Uddhav jolted! SC lets EC decide on real Sena

Court allows EC to hear Shinde's plea for claim on party, symbol

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

In a big setback to Uddhav Thackeray, the Supreme Court on Tuesday allowed the Election Commission to go ahead with the hearing of Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde group's plea seeking recognition as the real Shiv Sena and allocation of the party's bow-and-arrow poll symbol to it.

Justice DY Chandrachud, heading a Constitution bench, rejected the plea of the Uddhav Thackeray-led faction seeking to restrain the EC from deciding the State's ruling Shinde camp's claim over the "original" Shiv Sena.

"We direct that there would be no stay of the proceedings before the Election Commission," the bench also comprising Justices MR Shah, Krishna Murari, Hima Kohli and PS Narasimha said.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for the Thackeray faction, challenged Shinde's locus to approach the poll panel seeking claim over the party and its election symbol. Sibal argued that Election Symbol Order can be invoked only when the claimant belongs Shinde's plea. Shinde group's counsel and senior advocate NK Kaul submitted an election symbol is not the property of an MLA and to which faction it belongs has to be decided by the Election Commission, asserting the poll panel cannot be prevented from taking any decision on the issue.

The bench was hearing pending cases related to the political crisis in Maharashtra that began with Shinde group's revolt against Uddhav Thackeray's leadership which led to the fall of the three-party Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) Government in the State.

Will go by 'rule of majority': CEC

PNS ■ GANDHINAGAR

Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Rajiv Kumar on Tuesday evening said the EC will apply the transparent process of the "rule of majority" in the Shiv Sena split issue. He was reacting to the questions from the media on the SC order allowing the Election Commission to decide on the Shiv Sena claims by Shinde faction. "There is a set procedure. That procedure mandates us and we define it in terms of a very transparent process by judging and applying the "rule of majority".

to the same political party but claims to be of a rival group.

"I am saying Shinde is no longer in the party and membership has been given up. How does the EC hear him then? Sibal said, referring to the disqualification notice issued against Shinde and some other Shiv Sena MLAs who had rebelled against then Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray in June this year.

Senior advocate Arvind Datar, appearing for the poll panel, said the Election Commission is free to decide who constitutes the aspect of majority.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for Maharashtra Governor BS Koshiyari, contended that the Election Commission is only deciding which faction is the "real" party and so it should be allowed to proceed with Gehlot off the hook, but his loyalists to pay price

Cong notice to 2 Raj Mins, MLA; Gehlot speaks to Sonia as bids to defuse crisis on

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI/JAIPUR

Congress observers for Rajasthan on Tuesday gave a clean chit to Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, but in a hardening of stance the party issued show-cause notices to two of his Cabinet Ministers and an MLA.

On the recommendation of Ajay Maken and Mallikarjun Kharge, the two central observers, the Congress disciplinary committee issues show-cause notice to Rajasthan Ministers Shanti Dhariwal and Mahesh Joshi, and MLA Dharmendra Rathore. All three considered hardcore Gehlot's loyalists.

The Congress panel has asked the three Rajasthan leaders to reply within 10 days why action should not be taken against them for grave indiscipline.

"This show cause notice is being issued seeking your reply within 10 days as to why disciplinary action not be taken against you as per the provisions of the constitution of the Indian National Congress," the notice by disciplinary panel secretary Tariq Anwar said.

Shashi in race, Bansal picks form; no word on Raj CM's candidature

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Rajasthan political crisis has forced the Congress high command to take a fresh view on the candidature of Ashok Gehlot as an "official" nominee for the post of president in the upcoming organisational poll.

Amid reports that Congress interim president

Sonia Gandhi and several senior leaders were hugely upset with Gehlot for the Rajasthan drama, Sonia held hectic parleys with senior party leaders, including Kamal Nath, Pawan Bansal, Ambika Soni, and AK Antony, to decide the future course of action.

Until a couple of days ago, Gehlot had been the "accepted" candidate of the high command.

Amid the suspense about Gandhi family preferred candidate, the party's central election authority chairman Madhusudan Mistry said AICC treasurer Pawan Kumar Bansal and former Union Minister Shashi Tharoor collected the nomination forms.

Mistry said while Tharoor is in the race, Bansal might have collected it for someone else. While the nomination filing dates end on Friday, Mistry said he had no information on whether Gehlot was going to file his nomination papers.

The remark comes amid speculation that the Rajasthan Chief Minister may be dropped as a candidate for the Congress president post even as he made attempts to pacify the Gandhis.

India, Pak both partners but with difference, asserts US

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE/AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI/WASHINGTON

A day after External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar raised doubts about the decision to sell F-16s to Pakistan, the US said India and Pakistan were both its partners with different points of emphasis.

This reaffirmation came after Jaishankar questioned US decision to sell the F-16 sustenance package and said the USA was not fooling anybody by saying these aircraft were given to fight terrorism.

In an effort to allay India's apprehensions, the US State Department spokesperson Ned Price said late Monday, "We don't view our relationship with Pakistan, and on the other hand, we don't view our relationship with India as in relation to one another.

170 PFI activists arrested in pan-India crackdown

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Over 170 people allegedly linked to the radical Popular Front of India (PFI) were detained or arrested in searches across seven States on Tuesday.

The latest round of searches came just five days after a similar pan-India crackdown against the group accused of espousing radical Islam. The searches were conducted following the inputs from the intelligence agencies and leads generated after the interrogations of the 106 PFI activists arrested on September 22.

So far nearly 300 activists/sympathisers have been arrested in two rounds of the searches within a week.

The searches were mostly conducted by State police teams spread across Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka, Gujarat, Delhi, Maharashtra, Assam and Madhya Pradesh.

On September 22, multi-agency teams spearheaded by the National Investigation Agency (NIA) arrested 106 leaders and activists of the PFI in 15 States for allegedly supporting terror activities in the country.

The NIA alone had arrested 45 people following searches at 93 locations in 15 States. The NIA is investigating 19 PFI-related cases (including the five in which the searches were conducted on Thursday).

Man kills wife for refusing to wear burqa

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a shocking development, a 36-year-old man stabbed his wife to death after she refused to follow Islamic tenets or wear burqa at Tilak Nagar in north-central Mumbai.

Three years ago, accused Iqbal Shaikh fell in love with and married Rupali Chandanshive — who was a Hindu woman prior to her marriage, converted herself to Islam after her marriage with the accused and became Zara — and were living together with their two-year-old son Ali.

However, their marriage ran into trouble after Shaikh and Zara began to quarrel over her refusal to wear burqa. This led to their separation a few months ago with Zara going back to her parents with her son Ali. A few weeks ago, Zara moved to a rental accommodation at the neighbouring Chembur locality.

Abe was a great leader, believed in Indo-Japan friendship, says Modi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE/AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI/TOKYO

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday paid glowing tributes to former Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe and said he was "a great leader, a phenomenal individual and someone who believed in India-Japan friendship". Modi recalled this as he attended the state funeral of the longest serving Japanese Prime Minister who was shot dead on July 8 during a political campaign in Nara, southern city of Japan.

Representatives from over 100 countries, including more than 20 heads of state and governments, attended Abe's funeral in Tokyo.

UP Govt defers appointment of CJI's son as its lawyer in SC

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

The Uttar Pradesh Government on Tuesday deferred the appointment of Shreyash Lalit — son of Chief Justice UU Lalit — as its senior counsel in the Supreme Court.

The latest order said the appointment of Shreyash as its senior panel lawyer in the apex court would be on hold until further orders.

On September 21, the UP Government had appointed four lawyers, including Shreyash, to represent its matters in the apex court. Along with Shreyash, the appointment of two other lawyers — Nidhi Goyal and Namit Saxena — has also been deferred. No reasons have been cited for it.

The CJI's son secured a law degree from the Faculty of Law at Delhi University in 2017. He then pursued a master's degree from the University of Cambridge in 2018.

HC restrains AAP from libel against L-G, asks party to take down posts

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

In an interim relief to Delhi Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena, the Delhi High Court on Tuesday restrained the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) from making "false" allegations of corruption against him and his family members.

The High Court has also directed them to take down the alleged libelous hashtags, videos of press conferences/interviews, posts, tweets, retweets, comments, captions and taglines similar thereto against Lieutenant Governor within 48 hours. The HC held they were made "without factual verification, in order to tarnish the reputation" of the Lieutenant Governor.

SC hearings' live-streaming a hit, day 1 draws 7L views

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The first day of the Supreme Court live-streaming of three Constitution Bench hearings, received overwhelming response and more than seven lakh views.

Court 1, which heard petitions challenging the Constitutional validity of the ten per cent quota for economically weaker section (EWS), had nearly 2.5 lakh views.

Court 2, which was hearing cases arising out of the Shiv Sena crisis and the issue concerning the scope of legislative and executive powers of the Central and Delhi Governments over control of services in the national Capital, was viewed by almost 4 lakh people.

Court 3, which saw hearings on the petitions challenging the validity of the All India Bar Examination, logged a little below one lakh views.

The feed was streamed on the YouTube channel of the National Informatics Centre and was also available on the Apex Court's website. The SC had last week decided to begin live-streaming of Constitution Bench cases starting September 27.

The decision was taken at a full-court meeting convened by Chief Justice of India UU Lalit last week. The decision was unanimous and the hearings will initially be telecast live on YouTube till the court develops its own platform to host the live telecast of proceedings.

On September 27, 2018, then Chief Justice of India Dipak Misra had delivered the landmark judgment on the live telecast or webcast of important proceedings in matters of constitutional importance, saying "sunlight is the best disinfectant".

Dada Saheb Phalke goes to Asha Parekh

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Veteran actor Asha Parekh will be honoured with the Dada Saheb Phalke award for 2020, the highest recognition in the field of Indian cinema, Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting Anurag Thakur said on Tuesday.

Parekh, 79, will be presented with the award during the 68th National Film Awards ceremony, to be held on Friday.

The five-member Dada Saheb Phalke Award committee — comprising Asha Bhosle, Hema Malini, Poonam Dhillon, Udit Narayan, and TS Nagabharana — decided on Parekh's name for the honour, Thakur told reporters in his constituency Hamirpur, Himachal Pradesh.

"They decided in the meeting that this time Asha

Parekh ji will be honoured with the Dada Saheb Phalke Award, which will be presented during the National Film Awards ceremony.

It is a matter of pride for the Ministry to announce this prestigious award for the veteran actress," said the Union Minister.

Punjab CM tables confidence motion in Assembly; Cong describes it as illegal

MONIKA MALIK ■ CHANDIGARH

Amidst raging controversy and debate over the validity of passing of a trust vote, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Tuesday tabled the much-anticipated “confidence motion” in a veiled and theatrical manner, even as high drama prevailed in the Vidhan Sabha on the session’s first day forcing three adjournments.

The marshals had to step in to virtually push the opposing Congress’ legislators out after they were “named” and suspended for the day’s proceedings, while the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) legislators decided to boycott the session. Later, both the Congress and the BJP held parallel mock sessions.

Initially scheduled to be held for a day, the session was also extended and the voting on ‘confidence motion’ is scheduled to take place on October 3.

Punjab Governor Banwarilal Purohit, following a stalemate over ‘tabling the confidence motion’ between Punjab Raj Bhavan and the AAP led State Government, had, on late Saturday, given his approval to the Cabinet’s proposal to convene the House on September 27. His approval came only after the State Government shared the list of legislative business to be taken up during the session, including issues such as GST, stubble burning, and power, among others.

The stalemate began when the Governor had, on September 21, withdrawn his consent to hold a “special” assembly session on September 22 when the AAP Government wanted to bring a “confidence motion only”.

However, the Chief Minister, on the first day of the seven-day session, tabled the ‘confidence motion’ — a move described as “illegal” and challenging the Governor’s powers by bringing the motion by the principal opposition Congress.

As the Speaker Kultar Singh Sandhwan announced that the Chief Minister would move the motion, the Congress MLAs, led by the Leader of Opposition Partap Singh Bajwa, objected to the same saying that there was no provision in rules and regulation of the State Assembly for it.

Congress MLA Sukhpal Singh Khaira sought zero hour, which the Speaker declined. The Congress members remained adamant on the demand even when the Chief Minister Mann got up to speak, forcing the Speaker to adjourn the House.

At the same time, the two BJP MLAs — Ashwani Sharma and Jangi Lal Mahajan — also staged a walk out, stating that they were not included in the Business Advisory Committee (BAC).

The Congress MLAs continue to protest against the move restraining the ruling AAP to table the ‘confidence motion’ — forcing the Speaker to adjourn the House thrice — first for 15 minutes, then 10 minutes, and for 15 minutes.

As there was complete pandemonium in the House, the Speaker warned the protesting Congress MLAs of strict action.

A war of words was witnessed between the Congress and treasury benches with the Cabinet Minister Aman Arora calling the Congress “B team of BJP”. He said: “Nearly 200 of the Congress MLAs have already joined BJP in different states.”

Continuing their protest, Congress MLAs trooped to the well of the House, shouting slogans. Chief Minister Mann also dubbed Congress MLAs as “BJP’s B-team”, while seeking strict action against the Congress MLAs.

15 CONGRESS MLAS BARRED FROM ATTENDING DAY’S PROCEEDINGS

The Speaker named all Congress MLAs, asking them to leave the House. “I request them to go out. I order the marshals to lead the Congress MLAs out of the House,” said the Speaker, adjourning the House for ten minutes. The Speaker also asked the staff to clear the House during the adjournment.

As the marshals try to escort the Congress MLAs out of the House, they resist and started arguing with them. Speaker had to once again adjourn the House for 15 minutes and asks the staff to comply with the orders of getting the MLAs out. The Speaker also ordered that the Congress MLAs will not attend the session for the remainder of the day’s proceedings on Tuesday. When the House resumed, the Congress MLAs had left the house after persuasion by the Vidhan Sabha staff.

SESSION EXTENDED TILL MONDAY

The Business Advisory Committee of the Vidhan Sabha has decided to extend the duration of the session till October 3 (Monday) as against the earlier tentative schedule of one day. Now, the House will have three more sittings — on Thursday afternoon, Friday, and on Monday — the day on which the House will vote on confidence motion. In all, the session’s duration will be seven days, with holidays on Wednesday — on account of Bhagat Singh’s birth anniversary, and on Saturday-Sunday.

HOUSE PAYS TRIBUTES TO FORMER SPEAKER, EX-MLA, OTHERS

Punjab Vidhan Sabha, on the first day of the seven-day-long session, on Tuesday paid homage to eight eminent personalities, including political leaders, social worker, and progressive farmers, who had passed away since the previous session of the Assembly. At the onset of the session, the House paid its respects to Punjab Vidhan Sabha’s former Speaker and former Minister Nirmal Singh Kahlon, Tarn Taran’s former MLA Dr Dharamvir Agnihotri, progressive farmer Padamshri Jagjit Singh Hara, and eminent social worker Krishan Dev Khosla.

Vidhan Sabha Speaker Kultar Singh Sandhwan also proposed the names of Takht Patna Sahib Management Committee’s president Jatheadar Avtar Singh Hit, former PCS officer Pritam Singh Kumedan, AAP MLA Labh Singh Ugoke’s father Darshan Singh, and eminent personality Pal Singh Purewal, who had passed away recently, for obituary references in wake of their contribution to the society.

After the obituary references, the Speaker moved a resolution for conveying the condolences of the House to their respective families, which was accepted unanimously. A two-minute silence was observed in the memory of departed souls as a mark of respect during the obituary references.

CM Mann accuses Congress of supporting BJP's Operation Lotus

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Tabling the ‘confidence motion’ on the first day of the Vidhan Sabha session, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Tuesday accused the Congress party of supporting the BJP’s “Operation Lotus”, dubbing the two national political parties as “twin faces of the same coin”.

Mann, pointing that the confidence motion was necessitated as both Congress and BJP have joined hands to topple the democratically-elected governments in the State, said:

“Three crore people of Punjab have faith in us... I have full faith in my 91 soldiers (AAP MLAs)”.

Accusing the opposition MLAs of running away from the discussion, Mann launched a scathing attack on the Congress and the BJP. Mann said that the saffron party feels that only they should be in power everywhere, while “the Congress is in such a situation that nobody wants to take over as its president”. Notably, AAP had recently claimed that at least 10 of its MLAs were approached by the BJP with an offer of Rs 25 crore each and threats of launching a probe by the central agencies in a bid to topple the six-month-old government under “Operation Lotus”. In the 117-member assembly, the AAP has 92 MLAs, with 18 from Congress, three from SAD, two from BJP, one from BSP, while one is an Independent. Mann, tabling the confidence motion, said: “BJP is using anti-defection law as a new tool to form governments in the state through back door in the country and unfortunately despite being its worst victim, the Congress is supporting it”.

The Chief Minister said that BJP has toppled the elected governments in Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Karnataka and others by luring the MLAs. “However, they failed in their sinister moves thrice in Delhi; and now also in Punjab, they trying to purchase the MLAs with money. ...BJP is running behind mirage with an aim to garner power in the state and in this attempt they are using pennies to purchase Aces of AAP,” he said.

Stating that BJP his using its moneybags to cause an irreparable loss to the democracy, Mann said that in the past Congress has done the same and now the saffron party is following its footsteps.

Citing an example of connivance amongst Congress and BJP, Mann said that Congress leadership has started ‘Bharat Jodo Yatra’ from Kanyakumari to Kashmir but the poll bound states of Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh have been deliberately excluded to give benefit to the BJP. Chief Minister said that turncoats are ruling the roost now and former Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh, who had tacitly towed the line of BJP during his stint, has now formally joined the party.

Training his guns against former Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi, he said that for the first time, any CM face of a political party has gone missing after defeat in polls. “As a fact of matter, fear of misdeeds during the regime is haunting the former Chief Minister due to which he is on run,” he said. “I want to ask him about several files. Why has he run away? Why can’t he meet me for the transfer of power?” he quipped. “These are the rejected leaders who have been ousted by people for their non-performance. These leaders, who have been shunted out of the state assembly by the people, are now organizing ‘Imaginative or Mock’ assembly sessions to mislead the people and vent out their frustration,” he said. Listing out the several decisions and initiatives of AAP Government during its six-month tenure, Mann said that in democracy, government is of the people, for the people and by the people but BJP and Congress are trying to insult the mandate of people through ‘Operation Lotus’. Taking on the Congress MLAs, Mann said: “These days, it has become a tradition that proceedings of the House are disrupted and the political leaders often take pride in it. Through this, the soul of democracy is hurt which is not a healthy sign. The people of the state have expressed whopping confidence in the policies of the government and this motion has been moved to restore this confidence.” He said that this motion reflects that people have faith in us and we have faith in people. “BJP is making desperate attempts to purchase the confidence of the people but this will never be allowed at any cost. Defeats are part of life but Congress is not able to digest it due to which it is supporting ‘Operation Lotus,’” he added.

AAP Govt challenged Guv’s powers: Cong

MONIKA MALIK ■ CHANDIGARH

As the Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann tabled the ‘confidence motion’ in the House on Tuesday, the Opposition parties on Tuesday accusing the ruling party of challenging the Governor’s powers and introducing the motion through a ‘backdoor’.

That was not all! Senior Congress leader and the Leader of Opposition Partap Singh Bajwa went on to urge the Governor Banwarilal Purohit to censure the Chief Minister for “misleading” the not only the House but also the Governor on the confidence motion. At the same time, he demanded that an FIR be registered against the Chief Minister.

Questioning the AAP Government’s move to bring a ‘confidence motion’, Bajwa said that the ruling party has “challenged the Governor’s powers”, which is condemnable.

“Nowhere it is mentioned in the rule of Punjab Vidhan Sabha that the ruling party can bring a confidence motion,” he added.

Bajwa further pointed out that he got “no reply” when he asked about the confidence motion in the Business Advisory Committee meeting. “It means no regard is being shown to the constitutional head,” said Bajwa in direct reference to the Punjab Governor’s denial of permission to convene a session to bring a “confidence motion only”. He also lashed out at the ruling party while terming the ousting of Congress MLAs by the marshalls from the state assembly “an absolute murder of democracy”. “First, the Government had summoned assembly session completely against the constitutional provisions which were rightfully declined by the Governor. However, the Government was hell bent upon summoning the session though there is no immediate need or emergency for it,” he said. Bajwa maintained that the opposition parties never sought ‘no confidence motion’ against the Government, “so what is the need to prove its majority on the floor of the House which is not needed and completely unconstitutional”.

Stating that Mann Government does not appear to believe in the rule of the law, Bajwa said: “Just because they have a brutal strength in the House does not mean the AAP government in Punjab can subjugate or muzzle the Opposition’s voice.

Condemning AAP’s move, SAD legislature wing leader Manpreet Singh Ayali said that confidence motion was tabled through the backdoor solely to politicize bribery allegations made by it against the BJP to derive political benefit in the upcoming Himachal Pradesh and Gujarat assembly elections. “I attended the BAC meeting and there was no mention of moving any confidence motion during discussions held to finalize the agenda of the House,” he said.

He also questioned the necessity of moving the same when no opposition party legislator had made any such demand. “Moreover, AAP government enjoys the support of 92 legislators out of 117 and moving this resolution indicates it wants to play politics instead of addressing the genuine concerns of Punjabis,” he said.

CONG HOLDS MOCK SESSION, BJP ‘JANTA DI VIDHAN SABHA’

Barred from attending the session, Congress MLAs held a parallel mock session in the Vidhan Sabha’s parking lot. Leader of Opposition Partap Bajwa said that instead of taking up the issues affecting the State, AAP Government preferred to bring in the confidence motion.

Gidderbaha MLA and Punjab Congress president Amarinder Singh Raja Warring said that it was not only a murder of democracy but challenging the Governor in calling the confidence motion.

Congress MLA from Bholath Sukhpal Singh Khaira said that there was a serious law-and-order issue that needed to be discussed, and “AAP is abusing the legislative rules and regulations”. On the other hand, the BJP, which has two MLAs in the House, also organized a parallel mock session, by the name of ‘Janata Di Vidhan Sabha’, far away from Vidhan Sabha — near the party headquarters in Sector 37.

Led by veteran Sunil Kumar Jakhar and Punjab BJP president and MLA Ashwani Sharma, the BJP leaders imposed a wide range of allegations against AAP, including issues such as drugs, corruption, unfulfilled promises, farmers’ issues, law and order, among others.

The session also “unanimously” passed the ‘motion of thanks’ to Prime Minister Narendra Modi for renaming the Chandigarh Airport after Shaheed Bhagat Singh.

Himachal CM lays foundation stones of 43 projects for Jubbal and Kotkhai

PNS ■ SHIMLA

Himachal Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur during his one-day tour to Jubbal and Kotkhai assembly constituency of Shimla district on Tuesday inaugurated and laid foundation stones of 43 developmental projects worth Rs.186 crore at Jubbal.

Addressing the ‘Pragatisheel Himachal: Sathapna Ke 75 Varsh’ function held at Jubbal stadium celebrated to commemorate 75 years of existence of Himachal Pradesh, the Chief Minister said that he has always give special preference to the Jubbal-Kotkhai area during the last about five years, adding that the area despite being represented by two Chief Ministers was deprived of its own SDM office and Jubbal area was attached with Rohru and Kotkhai with Theog. He said that the opening of two SDM offices and BDO office during the tenure of the present State Government was a record in itself.

Thakur said that celebrating 75 years of existence of Himachal Pradesh was an appropriate opportunity to thank every contributor of the State who ensured that Himachal Pradesh progressed in every sphere. He said that this event was aimed at educating the people of the State, particularly the younger generation about the eventful and glorious history of the State.

The chief minister said that these functions were not going well with the Congress leaders and urged the people of the constituency to give their wholehearted support to strengthen the hands of Narendra Modi at the Centre so that the pace of development goes uninterrupted with the double engine government.

He said that all the genuine demands of the area would be considered sympathetically.

MP and State BJP President Suresh Kashyap said that the Congress on the one hand was on so called ‘Bharat Jodo’ Yatra, their leaders were busy in ‘Quit Congress’ campaign at the national and State level. He said that a Special Industrial Package for the State was provided by the former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee and the Bulk Drug Park was sanctioned by the Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Educational, social organisations to take part in mass awareness about glorious tales of India’s freedom: Khattar

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

To spread mass awareness about the glorious tales of India’s freedom, Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar on Tuesday called upon all the educational institutions and all the sections of the society to organise several programmes during the ongoing Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav.

“Organizing such programmes always plays a significant role in making the coming generations aware of the immortal saga of the supreme sacrifices made by the freedom fighters,” said Khattar who visited Indradhanush Auditorium, Panchkula to see the special screening of Swaraj: Bharat Ke Swatantrata Sangram Ki Samagra Gatha.

Gian Chand Gupta, Home Minister Anil Vij, Education Minister Kanwar Pal Gujjar, Transport Minister Mool Chand Sharma, Urban Local Bodies Minister Dr Kamal Gupta, Minister of State for Women and Child Development, Kamlesh Dhand, MP Sonipat Ramesh Kaushik, MP, Rajya Sabha Krishan Lal Panwar, MLA Mohan Badoli and other senior officials were present.

The Chief Minister lauded Doordarshan for making this 75-episode mega show beautifully illustrating the glorious history of India’s freedom struggle.

Through this series, the common man will be able to get every glimpse of the country’s freedom struggle.

“It is believed that our freedom struggle started in 1857, but even before that there were many such revolutionaries and martyrs who made a lot of efforts for the freedom of this country.

They first fought with the Mughals and then fought with the British, in this struggle many great men made supreme sacrifice of their lives, which remained unheard in history,” said Khattar.

The Chief Minister said that in this Azadi ka Amrit

Mahotsav, a commendable effort has been made by Doordarshan for taking a unique initiative to bring together all the available information about the brave martyrs in the form of a 75-episode docu-drama titled Swaraj: Bharat Ke Swatantrata Sangram Ki Samagra Gatha. Today the special screening of the first and third episodes was done.

“The word Swaraj has many meanings. The story of Swaraj begins with the history of our country, culture, language and religion. We have to tell all these things to the new generation. It is the need of the hour that we should tell the true meaning of Swaraj to the younger generation,” said Khattar.

The Chief Minister thanked Prime Minister Narendra Modi for announcing Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav in the year 2020. Numerous patriotic programs have been organized all over the country for two years during Amrit Kaal.

On this occasion, Additional Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister and Director General, Information, Public Relations and Languages Department, Dr Amit Agrawal expressed gratitude to the Chief Minister for attending the screening.

“As the entire country is celebrating the Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav, the Information, Public Relations and Languages Department is continuously organizing programmes across the state during this Amrit Kaal. Doordarshan has also made a serial series of 75 episodes during the same period,” said Dr Amit Agrawal.

TANISHQ UNVEILS ITS SPLENDID FESTIVE COLLECTION- 'ALEKHYA'

~Glorious reflection on the canvas of an artist's imagination~

September: This festive season, immerse yourself in the sheer magic of untold tales about Indian art and celebrate its golden lineage with glory.Tanishq, India's largest jewellery retail brand from the house of Tata has announced the launch of its festive collection 'Alekhya'. Reminisce the beauty of age-old, rich Indian art forms as the magnificent 'Alekhya' collection takes its inspiration from the most notable Miniature and Pichwai paintings. The stunning festive collection reimagines royal splendor, and showcases the inspiration from Indian paintings which have been designed into stunning contemporary jewellery pieces. This year's, Tanishq's festive collection is a one-of-a-kind that exude intricate craftsmanship and vivid hues, much like the ancient art form. Alekhya is a seamless blend of intricacy, heritage and traditional designs with modern sensibilities by giving new life to craftsmanship. The beauty of this collection lies in its inspiration from intricate paintings of Pichwai that depict tales from Lord Krishna's life and Miniature Paintings – a notable tradition of Mughal, Rajasthani&Pahari courts.

Once bitten, twice shy: India to boost firepower at LAC

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Even though stand-offs have ended at most of the friction points at the Line Of Actual Control (LAC) with China in Ladakh, India is not taking any chances and has further bolstered its firepower by deploying artillery weapons including rockets and unmanned aerial vehicles (UAV). More than 100 K 9 Vajra howitzers will also be deployed there soon. Some Vajra are already positioned there.

The artillery units of the Army have deployed K-9 Vajra

Tracked Self-Propelled Howitzers, ultra-light M-777 howitzers, Pinaka rocket systems and Dhanush gun systems, sources said here on Tuesday while outlining plans for operational readiness to meet any challenge.

The Army plans to equip its Artillery units along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) with Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAV) with a range of up to 90 kms.

The Army is looking at procuring UAVs having a range of 15-20 kms as well as those having capabilities to carry out surveillance at a range of up to 80kms having an endurance of four hours. At present, almost all UAVs in the Army's inventory are being operated by the Army Aviation units.

Sources said the Army is set to procure a new batch of 100 more K-9 Vajras howitzers, in addition to 100 such guns ordered in 2017.

The Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) has cleared the proposal for ordering 100 more K9 Vajras. The Request for Proposal (RFP) will be issued soon.

The K9 Vajras were originally procured for deployment in deserts, but following the eastern Ladakh standoff, the Army deployed a significant number of the howitzers in that high-altitude region. Minor adjustments were made for deployment of the tracked howitzers in eastern Ladakh.

The Army is also procuring winterisation kits so the howitzers work in sub-zero temperature, sources said adding the Vajra guns are roaring in high altitude area along Northern borders.

They also said the Army is in the process of procuring Advanced Towed Artillery Gun System (ATAGS) and Mounted Gun Systems (MGS).

Induction of more advanced Pinaka weapon systems is in the offing, adding six more regiments of the systems are being procured and their delivery would commence soon.

The new Pinaka regiments will be equipped with electronically and mechanically improved weapon system capable of firing variety of ammunition over longer ranges, sources said.

One regiment of Pinaka has been inducted along Northern borders in high altitude area after extensive validation, they said, adding the defence ministry has already approved procurement of guided extended range rockets for Pinaka.

The Army is also in the process of procuring 'Loitering Munition System' thereby augmenting its surveillance, target acquisition and precision strike capability.

On the indigenously developed ATAGS, sources said it is in advanced stages of trial. This gun system has many firsts to its credit -- 25-litre chamber, long range, as also rapid and sustained rates of fire. User trials on the gun systems have been satisfactorily conducted and that there are few procedural issues that are being taken care of, they added.

Agencies being misused against us: Didi

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Tuesday targeted the central agencies for "victimising and humiliating" senior Trinamool Congress leaders including Firhad Hakim and late Subrato Mukherjee by arresting them on frivolous charges.

The Chief Minister who was inaugurating the Durga Puja of Ekdalia Evergreen Club once patroned by Mukherjee said the veteran Bengal politician --- who passed away last year --- was felt immensely humiliated after he was arrested by the CBI. The central agency had arrested in Narada pay-of case.

Mukherjee who subsequently got bail is known to have told his Cabinet colleague Hakim who too was briefly arrested in the case that he felt like killing himself and those who arrested him. "Bobby (Hakim) quoted Subrato da as saying that he wished he had two bullets ... one to shoot his tormentors and the one to shoot himself," the Chief Minister said.

"Even they have filed cases against me ... they are doing it to many senior politicians ...

though this is not the time for raising political issues one cannot forget the humiliating that was heaped on Subrato Mukherjee just a few months before his death," the Chief Minister, one of whose senior cabinet colleagues Partha Chatterjee recently went to jail on charges of corruption in school level recruitments said.

"The people who are sending agencies against us will do this till there is that 'umbrella' on their heads ... once that umbrella goes then they too will fall down," Banerjee said while from a similar Durga Puja inaugural programme at Tridhara Sanmilani Club in South Kolkata.

Attacking her critics the Chief Minister said "there are some people whose only business is to spread disinformation against us ... they sit in the television channels and spread canards for cash."

Stopping short of naming the opposition BJP, the Chief Minister said "they only give us bad name without doing anything constructive for the State whereas there own government up there is selling out everything to the private players."

Banerjee on Tuesday electronically inaugurated 400 Durga Pujas throughout Bengal. She also physically inaugurated many more Pujas in Kolkata as a part of her public relations exercise. This year Durga Pujas have received special attention in the wake of its recognition as a world heritage event by the UNESCO.

HC bars CID from probing coal scam

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ KOLKATA

The Calcutta High Court on Tuesday barred the Bengal Criminal Investigation Department from investigating the multi-crore coal smuggling case saying once the Central Bureau of Investigating the case the State agency had no business to intervene in the matter.

The Court of Justice Rajshekh Mantha said that as the case was already being investigated by the CBI there was no need for the CID to intervene. The Judge also directed the Bengal agency to share its information with the CBI.

Gujarat tops SDG-3 health index: UN-Niti Aayog report

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI/AHMEDABAD

Gujarat has emerged the top performers on overall health index among the States as per the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG 3) India for the year 2020-2021 titled Good Health and Well Being.

The dashboard report has been prepared jointly by the United Nations and Niti Aayog where 21 States and all UTs bagged a position in the category of Front Runners (score range between 65 and 99, including both). No State or UT was in the category of Aspirants (with Index score less than 50). Gujarat topped amongst the States under the Goal 3 Index Score between 59 and 86 whereas under the UT Delhi figured between index of 68 and 90 for UTs.

Under the overall performance criteria while India scored 57, Gujarat scored 4th and under the SDG -3 Gujarat too emerged with a ranking 17 against India's 52.

Gujarat SDG excelled even in the categories of reproductive health-care services, including for family planning, information and education, and the integration of reproductive health into national strategies and programmes.

"These indicators have been selected based on the availability of data at the sub-national level and to ensure comparability across States and UTs. Good health is essential to sustainable development and the Agenda 2030 reflects the complexity and interconnectedness of the two.

It takes into account widening economic and social inequalities, rapid urbanisation, threats to the climate and the environment, the continuing burden of HIV and other infectious diseases, and emerging challenges such as non-communicable diseases," said the report.

Over 200 Sikh pilgrims to visit Pak on Oct 28

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Over 200 Sikh pilgrims will visit Hassan Abdal in Pakistan on October 28 to participate in the 'Saka Panja Sahib' centenary event at Gurdwara Panja Sahib, around 45 kms away from Rawalpindi.

Delhi Sikh Gurdwara Management Committee (DSGMC) president Harmmeet Singh Kalka on Tuesday said that the pilgrims will reach Pakistan through the Attari-Wagah border checkpoint on October 28 and return to Amritsar on November 2.

They will also visit Lahore and other gurdwaras in Pakistan, including Nankana Sahib. "A total of 240 pilgrims from across India will reach Pakistan on October 28. Of them, 40 pilgrims will be sent by the DSGMC from Delhi, Noida, Gurugram, Faridabad and Ghaziabad," Kalka said.

He stated the pilgrims must be inoculated with both doses of the Covid vaccine and must undergo a COVID-19 test 72 hours before departing for Pakistan. Besides a negative RTPCR report, the pilgrims will have to undergo a RAT test that will be conducted upon their arrival at the joint check post at the Attari-Wagha border.

"The bus/train fare will be around ₹6000/₹7000 in Pakistan during the visit. The accommodation for the visiting pilgrims will be arranged by the Pakistan government," DSGMC General Secretary Jagdeep Singh Kahlon said. The DSGMC said it will set up a COVID-19 testing camp for the pilgrims at its office in Rakab Ganj Sahib.

Raids against PFI continue, more than 36 detained for interrogation in UP

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Raids against the Popular Front of India members continued on Tuesday as the joint team of Anti-Terrorists Squad (ATS) and Special Task Force (STF) on the inputs of National Investigation Agency (NIA) raided the premises of PFI members at several locations, particularly in western Uttar Pradesh. The sleuths picked up over three dozen suspects for interrogation.

Meanwhile, ADG (Law and Order) Prashant Kumar said that people associated with PFI and its affiliated organisations have been raided by STF, ATS and police simultaneously in several districts, including Meerut, Bulandshahr, Ghaziabad, Shamli. During this, a total of 27 people were detained and legal action will be taken on the basis of the evidence recovered.

According to reports, on the basis of disclosures made by 106 PFI members held during the first raids by NIA on September 22, the investigative agency continued to target the PFI members as they, with the help of local ATS, again raided several places, including in Uttar Pradesh, since the wee hours of Tuesday.

Sources said the Lucknow unit of the Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS) raided the bases of the radical Islamic organisation PFI in Bulandshahr on Tuesday and arrested of two of its members.

However, according to information received from sources, the ATS detained about two dozen people for questioning from the Siana area of Bulandshahr. The ATS raided the house of PFI member Khaliq Ansari at 4 am on Tuesday at Mohalla Uparkot in Bulandshahr City Kotwali area and took him into custody. All mobile phones and documents belonging to Khaliq's family were also confiscated by the ATS. Khaliq Ansari has also been the city president of the Samajwadi Party (SP). At present, he is said to be an active member of MP Asaduddin Owaisi's party AIMIM and Bharatiya Kisan Union.

Khaliq also owns a school called Green Field. Meanwhile, his family claimed that Khaliq Ansari had joined PFI four months ago and resigned from its membership a month later.

The family claimed that a large number of police personnel took Khaliq Ansari with them. The ATS also arrested a person named Afzal in Mohalla Chaudhriyan of Sayana. Afzal is a lawyer by profession and practises in Meerut.

After Bulandshahr, the raids were conducted at the locations of PFI in Aligarh and suspects were taken to the Quarsi police station for further interrogation.

In Shamli, the teams of NIA and ATS detained four people associated with PFI and its political wing SDPI. Sources said that the security agencies picked up four suspects from different places while raiding Kairana and intensive interrogation was going on.

At night, the teams of ATS and NIA reached Mamaur village of Kairana from where two people (Maulana Zahid and Sabir) were picked up.

According to sources, Maulana Zahid is the elder brother of Maulana Sajid, who was arrested earlier. Sabir is said to be the younger brother.

Apart from these, Jabir from Paonti Kalan village and Sarwar Ali from Gogwan village were also picked up by the security agencies.

In search of the PFI members, the ATS team also raided localities under the Lisadi Gate and police station and Sarapur area of Meerut. The ATS took half-a-dozen people to grill them in the local police stations. Some objectionable items were also recovered from them.

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Samajwadi Party chief Sakhilesh Yadav is all set to be re-elected as the national president for the third consecutive term at the party's national convention in Lucknow on Thursday. The meeting of the state executive of the party will be held on Wednesday.

Party's Uttar Pradesh unit chief Naresh Uttam Patel is also likely to retain his post, SP sources said. Akhilesh Yadav and Naresh Uttam were elected to the posts they are holding at the SP's national convention in Agra on October 5, 2017. The first day session will commence at 10:15 am with the hoisting of the party flag by Akhilesh Yadav. Later, Yadav will deliver the inaugural address which will be followed by presentation of economic and political resolutions.

SP general secretary and returning officer Ram Gopal Yadav will complete the process of the election of party's national president. The valedictory address will be delivered by Akhilesh Yadav on Thursday.

UP Govt to further strengthen security system of banks, ATMs

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

In order to further strengthen the security system of banks, the state government on Tuesday said that all safety measures should be in place to avert any untoward incident. Instructions were also issued to make internet banking better and more convenient.

Addressing the 29th meeting of the State-Level Security Committee at the Reserve Bank of India in Gomti Nagar on Tuesday, Principal Secretary (Home) Sanjay Prasad said that surveillance systems and data storage need to be made more effective to further strengthen the security system of banks.

Adequate arrangement of CCTVs should be made mandatory in all branches, currency chests and ATM booths while security equipment, alarms, sirens, etc installed in banks should be checked regularly, he said.

For proper arrangements for fire safety in banks and currency chests, the standards laid down in the fire audit were also discussed in detail. Instructions were given to officials concerned to make adequate arrangements for fire prevention in all banks and conduct fire audit compulsorily. From time to time, it will also be monitored by the officials of the bank and fire department. Instructions were also given to the officials concerned to strictly check the circulation of counterfeit currency.

Various points related to safe movement of cash used in the currency chests of banks, especially for their transportation to other states, were discussed in detail. Discussions were also held on making the security system of currency-chests and ATMs more effective. Special emphasis was laid on strengthening effective coordination between bank branches and local police stations.

The meeting was attended by Home Secretary BD Palson, Regional Director of Reserve Bank of India (Lucknow) Dr Balu Kenchappa and Regional Director of Kanpur Reserve Bank of India Dr Ishan Shukla, along with representatives of major banks working in the state, senior police officers, etc.

Jaiveer Singh slams Azam for refusing Y security

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Tourism and Culture Minister Jaiveer Singh on Tuesday slammed Samajwadi Party leader Azam Khan for returning the 'Y' security provided to him by the Yogi Adityanath Government.

"It was the erstwhile Samajwadi Party Government which vitiated discipline in police and introduced the element of caste in police administration. Azam Khan is reaping what he had sowed when he was a Minister in the SP government," the Minister said.

Yogi Govt rejigs UP planning commission, names it STC

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Taking a cue from the Centre, the Uttar Pradesh Government reconstituted the State Planning Commission and re-named it as State Transformation Commission. The decision was taken in the Cabinet meeting here on Tuesday.

"The State Transformation Commission (STC) will be headed by the Chief Minister while the Finance Minister, both the deputy CMs, agriculture minister, social welfare minister, panchayati raj development minister, industrial development minister, jal shakti minister and urban development minister will be its members," Energy Minister AK Sharma said while briefing

The deputy chairman of the STC will be an economist or social scientist of fame. Other members include chief secretary, additional chief secretaries and principal secretaries of different departments, including finance, agriculture, rural development, medical and health, industrial development, and planning.

The commission will also have non-govt members, who are experts in the social sector, agriculture and economy. These nominated members will have a term of three years, which can be extended up to two years.

"This commission will act as a think tank and formulate policies after having discussions with experts of different departments. Policy formation is the big work which involves new skills and innovation," Sharma said, adding that it would also help in making UP a $1-trillion economy.

He said the STC would work with the available resources in the state. The problems that the state is facing will be identified by the commission and ways will be found for resolving the same. Use of the PPP model will also be discussed. The present scheme and their outcome will be evaluated by the commission.

The Planning Commission in UP was set up in 1972 and it helped the state government in formulating policies by identifying need-based areas.

Setback for AAP

Aam Aadmi Party's vicious campaign against Delhi's Lieutenant Governor backfires

The Delhi High Court's decision to restrain Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) and its leaders from leveling "false" allegations against Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena is a rap on the knuckles for the Arvind Kejriwal-led party. More so because the court has also directed them to take down all libelous posts, videos, and tweets against him on social media. This is not the first time that AAP and its leaders have been forced to retract after making all sorts of allegations against senior leaders of various parties. From Nitish Gadkari to Arun Jaitley, Sheila Dikshit to Kapil Sibal, Akali Dal leader Bikram Singh Majithia to Ramesh Bidhuri, the AAP has a record of making unfounded allegations against its political rivals. At the height of the Anna Hazare movement, Kejriwal and his associates missed no opportunity in targeting their political rivals by doing everything possible to tarnish their images in a bid to project themselves as crusaders against corruption. After they came to power in 2015, leaders of the fledgling outfit were burdened with a slew of defamation cases. Realizing that the majority of his allegations were unsubstantiated, Kejriwal and senior leaders of his party went on an apology spree". It was expected that having learned their lessons and acquired some degree of political maturity over the years, the AAP leaders would be far more restrained in leveling allegations without producing any evidence. But the hit-and-run squad of the AAP seemed to still thrive on mudslinging. Delhi LG VK Saxena was this time the target of the AAP after he ordered a CBI inquiry into Delhi's excise policy. AAP leaders not only targeted Saxena but also tried to drag his daughter into their net.

Without producing a shred of evidence, they accused Saxena of laundering nearly ₹1,400 cr of demonetized currency in 2016 allegedly by putting pressure on employees of the Khadi and Village Industries Commission, when Saxena was its chairman. The fact remains that Saxena had ordered an inquiry into the laundering of around ₹17lakhs by the KVIC treasurer and another employee. It is incomprehensible how AAP leaders arrived at the figure of ₹1,400 cr and flung it without a second thought at a constitutional functionary. Saxena not only rubbished the charges but also approached the Delhi HC against this mudslinging at him by AAP, its leaders Atishi Singh, Saurabh Bhargava, Durgesh Pathak, Sanjay Singh, and Jasmine Shah. Saxena has also sought damages and compensation of ₹2.5 crore along with interest from the political party and its five leaders. Saxena had earlier sent a legal notice to AAP and its leaders asking them to issue a press release "directing all members of the party and all persons associated with it, whether directly or indirectly, to cease from spreading and circulating false, defamatory, malicious and unsubstantiated statements". Now that the HC has ruled in his favor, AAP leaders may have a tough legal battle on their hands against the LG.

Jaishankar's US visit

On an official visit, the Minister is taking on the US media and the administration alike

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar is on 11-day US visit and his visit is turning out to be an exercise in plain speaking. The foreign minister arrived in the US on Sunday to attend the United Nations General Assembly. He took on the US media as well as the US administration for their anti-India stand. Right from the day, he arrived in the US Jaishankar has been meeting Indian Americans, and US press and met his US counterpart Antony Blinken. The reason for his visit officially is to 'enable a high-level review of the multifaceted bilateral agenda and strengthen cooperation on regional and global issues to further consolidate the India-US strategic partnership.' However, it is turning out to be a significant official visit that can redefine the US-India relations. To put things in perspective the Joe Biden administration has not been supportive of the Modi government's policies and practices. In fact, to make things worse the US press has been rather critical of Prime Minister Modi for his right-wing stance and rising hate crimes in the country. But then it is not about the Indian government but the country they are being critical of. Whatever happens in India must be resolved back home and in this regard, S Jaishankar's visit can be seen as critical.

The External Affairs Minister took on the US media in a hilarious way saying that they would report only the negatives and shun the good part. He also retorted to the US media's concerns about the situation in Kashmir. Ahead of a meeting with his US counterpart Antony Blinken, foreign minister S Jaishankar made no bones about India's concerns over the $450 million sustainment package for Pakistan's F-16 fleet. Saying Washington was 'not fooling anybody' by claiming the fighter jets were meant for counter-terrorism purposes in Afghanistan and elsewhere. Jaishankar also said that the US-Pakistan relationship did not serve the interests of either country. In the present geopolitics, the US and India are natural allies as China's expansion is a big cause of concern for India and cannot be contained without the US on its side. The US also needs India to counter Putin's threats and use India as a mediator if need be, given India's proximity to Russia. But at the same time, India must assert its positions and make clear its national interests which Jaishankar is doing right now.

Facts, factoids and their interpretation

Though both sound similar, there is a vast difference between facts and factoids, and we must differentiate between their implications as well

The fact always states something actual as opposed to the imagination, whereas a factoid means an inaccurate statement or statistic believed to be true because of broad repetition. Now the question arises as to whether the facts can be affected by the deliberate spread of factoids. And here comes the issue of the problem of interpretation.

Any standard issue can be interpreted positively on negatively. Deliberate bias (the purposeful misrepresentation of data to advance an agenda) of the interpreter can negatively present a situation. Because of the importance of the tool of interpretation in influencing behavioural and electoral dynamics, some universities keep the problem of interpretation as a subject in a political science course.

The problem with interpretation is that it can present a factoid as a fact with continuous repetitions. The deliberate misrepresentation of facts or its distortion with bias or vendetta can precipitate unwanted situations undermining the position of the society, government, or nation. Freedom of expression doesn't confer the right to distort the facts, as this may foster serious implications.

Norman Mailer actually coined the word factoid. He used this word in his book Marilyn in 1973. He stated that factoids are news that have no existence before appearing in a newspaper or magazine meant to manipulate emotions in silent majority. Factoids though appear as facts but actually are not. Without exaggeration, it can be stated that the fangs of factoids or fake news can damage the democratic process and as such enormous part of public safety. Factoids also create mistrust affecting the social matrix. As it is Democratic system is always a soft target.

Factoids or fake information can be put under check by many regulatory bodies like the Press Council of India and the News Broadcasters Association etc. Relevant sections of I.P.C can be attracted and used to curb factoids or fake news. Apart from that section 66 of the I.T Act, 2000, the use of civil and criminal cases of defamation can put wane on its spread. Many provisions of acts and laws can directly or indirectly control the spread of fake information.

Factoids or fake news (sophisticated disinformation campaigns) pose a threat to any system including a democratic one. Fake news factors have been researched in six different ways by E.C Tandoc and others. These include news satire, news parody, news fabrication, photo manipulation, advertising, and public relations and propaganda. Whatever manifestation it does appear, it does harm society and the nation. Examples are many in regard to the spread of factoids and fake news causing enormous damage to individuals and the country. In regard to the Problem of Interpretation, it can be said that all philosophies, both actual and possible, rest on cognitional activity either as correctly conceived or as distorted by mistaken orientations. Coming to the definition part, an Interpretation may be stated as the act of explaining,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BAN RABID OUTFIT PFI

Sir — The second round of crackdown on the Popular Front of India (PFI) continues with fresh arrests in a follow-up to the September 22 raids in a multi-agency operation spearheaded by the NIA for allegedly supporting terror activities in the country. Whenever the name of PFI is in the news, one can be sure that something terrible has happened somewhere in the country; such is the legacy of this outfit. Often, its members can be seen swearing by the Indian Constitution calling for upholding 'secular' ideals and democracy. However, in reality, PFI is a radical Islamic extremist organisation whose members have indulged in rioting to murder.

It also shares close links with banned Islamic terrorist organisation Students Islamic Movement of India (SIMI). The PFI is also accused of brainwashing Hindu women and marrying them off to Muslim men in order to change the nation's demography. In 2012, the Kerala Government had informed the State High Court that PFI's activities are inimical to the safety of the country and that it is "nothing but a resurrection of the banned outfit SIMI". It's high time the rabid outfit is banned just like its predecessor, SIMI.

CONGRESS IN CATCH-22 SITUATION

Sir — Whatever is happening in Rajasthan Congress is due to the faulty planning of its Central leadership without keeping in mind the ground reality. It may be the first time that the State leadership has challenged the Central leadership and the MLAs refused to meet the Central observers one on one, preferring to meet them collectively. Instead of meeting the observers, the legislators met the Speaker and submitted their resignations to him. These MLAs do not want that Deputy Chief Minister Rajesh Pilot be declared the Chief Minister.

Top honour for Asha Parekh

Congratulations to veteran film actor-director-producer Asha Parekh, who will soon be feted with the Lifetime Achievement honour for her contribution to cinema at this year's Dadasaheb Phalke Awards by President Droupadi Murmu, Union Information & Broadcasting Minister Anurag Thakur has announced. The Dadasaheb Phalke selection jury decided to recognise and award Asha Parekh for her exemplary lifetime contribution to Indian cinema. The Dadasaheb Phalke Award shall be presented to her at the 68th National Film Awards in Vigyan Bhawan. In a career spanning almost five decades, Asha Parekh started off as a child artiste at the age of 10 with Maa under the screen name Baby Asha Parekh, which was directed by Bimal Roy for Bombay Talkies.

Bimal Roy was asked to come to Bombay from Kolkata to direct the film for the studio, which was going through bad times. Producer Subodh Mukherjee and writer-director Nasir Hussain cast her as the heroine in Dil Deke Dekho opposite Shammi Kapoor, which made her a huge star. In 1992, she was honoured with the Padma Shri for her contribution to cinema. Three years later, Asha featured in Andolan and subsequently handed her boots after her cameo appearance in the 1999 film Sar Aankhon Par.

rency and has exhausted billions of dollars of currency assets towards this end. The fundamental observations on India's continued devaluation of the rupee against the dollar show it is not a good sign. The reason remains the same: Energy, at the bottom of the inflation pyramid, must be secured at all costs.

Power is still very expensive and that'll drag India down and it'll have to step up the nuclear mix. Then there's the need to keep food, fuel and fertiliser costs under control and the rest will automatically follow. The same applies to inflation, hovering around 7-7.5 per cent whereas it's at least 8-9 per cent in the west and elsewhere. A kilo of vegetable costs ₹100 or more; all the food grains and other articles which are grown locally have also become costlier. It has become difficult for common people to survive.

reframing, or otherwise showing someone's own understanding of something. In lexiconic semantics interpretation as such means explaining; explicating; elucidating and projecting the hidden meaning of a parable. Interpretation enables effective communication between people all over the world. Proper interpretation of facts and their dissemination paves the way for a proper appreciation and perception of things for their appropriate utilisation. Any healthy developing nation needs (free flowing) dissemination of factual news sans distortion.

Positive interpretation has an affirmative connotation in any system of government. A half-filled up glass can be delineated either way as half full or half empty. A deliberate attempt to create perceptual distortion is deplorable. In any developing nation, the role of media (including social media) becomes important so as to present the right picture before the people discern reality and pursue socio-economic advancement.

What is the solution to this problem?

There is a saying that when communication stops, grapevine starts, meaning thereby that when communication stops, rumours establish their obnoxious existence. Frequent announcement of facts over media is a must to throttle rumours or any kind of misinformation. The second point is that immediate appropriate legal action/actions should be taken against the persons responsible for creating smoke screens. Moreover, such deliberate actions should be nipped in the bud thereby giving no scope to anybody for spreading falsehood and going with impunity. Especially in any crisis situation not only the government but citizens should come forward to build up the confidence of the people with positive information.

In the case of factoid, there lurks the ugly intention for misinterpretation to the detriment of individual/society or the nation. Whereas dissemination of correct information based on facts along with positive solutions is not only the duty of the media but also every single citizen to get over the problems of intended misinterpretation and misrepresentation.

THE RECIPE FOR ANARCHY

Moonlighting cannot be justified, for it fails loyalty test to contracts

PRAMOD PATHAK

Right and wrong, fair and unfair, ethical and unethical are no longer subjects that have standard definitions. Logic, convenience, personal interests, hedonism are the determining features that influence the judgment or opinion about an action or conduct. Universal benchmarks are missing.

These are strange times. No one likes to be wrong so everyone thinks he is right and defends his viewpoints with logic which veers largely around commerce. We are into an era of commerce. The moonlighting issue of the IT services is no different. It is also about commerce. But the matter needs to be discussed in a wider perspective. Ends cannot justify the means.

One big IT company chairman has recently admitted that the company has fired 300 of its employees in the past few months for working for direct competitors. Now here comes another question. Does it imply that the employees working in one industry can work beyond office hours or weekends in some other industry that is not in the same business?

Not easy to answer because it cannot be considered ethical. Quite intriguing why this matter is not discussed in that context and even the chairman who described moonlighting as cheating is trying to soften his stand. It is not clear what he means when he says that employees can have a transparent dialogue with the organisation about their second or weekend work.

Why this ambiguity? Will the disclosure allow people to work for two different companies? Even if some companies may like to take a more generous view of the phenomenon, the fact remains that the practice of moonlighting cannot be a fair practice.

Rightly, some CEOs said that moonlighting is an ethical issue. Every employee who joins a company enters into a contract which has two aspects. An explicit one which is the appointment letter that mentions about the job conditions, duties and responsibilities, etc. But there is also an unwritten contract, the implicit one which requires that the employee should be devoted and loyal to the company.

Holding two jobs may thus be antithetical to this. Even if moonlighting may not exactly be about one person having two jobs, it certainly is some kind of opportunity cost that the company will have to bear. Full-time employment should not go along with part time employment. Conflict of interest of one kind or the other is likely to arise. And we have seen what kind of damage conflict of interest can do.

Moonlighting, of course, is not something which is a new phenomenon and has been a concern in the past, too. The only difference was that in those times people engaging in moonlighting would do it in a hush-hush manner as they realised fully well that it was not fair.

From teachers to doctors, earning extra money outside the scope of the respective jobs was happening. But people were not seeking approval for the act as its fairness was always under the cloud. Conscience during those days still existed. However, as commerce is driving everything these days, such values do not count.

Ethics is something that these days is only for the sake of writing essays or being taught in schools and colleges. It is no longer a practice. And even bigger irony is that some sections want it to be legalised and are creating pressure groups to justify moonlighting.

The big question is where is society headed for? Anomie ultimately leads to anarchy.

Free fertiliser industry by removing controls

UTTAM GUPTA

A prospective buyer will have to think a hundred times before deciding to buy a fertiliser Public Sector Undertaking as these are prone to inefficiencies

In a big-bang approach to privatisation of Central Public Sector Undertakings (CPSUs) announced in the Budget for 2021-22, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had divided them in two broad categories - strategic and non-strategic. The strategic includes four subgroups: atomic energy, space and defense; transport and telecommunications; power, petroleum, coal and other minerals; and banking, insurance and financial services, non-strategic includes all other sectors such as industrial and consumer goods, hotel and tourist services, trading, and marketing, etc.

As per the plan, the government would privatise all CPSUs in the non-strategic sector (all loss-making enterprises in this category will be closed). The government has made some initial moves in taking this forward. The CPSUs are undertakings in which the Union Government has majority ownership and control with shareholding of 51 per cent or more.

A Committee of Group Officers (CGO) headed by NITI Aayog CEO Parameswaran Iyer has reportedly prepared a note mentioning eight PSU firms in the fertilizer sector which may be taken up for privatization. These include among others Rashtriya Chemicals and Fertilizers Ltd (RCFL), National Fertilisers Ltd (NFL), The Fertilisers And Chemicals Travancore Ltd (FACT) and Fertilizer Corporation of India Ltd (FCIL), besides Projects & Development India Ltd (PDIL) whose privatisation is already under way.

Given the importance of plant nutrients in raising crop yield and achieving food security, for decades, successive political dispensations had considered fertiliser to be a strategic sector and encouraged setting up of fertiliser plants in the public sector besides formulating policies to attract private investment.

At the core of these policies, the government controls the maximum retail price (MRP) of fertilisers at a low level, without any relation to the cost of production and distribution which is higher. To ensure that the manufacturers don't suffer loss and remain viable despite shortfall in realization from sale to farmers, it reimburses to them the excess of cost over MRP.

Prior to the 1990s, for urea as well as non-urea fertilisers (around two dozen types of phosphate and potash fertilizers), manufacturers got reimbursement of the cost/subsidy on 'unit-specific' basis taking into account efficiency norms such as capacity utilisation, energy consumption, capital related charges or CRC, including return (albeit guaranteed) on shareholders funds, other fixed cost, delivered cost of gas and other inputs, etc.

Following decontrol of non-urea fertilisers (1992), the government progressively moved towards giving 'uniform' subsidies on per nutrient basis for all manufacturers of these fertilisers (since April 2010) even as they are free to fix the MRP. In case of urea, reimbursement of subsidy on unit-specific basis continues.

(The author is a policy analyst)

The policies led to proliferation of capacities in both the public and private sector (besides plants set up by cooperative giants such as Indian Farmers Fertilizer Cooperative Ltd or IFFCO). Meanwhile, majority of the fertilizer CPSUs have shown below par performance (for instance, during 2019-20, six CPSUs reported profit of a mere Rs 1,293 crore) even as a number of them especially those under FCIL and Hindustan Fertiliser Corporation of India Limited (HFCL) have been incurring losses year-after-year.

Some plants—Ramagundum (in erstwhile Andhra Pradesh), Talcher (Odisha) and Haldia (West Bengal) set up in the late 1970s/early 1980s—were babies born sick. These CPSUs have been on the ventilator for long with the Union government pumping in thousands of crores of rupees to keep them alive. But it was under the Narendra Modi-led Government that revival plans of the plants viz Sindri (Jharkhand), Gorakhpur (Uttar Pradesh), Barauni (Bihar), Talcher (Odisha) and Ramagundam (AP) were approved about five years back and commissioned in 2021/2022.

Now, as per the 2021-22 policy, all fertiliser CPSUs need to be put on the block. Having pumped in thousands of crores on their revival (close to Rs 40,000 crore in the aforementioned five plants), the Government's decision to privatize them is anomalous. Such a sale won't yield an amount anywhere near the money invested in their revival. Yet, the sale has to happen as the policy demands so. There is another compelling reason.

The PSUs are prone to 'inefficiencies' and 'mismanagement' courtesy, bureaucratic and political interference. This was admitted by the Ministry of Finance (MoF) which in a recent order barred PSUs to bid for other PSUs. It observed that the "transfer of management control of the undertaking from the Government to any other Government organization or state Government will result in continuation of the "inherent inefficiencies" of state-run firms".

But it is not going to be a cake walk. A major impediment has to do with the lengthy and cumbersome process of approvals and red tape. Under the extant procedures, the Niti Aayog identifies companies for strategic disinvestment which are then considered by the Core Group of Secretaries on Divestment (CGD), a long-drawn process by itself. It then goes to the Alternative Mechanism (AM)—a group of ministers, including those of Finance and Road Transport & Highways—for approval. Strategic divestment involves around 12 steps, which inevitably lead to delays in starting the process. And when the Government enters the market, the conditions may not be favorable. Another major impediment has to do with the very fact of all pervading control on almost every aspect of fertilizers viz. manufacturing/ import, handling, movement, distribution, pricing (this covers both the price paid by the farmer or MRP as well as the price to the manufacturer), subsidy, including payment mechanisms. Each of these factors affects the financial health of a fertilizer firm.

In case of urea, the 'unit-specific' system of allowing cost and in turn, subsidy (cost minus MRP) makes the firm even more vulnerable to the whims and fancies of the bureaucrat (and his team of CAs) who determines how much of each of the cost components such as CRC, other fixed cost, delivered cost of gas and other inputs, etc., is to be allowed for subsidy payment.

A prospective buyer will have to think a hundred times before deciding to buy a fertilizer PSU as his ability to make a decent profit (despite his own high efficiency in running the plant) will depend on his ability to manage the bureaucrats. Being under PSUs where cost of plants were inflated resulting in high retention price, the dependence and resultant vulnerability post-acquisition will be even greater.

Given the current state of affairs, prospects of selling fertilizer PSUs are bleak. Things can change only if the government plays hardball to remove the two impediments. It should unshackle the process of share sale from red tape. It may set up a holding company (HC) where all its shares in PSUs are vested. The HC should be fully empowered to take all decisions with regard to valuation, quantum of shares, timing of sale, etc. Secondly, it should unshackle the fertiliser sector by removing all controls and giving subsidies directly to farmers.

Playtime is key to intelligence, academic success

Playtime must find place of importance in the day's routine of children, for key life lessons are learnt in this manner

The United Nations High Commission for Human Rights recognises play as a fundamental right for every child. Play time must be looked at as an opportunity to enhance overall development of children and not something that is adopted at the expense of academic achievement. Thus, play is not an antithesis to brain and whole child development, but an important aspect of it.

Very often, children are told that they can play once they finish their homework. In other instances, play time is used synonymously as organised sports classes. However, play is characterised by choice, wonder, and delight. Hence, children have to be provided with adequate opportunities both for structured and unstructured play. Unstructured play, also known as free play, is predominantly child-led. Children design these experiences for themselves to seek moments of happiness and excitement. These opportunities look like making up games and creating rules of fair play. Play-time structured or led by adults, while beneficial, reaps limited benefits.

SMRITI PARIKH

(The author is head of literacy, The Acres Foundation)

The idea is to make children participate in experiences that are self-directed moments. Research indicates that it is the unstructured moments in which children experience wonder and delight. During real play, children shape the meaning they derive from their worlds and ascribe the same to other experiences.

In choosing types of games, critical thought and self-awareness are required. Children's day is scheduled for the routine of the day or the timetable of the school. Children get limited opportunities to experience agency and choice. While engaging in playtime, children are not only making conscious choices about who to play with but also what and how to play. They even make decisions regarding team members; when does one win, and strategize about how they can win. These decisions which seem insignificant are building blocks of executive functions.

Same skills are employed when organising self-study, choosing careers, and also when making emotional life choices. Exposure to decision making and evaluating provides a framework for thinking.

Children acquire tools such as pros and cons, logical reasoning and even organising their emotions. They learn to collaborate with peers to arrive at a conclusion.

Unstructured play gives students the language to communicate their own thoughts respectfully and negotiation tactics. Furthermore, team-based play inculcates essential leadership skills as well.

Play time, which engrosses children in a state of wonder, develops key areas of the brain responsible for constructing thought and imagination. These skills are also useful for projection into the future. A child who can imagine make-believe scenarios during play would also be adept at imagining his or her success in the future. They would be able to think through who they want to be when they grow up. A core component of achievement is the ability to set vision and goals for an unknown tomorrow.

Playtime builds this awareness of scenarios that feel joyful and motivating. Such awareness helps them take better steps towards personal achievement, such as, staying in friendships, which bring a feeling of happiness and safety, choosing subject areas which instil pride, and eventually staying in professions, which harness one's full potential.

Delight is an underrated aspect of a child's life. Much like adults, experiencing happiness provides encouragement to take on challenging situations and embrace resilience. Feeling truly satisfied empowers the child to do more.

When they experience delight, they find it within their potential to do something just a tad bit more challenging than what they could do the last time. So, the arena for hide and seek becomes larger or the introduction of special powers during play is often seen. Building the schema of tackling tough tasks after experiencing joy is essential for other aspects as well. One may notice children doing simpler content before attempting to study the more difficult subjects. One might also notice children being able to do more challenging work when they are working with their friends. It is the feeling of happiness that propels them forward.

As long as we continue to look at playing as the opposite of academics, we are doing a disservice to children. As adults, we engage with play too, through board games or other party games. Try and remember how you felt in that moment, and how it might have impacted your functioning. Now imagine how much children could benefit if they got to experience that consistently. How well it might prepare them for a complex, challenging world.

Russia to transfer wounded in school shooting to Moscow

AP ■ MOSCOW

More than a dozen people wounded in a school shooting in central Russia will be taken to Moscow for further treatment, authorities said Tuesday, a day after a gunman killed 17 people and wounded 24 others.

Health Minister Mikhail Murashko said a medical evacuation is planned for 15 of the injured, including 13 children and two adults. He said three of them are in critical condition.

The shooting in Monday took place in School No. 88 in Izhevsk, a city 960 kilometers (600 miles) east of Moscow in the Udmurtia region, and was one of the deadliest school shootings in Russia. The gunman, a 34-year-old graduate of the school, killed himself after the shooting.

School shootings aren't common in Russia, but have become more frequent in recent years.

A shooter killed six people in a university in Perm a year ago. Just months before that, a gunman opened fire at a school in the city of Kazan, killing seven students and two teachers with a registered weapon. A student at a college in the Russia-annexed Crimean Peninsula killed 20 students and himself in 2018.

Russian authorities last year sought to tighten gun regulations in the wake of the shootings.

Russia's Investigative Committee identified the gunman in Izhevsk as Artyom Kazantsev and said he was wearing a black T-shirt bearing "Nazi symbols." No details about his motives have been released, and an investigation is underway. But local officials said he was registered as a patient at a psychiatric facility.

The government of Udmurtia said 17 people, including 11 children, were killed in the shooting. Alexander Brechalov, the regional leader, said in a statement Tuesday that the victims included elementary and high-school students, as well as teachers, security guards and another school employee.

Ukrainian POWs face systematic mistreatment: UN rights team

AP ■ KYIV

UN human rights investigators say Ukrainian prisoners of war appear to be facing "systematic" mistreatment — including torture — both when they are captured and when they are transferred into areas controlled by Russian forces or Russia itself.

The head of a monitoring mission set up by the UN human rights office said Tuesday that Russia must address such mistreatment, which amounts a "grave violation" of international law.

The mission issued its first comprehensive look at rights violations and abuses committed by both sides of the war between Feb 1 and July 31 — covering the first months after Russian forces invaded Ukraine on Feb. 24. The mission, which tracks the situation daily, has been monitoring rights in Ukraine ever since a conflict involving Russian-backed insurgents began in eastern Ukraine in 2014.

The report, based on a strict methodology to verify claims, documented crimes including enforced disappearances, arbitrary detention, summary executions, torture, and sexual violence — much of which have been brought to light by rights monitors, advocacy groups and the news media in recent months.

The team hopes to chronicle rights abuses and violations in detail, in hopes that perpetrators can be held to account one day.

On prisoners of war, the team said it received "unimpeded access" to places of internment in areas controlled by Ukraine's government — but not in Russia or areas controlled by Russian forces or their affiliates.

In the cases it documented, the mission found that the "vast majority" of Ukrainian prisoners of war were subjected to "torture or cruel and degrading treatment by the detaining power," a statement from the mission said.

Matilda Bogner, the mission's chief, said such mistreatment of Ukrainian POWs "appears to be systematic, not only upon their capture, but also following their transfer to places of internment" both in areas of Russian-controlled Ukraine and Russia itself.

The team also found that some Russian POWs had been subjected to torture and ill-treatment, mostly during capture or during transit to places of internment.

Bogner called for investigations of all allegations of violations of international law, and prosecution as warranted, in connection with the situation in Ukraine.

98K Russians enter Kazakhstan after call-up, say officials

AP ■ TALLINN (ESTONIA)

About 98,000 Russians have crossed into Kazakhstan in the week since President Vladimir Putin announced a partial mobilization of reservists to fight in Ukraine, Kazakh officials said on Tuesday, as men seeking to avoid the call-up continued to flee by land and air into neighbouring countries.

Kazakhstan and Georgia, both part of the former Soviet Union, appeared to be the most popular destinations for those crossing by car, bicycle or on foot. Those with visas for Finland or Norway have also been coming in by land.

Plane tickets abroad had sold out quickly despite steep prices. Russia's Defense Ministry has said that only about 300,000 people with prior combat or other military service would be called up, but reports have emerged from various Russian regions that recruiters were rounding up men outside that description.

That fuelled fears of a much broader call-up, sending droves of men of all ages and backgrounds to airports and border crossings.

In announcing the number of Russians crossing the border, Kazakhstan Interior Minister Marat Akhmetzhanov said authorities will not send those who are avoiding the call-up back home, unless they are on an international wanted list for criminal charges.

German police raid yacht linked to Russian oligarch

AP ■ BERLIN

More than 60 police officers raided a luxury yacht in northern Germany linked to a Russian businessman in connection with alleged breaches of sanctions and money laundering rules, officials said on Tuesday.

The statement by Frankfurt prosecutors identified the suspect only as a 69-year-old Russian businessman. But German weekly Der Spiegel identified him as oligarch Alisher Usmanov, a close ally of President Vladimir Putin.

Frankfurt prosecutors said the suspect of their investigation is alleged to have conducted several transactions between 2017 and 2022 using a complex network of offshore companies to hide the origin of the payments, which amounted to millions of euros.

Usmanov is subject to sanctions in the United States and the European Union.

The raid comes the week after state and federal police searched 24 properties connected to Usmanov in the German states of Bavaria, Baden-Wuerttemberg, Hamburg and Schleswig-Holstein.

A spokesman with the Frankfurt prosecutor's office confirmed that Tuesday's yacht raid was part of the same investigation.

Japan protests Russia's expulsion of official, denies spying

AP ■ TOKYO

Japan protested to Russia on Tuesday over the detention of a Japanese consulate official on espionage allegations, denying the allegations and accusing Russian authorities of abusive interrogation.

The official was detained on Sept 22 and interrogated with his eyes covered, his hands and head pressed and immobilised, Japan's Foreign Ministry said, prompting it to lodge a protest and to demand an apology.

On Monday, Russia's Foreign Ministry notified Japan's Embassy in Moscow that the official had been declared "persona non grata," or an undesirable person, on grounds he conducted illegal espionage activity and it ordered him to leave the country within 48 hours.

"The alleged illegal activity insisted by the Russian side is completely groundless," Chief Cabinet Secretary Hirokazu Matsuno told reporters.

Matsuno said Japan's Vice Foreign Minister Takeo Mori summoned Russia's ambassador and strongly protested, demanding a formal apology from the Russian government and measures to prevent a recurrence.

The Russian authorities' treatment of the consulate official was "intimidating" during the interrogation, adding that such handling of consular officials violates the Vienna convention and a Japan-Russo treaty over consular affairs, Matsuno said. "It is extremely regrettable and absolutely unacceptable," Matsuno said.

The consular official has since been released with no health problems and is set to return to Japan on Wednesday.

The dispute is the latest example of worsening ties between the two countries over Japan's sanctions against Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Japan and Russia had expelled a number of diplomats, while Russia scrapped peace negotiations with Japan that includes talks on Russian-held disputed islands that Japan says the Soviets took at the end of the World War II.

Russia said Monday that it had detained a Japanese consulate official based in the eastern city of Vladivostok for soliciting "restricted" information, according to Russian news agencies.

"A Japanese diplomat was detained red-handed while receiving, in exchange for financial reward, restricted information about Russia's cooperation with another country in the Asia-Pacific region," the FSB, the KGB's successor agency, was cited as saying through its press service, without specifying the third country.

The FSB identified the official as Tatsunori Motoki, accusing him of seeking out information on "the impact of Western sanctions" on the surrounding Primoriye region, according to news agencies.

The Kremlin has repeatedly referred to Japan as a "hostile" country, a designation it shares with the US, EU countries and their Western allies, since Tokyo joined them in slapping sanctions on Moscow after Russian troops entered Ukraine on February 24.

Preordained vote to wrap up in Russia-held areas of Ukraine

AP ■ KYIV

The final day of voting was taken place in Russian-held regions of Ukraine Tuesday, a referendum that is expected to serve as a pretext for their annexation by Moscow but that is rejected as a sham by Kyiv and its Western allies.

As the vote was nearing its end, a senior Kremlin official issued the bluntest warning yet that Russia is prepared to use nuclear weapons to halt a Ukrainian push to reclaim Russia-occupied areas.

The five-day voting, in which residents are asked whether they want their regions to become part of Russia, has been anything but free or fair. Tens of thousands of residents had already fled the regions amid the war, and images shared by those who remained showed armed Russian troops going door-to-door to pressure Ukrainians into voting.

The balloting on Tuesday was held at polling stations.

The Kremlin is expected to move immediately to absorb the regions once the voting is over, with President Vladimir Putin expected to declare their incorporation into Russia later this week. Russian media also speculated that Putin may follow up on last week's order of partial mobilisation by declaring martial law and shutting the nation's borders for all men of fighting age.

The mobilisation has triggered a massive exodus of men from the country, fueled protests in many regions across Russia and sparked occasional acts of violence. On Monday, a gunman opened fire in an enlistment office in a Siberian city and gravely wounded the local chief military recruitment officer.

The shooting came after scattered arson attacks on enlistment offices.

In the latest move to stem the tide of men fleeing Russia to avoid mobilization, Russian officials declared plans to set up a military recruitment office right on the border with Georgia, one of the main routes of the exodus.

And trying to assuage public outrage, numerous Russian officials and lawmakers have acknowledged that mistakes were made during the mobilisation - when military conscription offices were rounding up random people without military experience who weren't supposed to be called up - and promised to quickly correct them.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy on Monday once again decried the Russian mobilisation as nothing more than "an attempt to provide commanders on the ground with a constant stream of cannon fodder".

Zelenskyy vowed that the Ukrainian military will push efforts to take back "the entire territory of Ukraine," and has drawn up plans to counter "new types of weapons" used by Russia.

Putin has warned that once the Russia-held regions are absorbed, Moscow will defend its territory with "all available means," including nuclear weapons, raising fears of a sharp escalation of the seven-month conflict.

Dmitry Medvedev, deputy head of Russia's Security

Council chaired by Putin, spelled out the threat Tuesday in the bluntest terms yet, reaffirming that Moscow could use nuclear weapons against Ukraine if it sees a threat posed by it as too high.

Medvedev noted that the US and its NATO allies understand that "if a threat to Russia raises above a certain limit of danger, we will have to respond without asking anyone's consent and holding long consultations".

"And it's certainly not a bluff," he added.

Medvedev charged that the US and its NATO allies won't dare to use nuclear weapons against Russia even if it makes a nuclear strike on Ukraine.

Jake Sullivan, the US national security adviser, said Russia would pay a high, if unspecified, price if it made good on veiled threats to use nuclear weapons in the war in Ukraine.

"If Russia crosses this line, there will be catastrophic consequences for Russia. The United States will respond decisively," he told NBC.

Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu said Monday that Putin had told Turkey's president last week that Moscow was ready to resume negotiations with Ukraine but had "new conditions" for a ceasefire.

Even as the voting has continued in Russia-held areas, Russian forces have kept up their strikes across Ukraine. Overnight, Russian missile attacks targeted the southern areas of Zaporizhzhia and Mykolaiv, damaging residential buildings and other sites, officials said.

Leaks on Russian gas pipelines raise concerns about sabotage

AP ■ WARSAW

A series of unusual leaks on two natural gas pipelines running from Russia under the Baltic Sea to Germany triggered concerns about sabotage on Tuesday, overshadowing the inauguration of a long-awaited pipeline that will bring Norwegian gas to Poland in efforts to bolster Europe's energy independence from Moscow.

Polish Prime Minister Mateusz Morawiecki called the events "an act of sabotage", while Danish Prime Minister Mette Frederiksen said she could not rule it out after three leaks were detected over the past day on the Nord Stream 1 and 2 pipelines, which are filled with gas but not delivering the fuel to Europe.

An energy standoff over Russia's war in Ukraine halted flows on Nord Stream 1 and prevented them from ever starting in the parallel Nord Stream 2. Frederiksen, Morawiecki and Polish President Andrzej Duda symbolically opened a valve of a yellow pipe belonging to the Baltic Pipe, a new system that will bring Norway's gas across Denmark and the Baltic Sea to Poland.

"The era of Russian domination in the gas sphere is coming to an end," Morawiecki declared. "An era that was marked by blackmail, threats and extortion."

No official presented evidence of what caused the Nord Stream problems, but in central Europe, where distrust of Russia runs high, there were fears that Moscow sabotaged its own infrastructure out of spite or to warn that all pipelines are vulnerable to attack.

The leaks emerged off the coast of Denmark and Sweden, raising the stakes on whether energy infrastructure in European waters was being targeted and leading to a small bump in natural gas prices.

"We can clearly see that this is an act of sabotage, an act that probably means a next step of escalation in the situation that we are dealing with in Ukraine," Morawiecki said.

Anders Puck Nielsen, a researcher with the Centre for Maritime Operations at the Royal Danish Defence College, said the timing of the leaks was "conspicuous" given the ceremony for the Baltic Pipe.

German population hits record 84M due to Ukraine refugees

AP ■ BERLIN

The influx of Ukrainian refugees to Germany has pushed the country's population to a new all-time high of more than 84 million, the German Federal Statistical Office said Tuesday.

By the end of June, the country's population increased by 843,000 people, or 1%, compared to the end of 2021.

In comparison, the population grew by 82,000 people, or 0.1%, in the entire year of 2021.

Around 750,000 Ukrainian refugees came to Germany seeking safety from the Russian invasion in the first half of 2022.

Most of them were female, the statistical office reported, saying that by the end of June 501,000 more Ukrainian women and girls were living in Germany than at the end of 2021, while the number of Ukrainian men and boys increased by 248,000.

Germany experienced population increases of this magnitude before — both immigration-related — in 1992 and 2015.

In 1992, shortly after the fall of communism and Germany's reunification, about 700,000 people arrived, fleeing the war in Yugoslavia, and coming from Eastern Europe following the opening of the borders there.

Patrol spots Chinese, Russian naval ships off Alaska island

AP ■ ANCHORAGE

A US Coast Guard ship on routine patrol in the Bering Sea came across a guided missile cruiser from China, officials said Monday.

But it turned out the cruiser wasn't alone as it sailed about 138 kilometers north of Alaska's Kiska Island, on September 19. The patrol boat, known as a cutter called Kimball, later discovered there were two other Chinese naval ships and four Russian naval vessels, including a destroyer, all in single formation.

The Honolulu-based Kimball, a 127-metre vessel, observed as the ships broke formation and dispersed. A C-130 Hercules provided air support for the Kimball from the Coast Guard station in Kodiak.

"While the formation has operated in accordance with international rules and norms, we will meet presence with presence to ensure there are no disruptions to US interests in the maritime environment around Alaska," Rear Adm. Nathan Moore, Seventeenth Coast Guard District commander said.

The Coast Guard said

Operation Frontier Sentinel guidelines call for meeting 'presence with presence' when strategic competitors operate in and around US waters.

The Kimball will continue to monitor the area.

The Coast Guard did not immediately respond to questions about the incident from The Associated Press.

The Chinese and Russian formation came a month after NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg warned about China's interest in the Arctic and Russia's military buildup there.

Stoltenberg said Russia has set up a new Arctic Command and has opened hundreds of new and former Soviet-era Arctic military sites, including deep-water ports and airfields.

China has declared itself a "near Arctic" state and plans to build the world's largest ice-breaker, he said.

"Beijing and Moscow have also pledged to intensify practical cooperation in the Arctic. This forms part of a deepening strategic partnership that challenges our values and interests," Stoltenberg said in a visit to Canada's north.

This wasn't the first time Chinese naval ships have sailed near Alaska waters. In September 2021, Coast Guard cutters in the Bering Sea and North Pacific Ocean encountered Chinese ships, some about 80 kilometers off the Aleutian Islands.

Xi appears in public first time after returning from SCO summit

PTI ■ BEIJING

Chinese President Xi Jinping on Tuesday visited an exhibition of the Communist Party, appearing in public for the first time after his return from the SCO summit on September 16, which sparked rumours about his absence from the limelight ahead of next month's key Congress of the ruling party.

Xi on Tuesday visited an exhibition on the great achievements of the Communist Party of China and the country over the past decade, the state-run Xinhua news agency reported. Speaking at the exhibition, he called for concerted efforts to forge ahead determinedly toward a new victory of socialism with Chinese characteristics, the report said. Accompanied by No. 2 leader and Premier Li Keqiang and other top CPC officials, Xi went around the exhibition.

In his speech, Xi highlighted CPC's and China's achievements under his leadership during the past 10 years.

The Party and the State have made historic achievements and undergone historic changes, providing a more perfect system, a more solid material foundation and more active spiritual power to achieve the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, he said.

"We should widely publicise the strategic initiatives, transformative practices, breakthroughs and landmark achievements over the past 10 years, and publicise the milestone significance of the great changes" in the last decade in the history of the Party, the history of new China, he said.

This is the first time official media reported on his public appearance after his return home from the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit in Samarkand, Uzbekistan on September 16.

Appeals ruling leaves Trump fate in defamation suit in flux

AP ■ NEW YORK

A federal appeals court asked a Washington DC appeals court Tuesday to help it decide whether the United States should be substituted for former President Donald Trump as the defendant in a defamation lawsuit brought by a woman who says he raped her over a quarter century ago.

The 2nd US Circuit Court of Appeals in Manhattan in a 2-to-1 decision reversed a lower court ruling that had concluded Trump must face the lawsuit brought in Manhattan federal court by columnist E. Jean Carroll.

But it stopped short of saying the US can be substituted for Trump as the defendant in the lawsuit. Instead, it asked The DC Court of Appeals, the highest court in the District of Columbia, to decide whether Trump's public statements denying Carroll's rape claims occurred within the scope of his employment as president.

Carroll maintains Trump defamed her with public comments he made after she wrote in a 2019 book that Trump raped her during a chance encounter in the mid-1990s in a Manhattan department store. Trump denied the rape and questioned Carroll's credibility and motivations.

The 2nd Circuit said Trump would be entitled to immunity by having the U.S. Substituted as the defendant in the lawsuit if it was decided that his statements came within the scope of his employment.

But it said courts have been inconsistent in previous rulings and that the D.C. Court of Appeals might be in the best position to answer the question.

Roberta Kaplan, an attorney for the longtime advice columnist for Elle magazine, alerted a Manhattan federal court judge in August that she plans to sue Trump in November when the Adult Survivor's Act take effect. The law offers a one-year "look back" to enable adult survivors of sexual attacks to bring civil claims when they otherwise would be barred by time requirements.

The law, signed by New York Gov. Kathy Hochul in May, was modeled after the Child Victims Act, which provided a similar window to bring lawsuits for people who had been sexually assaulted when they were children. That law expired a year ago.

Tense Japan holds funeral for assassinated ex-leader Abe

AP ■ TOKYO

A tense Japan prepared Tuesday for a rare and controversial state funeral for assassinated former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe, the longest-serving leader in his nation's modern history and one of the most divisive.

Tokyo was under maximum security, with angry protests opposing the funeral planned around the capital and nation. Hours before the ceremony began, dozens of people carrying bouquets of flowers queued at public flower-laying stands at nearby Kudanzaka park.

Thousands of uniformed police mobilized around the Budokan hall, where the funeral is being held, and at major train stations. Roads around the venue are closed throughout the day, and coin lockers at main stations were sealed for security. World leaders, including US Vice President Kamala Harris, were in town for the funeral.

Opponents of the state-sponsored funeral, which has its roots in prewar imperial ceremonies, say taxpayers' money should be spent on more meaningful causes, such as addressing widening economic disparities caused by Abe's policies.

Prime Minister Fumio Kishida has been criticised for forcing through the costly event to honour his mentor, Abe, who was assassinated in July. There has also been a widening controversy about Abe's and the governing party's decades-long close ties with the ultra-conservative Unification Church, accused of raking in huge donations by brainwashing adherents.

Abe's alleged assassin reportedly told police he killed the politician because of his links to the church; he said his mother ruined his life by giving away the family's money to the church.

Kishida says the longest-serving leader in Japan's modern political history deserves a state funeral. The government also maintains that the ceremony is not meant to force anyone to honour Abe. Most of the nation's 47 prefectural governments, however, plan to fly national flags at half-staff and observe a moment of silence.

Opponents say Kishida's one-sided decision, which was made without parliamentary approval, was undemocratic, and a reminder of how prewar imperialist governments used state funerals to fan nationalism. The prewar funeral law was abolished after World War II. The only postwar state funeral for a political leader, for Shigeru Yoshida in 1967, also faced similar criticism.

"Spending our valuable tax money on a state funeral with no legal basis is an act that tramples on the constitution," organiser Takakage Fujita said at a protest on Monday.

About 1.7 billion yen ($11.8 million) is needed for the venue, security, transportation and accommodation for the guests, the government said.

Hurricane Ian lashes Cuba, aims at Florida as possible Cat 4

AP ■ HAVANA

Strengthening Hurricane Ian's rain and winds lashed Cuba's western tip, where authorities have evacuated 50,000 people, as it roared on a path that could see it hit Florida's west coast as a Category 4 hurricane.

Officials in Cuba's Pinar del Rio province set up 55 shelters, rushed in emergency personnel and took steps to protect crops in Cuba's main tobacco-growing region ahead of Ian's expected landfall early on Tuesday as a major hurricane.

The US National Hurricane Centre said the island's west coast could see as much as 14 feet (4.3 metres) of storm surge.

"Cuba is expecting extreme hurricane-force winds, also life-threatening storm surge and heavy rainfall", hurricane centre senior specialist Daniel Brown told The Associated Press.

After passing over Cuba, Ian was forecast to strengthen further over warm Gulf of Mexico waters before reaching Florida as early as Wednesday as a Category 4 storm with top winds of 140 mph (225 km/h).

As of Monday, Tampa and St. Petersburg appeared to be the among the most likely targets for their first direct hit by a major hurricane since 1921.

Arizona abortion clinics send women to other states

AP ■ PHOENIX (US)

When an Arizona judge ruled last week that prosecutors can resume enforcing a near-total ban on abortion that dates to the Civil War, it fell to the staff at Camelback Family Planning to break the news to the women scheduled for appointments in the coming weeks.

The staff faced "crying, a lot of very, very angry people, denial", nurse Ashleigh Feiring said on Monday. One woman argued, "But I'm only five weeks (along)."

Women seeking abortions across Arizona were forced to find alternatives beyond the state's borders after the ruling, which clears the way for prosecutors to charge doctors and others who help a woman end a pregnancy unless her life is in danger.

The state's major abortion providers immediately halted procedures and cancelled appointments.

Providers in neighbouring states, already seeing an increase in traffic from other conservative states that have banned abortion, were preparing to treat some of the 13,000 Arizona patients who get an abortion each year.

Planned Parenthood Arizona on Monday asked Pima County Superior Court

Judge Kellie Johnson to put her ruling on hold pending an appeal, saying it created confusion about the status of the law in Arizona.

Lawyers cited conflicts created by the abortion ban dating to 1864, a more recent law banning abortions after 15 weeks, and a variety of other laws regulating the processes and paperwork when terminating pregnancies.

Johnson's ruling lifted an injunction that was imposed after the US Supreme Court's Roe v. Wade decision guaranteed a right to abortion in 1973.

At the Camelback Family Planning clinic in central Phoenix, a young woman took off from work on Monday afternoon for an appointment to get medicine to help with an abortion. The 20-year-old is afraid she is prone to miscarriage and already miscarried two years ago.

Singapore population rises by 3.4 % after 2 yrs of decline

PTI ■ SINGAPORE

Singapore's population grew by 3.4 per cent to touch 5.64 million as of June this year, after witnessing two straight years of decline due to the pandemic, according to an annual report issued by the National Population and Talent Division on Tuesday.

The number of citizens rose by 1.6

per cent to 3.55 million in June this year, while the non-resident population grew by 6.6 per cent during the same period, due to the easing of travel restrictions and the government's move to attract talented workforce from overseas.

Nevertheless, it still remained below the pre-COVID levels of 1.68 million in June 2019.

The largest increase was seen for work permit holders in the construction and marine shipyard sectors, which typically employ a large number of South Asian migrant workers including those from India, Channel News Asia reported, citing the report.

Despite the growth, the total population in Singapore remained slightly lower than the pre-COVID level of 5.7 million as of June 2019, the report said.

Harris focuses Asia trip on security, adds tour to Korea DMZ

AP ■ TOKYO

In meeting after meeting with Asian leaders on Tuesday, Vice President Kamala Harris emphasised the US commitment to regional security and the White House disclosed that she would visit the Demilitarised Zone dividing the rival Koreas.

An official said Harris would tour the border area between South and North Korea on Thursday, at the end of her trip to Asia. The visit comes amid persistent concerns about North Korea's missile and nuclear programmes.

North Korea test-fired a short-range ballistic missile shortly before Harris left Washington, an apparent response to joint military exercises between the United States and South Korea that include the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Ronald Reagan.

In Q1, jobs in 9 non-farm sectors rise by 10 lakh

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Total employment in nine sectors rose by 10 lakh to 3.18 crore during January-March 2022 from a year-ago period, according to a quarterly survey released by the Union labour ministry on Tuesday.

Union Minister for Labour & Employment Bhupender Yadav released the report on Fourth Round (January-March, 2022) of Quarterly Employment Survey (QES) as part of the All India Quarterly Establishment based Employment Survey (AQEES).

The nine selected sectors are manufacturing, construction, trade, transport, education, health, accommodation & restaurant, IT/BPO, and financial services.

The total number of employment in these nine sectors stood at 3.08 crore during January-March 2021.

During a press conference, S P Mukherjee, chairman of the expert group which brought out this QES, stated that the total employment was 3.08 crore on January 1, 2021 and 3.10 crore on January 1, 2022. Thus the number of employment in these nine sectors has increased by 10 lakh in that period.

The higher employment number also reflects recovery in economic activities after states lifted restrictions that were imposed to curb the spread of coronavirus infections in the wake of the second

Covid wave in April 2021 and had staggering impact.

The estimated employment increased from 3.14 crore in third quarter (October-December 2021) to 3.18 crore in 4th quarter (January-March 2022), a labour ministry statement said.

The AQEES has been taken up by the Labour Bureau to provide quarterly estimates about the employment and related variables of establishments in both organised and unorganised segments of nine selected sectors which account for a majority of the total employment in the non-farm establishments.

AQEES has two components — the 'Quarterly Employment Survey (QES)' and the 'Area Frame Establishment Survey (AFES)'.

The former relates to the establishments employing 10 or more workers whereas the later relates to the establishments employing 9 or less workers.

The QES as part of the AQEES was launched in April, 2021 to capture important information in terms of employment and related variables in the organised sector of the economy.

In each quarter, information is collected from about 12,000 establishments. The first such report for the period April-June, 2021 was released in the month of September, 2021

While releasing the 4th quarterly report, Yadav said that the employment is showing an increasing trend in the selected sectors of the economy. The total employment in these 9 selected sectors taken collectively was reported at 2.37 crore in the sixth Economic Census (2013-14).

Sensex, Nifty end lower on selloff in metal, banking stocks

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Key benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty closed lower for the fifth straight session on Tuesday in a volatile trade tracking losses in metal, banking and financial stocks.

Investors also remained concerned over persistent foreign fund outflows, traders said. After jumping nearly 560 points during the session, the 30-share BSE index ended 37.70 points or 0.07 per cent lower at 57,107.52. Similarly, the NSE Nifty shed 8.90 points or 0.05 per cent to close at 17,007.40.

Tata Steel was the top loser in the Sensex pack, shedding 2.25 per cent, followed by Titan, SBI, Kotak Bank, Tech Mahindra, ICICI Bank and HDFC twins.

On the other hand, PowerGrid, IndusInd Bank, Dr Reddy's, HCL Tech and Nestle India were among the gainers.

"In search of a safer dollar and elevated bond yields, foreign investors are withdrawing from Indian equities, resulting in the decline of the domestic market.

In contrast to the recent trend of sector performance, banks and autos are exhibiting negative bias, while IT and pharma are showcasing resilience.

"Crude prices are closing down, despite expectations that OPEC+ will take more action to cut production in the coming meeting, due to weakening global economy," Vinod Nair, Head of Research at Geojit Financial Services, said.

Of the Sensex constituents, 18 stocks closed lower, while 12 were in the green.

The BSE Midcap index declined by 0.01 per cent, while the BSE Smallcap index fell 0.49 per cent.

Among sectoral indices, Metal, Capital Goods and Banking indices fell the most, while Oil & Gas, Energy, IT and Healthcare were the top gainers.

Elsewhere in Asia, bourses in Hong Kong, Tokyo and Seoul closed in the positive territory. Stock exchanges in Europe were trading on a mixed note in mid-session deals. International oil benchmark Brent crude climbed 1.78 per cent to USD 85.56 per barrel.

RBI's rate-setting panel to start 3-day meet today

Another rate hike likely

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The Reserve Bank's rate-setting panel will start its 3-day deliberations on Wednesday amid expectations of yet another rate hike of 50 basis points to check high inflation, in line with similar actions taken by other major central banks, including the US Fed.

Based on the recommendations of the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), the RBI had effected 50 basis points increase in repo rate each in June and August after raising the short-term lending rate by 40 basis points in an off-cycle decision in May.

The MPC, headed by RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das, is scheduled to meet during September 28-30. The decision will be announced on Friday (September 30).

The RBI, which has since May raised the repo rate by 140 basis points (bps), may yet again go for a 50-bps increase, which will take the key rate to a three-year high of 5.9 per cent, say experts. The present rate is 5.4 per cent.

The consumer price index (CPI) based on retail inflation, which had started showing signs of moderation in May, has again firmed up to 7 per cent in August. The RBI takes into account retail inflation while framing its bi-monthly monetary policy.

The US Fed delivered the third consecutive rate hike after it raised the rates by 75 bps to take the target range to 3-3.25 per cent. The central banks of the UK and the EU have also gone for rate hikes to tame inflation.

In a report, Bank of Baroda said the monetary policy this time will be more closely watched, given the recent developments in the forex market following the Fed raising rates last week. The RBI's view on all issues will provide guidance to the market on repo rate, stance, growth and inflation projections, rupee, liquidity and global view.

"In the upcoming credit policy of RBI, which is scheduled on 30 September 2022, we expect MPC to raise the repo rate by another 50 bps. We expect rates to increase up till 6-6.25 per cent," the report said.

The government has tasked the RBI to ensure the retail inflation remains at 4 per cent, with a margin of 2 per cent on either side.

Since May, the central bank has cumulatively raised the interest rate by 140 bps in its effort to contain inflation. Despite this sharp hike, the RBI expects inflation to remain above its comfort zone and has retained the CPI inflation forecast at 6.7 per cent for the current fiscal year.

V Swaminathan, executive chairman, Andromeda Loans, opined that given the increase in rates in other economies, the RBI has no choice but to increase rates.

Gas price review panel seeks more time to submit its report

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Government-appointed panel for reviewing the pricing of natural gas has sought more time to submit its report as it does a tightrope walk of striking a balance between the expectations of producers and consumers, sources said.

The panel headed by former planning commission member Kirit S Parikh was tasked to suggest a "fair price to the end-consumer" by the end of September.

Given the enormity of the task, the committee wanted 30 more days to finish the report but the Government wants it to wrap up the work by mid-October, two sources with knowledge of the matter said.

A decision on the exact duration of the extension will be taken next week after oil secretary Pankaj Jain returns from his overseas trip, they said.

Natural gas is a fossil energy source that formed deep beneath the earth's surface. It is used to generate electricity, produce fertiliser, convert into CNG to run automobiles and piped to household kitchens for cooking and heating. It is also used in making glass, steel, cement, bricks, ceramics, tile, paper, food products, and many other commodities as heat sources.

Its prices remained docile till last year but have shot up in recent months, raising the cost of production of user industries in general and city gas operators that sell CNG to automobiles and piped cooking gas to households, in particular.

To keep rates under check so that they do not add fire to already high inflation, the government formed the committee to review the way prices of gas produced in India are fixed.

Wheat processors seek permission for imports under advance authorisation scheme

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Wheat processors have approached the government to seek permission for wheat import under the advance authorisation scheme, so that they can export value-added products, an official said.

An advance authorisation scheme allows duty-free import of inputs, which have to be mandatorily used in products that are required to be exported within a specified time. They are not allowed to sell the products in the domestic market.

"We have received the request from wheat processors. They are seeking policy change as at present there is a ban on wheat and its products' export. The ban also applies for goods imported under the advance authorisation scheme," a commerce ministry official said.

The directorate general of foreign trade (DGFT), under the ministry, would have to change the policy to meet their demand.

On May 13, India banned

wheat exports in a bid to check high prices amid concerns of wheat output being hit by a scorching heat wave.

In August, the government also prohibited exports of wheat flour, maida, semolina and wholemeal aata with a view to curb rising prices.

India's wheat exports stood at an all-time high of 7 million tonnes, valuing USD 2.05 billion, in 2021-22 fiscal on better demand for Indian wheat from overseas. Of the total wheat exports, around 50 per cent of shipments were exported to Bangladesh in the last fiscal.

Russia and Ukraine are the major exporters of wheat, accounting for around one-fourth of the global wheat trade. The war between the two countries has led to global wheat supply chain disruptions, thus increasing the demand for Indian wheat.

Wheat flour exports from India have registered a growth of 200 per cent during April-July 2022 compared to the corresponding period in 2021.

As per the government estimates, wheat production is estimated to have declined to 106.84 million tonnes in the 2021-22 crop year (July-June) against 109.59 million tonnes in the previous year.

Gold, silver prices fall by ₹195

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Gold price fell by ₹195 to ₹49,580 per 10 gram in the national capital on Tuesday amid appreciation in the rupee, according to HDFC Securities.

In the previous trade, the precious metal had closed at ₹49,775 per 10 gram.

Silver also declined by ₹195 to ₹56,155 per kg from ₹56,350 per kg in the previous trade. The rupee settled 9 paise higher at 81.58 (provisional) against the US dollar on Tuesday as the American currency retreated from its elevated levels.

In the international market, gold was quoting lower at USD 1,637 per ounce, while silver was flat at USD 18.69 per ounce. "In the physical market, gold demand has been seen from jewellers on expectation of better seasonal demand. However, the higher bond yields and a stronger dollar have been weighing on precious metals," said Dilip Parmar, Research Analyst at HDFC Securities.

India has fairly large forex reserve to deal with current situation: Economic affairs secretary

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Economic affairs secretary Ajay Seth on Tuesday dismissed the concerns over depletion of forex reserve as "overblown" and said India has fairly large reserve to tide over the current situation.

Foreign exchange reserves were down for a seventh continuous week, dropping to USD 545.65 billion on September 16. The reserves, which have been dipping as the central bank deploys the kitty to defend the currency amid a pressure caused majorly by global developments, had declined by USD 2.23 billion to USD 550.87 billion in the previous week.

"There has been a depletion as inflows have come down and trade deficit is higher...I don't see this as a concern, India has fairly large reserves to tide over this situation," Seth said.

After hitting a record low at 81.67 against dollar on Monday, the rupee recovered on Tuesday and closed at 81.58 against the greenback.

Finance minister Nirmala

Sitharaman on Monday had said "due to the strength of our microeconomic fundamentals, rupee is holding out well. The rate of fall of other currencies vis-à-vis against the US dollar has been sharply much more than the Indian rupee".

Speaking at CNN-News18's Townhall, she had said Indian currency is far better than many other currencies which have fallen far pathetically against the dollar.

"Now what is our strategy? The interventions, if at all, the RBI makes using the Indian reserves, which I think (USD) 75 billion has been used, essentially to stop fluctuations, the severe volatilities.

Adani to invest $100 bn across new energy, data centres

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Adani Group will invest USD 100 billion over the next decade, primarily in new energy and digital space that includes data centres, Chairman Gautam Adani said on Tuesday, as the group bets big on India growth story.

As much as 70 per cent of this investment will be in the energy transition space, Adani, the world's second-richest person, said as he continued to reveal bit by bit the group's new energy plans.

The ports-to-energy conglomerate will add 45 gigawatts of hybrid renewable power generation capacity and build 3 Giga factories to manufacture solar panels, wind turbines and hydrogen electrolyser.

"As a Group, we will invest over USD 100 billion of capital in the next decade. We have earmarked 70 per cent of this investment for the energy transition space," Adani, founder and chairman of Adani Group, said at the Forbes Global CEO conference in Singapore.

Starting off with a modest commodities business in 1988, the 60-year-old tycoon surpassed Jeff Bezos of Amazon, French business magnate Bernard Arnault and American businessman Bill Gates to become the world's second-wealthiest person with a fortune of USD 143 billion.

With interests spanning sea ports, airports, green energy, cement and data centres, the combined market capitalisation of the group's listed companies is USD 260 billion.

Debt cost begins to pinch States again with 9 bps spike in last auction

PTI ■ MUMBAI

After falling for six weeks on the trot, the cost of borrowings for the States rose for the second week with the latest auction on Tuesday, when their average cost of debt rose by 9 bps to 7.65 per cent.

At the last auction, the average cut-off rose by 10 bps to 7.56 per cent, which was the first spike in the past six weeks.

The spike in average cost reflects the overall interest tightening taking place in the system after the US Fed went ahead with its third 75 bps hike last week and said it will deliver at least two more to fight inflation, which is trending at over 40 years high.

The weighted average cut-off of state debt rose by 9 bps to 7.65 per cent from 7.56 per cent in the last auction, with the weighted average tenor remaining stable at 15 years. On the other hand, the 10-year Ge-Secs yield inched up by 3 bps to 7.29 per cent, Aditi Nayar, the chief economist at Icria Ratings said in a note.

The weighted average cut-off for the 10-year state debt increased by 12 bps to 7.67 per cent. Accordingly, the spread between the two widened to 38 bps from 29 bps. Fourteen states raised ₹27,800 crore in the last auction of the second quarter, taking the cumulative issuance to ₹2.8 lakh crore by 23 states during H1, which is 11 per cent lower than the year-ago level and 31 per cent lower than the indicated amount of ₹4 lakh crore, as per the Icria note. The states are borrowing less from the market as they got much more in tax devolution at ₹1.2 lakh crore in August from ₹58,300 crore in July.

While Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Telangana did not participate in the latest auction, Andhra, Goa, Haryana, Kerala and Rajasthan borrowed ₹2,700 crore less than indicated.

The Government has deferred the implementation of additional provisions in the battery safety standards, which were to begin from October 1, to give manufacturers more time to comply with new norms, according to an official statement.

The statement said now additional provisions in the battery safety standards will be implemented in two phases -- first phase from December 1, 2022 and second phase from March 31, 2023.

Concerned over cases of fire incidents observed in electric two-wheelers, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) on September 1 introduced additional safety provisions in the battery safety standards, which were to come into effect from October 1.

The amendments include additional safety requirements related to battery cells, on-board charger, design of battery pack, and thermal propagation due to internal cell short-circuit leading to fire.

"To strengthen the safety parameters for the testing of the batteries used in electric vehicles, Amendment-2, which was effective from 1st October 2022, was issued to both the Automotive Industry Standards (AIS)-156 and AIS-038.

"For the OEMs (Original Equipment Manufacturers) to be better equipped to comply/implement the provisions prescribed under the standards AIS-156 and AIS 038, Ministry of Road Transport and Highways has decided to implement the Amendment 3 of the said AIS in two phases," the MoRTH said in a statement.

In April this year, cases of electric two-wheelers of manufacturers such as Ola Electric, Okinawa Autotech and PureEV catching fire were reported.

England-Germany play 6-goal thriller

AP ■ LONDON

England will head to the World Cup on a six-game winless run, but eased some of the pressure on manager Gareth Southgate by fighting back from 2-0 down to salvage a 3-3 draw against Germany on Monday.

The Three Lions had already been relegated from the top tier of the Nations League and the knives were out for Southgate after his faith in Harry Maguire backfired for two German goals early in the second half.

Maguire has been publicly backed by the England boss despite being dropped at club level by Manchester United manager Erik ten Hag.

Ilkay Gundogan slotted home the opener from the penalty spot after Maguire had gifted possession to Jamal Musiala and then chopped down the Bayern Munich midfielder.

Kai Havertz then curled brilliantly into the top corner after Maguire was dispossed in the German half.

England had failed to score from open play in any of their opening five games in Group A3.

But two goals in three minutes completely changed the atmosphere around Wembley and the scrutiny on Southgate's position heading to Qatar.

Luke Shaw was also restored to the starting line-up despite his lack of game time at Manchester United and started the fightback by volleying in at the back post.

Moments later, two of Southgate's substitutes combined to deadly effect as Bukayo Saka set up Mason Mount to curl home.

Harry Kane looked to have completed the turnaround from the penalty spot seven minutes from time after Nico Schlotterbeck's challenge on Jude Bellingham was punished following a VAR review.

Yet, there was more drama to come as

Nick Pope spilled Serge Gnabry's shot and Havertz pounced on the rebound to snatch Germany a point.

ENG IN 'GOOD PLACE'

England captain Harry Kane said the Three Lions are in a good place heading into the World Cup after a 3-3 draw with Germany.

"The mentality and fight of the team was shown out there today," said Kane, who moved to within two goals of matching Wayne Rooney's record of 53 goals for England.

"We didn't get the win but we can be proud of what we did and it puts us in a good place ahead of the World Cup."

England had not scored a goal from open play in their opening five games in Group A3, but Kane is confident they will respond to the heightened pressure of a

Italy secure Nations League SF spot

AP ■ BUDAPEST

Italy, who will miss a second consecutive World Cup, again found consolation in Europe as they won 2-0 in Budapest on Monday to edge Hungary for first place in their Nations League group.

Giacomo Raspadori, who scored the winner against England on Friday, poked the ball home after Wilfried Gnonto had pounced on a poor Hungarian back pass to give Italy the lead in the 27th minute.

"We needed these matches to restore enthusiasm, even if the World Cup remains an open wound and we can not go back," said Italy goalkeeper Gianluigi Donnarumma.

"We have to start again, we have to do it for all of Italy."

Hungary, who started the final round of games top of Group A3, fought hard but Donnarumma made two miraculous saves in quick succession in the 50th minute from Loic Nego and Adam Szalai.

Two minutes later, Federico Dimarco met a Bryan Cristante cross at the back post to smash in his first international goal and Italy's 1,500th.

Donnarumma produced another outstanding to keep out a header from Callum Styles (55th).

Italy held on to follow the Netherlands and Croatia into the Nations League final four scheduled for June 2023.

"We were excellent for 70 minutes, the last 20 I didn't like too much," said Italy coach Roberto Mancini.

"We're happy, it's important to have reached the Nations League final four for the second time."

Spain or Portugal meet on Tuesday to decide the last ticket for a chance to succeed France as champion.

Italy, who fell to a low point in March, less than a year after their Euro 2020 title, when they failed to qualify for the World Cup, have another European final tournament to look forward to.

India suffer 0-3 defeat to Vietnam

PTI ■ HO CHI MINH CITY

India suffered a 0-3 thrashing at the hands of a higher-ranked Vietnam in the second and final match of the Hung Thinh Friendly Football Tournament here on Tuesday. It was a reality check for the 104th ranked Indians after three convincing wins in June in the Asian Cup qualifiers and a 1-1 draw against Singapore in this tournament on Saturday as they were literally outplayed by the 97th ranked Vietnam in the second half.

Phan Van Duc (10th), Nguyen Van Toan (49th) and Nguyen Van Quyet (70th) scored for Vietnam to no reply from the Indians whose defenders had a mediocre outing, especially in the second half.

The Indians, however, were on equal terms with their opponents in the first half only to be blown away in the second session.

Vietnam won the tournament with two wins from as many matches. They had also thrashed Singapore 4-0 in their opening match.

India and Vietnam had played many a memorable matches in the past, one among them being the 2002 LG Cup final which India triumphed 3-1 having come back from behind to win the trophy.

India and Vietnam last met in 2010 in an international friendly in Pune with the Blue Tigers running out 3-1 winners with Chhetri scoring a hat-trick.

But since then, Vietnam football has been on the ascendency and they have been able to compete with the top teams of the continent. Earlier this year, they reached the final round of the 2022 FIFA World Cup qualifiers and also made it to the last eight stage of the 2019 Asian Cup.

Son's header lifts South Korea past Cameroon

SEOUL: Son Heung-min scored for the second straight match on Tuesday to lead South Korea to a 1-0 victory over Cameroon in their latest World Cup tune-up.

The star striker headed the ball home after an initial shot from Kim Jin-su was deflected by goalkeeper Andre Onana in the 35th minute, and South Korea then hung on for the win in front of 59,000 fans at Seoul World Cup Stadium.

On Friday Son had netted a free kick in a 2-2 draw against Costa Rica.

South Korea and Cameroon, who are both Qatar-bound for the World Cup, had few serious chances at goal prior to Son's header.

Lee Jae-sung's diving attempt in the fifth minute forced a tough save from Onana, while Cameroon's Moumi Ngamaleu fired a right-footed shot over the net in the 26th.

Cameroon nearly levelled the score in the 43rd minute when Bryan Mbeumo's effort ricocheted off the body of defender Kwon Kyung-won and struck the crossbar.

South Korea had a chance to double their lead two minutes into the second half but Jeong Woo-yeong's header sailed over the net.

The Cameroonians' push for an

Goalkeeper Kim Seung-gyu helped the Koreans keep Cameroon at bay, proving up to the task when Martin Hongla tested him with a right-footed shot in the 70th. Son came close to grabbing a brace with an 87th-minute free kick but the shot landed on top of the goal netting.

Allan leaves Everton for Al Wahda

AP ■ LIVERPOOL

Brazil midfielder Allan left Everton to join Abu Dhabi-based side Al Wahda for an undisclosed fee on Tuesday.

Allan was allowed to move to the United Arab Emirates Pro League club after falling out of favour with Everton boss Frank Lampard.

The 31-year-old did not play a single minute for the Premier League team this season.

Lampard signed Idrissa

Gueye and Amadou Onana in the close season to fill Everton's central midfield roles.

Allan signed for Everton from Napoli in 2020 and played 57 games in his first two seasons with the Toffees.

He was able to leave Everton outside the Premier League transfer window as the UAE deadline is not until next week.

"Everton thanks Allan for his service and wishes him all the best for the future," the club in a statement.

break Barcelona have lost Ronald Araujo, Jules Kounde, Memphis Depay and Frenkie de Jong with thigh and hamstring injuries.

Uruguayan defender Araujo faces the longest absence after deciding to undergo surgery on a torn thigh muscle on Wednesday. He is poised to miss the World Cup and could be out for up to three months.

Bellerin joined in the summer from Arsenal on a one-year deal and is the only natural right-back at the club. If his injury causes him to miss Saturday's clash with Real Mallorca then Barca may be short of cover.

Injured duo Kounde and Araujo have both been used there often this season, while converted midfielder Sergi Roberto is also an option, but is not fully fit himself.

Carlsen accuses Niemann of recent cheating

AP ■ NEW YORK

Chess superstar Magnus Carlsen for the first time openly accused American Hans Niemann of cheating on Monday, saying the rising star had done so more recently and more often than he previously admitted.

The chess world has been shaken for three weeks by the Carlsen-Niemann controversy, since the 31-year-old five-time world champion withdrew from the Sinquefeld Cup in the US after losing to Niemann, 19.

Last week, the Norwegian's abrupt withdrawal from a match against Niemann in the Julius Baer Generation Cup online tournament reignited the furore.

In a letter published on Twitter and addressed "Dear Chess World," Carlsen said: "I believe that Niemann has cheated more -- and more recently -- than he has publicly admitted.

"His over the board progress has been unusual."

He did not specify the exact form of the alleged cheating, but added there was "more that I would like to say".

Niemann has acknowledged cheating online twice, when he was 12 and 16, but says he has never played fraudulently in a face-to-face match and is even willing to play nude to prove his good faith.

In early September, the huge chess platform chess.com banned the American for cheating on the site.

During their Sinquefeld Cup match, Niemann did not seem tense or even to be "fully concentrating on the game in critical positions, while outplaying me as a black in a way I think only a few players can do", Carlsen continued in his letter.

He called cheating in chess "an existential threat to the game" and said: "I don't want to play against people that have cheated repeatedly in the past."

India to open campaign against Spain on Jan 13 in Hockey WC

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Hosts India will take on lower-ranked Spain in the men's Hockey World Cup opener at the newly-built Birsa Munda International Stadium in Rourkela on the opening day on January 13.

Tokyo Olympics Bronze medallists India, who are currently world No. 5 in the FIH rankings, are clubbed alongside England (6), Spain (8) and World Cup debutants Wales (16) in pool D.

India will play their second match in Rourkela, against on England on January 15, before moving to the capital city of Bhubaneswar, where they will face Wales in their final group match on January 19.

Pool A is headed up by world number one Australia, who got the bronze medal at the last World Cup in 2018. They were drawn along with 2016 Olympic champions Argentina, France and African champions South Africa.

Reigning world champions

Belgium are the top seed and they were drawn in Pool B along with 2006 winners Germany, Korea and Japan. Belgium are ranked second while Germany are fourth.

Pool C will feature last edition finalists the Netherlands, ranked third in the world, along with Oceania representative New Zealand, Malaysia -- playing their ninth World Cup -- and debutants Chile.

As per the fixtures released by FIH on Tuesday, 2016 Olympic champions Argentina will take on South Africa, while world No. 1 Australia face France on the same day at the Kalinga Stadium in Bhubaneswar.

While India's game starts at 7pm IST, the tournament will start in Rourkela with England taking on Wales in the first game.

Reigning champions and world No. 2 Belgium, who won the title in the 2018 in Odisha, will take on South Korea in Bhubaneswar.

PKL is helping Kabaddi reach new heights in India

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Pro Kabaddi, which began in 2014 as a televised professional sporting event that requires the skills of a footballer, rugby player, wrestling, and athletics will be having its 9th edition from October 7 when 12 teams will be vying for the podium finish.

Kabaddi is witnessing an increased footprint in terms of viewership as well as geographical spread. In fact, its short duration (40 minutes) lends its ability to become a popular sport, and since it is a physical contact sport with all the elements of drama and human emotions in full flow, it has successfully captivated masses particularly youth not just in India but globally too.

The fan base of this game has been growing in the country and abroad giving its hitherto unknown players a stardom and money to boot.

The progress of Kabaddi from a game that communities played as a means of exercise, and entertainment to a professional level money-spinner for the players, coaches and administrators connected with sports can be ascribed to the marketing genius of current day sports management professionals and their ability to propel this game as an exciting and thrilling audience engagement -- live on the spot and on television medium.

Helping the sport reach out to the stars -- literally too, Coaches and Kabaddi players have achieved super stardom with following of their own. When it comes to star players, leading the pack is the popular team Patna Pirates that has won three thumping finals and featured in playoffs (level where teams next destination is to play semis) of all seasons in the league.

The team recently announced Neeraj Kumar, one of the most versatile kabaddi players in the current generation and an army man as skipper of Patna Pirates. Many players from Patna Pirates have become household names, and as a matter of fact that most players come from small towns of India. Ravi Shetty will be the coach.

BWF Rankings: Prannoy returns to top 15, Lakshya remains at 9th

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Star Indian shuttler HS Prannoy returned to the top 15 after a string of impressive performances in the latest BWF World Rankings released on Tuesday.

Prannoy, who reached back-to-back quarter-finals at the World Championships and Japan Open Super 750, jumped a spot to 15th. Young Lakshya Sen continued to be the top-ranked Indian at the ninth position in the men's rankings, while Kidambi Srikanth rose a rung to 11th.

Two-time Olympic medallist PV Sindhu, who had skipped the World Championships and Japan Open due to an injury, remained static on sixth in the womens' list.

London Olympics Bronze medallist Saina Nehwal, on the other hand, moved one place to 31st.

The men's doubles pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty, who claimed their maiden Gold at the Commonwealth Games and a first-ever Bronze at World Championships, remained static at the eighth spot.

INDIA'S DEATH BOWLING IN FOCUS VS SA

PTI ■ THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

India will be looking to round off their T20 World Cup preparation with a marked improvement in their death bowling besides providing crucial game time to its untested players in the three-match series against South Africa, beginning here on Wednesday.

India skipper Rohit Sharma, expectedly, singled out death bowling as an area that requires improvement following the series win over Australia.

The hosts will be without two of their key bowlers, Hardik Pandya and Bhuvneshwar Kumar, who have been rested ahead of the ICC event next month.

Mohammad Shami, who is one of the World Cup reserves, is yet to recover from COVID-19 and will be missing the three games against the Proteas after being unavailable the rubber against Australia.

Harshal Patel did not have the best of times in his comeback series against Australia but he will be expected to get back to his best in the final three games before the World Cup.

His career economy rate stands at 9.05 but he conceded more than 12 runs per overs against the Aussies.

Deepak Chahar, who is also on standby for the Word Cup, did not get a game in the previous series and he could get a chance if the team decides to rotate its pacers over the three games.

Arshdeep Singh will return to bolster the team's resources in the slog overs, making an effective combination alongside Jasprit Bumrah, who will aiming to regain his full rhythm after coming back from injury.

In the series decider against Australia, Yuzvendra Chahal showed what he can do if the ball is gripping and turning after looking flat in the first two games. Keeping the Australian conditions in mind, the wily leg-spinner will be looking to up his game on docile pitches.

As Rohit spoke about the importance of giving all the players game time ahead of the World Cup, R Ashwin could get a look in.

In the batting department, K L Rahul would like to make the most of these three games after missing out in the last two games against Australia.

With Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma are looking in good touch, it is important that Rahul too is in full flow before the team travels to Australia.

Dinesh Karthik got to play all of eight balls against Australia and Rohit has already said the designated finisher in the squad needs more time in the middle.

World Cup bound Deepak Hooda will end up missing all the six games before the mega event as he has been ruled out of the South Africa T20s with a back injury. Shreyas Iyer is expected to take Hooda's place in the squad.

Over the next week, India will be competing against a team they are yet to beat at home in a bilateral series. South Africa and India will face each other in a group game in Australia and though conditions are totally different here, both teams can pick out areas to target in the coming three games.

"The pitches in Australia will be different and ground size will be a lot bigger, but as a bowler there is always something you can work on. It is a great opportunity to be bowling at these Indian batters and pick up on a few things and use against them in the World Cup," said Tabraiz Shamsi.

All eyes will also be on the young Tristian Stubbs who has made the World Cup squad on the back of his good show in franchise cricket.

SQUADS

South Africa: Temba Bavuma (captain), Quinton de Kock, Bjorn Fortuin, Reeza Hendricks, Heinrich Klaasen, Marco Jansen, Keshav Maharaj, Aiden Markram, David Miller, Lungi Ngidi, Anrich Nortje, Wayne Parnell, Andile Phehlukwayo, Dwaine Pretorius, Kagiso Rabada, Rilee Rossouw, Tabraiz Shamsi, Tristan Stubbs.

India: Rohit Sharma (captain), KL Rahul, Virat Kohli, Suryakumar Yadav, Rishabh Pant (wicket-keeper), Dinesh Karthik (wicket-keeper), R. Ashwin, Yuzvendra Chahal, Axar Patel, Arshdeep Singh, Harshal Patel, Deepak Chahar, Jasprit Bumrah.

Failed to defend targets because of dew: Rathour

PTI ■ THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Defending targets in T20Is has been a grey area for the Indian team but batting coach Vikram Rathour surprisingly cited "dew" being a factor which was not the case when the team played in the recently concluded Asia Cup.

Since the Super 4s of the Asia Cup, India have played six T20Is and won three of them while losing three.

However, all the three defeats -- against Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Australia -- have come while defending targets.

Contrary to Rathour's claims, none of the Indian team members, who spoke to the media after the defeats against Pakistan and Sri Lanka in Dubai, blamed it on the dew factor making defending difficult.

"We are working on that area of getting better at defending targets. But to be fair to our bowlers, toss plays a vital role and every time we have not been able to defend are the places where there has been dew, so it gets easier to chase," Rathour said on the eve of the first T20I against South Africa here on Wednesday.

While Rathour might have referred to the match against Australia at Mohali where India couldn't protect a 200-plus target, he was sympathetic to the bowlers despite the kind of criticism they have faced of late.

"I won't be harsh on bowlers as they have been able to push the match till last over, every time, when we are looking to defend. It's one ball here and there but of course we are doing pretty well but hopefully we will get better," the former India Test opener said.

The batting coach also didn't agree that India aren't putting big enough targets when asked to bat first.

Asked if the batters in the middle decide on a possible target, the coach replied, "Definitely, it depends on the surface that we are playing on but when you say we haven't been able to put up good scores, I don't agree with that."

"I think batting first that was one of the concerns during the last T20 World Cup but since then, we have been putting up par or par plus scores every time that we have batted first. So I don't think that's an issue."

BOWLERS KNOW THEIR PLANS

The batting coach also said that the team management never try to coach people who are playing international cricket but rather encourages them to back their strengths.

Someone like Arshdeep Singh is always told to follow his own plans.

"At this level, we are not telling them anything. Arsh (Arshdeep Singh) has done extremely well in IPL in death overs, so we just support them to follow plans. They know where to bowl to each batter and follow their plans," he said.

"We expect them (bowling unit) to back their strengths. There are no specific areas I want Arshdeep to improve and he has the composure to handle pressure in difficult conditions."

SHIFT IN BATTING PHILOSOPHY

The Indian top three of KL Rahul, Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli had copped a lot of flak for their outdated approach in the T20Is but Rathour is happy with the shift in mindset since the last ICC tourney.

Facing new ball quite a challenge in India: Bavuma

PTI ■ THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

South Africa captain Temba Bavuma feels facing the swinging ball in the powerplay will be one of the main challenges for his team in the three-match T20 series against India, beginning here on Wednesday.

India relied on their batting might to bounce back from being 0-1 down to post a 2-1 win in the recently concluded three-T20 series against Australia.

The focus will now shift to an identical match-up against the Proteas, the final dress rehearsal for both the teams before the T20 World Cup in Australia next month.

"Facing the new ball bowlers (in India) is quite challenging, they make the ball to swing and move in quite a bit, a bit more than what we are accustomed to in South Africa. That's obviously a challenge you have to manoeuvre around," the South African white-ball skipper said.

The chinks in India's pace bowling armour were badly exposed in the three-match

T20s against Australia.

In the series decider in Hyderabad on Sunday, the two seasoned pace duo of Jasprit Bumrah and Bhuvneshwar Kumar together conceded 79 runs from seven overs, with the latter claiming one wicket.

Harshal Patel, who is considered a death over specialist, also was a big letdown and the South African skipper knows what it takes to succeed in India.

"The key is to limit the damage and not allow the wickets to fall and try and get the momentum going. But yeah, Bhuvni and Bumrah they always challenge you with the new ball up front," he added.

Bhuvneshwar, by the way, is rested for the series ahead of the World Cup as the pace workload will be shared among Bumrah, Umesh Yadav, Patel and Arshdeep Singh. India's batting looks in safe hands with Virat Kohli's return to form and Rohit Sharma leading from the front.

"Obviously, those — Rohit and Virat — are big names with big pedigree behind them, and obviously as you saw in their last while their performances have boosted the confidence of the team.

"We expect to come leading from the front, and good for us to come up against the best. You expect those guys to bring a lot of confidence and X-factor into the team," the South African skipper said.

That said, Bavuma will have an 'unfinished business' as their last series — a five-match T20I rubber — ended in a 2-2 result after rain washed out the decider in Bengaluru.

Harman moves up to fifth in ICC rankings

PTI ■ DUBAI

Riding on her stupendous show against England, India captain Harmanpreet Kaur on Tuesday jumped four spots to reach the fifth spot in the ICC Women's ODI Player Rankings.

She leads a bunch of India players who have made rapid gains in the rankings after the team's 3-0 sweep over England.

Kaur smashed a match-winning 143 not out off 111 deliveries in the second match in Canterbury.

Opener Smriti Mandhana and Deepti Sharma have also moved up in the latest update that considers performances in the last two matches of that series as well as the IWC series between the West Indies and New Zealand.

Mandhana, a formerly top-ranked batter who scored 40 and 50 in the two matches, has moved up one place to take sixth position while Sharma's unbeaten 68 not out in the third match at Lord's has lifted her eight places to 24th position.

Pooja Vastrakar (up four places to 49th) and Harleen Deol (up 46 places to 81st) are other India players to move up the batters' list while new-ball bowler Renuka Singh has galloped 35 places to take 35th position after grabbing four wickets each in the two matches.

Fast bowler Jhulan Goswami, a formerly top-ranked bowler, retired in fifth position.

England's Danny Wyatt, who scored 65 in the second match, has gained two slots to reach 21st position among batters while Amy Jones is up four places to 30th. Charlie Dean has progressed 24 places to get to 62nd among batters and one slot to 19th among bowlers.

West Indies captain Hayley

Matthews has grabbed the No. 1 position for all-rounders in the ODI format for the first time in her career after aggregating 88 runs and grabbing five wickets in a 2-1 series win over New Zealand.
