MANN UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED VIDHAN SABHA SPEAKER

AAP’s two-time MLA from Kotkapura Kalra Singh Sandhu was unanimously elected the new Speaker of the Punjab Vidhan Sabha, and a member of the House, in a trust vote held on Tuesday. Sandhu was elected by the majority of the party and the leader of Congress Raj Singh Chhotia, following which his name was unanimously approved by the assembly. Senior Congress leader Raj Singh Chhotia, also an assembly member from the same constituency, said that he was happy that a person from an ordinary family had made it to the Speaker’s post.

Congratulating Sandhu, Congress MLA and former Cabinet Minister Rajinder Pal Sandhu, who expressed his satisfaction in the assembly, said: “This is the reason why the people of Punjab want this kind of leadership besides bringing transformation.”

“Mr. Mann’s trust is the highest tribute that can be given to me,” Sandhu said.

It was the third attempt by the party and the leader of the House Sandhu to get elected as the speaker following the previous two attempts in 2017 and 2019. The party had lost the previous two attempts after the leader of the House had been unanimously elected as the speaker. Sandhu had lost both the previous elections to the Congress candidate.

Ukraine rejects Russian demand for surrender in Mariupol

UK chief: don't let Russia crisis fuel climate destruction

Biden to visit Poland on Europe trip this week

Ukraine rejects Russian demand for surrender in Mariupol

UK says Russia needs to listen to civilians calling to officials

EU slams ‘war crimes’ in Ukraine but new sanctions unlikely

Ukraine's President Vladimir Putin has ordered Russian troops to halt hostilities in Mariupol, a key port city in southern Ukraine, amid an intense battle for control.

The Russian military had previously threatened to launch a ‘final, total’ military assault on the city, following a seven-day siege that has left thousands dead and wounded. The assault was launched in response to what Moscow said was a “provocation” by Ukrainian forces.

As the US and other Western powers have ramped up pressure on Russia, Moscow has been forced to retreat from its aggressive stance in recent weeks, with Putin for instance announcing a new round of talks with US President Joe Biden.

But the situation remains tense, with both sides continuing to exchange fire across the region.

Meanwhile, UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has called on all parties to de-escalate tensions and avoid further bloodshed.

Guterres said this is “a crucial time” for peace talks to be held, warning that “any further escalation of this conflict will only bring more suffering for ordinary people.”

He urged all sides to “act responsibly, de-escalate tensions and avoid any further escalation of the conflict.”

The latest round of talks between Russia and Ukraine was held in Geneva earlier this month, but the sides failed to agree on a ceasefire or a political solution.

Ukraine’s victory in the in terms of military losses and territorial gains has been undeniable, but it has yet to secure a decisive political victory.

The conflict has also sparked a humanitarian crisis, with millions of people displaced and facing food shortages.

As Putin continues to执著地 pursue its military objectives in Ukraine, the international community is increasingly concerned about the potential for a wider conflict in Europe.

Western leaders have called for a diplomatic solution, while some have advocated for increased economic sanctions against Russia.

But with Russia showing no signs of backing down, the situation remains highly volatile.

The UN has called for immediate humanitarian aid to be provided to those affected by the fighting, and for all parties to engage in constructive talks to end the war.

As the situation continues to unfold, the international community will need to remain vigilant and prepared to respond to any further escalations, while continuing to work towards a peaceful resolution to this conflict.

RESTORING QUALITY OF LIFE

Being mentally and physically prepared for surgery is essential. Doctors will help you to get ready mentally for physical strength, so you need to eat right and exercise, says DR SHUBHANG AGGARWAL

Preparing yourself for total joint replacement

And what about surgery? your doctor and his surgery team will be there to do the whole procedure and perform certain tests such as blood test and a cardiology test. You should also clarify your doubts including post surgery complications. It’s essential that you should be physically and mentally prepared for surgery. Doctors will help you to prepare mentally but for physical strength, you need to eat right and exercise as suggested by the doctor.

With robotic surgery, and advanced technologies protocols being followed in air control centers of the country, you can be made to stand up and walk with flair after your surgery. And when you can walk better you feel. Exercise as suggested by the doctor and guided through a physiotherapist, of deep possibility becomes the most integral part of your recovery.

Your physiotherapist will guide you with specific exercises that will help in restoring movement and strengthening of the joint. Sometimes, there could be a problem with severe pain and stiffness surrounding muscles and tissues. This could be a sign of arthritis or a joint infection that needs medical intervention. If you have a joint infection and have fever, pain, or excessive swelling, you should seek immediate medical attention.

Your surgeon will also discuss with you the need for medication to prevent infection and postoperative pain. These medications may include antibiotics and pain relievers. Follow all instructions and take the medicines as prescribed.

Your surgeon may ask you to do range of motion exercises to prevent stiffness and muscle weakness and take care of your nutrition and hydration to aid faster recovery.

Your physiotherapist will also monitor your progress to ensure you are following the prescribed exercise routine and recover faster.

Dr Sanjay Chaudhri, a renowned psychiatrist, explained: “Human minds are in a state of vacillation. People are conflicting with another so that they can stand in an air pollution zone which has become problematic in the society. It’s also affecting the balance of our mental health.”

This is true, classical and systematic research done in the history of mental health and its related factors which are the main causes of mental health disturbances.

MINDS ARE IN TROUBLE

Mindfulness is the key to a peaceful mental state and it is essential to maintain your mental health.

How can we care ourselves from air pollution?

Wearing masks is essential. Whatever you met out of the house, it’s mandatory to put your mask on. Make sure that it covers your nose, mouth and chin The human brain functions best when the body is in a calm state. Calmness brings peace, and peace brings happiness.

Your doctor will also prescribe medication to help you manage your pain and discomfort during your recovery.

The corporate world and your other commitments stop you from switching on to your devices and keep you working. Your body needs to switch off and rest to recover. Try to disconnect from your work and focus on your recovery.

The following steps are important to help you recover faster:

1. Take your time to recover.
2. Eat nutritious food to strengthen your immunity.
3. The harmful effect of pollution. One can also use natural air purifiers, with those living in low- and middle-income countries suffering the most.
4. According to the Indian Institute of Tropical Meteorology, the air quality is poor. Also, I prefer home-cooked food over out.
5. How should we save ourselves from air pollution?
6. Doctors will help you to prepare mentally but for physical strength, you need to eat right and exercise, says DR SHUBHANG AGGARWAL.
Nadal’s unbeaten streak is over

American Fritz hands Rafa his first 2022 defeat to lift Indian Wells title

20-0 run to start 2022.

Federer stunned Rafael Nadal 6-2, 6-7 (7/4) on Sunday to win the ATP Indian Wells Masters, ending the 20-time Grand Slam champion’s 20-match winning streak and his second career title and first in the ATP Masters 1000 level. The Swiss star, 35, last won the title at Indian Wells in 2001, and beat Nadal en route to the final.

But Nadal’s streak of 20 consecutive victories was ended by Fritz, who stood up to the Spaniard in Sunday’s (Indian time) final, the match lasting just over two hours.

In the first set, Fritz broke Nadal’s serve in the second game, handing the Swiss the first break of the match. Nadal fought back to level the set at 4-4, but Fritz served out the set with a 6-2 victory.

In the second set, Nadal broke Fritz in the third game and set to serve for the match. Fritz broke again for 5-5 and the Swiss then had to save a break point to save the match at 30-40.

But Nadal’s unbreakable record came to an end when Fritz won the tiebreak 7-5 to set up a blockbuster Indian Wells final.

"It was amazing," said Fritz. "To be able to play against someone like Rafael Nadal... it’s something you can only dream about."

Nadal, however, couldn’t hide his disappointment.

"It’s been a really special week," he said. "I really enjoyed the process and I’m happy I could play such a great tournament.

"I have to give credit to Fritz, who played a great match today."

The 35-year-old Nadal was also pushing himself through pain, twice receiving treatment on his calf muscle, but he said he couldn’t have played otherwise.

"I think I was already feeling pain before the match," he said. "But I thought I could play and I had to push through it."

The 24-year-old American achieved his first Masters 1000 title after also winning the 2021 Miami Masters to give his body a rest.

"I’m really over-the-top," said Fritz.

"I’m at a loss for words. I’m so happy to be here and to have won this Indian Wells Masters and Indian Wells title and move to a career-high ranking of number two for me to play that well..."

India face B’deh in must-win Women’s WC game

Harmanpreet Kaur, who roared back to form with the bat, scored an unbeaten 68 as India overcame Bangladesh by eight wickets in the first of the three-match series in Derby della Capitale on Sunday.

India, who lost the first Digipower Women’s World Cup league A match against Bangladesh by 14 runs in Rome last month, needed 123 runs to win against 21-year-old left-arm bowler Shcha Collin’s 6/19 and 18-year-old seamer Arfina Khan’s 4/19 in 20 overs.

Kaur’s knock was pivotal as India needed 10 overs to reach 100 against 174. India then lost their captain Mithali Raj for 21 in the 11th over but Harmanpreet and Smriti Mandhana added 100 in 14 overs.

Harmanpreet started the partnership with four boundaries before Smriti got off the mark with a six.

India needed just four runs off the final over with Mandhana on 37 and Harmanpreet on 64. Mandhana cleared a midwicket boundary to clinch the match.

India, who have won just one of the last five Women’s World Cup league A matches, need to win the next two to retain their top position.
