Ukraine rebels mobilise troops amid invasion fears

Ukraine has mobilised troops amid fears of an imminent Russian invasion. The build-up of military personnel and equipment along the border with Russia has raised tensions in the region. Ukraine has, however, denied reports of an imminent invasion.

"The world is facing a dire warning of an imminent invasion," said WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus.

Ukraine

Europe is at "a decisive moment in history," said President Volodymyr Zelensky on Saturday as he announced several new steps, including nuclear drills, to strengthen Ukraine's defense against Russia.

"We are preparing for the worst," Zelensky said during a press conference in Kyiv, where he was joined by allies from the United States, Britain, and France. "We are ready to fight."

Zelensky also called for an "immediate" end to the war in eastern Ukraine, where fighting has continued despite a 2015 Minsk II ceasefire agreement. "We want to stop this war," he said.

Among the new steps announced by Zelensky were the deployment of additional troops to the eastern Donbas region, which has seen the heaviest fighting in recent months, and the launch of a "Rapid Reaction Force" to respond to any incoming Russian attacks.

"The world is watching," Zelensky said. "We are not alone. We have allies."

Hong Kong

China announced several new measures on Saturday to prevent the spread of COVID-19 in Hong Kong, including a ban on gatherings of more than 50 people and a requirement for all residents to wear masks in public. The city also announced the suspension of all flights to and from mainland China.

"We are taking all necessary steps to protect the health and safety of our residents," said Secretary for Health John Lee. "We will continue to monitor the situation closely and make further adjustments as necessary."
Rohit Sharma was on Saturday appointed the new Test captain of the Indian team as selectors initiated the transition phase by dropping struggling veterans Ajinkya Rahane, Cheteshwar Pujara, Wriddhiman Saha and Ishant Sharma for the Sri Lanka series. The PTI had earlier reported that team management has decided to move on from Saha and 100-Test plus plus Rahane, and chances were dim for both Pujara and Rahane to retain their places.

On Saturday, chairman of selectors Chetan Sharma made it clear that “Rohit was the unanimous choice” and will be the bridge between the new and old in the current set-up as they groom three potential captaincy materials in KL Rahul, Jasprit Bumrah and Rishabh Pant. All three have led or been deputy at some point.

The Sri Lanka Tests series, starting March 4, will also mark comeback of all-rounder Ravindra Jadeja, who has recovered from a knee injury. Shubman Gill too has recovered from shin stress fracture.

Washington Sundar and KL Rahul are nursing their hamstrings before start of Indian Premier League. Kuldeep Yadav, who was dumped by Virat Kohli and Ravi Shastri, has been brought back from the cold as he made his return into Test team. Sanju Samson’s start-stop international career got a lifetime in the 70s against Sri Lanka. Pant along with Virat Kohli has been rested while rookie left-arm spinner from Uttar Pradesh Saurabh Kumar made his maiden entry into Test side. While it was known long back after Kohli tendered his resignation from Tests, Rohit’s emergence as Test captain is a remarkable story of grit and determination. One who would have a great Test career, opening the innings changed the course of his career. After the England Test tour, there was no looking back.

Under India-UAE tie, pact says

New Delhi: The domestic jewellery sector will get a fillip with the launch of the TRQ (transferable quota) scheme under the India-UAE free trade agreement (FTA), which entered into force in April or May.

The department of commerce, government of India, has announced the TRQ scheme for the jewellery sector under the India-UAE FTA.

“The government has announced the transferable quota scheme for the sector under the India-UAE FTA. This will be a big boost for the domestic jewellery sector, which has been facing difficulties due to the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic,” said a government official.

The TRQ scheme will allow Indian jewellery manufacturers, who are part of the FTA with the UAE, to export their products to the UAE without the need to undertake the exchange of quota certificates with other Indian manufacturers.

“The new scheme will help Indian jewellery manufacturers to export their products to the UAE in a more flexible manner, thereby reducing their operational costs and increasing their competitiveness in the international market,” added the official.

The scheme is expected to boost exports from India to the UAE, which is a major market for Indian jewellery. The scheme will also help to bring down the trade deficit with the UAE, which is one of India’s major trading partners.

The government has also announced a series of measures to support the domestic jewellery sector, including the creation of a $1 million export promotion fund, the launch of a National Jewellery Council, and the establishment of a National Jewellery Appraisal Board.

These measures are expected to help the sector overcome the challenges it faces due to the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic and the ongoing trade war with China.

India is in the throes of state elections & the buzz is gathering momentum. With the high interest to consume news and views on this subject, it is very important to get the marketing and branding aspects right, writes JAYSHREE M SUNDAR

BUILDING A POWERFUL POLITICAL BRAND IS A HUGE CHALLENGE. ONE THAT TAKES YEARS AND SOMETIMES GETS DESTROYED IN ONE FELL SWOOP, AND THERE ARE MANY CHALLENGES TO CONTINUING THE BRAND VALUES AND CORE BRAND MESSAGES AS THIS DOES NOT BELONG TO THE USUAL WORLD OF FAST-MOVING CONSUMER GOODS.

ENGAGING THE PUBLIC VIA LIVE VIDEO

For every 1.5 microphones in a party. Politicians are now empowered to build their own news and engage in conversations with their constituents real-time. For example, many politicians regularly live stream on Facebook and Instagram as a way to interact with voters and non-voters alike in the US. Rather than talk at voters, live videos encourage both meaningful and personal conversations. This is more prevalent in Western world – but it is likely to cause the India fray in a big way.

ALMOST INVISIBLE LEAD TIMES

Political parties must keep the conversation going with the voter base. Unlike the usual rule of engaging twice or thrice a week in the usual rule of engaging twice or thrice a week, the political party must talk daily. Sometimes there is no choice. There are rebuttals, counter. There are new ideas. And you must keep churning material till it reaches the customer.

MOBILE IS THE PRIMARY MEASURE

India’s population is young. Approximately 65% is below 35. Counted with 700 million smartphone owners in the country growing at 25 million per quarter, this is the key tool to look at in the current elections and going forward. Most young people consume news via online elimination, news dashboards, and other social media news feeds. News is now consumed as news on the go, and vote. Creating for the smaller screen is key. Twitter, Instagram, mausiqui, songs and music to what is real and buzz worthy very quick.

MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE IS CRAFTING THE STRATEGY CORRECTLY

This is not a region or a sub-set. This is the whole country you are dealing with. It is an assembly election, a full state. Some of our assembly elections, a full state. Some of our state elections come around the corner. They are universal elections, and we find every party makes as elections.

Political brands are usually built on promises we find every party makes as elections. There is no such thing as the political brand wars began. The party was the same, the consumer either loved the brand. Some kept their sunsets, others lost theirs. The Political brands were represented by the incumbent President Donald Trump. To fight his popularity, the Democrats needed to build the right candidate.

Political brands are built on contributions. Political brands have to be built on contributions. Communication, political campaigns, everything in the equation in the equation and in India it’s important for the leader to connect across age groups. Canada's Freedom Convoy under pandemic curbs

Although China's high saving rate, better infrastructure and its manufacturing are way ahead of India, these cannot match the prowess of India's services-driven industry and its institutional stability, deeply intertwined in pluralism and democracy

PERSPECTIVE

India's GDP growth rate for FY 21-22 is pegged at 9.5 per cent and could go up to 11-11.5 per cent, as the official first estimate for Q1 and Q2 of FY 22-23 are 8.2 and 7.4 per cent respectively. India's growth rate for FY 21-22 is comparable to that of China, which is 8.1 per cent. This is a major achievement for India, given the challenges faced by the global economy in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic.

India's economy grew at a robust 9.1 per cent in the first quarter of the fiscal year, buoyed by strong domestic demand and an improving outlook for the coming months. The country's economy is expected to continue to grow at a healthy pace, with estimates ranging from 7.5 to 8.5 per cent for the full fiscal year.

The government has taken a number of measures to support the economy, including stimulus packages worth billions of dollars, tax cuts, and assistance for small and medium-sized enterprises. The Reserve Bank of India has also lowered interest rates multiple times to stimulate demand.

India's economic reforms, which began under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, have led to significant growth in the country's services sector, which accounts for over 60 per cent of GDP. The government has also made efforts to improve the business climate and attract foreign investment.

The country's manufacturing sector has also shown signs of recovery, with exports increasing steadily. The government has introduced various policies to boost exports, such as the Make in India initiative.

India's strong performance is largely due to its large domestic market, which provides a significant boost to the country's economy. The government has also invested heavily in infrastructure and urban development, which has helped to spur growth in the services sector.

Despite these achievements, India still faces several challenges, including high unemployment, regional disparities, and infrastructure bottlenecks. The government needs to continue to focus on these areas to sustain the growth momentum.

The recent economic data also showed that India's GDP growth rate for FY 21-22 is pegged at 9.5 per cent and could go up to 11-11.5 per cent, as the official first estimate for Q1 and Q2 of FY 22-23 are 8.2 and 7.4 per cent respectively.
