State intensifies passenger screening amid Omicron fear

PNS ■ RANCHI

The Jharkhand government has intensified screening of interstate travellers amid the growing fear of Omicron variant of coronavirus, a mutated strain that is said to have a higher transmissibility than the Delta Plus variant and is feared to have the ability to bypass the immunity provided by Covid-19 vaccines in the country.

Even though cases of Omicron infection have not been detected in India yet, Health Minister Banna Gupta has said that Jharkhand has not let its guard down. The state, he said, was focusing on intensifying the screening process of interstate travellers at all the railway stations, bus stands, the Birsa Munda Airport in Ranchi and entry points to Jharkhand.

Jharkhand does not have direct international air connectivity. However, many travellers from different parts of the world visit Ranchi via Mumbai and New Delhi, which puts the state at the risk of exposure to the new variant of coronavirus if passengers carrying this infection are not stopped at the connecting airports, health officials said.

The Director of Birsa Munda Airport in Ranchi, Vinod Sharma said that the screening process was intensified at the airport in the wake of the Omicron variant, and additional manpower was also deployed at the arrival terminal to ensure that no passenger leaves the airport without getting tested for symptoms as well as SARS-CoV-2 infection.

"All the passengers who have not been fully-vaccinated will be tested through RT-PCR upon their arrival in Ranchi," said Sharma, adding that passengers with a history of international travel will be under surveillance.

The Omicron variant, which first surfaced in South Africa, has already been detected in Belgium, Botswana, Hong Kong, Britain and Israel, sparking global concern. A case was also reported in Australia on Sunday, indicating that the virus was fast spreading across the globe.

All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) director Dr Randeep Guleria on Sunday said that the omicron variant of coronavirus has at least 30 mutations, and it may bypass the immunity provided by vaccines in India.

Health Minister Banna Gupta has already appealed to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to immediately stop international flights from countries where the new Omicron variant of SARS-CoV-2 virus has surfaced and prepare a roadmap to tackle the crisis in case the variant finds its way to India.

"A developing state like Jharkhand is well aware of how devastating the effects of a Covid-19 wave can be. The second wave taught us many lessons the hard way, and we cannot afford to be complacent about this new variant, which is said to have the strength of reducing vaccine efficiency," said Gupta. The prime minister, Gupta said, should build consensus between all the states and the Centre in a bid to stand united against this new variant of coronavirus.

Expressing concern over this new variant, Gupta admitted that the Delta variant of coronavirus had wreaked havoc in the country, and this new variant may cause even more damage if necessary actions are not taken at the earliest to stop its entry in the country.

Omicron Covid variant poses very high global risk: WHO

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The World Health Organization (WHO) on Monday warned the new Covid-19 Omicron variant poses a "very high" risk globally and is likely to spread further despite uncertainties about the danger and contagion levels of the new strain.

It said the B.1.1.529 strain, first found in South Africa, is "highly divergent" and likely to spread internationally at a very high speed and could possibly have "severe consequences and surges of Covid infections" caused by the variant of concern.

Currently, the Omicron variant has not been reported in India.

"The use of masks, physical distancing, ventilation of indoor space, crowd avoidance, and hand hygiene remain key to reducing transmission of SARS-CoV-2 even with the emergence of the Omicron variant," the WHO said, urging countries to increase contact tracing of Covid-19 cases.

"Given mutations that may confer immune escape potential and possibly transmissibility advantage, the likelihood of potential further spread of Omicron at the global level is high," the WHO said in its risk assessment within a technical brief to its 194 member States.

"The overall global risk related to the new variant of concern Omicron is assessed as very high," it noted.

"Depending on these characteristics, there could be future surges of Covid-19, which could have severe consequences, depending on a number of factors, including where surges may take place. The overall global risk related to the new VOC [variant of concern] Omicron is assessed as very high," the WHO said.

Earlier, it said it is "not yet clear" whether the newly-detected coronavirus variant Omicron is more transmissible or causes more severe disease compared to other variants, including the highly-transmissible and globally prevalent Delta variant.

WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus also said many uncertainties remain about just how transmissible and severe infection by the highly mutated omicron might be.

RT-PCR for fliers from risk countries: DDMA

SAPNA SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

Amid the potential threat from latest Covid-19 variant B.1.1.529, the Delhi Disaster Management Authority (DDMA) committee on Monday decided to conduct RT-PCR on all people arriving from high-risk countries, genome sequencing and mandatory isolation in the national Capital as per Centre's guidelines.

Manish Sisodia said, "Experts from the Centre have provided the DDMA details that they have so far gathered about the new variant. The Centre said it is keeping a watch and States have to ensure the same. We should not drop our guard irrespective of how deadly the variant is, or how much effectiveness a vaccine has against it."

He said the Delhi Government has made necessary arrangements keeping in mind the Covid-19 crisis the Capital faced during the second wave of the pandemic in April and May this year.

Special classes for out-of-school students to help them resume studies

ABOUT 2-LAKH OUT-OF-SCHOOL STUDENTS TO BENEFIT

PNS ■ RANCHI

Jharkhand Education Project Council (JEPCC) will start special classes for out-of-school students in December in a bid to prepare them for regular classes at schools and help them cope with academic pressure, officials said on Sunday.

The JEPCC has addressed letters to the concerned education officials in all the 24 districts, directing them to make arrangements for these classes and ensure availability of teachers for the students who attend them.

"Out-of-school students have already been mapped, and all the districts have been asked to make necessary arrangements for the special classes, which will be called Setu Guide," said JEPCC Program Director Binita Turkey.

As per data compiled by JEPCC, there are about 6 lakh out-of-school students in Jharkhand and close to 2 lakh of them require extra tuitions in order to resume regular classes at schools. These special classes, Turkey said, will be held after school hours and on weekends in order to ensure attendance.

These classes, Turkey said, will be held at school campuses itself, and not more than 30 students will be enrolled for each class. The districts have been asked to rope-in retired government school teachers for taking these classes. The teachers, JEPCC officials said, would be paid Rs.500 per month for each student they teach as a part of this campaign.

As per government data, there are over 42 lakh students studying in classes 1 to 12 in about 35,000 government schools across the state. The special classes, however, will only be conducted for students of class 1 to 8 as of now, officials said.

Many students also dropped out of school during the Covid-19 pandemic, and bringing them back to school was one of the priorities of the JEPCC. The special classes for out-of-school students will also help JEPCC achieve its target of bringing "Covid drop-outs" back to school.

"Even private school students can attend these classes. The classes will help dropout students from class 1 to class 8 regain confidence and knowledge, which will help them resume studies," said Turkey, who has been coordinating this project.

According to a letter to the districts from JEPCC, rooms in school campuses or close to the schools can be used for these classes. Only students staying close to a particular school will be enlisted for the classes conducted there, officials added.

"The next session is likely to begin in four months. Hopefully, the students who attend special classes will be able to attend regular classes at schools by then," said Turkey.

NFHS 5 points at improvement in sex ratio in State

NUMBER OF FEMALES PER 1000 MALES IS 1050 IN JHARKHAND

PNS ■ RANCHI

The fifth edition of the National Family Health Survey (NFHS) confirmed signs of a demographic shift in India. For the first time since the NFHS began in 1992, the proportion of women exceeded men: there were 1,020 women for 1,000 men. In the last edition of the survey in 2015-16, there were 991 women for every 1,000 men.

In Jharkhand the sex ratio is even better than national average. In Jharkhand the number of females per thousand males has gone up to 1050. In the last survey, this figure was 1002. In rural areas, the situation is much better. There, the number of women per thousand men has increased to 1070, while in urban areas this figure is 989.

However, only the decadal census is considered the official marker of population trends in India and has a wider surveillance programme. The NFHS surveys are smaller but are conducted at the district level and are a pointer to the future.

Most States and Union Territories (UTs) had more women than men, the NFHS-5 shows. States that had fewer women than men included Gujarat, Maharashtra, Arunachal Pradesh, Haryana, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab and Union territories such as Jammu & Kashmir, Chandigarh, Delhi, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Dadar and Nagar Haveli, and Ladakh.

The survey has also shown the effect of Beti Bachao- Beti Padhao campaign in Jharkhand. The survey pointed out indicators showing improvements in the health and social sector of women as well. Marriage of girls under the age of 18 has declined. Earlier 37.9 per cent of girls were married before the age of 18. Now this percentage has come down to 32.2. Although this is also much more than many states of the country, there has also been a decrease in the number of men married before the age of 21. It was 30.5 per cent in the last survey, which has now come down to 22.7 per cent.

The survey also pointed out that family planning measures is gaining momentum in Jharkhand. The survey pointed out that in 2020-21, 61.70 per cent of couples adopted family planning, compared to 40.4 per cent earlier.

The survey also pointed out various indicators in which state have shown improvement. As per the survey, 64.50 per cent of girls (above six years of age) went to school 94.30 per cent of the population was getting electricity 86.6 per cent of the clean water 75.80 per cent of women preferring delivery of child in hospitals 79.2 per cent of children were fully vaccinated among others.

After farm law repeal, kisan for MSP; stir to continue: Tikait

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Terming the repeal of the farm laws in Parliament a victory of the protesters, farmer leaders on Monday called an emergency meeting on December 1 to decide the further course of action even as they reiterated their demand for a legal guarantee for minimum support price (MSP) of crops.

Farmers said the farm repeal law is a tribute to those farmers who died during the protests and they would continue their protests till their other demands are not fulfilled.

“The Farm Laws Repeal Bill 2021, passed by the Parliament is a tribute to those 700 farmers died during the ongoing protests which is constiuted,” Bharatiya Kisan Union spokesperson Rakesh Tikait said after the Parliament passed the farm laws repeal bill without any discussions.

Speaking about the repeal move of the government, Tikait said the farmers’ agitation will continue. “MSP (minimum support price) continues to be the bug. The protest will continue as other issues, including MSP, are pending,” he said.

The BKU spokesperson said farmer unions will not leave protest sites, mostly along the borders of Delhi, without talking to the Centre. Highlighting that the farmer unions will open up the avenues for these talks, Tikait said the Centre wants farmers to end their agitation without reaching out to them.

Addressing the newspersons outside the Parliament ahead of the start of the first day’s proceedings, the Prime Minister said that the Government would answer all questions asked in the Parliament.

“Whatever voices are raised against the Government or Government policies, the dignity of Parliament and the Speaker’s Chair should be upheld. We should maintain the sort of conduct that will inspire younger generations,” Modi said.

“Benchmark should be how the House functions and not how it was disrupted,” Modi said.

The first day witnessed the Government ‘retreating’ on the Farm Bills but going on an offensive on the other side as 12 opposition MPs stood suspended for the whole winter session for “unruly behaviour” in the last monsoon session.

The Winter Session of Parliament that commenced on November 29 would last until December 23.

Passing farm laws repeal Bill without debate shows Govt terrified, says Rahul

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Opposition parties on Monday hit out at the Government over the passage of the Bill to repeal farm laws in Parliament without discussion.

While Congress chief Rahul Gandhi questioned the move to push through the repeal of Farm Bill in the Parliament in just few minutes without any discussion, saying it indicated that the Government was “terrified”, TMC member in Rajya Sabha Derek O’Brien called it a shame that the bill was taken up and passed without debate being allowed. “Not even a fig leaf of democracy. Shameless”.

Bharatiya Kisan Union leader Rakesh Tikait said the farmer protests will continue. “This is a tribute to all 750 farmers who lost their lives during the agitation. The protest will continue as other issues including MSP are still pending.”

“We wanted to discuss MSP (issue), we wanted to discuss the Lakhimpur Kheri incident, we wanted to discuss the 700 farmers who died in this agitation and unfortunately that discussion has not been allowed,” Rahul Gandhi said.

“It is a reflection of the fact that this government is ‘terrified’ of having these discussions and “wants to hide”, he told media shortly after the Farm Laws Repeal Bill was passed by both houses of parliament. The bill is likely to be signed off by the President by late evening Monday itself.

In the Rajya Sabha Congress leader in the house Mallikarjun Kharge said all parties are agreed on the bill and no one is opposed to it but required a discussion on the

557 women officers granted Permanent Commission in Army

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Government on Monday informed Parliament 557 Women Officers were granted Permanent Commission in the Indian Army after the Supreme Court judgment on February 17 last year.

No delay has been made in granting Permanent Commission to any Women Officer, the government said.

Giving details in the Rajya Sabha, Minister of State for defence Ajay Bhatt said 63 eligible Women Officers have been granted Permanent Commission as on November 25 this year in compliance of the judgment of the apex court. The minister gave this information in a written reply to MP M Shanmugam.

The Supreme Court last year had directed the Centre to grant permanent commission to women officers in the Army. Rejecting the Centre’s stand on “physiological limitations”, the court said it was based on “sex stereotypes” and “gender discrimination against women”.

The court also directed that all serving Short Service Commission(SSC) women officers be considered for permanent commission within three months, irrespective of them having crossed 14 years or, as the case may be, 20 years of service.

On November 12, hearing a plea filed by 11 women army officers, the court issued a warning to the Centre saying it was going to initiate contempt proceedings against the Indian Army for failing to grant permanent commission to the said women officers, in line with its previous orders.

Soon after, the Centre assured the court of rolling out the permanent commission option for all eligible Women Short Service Commission Officers (WSSCO) in the Army.

The Centre also assured the bench, headed by Justice DY Chandrachud, of a swift decision within ten days with regard to the 11 women officers, who have approached the top court, to grant permanent commission.

45,576 personnel of the Indian army, 14,022 personnel of the Indian Air Force and 7,747 personnel of the Indian Navy were affected by the pandemic.

As regards the number of casualties, he said the army recorded 137 deaths, the IAF 49 and the navy recorded four deaths.

He also said “As per extant Rules, no special compensation for deaths occurring due to infectious disease is provided to Armed Forces personnel by the Ministry of Defence, while they are in service. However, all such cases of death while in service are provided terminal benefits,” Bhatt added.

Dalit lekhpal, his wife murdered in Azamgarh

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Close on the heels of the killing of four members of a Dalit family in Prayagraj, a 55-year-old Dalit government official and his wife were found murdered in their house in Azamgarh on Monday morning.

Circumstantial evidence suggested that their throats were slit with some sharp-edged weapon by the assailants.

Superintendent of Police of Azamgarh, Anurag Arya, after visiting the scene of crime, said that Ram Nagina (55), working as a lekhpal (revenue record keeper) in the Consolidation department in Mau district, and his wife Mansa Devi (51) were murdered late on Sunday night while they were sleeping in their village home at Tithaupur in Tarwan police station area in Azamgarh.

"Some unidentified miscreants barged into the couple's home late Sunday night and killed them by slashing their throats with some sharp-edged weapon and left the scene. On being informed by the victims' neighbours, the police learnt about the double-murder on Monday morning. A police team rushed to the scene of crime with a dog squad and fingerprint experts and took the bodies in custody and sent them for autopsy," the SP said.

The deceased Nagina was the eldest among three brothers and had three daughters, one of whom is married. The double-murder of the Dalit couple in Azamgarh took place within days after four members of a Scheduled Caste family were murdered in their village home at Gohri in Phaphamau police station area of Prayagraj on Wednesday night. The victims included a 50-year-old man and his wife aged 45 years, their 16-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son. The relatives of the slain family members have alleged that a lingering land dispute between the victims and their neighbour, belonging to upper caste, was behind the multiple murders.

Meanwhile, reacting sharply to the murder of the Dalit couple, Bahujan Samaj Party chief Mayawati asked the State Government to immediately check the recurrence of such incidents and take stern action against the guilty.

"It is an extremely shocking, painful and condemnable incident of the murder of a Dalit couple by slashing their throats in Azamgarh within days after the Prayagraj killings. The government must immediately stop such atrocities on Dalits and take strict action against the culprits," the BSP president tweeted on Monday.

Meanwhile in Meerut, a 14-year-old boy accidentally shot himself in the head while taking a selfie with a loaded gun in the Lisari Gate area on Sunday.

Uvaish Ahmed (14) was tinkering with a loaded gun and he positioned it at his temple as he posed for a selfie. Unfortunately, the gun was loaded and it went off killing the boy on the spot.

The police said that the victim's elder brother, Suhail, was recently sent to jail in a theft case and had criminal antecedents and the handgun perhaps belonged to him. Investigations are on to ascertain as to how Uvaish got access to the weapon.

The deceased boy's father meanwhile said that his son did not have any enmity and he was in a state of complete shock after this tragedy.

TMC to amend its constitution to get national presence

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

In a bid to realize its dreams to become a truly national party the Trinamool Congress is amending its constitution. Among other things the Bengal ruling outfit will introduce provisions to accommodate leaders from other States in its working committee the supreme decision making body of the party.

This decision was taken in the Trinamool Congress Working Committee meeting held on Monday at the Kalighat residence of Mamata Banerjee. In another significant move the meeting, presided over by the Bengal Chief Minister, also decided to hold the next working committee meeting in Delhi.

Apart from the senior office bearers from Bengal those present in the Monday's meeting were "invitee" leaders from Meghalaya, Assam, Tripura Goa and other States. Among those present in the meeting were former JDU leader Pawan Verma, Meghalaya leader Mukul Sangma and former India tennis star Leander Paes.

These leaders who had joined the TMC during Banerjee's visit to Delhi were on Monday formally given the party membership in Kolkata. "The party working committee meeting was held today and the main focus was on trying to evolve it as a truly national party which will provide a true alternative to the BJP ... this decision was taken in the wake of tremendous enthusiasm generated nationally around TMC and our leader Mamata Banerjee ... we have become the principal opposition party in Meghalaya, we are in the second position in Tripura and we are building up in a big way in Haryana and Goa ... this is the reason that the party has decided to be more proactive so that it can reach out to the people of the country," senior Trinamool leader Partho Chatterjee said.

The meeting also gave move powers to Banerjee to run the party at all-India level, sources said.

Another senior leader and MP Derek O'Brien said that "the TMC led by Mamata Banerjee has emerged as the only credible force in the country," adding the acceptance of the Bengal Chief Minister nationally was increasing because of her credibility and experience as a true fighter against the BJP.

Kolkata: West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee will be on a three-day visit to Mumbai from November 30, during which he is scheduled to meet NCP supremo Sharad Pawar and her Maharashtra counterpart Uddhav Thackeray.

CYSS leader flays Yogi Govt for TET paper leak

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

State chief of Chhatra Yuva Sangharsh Samiti (CYSS) Vanshraj Dubey took a jibe at the Yogi Adityanath Government in Uttar Pradesh, saying that the Government had provided copying mafia the employment of leaking examination papers instead of job opportunities to youths who were left to push pens and prepare for exams.

"The Yogi-led Bharatiya Janata Party government has rendered Uttar Pradesh as the number one state in examination paper leak cases. After the recent leak of UP TET papers, it is evident that there is complicity of high level officials who ostensibly worked at the instance of the state government. The paper was leaked 12 hours before the start of the TET examination and went viral on social media. It indicated that the paper was leaked deliberately so that the government could save itself from initiating the recruitment process as the government is headed for assembly election within a month from now," Dubey said.

"The BJP had promised to provide jobs to 70 lakh youths at the time of forming government in the state in 2017. But look at the incidents of paper leaks during the past few years. The SI exam paper was leaked in August 2017, UPPCL exam paper in February 2018, UP Police recruitment exam paper in April 2018, SSSB exam papers in July 2018, Health department promotion papers in August 2018, tube well operator exam paper in September 2018, exam paper for recruitment of 41,520 constable, teachers recruitment paper in July 2020, BEd exam paper in August 2021, PET in August 2021, aided government school teachers/principal exam paper was leaked in October 2021, UPTGT in August 2021, NEET NDA, SSC and now the UP TET paper leak," the CYSS leader reminded.

"They travelled several hundred kilometres to reach the exam centres, spent the night out in the open and when they reached the exam centre they were told that the paper was leaked. The government should understand that the examinees returning to their homes had to face a lot of hardships," the young leader alleged.

Akhilesh promises ₹25 L compensation for deaths during farmers' stir

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Samajwadi Party announced that it would pay ₹ 25 lakh as 'Kisan Sahadat Samman Nidhi' to the families of those farmers who died during the year-long agitation on Delhi-Haryana border where farmers had blocked national highways since November 26 last year.

"The Samajwadi Party will give compensation to the farmers as soon as the party's Government is formed in Uttar Pradesh after the 2022 assembly elections. The days of the Yogi Adityanath government are numbered and the farmers will wipe out the Bharatiya Janata Party from the state with the strength of their vote. Farmers have lost faith in the BJP government. Fearing electoral setback, the BJP rolled back the three farm laws after the year-long agitation by the farmers. The Narendra Modi government is still reluctant to address the fundamental issues like Minimum Support Price. The farmers will give a befitting reply to the BJP as the Modi government is more interested in protecting the interests of the corporate houses rather than the farmers," SP president Akhilesh Yadav said in Lucknow on Monday.

The SP chief further alleged that the BJP government in Uttar Pradesh was still playing tricks with the farmers, which was visible at the paddy procurement centres set up by the state government for the purchase of paddy at MSP from the farmers. He said that the officials at purchase centres were hand in glove with the middlemen and traders and were harassing the farmers, forcing them to sell the produce far below the MSP.

Akhilesh charged that the farmers were demanding legal guarantee for the MSP only to get rid of the middlemen and traders and the BJP government was reluctant to concede the just demand. He claimed that with the legal guarantee for the MSP, the multi-national companies (MNCs) and big companies would be compelled to purchase agricultural produce from the farmers as per the MSP.

Mumbai court grants bail to Malik in libel case filed by BJP leader

Sr Wankhede grants consent to Malik's proposal to quash single judge's order in another libel case

T N RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI:

In twin developments relating to Maharashtra Minister Nawab Malik, a Mumbai court on Monday granted bail to him in a defamation suit filed by city BJP leader Mohit Bharatiya, while NCB Zonal Director Sameer Wankhede's father Dhyandeve Wankhede told the Bombay High Court that he had no objection to his (Malik's) plea granting interim relief to Wankhede in a defamation suit filed against the NCP leader.

The Metropolitan Magistrate court, Mazgaon, granted bail of Rs. 15,000 to Malik and scheduled the next hearing of the case for December 30.

Acting on a complaint against the minister filed by Bharatiya who had alleged that the former had defamed and his brother-in-law Rishabh Sachdeva and that the NCB was under the influence of the BJP, the court had earlier issued a notice to Malik and asked him to remain present on Monday.

On his part, Malik had responded to the notice issued by the court and remained present in the court as directed by the Metropolitan Magistrate at the previous hearing.

At Monday's hearing, Bharatiya's lawyer Faiz Merchant moved an application before the court seeking that an order of contempt be issued against Malik for having allegedly attracted a mob outside the Court where he appeared today.

However, Malik appeared personally before the Magistrate and prayed for bail considering the offences alleged against him were bailable, the court granted bail to the minister.

In his complaint made against Malik before the court, Bharatiya had among other things alleged that the minister had allegedly urged his supporters to assemble in large numbers before the court adn that Malik's intent was to "obstruct in the administration of justice" which is apparent form his tweets. In doing so, he lowered the authority of the court.

Bharatiya had also also filed a complaint with the Mumbai Police seeking registration of a First Information Report under Section 188 (disobedience to order of public servant), 269 and 270 (malignant act leading to spread of dangerous infection) of the Indian Penal Code.

On his part, talking to media persons, Malik said that he had appeared before the court by responding to the court's notice in the defamation suit filed by Bharatiya. He denied all the allegations by Bharatiya.

"We have also brought on record how Bhartiya himself is a fraudulent person involved in a scam of Rs.1,100 crore and the raids by the Central Bureau of Investigations on him... When the scam started coming out, he changed his name from 'Kamboj' to 'Bhartiya', we have submitted all evidence to the court and will provide more later," Malik alleged.

Meanwhile, in a defamation suit filed against Malik before the Bombay High Court, Sameer's father Dhyandeve Wankhede told court that he had no objections to the plea by Malik to quash the single-judge order refusing to grant interim relief to Wankhede.

In an application filed before a two-member HC bench, Mallik had proposed quashing of the single-judge order as it had many adverse observations against him as well. After quashing of the order, Malik had urged the high court to send the interim application back to the single-judge for rehearing on the case.

Taking cognisance of Sr Wankhede's submission that he had no objection to Malik's plea, the HC bench of Justices SJ Kathawalla and Milind Jadhav recorded in its order that the single-judge order has been consensually set aside.

The HC bench also granted Malik time till December 9 to file his reply to the interim application in Wankhede's defamation suit. Wankhede has to file the rejoinder by January 3, 2022. The high court asked the lower to decide Sr Wankhede's defamation suit within 12 weeks.

Malik has among other things alleged that the raid on the rave party on board Goa-bound luxury cruise was "fake", that the former has been targeting Bollywood in drug-related matters, that he has extorted money from film personalities, that he has forged a caste certificate to join IRS and that he was enjoying "lavish lifestyle" from the proceeds of extorted money.

The Bombay High Court on November 18 took on record several of his documents, including the copy of the latter's School Leaving Certificate (SLC) -- which mentioned that he was a Muslim and not Hindu Dalit as he has been claiming.

NC will continue to fight alone for Article 370's restoration: Omar Even if Cong not ready for it

PTI ■ JAMMU

Slamming the Congress for its silence, National Conference vice president Omar Abdullah on Monday said his party will single-handedly continue its fight for the restoration of Article 370, if the grand old party is not ready to fight this battle.

J&K's future is linked to the special status guaranteed by the Constitution, he said, adding that the case for restoration of Article 370 is very strong.

The former Chief Minister accused the BJP of "murdering democracy" in the Union Territory, after abrogation of Article 370 on August 5, 2019, by rendering institutions, including newspapers, feeble and said it has rendered "hollow" India's slogan of being the biggest democracy in the world. "Our case (for restoration of Article 370 before the Supreme Court) is very strong... We expected support from Opposition parties but they are silent. Our existence is linked to this article," said Abdullah, who is currently on a tour of the Chenab valley region, while addressing a public meeting at Kishitwar town. Earlier, Abdullah, along with other senior party leaders, including general secretary Ali Mohammad Sagar, paid obeisance at the famous shrines of Hazrat Shah Farid-ud-Din Bagdadi and Hazrat Shah Asrar-ud-Din Wali and prayed for lasting peace and prosperity in Jammu and Kashmir.

Referring to the reported remarks of senior Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad that it is meaningless to speak about Article 370, Abdullah said, "I'm disappointed by his statement as he is a senior leader and former chief minister of Jammu and Kashmir."

"If Article 370 is our heritage, it is also your party's legacy more than ours. It was first prime minister Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru of the Congress who brought Article 370 and today Congressmen are not willing to safeguard their legacy. So, how can one expect it to save the people," he said.

The NC leader said the Congressmen have taken a decision before the court which is yet to start hearing the petitions filed before it against the abrogation of Article 370.

"If they are not ready to fight this battle, no issue, we will single-handedly take it to its logical conclusion. We will fight because this fight is linked to the future of the people of J&K, its jobs and land which is the first priority of the locals," he said, adding that their fight is based on justice and for restoration of the honour and dignity which was snatched from them unconstitutionally.

The former chief minister said he is not comfortable with the word Union Territory and alleged that the people were told lies and misled by false promises and slogans when the erstwhile state was downgraded.

"We were told that Article 370 was an obstacle for industrialisation, generation of employment opportunities for our youth and the main reason for poverty, and its removal would pave the way for development and new projects... It stands exposed today," he said and questioned the claims that Article 370 was hollow, asking "then what was the need for its abrogation".

PTI ■ PORBANDAR

The Indian Coast Guard (ICG) has seized drug consignments worth ₹ 5,516 crore from boats and ships during the first 10 months of 2021, its spokesperson said on Monday.

"Drugs seized since inception (2009) has been worth ₹11,524 crore. From January 1, 2021, to October 31, 2021, value of of narcotics seized was ₹5,516.25 crore," ICG's spokesperson said in a statement here.

ICG Director General K Natarajan had on November 25 said most of the drug consignment comes to India through the Makran coast (in Pakistan).

"We have a certain amount of information and intelligence towards that," he had said.

The ICG works in close synergy with various agencies and as a result of which, it continues to maintain the surveillance of sensitive borders, be it with Pakistan, Sri Lanka or Bangladesh, he noted.

"Our presence has always been there and we continue to put almost 40-44 ships and 10-12 aircraft to maintain surveillance over 2.1 million sq km," he added.

As a result of which, in the last two years, the ICG has apprehended more than 3.5 tonnes of drugs coming through the sea route, he had noted.

Natarajan had said the drug smuggling activities that used to take place to the Gujarat coast and off the Lakshadweep coast have moved away beyond the equator.

"That is the success, not just for the ICG but various other agencies such as the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), state fisheries authorities, port authorities and state intelligence agencies," he mentioned.

Innovators from IIT, AIIMS Jodhpur develop ‘Talking Gloves’ for differently-abled

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

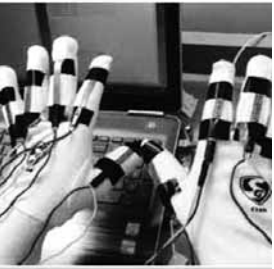

Researchers from the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Jodhpur and the All India Institute Of Medical Science (AIIMS), Jodhpur have developed low-cost "talking gloves" for people with speech disability.

The patented device costs less than ₹ 5000 and it uses principles of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML) to automatically generate speech that will be language-independent and facilitate communication between mute people and non-disabled people.

According to the team, the device can help individuals convert hand gestures into text or pre-recorded voices, making a differently-abled person independent and communicating the message effectively.

"The language-independent speech generation device will bring people back to the mainstream in today's global era without any language barrier. Users of the device only need to learn once and they will be able to verbally communicate in any language with their knowledge," said Sumit Kalra, Assistant Professor, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, IIT Jodhpur.

Additionally, the device can be customised to produce a voice similar to the original voice of the patient, which makes it appear more natural while using the device, Kalra said.

In the device, electrical signals are generated by a first set of sensors, wearable on a combination of a thumb, fingers, and a wrist of a first hand of a user. These electrical signals are produced by the combination of fingers, thumb, hand and wrist movements. Similarly, electrical signals are also generated by the second set of sensors on the other hand.

"These electrical signals are received at a signal processing unit. The magnitude of the received electrical signals is compared with a plurality of pre-defined combinations of magnitudes stored in a memory by using the signal processing unit," Kalra added.

Cutting loose

After centuries under the British monarch, Barbados finally cuts ties to become a Republic

Barbados, in the Caribbean, is now a Republic, the world's latest. Importantly, it cuts off its ties with the British monarchy and with it, the last link to a brutal colonial past dating back to the 17th century. Barbados is the land of pristine beaches and glorious cricket, of Everton Weekes and Gary Sobers, Gordon Greenidge and Desmond Haynes, and Malcolm Marshall and Joel Garner. The Republic now shapes a new legacy, of democracy, and is a beacon light for the handful of countries that still remain tethered to their past colonisers. In 1627, Barbados became a British colony, dependent on a plantation economy run by slaves from Africa. Slavery was outlawed only in 1807. It became an independent State in 1966 but remained part of the Commonwealth Realm. The Realm, not to be confused with the Commonwealth of Nations, is a sovereign State with British Queen Elizabeth II as its monarch and Head of State. As of date, there are 15 such realms excluding Barbados. It severs its ties with its former coloniser on the 55th anniversary of its independence. The last Governor-General is now the first President of the country. Both are titular posts, but the latter represents the free will of the Barbadians. Its Prime Minister indicated the direction in which Barbados is moving and expects the world to move: "Barbadians want a Barbadian Head of State. This is the ultimate statement of confidence in who we are and what we are capable of achieving." Other Caribbean countries that exited the Realm are Guyana, Trinidad and Tobago and Dominica. The new Republic rises at a time when Britain's colonial past is coming under scrutiny from its people and the Queen's family itself. Prince Harry and Meghan Markle have urged the country to acknowledge its colonial past, however uncomfortable it might be, in order to move forward.

There are still several countries, many of them blips on the map, even today under the jurisdiction of the United States, France, Australia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway and New Zealand apart from the UK. It is the emergence of these countries as independent republics that will conclude the clash between the colonists and colonies that spread a wave of decolonisation in the world throughout the 20th century, freeing so many colonies and restoring their independent rule, dignity and identity. Colonialism is exploitative and runs counter to the principle of equality and sovereignty, the cornerstones of the United Nations. The fact that the archaic mode of exploitative governance is still in vogue in some places even though it should not be, needs to be iterated in light of the Barbados example. The agenda of decolonisation is based on one principle alone: independence of a country from any form of external governance and independence of its people to have a free association with any form of Government. The 21st century expects the remaining countries to follow the Barbados model and embrace independence along with the human right of self-determination.

Govt's harvest

The Government was hoping to browbeat the farmers but it got caught in its own game

The BJP-led Union Government has, as promised, passed a Bill to repeal the farm laws. But it must ask itself that one year down since the nation's farmers — especially those belonging to Haryana, Punjab and Uttar Pradesh, and then their number went on rising steadily — rose virtually in revolt against the passage of the three farm laws, was all the trouble worth it? There was a siege at the Capital's entry points; there was vandalism and lawlessness on the ramparts of the Red Fort on a momentous day like the Republic Day and then, the biggest shocker proving the Centre's cavalier attitude, the Lakhimpur Kheri incident which claimed the lives of at least nine people. In the interim, several farmers committed death by suicide and a few were allegedly murdered while protesting on Delhi's borders against the "devilish" laws. Quite recently, the Samyukt Kisan Morcha leaders and Bharatiya Kisan Union chieftain Rakesh Tikait, during a rally in Lucknow, warned the Centre that their agitation would be prolonged unless their demands on issuing a guarantee on the MSP and sacking Union State Minister for Home Ajay Mishra Teni, besides doling out suitable legal punishment to his relatives, were not met.

The angry leaders had gone to West Bengal prior to the Assembly elections there and the embarrassing drubbing the Trinamool Congress handed out to the BJP is a matter of record. In the same vein, the still-unsatisfied farmers have now hinted that they would pool in their resources and might in the UP elections against the BJP. No wonder then that the Opposition parties have been overtly siding with the farmers and, now that the Centre has been forced to repeal the contentious farm laws right at the start of the winter session of Parliament ahead of the upcoming Assembly polls, are quick to jump at the chance and taunt the Government. While Congress president Sonia Gandhi and other leaders staged a protest outside Parliament on Monday before the Bill repealing the laws was passed, AIMIM supremo Asaduddin Owaisi mocked the BJP-led Government, saying it had repealed the laws now as it feared losing political capital and electoral advantage in the upcoming elections. All said and done, it now appears that the Government was indulging in upmanship and hoping to browbeat the farmers but it got caught in its own game and didn't know when to get off the ride. There is a lesson in this for all the stakeholders.

Is India working its way back in Nepal?

GEN ASHOK MEHTA

The black hole in India-Nepal relations remains the economic blockade of 2015 and New Delhi's grudging acceptance of the 2015 Constitution

Returning to Nepal after a 20-month COVID lockdown was not easy given the erratic flight schedules and hassles in border entry. A clear blue sky, glistening sunshine and a majestic Himalayan parade led by Machapuchhare and Annapurna welcomes us back to Pokhara. The two-year long power struggle in the largest communist alliance failed to deliver the political stability it was congenitally endowed with (two thirds majority) after Prime Minister KP Oli and former Prime Minister Prachanda parted ways much to the chagrin of China, paving the way for the ruling five-party democratic alliance led by Nepali Congress Prime Minister Sher Bahadur Deuba. The two governance issues, however, trouble the Government: the crisis in judiciary over impeachment of Chief Justice Cholendra Rana; and divisions over US Millennium Challenge Corporation award.

Dominating the political landscape are ongoing and forthcoming general conventions of CPN UML (Oli), Nepali Congress (Deuba) and CPN Maoist (Prachanda). The leaders named against parties are sure to return as chairman/president. In the next elections, the NC is aiming to emerge as the single largest party as Defence Minister Minendra Rijal explained: "we have a 36 per cent vote share which, by next year, will grow to nearly 40 per cent and with PR, we will win nearly 160 seats (in 275-member house)." The UML, which is the single largest party today with 93 seats, remains the most popular and stable party with a solid electoral base and Oli's charisma all intact. According to an Indian diplomat, the UML and NC could be neck and neck. Prachanda is accused of breaking the Left alliance giving the sympathy vote to Oli. Prachanda has urged the other breakaway faction — now CPN (Unified Socialists) led by former Prime Minister Madhav Nepal — to consider a pre-poll alliance so that they can emerge as the third largest party though Maoists have always aspired for second position. Some fear they may decline to fourth position if the Janata Samajwadi Party (Upendra Yadav and Mahanta Thakur) can re-unite. But it is early days as the election is due only at the end of 2022.

The Chinese are very disappointed with Oli for not saving the Left alliance they helped cobble up and instead turning to India for salvation. But they are still in the game, though some feel Beijing has shot its bolt. Nepal is quite scared of China, especially after ominous warnings by President Xi Jinping from Kathmandu during his first visit in 2019. He said to the effect that anyone who dares to split China will be 'crushed' and those who attempt anti-China activities will have 'their bones shattered'. Two recent books by Nepali authors — Sanjay Upadhyay's How India Lost Nepal to China and Amish Raj Mulmi's All Roads Lead North illustrate China's high stake game in Nepal. While Beijing's capacity in reconstructing the Left alliance seems limited, as it is pitted against India and the US, it will not give up. Many see the MCC as part of the Indo-Pacific strategy to contain China which is why it is unlikely to pass muster in the present Parliament.

The black hole in India-Nepal relations remains the economic blockade of 2015 and New Delhi's grudging acceptance of the 2015 constitution. After Prime Minister Modi's 2014-15 visits and his captivating speeches, expectations from India were very high but the opposite happened. Fortunately, some of the anti-India feeling has ricocheted to China due to its unabashed interference in domestic politics while trying to rescue the Left alliance. Shortly, Nepal which in 2017 was load-shedding upto 18-hours a day, will be in a position to export power to India though only a modest 39 MW and increase its sale capacity as power transmission lines are developed southwards. A tricky Oli legacy issue is incorporation of India's Kalapani, Lipulekh and Limpiyadhura in Nepali maps which was legislated by a full House. Nepal is consulting India on methodology for conducting its 12th national census there without trespass of territory. Oli said last Sunday at the UML convention that if returned to power, he will get the land back from India through dialogue.

Some Nepalese told me that it is no longer a border issue but one of sovereignty. Like Pakistan sought J&K from India as a peace offering, Nepal also wants a grand gesture from India conceding Kalapani and other territory. They also complained about New Delhi suppressing the Eminent Persons Group report. Meanwhile, Baba Ramdev was in Kathmandu last month and hosted by Nepal's cabinet. Although Deuba and Prachanda inaugurated the Patanjali TV station dedicated to yoga, Ramdev is seen as a Trojan horse for revival of Hindu rashtra. But the nationalists, Maoists and other republicans will obstruct restoration of any form of monarchy and Hindu State, even though Oli had announced last year that Ram was born in Chitwan Nepal. Many State and public buses carry bills that Buddha was born in Nepal to remind the Southern neighbour of the sanctity of ownership: be it Ram, Buddha or Kalapani. Still, strategic geography compels Kathmandu to discreetly follow an India first policy — like Maldives more openly and Sri Lanka cautiously — though China's shadow is a speed-breaker. Beijing would give its right arm to break the ruling democratic alliance and restore Left's primacy validating Upadhyay's theory that India has lost Nepal to China.

THE CHINESE ARE VERY DISAPPOINTED WITH OLI FOR NOT SAVING THE LEFT ALLIANCE THEY HELPED COBBLE UP AND INSTEAD TURNING TO INDIA FOR SALVATION. BUT THEY ARE STILL IN THE GAME, THOUGH SOME FEEL BEIJING HAS SHOT ITS BOLT

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A LOOMING NEW THREAT

Sir — The Union Health Ministry revised guidelines mandating that all international passengers entering India have to submit 14-day travel details and upload a negative RT-PCR test report on the Air Suvidha portal before the journey. The new guidelines will come into effect from December 1. The RT-PCR test has to be taken within 72 hours of starting the journey. Travelers from countries 'at-risk', including the UK, South Africa, Brazil, Bangladesh, Botswana, China, Mauritius, New Zealand, Zimbabwe, Singapore have created panic among Indian citizens and the Government is acting in full swing.

There is currently no information to suggest that symptoms associated with Omicron are different from those from other variants. The RT-PCR tests continue to detect infection with Omicron — which was first detected in South Africa earlier this month — and studies are ongoing to determine whether there is any impact on rapid antigen detection tests. Until more information is available, it has become utmost important that we follow COVID protocols diligently and avoid unnecessary travel because we have just started to come out of the danger of the Delta variant and now a new one is knocking on the door.

POLITICAL FESTIVITIES IN GOA

Sir — Midnight trysts, vocal denunciations, some detectable undercurrent of animosity and a fair amount of absurd theatrics seem to have added a splash of colour to the on-going election campaign in Goa. While such oddities tend to break the monotony of having the same set of faces staring down from election hoardings across the State term after term, the indecisive nature of all the parties with regard to the selection of its candidates is throwing up various possibilities. Moreover, with improved statistics of the arrivals and departures to and from its folds, most of the parties should be pardoned for predicting their invincibility in the ensuing polls. Yet, despite the availability of so many alternatives at its disposal, the elec-

No debate in Parliament?

What transpired in Parliament on the first day of the winter session did our democracy not proud. Rigorous debate on issues of public importance and interest on the floor of Parliament is a salient feature of a vibrant democracy. But the Modi Government thought otherwise and repealed the farm laws at breakneck speed without any debate whatsoever in both Houses of Parliament and gave it the dubious distinction of being the fastest repeal ever in the annals of India's parliamentary history. It showed its scant respect for something as basic as debate. It took just a few minutes for the Government to get the Bill repealing the farm laws passed in the Lok Sabha by voice vote amid sloganeering by the Opposition, a record of sorts. Alas, the Government was unwilling to mend its ways!

A democratic Government that refuses to allow or countenance debate cannot be said to be worth its salt and worthy of the adjective. The 'tyranny of majority', reflected in the repeal of laws without debate and the suspension of 12 Opposition MPs, does not equal democracy. The irony of it all is that the Parliament repealed the laws without a debate in utter disregard of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's assurance in his customary brief address before the start of a session that his Government was ready to discuss all issues and answer all questions. The Parliament saw the inversion of Modi's counsel on 'debate and disruption'.

torate continues to harbour the feeling that it has so little to choose from. These sentiments seem to stem from the fact that none of the political dispensations in the State, including the ruling, are absolutely certain of their electoral chances. Depending more on the rhetoric rather than an unpretentious approach, their leaders too have failed to put it across to the body of voters that they mean business. Basically it is the wish to remain a part of the winning combination, and also have an effective say in its affairs, that is driving most of the heavyweights, their party affiliations notwithstanding, to hold their cards close to their chests.

DON'T BE SOCIAL MEDIA SLAVES

Sir — Nowadays, most of the youngsters spend a lot of time on social media due to which they have, knowingly or unknowingly, become addicted to social media. Excessive use of social media applications such as Facebook, Instagram etc affect their daily routine and studies and causes unhappiness and dissatisfaction without any significant reason. It also aggravates mental health issues such as anxiety and depression and can give rise to inferiority complex and even suicidal thoughts. It has become an issue of concern because it hampers students from achieving their goals.

How can we break out of social media slavery? Deleting social media applications is not a solution but we have to control the urge to scroll for hours. Instead, we can open a book that is as addictive but far more knowledge-giving. We should remove our phone from our morning routine, try not to post our personal information, turn off unnecessary notifications and keep the phone away as much as possible. By making these little changes in our habits, we can stop the addiction of social media and be happy for what we are.

ON THE MOVE BUT REACHING WHERE?

VINAYSHIL GAUTAM

Globally there are several health and economic crises. They are not always stable geographically. As the health crisis of one region recedes, it could surface in another. Same with economic crises. Not enough data is available for any cogent reflection or scientific analysis. Yet, for insights, analyse we must. The bottom line is clear: health crises and economic crises are in many ways inter-linked. The economic crises reduce the resources available and the health crises impede any long-range view. In such a situation, power play becomes inevitable and unabashed. The sectors and conglomerates which have gained out of the pandemic are being increasingly identified. The pharmaceutical industry has gained like never before. Some financial investors with a flair for investment have struck it rich, again, like never before. In spite of the understandable push for vaccination, there are patches in the African sub-continent which are still relatively immune from the virus even without vaccination. The data which the media feeds is often focussed on territories where tools of analysis can be applied. The territories outside this framework of analysis are large. This would definitionally make a global pattern reading a huge challenge. Add to this the normal economic need of food, shelter and clothing. They have their own logic and one could say compulsions. In the case of India, the growth rate between 2019 and 2020 has been five per cent. In the preceding five years, it was seven per cent. If the forecasts have to be believed, the likely rate will probably go down for the current year to the lowest level since 1991. This kind of situation will have a direct or ripple effect on everyone. Even the organisations, entities and business groups who have struck it rich in the last two years are going to be affected. Putting it simply, islands of prosperity will find it difficult to survive in a sea of deprivation and dissonance. While the above is a derivation of simple logic, in the present context, logic itself appears to be a bit of a casualty.

This is so because the tools to do a logical think-through are probably inadequate. The seemingly contradictory evidence which keeps surfacing, even with reference to the virus, will take time to settle down. The implications of that kind of situation are comprehensible for policy formulation. This holds true even in relatively removed sectors, like farming. There is no apparent correlation between the virus effect and the framing of the three farming laws. The withdrawal of the farming laws and the reasons which led to it are still in the domain of speculation, debate and what can at best be called my-guess-is-better-than-yours. Evidence-based policy formulation is not always possible in times such as the present one. The scientific method further goes for a bump in the absence of any precedence of the present context. Yet, this cannot be the reason for giving up an attempt to be logical. What one does know is that in the first wave of COVID-19 in India, around April 2020, there was evidence of a two-speed economy. During that time, the rural sector was flourishing. There was technology upgradation; low ticket electronic items graduated to become essential commodities; mobile phones moved centre stage. As compared to this, the urban sector was floundering. Interestingly, the agricultural/rural sector which had no restrictions and no hindrances registered a 3.6 per cent growth in that period. Where was the disruption? The best which can be said is that that the present situation is of work-in-progress.

Repeal of farm laws: PM Modi's volte-face

UTTAM GUPTA

The arthiyas, large farmers and traders have successfully protected their turf while small farmers, who constitute the overwhelming majority, have lost

On November 19, 2021, announcing his Government's decision to repeal the contentious three farm laws, Prime Minister Narendra Modi apologized for not being able to convince a section of the farmers about the benefits that these laws would bring them. Are these laws so complex as to become incomprehensible to the farmer?

The "Situation Assessment of Agricultural Households and Land and Livestock Holdings of Households in Rural India", SAS in short, released by the National Statistical Office (NSO), covering the period July 2018 to June 2019, reveals widespread dissatisfaction among farmers with the price realized from sale of their produce. Their highest dissatisfaction is with sales in the Agricultural Produce Market Committee or APMCs mandi (marketplace notified under the State APMC Act) followed by sales 'private local market'. Nearly 83 percent farmers sell their produce in these two outlets.

The low price from sale in APMC has to do with extant State laws under which farmers can sell their produce only in the 'designated' mandi. In the mandi, the arthiyas — local term for commission agents — arrange for the auction and delivery of the produce. They and the licensed trader/buyer rule the roost. The duo ensure that the farmers get a low price and even then faces problems like rejection of crop, crop deliberately weighed less, payments delayed, etc. Levies such as market fee, arthiyas' commission and rural development cess (RDC) further add to their woes.

As for sales in the private local market, though legally it is barred, small farmers who normally donot have access to the APMC are forced to sell to the very traders who dominate the mandi and at throw-away prices. The latter have the blessings of corrupt bureaucrats and politicians and hence, do not face any action for violating the State law.

In short, under the existing State APMC laws, farmers face a raw deal. The only way they can get a fair deal is to give them a chance to sell in other outlets. In the past, States had made some moves in this direction: 20 States have allowed contract farming; 23 States allow 'direct purchase' from farmers; 22 States/UTs allow private wholesale markets, while 15 have excluded fruits and vegetables from the APMC Act. These are piecemeal efforts and are far from giving unfettered access especially to small farmers who account for over 80 per cent of the total. The three central laws fill the existing void as these legitimize sales on all non-APMC platforms without disturbing the APMC mandis.

There is nothing in these laws that farmers do not understand. Even if there was anything that was too complex, that must have been understood during the marathon talks the Union ministers had with them. The latter had even agreed to make several amendments as demanded by the former. Besides showing willingness to make more amendments, the Prime Minister went a step ahead to offer to defer implementation of the laws for a period of up to two years.

WITH THE REPEAL OF THE THREE LAWS, AGRI-MARKET REFORMS HAVE REACHED A DEAD END. THERE IS NO HOPE OF RESURRECTING THESE IN THE NEAR TERM. MEANWHILE, IN VIEW OF FARMERS' LEADERS RAISING MORE DEMANDS AND THE GOVERNMENT BEING ON THE DEFENSIVE, THE COUNTRY COULD BE ENTERING A DANGEROUS ZONE

Despite so much accommodation shown by the establishment, if the farmers' leaders wanted nothing less than 'repeal', it has to do with the stony desire of a certain class of farmers (those with large land holdings) from Punjab and Haryana and the arthiyas to maintain their dominance in sale and purchase and keep potential competition from other entities at bay.

The central agencies procure 30 percent of wheat and rice produced in the country albeit at the minimum support price (MSP). Nearly 30 percent of wheat production comes from Punjab and Haryana whereas in rice, their share is 14 percent. However, in their total procurement, the agencies pick up 60 percent of wheat and 35 percent of rice from these two states alone. Furthermore, almost all of this comes from large farmers. This class of farmers apprehends, if the field is opened for all, they will lose this privilege.

As for arthiyas, they too have a vested interest in protecting their commission as well as exercising control over the small farmers. If the latter get a chance to sell at non-APMC outlets, the former will lose control over what we may term as the golden goose (taking grains from the small farmers at throw-away price and making a windfall by selling at high rates; they also lend money to those very farmers at high rates and earn huge interest income).

The arthiyas and big farmers and traders have succeeded in protecting their turf even as the small farmers who constitute the overwhelming majority have lost. A collateral damage is in terms nipping in the bud any chance of increasing private investment in agri-infrastructure — a pre-requisite for ensuring sustainable growth of this most crucial sector. This is baffling but it has happened. Here are the plausible reasons.

First, while staying implementation of the laws in January, 2021, the Supreme Court had set up a Committee to recommend the way forward after consulting all stakeholders including farmers. In its report submitted in March, 2021, the Committee reportedly favored the three laws. But the court has kept the issue hanging.

Second, in public discourse, the farmers are projected as a homogenous entity, without recognizing the vast disparity between the large and small farmers in terms of assets, income, etc. This enables the large farmers to call the shots. The small farmers being unorganized, their voice is not even heard.

Third, the big farmer/trader lobby has also succeeded in obfuscating the issues. For instance, they aver 'a wheat farmer receives just about half the MSP of Rs 1975 per quintal' thereby signaling that this is what the Centre's laws have delivered. The reality is that 'the laws are not even in force, courtesy the stay granted by the SC'.

Four, they have managed to distract the attention of small farmers from the 'real cause' behind their plight namely the oppressive State APMC laws and making them believe that MSP guaranteed by a Central law is a panacea for all their woes.

To conclude, with the repeal of the three laws, agri-market reforms have reached a dead end. There is no hope of resurrecting these in the near term (a Committee set up by Modi to see 'how MSP can be made more effective' is a sheer cosmetic). Meanwhile, in view of farmers' leaders raising more demands and Government being on the defensive, the country could be entering a dangerous zone.

A legal guarantee for MSP has the potential of making the national exchequer bankrupt, overstraining the handling and storage facilities, increasing wastage manifold and embarrassing India at the WTO as food subsidy (albeit trade distorting) to farmers balloons. The exemption for farmers from the Electricity (Amendment) Act will lead to bleeding power distribution companies and ever-increasing stress on State finances. Their exemption from laws on climate will not only add to pollution but also send a wrong signal to the world community.

Will Modi muster the courage to stem the slide?

India's super growth journey high on debt

Steering the country is not easy. It is true that international organisations are cautious while the Government feels that its efforts are being stymied

SHIVAJI SARKAR

India joins the world aiming for a super growth on a high debt and infra push for an economic panacea. India's heavy investment over ₹233.08 lakh crore investment in infrastructure, including ₹10,500-crore Jewar airport adjacent to Delhi, is officially expected to give a major boost to the economy. India is not alone. The entire world is trying to do that. The result is hyper-growth in world debt to $226 trillion. In its 2021 Fiscal Monitor report, the IMF said India's debt increased from 68.9 per cent of its GDP in 2016 to 89.6 per cent in 2020. It is projected to jump to 90.6 per cent in 2021 and then decline to 88.8 per cent in 2022, to gradually reach 85.2 per cent in 2026.

(The writer is a senior journalist. The views expressed are personal.)

Jewar has accelerated a process of development in UP with an eye on the state elections. It may make this part of the National Capital Region one of the most crowded places inviting large number of migrants that may stretch local resources. The severe crash in the stock market has added a new concern. The nation hopes to fly on expectations but airport projects, high altitude Himalayan development, large-scale tree felling and acquisition of farm lands raise ecological concerns. But a nation striving hard to come out of the Coronavirus pandemic is looking for faster development so that there is cash flow. The Government expanded the 'National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP)' to 7,400 projects. According to Department of Industry and Internal Trade, 217 projects worth Rs. 1.10 lakh crore ($ 15.09 billion) were completed as of 2020. Through the NIP, the government invested $ 1.4 trillion in infrastructure development as of July 2021.

However, the more investment is made in infrastructure, the more the nation's cost to deliver. Unless there is an overall growth in activities — from industry to agriculture — the benefits become expensive to afford. The IMF says that constraints on financing are particularly severe for poorer countries. Noting that in 2020, fiscal policy proved its worth, IMF director for fiscal affairs Vitor Gaspar says the increase in public debt in 2020 was fully justified by the need to respond to COVID-19 and its economic, social, and financial consequences. But the increase is expected to be one-off, he said. So how to bring down the debt is the question. Debt dynamics are driven by a strong contribution from nominal GDP growth, accompanied by a much more gradual reduction in the primary deficit, he said. The IMF said risks to the fiscal outlook are elevated.

This calls for India to review its policies. Let us not forget that the 2007-08 global meltdown followed an unsustainable financial behaviour. The results would be high inflationary tendencies that would add to costs further and create an unstable global economy leading to more conflicts. India's inflation has risen to 12.5 per cent. Prices are rising, wages too would be rising and a cycle of inflation may continue. This is also being seen in a regime of high taxations and high penalties on cars and car uses across the country. The silliest is the clampdown on outside state registered vehicles in Bihar, and HSRP plates. These are ignored as small issues but these small things are making lives of people difficult.

User charges are being recklessly increased. At some private railway stations, parking charges are going through the roof. Ostensibly, nobody can be blamed as 'the prices are rising' but that needs a holistic review. The IMF projects growth at 9.5 per cent in FY2021-22 and 8.5 per cent in FY2022-23. Headline inflation sees elevated price pressures. The contraction in economic activity, lower revenue, and pandemic-related support measures are estimated to have led to a widening of the fiscal deficit to 8.6 and 12.8 per cent of GDP in FY2020-21 for the central and state governments, respectively. But the IMF is concerned that despite policy support, bank credit growth has remained subdued, while large corporates have benefited from easier conditions in capital markets. Net inflows and improvement in the current account have supported an increase in foreign exchange reserves. The current account balance is projected to remain in deficit as oil prices rise. The overall toned down IMF report indicates not an easy situation in the coming years. Steering the country is not easy. It is true that international organisations are cautious while the government feels that their efforts are being stymied. India hopes that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's efforts belie the IMF and infra push takes the country to the targeted growth.

‘Omicron shows need for global accord on pandemics’

Geneva: The World Health Organization on Monday is pushing for an international accord to help prevent and fight future pandemics amid the emergence of a Omicron.

WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus also said many uncertainties remain about just how transmissible and severe infection by the highly mutated Omicron might be. Tedros joined leaders like outgoing German Chancellor Angela Merkel and Chilean President Sebastian Pinera for a long-planned and largely virtual special session of the UN health agency’s member states. The gathering is aimed at devising a global action plan toward preventing, preparing and responding to future pandemics.

“The emergence of the highly mutated omicron variant underlines just how perilous and precarious our situation is,” Tedros said, calling for a “legally binding” agreement that wasn’t mentioned in a draft text seeking consensus on the way forward. “Indeed, omicron demonstrates just why the world needs a new accord on pandemics.” AP

Wary, weary world slams doors shut, fearing Omicron

AP ■ BRUSSELS

Taking an act-now-ask-questions-later approach, countries around the world slammed their doors shut again to try to keep the new omicron variant at bay on Monday as more cases of the mutant coronavirus emerged and scientists raced to figure out just how dangerous it might be.

Japan announced it would bar entry of all foreign visitors, joining Israel in doing so just days after the variant was identified by researchers in South Africa. Morocco banned all incoming flights. Other countries, including the US and European Union members, have moved to prohibit travelers arriving from southern Africa.

Travelers infected with the new version have turned up in a cascading number of countries over the past few days, and new cases in Portugal and Scotland have raised fears that the variant may already be spreading locally.

“Many of us might think we are done with Covid-19. It’s not done with us,” warned Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, director-general of the WHO.

The infections showed the near impossibility of keeping the genie in the bottle in a globalised world of travel and open borders.

Japan bans entry of foreign visitors as omicron spreads

Tokyo: As cases of a new coronavirus variant are confirmed around the world, Japan announced Monday that it will suspend entry of all foreign visitors, joining an increasing number of countries that are tightening their borders as fear spreads of yet another extension of pandemic suffering. Japan, which has yet to detect any cases of the recently identified omicron variant, reimposed border controls that it eased earlier this month for short-term business visitors, foreign students and workers. AP

Scotland detects 6 cases of Omicron

UK total rises to 11

London: Six cases of the new Covid-19 Omicron variant have been identified in Scotland, taking the UK’s total to 11 following three cases in England last week and two in London on Monday. The UK Health Security Agency (UKHSA) said the latest two cases found in Camden and Wandsworth areas of London have links to travel in southern Africa.

Earlier on Monday, the Scottish Government said four cases have been found in Lanarkshire and two in the Greater Glasgow and Clyde area. While all of England’s detected cases have a travel link with southern Africa, some of the people identified in Scotland have no travel history and may have caught the potentially highly transmissible variant in the community.

“On some of the cases, we are aware that there is no travel history involved. So, what that tells us is that there must be a degree of community transmission of this particular strain of the virus,” Scotland Deputy First Minister John Swinney told the BBC in reference to the cases detected in Scotland.

But the Minister reiterated that it is too early to say whether even tougher social distancing norms may be required against what is feared to be a potentially highly infectious variant and its response to current vaccines is yet to be fully determined. PTI

Australia delays relaxing border, 5th Omicron case reported

Canberra: Australian authorities announced on Monday that they would delay plans to relax border restrictions by at least two weeks, as the country reported its fifth case of the omicron Covid-19 variant.

New South Wales state authorities reported on Sunday that two travelers from South Africa to Sydney had become Australia’s first cases of the new variant. Both were fully vaccinated, showed no symptoms and were in quarantine in Sydney.

On Monday, another two Sydney cases were confirmed after arriving in Australia’s most populous state on a flight from southern Africa on Sunday, the State Government said. AP

Portugal probes local transmission of omicron at soccer team

Lisbon: Portuguese health authorities on Monday identified 13 cases of Omicron, the new coronavirus variant spreading fast globally, among members of a top soccer club and were investigating whether it was one of the first reported cases of local transmission of the virus outside of southern Africa. The Ricardo Jorge National Health Institute said that one of those who tested positive was a player from the Lisbon-based Belenenses SAD soccer club who had recently traveled to South Africa, where the omicron variant was first identified. The others had not reportedly traveled to southern Africa, where most of the cases have been recorded so far. AP

Israeli PM urges world powers to resist Iran’s ‘blackmail’

AP ■ JERUSALEM

Israel’s Prime Minister on Monday called on world powers not to “give in to Iran’s nuclear blackmail” as negotiations commenced in Vienna.

Naftali Bennett said in a video statement that was delivered to representatives of nations opening negotiations with Iran that Tehran seeks “to end sanctions in exchange for almost nothing” and keep its nuclear program intact while receiving hundreds of billions of dollars once sanctions are lifted. The video was obtained by The Associated Press.

Negotiators from Iran and world powers were meeting in Vienna on Monday to resume talks aimed at reviving a 2015 nuclear deal. Iran has ramped up its uranium enrichment since the United States withdrew from the landmark nuclear agreement between world powers and Iran in 2018.

Israel vocally opposed that agreement, and Israeli officials now say Tehran is closer than ever to developing nuclear arms, something it will not abide. Israeli Foreign Minister Yair Lapid is visiting London and Paris this week to discuss Iran with British and French officials. Defense Minister Benny Gantz will head to Washington this week with the same aim.

Iran nuclear deal talks resume in Vienna amid muted hopes

Vienna: Negotiators in Vienna resumed talks on Monday over reviving Iran’s 2015 nuclear deal with world powers, with hopes of quick progress muted after a hard-line new Government in Tehran led to a more than five-month hiatus. The remaining signatories to the nuclear deal formally known as the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action

She also informed the House that the Government does not collect data on Bitcoin transactions.

Whether the Government has any proposal to recognise Bitcoin as a currency in the country, the Finance Minister said “No, sir”.

Bitcoin is a digital currency that allows people to buy goods and services and exchange money without involving banks, credit card issuers or other third parties.

It was introduced in 2008 by an unidentified group of programmers as a cryptocurrency as well as an electronic payment system. It is reportedly the first decentralised digital currency where peer-to-peer transactions take place without any intermediary.

Meanwhile, the government plans to introduce the Cryptocurrency and Regulation of Official Digital Currency Bill 2021 in the ongoing Winter Session of Parliament. The Bill seeks to ban all but a few private cryptocurrencies to promote underlying technologies while allowing an official digital currency by RBI.

In reply to another question, Sitharaman said, ministries and departments have spent Rs 2.29 lakh crore as capital expenditure during the April-September period of the current fiscal.

This is 41 per cent of the Budget Estimate (BE) of Rs 5.54 lakh crore for 2021-22. The actual expenditure during current fiscal is about 38 per cent higher than the corresponding expenditure in FY 2020-21, she said.

To accelerate capital expenditure for creation and upgradation of infrastructure in the economy, Government of India had launched the National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP) with projected infrastructure investment of Rs 111 lakh crore during the period 2020-2025 to provide world-class infrastructure across the country, and improve the quality of life for all citizens.

NIP was launched with 6,835 projects, which has expanded to over 9,000 projects covering 34 sub-sectors. NIP is expected to improve project preparation, attract investments into infrastructure, and play pivotal role in economic growth, she said.

National Monetization Pipeline (NMP) was also launched on August 23, 2021 to unlock the value of investments in public sector assets by tapping private sector capital and efficiencies for delivering infrastructure services, she said, adding, the monetization proceeds are envisaged to be ploughed back to augment existing/ create greenfield infrastructure to boost the economy.

Net direct tax revenue rises 68% to ₹6.92 lakh cr till Nov 23

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The net direct tax collection grew nearly 68 per cent during April 1 to November 23 to more than ₹6.92 lakh crore, Minister of State for Finance Pankaj Chaudhary said on Monday.

“The Net Direct Tax Collection figures for the FY-2021-22 as on 23.11.2021 are at ₹6,92,833.6 crores showing a growth of 67.93 per cent and 27.29 per cent over the net collection figures for the corresponding period FY2020-21 and FY 2019-20,” he said in a written reply in the Lok Sabha.

The net collection between April 1 - November 23 in 2020-21 and 2019-20 fiscals was over ₹4.12 lakh crore and over ₹5.44 lakh crore respectively.

The gross direct tax collection (before adjusting refunds) as of November 23 stood at over ₹ 8.15 lakh crore, a 48.11 growth over the collections in the corresponding period in last fiscal.

Chaudhary further said that the gross GST collection in the current fiscal (April 2021-March’22) post Covid-19 outbreak is showing an increasing trend.

The gross GST collection for full 2020-21 ended March 2021 was over Rs 11.36 lakh crore, while the same in the current fiscal till October stood at Rs 8.10 lakh crore.

In reply to a separate question on whether incidents of tax evasion are increasing in Delhi and other parts of the country, Chaudhary said there is no evidence to suggest that incidents of income tax evasion are increasing in Delhi and other parts of the country.

“In terms of cases detected under Goods & Service Tax (GST) and Customs, there is no increasing trend in such evasion noticed in Delhi, although, there is overall increase in detection of GST and Customs evasion cases in the country,” he added.

Markets eke out gains amid Omicron jitters; RIL spurts post Jio tariff hike

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Benchmark indices made a positive start to the week on Monday following gains in RIL, bank and IT stocks, even as investors remained jittery over the Omicron variant of the coronavirus.

Governments across the world raced to impose fresh travel restrictions as cases of the new variant emerged in multiple countries.

The World Health Organisation (WHO) has designated Omicron as a ‘variant of concern’, the health body’s top category for worrying coronavirus variants, although South African health authorities said symptoms of the new strain were mild so far. No case of the Omicron variant has been detected in India yet. Stabilising after Friday’s brutal sell-off, the 30-share BSE Sensex gained 153.43 points or 0.27 per cent to finish at 57,260.58. The index had tanked more than 500 points or over 1 per cent in opening trade in line with weak global cues. On similar lines, the broader NSE Nifty edged higher by 27.50 points or 0.16 per cent to 17,053.95.

Kotak Bank rose the most among Sensex scrips, spurting 2.92 per cent, after LIC received RBI approval to raise its stake in the private sector lender to nearly 10 per cent.

Market heavyweight Reliance Industries jumped 1.26 per cent a day after its telecom arm Jio announced a hike in prepaid tariffs from the next month. Gains in HCL Tech, TCS, Titan, Bajaj Finance, Bajaj Finserv and Tech Mahindra also helped Sensex close in the green. On the other hand, Sun Pharma, NTPC, Axis Bank, Nestle, Bajaj Auto, SBI and Dr Reddy’s were among the major drags, dropping up to 2.03 per cent. “Domestic indices trimmed its early losses to trade modestly higher backed by IT and healthcare stocks, amid lingering worries over the emergence of the new COVID variant. Global markets traded mixed as investors were torn between buying on dips and the uncertainties over the impact of Omicron on economic recovery.

Rupee trips 18 paise to hit 5-week low

Mumbai:The rupee on Monday dived 18 paise to close at a five-week low of 75.07 against the US dollar as fresh worries over new coronavirus variant weighed on already weak investor sentiment. At the interbank foreign exchange market, the local currency opened at 74.84 and witnessed an intra-day high of 74.82 and a low of 75.16 against the US dollar in a highly volatile trading session. The local unit finally settled at 75.07 a dollar, down 18 paise over its previous close.The Indian rupee depreciated for the third straight session against the US dollar weighed down by greenback demand from oil companies and fresh long dollar positions amid concerns over a new coronavirus variant, said Sriram Iyer, Senior Research Analyst at Reliance Securities.

DGCA drafts new rules for mandatory certification of defence airfields

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Director General of Civil Aviation ( DGCA) has issued a draft of Civil Aviation Requirements (CAR) for certification of defence aerodromes where international scheduled air transport services are being conducted. As per the draft, these aerodromes are required to be operating procedures and systems in the line with the DGCA requirements. It said that inspection of defence aerodromes will be carried out by a team consisting of members from the DGCA and the concerned defence aerodrome authority before the issue of certificate for undertaking scheduled civilian flights. There are 26 defence aerodromes in India which are also being used for scheduled air transport services.

“For scheduled operations at defence aerodromes, there are two authorities involved in the operations at the aerodrome. First, the Defence authorities which shall control most part of the airside areas like runway, taxiways & associated facilities and CNS facilities”.

“Second, the civil authorities which shall have control over part of taxiway(s) connecting the civil apron, apron management and civil enclave (Terminal Building). The responsibilities of Defence and Civil authorities in their respective areas shall be exclusive and absolute,” the draft said. The

There are 26 defence aerodromes in India which are also being used for scheduled air transport services

DGCA has sought comments from all stakeholders by December 23.

The certification process requires the DGCA to ascertain through a systematic process whether or not a defence aerodrome has minimum facilities and required procedures in place for operations of safe, secure, efficient and regular scheduled air transport services.The draft said there are number of defence aerodromes in India which are also being used for scheduled air transport services. These aerodromes are constructed and designed by Defence authorities with the establishment of civil enclave to accommodate civil aircraft and passenger facilitation but primarily to meet their own strategic requirements.

“It is also a fact that the Defence authorities have their own systems in place to operate these aerodromes including their own safety oversight systems. However, these systems or operating procedures at defence aerodromes are required to be in line with the DGCA requirements for licensing of these aerodromes,” it said.

SC grants two weeks more to Amazon to put its case before CCI

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Monday granted two weeks more to e-commerce giant Amazon to appear and argue before the Competition Commission of India (CCI) which had declined adjournment of hearing in a case related to revocation of approval given to the US company for investment transaction with Future Coupons Pvt Ltd (FCPL).

A bench comprising Chief Justice N V Ramana and Justices Surya Kant and Hima

Kohli, at the outset, said that it would not go into the merits of the case and would rather like to give some more time, over and above the time granted by the Delhi High Court, to the US firm to put forth its case before the CCI.

“We are not going into the details. We will grant two more weeks’ time. You use the time and appear and argue before the(CCI). You raise all your objections,” the Bench said and disposed of the appeal of Amazon against the Delhi High Court verdict.

As senior advocate Mukul

Rohatgi, appearing for a Future group firm, attempted to justify the refusal to postpone the hearing in the CCI at the request of Amazon, the bench said, “What was the tearing hurry which led the CCI to conclude the proceedings. Please do not invite us to make a statement on the merits of the case.”The bench then disposed of the appeal of the US firm against the order passed by the Delhi High Court.

On November 24, the CCI declined to grant the US-based company extra time and postponement of the matter as they had sought. Before this, the Delhi High Court had directed the CCI to decide this matter within two weeks.

Keep infections at bay

We often don't talk about vaginal infections openly, many women feel shy and often do not feel comfortable talking about it but actually it is a very important topic to be discussed about. The vagina can often be prickly, dry, or may produce excessive and discoloured discharge and smell bad too. It is indeed the most sensitive organ and requires proper care and attention too.

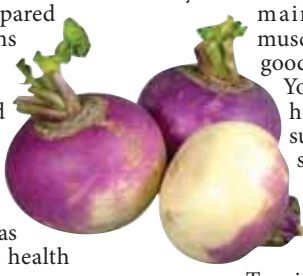

There are several mistakes that a woman makes unintentionally with her vagina which can often lead her to several harsh effects in the long run. These mistakes can often be made while urinating or otherwise on a normal day, during menstruation or even before and after having sex. It is very necessary that a woman takes care of her health, hygiene and well being.

- ❖ Avoid using scented soaps and fragrances for your vagina. The artificial scents which soaps usually have can be really dangerous for the vagina as they contain several chemicals and harsh ingredients. Also, these artificial scented soaps and body washes do not have a proper pH balance for the vagina. A woman must always use intimate washes that are pH balanced and are totally safe for use.
- ❖ Change sanitary pads at regular intervals: please do change your sanitary pads at regular intervals to keep vaginal infections and viruses at bay. Keeping the single pad for long causes itching and rashes. Also, failure in doing so results in a host to infectious diseases.
- ❖ Clean your vagina after having sex: cleaning vagina after having sex is very important as this shall significantly reduce spreading of bacteria. Also, it is essential to use a condom while having sex as this will certainly reduce the risk of Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs). Also, make sure that you and your partner always wash hands before getting laid. Most infections happen to couples who escape this process since the bacteria contained on the hands is transferred to other parts of the body like urethra and vagina.
- ❖ Do not wipe your vagina from back to front: Do not ever wipe yourself down there from back to front as it leads to the diffusion of bacteria and infections in the vagina. It is highly advised to wipe it from front to back always.
- ❖ Wear comfortable undergarments: Wear clothes that are looser in the crotch, wear cotton-crotch underwear rather than synthetic.
- ❖ Avoid using dirty public toilets: Avoid using public toilets as they are mostly dirty in case of emergency, do it in a standing position or you can also carry disposable or portable urinating devices with yourself.
- ❖ Urinate well: It is important to use the washroom whenever you feel urge to do so. Refraining yourself from urinating for too long can put unnecessary pressure on your bladder which can also result in infections.
- ❖ Keep yourself hydrated: Drink plenty of water throughout the day and keep yourself hydrated. This shall prevent urinary infections and shall evade all the waste from your system.

Whenever you feel that there is a vaginal discharge which is heavier or smells different, or if you notice any itching, burning, swelling, or soreness around or outside of your vagina; or it feels like a burning sensation when you pee and when sex is uncomfortable then please do not delay and please visit your doctor as it could lead to some serious problems. Untreated bacterial infections in vagina can result in pelvic inflammatory disease which further leads to infertility also.

WARMFOOD

TURNIP : When was the last time you had a strong desire for a turnip? Never? That's all right. In compared to its cousins kale, cauliflower, arugula, and cabbage, the turnip isn't a common ingredient. However, it has innumerable health benefits.

One medium turnip has 233mg of potassium. That mineral is required by your body for a variety of functions, including helping your nerves relay signals and maintaining your muscles and heart in good operating order. You're at risk for high blood pressure, stroke, kidney stones, brittle bones, and high blood sugar if you don't receive enough.

Turnips have plenty of other benefits too like cancer prevention, eye health and bone health.

ENHANCE YOUR VISION

Kids are also prone to eye diseases resulting from too much time spent watching TV, using mobile to play games and reading on digital devices. DR JITENDRA JETHANI tells us how to take care

Whether at home or school, children should be taught to maintain good posture while reading, writing or using the computer. It is important to make sure that they maintain a straight spine with the computer screen at eye level and the brightness adjusted to reduce eye stress or strain.

Protect your eyes:

- ❖ Green leafy vegetables in the diet

Green leafy vegetables are a rich source of carotenoids and Vitamin A. Carotenoids help keep the eyes away from free radicals. Apart from that, they also contain minerals and vitamins like calcium, vitamin B12 and vitamin C. Zeaxanthin and lutein present in green veggies also help protect the eyes from cataracts and macular degeneration. Therefore, you should start giving your children generous helpings of veggies like spinach, broccoli, kale and collard to help them maintain good eyesight.

Good posture and light

Kids should always be taught good hygiene habits especially when it comes to avoiding eye infections or irritations. Being parents you should teach them never to touch their eyes without washing their hands as bacteria can spread from the fingers to the eyes. Also, you should suggest they use safety goggles while cleaning their rooms to avoid dust from getting into their eyes.

Avoid eye infections

Kids should always be taught good hygiene habits especially when it comes to avoiding eye infections or irritations. Being parents you should teach them never to touch their eyes without washing their hands as bacteria can spread from the fingers to the eyes. Also, you should suggest they use safety goggles while cleaning their rooms to avoid dust from getting into their eyes.

Ask them to sit in the outdoor light to protect and myopia rise. Also the kids should be having good indoor light to avoid any strain on the eyes

SIMPLE EYE EXERCISES LIKE EYE-ROLLING, BLINKING AND PALMING CAN BE TAUGHT TO CHILDREN TO HELP THEM REDUCE EYE STRESS. AND IRRESPECTIVE OF WHETHER YOUR CHILD COMPLAINS OF EYE PROBLEMS OR NOT, IT IS ESSENTIAL TO TAKE THEM TO A PEDIATRIC OPHTHALMOLOGIST FOR ROUTINE EYE CHECK-UPS

YouTube videos and constantly texting friends exposes your child to blue light, which can lead to digital eye strain. Digital eye strain can cause headaches, blurred vision, dry eyes and other discomfort. To avoid this, reduce your child's screen time with digital devices instead encourage them to play outside. Outdoor plays can reduce the chance of developing myopia and improve overall health.

Eye exercises

Simple eye exercises like eye-rolling, blinking and palming can be taught to children to help them reduce eye stress. It may not improve their eyesight or reduce glass power. While blinking comes naturally but as an exercise, you should ask your kids to close their eyes for two seconds and then open their eyes and blink rapidly for five seconds. This should be repeated five times. Palming is easy as you just have to tell them to rub their hands and place the palms gently on the eyes. This can also be repeated five times. All these exercises help increase blood flow to the eyes and promote good eye health.

Routine eye check-ups

Irrespective of whether your child complains of eye problems or not, it is essential to take them to a pediatric ophthalmologist for routine eye check-ups. In some cases of eye diseases, the symptoms are not immediately visible which is why a doctor's check-up holds crucial importance. A pediatric ophthalmologist is a specialist for eye diseases in children. Just remember that a child is not a small compressed adult.

Role of community in addressing TB Involving community means working with local structures that people are familiar with, like youth groups, Panchayati Raj Institutes and self-help groups, says SHALINI SAKSENA

Despite being curable, tuberculosis continues to affect and cause the death of millions across the world. India contributes to over a quarter of the global TB burden and has the highest TB-related mortality in the world. We have set the goal of TB elimination by 2025 and early intervention and adherence is crucial for TB cure. Over the years, there has been considerable progress in addressing the disease and related challenges, issues like the stigma associated with the disease, inequality of coverage, lack of access or awareness, and the high cost of private care continue.

The people do not declare their condition or seek treatment most times out of fear, and thus, it leads to a growing number of cases. The challenge of addressing the disease has only worsened with the COVID-19 pandemic and subsequent lockdowns. In 2020, there were 1812526 total cases identified, while in 2019 a total of 2400540 cases were screened, translating to a 27 per cent decrease.

Now, more than ever, the role of community participation has become indispensable in addressing the growing challenge of tuberculosis as the success of any public health intervention heavily depends on the involvement of the people. Incorporating local communities and their structures would allow us to reach groups that were not accessible before as they hold experience working with the people, have common backgrounds, and a comprehensive understanding of ground realities.

Involving the community means working with the local structures that people are familiar with, like youth groups, Panchayati Raj Institutions, self-help groups, and TB champions, among others. Working with them allows credibility to the information, provision of psychological support, and dispelling of myths and misinformation related to the disease.

Government or civil society organisation should conduct capacity building to ensure active involvement by ensuring proper information dissemination, developing linkages to health service schemes and establishing supportive monitoring systems. Karnataka Health Promotion Trust (KHPT) has been working continuously with community structures to build their capacity to ensure awareness regarding tuberculosis and designs patient-centric innovations.

The active participation of the community would facilitate bringing the services to people's homes, reducing the cost of care, help in the identification of cases that are usually missed and get diagnosed more quickly, thus developing better quality care. It also leads to the improvement of treatment adherence, health-seeking behavior and allows those affected by the disease to make decisions about the kind of care that suits them the best. This is considered the best model for self-reliance. Using a community model allows for an integrated approach and delivers innovative solutions to a larger group to ensure deeper engagement.

Many stories are testament to the power that community structures hold in addressing public health crises like TB by providing support to those who need it most. One such is Nagaraj's story from Channasandra village, Bangalore. A daily-wage worker with deteriorating weight and other TB symptoms, he was identified by the members of a self-help group, Sri Sharada Swasahaya Sangha, working on TB awareness. They helped him get screened, and it was found that he was TB-positive.

Due to a lack of finances, he could not be admitted to Rajiv Gandhi Hospital, so he reached out to the Sangha members. The Sangha members counselled Nagaraj's friends about the disease to raise awareness and dispel any myths to ensure support.

To continue their support, the members monitor his health routinely and provide support for emergencies. We must also remember that the impact on mental health and gendered social factors must be accounted for any effective intervention.

To end the epidemic, the voices of all people affected by TB must form the core of intervention to ensure people-centered and integrated care. While policies and schemes may be developed, the power of people is essential to bring change.

How important is COVID vaccine?

People with Diabetes are at an elevated risk of growing problems associated with COVID-19.

DR DANENDRA SAHU tells us how to keep safe

COVID-19 creates additional concerns for people with Diabetes and requires more planning. If the blood glucose levels are kept unchecked, there is an increased risk of developing severe complications of Coronavirus. Therefore, people with diabetes must get vaccinated against the disease as soon as possible.

It is not that people with Diabetes are more susceptible to infection, but the risk lies in the fact that the severity of the COVID-19 illness can be greater in those with diabetes. Whether the person has type 1 Diabetes, type 2 Diabetes or gestational Diabetes – they are at increased risk of complications if they get infected.

The Indian Government has undertaken an arduous task of immunising its citizens against the contagious COVID-19. The nationwide vaccination drive is currently going on at a rapid pace in India, enabling adults over 18 years to get vaccinated. Vaccination has shown a ray of hope for overcoming the coronavirus disease, especially in people suffering from comorbidities such as Diabetes.

Post-vaccination care:

- ❖ Consume a healthy, nutritious diet
- ❖ Drink plenty of water
- ❖ Get adequate sleep (of at least 7 to 8 hours)
- ❖ Avoid consuming alcoholic beverages
- ❖ Avoid smoking tobacco
- ❖ Avoid performing any strenuous exercise for one or two days after vaccination
- ❖ Avoid warm fomentation or applying an ice pack at the site of injection
- ❖ Monitor blood glucose levels regularly

Soon after vaccination, many people with Diabetes may report a spike in blood glucose levels. To avoid developing complications, they must talk to their doctor if they notice a frequent fluctuation in blood glucose levels.

It is a common misconception that people with Diabetes must stop their medicines before vaccination as it may hamper the vaccine's efficacy. People should not get misled with this incorrect information. If one feels the need to change or discontinue their diabetes medications, they must consult their doctor before doing so.

Side effects post-vaccination:

- ❖ Redness, pain or swelling at the site of injection
- ❖ Mild to high fever

Some people may also experience fatigue, body aches, or develop a mild rash based on the vaccine received. The side effects of the second dose can be more intense than the first dose.

Precautions:

- ❖ Staying indoors
- ❖ Wearing a mask when stepping out of the house
- ❖ Maintaining social distance while outdoors
- ❖ Washing hands regularly
- ❖ Sanitising one's home and surroundings frequently

REGRETS, NONE

Theatre personality and veteran actress, DOLLY THAKORE, wanted to put it all out there and give the message that everyone can become popular through her book. By KHUSHBU KIRTI

We usually congratulate people on their recent achievements. But when I got the opportunity to talk to one of the most celebrated faces of the literary and theatrical world, Dolly Thakore, I congratulated her on the tremendous life that she had created for herself.

“Thanks, darling, why do you think I wrote about it”, came the immediate and witty response from the most charismatic voice I had heard.

Thakore has shown time and again that one could excel in all aspects of life, in whatever roles one wanted to undertake. For her, the list never ends — a newscaster, television host, a casting director, a theatre enthusiast, and so on. On asking her the reason for the dynamic shift in life, she answered, “Darling, nobody starts off life knowing that this is what they want in life. It just fell into my lap and I took advantage of whatever was being offered to me. I never stretched my hand for anything nor did I run after anything, but opportunities came my way and I used each of them to the best of my ability.”

Talking about her memoir Regrets, None, Thakore elaborated on the reason for putting it together, “I wrote it because I knew I had achieved so much. Now, people of my age know all about me and have journeyed with me but the younger generation doesn’t know much about it. I knew my life was interesting, so I wanted to give an insight as to what goes into a person’s life, to make them what they are, to render them confidence, security, the courage to continue with their life, no matter what. It’s human nature to suffer from hurt, pain, neglect, and disconnect in rejection — doesn’t mean you give up on life. I want to make life better for them.”

She continued about the book, “There’s not a single thought in the memoir that is untrue, not believable, not credible or creditable. I wanted to put it all out there. I think I have achieved a bit of popularity or fame. And it is possible for everyone to do that — this is the message I wanted to give.”

Commenting on her background, Thakore explained, “I didn’t come from a family of wealth or one which ran a business, had property or any advantages like politics or others. I came from a very middle-class home and I survived. I think I survived very well (smirks) and that’s what I wanted to share with people. I never hesitated. I did it all with a sense of acceptance. I got the energy. I didn’t know that I will be a broadcaster or that my voice will develop the way it has.”

“Today, a lot of people, particularly in their 50s, come to me and say ‘we hated you when we were 10-years-old’. I was reading the news 45-50 years ago. They tell me their parents used to wake them up at 10 pm at night because the English news was broadcast at that hour. And the parents used to force these poor kids to watch the news at that hour. But the fact that they still remember and still have the courage to come up and say that, it feels so good,” she added.

Thakore has been completely upfront and honest in the memoir. She had once said that her life is an open book. On asking her if there was any downside to being open, she responded, “I have not had a downside. I have not been rejected by anybody. I have always been accepted. Okay, there were heartbreaks and tears. It always happens, when the person you like finds somebody else attractive and leaves you and goes. But that’s fine! I didn’t take to drinking or chasing after men or going to drugs. It happened. I cried for a while, shared it with a few friends but that didn’t stop me from doing the work I was meant to do, because I had to earn money, pay bills, and I believe I survived admirably. We took the bus everywhere we went until I could afford a taxi, and then a car. It makes you stronger. I have absolutely no regrets in life. And I think that’s the advice that I’d like to give to all young men and women.

“I wanted to go through what all women should experience. Whether that is pregnancy, child-birth, or bringing up a child — I’ve done everything and I’m proud of my son who gives good messages to society and the way his friends think, it shows the kind of upbringing you give to kids. Some people have the advantage of a family that accepts, some don’t. So, give them a shoulder to lean on and talk to you openly.”

Since Thakore fought her way through and found her space in this male-dominated world of authoritarian figures, the question that pops up is, how difficult the path was. “Look, nothing is difficult if you’re willing to try and if you have the courage to face it. When I started doing films division’s commentaries, most of the important ones were given to the male voices. We confronted the authorities and received equal pay and equal opportunities. Similarly, in other areas of work — when we started writing to the press or reviewing films — the human mind was conditioned to discriminate between men and women. And women were, unfortunately, made to be inferior, but we showed to them that we were equal. We didn’t go on morchas or processions or have breakdowns but we confronted them and we proved it to them by our own energy and our own talent. Now, as you can see, almost everywhere, there’s a woman. All male-dominated professions are now being explored and excelled at by women. And I think a lot of it is owed to women like me (chuckles). Remember, I am now 78 years old. We’ve managed to make furrows for people to follow.”

Spaces are shrinking for women who are outspoken in the given set-up of social media, on asking her if it was easier when social media didn’t exist, she explained, “Well, it is a part of society. Yes, a lot of politics has come in and communalism that has become a part of it, which — I must mention — is destroying the equilibrium. But hopefully, we’ll overcome that also and will be back to normal.”

She continued, “A lot of people still have rigid, old-fashioned limit-ideas and that still surprises me. Admittedly, I was brought up with Jesuit form of education but no religion teaches you to be mean. It teaches you honesty and helps form a clear conscience. It doesn’t matter what colour you are, what language you speak, what clothes you wear, what religion you follow, what prayers you say, your conscience has to be clear and you have to accept them. Just be accepting and tolerant. Life gives you time to concentrate on the important things. I do believe education plays a very significant role in one’s life. But, also, read books and authors, and works of liberal-thinking individuals and you will learn. I wished there were more people with a clean mind, an open mind, a better conscience, and who were more accepting.”

On asking her which part of life she enjoyed the most and still cherishes, a slightly nostalgic Thakore replied, “I loved being a newsreader. Throughout my life, I think I wanted acceptance and recognition. I’ve been on stage since I was five years old. That gave me a great deal of confidence and knowledge because we had to study thoroughly for the topics of our debates. I’m happy I read so much. I loved the applause, and of course, I’ve made mistakes.

I can never forget that I was debating at Loreto convent about the Mutiny of 1857. I was very well-prepared and stood there boldly and said, ‘The cows of fat and pigs.’ and obviously I made a fool of myself and people got a good laugh out of it (laughs heartily) and Mother pointed it out in front of the entire school, but I continued. I had the good fortune of debating with the biggest names of the times. Confidence and hard-work will get you everywhere.

As Thakore’s memoir, Regrets, None, is being displayed at the Tata Literature Festival in Mumbai, she held the opinion that lit fests of these sort, although a fairly new phenomena, are fantastic. “How many new writers have emerged, and the fact that we get to know them and read them and that their books are accessible — it’s amazing. Some very good works by lovely writers have come up. And they’ve gotten a voice through these festivals and platforms. I just came back from Gulmarg and I cannot tell you how wonderful it was. I didn’t know a soul, of course, they were much younger than me but, oh, what brilliant young ideas they had!” she shared.

One of the most enduring artistic traditions in India is its myriad embroidery forms. Each state and region possesses its style, but needlework is not just a way of decorating it. These textiles are also intertwined with community stories, with motifs emerging from their natural, financial, and socio-political environments.

Many of those old and occasionally overlooked embroidery styles are revived and popularised as hand-made items are re-applied as new embodiments of luxury. Not only designers in India, but also international labels are popular among these techniques.

In reverence to the country’s assorted weaving customs, here is a portion of the procedures that have discovered new articulation in the progress of contemporary style creators.

Gara

Vital to the closets of Parsi women, gara is a fusion of embroidery from India, China, Persia and Europe. Customary at weddings, gara saris have multifaceted themes — from pagodas and mythical serpents to roses, lotuses, chickens and peacocks.

Known for its striking beauty over several centuries, depicting the Parsi’s culture and tradition, gara is aesthetically colourful and delicately presented. It is characterised by style and elegance. These sarees take more than six months as embroidery

Stitch across time

ANSHUL GUPTA talks about some Indian embroidery traditions that have evolved to make a style statement even today work is done on all four sides, making it truly tedious and complex.

Kashida

Kashida is a well-known Kashmiri embroidery technique, customarily done on clothing like stoles, woollen pherans and carpets. Birds, blooms, products of the soil especially the chinar are made. One more type of Kashmiri weaving is aari, wherein flower propelled themes are woven in a fine chain with a hooked needle.

Kashmir embroidery is mainly done on regional shawls and garments such as pheran (wool kurtas), utilised to make covers. Utilising a straightforward running stitch, it is themed around day to day existence, botanical and creature themes and mathematical shapes.

Kantha is now available on kurta and dresses.

Zardozi

Zardozi, a form of metallic weaving, utilises fine metal wires or strings in gold and silver (or copper wires and engineered strings), to make designs on textures like velvet, silk and weighty silk. Zardozi is one of the must-haves for bridal wear and couture.

While this embroidery used to be a sign of the rich but using gold coloured plastic threads has made this art form more affordable. The elegance of sarees, suits, blouses and lehengas has been upped by zardozi.

Chikankari

Chikankari, from Lucknow, started with white embroidery on white fabric but today it is available in every colour imaginable. It is the act of sewing white untwisted yarn on fine textures like muslin, cotton or voile. Now, the embroidery is being done on splendidly tinted textures or by utilising hued strings. It is an integral part of the life and culture of the city of Nawabs. From sarees to suits, from lehengas to palazzos, chikankari is suitable for everyday wear as well as special occasions.

OF CERAMIC BOWLS AND PLATTERS

Delhi Blue Pottery Trust presents ten ceramic artists in an exhibition of bowls and platters. The artists have endeavoured to create pottery for everyday use in beautiful colours and glazes. They have each used a different technique to produce these decorative bowls and platters. Be it a textured surface or painted pattern, or simply dipped in a single colour glaze. They are utilitarian, decorative and beautiful to behold, and will make excellent gifts for friends and family during this festive season.

Come and indulge in a visual treat and put the pandemic behind you. These have been hard times for potters/artists and patrons alike. Let’s lift the pandemic gloom and let the galleries come alive.

PIERCED BY THE LIGHT OF THE STARS

To stimulate an individual’s thoughts, one needs to connect with their beliefs, emotions and thoughts. The artist, Shikha Sinha, has shown a highly diverse range of her engagement in creating visual, auditory, or performed artifacts that reflect her power of imagination and passion.

The artwork illustrates the entire aspect of human life as viewed through micro lenses. Sinha believes that everything in this world is abstract and what we see is limited by the resources we have. To see beyond this point requires a depth of knowledge that is beyond the physical. As the sky has no shape, the birds that fly in the sky leave no marks of their passage.

MERGING METAMORPHOSIS

This show, of abstract artworks by Rahul Inamdar and sculptures by Alex Davis, brings together two independent mediums, exploring their common experience of the creation of art. Both intrinsically interact with the pieces they make: molding, nourishing, creating, destroying and then ultimately reviving. The works are alive incarnations of the artists but also the genesis of the artist’s becoming.

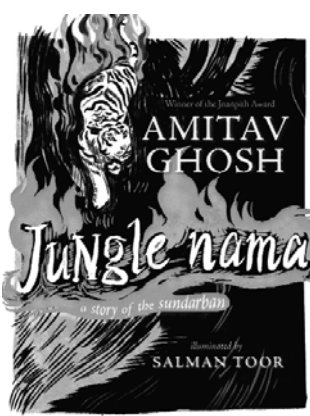

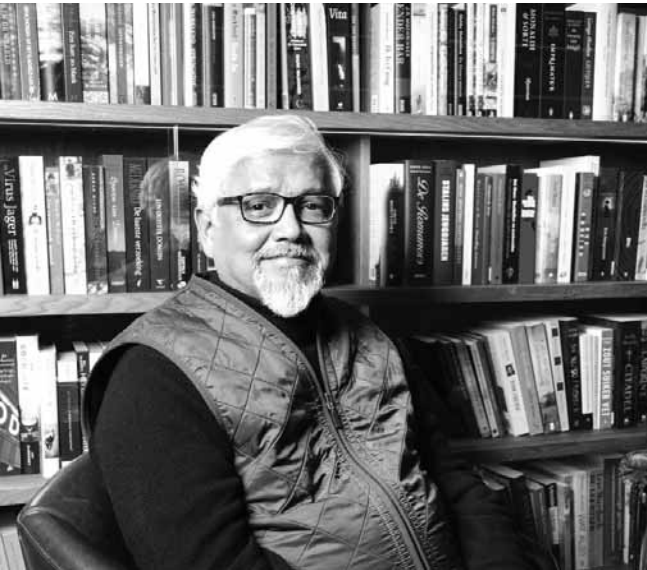

While in his current series, Inamdar allows his canvas to participate in its own creation, allowing it to slowly and whimsically absorb the colour and chart its own path, Davis’s art pushes the viewer to see these seemingly finite natural elements in a more solid and statement form.

AMITAV GHOSH talks about the culture of audiobooks as his work, Jungle Nama, is set to turn into a stage production musically interesting,” he adds.

Speaking about the culture of audiobooks, he says, “I think that we will be hearing about books much more in the years to come. This has already become a major part of the book market, and I think this will continue.

The writer’s latest book, The Nutmeg’s Curse: Parables for a Planet in Crisis was released in October.

The author, who has been writing on the subject of climate crisis in many of his works, and even pointed out in The Great Derangement: Climate Change and the Unthinkable that not enough contemporary novels were addressing climate change as a central issue of our time, feels that the principal reason for the lack of media coverage of the climate crisis around the world is the fact that mainstream media is largely controlled by big corporations and billionaires, who have a vested interest in playing down the seriousness of the crisis. “Of course, there are some honourable exceptions,” he adds.

1st Test ends in draw

PTI ■ KANPUR

Two Indian-born cricketers, Ajaz Patel and Rachin Ravindra, showed remarkable resilience under fading light and on a deteriorating track to defy India's famous spinners, eking out a thrilling draw for New Zealand in the opening Test here on Monday.

Indian spinners, led by Ravindra Jadeja, put up one of their most persevering performances in recent times but Mumbai-born Patel (2 off 23 balls) and Karnataka-born Ravindra (18 not out off 91 balls) consumed 8.4 overs after the fall of the ninth wicket to keep New Zealand on even keel in the two-match series. A lot of credit should also go to night-watchman Will Somerville (36 off 110 balls), who played the entire fifth morning and to first raise visions of the improbable draw. A victory target of 284 was always out of question but the gutsy New Zealanders didn't lose any wicket in the first session of the last morning before the Indian spinners, who had saved their best for the last, finally showed their skills but couldn't end on a winning note. The result at Green Park is the first time that New Zealand has gone 10 Test matches undefeated (eight wins, two draws) with the current streak starting against India at the start of 2020.

The last half an hour was a thriller with umpires Nitin Menon and Virender Sharma checking light and Ravindra appreciating Patel for every copybook forward defensive stroke. Ashwin (30-12-35-3), Jadeja (28-10-40-4) and Axar Patel (21-12-23-1) had to really push hard but it once again showed that Indian spinners might not be completely effective on tracks that don't start cracking from at the least second day. There was low bounce for sure but the slow turn made it easy to negotiate and also the failure of the two senior pacers put immense pressure on the spin troika who still took 17 of the 19 Kiwi wickets to fall. But they couldn't take the all-important final one. It was one of India's most hard-fought Test matches at home in recent times and no one would grudge the 'Good Men' from New Zealand again showing their wares in adversity.

Indian batter Shreyas Iyer deservedly and expectedly walked away with the Player of the Match honours for his assured debut which yielded him a century and a half century. The only thing that went in favour of India on the final day was the low bounce as defending for a very long period wasn't an option.

After this draw, there are some probing questions for the team going into the next Test. There will be serious question marks regarding stand-in captain Ajinkya Rahane's place in the playing eleven with skipper Virat Kohli coming back in the next game.

Veteran pacer Ishant Sharma (22 wicket-less overs in match) is looking completely off-colour since England and his place in the eleven ought to be questioned. Tom Latham (52 off 146 balls) scored his second fifty and, along with Somerville, became the key man to in taking the game deep into the fifth day. In the final context, even Kane Williamson's (24 off 112 balls) would mean a lot and so would Tim Blundell and Kyle Jamieson playing 30-odd balls each. These were little contributions that mattered and in the end, a little bit of luck also went their way.

However, the low bounce did him in as he dragged one back during the post lunch. With that scalp, Ashwin in his 80th Test, crossed Harbhajan Singh (417 in 103 games) to become the third highest wicket-taker for India in the five-day format.

"I would like to congratulate Ashwin on his milestone. Well done and hope he wins many more matches for India," Harbhajan told PTI.

Dravid gives ₹35,000 to groundsmen for preparing sporting pitch

He has always been different from the rest and India's new head coach Rahul Dravid proved it once again by giving Green Park's groundstaff, led by Shiv Kumar, ₹35,000 for preparing a sporting pitch for the first Test against New Zealand.

The Indian-born Ajaz Patel and Rachin Ravindra showed remarkable resilience under fading light and on a deteriorating track to defy India's famous spinners and eke out a thrilling draw for New Zealand after an engrossing fifth and final day of the opening Test here on Monday.

Feels absolutely nothing at all: Ashwin

PTI ■ KANPUR

Feels like absolutely nothing at all." With these words off-spinner Ravichandran Ashwin on Monday played down his milestone of becoming India's third highest wicket-taker in Test cricket.

Ashwin dismissed Tom Latham to claim his 418th Test wicket and go past Harbhajan Singh on the fifth and final day of the opening Test against New Zealand here. He is now only behind Anil Kumble and Kapil Dev in the overall standings.

After India could not close out the game against New Zealand, Ashwin was asked what the milestone made him feel.

"Absolutely nothing at all. These are milestones that are constantly kept on tab, it's wonderful. Ever since Rahul bhai has taken over, he's kept saying how many wickets you take, how many runs you make in 10 years time, you won't remember them," Ashwin said.

"It's the memories that matters so I want to have some special memories going forward in the next 3-4 years," he added after the drawn game.

The match lasted full five days though bad light played a part every evening. Ashwin was diplomatic while talking about the surface.

"Anytime pitches are being spoken about and I am asked a question, it turns into a controversy. So, I'll try and keep a tab on that." Mumbai-born Ajaz Patel (2 not out off 23 balls) and Karnataka-born Rachin Ravindra (18 not out off 91 balls) consumed 8.4 overs after the fall of ninth wicket to eke out a memorable draw for New Zealand in fading light.

"Getting down to the last session, last mandatory over, I think it's played its part, some wonderful Test cricket. The young boy, Ravindra, batted beautifully, showed great composure, Ajaz Patel with his defence," Ashwin said.

"It just tells you a story. Everybody hangs in there, everybody can defend well these days, so it's not as easy as it used to be once upon a time getting these tail-enders out. Great day of Test cricket, I hope people who watched it enjoyed it." It was a close game and Ashwin was all praise for the traditional format.

"The beauty of Test cricket is that you need to want it. It's really hard, it's not one of those formats where you turn up, have a good day, have a good four-over bowl or have a good 20-overs bat.

"There is a lot of pain, there is a lot of hard work, there's a lot of tenacity you need to bring into play. Definitely I am someone who wants to play this format and I enjoy it."

He added that they bowled well on the final day though the last New Zealand pair denied them a win.

"We were actually keeping things under control. We were bowling in good areas and we knew if we had the time to go on and put some pressure on them, we could get the job done but light was always going to come in the last session.

"There has been bad light in every single day of this Test match so we did expect it, so no complains. Couldn't get the job done but we stuck together well."

Don't think we could have done anything different: Rahane

PTI ■ KANPUR

India failed to bowl out New Zealand on a deteriorating track on day five of the first Test but skipper Ajinkya Rahane praised his players saying they tried their best and couldn't have done anything different.

Mumbai-born Ajaz Patel (2 not out off 23 balls) and Karnataka-born Rachin Ravindra (18 not out off 91 balls) consumed 8.4 overs after the fall of ninth wicket to eke out a memorable draw for New Zealand in fading light.

"It was a very good game of cricket, they played really well. We came back really well after the first session. "We wanted to get that partnership going. We were looking to bowl 5-6 overs in the end, but we needed that partnership to carry on. I don't think we could have done anything different," said Rahane at the post-match presentation.

He was also asked if he could have declared earlier in the final session on day four but Rahane replied in the negative.

The light metre was out after every over in the last 30 minutes of play on Monday, Rahane said the right call was

Pitch was quite unresponsive on fifth day, outside edge was out of equation: Dravid

Kanpur: India head coach Rahul Dravid on Monday commended his spinners for putting up a great show on "quite an unresponsive" fifth day track with outside edges not coming into play in the drawn first Test against New Zealand. The Indians got nine New Zealand wickets but failed to dislodge the last pair of Rachin Ravindra and Ajaz Patel as the visitors managed a creditable draw after being down and out in the post-tea session. "We showed great composure and fighting spirit and worked really hard in that final session. It was quite an unresponsive pitch on the fifth day and really good effort to have taken eight wickets after lunch, three in that session and five in last session.

Phenomenal achievement: Dravid on Ashwin's feat

Kanpur: India coach Rahul Dravid on Monday drew attention to the manner in which Ravichandran Ashwin has "grown" and "evolved" into a champion off-spinner, who has now become the country's third highest wicket-taker in Tests. Ashwin dismissed Tom Latham to claim his 418th Test wicket and go past Harbhajan Singh on the fifth and final day of the opening Test against New Zealand here. He is now only behind Anil Kumble and Kapil Dev in the overall standings. "I think it's a phenomenal achievement. I think you know Harbhajan Singh was a really fine bowler, someone I played a lot of cricket with; terrific bowler for India and what Ashwin has done, to be able to go past him in just 80 Test matches is phenomenal achievement," Dravid said.

Satwik-Chirag pairing qualifies for BWF World Tour Finals

PTI ■ BALI

World no 11 duo of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty has become the first Indian men's doubles pair to qualify for the season-ending BWF World Tour Finals starting here on Wednesday.

Satwik and Chirag had finished at the semifinals of the Indonesia Open last week but made the cut after Japanese pairing of Akira Koga and Taichi Saito also lost in the last four at the Super 1000 tournament.

The Indian pair thus leapfrogged the Japanese pair in the Road to Bali to book the berth at the year-ending event. Satwik and Chirag needed to beat World No. 1 pair of Marcus Fernaldi Gideon and Kevin Sukamuljo in the semifinals to make the cut but they ended up losing 16-21 18-21.

Akira and Taichi had lost to fellow Japanese duo of Takuro Hoki and Yugo Kobayashi 22-20 21-14 to pave the way for the Indian pair.

"Fell short in the end against Kevin/Marcus today. But nevertheless happy with the way we played this week. On the positive side we have qualified for the World Tour Finals!" Chirag wrote on his instagram page.

Pakistan closes in on victory in 1st test with Bangladesh

AP ■ CHATTOGRAM

Fast bowler Shaheen Shah Afridi claimed 5-32 as Pakistan closed in on victory in the first cricket test against Bangladesh on Monday.

Afridi's fourth five-wicket haul in tests wrapped up Bangladesh's second innings for 157 on Day 4, setting Pakistan a 202-run target to win. Openers Abid Ali and Abdullah Shafique then helped Pakistan reach 109-0 at stumps, leaving the team needing 93 more runs on the final day.

Ali, who scored 133 in the first innings, was on 56 and debutant Shafique was unbeaten on 53 when bad light ended play early for the fourth consecutive day.

Bangladesh had a 44-run first-innings lead after posting 330 and then bowling Pakistan out for 286.

"We just had a terrible last session yesterday which put us under a lot of pressure in the game," Bangladesh coach Russell Domingo said.

"They (Pakistan) need another 93 runs, so it will need something really special. Anything is possible in test cricket. We have to come tomorrow morning believing we still have a chance. If we can pick up one or two wickets in the first half an hour, anything is possible."

BLOEMFONTEIN: Cooped up in a bio-bubble while a new COVID-19 variant causes panic all across here, the India A cricket team will take on South Africa A in the second unofficial Test from Tuesday with some senior side aspirants hoping to make an impression. The first four-day game ended in a draw due to inclement weather on Friday last week even as the detection of the B.1.1.529

COVID-19 variant, which was named Omicron by the WHO, forced many countries to impose international travel restrictions on South Africa. The uncertain situation also led to the Netherlands abandoning their last two ODIs against South Africa which were scheduled at Johannesburg. However, India A have stayed put in Bloemfontein inside a bio-bubble. The matches are being played without spectators and India senior team is also due to arrive in the country by December 9 for a nearly seven-week assignment starting December 17. PTI
