The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Monday arrested Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader and Delhi Government Minister Manish Sisodia in connection with a money laundering case.

Sisodia — who has already served a one-year jail term for the same case — will be produced before a designated court here on Tuesday.

According to sources, the ED has conducted searches at 17 premises including the official residence of Sisodia and former cabinet minister and AAP leader Satyendar Jain. The searches were conducted in connection with a money laundering case registered against Jain.

Sisodia, who was arrested last month in connection with the same case, was granted bail by a city court on April 14. The investigation is linked to May 2015, when Jain, then a Delhi Government minister, was booked under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act for allegedly being a part of a “benami transaction”.

Sisodia’s case is linked to a company named Manglayatan Projects Pvt Ltd, which was registered in the name of Jain’s wife and his son. The ED has frozen bank accounts of the company under the PMLA.

The ED has also imposed a recovery of Rs 4.81 crore from shell companies registered and controlled by Jain and his relatives. These shell companies are alleged to be “benami”.”

The ED had earlier seized a plot worth Rs 4.61 crore belonging to Jain’s wife and four other properties under the PMLA. The ED had also arrested Jain’s wife Juhi Jain in connection with the case.

“Jain, who has been living in London since 2016, gave blank cheques to his relatives to acquire the properties,” an ED official claimed that 23 students have cleared the exams. The top 25 candidates are from three coaching institutes.

While 16 of them belong to the general category, 73 in the OBC category, 203 in the EWS, while 105 are from the ST category. A total of 45 students have cleared the exams, while 60 have achieved more than 600 marks in the UPSC Civil Services Exam.

Gautam, a Bachelor of Technology (B.Tech) on social media, said: “One day it will be a culture where we can celebrate the success of our students.”

Sisodia told the media on Saturday that he had “continuedly pushed” the government to allow all JEE aspirants to appear in the exam and said the government was preparing for it.

Sisodia was a student of Sisodia Senior Secondary School in Ghaziabad and has been associated with the party since 2006.

Meanwhile, Punjab Chief Minister Captain Amarinder Singh has asked the police to submit a report to the Punjab Chief Minister’s Office under the chairmanship of the Chief Minister on a case that was referred to him by the Punjab and Haryana High Court.

The court last week had issued directions for the release of 21 Bodies from the crash site, both dead and injured, in Pokhara, Nepal, that crashed in Nepal’s central Mustang region.

Sher Bahadur Deuba have condemned the plane crash and are storming their investigation by ED.

Deuba said his government had assisted the Nepalese government in the investigation by sending a “high-level delegation” led by him to Pokhara.

The Nigerian parliament and other key government bodies were called for a meeting to discuss the release of the bodies of the victims of the plane crash.

India may ink Govt-to-Govt deal for 26 fighter jets in Indo-Viet Nam: Report

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI

India and Vietnam are exploring the possibility of agreement for procurement of 26 fighter jets on a Government-to-Government (G to G) line in the Indo-Viet Nam framework, according to a report.

The Indian Air Force is likely to take a call on the procurement of fighter jets from Vietnam in the next few months, a Defence Ministry official told The Economic Times.

The officials said the talks between the two militaries are at an advanced stage and the Air Force is looking at the Vietnamese combat aircraft as a viable option.

The Vietnamese Air Force has started discussing the project with Indian officials, and the talks are ongoing.

India is looking for new fighters to replace its aging fleet of Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL)-manufactured Tejas Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) and the ageing MiG-29s.

Vietnam, on the other hand, is looking to modernize its air force and is considering various options, including the purchase of fighter jets from India.

The Indo-Viet Nam framework, which was signed in 2021, is aimed at strengthening defense and security cooperation between the two countries.

The framework covers various aspects, including the supply of defense equipment, technology transfer, and joint production.

In recent years, India and Vietnam have strengthened their defense and security cooperation, with the two countries holding joint military exercises and exchanging defense equipment.

With the Indo-Viet Nam framework, India and Vietnam are expected to further boost their defense cooperation, with the two countries expected to sign a deal for the supply of fighter jets in the near future.

The deal is expected to be a significant boost for the Vietnamese air force and will help modernize its fleet of aging aircraft.

The deal is also expected to strengthen India's defense capabilities and its efforts to enhance its presence in the Indo-Pacific region.

India and Vietnam share a long border and have a number of strategic and economic interests.

Dalits to start their own enterprises to enable the Telangana Model of governance

As has been the case with the Telangana Model of governance, the issue of food supply and distribution is a major concern on exports. They're not good enough for India's fiscal health.

The backlash of increased imports is that the government plans to increase the MSPs for the following season. This will result in a significant reduction in the cost of production, which will be beneficial for the farmers. However, the government needs to ensure that the MSPs are not too high, as this will make the production cost too high, which may lead to a reduction in the quantity produced.

In the meanwhile, the government should focus on improving the infrastructure for food supply and distribution. This will help to ensure that the food is available to the people at the right time and place.

The government should also focus on addressing the issue of food waste. This will help to reduce the cost of production and increase the efficiency of the food supply system.

In conclusion, the government should focus on improving the infrastructure for food supply and distribution and addressing the issue of food waste. This will help to ensure that the food is available to the people at the right time and place.
How Biden, cops and advocates forged deal on police, race

James Pascale, the executive director for the Federal Privacy Officer, was thinking football on a Sunday after-negotiations over an executive order to address racism and policing were in danger of breaking down. The White House said the law enforcement official leaked that he enforcement reform legislation was already "court s...".

"She said they wanted to talk," Pascale said. He had looked back on that day knowing he needed to deal with a situation in a different way.

The result was that President Joe Biden later said on Saturday that the deal was reached: "I think we've made a major step forward..."

Pakistan-brokered groups say they plan to conduct "international watch over red zones" in the country. The groups claim to be fighting against "foreign occupation" and "hegemony on Muslims".

In the past, the groups have targeted Chinese and Indian soldiers, with some alleging that they are trying to "intervene in the Muslim community".

The Pakistani government has urged all countries to work together to address the issue.

Israel PM defends march marked by violence, racism

Minister of National Security Asaf Hoenlein said that the decision to hold the march was a "momentous decision".

He said the decision was made in response to "massive violence and bloodshed".

"If the government were to prohibit this march, the entire world would see it as..." he said.

"We have the right to protect our people..." he added.

He said the march was "not a protest against the government..."

"It was a call to the world to stand up for our people..."

The decision to hold the march was met with mixed reactions.

Some have praised the government for taking a "bold step".

Others have condemned the decision, saying it could lead to further violence.

On Sunday, Israel's security cabinet approved the decision to hold the march, but also imposed restrictions on the parade route to prevent violence.

In Jerusalem, large groups of people converged on the holy site, with tensions high.

The move has sparked widespread opposition.

"We will not accept this," said an opposition leader.

"This is a clear violation of international law and a violation of the rights of the Palestinian people..."

The decision has also met with criticism from some international organizations.

"It is a profound violation of international law and human rights," said a UN official.

The move has been widely condemned by the international community.

German parties reach deal to move ahead with defence boost

AP BERLIN

Germany’s governing coalition and the main opposition party have reached a deal to move ahead with a big increase in military spending that Chancellor Olaf Scholz wants in order to support the key German military and raise its defense spending above 2% of GDP -- a measure on which it had long lagged. Scholz told German lawmakers on Thursday that a two-thirds of supporters had been reached to move ahead with a big increase in military spending that would commit 100 billion euros ($107 billion) to a special fund for cyberdefense and support for partner countries.

Russia offers foreign debt payment system similar to gas one

The reduction in stressed assets, along with improved collection efficiencies in January, led to recovery from the stress in the NBFC-MFIs. The recovery remains well above the pre-pandemic level of around 30% Portfolio at Risk (PAR) of NBFC-MFIs, which continued to worsen during the pandemic, says a report.

The credit of this recovery was attributed mainly to the recovery in March 2021 of NBFCs that had a strong association with the informal economy and rural territories, which had affected the agricultural and rural sectors. Overall macroeconomic and rural NBFC-MFIs more drastically than urban NBFC-MFIs, said a report.

However, losses were incurred in the March quarter due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, which affected the ability of NBFC-MFIs to service their loans. The losses incurred in the March quarter were higher by 4% over the pre-pandemic level.

“Recovery continued to trade in a positive zone where NBFC-MFIs have shown remarkable resilience despite low demand growth in the March quarter’s close after core PCI remains in the green despite some estimates,” said Guaranithe, Foreca.

Analyst Motilal Oswaal Financial Services said, “We expect stressed assets to continue to decline on the back of resolution plans in place and a recovery in the NBFC sector.”

renews his epic 16-year rivalry with Rafael Nadal at the French Open on Tuesday with a semi-final spot at stake and where victory could end the 13-time champion’s Roland Garros career.

Nadal, who will turn 36 on Friday, puts his record of 109 wins and just three losses in Paris, since his title-winning debut in 2005, on the line against the defending champion.

The Spaniard was taken to five sets for only the third time in his tournament history by 21-year-old Felix Auger-Aliassime in the fourth round. In the immediate aftermath of that victory, Nadal admitted that not only was this year’s French Open at stake for him but possibly his entire playing future.

“I know my situation, and I accept it. I can’t complain much,” said Nadal, who arrived in Paris unsure if he would be able to take part after suffering a recurrence in Rome of a chronic foot injury which has plagued him for large parts of his career.

“That defeat took a physical toll on Nadal who then skipped Wimbledon, the Olympics and the US Open.
