Most wanted ultra held in Punjab

In most cases, the government is on a mission to control the ultra elements who are causing trouble in the region. The Punjab Police has recently arrested one of the most wanted ultra elements in the state, who was known for his involvement in various criminal activities.

The arrested individual is an active member of the ULFA and was involved in multiple incidents of violence. The police had been monitoring his activities for a long time and finally managed to catch him red-handed.

The arrested individual was actively involved in the 2012 anti-India movement and had been involved in various terrorist activities. He was also involved in the 2016 attack on the Indian army camp in Jammu and Kashmir.

The police had been tracking his movements and finally managed to catch him in the act. The individual was arrested while he was attempting to commit another terrorist act.

The police are now investigating the case and have recovered several weapons and explosives from the arrested individual. The police have also recovered several incriminating evidence against him.

The arrested individual will be presented in court on Monday to seek his bail. The police are confident that they will get a clean chit from the court and will continue their investigation to ensure that justice is served.

In conclusion, the Punjab Police has successfully been able to apprehend one of the most wanted ULFA elements in the state. The police are now focusing on other ULFA elements who are causing trouble in the region. The police are confident that they will be able to arrest them soon and ensure peace and stability in the region.

Political vendetta: Congress on Yes Bank co-founder’s MF Husan painting charge

The Congress on Sunday charged that the NIA may be targeting the aluminium businessman Dilip Mehta in the case against the co-founder of Yes Bank, Rana Kapoor, who was arrested on Saturday.

The opposition party accused the government of harassing the business tycoon and his family.

Due to the ongoing Delhi Police investigations in the case, the NIA has been conducting raids and searches at various locations across the country.

The Congress also alleged that the government is trying to create a perception of scapegoating Kapoor.

The party further claimed that the government is trying to divert attention from its failures and indulge in dirty politics.

The NIA has been conducting searches at various locations in connection with the case, which is related to the alleged money laundering and fraud involving Yes Bank.

The party also alleged that the NIA is acting as an auxiliary arm of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

The Congress also said that the money laundering case against Kapoor is a “political vendetta” to prevent him from contesting the upcoming Lok Sabha elections.

In its statement, the Congress accused the government of targeting Kapoor to divert attention from its failures and indulge in dirty politics.

The city court will hear the bail application filed by the Ronac couple on April 20 and grant or reject the bail申请. The Ronac couple has been booked under various sections of the Indian Penal Code, including sections related to non-bailable offences. The prosecution has alleged that the couple had been involved in different groups on the basis of ethnic, religious, political, or social differences, leading to incidents of violence, intimidation, and property damage.

On Saturday, a high-level meeting was held in Mumbai to discuss the situation following the Ronac couple\'s arrest. The meeting was attended by representatives from various government departments. The following points were discussed:

1. The need for better coordination between different agencies to ensure a swift and effective response to incidents of violence.
2. The importance of providing adequate protection to witnesses and victims.
3. The need for a robust mechanism to address hate speech and incitement to violence.

The meeting concluded with a decision to review the existing policies and procedures to improve response mechanisms and ensure effective implementation of laws.

FURTHER ARMED FORCES

A day after their arrest, Alok Kumar Mandal, a resident of Belthangady taluk in south Kannada district of Karnataka, was booked under sections 139 of the Indian Penal Code and 64, 65, 66, 67 of the Information Technology Act. Mandal is alleged to have made false claims about his military service and awarded presidential medals.

The police said that Mandal had claimed to have been awarded the President\'s Medal of Merit in 1999 and the President\'s Medal of Service in 2004, while in fact, he was not awarded any such medals. Mandal was also alleged to have falsely claimed to have been deployed in Iraq, Afghanistan, and Somalia.

Mandal is currently in judicial custody and is expected to be produced in court on Monday. The police have asked for a special hearing in the case to enable them to present additional evidence.

Bengal BJP chief takes a swipe at predecessor\'s 'new leader remark'

PITI MALHAR

After BJP national vice president Dilip Ghosh said it was becoming fashionable in Bengal to become a leader for the sake of being a leader, West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee expressed her disapproval. Banerjee said that the comment was an attempt to divide the state and create a sense of fear among the people.

The comment comes in the backdrop of the recent elections in which the state was declared a victory for the Trinamool Congress. The CM maintained that her party had won the elections solely because of their commitment to development and service-oriented governance.

CBI arrests 3 more people in Hashkhal gang rape

PITI MAHESHWARI

The CBI on Monday arrested three more people in connection with the gang rape of a 4-year-old girl in Ghaziabad. The girl, who was gang raped by a group of 14 boys, had filed a complaint against the accused.

The three accused were identified as Raveendranath, Rakesh, and Rohit, all residents of the village. They were arrested after a four-month long investigation by the CBI.

The probe is being conducted as part of an ongoing investigation into the gang rape case. So far, more than 150 suspects have been identified and questioned in the case.

Active case count hits zero, Covid turns Coronavirus free

M NAGARJUN

India has reported zero active cases of COVID-19 for the first time since the outbreak of the pandemic. The country has successfully brought down the number of active cases to zero after months of efforts to contain the spread of the virus.

The last reported active case was a 32-year-old resident of Maharashtra who had recovered from COVID-19. The state government said that all the remaining cases had been discharged from hospitals.

The achievement is a testament to the ongoing efforts of the country\'s healthcare workers and the public at large. The government has been adhering to strict lockdown measures and enforcing social distancing guidelines to ensure the safety and well-being of the population.

It will be in India's long-term interest to make an effort to ameliorate the suffering of the common Russian people.
It seems as if the Russian state was maximizing its leverage in the region to fill talk-show time, or maybe it was just idle speculation regarding Quad and BRICS. The situation in Ukraine is now on the international agenda, but the discussions are focused on the conventional aspects of the conflict. However, the situation is highly complex and multifaceted, requiring a strong support from various countries to achieve a peaceful resolution.

Politicisation of China’s Development Initiatives

The Chinese government has been actively promoting its Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) as a means to foster economic development and enhance its geostrategic outreach. The BRI has been controversial due to concerns over debt sustainability and the potential for economic dependence.

Expulsion of UN Diplomats

The expulsion of UN diplomats in Russia is a significant development. It is unclear what the motive behind this decision was, but it could be a sign of increasing tensions between the two countries. The United Nations has been working to mediate the conflict in Ukraine, but the situation is becoming increasingly complex.

The Current Indian Foreign Policy: A Blend of Multilateralism and Soft Power

India has maintained its strategic autonomy on critical issues and increased its leverage vis-a-vis the essential economic powers. The country has been focusing on its soft power and strategic autonomy. The Indian government has been actively promoting its cultural and economic ties with various countries, including Russia, China, and the United States. Ruthless Russian steel bomb in Mariupol

AP KYIV

The Russian military said on Saturday it destroyed a steel plant in Mariupol, as it continued to pummel the port city in eastern Ukraine, where Ukraine's forces were holding out against Russian invaders.

The Ukrainian military said in a statement that the Russian attack on the steel plant in the city of Mariupol had been thwarted by Ukrainian troops.

The plant was hit on Friday, killing two people and causing damage, said the Ukrainian military.

The Russian military said it had targeted the plant because it was producing steel that could be used for weapons.

The Ukrainian military said it had been able to repel the attack.

French voters are debating whether to keep President Emmanuel Macron as their leader for the 2022 vote. The country remains deeply divided over the future, as is evidenced by the recent protests against the government’s environmental policies. It is a tough decision for many, as the country’s leaders are facing a range of challenges, from economic uncertainty to international instability.

The result of the voting in France is expected to have reverberations in China, as the world’s two largest economies are closely tied. In China, President Xi Jinping and his government are facing mounting pressure to address a range of domestic challenges, from economic slowdown to social unrest. As a result, the outcome of the French presidential election is likely to have a significant impact on the global political landscape.

Markets may face volatility amid derivatives expiry, global trends, earnings drivers: Analysis

India's oil import bill has doubled to Rs 1.2 trillion in the financial year ending March 2022 from Rs 618 billion in the previous year, according to data from the Union Finance Ministry.

The oil import bill, which includes oil and gas and petroleum products, has seen a steady rise over the years, mainly due to higher global oil prices and increased demand for energy. The bill has more than doubled in the past decade, from Rs 500 billion in FY12 to Rs 1.2 trillion in FY22.

This has implications for the country's balance of payments, as oil imports account for a significant portion of the country's imports. The increase in the oil import bill has also put pressure on the rupee, which has depreciated significantly against the US dollar in recent years.

The increase in the oil import bill also highlights the need for the country to diversify its energy sources and enhance its energy efficiency. India has been focusing on increasing its domestic production of oil and gas and is also exploring options like liquefied natural gas (LNG) and renewable energy sources.

Despite the rise in oil imports, India's oil imports as a percentage of the country's total imports have been declining. This is due to the country's efforts to diversify its energy sources and enhance its energy efficiency.

In conclusion, the increase in the oil import bill in FY22 underscores the need for India to diversify its energy sources and enhance its energy efficiency to reduce its reliance on oil imports and mitigate the risks associated with high oil prices.
Bayern Munich beat Dortmund 3-1 to win 10th straight Bundesliga title

Leverkusen and M'gladbach are next up for Bayern in their last two league games, before the international break.

In the early minutes of the second half, Jadon Sancho's clearance was turned home by Joshua Kimmich to put Bayern ahead.

Then, in the 28th minute, Robert Lewandowski doubled the advantage for Bayern with a clinical finish from a cross by Alphonso Davies.

However, despite being two goals down, Dortmund continued to press, and in the 67th minute, Marco Reus brought the score down to 2-1 with a well-taken header.

In the final minutes, Bayern held onto their lead, securing their 10th straight Bundesliga title, cementing their dominance in German football.

Bayern Munich beat Dortmund 3-1 to win 10th straight Bundesliga title

By Ben FITCH

Bayern Munich maintained their title-winning momentum as they beat Borussia Dortmund 3-1 in a thrilling Bundesliga clash at the Allianz Arena.

The Bavarian giants, who are aiming for a 10th consecutive Bundesliga title, began the match in confident fashion, with Robert Lewandowski scoring from the penalty spot in the 12th minute after Eric Maxim Choupo-Moting was fouled in the area.

However, Dortmund, who are in the thick of the title race, fought back and levelled the score through Giovanni Reyna's powerful header in the 28th minute.

But Bayern, who have scored over 100 goals this season, regained the lead just before half-time through an exquisite volley from Thomas Müller.

In the second half, Bayern continued to dominate, with Lewandowski scoring his second goal of the game to put his side 3-1 ahead.

Despite a few late Dortmund chances, the result sealed a 3-1 win for Bayern, maintaining their perfect start to the season and taking them 11 points clear at the top of the table.

PSG seal record-equalling 10th Ligue 1 title

Paris Saint-Germain clinched their 10th Ligue 1 title with a 2-0 win over Toulouse on Sunday, securing their dominance in French football.

The Parisians, who had already secured the title last weekend, confirmed their status as the dominant force in French football with a solid performance against Toulouse.

In the 16th minute, Kylian Mbappé scored his 50th goal of the season, becoming the first player to reach 50 goals in a single season since Zinedine Zidane in 2001.

In the 72nd minute, Mauro Icardi scored his 23rd goal of the season, equalling Zlatan Ibrahimovic's record for most goals scored in a single season by a French league goalscorer.

The win cemented Paris Saint-Germain's place as the most successful club in French football history, with 10 Ligue 1 titles to their name.

Pulisic helps Chelsea win at the death

Christian Pulisic's late winner helped Chelsea beat Burnley 2-1 at Stamford Bridge on Saturday, as the Blues secured their place in the top four of the Premier League.

In the 87th minute, Pulisic latched onto Cesar Azpilicueta's cross and turned the ball home, giving the Blues a crucial three points.

The victory secured Chelsea's place in the top four, putting them level on points with Manchester United and just one behind Liverpool.

Ten Hag has 'no opinion' on Man Utd's slump

Erik Ten Hag said on Tuesday there could be 'no opinion' on Manchester United's recent form, as the Red Devils look to get back to winning ways under the Dutch manager.

However, Ten Hag did admit that the team is not in good form at the moment and that improvements are needed to get back to their best.
