'IPPs took huge advantage of coal crisis' VIJAYAWADA

Engineers working in the power sector suspected black-marketing by private Independent Power Producers (IPP) as the price of power in the open market had gone as high as Rs 20 per unit for a few days in the first two weeks of October.

Though the price per unit stabilised now at Rs 3.35 per unit on Tuesday, many states across the country that had faced coal supply disruptions due to varied reasons that had impacted local power generation had to spend exorbitant price of Rs 20 per unit for an average of a week to 10 days from the open market energy exchange. For instance, as per the data accessed from Union Power Ministry-run Vidyut Pravah, due to coal shortage, Andhra Pradesh had purchased at least 70 MW on Monday and 336 MW on Tuesday. In the last few days, Andhra Pradesh had purchased almost on the same lines at Rs 20 per unit until price stabilised at Rs 3.35 per unit from Sunday. While 100 MW for 24 hours is 2.4 MU Andhra Pradesh had to shell out a few hundreds of crores of rupees to purchase on an average 1 MU in a day.

"It has been observed that under coal shortage conditions the deficit states are buying power from exchanges at the rate of up to ? 20 per unit. This implies that the seller entity IPP or generator is making huge profit while the buyer Discom would incur huge loss due to import of high cost power. However, such practice goes against the letter and spirit of Electricity Act 2003 Section 61 (d) which specifies the principle," said All India Power Engineers Federation (AIPEF) Chairman Shailendra Dubey, who wrote a letter to Union Power Minister R K Singh.

Two-decade-long journey of Telangana's political musafir hief Minister of Telangana K. ✓ Chandrasekhar Rao is moving forward cautiously with what seems to be a perfect political strategy to POINT tackle any situation that may emerge against his interests ahead of the next General Election, which is slated to be held in 2023.

After seeing the successful completion of 20 years of Telangana Rashtra Samiti, he seems to be drawing a new political graph for securing the future of his party. With the TRS emerging as a viable political force in the new state of Telangana, KCR's stature has grown substantially at the national level.

The Bharatiya Janata Party, while expanding its mass base across the country, has been playing hide and seek with regional political forces, leaving its own cadre confused. During Atal Behari Vajpayee's regime, the BJP had given freedom to its AP unit to fight against the Telugu Desam Party for the purpose of strengthening the state unit. But during the elections of 1999, to everybody's surprise, BJP sought support of TDP in the form of seatsharing agreement for furthering the BJP's numbers game to grab power at the Centre.

Expectedly both parties were in a comfortable position during that particular term. But this arrangement damaged BJP's reputation as the TDP shelved the issue of separate Telangana State for the purpose of getting power.
The TRS, during its 20-year journey, has seen ups and downs. KCR now foresees no further spell of positive wave for Prime Minister Narendra Modi in the 2024 General Election.

The Telangana Assembly elections will be held ahead of the General Elections i.e.

There has been talk in some quarters that, like in the case of the previous Assembly elections, the TRS could advance the Assembly polls so as to hold them before the General Election, given the party's bright chances to register a third consecutive victory in Telangana State since the formation of the new state. However, KCR has just ruled out early polls to T-

Assembly this time.

He had cleverly advanced polls for T-Assembly ahead of the General Election in 2018 with a view to avoid positive wave for Modi across the country.

For the General Election, the focus of attention of the electorate might be on national political forces, with the regional forces not getting ample attention of peo-

as 28 Assembly seats -- more than enough to get the status of principal opposition in

KCR chose to leave TDP in protest against the treatment meted out to him at the hands of then chief minister Chandrababu Naidu. Chandrababu decided to accommodate former Director of CBI K.Vijayarama Rao, who defeated Congress giant P.Janardhan Reddy (PJR) in the Khairatabad constituency, in place of KCR as both leaders belongs to the same caste Velama. Naidu ostensibly implemented the policy of allotting one cabinet post for one caste. But he chose to relax that norm in the case of Bojjala Gopalakrishna Reddy of Chittoor district as he was also kept aside on the lines of Interestingly both Bojjala and KCR were very good friends and colleagues in TDP. This idea of 'one cabinet post for one caste' perwas his good friend.

Vijayarama Rao had helped Chandrababu Naidu a lot during the former's tenure as Police Commissioner of Hyderabad in avoiding the arrest for inviting the wrath of the Legislative Council for objectionable writings against the Upper House at the state level.

KCR's alleged adamant attitude had caused heavy loss of as many as 16 MLAs out of 26 it had in the AP Assembly as they deserted the party at the behest of then chief minister Dr.Y.S.Rajasekara Reddy. Challenges and counter chal-lenges levelled against each other between KCR and Congress leaders led to the bye-election in the Karimnagar Lok Sabha constituency. He resigned from that seat in response to a challenge thrown at him by then minister in YSR's cabinet M.Satyanarayana Rao. Nobody expected then that KCR would respond positively to such challenge.

KCR's dwindling popularity got a boost in that bypoll

In two like T.Harish Rao, were Naidu as Vijayarama Rao other words, TRS was given a new lease of life by the Congress minister's challenge. Otherwise, TRS would not have grown in popularity during the tenure of YSR.

But the promises he had made, including those of making a Dalit the chief minister and allocation of 3 acres of land for the poor, are literally haunting him personally. Nobody in TRS would dare to question him regarding the same, but the principal opposition has initiated a tirade against KCR in this regard.

The Congress has received death blows from KCR in the two successive elections of 2014 and 2018, though it was the Congress that granted Telangana State.

It will be interesting to see how KCR will handle the next Assembly elections. Will there be a magic like that of Nitish Kumar (Bihar) and Shivraj Singh Chowhan (Madhya Pradesh), who grabbed opportunity for the third time in a row, for him to rule the state of Telangana?

He said that in India the present case of coal shortage leading to spike in energy rates, it was necessary for state regulators as well as CERC to intervene and impose price caps to prevent excessive profiteering by IPPs and also to ensure that unbearable burden is not put on consumers of Discoms.

Discoms are constrained to purchase high-cost power in order to limit the power cuts. "This leads to a deterioration of Discom finances which are already stressed. From this angle also, price caps on merchant power plants are required and the present instances of exploiting shortage by raising the rate to the range of Rs 20 per unit in energy exchange must not be allowed. Naidu urges Governor, Shah to provide security at TDP offices

Leader of the Opposition N Chandrababu Naidu on Tuesday complained to Union Home Minister Amit Shah and to the AP Governor about the ruling YSRCP mobs' vandalism at the main and district offices of the Telugu Desam Party (TDP) in Andhra Pradesh. Several party workers were injured in the attacks.

YSRCP using loans for scams: Kanakamedala

PNS VIJAYAWADA

TDP Rajya Sabha MP Kanakamedala Ravindra Kumar on Tuesday slammed the Jaganmohan Reddy government for telling lies to the people that it was bringing massive multi-crore loans for implementing welfare programmes for them. Ravindra Kumar said that the government was trying to hide its huge financial lapses and then blame the previous TDP regime for the State's debts. Over Rs 3 lakh crore of loans were brought in the past two and half years but only Rs 1.30 lakh crore was spent for welfare. It was obvious that the ruling YSRCP diverted most of the loans for its scams and frauds. Addressing a press conference here, the TDP MP said that the Jagan regime was mismanaging the State

'Govt does not have magic wand to fulfil all promises'

Former AP chief secretary and BJP leader IYR Krishna Rao has alleged that former CM Chandrababu Naidu and CM YS Jaganmohan Reddy have left the State debt-ridden with a huge sum of Rs 5 lakh crore. He expressed concern over the financial situation of the State during the current times. He pointed out that if crores of rupees are being distributed for personal gain and image nothing will be left over for the future.

He said that there is nothing wrong with spending on welfare schemes for the poor however the government should ensure that the amount spent on welfare schemes should not exceed 10 percent of the budget as followed by the central government. He said that the government must realize that it does not have the magic wand or Allauddin miracle lamp to fulfill all the promises made.

The BJP leader Krishna Rao stated that the state's economic situation does not tend to promote the central government's development schemes. If the states' budget is spent on freebies, what will be spent on

TDP dares AP police to give notices to Telangana cops

PNS AMARAVATI

TDP national spokesman K. Pattabhi Ram on Tuesday said the AP police were showing sincerity and efficiency only in harassing the opposition TDP leaders but not to nab the ganja and drug smuggling gangs in Andhra Pattabhi strongly objected to the manner in which the Narsipatnam police arrived in Guntur within a short time and served a midnight notice to former Minister Nakka Anand Babu for just supporting the cause of AP youth. It was evident the police were acting at the behest of Tadepalli palace. If they were really sincere, the AP Police should issue similar notices to the cops of Telangana, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh and Karnataka for their statements on AP ganja

Addressing a press conference here, the TDP leader said that the Jaganmohan Reddy government was not at all bothered though reports came from all over the country on seizure of Andhra ganja. But, they were misusing the police to harass the TDP leaders just for demanding action against the drug mafia. The Narsipatnam police had no time to raid and nab ganja gangs in their scheduled areas but they came at a lightning speed to serve notice on the ex-Minister within hours after his press conference yesterday.

Pattabhi Ram demanded that the AP Police give explanation on the raids being conducted by the cops of other States. The Telangana police came under attack by the emboldened ganja gangs who were armed with axes and stones. How would the Narsipatnam police explain this? In another incident, the Tamil

Nadu police had to cross over into Tada area in Nellore district of Andhra Pradesh in hot pursuit of ganja gangs. But, the gangsters attacked the TN police with

The TDP leader said that the Bangalore police also seized Andhra ganja and arrested smugglers. They announced that the seized ganja came from Visakhapatnam drug mafia gangs. The Uttar Pradesh police also seized a huge quantity of ganja and announced that it belonged to Andhra. Guntur Urban SP also spoke about liquid ganja from Vizag being transported to Gujarat. Why was notice serviced on this SP? Pattabhi Ram said that the Adivasi leaders themselves openly made a statement that the ruling YSRCP leaders were involved in the ganja and drug mafia. Their statements appeared in the national media as well. There were reports about Rs. 8,000 Cr ganja being cultivated in Visakha agency. For spending Rs. 1 lakh per acre of ganja cultivation, they were getting Rs. 10 lakh profits. But the AP Police were not taking any action for reasons best known to themselves.

The TDP leader described the latest notice served on Anand Babu as an attack on the Dalits in the State. Ever since coming to power, the Jaganmohan Reddy regime was making non-stop attacks on the weaker sections. The TDP would not be cowed down by such intimidatory tactics and it would further intensify their agitation against the YSRCPbacked drug mafia. The erring police officers would face serious consequences since the TDP would initiate legal action against Pattabhi said that while Chandrababu Naidu srove hard to attract investments and jobs for AP youth, Jagan Reddy was hell bent on destroying the lives and golden future of a whole generation. The police officials should stop coming in khaki uniforms during midnight hours like robbers to harass the TDP leaders. It became a routine for the police to take orders from Tadepalli palace and go like postmen to serve notices on the opposition leaders.

YSRCP MLA lambasts TDP

YSRCP MLA TJS Sudhakar Babu lambasted Opposition leader N Chandrababu Naidu and his son Nara Lokesh for venting their frustration on the State government by using abusive language against the Chief Minister.

Addressing a press conference here on Tuesday, the MLA said that Chandrababu Naidu is ashamed of his son for being incompetent and was unable to digest his party's defeat, so he is entertaining his men to speak ill of the Chief Minister.

While Chief Minister YS Jaganmohan Reddy has made an indelible impression in the hearts of the people as a great leader with his transparent governance, Nara Lokesh is left as an incompetent politician who couldn't even win as MLA.

sition leaders in his threedecade political life. He said that as a former minister he had the freedom to speak on the ganja smuggling from AP. The police asked him meaningless questions and recorded the same, he said.

Cong and BJP colluded in Huz'bad; yet, TRS will win hands down: KTR

'Revanth would do well to stop speculating about KCR's future plans and focus on helping Cong candidate retain his deposit' KCR is a visionary and opposition leaders are 'tele-visionaries' confined to TV shows

ML MELLY MAITREYI

TRS working president KT Rama Rao has predicted that the TRS candidate will win hands down in the Huzurabad byetheir anger towards the BJP, which has been fleecing people, by defeating its candidate Eatala Rajender. Asserting that the Congress had colluded with the BJP in Huzurabad "not 100 per cent, but 1,000 per cent", KTR said it was evident from the fielding of a dummy candidate by the Congress to help Eatala Rajender. After one or one a half years, the Congress would invite Rajender into their party fold, he said. There were rumours that BJP leader Vivek also would follow suit. KTR said he was making these statements in all seriousness. Even during the Lok Sabha elections in the past in Karimnagar and Nizamabad, the BJP and the Congress had an understanding, and the Congress had helped BJP candidates sail through. The two parties were back to the same game in Huzurabad. "We are now smarter and have more clarity to see through their game," he said. In a chat with media persons at Telangana Bhavan here on Tuesday, KTR was forthright while responding to queries on many issues, ranging from strengthening of the party's organizational structure, upcoming election of party president and the Huzurabad bye-

Justifying his allegation that the Congress and the BJP were on the same page in Huzurabad, KTR sought to a presence in Huzurabad and what role the PCC president had been playing

"Let his (Revanth Reddy's) party candidate retain deposit in Huzurabad before indulging in guessing game about early elections and KCR's political plans," he quipped.

Dismissing the challenges thrown at the TRS by opposition leaders, KTR said let the Congress PCC chief prove his strength first. "There may be a variety of paper tigers and those created by media. TRS president and Chief Minister KCR is a visionary and others are 'tele-visionaries," confined to TV shows, he said, taking a dig at some opposition leaders. "Everyone thinks they can compete with KCR, but it is not that easy. Setting up and strengthening a party, sustaining it, withstanding several challenges, and winning election after election is not easy at all," he reminded them.

Everyone knew the kind of effort KCR would put into every election, small or big. Even in the Nagarjuna Sagar bypoll, people were boasting but former Minister Jana Reddy was defeated with a margin of over 18,000 votes by a political novice and young man Nomula Bhagath from TRS. That was because of people's faith in KCR. "When Jana Reddy himself had to taste a bigger leader than Jana Reddy," he said.

Replying to a query if suspending Dalit Bandhu would impact TRS, he said Dalit Bandhu as a scheme and programme would not stop. Only yesterday Rs.250 crore was released for the Dalit Bandhu scheme in four mandals. If anyone thought by stopping the scheme in Huzurabad for 10 days, it would help them politically, it was their foolishness, KTR said. KTR said Eatala till date had not explained why he had resigned from TRS and how people would benefit if they voted for him. In his election campaign, he did not own BJP; nor did the BJP own him. He was even afraid of invoking Modi's name lest people would be reminded of spiralling prices of petrol, diesel and LPG cylinder under his regime or the controversial farm laws which once Eatala himself had denounced as black laws. Eatala enjoyed many posts and positions for 17 years in TRS and, while continuing as Minister, he had belittled the state government's welfare schemes. Yet, KCR showed patience and did not say anything. It was time Eatala told people before asking for votes what he would do for people: bring down prices of fuel or a bring Rs.2,000 crore package to Huzurabad or would he get BC Bandhu by con-

The Department of Food Supplies and Consumer Affairs of the Delhi government on Monday issued an order to implement the high court directives. "The HC in its order dated 23/9/2021 has modified its earlier order dated 27/04/2021 to the extent that Fair Price Shop owners will be permitted to have a weekly off, to enable them function efficiently. Global Hunger Index 2021 reflects India's reality where hunger is up

India's Global Hunger Index 2021 ranking at 101st position "unfortunately" reflects the reality of the country where hunger has accentuated since the COVID-19 pandemic outbreak, Oxfam India said. India slipped to 101st position in the Global Hunger Index (GHI) of 116 countries, from its 2020 position of 94th, and is behind its neighbours Pakistan, Bangladesh and Nepal. Reacting sharply to the report, the Ministry of Women and Child Development had said it was "shocking" to find that the Global Hunger Report 2021 has lowered the rank of India on the basis of FAO estimate on proportion of undernourished population, which is found to be "devoid of ground reality and facts and suffers from serious methodological issues". Oxfam India said the GHI data which states that India dropped to the hunger-level ranks by seven spots to the 101st spot "unfortunately reflects the reality of the country where hunger accentuated since the COVID-19 pandemic". "This trend of undernutrition in India is unfortunately not new, and is actually based on the government's own National Family Health Survey (NHFS) data.

School principals hail CBSE's reduced exam duration, objective questions

The Central Board of Secondary Education's new format for first term board exams for classes 10 and 12, including 90 minutes long objective type tests, has been hailed by several school principals who believe the decision will help enhance critical thinking of students. Bifurcating the academic session, holding two term-end exams and rationalising the syllabus were part of the special assessment scheme for class 10 and 12 CBSE board exams for 2021-22, which were announced in July in view of the Covid pandemic. The first term exams will begin from November 30 for major subjects, while the schedule for minor subjects will be sent to schools separately. "This will be exactly after two years that the CBSE would be conducting physical exams on such a large scale. The new objective format has a five-minute increased reading time, which is quite thoughtful and would help the students to read the questions and the options carefully before selecting the right answers. The idea of 90-minute tests in the first term board exams is excellent as during the times of lockdown, the mode of teaching, learning and grasping has undergone a massive change," Pallavi Upadhyaya said.

Owaisi slams Modi govt over Pakistan playing T-20 in J&K

AIMIM President Asaduddin Owaisi on Tuesday slammed the Narendra Modi government for allowing the Indian cricket team to play a T20 match with Pakistan at a time when "our soldiers are being killed in Kashmir"

India is scheduled to play the first match of T20 World Cup against Pakistan in Dubai on October 24.

Addressing a public meeting on the eve of Eid Milad-un-Nabi at AIMIM headquarters Darussalam, he said: "Pakistan is playing T20 with Indian lives in Kashmir. How can we play a match against them amid regular terror attacks there?"

He recalled how Prime Minister Modi had criticised then Prime Minister Manmohan Singh "for sharing biryani with the Pakistan PM when Indian jawans were being killed on the borders".

Owaisi also alleged that the targetted killings in Kashmir were a result of lack of policy of terrorism by the Modi government, and questioned the government's claim that problems in Kashmir have ended with the repeal of Article 370.

Referring to the death of labourers from Bihar in Kashmir, he wondered what the intelligence agencies and Home Minister Amit Shah

The AIMIM leader also

"He is silent on skyrocketing fuel prices. The cost of petrol and diesel have hit the century mark, yet he has not commented on it.'

Owaisi also questioned the Prime Minister on his silence over Chinese Army entering and occupying the Indian territory. "Why is he afraid of even taking the name of China," he asked.

The AIMIM also voiced concern over the situation faced by Muslims in the coun-

Covid: India's R-value below 1 since Sept

PNS MUMBAI

India's R-value, which reflects how rapidly the coronavirus pandemic is spreading, has remained below 1 since September, suggesting that the infection rate is declining, according to a study.

The Reproduction number or R refers to how many people an infected person infects on an average. In other words, it tells how 'efficiently' a virus is spreading.

An R-value smaller than 1 means the disease is spreading slowly. Conversely, if R is greater than 1, the number of infected people is increasing in each round - technically, this is what is called the epidemic phase.

The bigger the number than 1, the faster the rate of spreading of the disease in the population. According to figures calculated by researchers of the Chennai-based Institute of Mathematical Sciences, the Rvalue of top 10 states with most number of active cases was below 1 till October 18.

Sigh of relief

A majority of unvaccinated children developing COVID-19 antibodies comes as hope he results of the third serosurvey conducted in Haryana are comforting. Antibodies against SARSCoV-2 were found among 76.3 per cent of the State's population. This is a steep rise from a mere 14.8 per cent in October 2020 and eight per cent last August. A sero-positivity of 81.6 per cent was found in vaccinated people and 75.5 per cent in non-vaccinated. In urban Haryana, antibodies were found in 78.1 per cent of the people; in the rural areas the percentage is 75.1. The best news, however, relates to children. The survey found a sero-positivity rate of 69.8 per cent in children aged 6-9 years and 73.2 per cent in adolescents aged 10-17 years. This is the first time when children were included in the survey. It is also established for the first time that over 70 per cent of nonvaccinated children have COVID-19 antibodies. The news comes as a relief when children remain the only segment of the population who have not been vaccinated even though the country is close to giving nearly 100 crore jabs. The vaccines for children are still undergoing human trials. The decision to re-open schools after a gap of a year hinges on this very issue and some States have reluctantly agreed to re-open schools in stages. There still is a hesitancy among parents to send their wards to school. A few other States are planning to begin classes in November. School managements are ensuring that the teaching and non-teaching staff are fully vaccinated and safety protocols are in place to minimise the risk of infection.

Recent surveys from abroad have justified the fears of infection among children. A study by teams from hospitals in MIT and Harvard has conclusively proved that infants, children and adolescents are equally capable of replicating the COVID-19 virus. Examining COVID-19 positive children, they found that the levels of infection are highest early in the illness in both symptomatic and asymptomatic patients. Overall, the viral load did not correlate with the severity of the disease in the kids even though they could infect other people. However, several studies have stated that very few children have symptoms and they are at low risk of contracting the illness. In this context, the Haryana serosurvey on children is a reassuring one. Based on the Haryana survey results, it can safely be assumed that one can go slow with the vaccination of healthy children and instead focus on fully covering the vulnerable population the elderly, and adults and children with co-morbidities. Even though a couple of vaccines have received the emergency use authorisation (EUA), it is unclear when the vaccines for children below 18 will be available in the country. The chief of the national COVID-19 task force, VK Paul, has said that a final decision will depend on the scientific rationale for vaccinating kids and the availability of sufficient doses for them.

The International Olympic Committee does not heed protests against the Beijing Olympics

■he flame of the 2022 Winter Olympics reaches Beijing in a day or two but China has more cause for concern than celebration. A swarm of protests follows the flame, lit at the birthplace of the ancient Olympics in southern Greece on Monday, calling for a global boycott of the Games on account of alleged human rights violations by the Chinese Government. The ceremony of lighting the torch in Greece was marred by protests, as three activists managed to sneak into the venue holding a Tibetan flag and a banner reading 'No genocide games'. The protests were growing in tenor all through the year. Human rights watch groups in the US and Europe launched a campaign to boycott the games because China allegedly continues to harass Tibetans, strip Uighur Muslims in Xinjiang of their religious and cultural identities, punish pro-democracy agitators in Hong Kong, and intimidate Taiwan. The possibility of the US boycotting the games is remote but efforts are on to at least have a diplomatic boycott by that country.

This is not the first time that China is facing flak in the run-up to an international sporting event. It lost the bid for the 2000 Olympic games in 1993 because of the bloody crackdown on student agitators in Tiananmen Square in 1989. China had hoped to resurrect its international image by hosting the games but that was not to be. It never faced a worse insult globally. It subsequently bid for the 2008 games. To show a democratic face to the world, China came up with several concessions to impress the Olympic committee. They included extending press freedom for foreign journalists in China, allowing them to travel across the country without having to apply for permission. However, the protests continued as China refused to acknowledge any wrong-doing. The Communist Party of China, which routinely ignores all human rights charges, would do well to realise turning a deaf ear would not make the problem go away. Evidence of Chinese high-handedness in Tibet and Xinjiang keeps leaking out of the two regions despite State censorship. Those who manage to escape from the mainland bring sordid tales with them. It comes as a small relief for China that the International Olympic Committee is not interested in taking up the boycott call only because it feels the games are neutral and should not be politicised.

More in our history than the 1971 war

The Indian military's habit of not fully recording war diaries has provided opportunity to individuals to fiddle with and fabricate events

ifty years of the 1971 India-Pakistan war is being commemorated . with great verve and gusto by recalling the geostrategy, tactics and heroics of the great Indian victory — one in 1000 years where the gains on the battlefield were frittered away across the negotiating table. The war corrected the geographical incongruity of Pakistan split into two ntities separated by 1000 miles. The late politician and writer, Jaswant Singh, called the victory geography's revenge over history - when use of force resulted in the birth of a new country Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan. It was the 20th century's last decisive war though it could not settle the root cause of India-Pakistan enmity - not J&K but inimical behaviour of the Pakistan Army.

In the previous century, except for the World Wars, there is no clear example of a decisive interstate war. But intra-state conflicts produced outcomes. The stamping out of Khalistan movement vas a rare success for India. So was the Taliban's first take-over of Afghanistan. Peaceful separation of Czechoslovakia into Czech Republic and Slovakia was a nique event. In the 21st century also, a number of internal conflicts were resolved by use of force defeat of LTTE in Sri Lanka and the recent re-conquest of Afghanistan by the Taliban. Another genre of military success without the use of military force was 'fait accompli operations' like the Russian occupation of Crimea, Chinese seizure of islands in the South China Sea and the Chinese intrusions into East Ladakh. In the space between war and no-peace is grey-zone operations, (HERE IS THE CHANGE) which is the defender's dilemma. And now, with the advent of cyber war and artificial intelligence, thinkers and practitioners of war and conflict have much to mull over. While the nature and character of war have changed, the principles of war are more or less the same, technology being the consistent key driver of shaping their outcomes.

Past wars and internal conflicts are not replicable. Take the war for Bangladesh. The ten months available for preparation,

I would like to see during commemoration events greater emphasis on recalling Infantryled epic battles of Pirgunj, Hilli, Sylhet and Akhaura to name a few. The roadblock at Pirgunj by 2/5 Gorkha Rifles (FF), for example, turned the flank of Pakistan 16 Infantry Division fighting fortress defence at Hilli by crossing the Karatoya river. It was the first turning movement south towards Bogra and Dacca and divided Pakistan's 16 Infantry Division. Similarly, 4/5 Gorkha Rifles (FF) conducted India's first heliborne operations and while reduced to half a battalion in combat, took the surrender of two Pakistani Brigades on 15 December, one clear day in advance of the Dacca surrender. They had earlier carried out the first silent 'khukuri' attack at Atgram though the British Gurkhas claimed the honour earlier in Indonesia. These short and sharp battles hastened the termination of war confirming Infantry as the queen of battle. It would be more useful to invite officers who took part in these actions rather than have the post-1971 war generation of officers to pontificate on lessons and dialectics of deterrence.

India must cherish the 1971 victory against Pakistan but focus on small-unit actions that will be relevant to future external wars. The limited war in Kargil was another classic demonstration of Infantry-led small unit battles that evicted intruding Pakistani forces across the LoC. It is a pity that war histories on 1962 and IPKF Sri Lanka, though chronicled, have not been released for political reasons. The Indian military's bad habit of not fully and faithfully recording war diaries has provided opportunity to individual participants in wars to fiddle with and fabricate events to enhance their personal heroics. The media in general and social media in particular, without verifying factuals, have contributed to this.

Biographies and autobiographies are especially culpable as they embellish the record of units and individuals beyond what is recorded in regimental history. And where there is no official regimental history, some writers have gone to town enhancing their stature. All write-ups about past wars must be vetted by MoD historical section and a certification obtained from the authors that they have not used material which is not in official records. The Government has fudged events in East Ladakh, pretending the PLA intrusions have not altered the LAC. Even so, the 1971 success on the battlefield is India's big redeemer and greatest victory.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE MONSOON'S MOOD SWINGS

Sir — The Indian monsoon is nature's gift to us. It is what gives us sustenance; it is inseparable from Indian civilisation. Still over the last few years, it has become erratic to the extent of venting nature's fury and causing widespread devastation. Its onset, occurrence and withdrawal have come to acquire a frightening dimension. Visuals have shown how this year's southwest monsoon has taken the shape of a 'natural' disaster. The stunning collapse of a house in one unbroken piece into flood water has become the defining image of the destruction caused by the deluge in Kerala and other parts of the country. The floods recurring year after year add a new urgency to the restoration of the monsoon to what it was before it assumed the proportions of a 'natural' disaster. The protection of mountains that serve as natural life givers in its wider sense will more than halve the problem. Deforestation, mining, construction and cultivation of cash crops that are ecologically unsustainable and explain much of the change in the monsoons must end; political parties and governments must free themselves from the hold of lobbies of various kinds towards this end. The governments should discontinue the practice of relaxing rules pertaining to environmental clearance in the name of ease of doing business. It is a basic fact that economic growth at the cost of ecology spells disaster.

FINDING FENI IN GOA'S MUSEUN

Sir — India's first museum dedicated to alcohol has opened its doors to spirit enthusiasts in Goa. The museum, All About Alcohol is a place to rejoice in North Goa's Candolim village. The museum houses hundreds of artefacts linked to Feni -Goa's very own and a popular alcoholic drink — including large, traditional glass vats in which the local cashew-based alcohol used to be stored centuries ago. The idea behind the museum was to make the world aware of Goa's rich heritage, especially the story of Feni. The answer to whether there is another alcohol museum in the world is absolutely no.

he use of artificial intelligence (AI) in the field of journalism, often dubbed as a race with the machine, is getting eventually apparent. Recently, certain international news media organizations have tapped the power of AI to cover and report on the recent blast at a mosque in Kandahar city of Afghanistan that killed 37 people. Al tools are used to measure and report that the nation is grappling with insecurity and unrest. These news media organizations have been actively engaged in automating tasks essential for journalistic production. All has come in handy to detect, extract and verify data essential for news stories and graphics. Such tools are being used for sorting, selecting and prioritizing the filters in the journalistic process of news stories. The use of Al is comparatively new. Its efficacy in reporting and disseminating conflicting news stories is established. It has the ability to build and update data visualizations in real time. The tools can be beneficial for the reporters in conflict zones in which the machine makes easy to source through footage from war zones. Human rights activists have started resorting to source the footage required for documenting human rights violations. Hence, Al tools are intensifying the level of activism in real time. During the time of the pandemic, Al tools provided potential aids for journalists in disseminating useful information to the citizens. When thousands of journalists were infected with the virus, the importance of AI tools in gathering, sorting, verifying and disseminating information went up substantially. Al tools are systematically programmed to identify fake news, helping journalists file correct and unbiased news stories. It can also debunk fake news flooded in social media platforms. Al thus protects the spirit of news values and ethical responsibility of journalists. The field of journalism has witnessed sea changes because of technological adoptions from time to time. All these raise the pros and cons of using Al tools in journalism. Augmenting reporting has become a major area of iournalism. Al in iournalism has brought numerous benefits. These tools have comparatively made easy for investigative journalists to save time and money. This has further strengthened the process and format of storytelling. Automation has facilitated reporting from local to international stories. Data journalism is transforming to the next level. Al robots are turning into news reporters. All these are becoming viable because of algorithms, databases and machine learning. There are fair chances for errors and biases to creep into the newsrooms. A small or a hyperlocal media organization which might not be equipped with minimum resources to adopt Al tools may see newspersons falling prey to the machines. Journalists need to be trained and transformed for the best utilization of technologies. The fear of machine replacing the human is still there. However, any technology including AI is not going to replace journalists; however, this new technology can be a friendly assistant or a buddy. With the advent of new technological tools, all from reporters to editors will be re-oriented to deliver more credible and value-added contents to their target audience. Moreover, the issue of digital divide in newsrooms is there across the globe. Newsrooms in western countries are better positioned than the rest of the world in exploiting the Al tools in storytelling. The emergence of innovation and adoption of newer technologies in any profession has become obligatory. The profession of journalism is no exception to it. The production, distribution and consumption of news will be considerably driven by Al tools in the days to come. Digital literacy is the need of the hour on the part of the journalists across the competitive globe.

Setting up 'bad banks' for the good

In India, Government-sponsored bad bank has never been tried, though there are several asset reconstruction companies functioning sub-optimally ndia's first-ever government-spon-sored "Bad Bank" is now closer to reality. Following the Finance Minister's announcement in the Union Budget earlier this year, a National Asset Reconstruction Company (NARCL) has been set up to acquire fully provisioned stressed assets worth about ₹2 lakh crore from various commercial banks in different phases, about a quarter of the total.

Another entity called India Debt Resolution Company Ltd (IDRCL) will then sell these stressed assets in the market to pay back to the banks. Public Sector Banks (PSBs) will have almost half the total shares of both (51 and 49 percent respectively), in which the private sector will also be stakeholders. The initial investment would be around ₹6,000

NARCL will buy the buy distressed assets at a discount from the banks by paying 15 percent cash; for the balance 85 percent, they will issue security receipts like debentures, bonds, etc., to the banks. Last month the government had cleared the proposal to provide ₹30,600 crore to the NARCL as a guarantee for the security receipts to be invoked in case the sale results in a loss to cover the same, but the guarantee will not be valid beyond five years to build in some incentive to accelerate the process of resolution; the guarantee fee to be paid by NARCL will also increase gradually. Since guarantees constitute contingent liability for the government, there would be no immediate fiscal impact or cash outgo for the Centre.

Inherited as a legacy from the past, partly as a fallout of the economic meltdown of 2008 and partly because of crony capitalism which forced many PSBs to give loans without proper assessment of profitability of the relevant project proposals due to which many of these projects either could not materialise or were unable to generate enough income to pay back the loans, the NPAs started mounting. Since 2016, when the RBI tightened the controls on banks and forced them to clean their balance sheets, the NPAs had to be written off or recognised in their balance sheets. This eroded their capital base making them unable to lend afresh, and their profitability was seriously affected.

To keep such banks — mostly PSBs — in business, the government had to recapitalise them from time to time with public finds. Things took a turn for the worse when since 2017 when the economy had started slowing, and the pandemic then delivered the death blow. As per S&P Global Ratings estimate, stressed assets of Indian banks including restructured loans will reach 11-12 percent in 2021-22, up from 8.7 percent at the end of the last fiscal, one of the highest in the world, comparable to Russia or Greece. By taking over the stressed assets and paying the banks which will provide them fresh capital, the bad bank will help the

of their bad loans.

This is a most welcome and a long overdue proposal to resolve the stressed asset problem of banks, private as well as public. The existing acts, viz., the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) 2016 and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Securitisation and Enforcement of Security Interest (SARFAESI) Act 2002, have proved inadequate for insolvency resolution and to address the problem of NPAs of banks. The SARFAESI Act which enables registration and regulation of Asset Reconstruction Companies (ARCs) by the RBI allows the banks to auction the residential and commercial properties of borrowers to recover outstanding dues. It applies where the borrowing entity is left with neither any revenue source nor an opportunity to resurrect the business, and where no substantial assets are also lying with the guarantors, while a resolution plan under the IBC is intended to put the debtor back on its feet, not simply for recovering the dues of its creditors. As the Supreme Court had said in a case, "the primary focus of the legislation (IBC) is to ensure revival and continuance of the corporate debtor by protecting the corporate debtor from its own management and from a corporate death by liq-

About 4,541 corporates have so far been admitted into the Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP), only 1,745 CIRPs have completed the process, either yielding resolution plans or ending up with liquidation. IBC, now five years old and which was suspended during the Covid crisis, is due for an overhaul, including prepack for the MSMEs which could later be extended to other companies, allowing a debt resolution mechanism outside the IBC. The existing processes need additional support from other mechanisms, and this is where the band bank fits in.

Bad bank is not a new idea they have been in existence since the 1980s, but the East Asian currency crisis and the 2008 subprime crisis made many countries to set up bad banks, including the US, Sweden, Finland, Belgium, Malaysia, South Korea, China or Indonesia, but in India the idea of government sponsored bad bank has never been tried earlier, though there are several private Asset Reconstruction Companies which are functioning sub-optimally.

This is another major institutional reform and the Government must be given the credit for it. Whether it will work or not, only time can tell. While it has met with success in many countries, in China they have been struggling, and the collapse of Evergrande is likely to worsen the situation further. In any case, ARCs cannot be a permanent mechanism, indeed it has a sunset clause allowing it to be wound up within five to eight

Banking reform has been one major focus area of the government which came up with a 4-R strategy - recognition, resolution, recapitalisation and reforms. After recognition, quantification of NPAs started in a planned manner and banks slowly started recovering their dues. In 2018, just two out of 21 public sector banks were profitable. But in 2021, only two banks (Punjab & Sind Bank and Central Bank) reported losses. As part of the reforms, the government has merged many smaller PSBs with larger ones, and now their total number is stands at 12.

There are several problems, apart from finding potential buyers from the stressed assets of banks. Valuation of the assets is one, which will determine the loss. In fact, there has been some criticism that the government is actually guaranteeing the losses of private enterprises and that the PSBs, being shareholders of both NARCL and IDRCL, will in effect be buying their own stressed assets. So far, the Indian experience has preferred resolution via IBC over the private ARCs, which have a low capital requirement of only ₹100 crore.

The regulatory environment for the ARCs which has remained practically static ever since they had emerged in the 2000s also needs an overhaul. Stressed assets will not disappear anytime soon, and we need to enable such institutions to help absorb the stressed assets. Economy cannot grow without an adequate supply of credit and creating a level playing field for all.

Gross NPAs of banks to rise to 8-9% this fiscal: Report

Gross non-performing assets (NPAs) of banks are expected to increase to 8-9 per cent in the current financial year, credit rating agency Crisil said in

This will be well below the peak of 11.2 per cent seen at the end of fiscal 2018.

According to the agency, the Covid-19 relief measures such as the restructuring dispensation, and the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) will help limit the rise in banks gross NPAs.

With around 2 per cent of bank credit expected under restructuring by the end of this fiscal, stressed assets?comprising gross NPAs and loan book under restructuring?should touch 10-11 per cent this fiscal, it said.

"The retail and MSME segments, which together form close to 40 per cent of bank credit, are expected to see higher accretion of NPAs and stressed assets this time around," the agency's senior director and deputy chief rat-ings officer Krishnan Sitaraman said in the report. Stressed assets in these two segments are seen rising to 4-5 per cent and 17-18 per cent, respectively, by this fiscal end, he said.

The agency said operationalisation of the National Reconstruction Company Ltd (NARCL) by the end of this fiscal and the expected first-round sale of Rs 90,000 crore NPAs could lead to lower reported gross NPAs.

The report expects the corporate segment to be far more resilient. A large part of the stress in the corporate portfo-lio had already been recognised during the asset quality review initiated five years ago.

"That, coupled with the secular deleveraging trend, has strengthened the balance sheets of corporates, and enabled them to tide over the pandemic relatively unscathed compared with retail and MSME borrowers," it said.

This is evident from restructuring of only around 1 per cent in the segment, the report

It expects corporate stressed assets to remain range-bound at 9-10 per cent this fiscal.

The rural segment, which was hit harder during the second wave of the pandemic, has also seen a strong recovery and, therefore, stressed assets in the agriculture segment are expected to remain relatively

The agency's director Subha Sri Narayanan said while the performance of the restructured portfolio will definitely need close monitoring, the slippages from the restructured book are expected to be lower this time.

These estimates are predicated on a base-case scenario of 9.5 per cent GDP growth this fiscal and continued improvement in corporate credit quality, the rating agency

A virulent third wave and significant deceleration in demand growth could pose significant downside risks to these estimates, it said.

Economy on brink, Taliban chase former technocrats

When the Taliban swept into they found Afghanistan's economy fast approaching the brink and were faced with harrowing predictions of growing poverty and hunger. So they ordered the financial managers of the collapsed former government back to work, with an urgent directive: Do your jobs, because we can't.

In the 20 years since the Taliban last ruled, Afghanistan evolved from an economy dealing mostly in illicit enterprise to a sophisticated, multi-billion-dollar system fueled by donor aid and international trade. The Taliban, a movement borne out of the rural clergy, struggled to grasp the extent of the transformation.

Four employees from financial institutions told The Associated Press how the Taliban commanded bureaucrats from the previous government's Finance Ministry, central bank and other stateowned banks to return to work. Their accounts were confirmed by three Taliban officials.

HOW DHRUV DEFINED TOGETHERNESS

THROUGH LITTLE THINGS

t's going to physically hurt to say good-bye as finally, the much-loved romantic series Little Things Season 4 on Netflix, comes to an end. The show has indeed ended however, it may not become this big a hit?

"No, we never thought it end for the couples who have found love and fame through it, they learnt how to battle hardships in a relationship from the very realistic web series based. 'Dhruv' and 'Kavya' will always live rent-free in our hearts! of that," he shares. Dhruv Sehgal is all

emotional, given that he like his own baby. It feels as if he's graduating from college. Teaching us simplicity in a relationship, the friendship it comes with, how to build the levels of comfort, and how one is better when together — Dhruv's Little Things Season 4 taught us so much. Did he ever think that it would eventually would grow to be this big. If we had started out saying, 'Yeh karenge, woh karenge', it would have felt very artificial. Thankfully, we didn't think about all Perfection is not every thing, acceptance and beyond this sham of perfection is another lesson Dhruv's character taught us. He continues, "It's about overcoming the hiccups, how they're now one unit. They have stopped questioning the idea of love. It shouldn't get to be a point where everyone is bored of it. Right now, it is all wholesome. So we're ending it on a high note."

Dhruv is currently working on two shows. Writing is where he connects with the characters, with the world, and with himself. It puts him in a good space, he tells us. The genre was not new and path-breaking, but the idea of it being life-like to see love through the lens of slice-of-life and not through dramatic events. To us, that was exciting and challenging. And it resonated with the audience," the 31-year-old actor adds.

Making the audiences experience love, warmth and tears, all at the same time — the actor and writer always wants to write his characters with empathy and honesty. The grammar of screenwriting has changed, but the basic essence is the same for him! We ask him how he coped with the pandemic, and he has an answer: "Both, the show and everyday little things like how I was dealing with pandemic anxiety. I was focused on the small wins, and that helped. Oh, also my cat. She was my favourite therapist. She took care of me!"

Little Things undoubtedly showed how one can be perfect even with the many flaws, how one can grow individually in a relationship, and that every problem can be solved with a cup of 'chai'! It was a show that was conversational, mature and, one that openly talked about relationships of the urban youth -'Momo' & 'Biryani Monster' will always stay in our hearts.

Skincare tips for new mothers and their babies hen you become a mother, you tend to forget about your own needs because you are so focused on your child. With the baby keeping you busy all day and night, your skincare takes a back-

It's not always changes in skin texture and looks post-pregnancy are a bad thing, but not taking care of your skin may lead to acne, melas-ma, stretch marks, puffy eyes, and even dark circles. Syed Nazim, Dermatologist, Aesthetic and Hair Transplant Surgeon, Royal Lush Skin Clinic Saket, New Delhi, shares simple and easy tips for you to follow, to get a glowing post-pregnancy. Cleansing: As you sleep, your skin goes through a renewal cycle, by dispensing toxins and debris. So you only need a light-textured cleanser to wash your face with a face wash that is suitable for your skin type. Steam: Take steam for 2-3 days a week, it will help you to open up your clogged

Scrub & face pack: Use a face scrub, to remove the dead skin cells, scrub your face for like 5 minutes and wash it with normal tap water. It will help you to make your skin softer and radiant leave the mask until it dries off.

Toner & moisturiser: Apply toner to your face, look for clarifying toners that rebalance your pH to maintain the pH value of your skin. In the end, you only have to mois-turize your face, to give hydration.

Steal baby products: Baby products are always mild in nature so that the baby's sensitive skin doesn't have to compromise. They are created to lock moisture in babies skin. So, you can also use them. Whether it's a body oil, lotion or cream, apply some on your skin every time you're applying them on your baby. If you do this, you can flaunt your skin, this way, vou don't have to dedicate a specific time every day for your skincare.

Keep all skincare needs in one place: Organise all your skincare products in one place, this organization will help you way much better than anything. Make use of your "me time" and devote it properly to pamper yourself. Streaming your routine: Make a proper timetable, for your week how many days you are going to deep cleanse your skin in a week.

If we talk about the baby skincare routine this is important too. As the baby's skin is too sensitive and they are interacting with such a harsh environment — pollution, high temperature etc. Don't worry there are some simple and easy enough tips. Here, what you should know, with regards to bath, diapering, selecting items and that's just the beginning. Bath time: Babies need two to three baths a week in warm, not hot water to stay clean. The initial step to an extraordinary child shower is to track down the ideal temperature. Tip: Fill the bath without any more than 2 to 3 creeps of water. To keep your child from getting cold while you wash them, routinely pour cupfuls of water over their shoulders.

Diaper basics: There are a lot of things you'll have to do for your little one when they're an infant, like changing your baby's diaper regularly, cleaning tenderly however completely each time with child wipes. Make the surface saturated yet dry simultaneously as well.

There are countless myths around diaper rashes that it is caused because of the usage of diapers. But no, it is due to a lack of attention and knowledge about the correct time to change the diaper. Else it will get worse for your

Awareness of products: Always read the product label before purchasing products for your infant. It's ideal to avoid chemical and alcoholbased products. Use products that are made explicitly for infants.

Newborn babies are so delicate, requiring a lot of care and attention. A single mistake or slip of mind can make things worse. Keep your infant's skin saturated, as well, so consistently have a stockpile of moisturisers around. But excessive oil cause cradle caps, and dryness can create painful scenarios. If your child is facing such issues you need to consult a certified dermatologist.

Aashram actor has positioned himself as a credible performer with his portrayal as Saju, a merciless and diabolical hostage-taker who mas-terminds a siege over a hospital. The common thread in the unanimous appreciation rained on Chandan was the way he dug into the villain's mental space. The actor sat in the makeup chair for over an hour as his look required elaborate makeup and prosthetics. He also trained for a month under the guidance of an American action director and learned rifle handling for the hostage drama. If the reviews are anything to go by, the actor's hard work has paid off.

Trade expert Amul

terror-evoking performance in Sanak speaks to his versatility. As an actor, he's as natural as they come. The film captures his finesse as an antagonist that had been unexplored until now." Another trade expert, Ramesh Bala said, "Chandan Roy Sanyal plays his ace as a bankable actor in Sanak. He holds his own and appears a merciless villain who makes the audience anxious about the next ghastly thing he's going to do. His presence and mannerisms are effortlessly convincing." Grateful to have been appreciated for the role, he says, "I'm honoured that so much appreciation has come by for Sanak. It feels great and rewarding to be reviewed positively by the best in the business. Raju Solanki's role allowed me to go to the dark side and I thank the producers for giving me the opportunity to explore my craft with such a large-hearted film." Chandan's upcoming projects include Ashram Season 2 and a few unannounced ventures.

Making seniors tech-savvy

The senior living industry is on the brink of a technological revolution, says Kanishka Acharya

n 2021, technology and adaptation have become intrinsic to having a higher quality of life. Senior citizens can now upload prescriptions, speak to doctors, and stay in touch with family and friends at the touch of a button. However, these small adaptations are only beginning to scratch the surface of what technology can do for senior living.

This may sound dramatic, but it's not an overstatement senior citizens as a whole community have been among the slowest to adopt new technology, and unlike other branches of the industry, senior living or eldercare as it is referred to in India has not historically been pushed by its customer base to adopt a better tech, largely due to the small user base and a largely fragmented service offered by players, most of them with simple band-aid solutions to existing pain points. That's a problem. Senior-care providers can only deliver on wellness to the extent that they're able to get a complete view of their clients to make decisions based on the whole person. But the tides are turning. As tech companies recognise the huge potential to transform the $740 billion senior-care market and tech-savvy boomers enter retirement in growing numbers. the stage is set for a total industry

The big hurdle most technologies that can make a difference to senior living face now is

unifyingtheir many siloed systems. While we are capturing data from multiple devices, these technologies aren't talking to each other — EHRs, for example, that don't take to a calendar system or medical records systems. More importantly where is all this data going? The need for a robust data analytics platform that is training an AI /ML engine to create patterns and detect anomalies is critical. IOT will play a big role in creating meaningful solutions to later life living — devices that can detect sleep patterns, resting and variable heart rates those affected with diabetes related partial or complete blindness, equipped with embedded triple layer chip designs with gyros and sensors, can change the quality of life dramatically.

Since the start of the pandemic, there has been a 20 per cent increase in falls for seniors living in unsupervised conditions. With social distancing > seniors are spending more time alone and unsupervised in their homes. This is especially problematic for seniors with neuro degener ative condi tions, who already falling twice as often as seniors without dementia.

As we look ahead to 2022, fall prevention will continue to be a top concern in senior living. More often than not, this is a sentinel event that changes the course of life. To help solve this challenge, an AI-enabled sensor and beacon system to detect falls of individuals with dementia is set up.

It will result in up to 40 per cent fewer falls and up to a 80 per cent reduction in fall-relat ed ER visits.

What is often lost in the in this maze of technology innovation is the need to develop and implement tech that makes an actual difference in daily living, whether it's improving the quality in performing activities of daily living (ADL's) or restoring the dignity to seniors in the active consistence of the dignity to seniors. in the entire caregiver-care receiver interaction. This is something that not much attention has been given to so far. A big issue with the prebaby boomer generation is the reluctance or inability to tech adoption. Trying to force adoption through wearable health devices, trackers, and so on, seldom achieve the desired outcomes. Technology will have to be seamlessly woven into their lives to make a credible difference; another important case can be seen in the instance of adult incontinence. This affects nearly 51 per cent of seniors aged 65 and older, and the only existing solution has been inva-sive surgeries or adult diapers to navigate daily living. If we could create a sensor-based patch that can record and communicate, in advance, that an individual's bladder or bowels are full, it would restore agency to both the individual and their caregiver. Hence, it is vital to develop non-intrusive tech that can dramatically improve the quality of life and restore dignity in later life living, monitor client health, and deliver better care.

Earlier, Berrington slammed three sixes along with six hits to the fence during his 49-ball stay to set the foundation for a big score but PNG put brakes in the last three overs, conceding only 19 runs and taking six wickets in the process.

Kabua Morea (4/31) and Chad Soper (3/24) were the most successful bowlers

India's chances, feels Kapil Dev

IANS NEW DELHI

egendary cricketer Kapil Dev Lhas opined that all-rounder Hardik Pandya not bowling will not impact Team India's chances at the ICC T20 World Cup. However, he added that it will affect the "combination and the options" for Virat Kohli.

Kapil's comments came after Hardik refrained from bowling in India's warm-up match against England, which the Men-in-Blue won on Monday. Kohli used five full-time bowling options and they conceded 188 runs. Hardik (12* off 10 balls) played as a specialist bats-

"An all-rounder always makes a massive difference to a team. Hardik not bowling will not impact India's chances, but it will make a difference in terms of Kohli's options. If an allrounder is available for both, it enhances the captain's ability to rotate bowlers and gives him the extra option to fall back on,"

Kapil Dev told Sportskeeda. "In Hardik's case, India should be okay given the talent in the team, but him bowling even two overs will obviously lend more flexibility," he added.

Indian women's football team faces Swedish too tier side in friendly match today

PTI ■ STOCKHOLM

With three recent interna-tional wins under its belt, a confident Indian women's football team will take on Swedish top tier league side Hammarby IF in a friendly match here on Wednesday.

This is the first of the two friendlies the Indian team will play in the Scandinavian country.

The team played four matches against UAE (4-1), Tunisia (0-1), Bahrain (5-0) and Chinese Taipei (1-0) as part of preparations for next year's women's AFC Asian Cup.

"It's a big challenge for us in Sweden, but the girls are motivated to give their best in every game," said goalkeeper Aditi Chauhan on the eve of the match.

"It's often about who wants more on the pitch, and our girls are certainly pumped up after the results that we have had recently," she added. The Indian team under Swedish coach Thomas Dennerby scored 10 goals in the four international friendly games while conceding only one to register three wins and "These games have been very helpful for the team. They helped us reflect on the team and individual performances. These matches helped us look at our strengths and weaknesses," another player Dalima Chhibber said.

"As a team, we are focused on building up to the AFC Women's Asian Cup next year, and competitive matches like these help us plan for the areas where we need to improve." Chhibber said that the team is working hard to adapt to the philosophy that coach Dennerby is trying to inculcate in the team.

"We are working with a $new\ coaching\ philosophy\ both$ on and off the field. The preparations for the flagship tournament is going on in full swing," she said

Nagpur and then off to Hyderabad. From Hyderabad, he will be reaching Bengaluru before the final stretch which consists of three cities -Madurai, Ramanathapuram and Rameswaram covering around 4,100 kms.

Mayure is expected to cover this distance in the next two months. "I think age is just a number. It is very easy to give excuses to avoid difficult tasks. Cycling has been my passion right from childhood. It kept me healthy and busy at this age too," said Mayure, who had some years back retired as Nayab Tahsildar of revenue department at DM's office.

Asked how he manages his accommodation as there is a fair amount of expense associated with this kind of a journey across India. "I have never taken money and mostly managed on my own. I have spent lot of nights at Gurdwaras and ate the langar food and at times stayed in Mandirs where I have survived on prasad. Some places where I have no option, I stay at budget hotels to cut costs. But this is my passion and I can't ask for money from anyone," said Mayure, who hails from a small town Buldana, which is 50 kms from Ajanta, Ellora Caves.

Mayure, who won several cycling races in his younger days and earned the reward of 'Ghatacha Raja' (King of Ghats), was 50 years old when he had cycled across 17 countries to encourage Indian Olympians during the Athens edition.

So how does he manage costs and Mayure revealed a story of passion. "My wife is a retired SBI officer, my son is also working in a bank and my daughterin-law is a teacher. I can't tell how much my wife encourages me. I save my pension money and then use it for these trips.

Aim is to qualify for 2023 Asian Cup: Coach

PTI NEW DELHI

India winning the SAFF ▲Championships for an eighth time is not a "special success" as the country is dominant in the South Asian region and the bigger aim is to do well in the 2023 Asian Cup qualification, national football team head coach Igor Stimac said on Wednesday. India won the regional tournament after beating Nepal 3-0 in the final in Male on Saturday to hand Stimac his first trophy as in-charge of the team.

"I don't consider it (the SAFF title) as a special success because it is normal that India wins when it goes to SAFF but it demonstrates that we are very dominant in this competition and we can progress in our game a lot more," Stimac said at a virtual interaction. He, however, admitted that his team was under a lot of "result pressure" after drawing Bangladesh (1-1) and Sri Lanka (0-0) in the first two round-robin league matches. The results had put and in the end we won the trophy which was really important." Stimac was speaking from Bengaluru after his return from Maldives and he is leaving for Dubai Tuesday night with India in danger of going out of reckoning for the final. The film will have its theatrical release in 2022.

On the other side, Prabhas is waiting for the release of his upcoming romantic film Radhe Shyam which has Pooja Hegde as the leading lady.

been creating all the hype for the past week. Thanks to the Mega family coming all out in support of the actress-dancer and the film. The film, directed by Revanth Korukonda and produced under the banner of Nishrinkala Film, will hit the big screens on October 22.

The director, ahead of the film's release, chats about the film, the making of Natyam, and more. Revanth, who belongs to Anakapalle of Vishakapatnam in Andhra Pradesh, studied in America.

His love for movies and writing brought him back to his motherland, and focus on what he loves the most — writing. He shares, "I like writing stories. I like movies like Vithalacharya very much. There are many stories with a mythological background. I wanted to talk about such things in my own way, and so I made Natyam.

Dance is a form of art that can tell beautiful stories and I wanted to make a good Telugu movie based on this art form."

The director-writer said he read a lot of books before writing the story for this film that is based completely on classical dance. 'When I wanted to make a film on dance, one person that came to my mind was K Vishwanath garu (director, screen-writer, and actor known for his works films like Aadavari Matalaku Arthale Verule) I read a book called Natyasastram. In it, the Brahma thinks a man will listen to things only if conveyed in the form of stories. So he chooses dance as his medium to tell stories.

That is why dance is called acting. So I wrote this story about dance, a village, riots in a village, and more," says Revanth.

The story of the film goes like... 'A teacher wants to change the superstitions in the village through dance. He tells that story to a young girl who is learning dance, but he stops when it is the story midway. Since the circles the story midway Since the circles are sharing the story midway. Since the girl connected strongly to the story, she wanted to know the entire story. Will she ever fully learn the entire story? Will the people in the town change?' Natyam unfolds all of these events in its story.

Revanth has also been a cameraman, editor, and director for this film. When asked how he managed to don three roles at once, he shares, "I come from a short films' background. We have to do everything ourselves there. That's where I earned to multitask. I also learned how to use light and gained some technical and creative knowledge. I believe the film came out well with these combined efforts."

But how did Sandhya Raju came on board this film? He answers, "Sandhya is the main pillar of the film. I narrated this story to many people. Everyone loved it, but everyone felt that only a professional dancer could do justice to my story. I have worked with Sandhya Raju for a short film earlier. I told Sandhya that I was keen on doing my first film on classical dance. When I narrated the story to her, she liked my confidence in the story, that's how she joined us. She is also one of the rea-sons why this film came out so well. She was very supportive, not only as a producer but also as a technician."

Natyam is also filled with some commercial drama elements and contains all emotions, cinematic elements, he says.

Revanth is elated that people like Ram Charan and Chiranjeevi have been supporting this film. "My dream is to make films that evoke Teluguness and express Indian culture. I will make a similar film soon," Revanth
