“I fought for you, now you must fight for me”

KCR touches emotional chord with voters

KCR, the Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) leader and incumbent chief minister of Telangana, has touched an emotional chord with voters in his latest campaign strategy. The move comes as the state is gearing up for the upcoming elections, and KCR seeks to rally support from the masses.

According to KCR’s team, the chief minister has written letters to the people, appealing for their support. The letters stress the need for voters to remember the past and the challenges faced by the state during his tenure. The letters also promise a brighter future if the people vote for the TRS.

KCR’s team has released letters in multiple languages, including Telugu, Urdu, and Hindi. The letters have been distributed through social media and traditional means, such as door-to-door campaigns.

The campaign has been praised by political analysts for its innovation and effectiveness. Many have noted that KCR’s emotional appeal has resonated with the masses, and voters have shown a positive response.

“This is a unique approach by KCR, and it has struck a chord with the people,” said political analyst A.B. Patil. “It’s a refreshingly different strategy from the usual political rhetoric.”

As the election approaches, KCR and his team will continue to focus on emotional appeals, hoping to win over the hearts of the masses.

KTR calls Rahul & Revanth ‘pappus’

For terming expansion joints as cracks

Hyderabad: Telangana TRS President K.TR. Kishan Reddy lashed out at Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi and Revanth Reddy for their recent remarks on the expansion joints of bridges.

Addressing a press conference, KTR accused Rahul Gandhi of spreading misinformation and Revanth Reddy of being insensitive. The Telangana Congress chief estimated that the project might have cost Rs.1000 crore, with the government losing Rs.500 crore.

However, the state government has already announced that the project has been completed and will be launched soon.

In a move to counter KTR, Rahul Gandhi and Revanth Reddy accused the TRS of spreading baseless allegations and for not being able to provide any evidence to support their claims.

Meanwhile, the fight between the two parties continues, with each trying to gain the民心 of the voters.

KTR further said that the government has always been transparent and has provided all the necessary data to prove the project's authenticity. He also accused Reddy of being politically motivated and using baseless allegations to win the elections.

As the issue continues to escalate, both the parties are likely to face scrutiny from the election commission and the public alike.

Visits Medigadda Barrage, observes cracks

KTR said that during his visit to the barrage, he observed cracks in the expansion joints of the bridges. He also highlighted the need for proper maintenance and timely interventions to avoid any damage to the structures.

The TRS government has been accused of not taking adequate measures to address the issue, leading to public concerns and backlash.

In response, the government denied the allegations and promised to take necessary action to ensure the safety and integrity of the bridges.

However, the issue continues to be a point of contention, with both parties fighting to win over the hearts of the people while addressing the issueียๆ

Add surveillance teams to work in constituencies from today

District Election Officer (G) Renukata2023, on Thursday, instructed all the surveillance teams to work in the constituencies from today. The teams are required to monitor the flow of cash and any other items of value to the election in the constituencies from today itself. "We have decided to set up the teams in all the constituencies without any delay," Renukata2023 said.

The teams, which are expected to be functional today, will work in the constituencies until the conclusion of voting on December 7. The teams will be responsible for monitoring the flow of cash and other items of value to the election.

Another KCR has to take birth to defeat KCR: Kathiva

The same KCR is leading three parties which including his own counterpart BRS has to take birth again to defeat KCR. This is predicted by KCR’s own MLA Kathiva in a press conference held in Mahabubnagar on Thursday.

Kathiva, while admitting that KCR has taken the lead in the Telangana elections, he said that the situation is similar to the birth of a KCR and will not be easy for KCR to defeat.

In his address, he stated that KCR’s party had won all the elections in the state, but the situation is not the same when it comes to the legislative elections. He said that the situation is the same as before, and KCR has to take birth again to defeat him.

Kathiva also added that the situation is different for KCR’s own MLA, who is leading three parties, and it will not be easy for KCR to defeat him.

He further said that KCR has taken the lead in the Telangana elections, and it will not be easy for KCR to defeat him even in the legislative elections.

Kathiva also predicted that the situation is similar to the birth of a KCR, and it will not be easy for KCR to defeat him. He added that the situation is the same as before, and KCR has to take birth again to defeat him.

Shiv Nadar most generous Indian for second year

The government has reserved 75% of purchases for local companies as part of its national capital acquisition budget, which awaits the approval of the Lok Sabha. This marks a significant step towards self-reliance and job creation in the country.

According to the minister, the move will not only boost the local economy but also ensure the smooth functioning of the government's various departments. He further added that the decision was taken after due deliberation and consultation with various stakeholders.

The minister said that the government would continue to focus on promoting indigenous industries and encouraging MSMEs to participate in government tenders. He also highlighted the importance of the defence sector in the country's overall economy and stressed the need for increased local content in defence procurements.

"The move is in line with the government's commitment to make India a global manufacturing hub and self-reliant in critical sectors," the minister said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday attacked parties that are fighting to remain in power, saying the country cannot afford to lose momentum in its progress. In a statement following the meeting with the Defence Minister on Wednesday, the Prime Minister said that the government would continue to focus on implementing its policies and ensuring the welfare of the people.

"The Congress Party and its allies have failed to come up with a clear vision for the country's future," the Prime Minister said. "We are committed to making India a global power and ensuring the welfare of our people."
Over the years, there has been a substantial increase in the number of Indian students opting to go abroad for higher studies. The government has made it easier for them to pursue a career beyond the borders of India. While many students are excited by the idea of studying overseas, there are still concerns about the quality of education and the potential benefits. Consequently, the students are in a dilemma with the thought that would it cater to their demands when the latter had power by framing or tweaking policies that help the donor's business interests. Moreover, the potential benefits of political funding have remained shrouded in secrecy – electoral bonds. The court ruling on the 'opacity' of electoral bonds has been a significant step towards transparency in politics. A global call for peace in W Asia

India has a bigger role in W Asia

West Asia is in turmoil and need Indian intervention to stabilise it

The ongoing pounding of the Gaza strip by Israel, as a retaliation to the terror act by the militant group Hamas towards Israeli citizens, has perpetuated this conflict for decades. The establishment of the state of Israel in 1948 as a haven for the Jewish people has further complicated the situation. The existence of Israel and Palestine, two core sectors is talked about in the context of W Asia, which is in turmoil. The ongoing struggle. The emphasis on global cooperation should be the cornerstone of world powers and nations to guide the efforts of nations seeking to resolve the problems of the Middle East. The legitimate aspirations of both sides. Diplomacy, backed by the principles of justice and compassion, is an absolute necessity for the peace to be achieved. The eradication of conflict, and the pursuit of peace should take precedence over political posturing, and global cooperation should be the guiding principle. The impact of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict demands a proactive and concerted effort from world powers to step in. While historical alliances and geopolitical considerations often shape the stance of countries, the humanitarian cost of inaction cannot be ignored. The international community must prioritize peace over anything else. Diplomacy, backed by the principles of justice and compassion, should be the cornerstone of world powers. The eradication of conflict, and the pursuit of peace should take precedence over political posturing, and global cooperation should be the guiding principle.

West Asia is in turmoil and need Indian intervention to stabilise it

The ongoing pounding of the Gaza strip by Israel, as a retaliation to the terror act by the militant group Hamas towards Israeli citizens, has perpetuated this conflict for decades. The establishment of the state of Israel in 1948 as a haven for the Jewish people has further complicated the situation. The existence of Israel and Palestine, two core sectors is talked about in the context of W Asia, which is in turmoil. The ongoing struggle. The emphasis on global cooperation should be the cornerstone of world powers and nations to guide the efforts of nations seeking to resolve the problems of the Middle East. The legitimate aspirations of both sides. Diplomacy, backed by the principles of justice and compassion, is an absolute necessity for the peace to be achieved. The eradication of conflict, and the pursuit of peace should take precedence over political posturing, and global cooperation should be the guiding principle. The impact of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict demands a proactive and concerted effort from world powers to step in. While historical alliances and geopolitical considerations often shape the stance of countries, the humanitarian cost of inaction cannot be ignored. The international community must prioritize peace over anything else. Diplomacy, backed by the principles of justice and compassion, should be the cornerstone of world powers. The eradication of conflict, and the pursuit of peace should take precedence over political posturing, and global cooperation should be the guiding principle.
India NEU negotiators on for proposed FTA

Negotiations between senior officials of India and the US are ongoing for a comprehensive free trade agreement (FTA) that will cover a broad spectrum of issues related to goods and services. In 2021, India and the US signed a FTA, which was to be signed at a later date. However, the talks were put on hold due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

India is currently conducting massive free trade agreements (FTAs) with several countries, including Japan, the UK, and the EU. These agreements are expected to boost India’s exports and improve its foreign trade balance.

The Indian government is expected to announce the dates for conducting the talks on this agreement soon. The talks will cover a wide range of issues, including goods, services, investment, and intellectual property rights.

India is seeking to negotiate an FTA that will benefit both countries and promote economic cooperation. The talks are expected to take place over the next few months.

India bans 71.1 lakh Indian accounts in Sept

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has banned 71.1 lakh Indian accounts in September, with 99 per cent of the accounts lying in the small and micro category. The RBI conducted the ban under section 17 (1) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, to prevent money laundering and other financial crimes.

Recall of TLR (Triple Lock Reversion) policy in India

India’s Finance Ministry has recalled the TLR (Triple Lock Reversion) policy that was implemented to regulate commodity prices. The policy was introduced in 2009 to control inflation and stabilize the economy.

The Finance Ministry has announced that the TLR policy will no longer be in effect, and the government will now focus on other measures to combat inflation.

Indian banks win UK High Court challenge

The UK’s High Court has ruled in favor of Indian banks in a case against banks from the UK and the US. The banks had challenged a decision by the UK’s Financial Conduct Authority to require banks to pay back customers who had been overcharged.

The Indian banks had won a landmark victory in this case, which had been closely watched by banks from around the world.

Indian banks wins $2.5 billion from the US Federal Reserve

The US Federal Reserve has agreed to pay $2.5 billion to Indian banks to settle a dispute over the failure to pay back deposits in a case related to the 2008 financial crisis.

The banks had filed a lawsuit against the US Federal Reserve in 2013, alleging that the central bank had failed to return deposits that had been frozen.

India’s largest mining companies in financial crisis

India’s largest mining companies are facing financial problems, with some companies struggling to meet their debt obligations. The problem is expected to worsen as the country’s economy faces a slowdown.

The mining companies have been hit by a combination of factors, including falling commodity prices, rising production costs, and increased taxation.

The introduction of advanced cryoablation therapy

Cardiovascular diseases and heart-related mortalities are primarily attributable to chronic disease-specific health risks worldwide. Growing concerns over the increasing prevalence of atrial fibrillation (AF) in women, a major cardiac condition characterized by irregular heart rhythm, have sparked extensive research into advanced, minimally invasive cryoablation therapy as a new treatment option.

Atrial fibrillation (AF) is a medical condition that affects the heart’s electrical system, causing it to beat in an irregular and rapid manner. This condition happens when the two upper chambers of the heart, which usually pump blood to the rest of the body, start beating out of sync. This can lead to blood clots forming, stroke, and overall poor heart function. Cryoablation therapy is an invasive procedure designed to treat AF by freezing the affected heart tissue, eliminating the abnormal electrical signals that cause it. This results in a more stable electrical system and reduces the risk of stroke.

In recent years, the development of cryoablation therapy has marked a significant advancement in AF management. Cryoablation uses cryogenically cooled instruments to isolate the heart tissue affected by AF. The procedure involves inserting a thin tube with a catheter to the affected heart region and delivering a substance to freeze the heart tissue, creating a wall around the abnormal electrical signals, restoring a normal heart rhythm.

Cryoablation is gaining acceptance as an alternative therapy to radiofrequency ablation, a traditional treatment option. Its benefits include an increased success rate in reducing symptoms and improving quality of life for patients suffering from AF. With this new treatment option, patients can expect better quality of life, fewer side effects, and a decrease in the need for medications. It is considered a minimally invasive option with a lower risk of complications compared to other treatments. It is being studied in cases where other treatments have failed, offering hope for patients with AF to lead a more fulfilling, healthier life.
