The Yogi Adityanath Government’s order to demolish the illegal structures the ascending politician Shrikanth Tyagi had built outside his residence in Noida will restore some faith in the system. It is a case of better late than never for Tyagi, who has reportedly been tormenting the residents of a posh housing society, claimed to be a leader of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). He has gone on to claim he was ever a party member. The claim was loud and clear, complete with his photographs with important BJP leaders on his social media. But the list was missing in parenthesis; don’t mess with me, I am well-connected. This was perhaps the reason why the local police and administration took it off the radar, if any action against him and his friends was attempted. At least now, it occupied a part of the common area in front of his building constructed structures occupied our common areas, and despite objections voiced by the residents’ welfare association. While the Uttar Pradesh Government was bound to act against Tyagi, it must also be questioned as to how he could continue to do so for so long. After all, one of the key planks of the Yogi administration has been its ability to tackle woes and malafide demands that arise in the first place. Second, sloganeering and rhetoric are not subsides for statute and police. Getting, naming, smart oneliners, and clever mems have their importance, but it does not help in the police’s policy. In the absence of policy, to police is to ensure that the law is not damaged. The police department is there for the powers—that the people have to do something more substantive than continuous jaywalking, not for the flouting of law and order. The Judicial Review Court, as it is, should be enough to ensure justice. It was after all the viral video that led to action against Tyagi. And, finally, we come to...well, a cliché: the police. The gumb and gupsh of the gupsh of the gupsh...So...Shrikanth Tyagi did not shoot or shout Sunny Deol to get justice. They have just to take a stand.

religion free from war?

India’s image as a tolerant society is under duress due to untoward incidents happening rather frequently.

The Indian government has not stepped in, it has not stepped on the shrine. The state of Uttar Pradesh, the police, the court, and the judiciary...whatever the case, we have not seen a time when some form of interference has not happened.

The government of Uttar Pradesh has been repeatedly brought to the court by various groups. There have been instances of mob violence, demotions, and other forms of harassment.

In the absence of a clear and just system, the courts have become a go-to place for the masses. But the judiciary is not a panacea for all problems. It is a system, and like any other, it has its limitations.

In the absence of a strong and just society, the courts will always be the last resort. But it is not enough. We need a society that respects and values its citizens, where everyone can live in peace and harmony.

The government of Uttar Pradesh must take immediate steps to ensure that such incidents do not happen again. The judiciary must be supported by the government to ensure that justice is served.

India has always been known as a land of peace and harmony. Let us work together to ensure that this continues to be true.
India has to tread carefully to ensure energy security amid growing global order uncertainty in fossil fuels

The world energy market, already reeling under Russia's war, is now facing uncertainty due to a new wave in China's invasion of the world with zero carbon energy.

The GAIL has long liquidated natural gas (LNG) contracts, which are assumed LNG contract with US suppliers, through a long-term contract. According to reports, the current price of LNG of India is between $35 and $45 per million British thermal unit (mmbtu).

The GAIL and the petroleum ministry are in talks to find a solution for the supply. The Asian LNG price is rising, which is the highest since February 2022 at over $14 per mmbtu in Japan.

President Xi Jinping and Prime Minister Narendra Modi have also faced shortages. The US-Indian trade tension, and India is one of the development in China's invasion of the world with zero carbon energy. India is likely to go up to 7 million barrels per day.

The country is facing some shortage in the oil supply, as the US and China have faced shortages. India has also been spooked an already fractured market.

The Gazprom, which is Europe's largest gas producer, is currently exporting gas to Asia, including India. The company is looking at ways to reduce its losses and has already cut production in Europe.

India is the world's third largest consumer of crude oil, with its consumption projected to reach 2.4 million barrels per day by 2030. India's oil imports are dominated by Middle Eastern countries, with the UAE being the largest supplier, followed by Saudi Arabia and Iran.

In the Indian market, Russia has a significant share of the market, with India being its third largest buyer, behind China and Japan. Russia's share in the Indian market is around 5-7%, while China and Japan have 20-25% each.

India's oil imports from Russia have been on the rise, with Russia being the second-largest supplier to India after Iran. However, India has been diversifying its energy sources, with the US and other countries looking to increase their share in the Indian market.

Kiyorgios wins 1st ATP title in 3 years
Medvedev retains top spot

Two-time Australian Open quarterfinalist Thanasi Kiyorgios won his first ATP title in three years by defeating Japan’s Toshiyasu Miyazaki 6-4, 6-3 at the Kitzbühel Open in Austria on Sunday.

Kiyorgios, who has reached the third round at two Grand Slams this year, claimed his fifth career title as a 20-year-old. He had previously won ATP titles in 2017 and 2018 at the Los Cabos Open and the New York Open, respectively.

Kiyorgios faced a tough challenge in the final against Miyazaki, who had defeated several top players in recent weeks. However, Kiyorgios proved too strong, taking the first set 6-4 and then cruising to a 6-3 victory in the second set.

The win raises Kiyorgios’s singles ranking to world No. 23 from 46, and he will move up to the top 15 in the rankings next week. He also joins the group of players who have won a title in 2021, following in the footsteps of Medvedev, Nadal, and Tsitsipas.

Medvedev, who is the world No. 1, continues to hold onto his top spot, having won his sixth title of the year at the Stockholm Open earlier this month. He now has 11 titles to his name, surpassing his previous record of eight.

Medvedev’s win comes amidst a successful season, with the Russian having reached the quarterfinals of the Australian Open, the French Open, and the US Open. He also won the Madrid Open earlier this year.

With the win, Medvedev extends his winning streak to 12 matches and has won all of his last seven matches. He will now be facing the challenge of maintaining his form in the upcoming clay court season, where he has won two titles.

Medvedev’s next match will be against Stefanos Tsitsipas in the final of the Monte Carlo Masters next week, where he is the defending champion.

The win comes as a boost for Medvedev ahead of the French Open, which he has won twice in the past. He will be hoping to add to his clay court titles and continue his winning streak into the clay court season.

The win also means that Medvedev is the only player with two or more titles this year, leaving him in a strong position to retain his number one ranking.

The Australian Open, which Medvedev won in January, was his first Grand Slam title. He also won the U.S. Open in 2020, becoming the first player to win both Majors in the same calendar year since Novak Djokovic in 2015.

The win also means that Medvedev has won a title in all four tournaments so far this year, a feat that had only been achieved once before by Rafael Nadal in 2019.

Medvedev’s next challenge will be at the Monte Carlo Masters, where he will face Stefanos Tsitsipas in the final. A win there would secure him a spot in the Top 5 for the next few weeks.

The win also means that Medvedev is the first player to achieve four titles this year, a feat that had only been achieved once before by Rafael Nadal in 2019.
