STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The proposed screening of the controversial BBC documentary 'India: The Modi Question' became a major flashpoint between students and the police at Jamia Millia Islamia University in the national Capital on Wednesday. The police first detained four students and later many more when the students led a protest to demand their release, the Students' Federation of India (SFI) claimed.

The students of the Punjab University also organised the screening of the BBC documentary which was stalled midway after authorities intervened. In a tweet, the Congress-affiliated students wing NSUI said "@NSUIChandigarh organised a screenplay of the BBC Modi documentary at Punjab University. The state president and many students watched the truth about democracy killers."

Security personnel at the Jamia Millia Islamia campus during the SFI's protest against the detention of four activists over the proposed screening of a BBC documentary on Prime Minister Narendra Modi, in New Delhi, Wednesday. PTI

The SFI's bid to screen the documentary at the Jamia campus comes a day after a similar event was organised at the Jawaharlal Nehru University during which students claimed that power and Internet were suspended and stones hurled at them. The campus witnessed heavy deployment of police and the anti-riot units Rapid Action Force (RAF) personnel.

Secretary of SFI Delhi State committee, Pritish Menon said the police detained the protesters who had gathered there.

"We were about to begin the demonstration but they were detained before that. They were taken to the police station," Menon said.

The SFI's Jamia unit had released a poster announcing that the documentary would be screened at the MCRC lawn Gate Number 8 at 6 PM.

The police said it detained four students after the SFI announced its plan.

The university administration said the screening of the controversial documentary would not be allowed.

EAM slams Pompeo over slight to Sushma

PNS/AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI / WASHINGTON

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar has deplored the derisive remarks made by former US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo against Sushma Swaraj when she headed the Foreign Ministry.

Jaishankar's sharp reaction came a day after Tuesday's launch of Mike Pompeo's book in which he made disparaging references about the late Swaraj.

Writing about Swaraj, Pompeo said he never saw his counterpart Swaraj as an "important political player" but got along famously with S Jaishankar. "I have seen a passage in Secretary Pompeo's book referring to Smt Sushma Swaraj ji. I always held her in great esteem and had an exceptionally close and warm relationship with her. I deplore the disrespectful colloquialism used for her," Jaishankar said. In his latest book 'Never Give an Inch: Fighting for the America I Love' that hit the stores on Tuesday, Pompeo describes Swaraj somewhat disparagingly, using the American slang words "goof-ball" and "heartland political hack" for her. Swaraj served as the External Affairs Minister from May 2014 to May 2019. She died in August 2019.

'India seen with new respect on global stage'

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In her maiden Address to the Nation on the eve of Republic Day, President Droupadi Murmu on Wednesday said India is now being seen with "new respect" on the global stage.

She lauded the linguistic diversity of the country, founders of the Constitution for giving a moral framework, and commended the roles of farmers, workers, scientists and engineers whose combined strength enables India to live up to the spirit of "Jai Jawan, Jai Kisan, Jai Vigyan, Jai Anusandhan".

Asserting that the world looked at India now with a "new respect", she pointed to the country's leadership of G20 and said it was an ideal platform to discuss and find solutions to "most pressing" problems such as global warming and climate change that were affecting the poor the most. The President said after a series of initiatives in recent years to transform all aspects of governance and unleash the creative energies of the people, the world has started to look at India with a new sense of respect.

Speaking on the occasion, the CM said that the secretary of the department concerned would hold regular review of the preparations. The CM said that he himself would check the preparations every 15 days.

He said that these meetings would give a new recognition to the State on the international forum. The representatives of the G-20 countries would also participate in the Ganga Arti in Rishikesh. The CM directed the officers to make necessary preparations for the presentation to be given to the participants of the G-20 countries in these meetings. He said that the summit is a very good opportunity for us to provide national and international recognition for the local products of Uttarakhand. Dhami said that special features of the products which need to be highlighted should be identified. He said that efforts are being made to ensure that one meeting each of G-20 is hosted in Garhwal and Kumaon divisions. Two meetings of the G-20 summit are scheduled in Uttarakhand. He said that a comprehensive public awareness campaign should be undertaken by the education, higher education, information and Police for these meetings.

The CM directed that stalls of local products should be set up in the places where the G-20 meetings would be held and cultural programmes should also be held. The arrangements of Yoga and Panchakarma should also be made and presentations on the works done by the State in the field of Yoga and Ayurveda should be made. The chief secretary S S Sandhu, Additional Chief Secretary (ACS) Radha Raturi, ACS Anand Bardhan, Principal Secretary R K Sudhanshu and others attended the meeting.

Interim report submitted by all institutes working in Joshimath

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

All the scientific and technical institutes engaged in finding the cause of land subsidence in Joshimath city and suggesting the preventive measures to be adopted have submitted their preliminary reports to the National Disaster Management Authority (NMDA). The secretary, disaster management Ranjit Sinha informed on Wednesday that all eight institutes working in Joshimath have submitted their preliminary reports and NMDA after studying and compiling these reports would send a report to the Uttarakhand government. He said that the process of setting up the model prefabricated shelters on the land of the horticulture department in Joshimath would be completed soon. These structures are being constructed at Dhak village, Chamoli. On a positive note, Sinha said that the number of buildings having cracks has not increased on Wednesday. Till now cracks have been noticed in 863 buildings. He said that an amount of Rs 3.77 crore has been distributed to 307 affected families in Joshimath as an interim relief. Sinha added that the discharge of underground water in Jaypee colony was at 181 litre per minute (LPM) on Wednesday. This was at 540 LPM on January 6.

Cong to launch Hath Se Hath Jodo campaign from today

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

In an attempt to carry forward the momentum generated by the Bharat Jodo Yatra of former President of Congress party Rahul Gandhi, the party would launch the ‘Hath se Hath Jodo’ campaign on Republic Day. Informing about the campaign, the national general secretary of the Congress party and the member of the steering committee, Mohan Prakash said that today India is being broken at every level and the resources of the country are being diverted towards a handful of the people. He said that Rahul Gandhi is breaking the hatred, hopelessness and negativity of the BJP government and is joining India. Lakhs of the people are walking with Gandhi and the Yatra which started from Kanyakumari has now reached Jammu. He said that the party would provide more comprehensiveness to the Bharat Jodo campaign by undertaking another campaign of ‘Hath Se Hath Jodo’ in the country which would be led by the block committees of the party. Under the campaign the message of Rahul Gandhi and chargesheet of failures of Modi government would be taken to every household in six lakh villages, 2.5 lakh village Panchayats and ten lakh polling booths. Launching an attack on the Modi government for uncontrolled price rise, the Congress leader said that the prices of cooking gas cylinders, petrol, diesel, edible oil, pulses and wheat flour and other things have skyrocketed. He said that the prices of crude are continuously falling in the international market but the Modi government is refusing to reduce the prices of petrol and diesel. He said that 60 per cent of the country’s wealth is concentrated in the hands of less than five per cent of people. Prakash said that a recent report by the ‘global hunger index’ suggests that India has come to 101st position in the list of 116 countries and our neighbours such as Pakistan, Nepal and Bangladesh are above us. Citing the report of NSO, the Congress leader said that the per day income of farmers in the country is only Rs 27 per day. “This government promised to double the income of the farmers but it has decreased,” he said. The Pradesh Congress Committee (PCC) president Karan Mahara and others were present on the occasion.

Cong hurt interests of U’khand by raising Joshimath issue at RaGa’s Yatra: BJP

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Uttarakhand unit of the BJP has said that by showcasing the Joshimath issue prominently during the ongoing Bharat Jodo Yatra of Rahul Gandhi in Jammu and Kashmir the Congress party has tried to denigrate the image of the State and hurt the tourism sector including the Char Dham Yatra. Reacting to the reports that Rahul Gandhi would soon visit Joshimath, the media in charge of the BJP Manvir Chauhan said that he had visited the State during the disaster of 2013 as part of the politics and went away after conducting an aerial tour. Chauhan said that the State Congress was engaged in a bitter power struggle when the State was fighting with the spectre of disaster. The Chief Minister got changed but the disaster of corruption started in the State. “The saga of these disasters echoed in the entire country but the prince of Congress party remained aloof then,” he quipped. Chauhan said that the State government is making necessary arrangements for relief and rehabilitation of the affected families of Joshimath. The situation is being directly monitored by both Prime Minister Narendra Modi and CM Pushkar Singh Dhami. Chauhan said that Rahul Gandhi had directed the Congress leaders to share the pain of the people of Joshimath but the Congressmen landed in the Bharat Jodo Yatra. Launching an attack on the Congress party, the BJP leader said that the Congress leaders who are shedding crocodile tears on the projects know it very well that all the projects were conceived during their rule.

प्रिय प्रदेशवासियों,

गणतंत्र दिवस की हार्दिक शुभकामनाएँ। पिछले साल ही हमने आजादी के 75 वर्ष पूरे किए और पूरा देश आजादी का अमृत महोत्सव मना रहा है। शीघ्र ही हम विश्व के सबसे बड़े लोकतंत्र भारत वर्ष का 75वाँ गणतंत्र दिवस मनाएंगे। आजादी और लोकतंत्र की 75 वर्षों की इस यात्रा को आज पूरा विश्व आश्चर्य और सम्मान के साथ देख रहा है।

निश्चित रूप से यह अवसर हम सभी के लिए गर्व का अवसर है। आज का दिन भारत के संविधान के निर्माताओं को और आजादी के महानायकों को याद करने का दिन है, उनके प्रति आभार व्यक्त करने का दिन है। मैं आज इस अवसर पर राष्ट्रपिता महात्मा गांधी जी, भारतीय संविधान के प्रणेता बाबा साहब आंबेडकर जी सहित सभी महान स्वतंत्रता संग्राम सेनानियों और संविधान निर्माताओं को अपने श्रद्धा-सुमन अर्पित करता हूँ।

मैं इस अवसर पर देश की सुरक्षा में तैनात सैन्य बलों और सभी सुरक्षा एजेंसियों के जवानों को सैल्यूट करता हूँ जो देश की एकता और अखंडता की रक्षा के लिए अपना सब कुछ दांव पर लगा देते हैं। मैं देश की रक्षा में शहीद हुए वीर जवानों को नमन करता हूँ।

दो वर्षों में 2025 में, हम अपनी स्थापना के 25 वर्ष भी पूर्ण करेंगे। भारत वर्ष की विकास यात्रा में उत्तराखण्ड का भी बड़ा योगदान है और, हमें एक बड़ी भूमिका के लिए खुद को तैयार करना है। प्रधानमंत्री जी ने कहा है कि 21वीं शताब्दी का तीसरा दशक उत्तराखण्ड का दशक है। उत्तराखण्ड में देश का सर्वश्रेष्ठ राज्य बनने की सारी संभावनाएँ हैं। पिछले वर्षों में हमने विकास के कई मानकों पर अच्छा प्रदर्शन किया है। उद्योग, पर्यटन, शिक्षा, स्वास्थ्य और टेक्नोलॉजी के फील्ड में हमारे प्रयासों को राष्ट्रीय स्तर पर पहचान मिली है, लेकिन अभी भी बहुत कुछ किया जाना बाकी है।

बॉर्डर एरिया और कठिन पर्वतीय क्षेत्रों से पलायन को रोक कर रिवर्स पलायन की प्रक्रिया को गति देना सरकार की प्राथमिकता है। पलायन की समस्या के समाधान के लिए ग्रामीण एवं दूर-दराज क्षेत्रों में सड़क, बिजली, पानी, स्वास्थ्य जैसी मूलभूत सुविधाएँ पर्याप्त रूप से प्रदान करने की आवश्यकता है। इसके साथ ही इन क्षेत्रों में युवाओं तथा महिलाओं के लिए रोजगार सृजन की और अधिक आवश्यकता है। सरकार द्वारा इस दिशा में विभिन्न योजनाओं द्वारा गंभीरता से प्रयास किये जा रहे हैं। महिलाएं इस प्रदेश के विकास की केन्द्र बिन्दु हैं। महिलाओं को शिक्षा एवं रोजगार के पर्याप्त अवसर उपलब्ध कराकर प्रदेश के विकास को बढ़ावा दिया जा रहा है।

उत्तराखण्ड में आपदा प्रबंधन तंत्र को और मजबूत एवं प्रभावी बनाया जा रहा है। जोशीमठ में लैंड स्लाइड की प्राकृतिक आपदा से निपटने के लिए सरकार ने सभी संभव कदम उठाए हैं। प्रभावितों की सुरक्षा और उनका समुचित विस्थापन सरकार की प्राथमिकता है। मैं जोशीमठ के साथ-साथ समस्त प्रदेशवासियों को भी आश्चस्त करना चाहता हूँ कि जोशीमठ में उत्पन्न स्थिति का जल्दी ही निराकरण किया जायेगा। आपदा की इस घड़ी में हम सब पीड़ितों के साथ हैं।

इस वर्ष G-20 देशों की अध्यक्षता भारत को प्राप्त होना हम सभी देशवासियों के लिये गर्व का क्षण है। हमारे प्रधानमंत्री जी ने कहा है कि, भारत “एक पृथ्वी एक परिवार एक भविष्य” की थीम से प्रेरित होकर विश्व की एकता को और बढ़ावा देने के लिए काम करेगा। उत्तराखण्ड में भी इस वर्ष G-20 से जुड़े कार्यक्रम आयोजित होंगे। हमारे पास पूरे विश्व को उत्तराखण्ड की क्षमता, यहां की कला संस्कृति, यहां निवेश के अवसर और अन्य खूबियों को दिखाने का अवसर होगा।

आज के भारत में विश्व अपना भविष्य देख रहा है। हम पुनः एक बार विश्व गुरु बनने की ओर अग्रसर हैं। हमारी संस्कृति, योग-ध्यान-आयुर्वेद हमारा प्राचीन ज्ञान पुनः स्थापित हो रहा है। उत्तराखण्ड भी भारत वर्ष की इस नई पहचान का मुख्य प्रतिभागी राज्य है।

आइये, आज के पावन अवसर पर हम सभी राज्य एवं राष्ट्र के विकास में योगदान देने का संकल्प लें।

एक बार पुनः आप सभी को गणतंत्र दिवस की हार्दिक शुभकामनाएँ।

जय हिन्द!

STF arrests CSC operators making fake IDs

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Uttarakhand Special Task Force (STF) has arrested two men from a common service centre (CSC) operating at Selauqui area of Dehradun for making counterfeit documents including Aadhar cards and birth certificates among others. Many of such Aadhar cards are also allegedly updated in the central government's website of UIDAI. Both accused are also suspected to be associated with other such gangs active in other parts of the country. The STF has recovered official stamps of several government hospitals of many states which were used to forge birth certificates. The senior superintendent of police of STF, Ayush Agrawal said that the authorities received information about a CSC in Selauqui area that was making counterfeit documents like Aadhar card, and other IDs that can be used for anti-national activities too. The STF's investigation confirmed the allegations following which a team conducted a raid in the CSC on Tuesday. The STF arrested CSC operators named Idrish Khan and Rohil Malik and recovered several forged documents including birth certificates which were forged using official stamps of several government hospitals of the country. Agrawal said that the accused revealed during the investigation that they have been in contact with some people in Jharkhand and Bihar who create such fake websites that help them to issue a birth certificate from any government hospital of a district.

These certificates are mostly the exact same copy of the real certificate to prevent suspicion as per the accused, said the SSP. "Many labourers from various States arrive in several factories set up in the Selauqui area for work. Those who do not have a legitimate Aadhar card or are underage as per their own IDs, approach CSC to increase their age in IDs to be eligible to get the job," said Agrawal. He said that the authorities are investigating both accused to get information about how many such documents they have issued since they started this scam. The STF will proceed on the matter as per the information revealed during the investigation, added Agrawal.

Ghana national involved in cyber fraud arrested

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Uttarakhand Special Task Force (STF) has arrested a Ghana national from Delhi for a cyber fraud of Rs 15 lakh. The Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) of Cyber Crime, STF, Ankush Mishra informed that a resident of Rishikesh had registered a case of being a victim of an online scam of Rs 15 lakh. He said that during the investigation, the police found involvement of a resident of Ghana, Ebuka Obi, in the fraud. On the basis of the evidence gathered in the case, a team of cyber police of STF was sent to Delhi on Tuesday who finally nabbed the accused from Mohan Garden area, said the DSP. He said that the STF also recovered 10 mobile sets, three each SIM cards and debit cards. Explaining the modus operandi of the accused, Mishra said that Obi used to call victims from different mobile numbers in the name of sending online prizes or gifts and lure them into doing online transactions. He also used to pose as customs officer and demanded money in different accounts in the name of tax submission, said Mishra. The DSP has appealed to the public not to share any personal information and bank details in the name of claiming online gifts or prizes as cyber criminals used them to conduct cyber frauds. He also appealed to the public to contact authorities or call the helpline number 1930 immediately after the witness or become a victim of cyber fraud.

Bisht assumes charge of NABARD regional office

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Chief general manager Vinod Kumar Bisht has assumed charge of the Uttarakhand regional office of National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD). Bisht said that his priority will be to work intensively on environment and migration, the biggest challenges in the State. To empower women, emphasis will be laid on easing the availability of micro-finance facilities in which priority will be given to self help groups and joint liability groups. Since the State's agricultural holdings are small and scattered, the focus will be on removing apathy towards agriculture through aggregation. In order to realise the power of unity, more emphasis will be laid on the promotion of farmer producer organisations and the creation of marketing facilities for their products. Bisht said that to maintain and take forward the traditional heritage of Uttarakhand, his priorities also include providing training for artisans, setting up rural markets for marketing and OFPOs etc. He also stressed on working with the government for creating a strong agriculture system considering climate change.

Window of opportunity

India has invited Pakistan Foreign Minister for SCO meeting may not result may break the ice

India inviting Pakistan Foreign Minister Bilawal Bhutto Zardari and Chief Justice Umar Atta Bandial for the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) meeting in Goa has hit the headlines. The SCO Foreign Ministers' meeting is likely to be held in the first week of May. Though officials have made it clear that the invitation sent to Bhutto Zardari is a "routine matter" as India is the current chair of SCO, it has attracted considerable interest. This is mainly because of Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif's recent conciliatory remarks vis-à-vis India and his desire to hold talks with India. He said that he had asked the United Arab Emirates (UAE) to facilitate the negotiations. The Pakistan Prime Minister's Office later brought in a caveat—that India must restore Jammu and Kashmir's special status—but it is widely believed that this was the result of the intervention of the deep state. It is a well-known fact that the Pakistani deep state remains wedded to the jihadist ideal of destroying India. A lot many factors ensure that the ideal is poignantly felt and zealously acted upon: revenge for the defeat in the 1971 Indo-Pak War, resulting in an inglorious surrender and dismemberment of the nation; Islamisation, which began under Zia-ul-Haq in the 1980s, and gained depth and breadth in Pakistani society and culture subsequently; birth and development of the terror factory with its various stakeholders entrenched in the Army, government, society, culture, and civil society. Even the Oxford-educated Imran Khan ended up with the sobriquet 'Taliban Khan.' In such a socio-cultural milieu, it will always be difficult to even find, let alone have dialogue with, people in the Pakistani establishment who are sensible enough to talk sense and courageous enough to walk the talk. Such is the climate of opinion that anything reasonable attracts flak and obnoxious gets applause. Unsurprisingly, Pakistani leaders regularly indulge in loose talk and make deplorable remarks. Last month, for instance, Bilawal Bhutto called Prime Minister Narendra Modi "the butcher of Gujarat." This is not how foreign ministers talk about the heads of governments of other countries. But then in Pakistan politicians are always mindful of the reaction of the all-powerful Army, which carries out coups, installs and deposes governments. Imran Khan's rise and fall are examples of generals' intervention; they ensured that he won the election and, when he became defiant, kicked him out of power. Pakistani politicians' plight is best summarized in an old Hindi film song by Mukesh: Mujhe raat din yeh khyal hai, kahin woh nazar se gira na de... Therefore, to expect that the visit of Bilawal Bhutto (if it happens, for Islamabad may decide to send the junior foreign minister) would result in a thaw in the bilateral relations would be excessive optimism. Yet, the visit does open a window of opportunity for both nations to have meaningful dialogue.

Kerala govt's U-turn

Despite Centre's rejection the Kerala govt wants to go ahead with the controversial Silver Line project

The Kerala Government which called off the Semi High Speed Silver Line Rail Project connecting Kasaragod in the north and Thiruvananthapuram in the south has made a U-turn from its earlier stance and has decided to approach the Centre for permission for the controversial rail route which generated massive protests across the State. While delivering the customary address to the first session of this year's Legislative Assembly on Monday, Governor Arif Mohammed Khan announced that the Detailed Project Report of Silver Line has been approved by the State Government and submitted to the Ministry of Railways for final approval. But what he did not tell in the speech was the Centre's rejection of the proposal citing issues like ecology, environment and apprehension expressed by the public. The State administration loses nothing if it sees the writing on the wall and calls off the project which has drawn widespread public ire and resistance from thousands of people who would be shunted out of their homes and farm lands for acquisition of land. The Governor's announcement that the State Government would bid seriously for the Angamali-Sabari Rail Project. The move to go ahead with the Angamali-Sabari Rail Project for the benefit of Lord Ayyappa devotees is a retrograde and regressive measures. Hundreds of people were shocked by the announcement because the State Government has not acquired the land for the implementation of the Railway Line except installing stones along the proposed route and that too without the permission of the land owners. A cabal consisting of railway contractors, land sharks and drug peddlers are reportedly behind the initiative to lay the Sabari rail track to ensure the illegal traffic of high quality marijuana cultivated in the dense forests of the Western Ghats to the outside world, according to B V Kumar, who headed the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence for years and had led many operations against drug traffickers. The Kerala Government has failed time and again to focus on infrastructure projects which are essential for the State's development. Rail journey in the State is a harrowing experience as most of the services between Thiruvananthapuram and Kasaragod are delayed by hours because of outdated signal system and worn-out tracks. The Governor's speech stands out for its rhetoric and absence of concrete proposals. The CPI(M) has disappointed the electorate which re-elected the party to power. People in the State need a better deal.

Unearthing the root of the disaster

If plundering of hill is not stopped, disasters like in Joshimath are bound to happen in the fragile ecosystem of the lower Himalayas.

The fragile Himalayan mountains of Uttarakhand in the town of Joshimath in Chamoli district, located at an altitude of 6,150 feet, is famous as a gateway to Badrinath, one of the holy shrines 'Char Dhams' as well as the Sikh pilgrimage center at Hemkund Sahib, skiing attraction of Auli and the 'Valley of Flowers' UNESCO World Heritage site, is in news for wrong reasons - it is sinking rapidly all due to human-induced causes. On January 11, 2023, 723 houses in all the nine wards of the town had developed major or minor cracks on the floors, ceilings, and walls. Consequently, 145 families have been moved to safer locations. Joshimath has a population of 23,000 and is heavily built, with hotels, resorts, and a busy market catering to tourists, pilgrims, trekkers, and army and Indo-Tibetan border Police (ITBP) personnel. It emerged as a place of strategic importance in 1962 because it leads to villages along the Indo-China border and falls en route to Barahoti, a disputed territory along the border.

As per surveys conducted by experts, Joshimath falls in Zone V, India's highest-risk seismic zonation scheme and situated between two thrusts, the Main Central Thrust (MCT) and the Vaikrita Thrust (VT) and occupies a seismically active terrain. The town is highly active in terms of slope mobility because it is built on the deposits of an old landslide which means that the slopes can be destabilized even by slight triggers. Climatically, it lies in a region that frequently receives high-intensity, focussed rainfall, is prone to extreme weather, and could trigger landslides because the slopes are precariously balanced. Alarm bells in the region had begun ringing about five decades back when it was part of erstwhile Uttar Pradesh when the government constituted a committee led by the then Garhwal Commissioner, Mahesh Chander Mishra to investigate the cause of land subsidence in the area. The committee's report of 1976 warned against heavy and unscientific construction in the town.

It was clearly indicated that "Joshimath is a deposit of sand and stone.....hence was not a suitable place for the coming up of a township. Vibrations produced by blasting and heaving traffic will also lead to disequilibrium in natural factors". Subsequently, several studies flagged similar concerns, but the alarm bells went unheard and timely warnings were ignored.

In fact, on the contrary, Joshimath continued to develop exactly against the way the Mishra committee had advised. Successive governments, however, have sanctioned bigger projects - highways, hydropower, infrastructure development, and hazard development of townships with no regard for environmental fallout. As normally attributed, the local people and climate change are responsible for the disasters. However, in his case, the policy-led disasters are "Made in Delhi". This is apparent from the decision of sanctioning large hydropower projects by the Centre even after the 2013 Kedarnath tragedy. The armed forces and the state and local authorities, in their overenthusiasm, to have a smoother, faster, all-weather connectivity for pilgrims, and tourists, ignored the government's own recommended "best practices norms" The construction of highways and railway tracks has now become a prime cause for landslides and their occurrences have doubled over the years making the hill slopes extremely unstable. Consequently, recurring landslides have gone up leading to erosions and land shifts.

According to a report published in Current Science in 2010, "Tapovan-Vishnugad hydropower tunnel that passes just below Joshimath, which is sitting on an old glacial deposit, could be contributing factor to this phenomenon. During the construction of the tunnel, a boring machine perforated a water-bearing stratum on the left bank of the Alaknanda river near Shelong village, leading to the discharge of 60-70 million liters per day. This must have led to the gradual depletion of pore pressure within the sediment leading to aquifer compaction and settling of the ground. The role of pore pressure in determining slope stability needs to be studied further in the region. Although the officials of NTPC who are responsible for the construction and maintenance of the 520 MW hydropower project refute these allegations. However, many residents believe that the town would not be facing the current crisis if not for the hollowing of the ground beneath their feet. Moreover, construction along the Helang bypass to build an all-weather road is also believed to have disturbed the mountain's foundation.

Similar sentiments are echoed by the members of Joshimath Bacho Sangharsh Samiti, which have been protesting against projects detrimental to Joshimath since 2004 and are currently leading protests demanding adequate relief and rehabilitation for Joshimath's residents whose houses have been damaged. They felt that water released in 2009 is a major contributor to the subsistence and the water laden with muck and some volatile chemicals, began surfacing in the town's Marwari from the February 7, 2021 flood that would have entered into the (under construction) tunnel of the Tapovan Vishnugad project and is now surfacing in Joshimath. However, there have been no scientific studies establishing links between the puncture and the subsidence in Joshimath. Refuting these allegations, the NTPC has denied any role in the ongoing crisis. The real cause of this disaster remains a sort of mystery for the authorities as well as the public.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BAN ON BBC DOCUMENTARY

Sir — This ban on BBC documentary deserves criticism from both angles. Let us first take the ban from BJP's perspective. What is the need for banning the documentary when NDA has been elected twice with a comfortable majority in 2014 and 2019 and the riots took place in 2002? People knew pretty well about the riots and yet they voted for Modi for two consecutive terms with an ascending majority. Unnecessarily, by banning, they are advertising something that in the normal course would have fizzled out.

Now coming from the opposition's angle, a good number of voters were born after the riots if you take the segment of 20-22 years youth. Even assuming the ban is lifted, what impact would it have when Modi followed by courts' verdicts has eclipsed the whole issue successfully, albeit under the garb of truth and nothing but the truth? Amplifying the issue will neither reduce the vote bank of the BJP nor will it increase the same for all other opposing parties. The program, if shown may or may not dent the image of Modi per se.

Let us be reconciled to the reality that we are not in an era of 'yatha Raja tatha praja' but rather 'yathha praja tatha raja'.

NAMING OF ISLANDS

Sir — Prime Minister (PM) Narendra Modi named the 21 largest unnamed islands of Andaman and Nicobar Islands after Param Vir Chakra (PVC) awardees in a ceremony on the occasion of Parakram Diwas (Day of Valor) on the day of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose's birthday. Before this earlier in 2018, Ross Islands was renamed Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose Dweep by the prime minister during his visit to the island. Similarly, Neil Island and Havelock Island were also renamed Shaheed Dweep and Swaraj Dweep. No doubt the decision is heartening, even what will happen when in future more and more PVC awardees will be there? They will create islands to be named.

HC's judgement on abortion

The Bombay High court had delivered a landmark decision on termination of pregnancy and allowed a pregnant lady to terminate in 32 weeks treating in violation of individual liberty which has been exercised by every individual. Court had said that it would be a denial of the woman's right to dignity and her reproductive and decisional autonomy if she is not allowed to undergo medical termination of the foetus with serious abnormalities and "the decision is hers and hers alone to make, once the conditions in the statute are met. The right to choose is the mothers'. A medical board was constituted as required by the Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act. The medical opinion confirmed the diagnosis of anomalies and added the possibility of intellectual disability to the child but said both conditions were not life-threatening. It denied the request for a medical termination of pregnancy in view of the advanced gestation period.

The woman, however, said she comes from a humble background and will not be able to provide additional care and meet the expenses of an infant born with such conditions and urged the court to intervene. The court then directed a qualified psychiatrist to assess whether a medical termination of the pregnancy at this stage would pose a physical or mental risk to the woman. The report stated that she has no major medical, obstetric, or psychiatric complications at present but considering the advanced gestational age the medical termination of pregnancy is not recommended. However, Advocate in the court pointed out that the Act does not say what is to happen if a fetal abnormality is detected late in the pregnancy and that the writ jurisdiction of the Court may be invoked. The court on January 20 allowed the termination of the pregnancy These important decisions should be highlighted by the concerned general public.

IT IS EASIER TO LIVE IN DENIAL OF REALITY

But the lesson of Gita is that we should accept reality

AJIT KUMAR BISHNOI

One must wonder as to why we do not want to accept reality. Why do the majority of us want to live in denial? Because it is difficult; it is easier to live in denial. It wasn't so, it would not have taken Lord Krishna to speak the entire Gita to convince Arjuna, who accepted what the Lord wanted him to do only in verse #18.73. What was Arjuna's initial position? He didn't want to fight the inevitable war, and he gave many reasons for it. Sample some of his arguments. Arjuna didn't see the opposition Army consisting of persons who were bent upon perpetrating 'adharma' (injustice) as what they were; he saw them as relatives. (1.28) He could see only adverse consequences, nothing favourable in killing them. (1.31) He would rather die than desire either victory, kingdom or pleasures. (1.32) He was strongly of the opinion that it would be sinful to kill his relatives. (1.36) Arjuna even foresaw sacrosanct family values getting destroyed, predominance of immortality, women of the family getting corrupted resulting in illicit progeny, etc. Such an act by him was surely going to result in a long stay of hell for his side. (1.44)

How did Lord Krishna manage to bring Arjuna around to see the reality? The Lord started with the knowledge of soul, while Arjuna was seeing only material bodies. This is what most of us do too. We don't want to accept the reality of previous lives, future lives, etc. For the ignorant mass, the present life is everything. This wrong perception prevents us from seeing the truth of our existence.

We don't believe in the 'Karmaphala Principle', which is crucial for accepting reality, the system of reward and punishment, which is fate. Once we accept the reality of the soul, we begin to accept death – the most painful reality. This is where actual realism comes.

The next reality is being dutiful. Even animals are dutiful towards their progeny. We cannot be worse than them. We must accept to do whatever is necessary according to time, place and circumstances. If we are mentally prepared to do that, life becomes more meaningful. Because as human beings, being dutiful is the foremost requirement. These duties are towards ourselves, our families, our professions, etc.

We, being small, are incomplete in every sense; we need God's help 24x7. A good connection with God makes us complete, we being parts of Him. (15.7) Then nothing is beyond us. We can accept whatever the realities of our lives.

Then, comes mind control. Aren't we dictated to by our minds? Don't they define us? Therefore, God has insisted that we try to control our minds. We have to be in control, not our minds. Then, where will there be any difficulty in accepting what we must?

'Maya' may try to bemuse, confuse, and make us see everything upside down, which is liking what hurts and avoiding what helps. This is where the human species is well placed; it has all the tools to live a quality life. We just have to accept to be good in all respects, which happens by embracing the mode of goodness in all our activities, as detailed by Lord Krishna in the Gita. Gradually, we will become habituated to accept the ups and downs of life. (2.14) Acceptance makes living easy. It shows faith and hope for the future. Will we then be ready to accept what we must and go on steadily ahead? Those who can live their lives in the way explained by Lord Krishna in the Gita can look forward to a quality life, notwithstanding challenges, which loom ahead.

Pariksha Pe Charcha deals with anxiety

Making career decisions is a crucial milestone at the secondary level because it helps students build their identities

PRACHI PANDEY

TARA NAOREM

Adolescence is characterised by significant psychological, physical, and social changes. Traditionally, a coming-of-age period, it should be a celebration of life. However, it is alarming how stressed and in the mental health crisis today's pupils are.

Common sources of stress include interpersonal interactions, learning difficulties, and exam failures. Examinations, in themselves, are a cause of stress as they lead to anxiety about opting for higher education or career. Choosing a higher education and future employment is challenging due to the complex options available. The choice of a career among the many possibilities available is one of the major reasons that might cause stress and worry in youth.

Additionally, empirical data has demonstrated that late teenagers with career choice issues frequently have significant psychological issues. Therefore, it is now more crucial than ever to pinpoint the causes of the stress and worry that young people are experiencing.

The pupils' stress may be influenced by what their parents think about them and their prospects. Additionally, a youngster who is unable to express their thoughts, feelings, and plans to their parents may wind up keeping everything buried deep inside, which could be harmful to their health and wellbeing.

In fact, such questions have been raised in previous editions of 'Pariksha Pe Charcha', wherein one student talked about the "huge competition in each field", how at times "they were not selected in any exam due to high competition and pressure". Questions from a societal perspective as to "what can we do for them so that great talent of our nation will not be just wasted and will be useful for the nation?" have been raised.

The Prime Minister's response has, of course, been well-documented but he has also written, "Aspire not to BECOME something but TO DO something. Normally, the desire to become something is driven by the expectations of the family, fashionable professional trends, peer pressure or fantasies about fame, money and power. It distances you from your true potential and gradually snuffs out the innate passion you are blessed with."

When parents don't approve of their child's choices, such as choosing to major in humanities rather than science, the child may experience shame, disappointment, resentment, and despair. Getting influenced by the choices made by their peers and constantly making comparisons with them could add on to their stress.

While it is good to have focus and many children may be able to decide what they want to become, it is important not to let these choices, whether to become a doctor or pilot or civil servant, define our dreams. Rather let the dreams lead you to paths determined by how you can make a difference to your family, to society and to the world at large.

Lacking clarity about one's interest areas, aptitude, work preferences, etc. and having a negative self-image could substantially increase the magnitude of stress and anxiety experienced by the students.

Swami Vivekananda exhorted us, "...each soul is a manifestation of divinity. If you have faith in all the Gods...and still have no faith in yourselves, there is no salvation for you." Thus, self-awareness is crucial, leading to identification of both strengths and weaknesses and resulting in increased confidence. This is why it is critical not simply to have a positive outlook, but rather to consciously weed out the negativity in our lives – negative thoughts, negative friends, negative information, etc. Negativity should not be removed by a false sense of superiority but by acknowledging that even our smallest strengths can help in different situations.

Life is a series of new experiences, environments, people, it is multi-faceted and a journey with many infinite destinations and possibilities. But everyone approaches it in a different way. While some are stifled by choices, others are overwhelmed by choices. At another end of the spectrum, some do not even know enough about the choices at hand. Lack of accurate understanding about numerous career options is another issue that stresses out students. This includes diverse work profiles, pay scales, potential for growth, future of certain industries, etc. One can make an informed choice only when they have all the required information. In such a case, not having access to information or consuming content from unreliable sources (eg. making a career decision based on a random conversation with a friend) could prove to be quite harmful in these circumstances.

In Exam Warriors, PM has written, "Create your own opportunities. Be the master of your destiny. Today, there are tremendous opportunities in fields which were unimaginable even a decade ago. When you make these choices, remember your passion makes for the best vocation."

With these words as a foundation, practically, at the individual level, students can focus more of their time and energy in seeking information, having healthy conversations with friends, family, teachers, and resource persons. The cohort of adults in a child's environment can assist the students by encouraging open communication. They can guide, without being judgmental or forcing their opinions on children, and help children make decisions and become independent while selecting their subjects, colleges and universities.

Having an adult to speak with or discuss their career concerns or to ask questions and have constructive discussions could be significantly important for teenagers deliberating about their future.

Parents and teachers can also help the children by removing the taboo of going to a counselor and seeking professional help, if the need be. Having proper meetings with the parents, teacher and the child present would also be beneficial in discussing the concerns each of them might have, even concerns about resources, and come up with feasible solutions accordingly.

Such discussions could foster an environment of support, and understanding for the student. It is of utmost importance for the students to know that they are not alone in this journey, and that they will be able to figure things out gradually.

Lacking important life skills like time management, goal setting, etc., could further deteriorate their academic situation, and the student might start feeling incompetent leading to a negative self-image.

During PPC, PM Modi counseled students, "Every individual is blessed with unique abilities. These abilities are best channelled through quality time management. So, time management is nothing but ability management."

Life skills are built by taking constant care of yourself, mentally, physically and emotionally. The Prime Minister has said that "practising yoga with full awareness is the most effective way to achieve holistic development of the self....one who plays, shines." Physical exercise, whether in the form of individual games or team sports, not only keeps us physically fit but also helps us to learn life skills, value of team-work, the art of competing with oneself and achieving a better version of your own self. It instills a sense of discipline and also increases focus.

Making career-related decisions is a crucial milestone at the secondary level because it helps students build their individual identities in society and prepare for the workforce. The process of making these decisions can be both exciting and anxiety-provoking. This is, why, in this journey, Pariksha Pe Charcha has come to play an important role.

India should win war against cervical cancer fast

The necessary tools to stop this preventable disease and eliminate it completely are available

Third Front again! Before every Lok Sabha poll, the Third Front idea is floated, and the 2024 polls are no exception. Political pundits predict that there is space for the entire Opposition against Bharatiya Janata Party but not a Third Front, as it will splinter the anti-BJP votes and help the ruling dispensation. The concept was tried and tested in 1977, 1989, and 1996-98, supported by either Congress or the BJP. But they were all short-lived.

A recent tweet by the Union Minister of Health & Family Welfare highlighted a new milestone achieved by India in securing the health of new mothers in the country. Sustained systemic efforts over a decade and targeted health initiatives have helped India bring down the number of maternal deaths per 100,000 live births or the Maternal Mortality Ratio (MMR) from 130 in 2014-2016 to 97 in 2018-2020.

DR SHALINI RAJARAM

(The author is Professor and Program Lead of the MCh Gynecologic Oncology Program, Dept. of Obstetrics & Gynecology, AIIMS Rishikesh)

A decade back, deaths due to cancer of the uterine cervix and maternal deaths were both pegged at around 72,000 per year. However, cancer cervix has rapidly surpassed maternal mortality and has become the second common cause of cancer deaths amongst women in India. This is a distressing sign for a life-threatening disease that is almost entirely preventable. In 2020, over 120,000 women in India were reported to have cancer of the cervix, resulting in more than 77,000 deaths. Human Papilloma virus (HPV) has been established as a cause of cancer of the cervix. More than 90 per cent of cancer cervix cases are due to high-risk HPV type. HPV, much like the influenza virus, is a ubiquitous virus and can enter the body through small abrasions in the skin and mucosa.

While most low-grade infections spontaneously resolve within two years, persistent infection results in cancer of the cervix. Early cancer can be completely asymptomatic. Hence, we may not know when a woman will develop pre-invasive or invasive cancer and a woman could be harboring a cancer for several years only discovering it at an advanced stage. Symptoms usually include irregular vaginal bleeding, post-coital vaginal bleeding and sometimes between menstrual cycles.

Invasive cancer of the cervix can cause a foul-smelling vaginal discharge or pelvic pain and is undeniably the most dreaded form when it invades adjacent organs like the bladder and rectum.

Beyond mortality, the long-term effects of cervical cancer can severely impact the quality of life. In addition to undergoing the harrowing experience of cancer treatment and associated toxicities, cancer survivors also have to battle with long term issues such as menopausal symptoms, severe leg swelling (lower limb lymphedema), sexual dysfunction, infertility, social judgement and rejection, difficulty in social functioning, reduced self-esteem, negative body image, as well as financial issues.

Unfortunately, this cancer is mostly diagnosed in young women between 35 to 45 years of age when they are in the prime years. Only silver line is that the cancer of the cervix is almost entirely preventable. We know that it is caused by a virus and that there are effective vaccines already used globally to help prevent it. Vaccinating young girls long before they are exposed to this virus can aid primary prevention. Regular screening after the age of 30 and effective treatment through surgery or radiation, can eliminate what currently stands as the second most common cancer in women in India. Advocating the vaccine to every young girl between the age of 9-14, that they see in their practice, and advising screening of women between 30-49 years with a high precision HPV DNA test will be the two strongest pillars in this fight against cancer cervix.

As a member of the World Health Assembly, India committed to WHO's Global Cervical Cancer Elimination Initiative to accelerate the elimination of cancer of the cervix by 2030. The 90-70-90 target set by the initiative requires 90 per cent of girls to be fully vaccinated with HPV vaccine before the age of 15, 70 per cent of women to be screened with a high-performance test by the age of 35 and again by the age of 45, and 90 per cent of women identified with cervical cancer to receive treatment. In an endeavour to meet the commitment and protect our girls, the Government of India must consider launching HPV vaccination funded and implemented under the immunization programme. As we celebrate the cervical cancer awareness month this January, each one of us can play a part in helping the country secure the health of its women.

Women represent the cornerstone for a family's overall health and hence investing in their health and ensuring their access to quality care goes a long way in ensuring the wellbeing and future of a society. The necessary tools to stop women from suffering and dying from this preventable disease and eliminating it completely are available; thus our girls will live to see a world free of this deadly disease.

Ukraine forces pull back from Donbas town after onslaught

AP ■ KYIV

Ukrainian forces have conducted an organised retreat from a town in the eastern region of the Donbas, an official said on Wednesday, in what is a rare but modest battlefield triumph for the Kremlin in a series of setbacks in its invasion that began almost 11 months ago.

The Ukrainian army retreated from the salt-mining town of Soledar to "preserve the lives of the personnel", Serhii Cherevatyi, a spokesperson for Ukraine's forces in the east, told The Associated Press.

The soldiers pulled back to previously prepared defensive positions, he said.

Moscow has portrayed the battle for Soledar, which lies near the city of Bakhmut, as key to capturing the entire Donbas.

The accomplishment takes the Russian forces a step closer to Bakhmut, but military analysts say capturing Soledar is more symbolic than strategic.

Ukraine's military, which has held out in Soledar against a monthslong onslaught of superior Russian forces, has said its fierce defence of the eastern stronghold helped tie up Russian forces.

Russia claimed almost two weeks ago that it had taken Soledar, but Ukraine denied it.

Many of Russia's troops around Soledar belong to the private Russian military contractor Wagner Group, and the fighting reportedly has been bloody.

Since its invasion of Ukraine, Moscow has prioritised taking full control of the Donbas - a region made up of the Donetsk and Luhansk provinces, where it has backed a separatist insurgency since 2014.

Russia has seized most of Luhansk, but about half of Donetsk remains under Ukraine's control.

Taking control of the town would potentially allow Russian forces to cut supply lines to Ukrainian forces in Bakhmut, though the strength of Ukraine's new defensive positions was not known.

The Institute for the Study of War, a think tank in Washington, said earlier this month that the fall of Soledar wouldn't mark "an operationally significant development and is unlikely to presage an imminent Russian encirclement of Bakhmut".

The institute said Russian information operations have "overexaggerated the importance of Soledar," which is a small settlement. It also argued that the long and difficult battle has contributed to the exhaustion of Russian forces.

Perhaps more worrying for Moscow, Western military help for Ukraine is now being stepped up with the delivery of tanks.

Elsewhere, Russian forces have continued to pummel Ukrainian areas, especially in the south and east.

Russian strikes wounded 10 civilians in the eastern Donetsk province on Tuesday, Pavlo Kyrylenko, the provincial governor, said.

Five were wounded when Russian shells slammed into apartment blocks, he said.

The General Staff of the Armed Forces of Ukraine said on Wednesday that over the previous 24 hours Russian forces had launched four missile strikes, 26 airstrikes and more than 100 attacks from rocket salvo systems.

Russian forces are concentrating their efforts on establishing control over Donetsk province, conducting offensive operations around the embattled cities of Bakhmut, Lyman and Avdiivka, and the village of Novopavlivka, according to spokesperson Oleksandr Shtupun.

In addition to Donetsk, the Russian attacks struck settlements in the country's north-eastern Kharkiv and Sumy, northern Chernihiv, eastern-most Luhansk, southeastern Zaporizhzhia, and southern Kherson provinces.

Meanwhile, Volodymyr Zelenskyy, the Ukraine president who has gone from professional comedian to an internationally recognised wartime leader, turned 45 on Wednesday.

His wife, first lady Olena Zelenska, said that though he is the same person as when they met at 17, "Something has changed: You smile much less now."

New Zealander killed in Ukraine helped hundreds, parents say

AP ■ WELLINGTON

The parents of a New Zealand scientist who was killed in Ukraine said Wednesday he helped save hundreds of people while volunteering in the dangerous Donbas region.

Andrew Bagshaw, 47, a dual New Zealand and British citizen, was killed along with British colleague Chris Parry, 28, while attempting to rescue an elderly woman from the town of Soledar when their car was hit by an artillery shell, according to Bagshaw's parents, Dame Sue and Phil Bagshaw.

The Bagshaws said the deaths, which occurred some time this month, had only just been confirmed to them.

They said their son worked independently and wasn't affiliated with an aid agency. They said he helped evacuate people from dangerous areas and bring food, water and medicine to others in need. They said he even fed abandoned pets.

Soledar has seen intense military action and Russia this month claimed it had retaken the salt-mining town in a rare recent victory in the 11-month conflict.

Bagshaw's parents said Ukrainian authorities were working with officials in New Zealand and Britain, but it could take some time to get their son's body returned from where it was being held at a children's hospital mortuary in the capital, Kyiv.

New Zealand Prime Minister Chris Hipkins said he'd yet to be officially briefed about the death but had received some preliminary information.

"I just want to extend my condolences to the Bagshaw family," Hipkins said. "I haven't had an opportunity to convey that to them personally yet. It's obviously a very tragic situation for them."

Hipkins said that there was very limited consular support available in Ukraine.

Andrew Bagshaw's parents told reporters their son was a humanitarian who had travelled to Ukraine in April with little more than a backpack and a travel guide.

Ukraine corruption scandal claims several top officials

AP ■ KYIV

Several senior Ukrainian officials, including front-line governors, lost their jobs in a corruption scandal plaguing President Volodymyr Zelenskyy's government as it grapples with the nearly 11-month-old Russian invasion.

Ukraine's biggest government shake-up since the war began came as U.S. Officials said Washington was poised to approve supplying Kyiv with M1 Abrams tanks, with international reluctance eroding toward sending tanks to the battlefield against the Russians. Zelenskyy was elected in 2019 on an anti-establishment and anti-corruption platform in a country long gripped by graft, and the new allegations come as Western allies are channeling billions of dollars to help Kyiv fight against Moscow.

Officials in several countries, including the United States, have demanded more accountability for the aid, given Ukraine's rampant corruption.

While Zelenskyy and his aides portray the resignations and firings as proof of their efforts to crack down, the wartime scandal could play into Moscow's political attacks on the leadership in Kyiv.

On the capital's streets, Serhii Bochkarev, a 28-year-old translator, welcomed the moves. "Corruption during war is totally unacceptable because people are giving their lives to fight Russians and to defend the motherland," he said.

The shake-up even touched Zelenskyy's office.

Its deputy head, Kyrylo Tymoshenko, prominent for his frequent battlefield updates, quit as the president pledged to address allegations of graft - including some related to military spending - that embarrassed authorities and could slow Ukraine's efforts to join the European Union and NATO.

Tymoshenko asked to be relieved of his duties. He didn't cite a reason.

Local media said Deputy Defence Minister Viacheslav Shapovalov also resigned, in connection with a scandal involving the purchase of food for Ukraine's armed forces.

Deputy Prosecutor General Oleksiy Symonenko also quit.

In all, four deputy ministers and five governors of front-line provinces were set to leave their posts, the country's cabinet secretary said on the Telegram messaging app.

Authorities did not announce any criminal charges.

There was no immediate explanation.

The departures thinned government ranks already diminished by the deaths of the interior minister, who oversaw Ukraine's police and emergency services, and others in the ministry's leadership in a helicopter crash last week.

In reversal, US poised to approve M1 Abrams tanks for Ukraine

AP ■ WASHINGTON

In what would be a reversal, the Biden administration is poised to approve sending M1 Abrams tanks to Ukraine, U.S. Officials said Tuesday, as international reluctance to send tanks to the battlefield against the Russians begins to erode.

A decision to send a bit more than 30 tanks could be announced as soon as Wednesday, though it could take months for the tanks to be delivered.

U.S. Officials said details are still being worked out.

One official said the tanks would be bought under an upcoming Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative package, which provides longer-range funding for weapons and equipment to be purchased from commercial vendors.

The U.S. Announcement is expected in coordination with an announcement by Germany that it will approve Poland's request to transfer German-made Leopard 2 tanks to Ukraine, according to one official.

The officials spoke on condition of anonymity because the decision has not yet been made public.

By agreeing to send the Abrams at an as-yet unspecified time under the assistance initiative, the administration is able to meet German Chancellor Olaf Scholz's demand for an American commitment without having to send the tanks immediately.

Much of the aid sent so far in the 11-month-old war has been through a separate program drawing on Pentagon stocks to get weapons more quickly to Ukraine. But even under that programme, it would take months to get tanks to Ukraine and to get Ukrainian forces trained on them.

It wasn't clear Tuesday how soon the U.S. Will start training Ukrainian troops on the Abrams and roughly how soon they can get to the battlefield.

Until now, the U.S. Has resisted providing its own M1 Abrams tanks to Ukraine, citing extensive and complex maintenance and logistical challenges with the high-tech vehicles.

Washington believes it would be more productive to send German Leopards since many allies have them and Ukrainian troops would need less training than on the more difficult Abrams.

Just last week, Under Secretary of Defence for Policy Colin Kahl told reporters that the Abrams is a complicated, expensive, difficult to maintain and hard to train on piece of equipment. One thing Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin has been very focused on, he said, "is that we should not be providing the Ukrainians systems they can't repair, they can't sustain, and that they, over the long term, can't afford, because it's not helpful."

A U.S. Official familiar with White House thinking said the administration's initial hesitancy was based on concerns about the requisite training and the sustainment of the tanks.

The official added that the administration believes that such plans are now in place, but it could take time to implement them.

At the Pentagon, spokesman Brig. Gen. Pat Ryder said he had nothing to announce on any U.S. Decision regarding Abrams tanks.

But he said, "anytime that we've provided Ukraine with a type of system, we've provided the training and sustainment capabilities with that."

After US offer, Germany unleashes Leopard tanks for Ukraine

AP ■ BERLIN

After weeks of hesitation that saw growing impatience among Germany's allies, Chancellor Olaf Scholz announced Wednesday that his government would provide Ukraine with Leopard 2 battle tanks and approve requests by other countries to do the same.

In a statement, the German government said it would initially provide Ukraine with one company of Leopard 2 A6 tanks, which comprises 14 vehicles, from its own stocks.

The goal is for Germany and its allies to provide Ukraine with a total of two battalions, or 88 tanks.

"This decision follows our well-known line of supporting Ukraine to the best of our ability," Scholz said after a Cabinet meeting in Berlin.

Germany was "acting in close coordination" with its international allies, he added.

The long-awaited decision came after US officials said Tuesday that a preliminary agreement had been struck for the United States to send M1 Abrams tanks to help Ukraine's troops push back Russian forces that remain entrenched in the country's east almost a year after Moscow's invasion and war.

Scholz had insisted that any decision to provide Ukraine with powerful Leopard 2 tanks would need to be taken in conjunction with Germany's allies, chiefly the United States. By getting Washington to commit some of its own tanks, Berlin hopes to share the risk of any backlash from Russia.

PTI man held for public censuring of Pak Govt

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Pakistani authorities on Wednesday arrested Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party senior leader Fawad Chaudhry, hours after he publicly censured the government for scheming to arrest party chairman Imran Khan.

Fawad, a close aide of ousted prime minister Khan, was taken into custody from his residence in Lahore after a case was registered against him at Kohsar Police Station on the complaint of the Secretary Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP).

"This imported government has gone berserk," PTI leader Farrukh Habib tweeted.

An official PTI Twitter account also posted videos, showing a convoy of police vehicles which the party claimed was carrying Chaudhry after his arrest.

The arrest of Fawad, 52, came amidst rumours that the government may arrest PTI chief and former premier Khan.

Fawad's arrest comes after he, along with scores of party workers, gathered outside Khan's Zaman Park residence in Lahore, claiming to avert the government's alleged plan to arrest the party chief.

The arrest of Fawad further deepens political fault lines in Pakistan where the Khan-led opposition is demanding snap polls.

General elections in Pakistan are due after August. However, Khan is demanding snap polls.

"He (Chaudhry) was taken away from outside his house at 5:30 am in four cars that did not have any number plates," Faisal Chaudhry, the PTI leader's brother, was quoted as saying by the Dawn newspaper

PTI ■ LONDON

British Home Secretary Suella Braverman is said to be on a collision course with the country's education department over plans to cut the period of stay allowed for overseas students under a post-study visa route, according to a UK media report on Wednesday.

The new Graduate Visa route, which allows foreign graduates - including Indians - the chance to stay on to job hunt and gain work experience for up to two years without the requirement of a specific job offer, is expected to be cut under Braverman's proposed review.

According to 'The Times', the Indian-origin home secretary has drawn up a plan to "reform" the Graduate Visa route requiring students to obtain a work visa by getting a skilled job or leave the UK after six months. The newspaper refers to leaked advice to say that the UK Department for Education (DfE) is attempting to block the changes as they fear it would harm the UK's attractiveness to international students.

South Korea, Japan grapple with heavy snow chaos, delays

PTI ■ SEOUL

Frigid winter weather gripped East Asia for the second straight day on Wednesday, causing several deaths and multiple injuries in Japan and a scramble for flights out of South Korea's resort island of Jeju following delays by snowstorms.

Heavy snow and record cold temperatures brought widespread disruptions in Japan.

South Korea's Ministry of the Interior and Safety didn't immediately report any major damage or injuries from sub-zero temperatures and icy conditions that have affected most of the country since Tuesday.

But at least eight roads and 10 sea routes remained closed as of Wednesday afternoon. About 140 homes in capital Seoul and nearby regions reported busted water pressure pumps or pipes as temperatures dipped to around minus 15 to minus 20 degrees Celsius (5 degrees to minus 4 degrees Fahrenheit) across the mainland.

Israeli troops kill Palestinian after attempted stabbing

PTI ■ JERUSALEM

Israeli troops shot and killed a Palestinian in the occupied West Bank on Wednesday, Palestinian officials said, the latest death in a surge of violence. The Israeli military said the Palestinian tried to stab a soldier.

The violence comes amid tensions over Israel's new government, it's most right-wing ever. On Wednesday, ultranationalist Cabinet minister Itamar Ben-Gvir promised to continue visits to a flashpoint Jerusalem holy site, despite pleas from neighbouring Jordan that Israel maintain a delicate status quo at the site.

The Palestinian Health Ministry identified the man shot as Aref Abdel Nasser Lahlouh, 20. The Israeli military said the man was carrying a knife and was shot after he attempted to attack a soldier at a military post. Video on social media showed a man running toward soldiers and then falling to the ground.

Tensions have been high for months as Israel has been conducting nightly arrest raids in the West Bank, which were prompted by a spate of Palestinian attacks against Israelis last spring. Some 30 people were killed in Israel by Palestinians in 2022.

US reroutes $72M in aid for wages for Lebanese army, police

AP ■ BEIRUT

The United States is rerouting USD 72 million of America's assistance to Lebanon to help the country's cash-strapped government boost wages of its soldiers and police officers, the US ambassador said Wednesday.

Washington is a key donor of the Lebanese Army and its 80,000 members, providing over USD 3 billion in military aid since 2006. The announcement Wednesday is the first time the US is allocating funds for wages of security personnel in Lebanon.

Lebanon, a tiny Mediterranean country of 6 million people, is struggling with an unprecedented economic crisis, one that the World Bank says is among the worst worldwide since the 1850s.

UN official: Aid groups press Taliban on ban on women's jobs

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Heads of major aid groups are pressing the Taliban to reverse their decision to ban Afghan women from working for national and international nongovernmental groups, the UN humanitarian chief said on Wednesday.

The Taliban move last month to bar women from NGO work prompted major international aid agencies to suspend operations in Afghanistan, though some have since resumed their work in parts of the country.

A government source who backs Braverman's plan said the Graduate Visa was being increasingly used by students on short courses at 'less respectable universities'.

"It's being used as a backdoor immigration route," the newspaper quoted the source as saying. The DfE, however, argues that the two-year Graduate

Visa, often referred to as the UK's post-study offer, was aligned with most of Britain's main competitors, with only the US offering a one-year

SKY VOTED ICC MEN’S T20 CRICKETER OF YEAR

PTI ■ DUBAI

Swashbuckling Indian batter Suryakumar Yadav was on Wednesday named the ICC Men’s T20 Cricketer of the Year for his ridiculously good run in the shortest format of the game. Surya had a stellar 2022, breaking an array of records and setting a benchmark in the format.

He beat the likes of Sam Curran, Pakistan wicketkeeper-batter Mohammad Rizwan and Zimbabwe’s batting all-rounder Sikandar Raza for the top honour. India’s newest fast-bowling star Renuka Singh become the recipient of ICC Emerging Women’s Cricketer of the Year Award.

However, India vice-captain and last year’s Cricketer of the Year Smriti Mandhana lost out to Australia’s Tahlia McGrath in the women’s T20 category.

Popularly known as ‘SKY’, the 32-year-old became just the second batter to make more than 1000 runs in a calendar year in T20Is and ended the year as the highest run-getter, scoring 1164 runs at a strike-rate of 187.43.

Surya hit a stunning 68 sixes during the year, easily the most recorded by anyone in a year in the format’s history.

The Indian was the key batter for his team through the year, smashing two hundreds and nine half-centuries.

Surya was at his stupendous best during the ICC Men’s T20 World Cup 2022 in Australia, recording three fifties in six innings and averaging nearly 60. Notably, his strike-rate was yet again right up there at 189.68.

Having already recorded a ton earlier in the year, Suryakumar continued his brilliant year after the multi-nation tournament, making his second hundred in T20Is in the bilateral series in New Zealand.

Surya also became the top-ranked T20 player, achieving a career-high 890 rating points.

RENUKA WINS

There has been a buzz surrounding Renuka, who burst into life in a busy 12 months for the Indian women’s team.

The 26-year-old beat Australia’s Darcie Brown, England’s Alice Capsey and compatriot Yastika Bhatia to take home the emerging player award.

The right-armers claimed 40 wickets for her country in 2022 in just 29 matches across the two white-ball formats, filling the void left by the great Jhulan Goswami.

In the ODI game, Renuka was especially potent, taking 18 wickets at an average of just 14.88, of which eight came in two appearances against England and seven in India’s series with Sri Lanka.

Renuka troubled the Australian line-up in the seven T20I meetings across the year, taking eight wickets, and her performances across the Commonwealth Games and Asia Cup also grabbed attention. She claimed 17 wickets in 11 matches, at an economy of just 5.21.

With an ability to swing the ball and get it to deviate off the surface, Renuka will likely be one of India’s most dependable bowlers in the coming years.

SIRAJ BECOMES WORLD NO. 1 BOWLER IN ODIS

PTI ■ DUBAI

India pacer Mohammed Siraj on Wednesday became number one bowler in the ICC rankings for ODI bowlers, a testament to his rapid rise in international cricket.

Siraj went past New Zealand’s Trent Boult and Australia seamer Josh Hazlewood to become the top-ranked ODI bowler for the very first time.

Not only has Siraj’s form over the last 12 months been imperious, but his effort in the ODI series at home earlier this month against Sri Lanka and New Zealand has shown just how much the right-armers has improved in recent times. India bowling coach Paras Mhambrey challenged Siraj to work on certain aspects of his game last year and the extra training the energetic quick has put in has paid off.

Siraj took nine wickets against Sri Lanka to be the leading wicket-taker for the three-game series and backed that up by claiming a four-wicket haul in the opening match of the recently-completed series against New Zealand.

It means Siraj jumps to the top of the ODI bowler rankings with 729 rating points, albeit narrowly, with his lead at the top over Hazlewood just two rating points higher than the Australian.

Fellow India pacer Mohammed Shami has jumped 11 places to 32nd overall on the updated list for ODI bowlers, while there is plenty of movement at the top of the batter rankings following the completion of India’s home series against the Kiwis.

Pakistan skipper Babar Azam still enjoys a healthy lead at the top of the ODI batter rankings, but there is now a total of three India players inside the top 10 and chasing the highest accolade.

In-form opener Shubman Gill is the eye-catcher as the right-hander jumps a whopping 20 places to sixth overall following a brilliant double hundred and a century against New Zealand at home.

Gill rises in front of veteran Virat Kohli, who slipped to seventh following a quiet series against New Zealand, while Rohit jumped two places to equal eighth after his quickfire hundred against the Kiwis in Indore.

Statistics need to be presented with perspective: Rohit

PTI ■ INDORE

An annoyed Rohit Sharma slammed the broadcaster for missing ‘perspective’ when it chose to highlight that his century in the third ODI against New Zealand was his first in three years, pointing out that he hardly played 50-over matches during that period.

As Rohit pulled away to deep square to get to his 30th ODI century in the third game against New Zealand on Tuesday, the broadcaster flashed the statistic that it was the Indian skipper’s first ton since January 2020.

While the statistic is true, Rohit felt it did not convey the correct picture.

“Regarding the first hundred in three years, I’ve played only 12 (17) ODIs in three years. Three years sounds a lot,” Rohit told reporters after India whitewashed New Zealand 3-0 in the series following team’s 90-run win in the final ODI.

“You guys should know what’s happening. I know that it was shown on broadcast but kabhi kabhi woh cheez bhi dhyani dena chahiye, broadcaster ko bhi sahi cheez dikhana chahiye (the broadcasters should give the correct picture),” he added.

When a journalist further asked if it was the return of the ‘Hitman’, a moniker used for him, Rohit, who slammed nine fours and six sixes in India’s 90-run win, said, “As I said, there were no matches in 2020.”

“Everyone was sitting at home because of COVID-19. We hardly played ODIs, I was injured so I played two Tests during that time, so you have to put all of that in perspective.

“We were playing T20 cricket last year. And in T20 cricket, there’s no better batsman than Suryakumar Yadav at the moment. He has hit two hundreds and I don’t think anyone else has.”

Shardul Thakur changed the complexion of the match with his wicket-laden second spell as he snapped Daryl Mitchell and Tom Latham’s wickets off back-to-back balls before getting rid of Glenn Phillips in his next over.

“He has got the knack of taking wickets at the crucial time for us. We have seen it not just in ODI cricket but also in Tests. He’s very critical to us, and where we stand as a team.

“So, I just hope he keeps putting up performances like this and it will only do good to the team and give him confidence that he can come and take wickets.

“This guy is very smart, he has played a lot of domestic cricket and understands what needs to be done.”

He revealed how Shardul, Hardik Pandya and Virat Kohli plotted New Zealand skipper Tom Latham’s dismissal.

“In this format, you need to use your skills and he (Shardul) definitely has them. He bowled a good knuckle ball to Tom Latham today (Tuesday), nicely planned in the middle by Virat, Hardik, and Shardul.”

The skipper was also full of praise for the young Shubman Gill, who was the leading run-getter in the series.

“The way he was batting in the series I don’t think much needs to be told. He understands his game, he paces his innings well and that is what we want, to go big and deep into the game. “No matter how flat the pitch is, a double hundred isn’t easy and that shows. In that game (first ODI) the next best score was 34, which shows that he is calculative. He’s got great maturity.”

With the win, India climbed to the top spot in the ODI rankings but Rohit was indifferent to the feat.

“Honestly speaking, ranking and all doesn’t matter. Before this series we were fourth. I don’t know how we were fourth because the entire last year I don’t think we lost any series.

“We don’t get too much into it, we prepare for the big tournaments. We want to be ready for everything. All these series give confidence.”
