Local commanders of both armies hold flag meetings to defuse situation

Tension flared up at a border face-off between Indian and Chinese troops in eastern Ladakh on Monday, leading to an exchange of verbal and physical cautions by both sides over the death of an Indian soldier. The incident took place on December 9 in Tangtse-Vanthang area in Ladakh and both sides were involved in an argument over the body of the Indian soldier, whose family was informed about the death on December 11.

According to sources, the “face-off” broke out between the Indian and Chinese troops on December 9, when Chinese military personnel came closer to the Indian border, aggressively moving down the Markha Valley. The border clash took place on December 11, when both sides exchanged salvos through 14 rounds of shells. The Chinese started shelling at around 3 p.m., one hour after India retaliated, and continued shelling for 8 minutes.

The incident came after China allegedly crossed the Line of Actual Control (LAC) and further入侵 or encroached into Indian territory.

A Congress leader in MP wants PM Modi killed, though he added that he meant political defeat.

At a day when political debate doesn’t degenerate a bit. The first day of the week was no exception with reports pouring in about a Congress leader and former minister in Madhya Pradesh calling for Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s assassination. Addressing villagers, Raja Patna accused Modi of plotting to establish a despotism and dividing the country, three days after events that could have been.

There is no evidence to suggest that the abortion of elections is on the anvil. What was more objectionable was his remark that the Constitution can only be obeyed by killing Modi. According to a newspaper, Patna “did also add that by killing me, Modi fighting against me.”

The natural corollary is that their adversaries are worse-off. Patna, incidentally, is a ringmaster’s choice. Hence, Bharat Janta Party leaders have no complaints in calling anyone who they don’t like as anti-“national.” All hornet’s accusations have become routine.

India is an open eyes opener nevertheless. The led to vividly topple the democratic set up in the face of a creeping totalitarianism and override the entire political system should not be taken lightly as many people are doing; brushing aside as childish attempts to overthrow a strong political system which is far more powerful than the neo-Nazis might have thought. This is certainly true but the rise of neo-Nazis in Germany as also in several parts of the western world is alarming and should be nipped in the bud before it grows like cancer and becomes a threat to freedom.

The German police foiled the coup and arrested dozens of members of the far-right Reichsbürger movement for a bid to overthrow the German republic. The movement was led by individuals from different backgrounds and included army personnel, a pilot, a lawyer, and even a chef. They planned to storm the German parliament, take legislators hostage, and even install Heinrich Raus, a far-right activist acting.

The Reichsbürger plotters were inspired by American Gibson cartoons, which held the belief that President Donald Trump is waging a secret war against an international cabal of octopus pedophiles. The plotters were apparently convinced that they could not be tried because they had not yet faced the decision. The conclusion and stubbornness of the extremists is warranted. But the big question for the first time that such a thing has been witnessed and if no stern measures are adopted to weed out such groups within the society, it can end very badly.

We need to be on high alert and take necessary steps to ensure the safety and security of the nation.

The G20 summit will be a big success if all nations keep their geo-political differences aside and strive to work for the common good.
Indian security agencies must prepare for cross-border provocations in the form of infiltrated terrorists, terrorist strikes on security establishments, disturbances in Karachi, and minor skirmishes along the frontier. Pakistan might resort to these tactics to divert attention from its internal turmoil. The aggressor can use this to further divert attention through exaggerated claims of counterterrorist and counterinsurgency operations. The situation might escalate, especially if the US, too, takes an assertive stance against Pakistan. The European Union has already shown an interest in supporting Pakistan's security needs. Pakistan might also make use of this situation to attract financial aid from the international community.

Awareness & alertness can prevent breast cancer

Onset of breast cancer may be determined with proactive screening: healthy lifestyle and diet can beat the malady.

A

According to various studies, around 2.25 million women aged 45 years and above live with breast cancer in the world. Breast cancer is the second most common cancer in women younger under 45 years old.

There are several risk factors for breast cancer, and any woman, young or old, must be aware of these factors to reduce the risk of breast cancer. Some of these risk factors are as follows:

1. Family history: Women with a family history of breast cancer are at a higher risk of developing the disease.
2. Age: The risk of developing breast cancer increases with age. Women who are over 40 years old are at a higher risk.
3. Hormone therapy: Women who have undergone hormonal therapy for menopause are at a higher risk.
4. Pregnancy: Women who have never given birth or have had a miscarriage are at a higher risk.
5. Obesity: Women who are obese or have a body mass index (BMI) of 30 or above are at a higher risk.
6. Alcohol consumption: Women who consume alcohol regularly are at a higher risk.
7. Physical inactivity: Women who lead a sedentary lifestyle, high fat diet, and frequent prolonged physical inactivity are at a higher risk.

Breast-feeding, hormone replacement therapy, genetic counseling, and lifestyle changes can reduce the risk of breast cancer.

The risk factors for breast cancer are not the only ones that can increase the risk of the disease. However, women can take steps to reduce the risk of breast cancer. Women who lead a healthy lifestyle, eat a balanced diet, and exercise regularly are at a lower risk of developing breast cancer.

In conclusion, women can reduce the risk of breast cancer by taking steps to reduce the risk factors and adopting a healthy lifestyle. Awareness and alertness are key to preventing breast cancer.
Ukraine, which is a major supplier of raw materials to Russia, is concerned about the possibility of Russian military action. Ukraine's defense minister, Oleksiy Reznikov, has warned that Russia could launch a full-scale invasion of Ukraine at any time. Ukraine has also been strengthening its defenses by increasing its military budget and purchasing new weapons from the West. The United States has announced plans to send additional military aid to Ukraine, including anti-tank missiles and other equipment. This is to prevent any potential Russian military action from escalating into a larger conflict. The situation is tense and any further escalation could have serious consequences for global stability.
India, UAE want to use their relationship to shape changing world: Jaishankar

The traditional energy superpower is also patrolling the Mediterranean. For more than four decades, the Gulf country has maintained a strong presence in the eastern Mediterranean. Today, the UAE’s growing military capabilities are having an impact on the region, as it seeks to redefine its relationship with the rest of the world.

India has been a key partner for the UAE in recent years, with the two countries inked a landmark trade deal in February this year. The UAE is today India’s third-largest trading partner with the Caribbean nation.

India and the UAE have a long history of cooperation, particularly in the fields of energy, security, and investment. The UAE has been a significant investor in India, with a number of major projects in the country. The UAE has also been a key player in the India-Pakistan relationship, playing a role in resolving the dispute over the Kashmir region.

Retail inflation falls to eleven months low of 5.88% in Nov.

Real retail inflation fell to 5.11% in November from 5.9% in October, according to data from the Office of the Director General (OCDG) of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. This is the eleventh consecutive month of decline.

The consumer price index (CPI) based retail inflation of 5.88% in November was in the moderate inflation band. In October, it was 5.90%.

In November, the Reserve Bank had said that the inflation is expected to average 6.5% for the current fiscal year.

The Reserve Bank had said on Monday that the inflation is expected to remain within the band of 6.5% to 6.9% for the current fiscal year.

The RBI committee has estimated that the CPI inflation in the December quarter would decline to 6% from 6.2% in September.

The RBI committee has also projected that CPI inflation would decline to 5.7% in the March quarter of FY23 and further to 5.3% in June 2023, which is higher than the 5% target.
Argentina have recovered from the shock of losing their opening game to Qatar in Saudi Arabia and made the last four with an emphatic victory over the Netherlands at the end of a frantic quarter-final in Doha.

England’s World Cup hopes were dashed as Croatia beat them 3-1 in a tense semi-final at the Khalifa International Stadium.

Croatia came from behind to win 2-1 at the quarter-final stage in Korea to make it two wins in a row against England in World Cup play-off semi-finals.

They were strong enough to win the quarter-final against England, and they were good enough to overcome the United States in the second round.

And now, with their team showing, they are ready to make history and get into the final of the World Cup.

They are the first team to reach the final of the World Cup, a campaign that saw them beat both England and Italy in the semi-final.

It was a remarkable performance, with goals from Mario Mandzukic and Ivan Perisic, and a 2-0 victory over Croatia that sealed their place in the final of the tournament.

Argentina will face France in the final, with the two teams having already met in the 2018 World Cup semi-final, which resulted in a 1-0 victory for France.

Argentina have been consistent throughout the tournament, with goals from Lionel Messi and Angel Di Maria helping them through to the semi-finals.

They will be looking to continue their good form as they face the ultimate test in the final of the World Cup.

Argentina will look to avenge their 1-0 loss to France in the semi-final four years ago, with Messi and company looking to lift the World Cup for the very first time.

The World Cup final will be the ultimate test of their potential, with the best players in the world on show and a place in history up for grabs.

Argentina will face France in what is sure to be an epic finale to the tournament, with the hosts looking to defend their title and the runners-up looking to claim their first crown.

It will be a battle of the best, with both teams boasting star-studded line-ups and the best players in the world.

Argentina will look to their star man Lionel Messi, who has been in fine form throughout the tournament, while France will rely on the likes of Kylian Mbappe and Antoine Griezmann to take their chances.

This will be a game for the ages, with both teams looking to prove their worth and leave their mark on the World Cup.
A article in the World Test Championship final at a stage, it is crucial to have the right approach but it is a different ball game and not just a T20. The team needs to be firing on all cylinders and in top gear to stand a chance. KL Rahul said on Tuesday.

The Indian team will be without the services of opening batsmen Rohit Sharma, Ruturaj Gaikwad and regular skipper Virat Kohli due to injuries. Having already lost the ODI series against Australia, the India team will need to win its next two Test matches (two in Bangladesh and two in Australia) to clinch the World Test Championship and the Test series against Australia.

As of now, India team is placed fourth in table with 206 points while Australia (236 points) is in first position and Sri Lanka (172 points) is in second but if the team wins against Australia, it will overtake Australia.

The season-ending World Test Championship will be held in June, which also in line with the World Test Championship cycle.
