is reflecting the expectation of a property boom.

Black income detected after IT raids on some Indian entities, neighbouring Country-linked associates PTI NEW DELHI inating e

The Income Tax Department has detected huge unaccounted income after it raided some Indian companies and their associates, being controlled by a neighbouring country, in Delhi, Maharashtra and Gujarat, the CBDT said on Thursday.

The searches were carried out on November 16 on at least 20 premises in Mumbai, Ahmedabad and Gandhidham in Guiarat and in Delhi. Those searched are engaged in the business of chemicals, ball bearings, machinery parts, and injection moulding machinery.

The Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) said in a statement that ₹66 lakh cash was seized while bank accounts holding about ₹28 crore funds have been put under restraint. "A large number of incriminating evidence in the form of digital data showing earning of huge unaccounted income by these companies has been seized and it has been found that these companies are indulging in tax evasion through manipulation of books of accounts," the CBDT claimed. The CBDT frames policy for the Income Tax department.

"These companies have indulged in transferring funds by using a network of shell companies to a neighbouring country." "An estimated amount of ₹20 crore was transferred in the last two years through the above modus operandi," it said. The tax officials found that a Mumbaibased professional firm not only assisted in the formation of these shell companies but also provided dummy directors to these shell companies.

Banning cryptocurrencies could lead to more unlawful usage: BACC

The Blockchain and Crypto Assets Council (BACC), which is part of the Internet and Mobile Association of India (IAMAI) on Thursday said a blanket ban on cryptocurrencies will encourage non-state players, thereby leading to more unlawful usage of such currencies.

BACC's statement comes days after the government listed for introduction in Parliament a bill to ban all private cryptocurrencies, with some exceptions.

In a statement, IAMAI said there would be several negative outcomes of a ban such as zero accountability and traceability of the origin and end usage of the cryptocurrencies; besides a complete evasion of taxes. A ban will also adversely impact retail investors, it added. The Council has always argued in favour of prohibiting the usage of private cryp-tocurrencies as a currency in India by law since usage as currency is likely to interfere with monetary policy and fis-cal controls, the statement

On the other hand, the Council has advocated their use only as an asset.

The Council said it believes that a smartly regulated crypto assets business will protect investors, help monitor Indian buyers and sellers, lead to better taxation of the industry, and limit illegal usage of

ONE FACE, MANY VOICES

Dhindora is a baby step towards a bigger aspiration, my own universe, BHUVAN BAM tells Khushbu Kirti on the recent launch of his independent web-series

Bhuvan Bam, or commonly known as BB, is an Indian comedian who changed the face of YouTube for artists in India. He blazed a path that wasn't as yet to be as well trod as it is now. The comedian, writer, singer and song-writer has donned another feather in his cap by releasing his new creation, Dhindora.

Flying high on the IMDb charts with a whopping 9.8, Dhindora was recently created by BB on his popular YouTube channel, BB Ki Vines. The star did not have to wait for an OTT to approach him, but decided to take matters into his own hand and, sure enough, became the first Indian digital content creator to launch his independent web-series.

In a candid conversation, BB opened up about his master-piece. An excerpt from the interview is as fol-acters in it. Dhindora being the first show of its kind, is a cluster of all my life experiences presented with humour and drama. How middle class aspirations and expectations lead to chaos. How society behaves differently in your ups and downs. Dhindora is a satire, a reflection of society.

♦ You are the one-man army behind and in Dhindora. What was the thought behind it? And your vision/objective of it.

The thought behind Dhindora was to create a universe of my own. Where all my characters bring in different emotions, where they are combined together to portray various faces of our society.

Dhindora is a word that I've been hearing from people since childhood. 'Bagal mein chora, sheher mein dhindora' means something you are searching for is near you and you are busy chasing the world. It fits perfectly with the context of the show because of the chaos created by one of the characters.

♦Creating an episodic show out of mainstream OTT platforms, on YouTube, how was the experience?

Creating this show on YouTube was a smooth platform experience. They gave us the opportunity to act our vision out but since it was a unique project (one man and 10 characters), shooting it was a task. Everyone on the set learnt the process through the making of the show itself. Makeup and costumes were time consuming, and since I was the only actor on set, things became tedious.

♦ What has been the most enjoyable part of being in the comedy sector?

Satire through comedy is the best ay to interact with the audience. I'd like the people sitting on the topmost position in the OTT hierarchy to invest in newcomers and not just stick to their old school data numbers. People are ready to watch something new, and new concepts will automatically win your attention.

♦ As a fellow DUite, I want to ask you if open mics and fest season was how you got into comedy? Did it start with stand-up shows?

I did try stand up comedy once for an OTT platform and wouldn't want to try that again because it's a difficult craft. Kudos to all the stand up comedians but not my cup of tea.

♦ What are your plans for the future? Are there any upcoming gigs your fans should look out for? Or Dhindora 2,3? Dhindora season 2 is definitely on

"My co-actress Aishwarya Narkar is helping me with the proper Marathi dialect for my role," shares Kashibai Bajirao Ballal star TARUN KHANNA. By TEAM VIVA

Over the years, Zee TV has introduced the audience to India's leaders and royal figures who have had a significant impact on the country's historical and cultural heritage. After Jodha Akbar and Jhansi ki Rani, Zee TV recently introduced viewers to the untold story of one of the most iconic women of the Maratha empire — Kashibai Bajirao Ballal. The show premiered recently where Tarun Khanna portrays Balaji Vishwanath.

role of Bajirao's father Balaji Vishwanath Ballal in the show, who was a powerful soldier in the army of Chhatrapati Shahu Maharaj. He also holds a senior position in the king's court and is known for his wisdom and wordplay. To play this role of Balaji authentically on the small screen, Tarun has learnt the proper Marathi dialect.

As the actor shared, "I was honoured to be offered a challenging role like this and I am very excited to portray the part of Peshwa Balaii Vishwanath Ballal on our show. It holds such a strong historical relevance in our nation's vast history and I will give my 100 per cent to play the role as authentically as possible. I believe that everyone should prepare for their roles very rigorously, especially while portraying great historical leaders. I have been learning the proper Marathi dialect to personify my character and do justice to my role in Kashibai Bajirao Ballal. But it is a little difficult to be fluent in the enunciation at all times. Nevertheless, my co-actress Aishwarva Narkar is helping me with the proper Marathi dialect as well as with the proper pronunciations of the 'shudh Marathi' words. I also help her with Hindi words. So it is a give and take between us. I feel it is really important for an actor to convince his audience and present an authentic character as they can on screen, and these are the baby steps we all take for our viewers. I really hope they continue liking me as Balaji Vishwanath Ballal.'

While Khanna is working hard to get into the skin of the character and bring an impactful character to the screen, the untold story of Kashibai is unfolding on our small screens. In the upcoming episodes we will also see Shivubai and Bhawanibai becoming hindrances in Kashibai's life, but will Kashi and Bajirao still end up being together?

(Watch Kashibai Bajirao Ballal every Monday to Friday at 8 pm, only on Zee TV.) The earth is being plundered and its resources exploited at such a rapid rate that future generations face a frightening scenario. In fact, it wouldn't be incorrect to say that with the continued destruction of the ecosystem, the existence of life on earth itself is under threat.

Most of us are aware of this but vague about what can be done at an individual level in order to contribute to restoring and preserving the ecosystem. More often than not, we leave it to the government and environmental agencies to do the heavy lifting. But a change is imperative for every drop counts and does add up to make the proverbial ocean. 'Going organic' is a dynamic way to get started and contribute.

What does 'going organic' translate to? To put it simply, it means adopting lifestyle practices that do not harm the environment, and instead help restore, preserve and nurture it. how we can go about it and help preserve the earth's ecosystem.

Use 'green' products: Read labels and be mindful of all products that you use — from house-cleaning agents and cosmetics to your garbage bags and containers. Look for cleaning products that do not include phosphates and phthalates;

avoid non-degradable plastic (the frightening videos of plastic clogging up the earth are not fictitious); opt for jute bags and glass containers and shun cosmetics that are harmful to animals or contain damaging chemicals (check the Environmental Working Group website for more).

Use transport more efficiently: Change your car to one that guzzles less fuel — a limited natural resource. Cut down on the use of vehicles by combining errands, opting for carpool or walking more often. NEED FOR NUTRITION

JHOOMER SINHA answers the pertinent question, why we remain tired even after four cups of coffee

Touted and widely adopted as the universal beverage to ward off sleep and keep you alert, awake and ready to take on the day, a daily cup of coffee has practically become a ritual for most of us. It's become a ritual for most of us. It's also not uncommon to reach for a few extra cups or a shot of espresso when you feel that all-too-familiar energy slump in the middle of

However, when you're down four cups of coffee and still find yourself struggling to muster the energy and focus needed for the simplest tasks, it's important to realise that your body isn't craving caffeine. What it needs instead is

Despite its ubiquitous presence across energising beverages, scientifically speaking, caffeine (the principal stimulant in coffee) isn't exactly the ultimate energy elixir it is made out to be. It works by binding to the receptors of adenosine, (a neurotransmitter that builds up in your body as you exert yourself and relaxes your brain making you feel tired), and thus blocks these receptors and stops them from being activated. This prevents you from feeling how tired you actually are temporarily but it also makes you feel even more exhausted once the effects of the caffeine wear off instead of giving your body the nutrients it needs to generate more energy and banish fatigue for good.

While coffee in moderation can certainly do wonders for your alertness, it offers little to no nutritional value by itself. In fact, coffee actually blocks the absorption of vital energising micronutrients (vitamins and minerals) in your body and inhibits their ability to initiate natural metabolic and energy generation processes in your body.

Our bodies need a regular and balanced combination of macro and micronutrients to generate a steady stream of energy. Some of the most important ones needed in this context are vitamins D, B12 and B9 (folic acid). They act as catalysts in the energy generation process and help convert the macronutrients (like carbohydrates, fats and proteins) from the food you eat into energy.

Think of macronutrients as the fuel you need to sustain a fire and micronutrients as the match that you need to light it in the first place. Any deficiency in either of these will lead to the fire being extinguished or to a literal crash in your energy levels.

80 per cent of Indians are deficient in vitamin D, one of the most vital components needed for us to feel energetic. While our bodies are actually capable of naturally producing this nutrient when exposed to sunlight, the need to supplement our diets with an additional intake of vitamin D in order to compensate for this deficiency cannot be overstated. A lot of Indians also exhibit deficiencies in vitamins B9 and B12.

Lifestyle changes v/s fad diets

Bringing about changes in the way you live your life can help to move the weighing scale's needle move left, says Ruchi Sharma

You will do much better if you set your goals that have more to do with health rather than weight. Putting all your efforts in lowering the numbers on the weight scale can lead to fluctuating cycles of losing and regaining weight, lower selfesteem and a complex relationship with food and body image. A permanent challenge cannot be fixed with quick fixes like crash diets. Focusing on finding positive results in lifestyle changes will help you ace in the long run than just lowering the points on the weight scale. Instead of fat loss, setting wellnessrelated goals will result in the best of both worlds; you will get healthier, energised and will be able to lose weight as well. Here is a guide to some of the reasons for you to concentrate more on making lifestyle changes than focusing on mere fat

*Compromised immune function

People often run after crash or fad diets to get overnight results rather than following a healthy route for weight loss. Following various crash diets deprives them of essential vitamins and minerals which eventually weakens their natural immune function. An extremely fat-restricted diet results in insufficient intake of fat-soluble vitamins such as vitamin A, D, E and K. Since these vitamins are involved in thousands of bodily processes, their deficiency leads to weakening of immune function which can make you more prone to illnesses. Hence, making sustainable choices that last longer will have a positive impact on your health along with supporting you with weight loss.

Stress management

The majority of people go straight to the diets that claim to help them lose fat without taking note of the habits that cause them to binge eat. How well you manage your stress is one of the most important lifestyle changes that has a direct effect on your weight. is believed to increase the levels of cortisol in the body. Higher levels of cortisol stimulate your appetite which eventually leads to either weight gain or it may cause difficulty losing undesired pounds. So, instead of swiftly shifting to fat-loss diets, make the lifestyle changes that will help you in the long run as it is said; à permanent challenge cannot be sorted with quick fixes.

Wellness over fat loss goals Being healthy and taking care of your wellness is way more rewarding than just focusing on losing fat. Being conscious about vour wellness will not only help you stay healthy and focused, but it will help you lose that unwanted fat as well. Wellness is all about taking care of your sleep, managing your stress, and keeping yourself relaxed and fit through physical activity and meditation. Making these true lifestyle changes is going to take a bit of your hard work but in the end, it's totally worth it. Fixing your sleep cycle together with proper physical activity is the healthiest approach towards losing fat. It will give you the best of both worlds; you will stay healthy and focused and it will support sustainable weight loss as well.

Hair and skin health

Your hair and skin are two very important parts that define your appearance and need to be taken some extra care of. However, your extreme obsession with fat loss may lead to a deficiency of essential vitamins and minerals that your skin and hair need. This can hamper your skin and hair health by making your hair look dull and fall out easily and by making your skin dry and pale. Here's your sign to gear up for long term lifestyle changes instead of just focusing on losing ebutant Shreyas Iyer was guts, aggression and flair rolled into one during an unbeaten knock of 75, which was nothing short of a baptism by fire, as India ended on 258 for four on the first day of the opening Test against New Zealand here on Thursday.

On a pitch that had variable bounce and didn't offer enough pace off it, Iyer put his best foot forward while facing 136 balls, hitting seven boundaries and two sixes on his very first day in office in the longest format.

Coming in at 106 for 3 at the fall of Cheteshwar Pujara's (26 off 88 balls) wicket, the debutant, in another half an hour, found his skipper Ajinkya Rahane's (33 off 65 balls) promising knock come to a halt as Kyle Jamieson (15.2-6-47-3) and Tim Southee (16.4-3-43-1) rocked the middleorder in inspiring post-lunch spells.

But at 144 for 4, Iyer took charge with senior all-rounder Ravindra Jadeja (50 batting, 100 balls) for company as they resurrected the innings, at the same time batting with a lot of intent to keep the score-

Jadeja scored his 17th Test fifty and did his trademark sword celebrations much to the delight of the crowd.

One doesn't know if Sunil Gavaskar, while presenting the India Cap to Iyer, mentioned about a very special player to him. Someone, who had announced his arrival at this very ground 52 years back in 1969 against Bill Lawry's Australia.

There are very few in Indian cricket who have received unadulterated love like Gavaskar's illustrious brother-in-law Gundappa Viswanath.

His hundred on debut at this very ground is a part of Indian cricket's most warmly recounted folklores.

They say every blade of grass at Green Park had felt punch in Viswanath's shots and remembers him forever.

He might not be of Viswanath's class but from Thursday onwards, Green Park will also remember Iyer for once again proving the old concrete jungle saying: "A good player, is a good player, is a good player.'

Doesn't matter whether one hails from a T20 generation, what ultimately matters is sound temperament to succeed at high-

Iyer proved that all those hard yards put in during Ranji Trophy and the 1000 plus runs season that he once had, haven't gone

It did help that he wasn't just looking to survive but score as there were pull shots, lap scoops, drives down the ground and some imperious cut shots. There was Mumbai's 'khadoos' schooling in the manner he played Jamieson and Southee with caution.

The six over long on off left-arm spin-scoop off left-arm spinner Rachin Ravindra was straight from the IPL play-book. Iyer had it all and it was on display. It did help that Patel (21-6-78-0) and ner Ajaz Patel, while giving him the charge, was that of a vintage 50-over batter and the shuffle towards off-stump to play the lap off-break bowler William Somerville (24-2-60-0) didn't find any ways to assist the pressure that was time and again created by the

Patel, who literally bowls with a halfstep-full-jump run-up, either pitched too short or gave the ball enough air to give batters the option to either cut him or come down the track to drive him off length. Shubman Gill (52 off 93 balls) did that with elan before perishing on a day when a hundred was there for the taking and he looked good to reach the landmark before Jamieson exposed the gap between his bat and pad. But there was no stopping Iyer, who save a strong leg before appeal by Sommerville that turned out to be an Umpire's Call, was ready to wait for the loose deliveries. The 113-run unbroken partnership between Jadeja and Iyer might prove to be the winning one in the final analysis. That's because if India's batters found the Black Caps' willow wielders, with very little experience of dealing with Ravichandran Ashwin, Axar Patel and Jadeja in these conditions, will find it doubly difficult.

If Iyer's debut innings was the brightest spot, comeback man Gill's taking the attack back to the opposition camp in the first session couldn't be seen in isolation either. It was a stage that was set by Gill and had Jamieson not bowled a beauty with the old ball, he should have completed what was expected to be his maiden Test hundred.

But more importantly what Gill and Iyer did on the day was to send another warning signal for Pujara and Rahane, who are now on borrowed time.

Rahane was done in by low bounce when he was expecting the ball from a near 7 feet tall Jamieson to rear up. With 12 Tests without a big score (India might not bat twice), Rahane's record is not reading too well for a stand-in skipper.

Similarly, Pujara being stopped from scoring by spinners, whom younger players like Gill and Iyer played freely, is an indicator that he either has to reinvent himself

Cheteshwar Pujara and Ajinkya Rahane after another failure and this time, in reasonably conducive home conditions against an attack which wasn't half as threatening as Australia and England.

Both Pujara and Rahane squandered decent starts on a day when the willows of debutant Shreyas Iyer and Shubman Gill produced half centuries against New Zealand in the opening Test here. And the failure was against the immensely talented and ing moisture makes life difficult crafty Trent Boult, whose banana inswing in early mornbeing back among runs, albeit as an opener, would certainly set alarm bells ringing for the captain (Rahane) and vice-captain (Pujara) in this Test match. The Indian squad for the

Before KL Rahul got injured, Gill was being considered as a middle-order enforcer, an option they want to check out in long-term.

He played as an opener but Gill's highest overseas firstclass score on foreign soil is 204 batting at No.5 in the West Indies, when he was there with the A team. Without a doubt, Iyer has responded well and made a case for himself.

So if Gill and Iyer, both of whom have come through the ranks now push the door open, there are only two vulnerable slots at the moment — Pujara

The hosts kick off the new Test Championship cycle with the two-match series against Pakistan starting in Chittagong, having never beaten the visitors either at home or away.

The series follows a dismal run in T20Is, with Bangladesh losing eight consecutive matches. Five losses at the World Cup were followed by a three-nil whitewash at home by semifinalists Pakistan. "This is not the first time

Pakistan captain Babar Azam insisted his team will not take the hosts lightly in their home conditions. "This looks a typical asith Embuldeniya took five Lwickets in the final innings as hosts Sri Lanka thrashed the West Indies by 187 runs in the first Test on Thursday to surge 1-0 up in the two-match series.

Chasing a hefty target of 348, West Indies were bowled out for 160 before tea on the final day, with Nkrumah Bonner the lone warrior with an unbeaten 68 on a turning wicket at Galle International Stadium. Bonner was one of only three West Indies batters to make it into double figures in with Joshua Da Silva, who made 54, and Rahkeem Cornwall who managed 13. Reeling on 52 for six at the start of the final day, the West Indies clung on with Bonner and Da Silva putting on 100, the West Indies' highest partnership of the match.

Despite the wicket offering plenty of assistance, the two batters tackled the Sri Lankan spin threat well with clever use of footwork. Three chances were also put down by Sri Lanka with Pathum Nissanka the guilty party each time.

It was a crucial seventhwicket partnership for the tourists after they had been reduced to 18 for six on day four. At that point, the West Indies were in danger of being shot out for their lowest score in Test cricket with the game ending inside four days.

Their lowest total was 47 all out against England in Jamaica in 2004. Embuldeniya finished the innings with a five-wicket haul while Ramesh Mendis complemented him well with Srikanth, Sameer Verma, Sindhu and London bronze- medallist Saina Nehwal have competed in the year-ending tournament in the past.

While Sindhu is the only Indian to win the BWF World Tour Finals in 2018, Saina had reached the summit clash of the BWF Superseries Finals in 2011. Srikanth and Sameer have reached the knockout stage but couldn't enter the finals.
