India calls Pak OIC barbs ‘unwarranted’

More nations out rage against remarks on prophet

India on Monday hit back at Pakistan over its barbs against Prophet Muhammad and Islamic culture at the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) for a series of conferences in the wake of the controversy surrounding recent derogatory remarks made by BJP spokespeople against Prophet Muhammad.

In a related development, Pakistan on Monday said it summoned the Indian chargé d'affaires to convey its categoric rejection and condemnation of the controversial remarks.

The Indian diplomat was told that those remarks are totally unacceptable and have not only deeply hurt the sentiments of the people of Pakistan but also the entire Muslim ummah across the world, the Foreign Office (FO) said in a statement.

 Rejecting Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif’s criticism as ‘absurdity and barbs ‘unwarranted’, MEA slams Pakistan for the remarks made by BJP spokespeople, which cannot assuage the pain and anguish of Muslims across the world. “The Government of India reiterates that the comments made against Prophet Muhammad, Saudi Arabia, Islamic Republic of Iran and others are categorically false. We have been very clear that these comments were not made in any manner or form by any official spokesperson of the Ministry of External Affairs,” the FO said.

The reaction came after Sharif had condemned the remarks as ‘unwarranted’.

Pakistan has recently summoned the Indian chargé d'affaires to protest against the controversial remarks made by BJP spokespeople.

KLO demands separate State, warns Manmata of bloodbath

DI DI ON VISIT TO NORTH BENGAL FROM TODAY

SAGANABE KANDA / THE PIONEER

The Hindu militant group KLO has issued a warning to the state government, demanding a separate state in the eastern region of West Bengal, which it described as “KLO Matra”. The group has threatened to resort to bloodbath if the demands are not met.

The KLO, which has a history of violence and recruitment of children, has been active in the region for several years. Its leadership is believed to be based in the hills of North Bengal, where it has a significant presence.

The group has previously demanded a separate state for the region, arguing that it is culturally and linguistically distinct. It has also accused the state government of failing to address the needs of the region, including issues of education, healthcare, and infrastructure.

The state government has previously dismissed the KLO's demands, describing them as “mischievous and irresponsible”. It has also condemned the group's use of violence and recruitment of children.

The latest warning from the KLO comes amidst a tense political climate in the region. The state is currently governed by the Trinamool Congress, which has a strong presence in the region. The party has faced criticism for its handling of the region, including issues of law and order and corruption.

The KLO's warning is likely to add to the already tense situation in the region, and it remains to be seen how the state government will respond.

It’s wrong to project the Gyanvapi-kashi Vishwanath temple row as an expression of hate: in fact, it’s an attempt at course correction...

It summons the Gyanvapi-kashi Vishwanath temple row as a wrong that has to be corrected. But now decision-makers and the BJP must take a U-turn because the damage has been done. The temple movement has now given us a chance to put a stop to this. The sooner we scrap this legislation, the better.

Aruna Shantha

Dedicated to Hindu God Shiva, in our honour! It is a tragedy that the BJP, under Prime Minister Narendra Modi, has not only demolished the Babri Masjid, but also built a temple in its place. This temple and its deity is a tantrum of revenge! It is a tragedy that the BJP is now blatantly denigrating history.

That Aurangzeb demolished the Kashi Vishwanath temple was built by Raja Bhoj in the 9th century. The temple’s name is derived from the Sanskrit word ‘Kashi’ which means ‘city of gold’. The destruction of the Kashi Vishwanath temple was a political decision of Emperor Aurangzeb in 1669. This is a must-visit place for all the Hindus.

The last known destruction of the temple occurred in 1669, during the reign of Emperor Aurangzeb in his effort to propagate Islamic culture and eradicate Hinduism. The US and South Korean military fired 15 short-range ballistic missiles into the waters of the East Sea, known in South Korea as the Yellow Sea, on June 13, part of a joint drill aimed at countering the threat from North Korea. The South Korean military fired nine missiles, while the US fired six, according to the South Korean Joint Chiefs of Staff. A total of 450 people were also injured.

The missiles were fired from a joint firing area in South Korea’s eastern coastal area and hit a target area near the southern island of Geoje. The drill is the first of its kind this year and comes amid tensions with North Korea over the latter’s recent missile launches.

The US and South Korean militaries have been conducting joint drills in the region as part of efforts to deter North Korea, which has been increasing its missile tests in recent weeks. The drills are also seen as a way to show support for South Korea’s unity with its US ally.

The South Korean military said the drills were necessary to maintain readiness against the potential threats from North Korea. The military added that it would continue to conduct joint drills with the US and other countries to enhance its capabilities.

The South Korean government has been under pressure to step up its defense efforts, particularly in light of North Korea’s recent missile launches. The country has been increasing its defense spending and has been conducting joint drills with the US and other countries to show its determination to counter the threat from North Korea.

The US and South Korea have been cooperative in the region, with the two countries often conducting joint military exercises and sharing intelligence on North Korea. UK boosts Ukraine support with high-tech missile system

The British government said Monday that the multipurpose missile systems it is offering to Ukraine will bring "a significant boost to capability" for the country’s efforts to repel Russian aggression.

The announcement comes amid a continued military buildup in the region by both sides, with Russia increasingly using long-range weapons and Ukraine receiving more advanced weapons from the West.

The missile systems, called Storm Shadow, are capable of striking targets up to 240 miles (390 kilometers) away. They can be launched from aircraft or drones, giving Ukraine a new capability to strike Russian troops and targets deep inside Russian territory.

The British government said the systems will be delivered in the coming weeks, with the first delivery expected in July. The missiles will be used by Ukrainian air force aircraft and drones.

"We are providing this capability so that Ukrainian armed forces can strike targets in Russia that they could not hit before," Defense Secretary Ben Wallace said in a statement. "This is a significant boost to Ukraine’s ability to defend itself against Russian aggression."
