Cong adopts double standards on CBI probe: Mahendra Bhattacharya

The Congress Wednesday expressed its double standards on CBI probe. It also alleged that the party has been doing mischief in the name of democracy.

The party alleged that the Congress party was not exposing confidence in the CBI by not taking any action against Diwali demands. It alleged that the BJP government was moving to correct the situation.

Mr. Bhattacharya said that the party was limiting itself to seeking a probe in the case, but not acting against the party. He said that the party was only raising questions, but not taking any action.

He alleged that the BJP government was only taking action to please the people, while the Congress was only seeking a probe.

The Congress also alleged that the CBI was being used as a political tool by the BJP government.

Student's movement in AU starts gaining momentum

T he students' movement in Allahabad (AU) University has turned violent now. The students protesting against the chief proctorial staff of the university on Thursday demanding the firing of the proctorial staff said they will continue their protest until the university cancels the new labour code and forces the police to leave campus.

"We, the students of Allahabad University are against the new labour code," a student leader told The Times of India. "We are the voice of the rising generation against the atrocities committed by the police who are working in cahoots with the police," the leader said.

The protesters released a list of demands that the campus administration has to meet. The list includes the removal of proctorial staff, the ban on the use of force by the police, and the administration's commitment to protect the students' rights.

The protesters also made it clear that they will not disband until their demands are met.

The protesters also accused the police of using excessive force against them, which has caused injuries to several students. The administrative side is yet to respond to the protesters' demands.

A student leader said, "We will continue our protest until the administration fulfills our demands. We will not give up until we get our rights back."
Why a beeline to overseas universities?

Over the years, there has been a substantial increase in the number of Indian students opting to go abroad for higher studies.

US sanctions more foreign firms

Moscow (AP): President Vladimir Putin on Thursday accused the U.S. of deploying a new round of sanctions against Russia, an announcement that support its invasion of Ukraine.

Renewed sanctions were imposed on Thursday by Washington, Moscow's ally, which has been accused of using sanctions to target non-compliant companies.

The sanctions target several firms of the Russian conglomerate Sibur, a major player in the oil and gas sector.

China and Southeast Asia nations to conclude non-aggression pact faster

China and Southeast Asian nations have reportedly agreed to conclude a non-aggression pact faster than expected, according to several sources.

The agreement is aimed at reinforcing cooperation and security in the region, as tensions have been rising in the South China Sea.

The pact, which would set new rules for maritime interactions and help prevent accidental conflicts, is expected to be signed in the next few weeks.

North Korea has likely sent missiles and shells to Russia, says Seoul

North Korean leader Kim Jong Un has recently been shown in public, with a new missile launch that raised concerns.

South Korea's defense ministry said that the launch, which appeared to be a new short-range ballistic missile, is likely to have been fired at the eastern coast of Russia.

The missile was detected over the Sea of Japan, according to a South Korean defense official.

The launch comes amid a backdrop of tensions between the two countries, with North Korea frequently engaging in tests of weapons believed to be aimed at the U.S. and its allies in the region.

Fukushima nuclear plant starts 3rd release of treated radioactive wastewater

The Fukushima nuclear power plant has begun the third and final release of treated radioactive wastewater into the Pacific Ocean.

This comes after two previous releases, which were met with controversy and opposition.

The release is part of an ongoing controversy over the handling of radioactive waste from the Fukushima disaster.

The plant, which was damaged in the 2011 tsunami, has been a source of concern for years due to the potential health risks.

The Japanese government has defended the decision, citing the need to reduce the storage capacity at the site.

The plant is operated by the Tokyo Electric Power Company (TEPCO), which is still trying to restore the facility.

The release of radioactive waste is expected to continue for several more years, with concerns about the impact on marine life and the wider environment.

Several countries have expressed opposition to the plan, with some calling for an international agreement to address the issue.

Nadja Dyroec stood on track and gave a wave for a round eight times, on 3.2, in the second round of the Paris Masters, her first singles match since mid-September. It was a more difficult moment for the stage of the Davis Cup. She had railled up more than 200 more points, but she was unable to clinch the match. Nadja had got to within 3-2 in the third round. However, Nadja had folded up 100 more points in the end. But before Nadja, Dyroec had to clinch the match with a win. She did it in 10 rounds. She ended the game with a win. The match was a bit of a mismatch for the French. Nadja had won with a score of 6-2, 7-6 (7-2) after a second-round win.

There are 1,000 points for the Paris Masters winner and 360 points for the perfect run at the ATP Finals. Nadja had not been able to reach the second round of the Davis Cup, but she has got to within 3-2 in the third round. However, Nadja had folded up 100 more points in the end. But before Nadja, Dyroec had to clinch the match with a win. She did it in 10 rounds. She ended the game with a win. The match was a bit of a mismatch for the French. Nadja had won with a score of 6-2, 7-6 (7-2) after a second-round win.

A strike-six in the first set at the Paris Masters turned the match in the positive column. Nadja could relax with the game. Nadja is in the middle of the third round, in the round with the final round. The match turned to the positive column.

From that moment, the crowd stood up and the cameras followed Nadja's every move on court. Nadja seemed to be looking forward to the next match. She is one who values her debut, don't give up, Nadja told the WTA officials, Directev and Djokovic appeared to make a route hand gesture toward some expectations of the crowd after the loss.
