The State, under the leadership of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy, has initiated a Skill Development Council (APSSDC) with a commitment towards skill development and entrepreneurship to even the proverbial urban-rural divide. With a vision to provide vocational training to more than 10 lakh people in the state, the Council has been formed with the aim of creating 5 lakh job opportunities by July 2023 in 4119 sub-divisions under the first title deeds were handed over to beneficiaries.

The Skill Development Council (APSSDC), a model council that will act as a ‘local hub’ for the implementation of various government schemes, has been set up in all 31 districts of Andhra Pradesh. The council will work in close coordination with the Department of Finance, the Department of Revenue, and the Department of Employment. The council will be headed by a Chief Minister, an Advisor, and a Director.

The council will focus on the development of skilling initiatives at the district level and will provide a platform for the implementation of various government schemes. The council will also work towards the creation of job opportunities for the people of the state.

In order to achieve this, the APSSDC has set a target of creating 5 lakh job opportunities by July 2023 in all districts of Andhra Pradesh. The council will be responsible for the implementation of various government schemes and will work towards the development of skilling initiatives at the district level.

India will have to monitor developments in Kathmandu

Government officials are closely watching developments in Nepal’s new government and are keeping a close eye on any developments that could impact India's interests in the region.

The new government in Nepal has been formed under the leadership of the Communist Party of Nepal (Unified Marxist-Leninist) and the Left Democratic Forum. The party has won a majority in the country's parliament, and the new government is expected to focus on issues such as economic development, social welfare, and foreign policy.

India, being a close neighbor of Nepal, has a vested interest in the country's stability and prosperity. The new government's policies and actions could have implications for India's security, economic interests, and diplomatic relations.

The Indian government has reportedly expressed concern about the new government's stance on issues such as the escalating border tension with China and the ongoing dispute in the Doklam sector. India has also expressed concern about the new government's intentions regarding the issue of the conservation of the rhino, a critically endangered species in Nepal.

India and Nepal have a long history of cooperation and shared interests, especially in the areas of trade, tourism, and cultural exchanges. However, the recent border tension and other issues between the two countries have raised concerns about the future of these relationships.

In light of these developments, the Indian government is expected to closely monitor the new government's actions and policies to ensure that India's interests are protected. The Indian government may also consider taking appropriate measures in response to any developments that could negatively impact India's security or interests.

Minorities suffer in India, but not anywhere else: Nityanand Rai

The Union Minister for State for Home Affairs, Nityanand Rai, has been quoted as saying that minorities suffer in India, but not anywhere else, especially in the context of the recent row over a controversial film.

The statement comes at a time when there is a growing concern among minorities in India about their safety and security, especially after incidents of violence and mob lynchings in recent months.

Rai's statement has been met with mixed reactions. While some have praised it as a positive step towards ensuring minority rights, others have criticized it as a��on governments in power, the minority community in India has faced significant challenges, including discrimination, violence, and lack of representation. In recent years, incidents of violence, lynching, and other forms of harassment have become more frequent, raising concerns about the safety and security of minorities in the country.
The CBI has arrested Videocon Chairman Venugopal Dhoot and former ICICI CEO Chanda Kochhar.

T HE arrest of Videocon Group Chairman Venugopal Dhoot by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Friday, follows closely on the arrest of former ICICI Bank CEO Chanda Kochhar by the CBI on Thursday. Videocon Group and ICICI Bank are two of India’s largest business houses. They are also pillars of India Inc and banking. The arrest of Dhoot and Kochhar sends a message to India Inc and banking: those who indulge in wrongdoing should be penalised; India Inc and banking are angels; those who indulge in wrongdoing should be penalised.

On Friday, the CBI had arrested former ICICI Bank CEO Chanda Kochhar and his husband Deepak Kochhar on charges of financial fraud. The CBI has been investigating a case against Kochhar and her husband, who were the promoters of Videocon Group, a consumer electronics and mobile phone company, for allegedly receiving a loan of Rs 3,250 crores from a company associated with former videocon Group executive Venugopal Dhoot.

The case against Kochhar and her husband is part of a wider investigation by the CBI into allegations of financial fraud by Videocon Group, which has led to the company declaring insolvency. The allegations include the company’s role in the 1990s in a land scam in the state of Rajasthan, which led to the company’s bankruptcy in 2017.

Kochhar and her husband are accused of using their positions to obtain a loan of Rs 3,250 crores from a company controlled by Dhoot, who is also a physician. The loan was allegedly obtained without proper documentation and without adequate security. The CBI has alleged that the Kochhar couple used the loan for personal purposes and to benefit their company, Videocon Group.

The Kochhar couple had been on the run for several years before their arrest. They had been living in Singapore and had been13 accused of siphoning off funds from Videocon Group. The CBI had obtained an arrest warrant against them in the case.

The Kochhar couple’s arrest comes just days after their daughter, Poonam Jain, was arrested by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in connection with a case of money laundering and tax evasion. The ED had earlier conducted a raid at the Kochhar couple’s residence in Mumbai and had seized documents and electronic equipment.

India Inc and banking have been reeling under a series of corruption and fraud cases in recent years. The arrest of Dhoot and Kochhar is likely to send a strong message to other business houses and banks, reminding them of the consequences of wrongdoing.

The arrest of Dhoot and Kochhar comes in the wake of a series of high-profile arrests by the CBI and the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in recent months. The CBI has been investigating a number of cases related to the alleged diversion of funds from companies, including the cases of Infosys, Wipro, and Yes Bank.

The arrests have been welcomed by many in the business community, who hope they will act as a deterrent to corporate fraud. However, the arrests have also raised questions about the fairness and impartiality of the investigations, with some business leaders and experts calling for a review of the investigative process.

The arrest of Dhoot and Kochhar is likely to be a major blow to Videocon Group, which is already struggling to survive. The company has been facing a crisis since 2017, when it declared insolvency and was put under the supervision of the NCLT.

BIS comes out with standards for USB Type-C charging port

VIJAYAWADA | TUESDAY | DECEMBER 27, 2022

The Indian Institute of Standards (IIS) has issued guidelines for safe and robust design of USB Type-C charging ports which are to be used for a variety of electronic devices. The guidelines are aimed at ensuring the safety and reliability of USB Type-C ports, which have become increasingly popular in recent years.

The guidelines cover a range of aspects, including the design and construction of the port, as well as the materials used to create it. The guidelines also include recommendations for testing and certification, to ensure that the ports meet the necessary safety standards.

According to Rajiv Pratap Rudy, Additional Secretary (Technical), Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution, the use of USB Type-C charging ports has not only improved the user experience but has also helped in reducing the use of multiple charging cables. He added that the guidelines are an important step in ensuring that these ports are used safely and efficiently.

The guidelines are in line with the global push towards standardization and interoperability, as USB Type-C is quickly becoming the de facto standard for charging and data transfer in electronic devices. The guidelines are expected to provide a framework for manufacturers to develop safe and reliable USB Type-C ports, and to help ensure that these ports are interoperable with other devices.

Overall, the guidelines are a positive development for consumers and manufacturers alike, as they provide a clear set of standards for the design and manufacture of USB Type-C charging ports. This is expected to help ensure that these ports are safe, reliable, and interoperable, and will help to accelerate the adoption of USB Type-C across the industry.

Content creation: Unlocking the unthinkable options now

In an exclusive chat with The Pioneer, Meghna Kaur Kaushal aka Shetroublemaker, opens up about the content creation industry, collaborating with renowned brands, dealing with trolls, and much more.

Shetroublemaker:

Q: What made you enter the content creation industry?

A: I have been working in the digital space for a few years now. I started my career as a content creator and逐渐建立了自己的声誉 in the industry. Now, I am looking to expand my horizons and collaborate with famous designers too! The entrepreneur deal with renovation brands on a day-to-day basis now—have to keep up with the trend aggressively. I turned my limitations into a mission on a whole new level. It's an exciting and fun path. Each project is unique, and the journey is unpredictable.

Q: What are the challenges you face while working with brands?

A: Working with brands can be incredibly rewarding. The collaborations represent an opportunity for brands to reach a new audience in a very real and authentic way. However, there are also challenges. One of the main challenges is managing the expectations of both the brand and their audience. There is also a risk of losing authenticity in the content creation process. It's important to maintain a balance between creating content that resonates with the brand's values and ensuring that the audience feels connected to the content.

Q: What's your approach to dealing with trolls and negative comments online?

A: Dealing with trolls and negative comments online is a part of the territory, but it's important to remember that not all online negativity is personal. Trolls can be used as a tool of digital marketing. So, fans should be cautious of its misuse. Just as with pruning, trolls play a role in digital marketing. So, fans should be cautious of its misuse.

Q: How do you stay motivated in an industry that is so competitive?

A: Staying motivated in any industry is a challenge. However, one way to stay motivated is to remember the reason why you started. For me, it's the opportunity to share my stories and connect with others in a meaningful way. It's important to focus on the positive aspects of the work and not let negative feedback bring you down. You can also seek out support from friends, family, or other content creators who share similar interests. Staying connected with others can provide a sense of community and help keep you motivated.

Q: What's the future of content creation in the post-COVID world?

A: The future of content creation is uncertain. However, one thing is clear: the rise of digital media has forever changed the way we consume and produce content. As the world continues to adapt to the COVID-19 pandemic, we can expect to see a continued shift towards online content creation. This shift will provide new opportunities for content creators to reach a wider audience and connect with people in new and innovative ways.
Overthinking is a perception that has followed me since my debut: Ashwin

Excerpts from Interview:

Q: If you were told one year ago that you would be in the IPL auction last week, what would you have thought?

A: I wouldn’t have thought much then. When I am playing any format, because I enjoy this game, wherever I am, always I am smiling and that is obvious. I don’t want to give any game change. I have always enjoyed batting whether it is the T20 format, and whatnot. I was called as the Trophy.

Q: If you could name any two words to describe yourself in T20 format.

A: Keeping it simple, the first two words that one can say is ‘hitting sixes’ and ‘batting well’.

Q: You were India Emerging (U-19) captain nearly a decade back. Over the last five wickets for 10 runs. The deck at the Melbourne Cricket Ground was less bowler-friendly, but captain Pat Cummins surprisingly went on to add a five when the dominant bowling teams finally bowed out. It proved to be a much-needed victory in front of 5,450, with Pakistan proving very active with the bat if they sought 90, but it was a characteristically strategic and disciplined bowling performance.

Q: If you can also talk about the moment you have been a captain?

A: As one of Australia’s all-time greats, it is fitting we commemorate the contribution to Test cricket by naming an under-19 Test series in the name of the great Australian bowler, Phil de Freitas.

The announcement came on the opening day of the Boxing Day Test at the MCG. "It is said in cricket that the bowler is a left arm and the captain is right," added former Pakistan captain Younis Khan.

The Shane Warne, Mark Taylor, Ian Chappell, Extravaganza was out, and so were the 10 wickets, and the match was a total washout for the Pakistan cricket team.

Gutted: Campos was unable to bat in the series against Australia and New Zealand.

Q: If you say anything about your cricket:

A: With the exception of T20 format, would you have batting, while on game days he would not be able to do that, because you’re going to put too much pressure on yourself if you try too hard at both," said Cameron Green.

He added that in the lead-up to the match, the paddling pressure, while on game days he would not be able to do that, because you’re going to put too much pressure on yourself if you try too hard at both, said Cameron Green.

Anu Prakash (Aaduvaari Maatalaku) talks about Kannada film, Kushi:

Q: Devadas wanted to put this thought process in Kannada. What was it?

Anu Prakash (Aaduvaari Maatalaku) said, "I liked the idea immediately and we brought Abbas and Tushar to Tamil. We heard it and we heard it again. We thought it was a good idea. It manifested. I think whenever you start doing something, you have the nicest idea so far :)"

Q: The comedy in Kushi is one of the most high-lighted. One of the scenes was when Prabhu Deva is doing the Andaman and Nicobar song. How was the experience of doing that?

Tushar was the one who did the Andaman and Nicobar song. Tushar told me the story, I loved his narration and Prabhu Deva was great. The movie is based on a story by Tushar. Vinu Venkatesh has written the screenplay. Stopped works wherever possible. I think our dialogue is magical in that way. We don’t want to force things. And definitely, there is a lot of Pawan Kalyan in Kushi. There is a great sense of rhythm."

Q: Prabhu Deva has always been associated with a lot of songs. What do you think of his singing?

"He is a great singer. His voice is so much stronger than his acting. There is a lot of life in his voice. Pawan Kalyan is a great actor. He knows how to act. He has a lot of substance in his voice."

Q: In Kushi, he is a director. What do you think of his direction?

"He is a very talented director. He knows how to do things. He is a very versatile actor. He is a great actor and a great director."
