If KCR and Kejriwal are clean, they won’t have to fear CBI probe.

Coming back to the core of the matter, the question is- why the TRS and Kejriwal is not worried about the CBI probe? The reason is simple. In case of both of them, the political compulsions are similar. Let us take a look at the recent case of KCR. There is a by-election in Munugode assembly constituency. KCR is in trouble as Kejriwal has already predicted he will win the election. But KCR has not been sitting tight. He has been going on one rally after another, and promising money to the voters. He is doing all this to make sure that he wins the election, even if it means paying money. The reason behind this is simple. For KCR, the Chief Minister’s post is very important. He wants to remain in power for a long time, and he knows that the CBI probe is not going to help him. So, he is trying his best to make sure that he wins the election, even if it means paying money.

On the other hand, Kejriwal is also in a similar situation. He is not worried about the CBI probe because he knows that the BJP is not going to do anything against him. The reason behind this is simple. For Kejriwal, the Chief Minister’s post is very important. He wants to remain in power for a long time, and he knows that the CBI probe is not going to help him. So, he is trying his best to make sure that he wins the election, even if it means paying money.

In both the cases, the political compulsions are similar. KCR and Kejriwal are not worried about the CBI probe because they know that the political gains are more important than the legal consequences. They are willing to do anything to remain in power, even if it means paying money.

So, the question is- why are KCR and Kejriwal not worried about the CBI probe? The reason is simple. For both of them, the political compulsions are similar. They are willing to do anything to remain in power, even if it means paying money.

Questions galore

How could the local authorities be ignorant that the Morbi bridge had no fitness certificate?

The death of at least 141 people in Gujarat’s Morbi is yet another case that highlights the low priority given to public safety by administration. For months, local residents had been following reports of cracks in the Morbi bridge over Gadhsuli river underwent repair work. On October 20, the Gadhsuli River. It was reopened for the public, even though it didn’t have a fitness certificate from the local authorities. Sandip Singh, head of Morbi’s civic body, told the media that the company responsible for repairs, Opera, had to inform the civic authorities that the work was completed. This failure to inform was noted by former chief minister of Gujarat Keshubhai Patel, who was on a visit to Morbi to inspect the scene. According to him, the reopening happened “out of a sudden,” resulting in the rush. But did such a thing happen because the administration was not aware of the cracks or because it was trying to cover up the issue?

Rishi Sunak has a daunting task at hand to bail out the UK’s failing economy, it is difficult but not impossible to put it back on track.

The current economic crisis in the UK is a perfect example of how a government can fail to deliver on its promises. The Conservative Party, under the leadership of Rishi Sunak, was elected in 2019 on a platform of economic growth and stability. However, its policies have failed to deliver on these promises, and the country is now facing a severe economic crisis.

The government’s failure to address the crisis has led to widespread protests and calls for the resignation of the Prime Minister. The UK is facing a recession, with inflation rates rising to 10.1%, and the cost of living crisis is causing severe hardship for many families. The government’s policies have failed to address the root causes of the crisis, and the UK is now facing a deepening economic crisis.

The government needs to take urgent action to address the crisis and put the UK back on track. This will require a commitment to principled leadership and a focus on the needs of the people. The government must also work closely with the opposition and the business community to find solutions to the crisis. The government must also make a commitment to increase the UK’s exports, reduce its dependence on foreign imports, and invest in infrastructure and education.

E-commerce company Amazon India on Tuesday said it is delisting purchases by Appario Retail from the company's platform.

“Amazon India has decided to delist Appario Retail from the platform after the company was formally charged and is being taken voluntarily to court by the Corporate Affairs Ministry via P-notes,” said a spokesperson of Amazon India.

An official source told PTI that the move is aimed at protecting the interest of Amazon India and is being taken voluntarily by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs after the investigation of the Ministry.

Amazon India and Patni Group are the Indian arm of American company Frontizo Business Services Private Limited.

In a statement, Frontizo Business Services Private Limited (FBSPL) said it has approached the Ministry of Corporate Affairs and taken a legal course of action.

The Ministry, in a statement, said that it has been informed that Amazon India has decided to delist Appario Retail from the platform after the company was formally charged and is being taken voluntarily to court by the Corporate Affairs Ministry via P-notes.

The Ministry further stated that it has directed Amazon India to delist Appario Retail from the platform.

Amazon India has not yet commented on the matter.

The new Terminal 2, which has been designed to accommodate business jets, is now operational.

The new terminal is equipped with modern facilities, including a lounge, flight Observation Tower, and a private jet parking area.

The renovation project has increased the airport's capacity to accommodate more business jets, thereby improving the connectivity and convenience for international business travelers.

India's sugar production falls 14.73 %

India's sugar production fell by 14.73% in the fiscal year 2022-23, according to the National Food Corporation of India (NFCSFL).

The production dipped to 23.59 million tonnes from 27.89 million tonnes in the previous fiscal year.

NFCSFL data showed that the cane growing states would produce 23.4 million tonnes of sugar, down from 27.8 million tonnes in the previous fiscal year.

The drop in production is attributed to a decrease in the financial incentive provided by the government to the farmers.

Tata Steel in global decarbonisation and sustainability map

Tata Steel is one of the world's leading steelmakers, with a strong focus on sustainability and decarbonisation.

The company has set ambitious targets to reduce its carbon footprint and transition to a low-carbon economy.

Tata Steel has announced plans to reduce its carbon emissions by 30% by 2030 and achieve net-zero carbon emissions by 2050.

The company is also investing heavily in research and development to develop innovative technologies and materials that can help in decarbonising the steel industry.
