Pakistan apex court adjourns hearing by a day on rejection of no-confidence vote.

PTI / @dailypioneer

President pháted former finance minister Ishaq Dar was on Monday summoned to the apex court over the rejections of his plea for the adjournment of the vote on the no-confidence motion in the National Assembly, which was rejected by a majority vote.

The summons came after the court rejected Dar’s plea for a one-day adjournment of the vote on the no-confidence motion, which was scheduled to take place on Monday.

The apex court’s decision was taken on a petition filed by Dar, who sought an adjournment of the vote on the no-confidence motion.

The court had earlier rejected Dar’s plea for the adjournment of the vote, which was held on March 2.

Lankan Opp rejects Previote to join Govt

The Opposition in Sri Lanka has rejected the proposal of opposition leader Ranil Wickremesinghe to appoint a caretaker prime minister.

Wickremesinghe had earlier proposed the appointment of a caretaker prime minister, following the resignation of Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa, to ensure a smooth transition of power.

The proposal was rejected by the Opposition, who said that it would not accept a caretaker prime minister until a new government is formed through democratic means.

The Opposition also said that it would not support any move that would undermine the democratic process.

Haryana Congress opposes resolution on Chandigarh, dubs it ‘political gimmick’

We have seen and discussed the resolution passed in the Punjab Assembly on Chandigarh, which we strongly condemn. The resolution is nothing but a political gimmick to satisfy the demands of the Haryana Congress. We have been demanding a complete devolution of powers to the Union Government to the people’s doorsteps. The resolution passed by the Punjab Assembly will not address the concerns of the people of Chandigarh. We will continue to fight for the people of Chandigarh to ensure their rights and demands are met.

Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann has announced the setting up of a task force to address the problems faced by the general public. The Chief Minister has also directed the officers to work with missionary zeal. We will continue to work towards the betterment of the people of Chandigarh.

How pragmatic can it all get?

A common test for admission into Central Universities might just now seem appealing, but it could heavily impact learning in the long run

The pivot?

Pawar has given the Congress a leg up by underlining its importance in Oppan space he Shirdi-Pawar emerged as the pivot of a national A-B front for the 2024 general elections. He did not hit it but his assertion that a national alternative to the BJP is impossible without the Congress certainly raises his political stature. By affording the continued relevance of the Congress to the Opposition space, there is an emerging ‘grand-old-party’ brand in the country. It is as if he gave the Congress the reprieve from fellow A-B parties that it was desperately needed. In Kashmir, the once clean air of politics in that region has been clouded by various issues that may influence the future course of action of the anti-BJP constituencies.

For one, he echoed the need in bringing the chairmanship of the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) under Sonia Gandhi’s control. The UPA is a political goliath. He is ready to “cooperate, support and strengthen” any attempt to provide an alternative to the A-B front, excluding the Congress. TheBJP has been spearheading this movement. Over the past two years, it has been dominant in strong regional, upcountry states, the Congress is the only party that “has a pan-India presence” and it has a “wide base” and it can be said to be a practical decision.

If the regional satraps consider his advice “then something will happen,” he referred to the idea of forming a front against the BJP. The Congress has been an important player in the states. The Congress and the UPA has been in power for two terms. The former has been spearheading this movement. Two years ago, when the BJP took office in many states, the Congress had a strong presence in many states, and in the Congress, the party is the only party that “has a pan-India presence.” It has a “wide base” and it can be said to be a practical decision.

Maratha sars’ statement comes a week after Union Minister Nitin Gadkari had the Congress emerge as a stronger opposition because that would help democracy. Gadkari had also pointed out that regional parties trying to take the place of a weakened Congress was not good for democracy. Reams will be written about the hidden meanings in the comment and the reaction of the two leaders. The Congress’ role in the latest Assembly elections stretched the regional forces. With both sides sticking to their stand, there is going to be an issue for a face-saving argument for the regional forces while trying to take the place of the party. Pawar did not give a tip to the Congress and it is up to Sonia Gandhi to return the favour of his active support. It was a strong statement and could have an impact. The Congress may certainly use this to the party to strike a chord with the internal dissidents and ready itself for its big decision: Who would be the next elected president?

It is not to demean any of our neighbouring countries, which are all sovereign States with supposedly responsible Governments to take care of their domestic issues or strife. It is just meant to highlight the dichotomy between the state of affairs in our own country and that of the ones surrounding us on all sides, especially in the light of an airy voice that claim that the quality of life and governance in India has been steadily declining with time. Now, there are problems that a ruling dispensation should not change and strategy for, and whom there are some which are unpredictable, swift and calamitous. The Coronavirus pandemic would be an appropriate example of the latter, which left the entire world reeling under its impact with recent regard to the advancement of health infrastructure, economy or geographical placement. On the other hand, the claim that is being witnessed in the countries adjacency India is the result of its own respective policy misjudgments or a possible government. Take the example of Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Afghanistan or even bigger, stable superpowers such as China and Russia.

Of course, India is a country that is not a stranger to its own strife and ills. It is in this context that the example of Chandigarh, Bhakra and other nearby towns that are situated on the border of Pakistan, can be seen as a case study. The city of Chandigarh, which is a special category, is a city that was planned by the architect Le Corbusier. The city is known for its modern architecture and planning. However, the city has been plagued by various socio-economic issues. The city is known for its high unemployment rate and poverty. The government has been working on various initiatives to improve the situation. Chandigarh is a city that is known for its high unemployment rate and poverty. The return of Indian students back to the war-torn nation is highly unlikely

FIRSTCOLUMN: INDIAN RETURNEES FACE AN UNCERTAIN FUTURE

M ANY factors contribute to Indian students landing in Ukraine for higher studies particularly in medicine and other professions that are considered lucrative. This includes the recognition of degrees, ease of admission, and high-quality education. However, the recent conflict has led to a drastic chain of events, forcing students to return to India.

The Indian government has taken several measures to facilitate the repatriation of Indian students from Ukraine, including the launch of special flights and assistance with accommodation and travel arrangements. Despite these efforts, the process of repatriation has not been smooth for all students. Some students have faced difficulties in obtaining travel documents, while others have encountered delays in the provision of travel assistance.

One student who has been repatriated is Dr. Aakar, a medical student from India, who was studying in Ukraine. He shared his experience with us. “I came back to India because of the ongoing war,” he said. “It was a tough decision, but it was necessary.”

dr._aakar (the writer) is a student who returned from Ukraine. The view expressed is personal.

Savings are mandatory, but not sufficient to prop up the Ukrainian economy

The crisis in the war-making for a decade and a half has created a massive economic shock for Ukraine, which has been exacerbated by the ongoing conflict. The war has caused a severe disruption in the economy, leading to a significant fall in GDP, high inflation, and a decline in foreign investment. The country has been struggling to meet its basic needs, including food and fuel, with prices soaring due to the conflict.

The government is reportedly calling in the tax-collecting to boost revenue, but it is unlikely to be successful. The country is facing a severe fiscal crisis, with the government heavily indebted and unable to meet its basic needs. The government is also facing pressure from international lenders, who are demanding reforms in order to receive further aid.

The economy is in a state of collapse, with the fall in production and consumption leading to a significant decrease in tax revenue. The government is reported to be considering further tax measures, but these are unlikely to be effective in the current economic environment.

Conclusion

The war in Ukraine is a complex and multifaceted crisis that requires a comprehensive solution. The Ukrainian government needs to take immediate action to stabilize the economy, including the implementation of necessary fiscal and monetary policies. International support is crucial to help the country recover and ensure a sustainable future. The ongoing conflict must be resolved through peaceful negotiations, and all parties involved must work toward a peaceful resolution.
Drug shortage persists in Russia after start of war

UK: Russia refocusing on Donbas region

A second round of negotiations between Russia and Ukraine in Turkey has brought little progress towards a ceasefire, but a new peace agreement may be possible in the near future. The talks could lead to a “roadmap” for talks and the possibility of a truce in the Donbas region.

UK: Ukraine peace deals: Rounds of parliaments fail to reach a resolution

On Monday, the Ukrainian parliament failed to agree on a peace deal with Russia. The current parliamentary session has failed to reach a consensus on the issue of a ceasefire and the lifting of sanctions.

Rare cancer surgery gives new life to one of the rarely pregnant women

She was diagnosed with a large vaginal papillary sarcoma, a rare cancer that has a low survival rate. Both surgery and chemotherapy were tried, but they were unsuccessful.

How did you come to know about Dr Mangla?

I approached Dr Mangla when I was not responding to the usual treatments. She was a different doctor, and her approach was different.

What are the challenges you faced during the surgery?

One of the challenges was the size of the tumor, which was large and difficult to remove. Additionally, the location of the tumor made it difficult to access.

What is the current status of your health?

I am doing well after the surgery, and I am grateful to Dr Mangla for saving my life. She is a true miracle worker.

What advice would you give to others who are facing similar challenges?

I would advise them to seek the best possible medical care and to be persistent in their search for treatment. Dr Mangla is a true angel, and she saved my life.

Pedri masterclass sees off Sevilla

AF P - BARCELONA

A wonder goal from Pedri proved enough for Barcelona on Sunday as a 1-0 win over Sevilla saw Xavi Hernandez's side hold off League for the first time this season.

Barca's record-breaking strike against a dogged Sevilla was the 19-year-old's 10th goal of the season.

A 12-point advantage means realistically impossible now but Barcelona are in the driving seat in La Liga, which would be a remarkable achievement for a team that only a few months ago had hit the top four. When Xavi took over in November, three matches before the start of last season.

Ousmane Dembele added another goal, delivering another breathtaking display, and Barcelona are in danger of enduring a second season without winning the trophy.

The last time the Catalans won the title last season after a complete round of fixtures, was May 29 last year, with three matches before the start of last season.

Gerard Moreno failed to score for Sevilla but restored the two-goal cushion just before the end of the match after Wissam Ben Yedder, as Atletico Madrid are in the same match for PSG, which will be their first game before the international break.

The Champions League quarters also featured another remarkable achievement for a team that has lost its title.
