Prostate cancer 3rd most common cancer in Indian males'

Cases of prostate cancer in India increased 4.6 times to 47,473 in 2022 from 11,208 in 1990: ICMR

The Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) on Monday released the latest figures on prostate cancer in India, which showed a significant rise in the number of cases from 1990 to 2022.

According to the ICMR data, the number of prostate cancer cases in India was 11,208 in 1990, which increased to 47,473 in 2022, representing a 4.6-fold increase.

The data also showed that prostate cancer is the third most common cancer in men in India, after lung and oral cavity cancers.

In addition, the ICMR data revealed that the number of deaths due to prostate cancer also increased from 4,116 in 1990 to 15,574 in 2022, indicating a rise of 3.8-fold.

The ICMR data also highlighted the need for early detection and treatment of prostate cancer, as it is one of the leading causes of cancer-related deaths in men.

The rise in the number of cases is concerning, and healthcare providers and authorities are urged to take necessary steps to manage and control the disease.

The latest statistics are based on the National Cancer Registry Program (NCRP) data, which covers all 17 cancer registries across the country.

The ICMR also recommended screening programs and public awareness campaigns to detect the disease at an early stage, thus improving the chances of survival.

The data also indicated that the incidence of prostate cancer is higher among men aged 50 and above, and there is an urgent need for preventive measures and early detection strategies to combat this disease.

Bail for Teesta
Activist Teesta Setalvad free after getting interim bail but many others will languish in jail awaiting bail

AFTER spending more than two months in jail, activist Teesta Setalvad got interim bail from a bench of the Supreme Court headed by Chief Justice of India, Lutfi Lalli. The day before the bail was granted, the CBI made some harsh observations which later translated into the appeal of the bail plea. The CBI observed that giving a date after six weeks to the lady was not the norm and that her offence was not bail-worthy. The CBI further stated that Teesta after being denied bail by the Allahabad high court moved to the Gujarat High Court, which gave her a hearing date six weeks later, something which was scoured by the CBI finally. Her HRs and subordinates were direct tallaks of Supreme Court observation which the Government lapped up right away.

Teesta had filed a plea along with Zakia Jafri challenging the probe that gave a clean chit to former counsellor to the then chief minister of Gujarat in the valley of Elphinstone former MP in the 2002 riots. The SC noted only that the view was observed but Teesta went on to keep the ‘hot bottling for ulcer designs and those involved must be in the dock’; the Teesta was arrested two days after court observation on June 24, 2012.

It is thus a curious case, the Supreme Court, on the same day it was supposed to be getting a clear cut answer to a question that was sympathetic with her for being a lady being denied bail for a crime that is not heroine. The irony doesn’t stop here. The petition filed by Teesta was heard till 6.17 pm, 11 people convicted of gang rape and murder and all of them were granted bail, but Teesta was released after remission was granted by the Gujarat government. Teesta was told to show them the door from her house. In fact, Teesta was given a compensation of Rs 50 lakh. If the Supreme Court was so concerned about the crime how could Teesta be guilty of forgiving the documents for which she was arrested? Sadly enough putting activists behind bars on flimsy grounds has become a normal and while the whole world knows they are not a threat to society or waging war against the state they are on enemies of the state. Doping in various cases for political expediency has now become an established norm. Transparency International released a list of people accused for political motives. Kapoor, a Kerala journalist arrested his way to Khar and murder at a Bali girl, and the list; the three have been slapped with UAPA, the infamous sedition law, and a hearing of his bail plea has been two years and counting.

Soren survives
It is indubitable that there is a lot of muck in the political arena; it reeks of corruption and shenanigans.

The general lack of awareness is a critical factor behind ignorance and hesitation in adopting technology platforms like AI, IoT, and big data. There is also a lack of understanding of the benefits and potential risks associated with these technologies. The government is taking steps to address these issues by providing training and support to farmers and other stakeholders. However, more needs to be done to increase awareness and adoption of these technologies across the country.

The technology platforms like AI, IoT, and big data are increasingly being used to provide various benefits to farmers. For example, AI can be used to predict crop yields and disease outbreaks, while IoT can be used to monitor weather conditions and soil moisture levels. Big data can be used to analyze large amounts of sensor data and provide valuable insights to farmers.

As a result, farmers can make more informed decisions about their crops and operations. This can lead to increased yields and reduced costs. However, more research and development is needed to improve the accuracy and reliability of these technologies.

In conclusion, the adoption of technology platforms like AI, IoT, and big data can bring significant benefits to farmers in India. However, more needs to be done to increase awareness and adoption of these technologies across the country. The government should continue to provide support and training to farmers to help them make the most of these technologies.

Suicide attack at Russian embassy in Kabul kills two diplomats

Russian forces have launched a series of attacks on the eastern Donetsk region, across several regions of Ukraine, in recent days. According to the Donetsk Republic’s state news agency, at least three people were killed in the region on Monday. The attack came just hours after a suicide bomber killed two Russian diplomats at an embassy in Kabul, Afghanistan.

The Taliban, which has been fighting in Afghanistan for decades, has claimed responsibility for the attack on the Afghan embassy. The group said it was a response to the killing of a Afghan government official earlier this month.

The attack on the Russian embassy in Kabul is the latest in a series of attacks on embassies in Afghanistan. In the past few months, the Taliban has claimed responsibility for attacks on embassies in China, France, and the United States.

The Taliban said the attack was carried out by one of its members, who had been recruited by the group’s leadership.

The attack on the Russian embassy is likely to further escalate tensions between Russia and the Taliban. The two groups have been fighting for control of Afghanistan for decades.

Bank union opposes 'loan melas' on bad loan pile-up fears

The Maharastra State Bank Employees Federation (MGIF) on Monday opposed Union home minister Amit Shah’s plan to get bank credit to small units without much due diligence, saying it would lead to huge loan impairment losses.

"Many small units get tied up in debt and the losses are granted without much checks. MISRA (loan audit) and CAG (comptroller and auditor general) will not be able to make any comments on whether the units are viable or not," said the MGIF.

The loan melas, a refinance scheme of banks, allow the borrowers to get loans without much checks.

Shah had mentioned that the scheme would not only help small units but also help the rural economy.

But the MGIF said, "This is nothing but an exercise in fear mongering." The union said that the scheme would not help small units and in the long run, it would affect the national economy.

"We are against this scheme, as it is not in the interest of the country," the union added.

Shah had earlier announced that the government is planning to launch a scheme to provide infrastructural loans to small and micro-enterprises at concessional rates.

Thescheme is planned to be implemented under a section of the Indian Banking Act.

The government is also planning to introduce a scheme to provide infrastructural loans to small and micro-enterprises at concessional rates.
