Kashmir, one of the nine nuclear-armed states, has modernised its nuclear arsenal, but India, one of the nine nuclear-armed states, continues to modernise its nuclear arsenal, the International Panel for the Prevention of Armed Conflicts (IPPR) said on Tuesday.

The report assessed the current nuclear-weapon policies, nuclear arsenals, and international efforts to prevent nuclear proliferation and catastrophic wars. It noted that the number of nuclear weapons have increased, with the United States, Russia, China, India, Pakistan, Israel, and some Middle Eastern countries possessing nuclear weapons. The report called for a global nuclear risk reduction, including the negotiation and conclusion of a nuclear weapons ban treaty.

The report also noted that the US and China together possess over 9,000 nuclear weapons. India had 160 nuclear warheads in 2019, and its nuclear arsenal was expanding. The report called for a freeze on nuclear weapon development and proliferation.

Cases rising, remain vigilant, follow Covid-appropriate behaviour, says Mandaviya

PM's new Delhi

Pointing to the fact that some districts and states have reported increase in Covid cases, Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya Monday alleged that the pandemic was not yet over. The minister accused opposition leaders of targeting him and the NDMCP for the first and second wave of the Covid pandemic. He also accused the Congress of raising vacination issues to divert attention from the prosecution cases against senior Congress leader and former Chief Minister of Goa Digambar Kamat.

Mandaviya said the Centre was preparing a catch up plan for the third wave to contain the spread of the pandemic.

The Health Ministers of 12 states, including those of Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Kerala, Punjab, Odisha, and Chandigarh, reached New Delhi on Monday on the invitation of the Health and Family Welfare Ministry.

The meeting was convened to discuss the third wave of Covid, which is expected to arrive in October and November. "At this stage, we can see that the third wave is not there. But we need to be ready. We need to ensure that the third wave doesn’t cause a major setback," Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said in the meeting with state health officials, while warning that the third wave may hit India in 2022, unlike the first two waves which had occurred in 2020 and 2021.

The health ministers agreed that the third wave would hit India in November and December, with a peak in January. Mandaviya said the third wave would be more severe than the first two waves and that the country needs to prepare for it. He said that the Centre was preparing a catch up plan for the third wave to contain the spread of the pandemic.

Mandaviya said that the Centre was working on a set of guidelines for managing the third wave, which would be discussed with states and districts. He said that the Centre would provide support to states in managing the third wave, including through providing oxygen, medical equipment, and other resources.

Mandaviya urged states to maintain vigilance and continue testing, tracing, and treatment. He said that the Centre would provide support to states in testing and tracing through the National Covid App Based Surveillance System (NCABSS) and the CoWIN platform.

He also said that the Centre would provide support to states in conducting vaccination drives, including through the National Vaccination Drive (NVD) and the Integrated Covid Vaccination Centre (ICVC) scheme.

epistry’s refusal to comment on the controversial surrounding the derogatory remarks on Prophet Muhammad’s name in a rally in New Delhi, Islamic countries and Muslims all over the world have been slaming India for the remarks. Former妇联 and Aam Aadmi Party spokesperson Nupur Sharma made last month.

However, Bangladesh Information & Broadcasting Minister Mosharraf Hossain Saturday called it “an external issue” for Bangladesh. This is the issue of India, not of Bangladesh. The latter has been taking a diplomatic stand in response to the comments, urging the Indian Government for having taken action against her and another leader who supported her: “We strongly condemn any insult to the Holy Prophet wherever and whenever it happens. But the Government of India has taken action, and we are thankful for it. We congratulate the Government of India. Now the law will take its course.”

The Bangladeshi information minister also mentioned that the law will take its course. “Only those who violate the law will be punished. It is not the place of Muslims and Islam to be provoked,” he added.

The BNP, the major opposition party in Bangladesh, has also condemned the comments, saying “It is a violation of human rights to insult the Prophet. The BNP will never support any such acts.”

However, the comments have sparked a debate about freedom of speech and religion in Bangladesh. The government has been criticized for not taking sufficient action against those responsible for the comments.

In other developments, the BNP has announced a countrywide strike on Tuesday to protest against the comments. The party also called for a nationwide boycott of Indian goods.

The comments have also been condemned by the Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP), a major opposition party in Bangladesh. The BNP has called for a nationwide strike and boycott of Indian goods. The party has also called for a demonstration in front of the Indian Embassy in Bangladesh.

India-Bangladesh relations have been strained due to the comments, with both countries accusing each other of not taking sufficient action.

The comments have also raised concerns about the future of the India-Bangladesh relationship, with some experts warning that the comments could lead to a deterioration of relations between the two countries.

However, both countries have expressed a desire to resolve the issue through diplomatic channels. The Indian and Bangladeshi foreign минisters have agreed to hold talks to discuss the issue.

It was the first of its kind in India. The name was given by Hemaji Bhatla the noted novelist. The idea of starting the movement was to get the working class to deal with the situation and to make them aware of the problems of the workers. The conference was held at the Bombay YMCA. The conference was attended by many prominent social workers, students, and workers.

In 1937, another cultural front was formed, named the People’s Theatre Association. It was formed in Calcutta and in its second year, it produced several plays. One of the earliest plays produced by the association was a play named "Sare Jahan Se Acha" which became very popular.

The message of every single presentation, they tactfully inserted political content, making it almost a legal and cultural place, factory gate, slums, railway stations, conferences, making it almost a General Assembly of the CPI, Joshi worked on the name Ipta came up in the theatre.

The time was ripe for Ipta to make waves across India. In 1935, an Anti-Fascist Conference was held in Bombay, which was attended by many prominent Indian leaders. The conference was held on June 21, 1935, at the Indian YMCA. The conference was attended by many prominent social workers, students, and workers.

From the beginning, Ipta took an autonomous path, working on its own, without any interference from the government. The association was formed by a group of young people who were tired of the conventional theatre and wanted to create something new.

"Enough proof uncovered to indict Trump"

AP WASHINGTON

Members of the House of Representatives are poised to impeach President Donald Trump on charges that he committed impeachable offenses for the second time during his presidency. Republicans from both parties have been weighing how to respond to the House's decision to pursue impeachment proceedings against Trump.

The move comes after the House voted to impeach Trump for a second time, this time for inciting violence at the U.S. Capitol on Jan. 6.

The impeachment is expected to be debated in the Senate, where a two-thirds majority is required to convict. If convicted, Trump would be removed from office, becoming the first U.S. president to be impeached twice.

China’s capital has seen a virtual lockdown on new COVID-19 outbreaks, linked to a nightclub, a bid to prevent its spread and economic difficulties.

Beijing has since ordered three consecutive days of mass testing, closed schools, and made it mandatory for residents to wear face masks in public.

Many in Burkina Faso support the new military junta led by Col. Paul-Henri Sandaogo Damiba, which was installed on Sunday after President Roch Marc Christian Kabore was ousted.

Burkina Faso’s military has promised to hold elections within 18 months, but many are skeptical given the country’s recent history of coups and political instability.

‘North Korea plans crackdown as Kim pushes for internal unity’

North Korea plans crackdown as Kim pushes for internal unity

An unusual move in North Korea has raised eyebrows among experts, who say it could be a sign of internal tension or a response to external pressure.

The North’s elevated economic and political crisis, which has been exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic, has led to a tightening of social controls.

The crackdown includes increased security measures,限制 of movement,和 tighter control of information. It has led to a feeling of paranoia and fear among the population.

North Koreans have been subjected to strict measures, including mandatory face masks, and economic restrictions, which have led to shortages of basic necessities.

The crackdown is linked to Kim Jong-un’s push for internal unity, as he seeks to strengthen his grip on power and control.

China has maintained its ‘non-COVID’ policy despite the pandemic, with a focus on economic development and maintaining stability.

The North is facing a severe economic crisis due to sanctions and the pandemic, which has led to food shortages and a decline in living standards.

The implementation of the non-COVID policy is seen as a way to demonstrate to the world that North Korea is not vulnerable to the global pandemic.
Battle of Donetsk could prove decisive in Ukrainian war

Donetsk, Ukraine — A senior Western official said Russia's relentless artillery and air raids on the besieged city of Mariupol on Sunday had been a turning point in the war.

President Vladimir Putin, who delivered a state-of-the-nation address that allowed him to claim victory after some gains in the south, appeared deeply troubled at all levels of government in Kyiv, according to a Russian opposition figure who wasn't authorized to discuss the matter for the same reason.

Russia has a clear edge in long-range bombardments, including the strategic port of Mariupol, where a new city administration in Melitopol is set up a bridgehead. Standards are killed and vehicles were destroyed.

Despite Russia's gains in the south, including in the Kherson and Zaporizhzhia regions, Moscow-backed officials have introduced the ruble as the official currency in the Kherson and Luhansk People's Republics and are now planning to start renouncing the hryvnia.

In the Kyiv regional police, their backs were tied behind their heads.

“Before Russia's invasion, President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said. “Now we are seeing a terrible reality. Transformer stations and other key infrastructure have been destroyed."

The Zaporizhzhia region that has emerged as central to the battle for the Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant was a target for Russian strikes. It is terror, just to soften Ukrainian defences."

A Russian oligarch who had been detained for two years, was released from jail as Russian forces control the eastern Sea of Azov region, including the strategic port of Mariupol.

Moldova’s separatist region of Transnistria posted video of a road sign in the nearby town of Tiraspol.

The Kyiv regional police said Andriy Nebytov, head of Kyiv regional police. "The Russian flag was unveiled on the city of Berdyansk, which is on the Sea of Azov. Russian strikes on the city are not expected to soften Ukrainian defences...."

Since the withdrawal of Russian forces in the first months of the war, the international community has been putting pressure on Russia to withdraw from the three main objectives of the war: to soften Ukrainian defences, to stop the war and to restore peace.

The result of the 2014 Crimean annexation remains in dispute.

Russia's military operations in Ukraine have been marked by repeated attacks on civilians, including the Sea of Azov.

India were struggling to get going and posted 129 for 6 but South Africa’s opening two overs were 112/6 when Axar Patel got out in the 14th over and it was mainly due to the wicket of Keshav Maharaj, the leg-spinner. It meant that they could go out 30 from 15 overs, where he can go and start hitting straight away.

Klaasen hopes Barabati knock prologs his career

Yesterday morning, we came to training and in the media interaction on Sunday, they had put us under a little bit of pressure. But there was no update on Quinton de Kock’s hand, so today we could have notched 160-plus had the in-form Temba Bavuma kept the wickets down. As a matter of fact, Karthik took 15 balls to get to 46-ball 81 and would like to continue his form in the remaining three matches.

After getting handed by Indian bowlers, Klaasen has bounced back in full swing and sentiment is building up in the media and fans of South Africa. There is a certain aura around the spin duo of Tabraiz Shamsi and Rashid Khan’s display.

Ashar Malikzad, who tested post for COVID-19 ahead of the first T20, is likely to miss out, and there is no update on Quinton de Kock’s hand, but it is another shocker for the Indian team as the leg-spinner has already done well in the T20 World Cup campaign in the Caribbean earlier this year, have been handed the T20 World Cup campaign in the Caribbean earlier this year. The South Africans made a mockery of India’s plans to chase a big total in the second T20 against India as the leg-spinner has already done well up till now, but his opening instincts have been broken by some significant contributions. He has not looked comfortable in either of the games. Shreyas Iyer, at three, has taken the pressure off the attack and has been an important opening batsman. It was difficult (picky) to bat on a wicket for the first time. Then he decided to take outwards of the resources available and to try to be positive.
