In the wake of a scarcity of auspicious ‘muhurats’ post Diwali during November, many marriage arrangements during the Kartika Masam have been delayed due to the limited availability of ‘muhurats’ in the period. With over 15 auspicious days in November and December, the ‘muhurat’ scenario remains unique compared to usual months. With the restrictions on public gatherings, there has been a noticeable decline in the demand for ‘purohits’ to officiate marriages.

According to the ‘Nāmāshtekshana’ (Marriage Predictor) released by YSRCP, the count of marriage registrations has dropped significantly. As of December 3, 2023, there were 278, 278, 563 and 600 ‘muhurats’ for the 3rd, 7th, 10th and 15th of December respectively. Parallelly, the ‘Krishna Yantra’ highlights Kartika Masam as a period that favors marriages in terms of auspicious ‘muhurats’. In this period, ‘muhurats’ that favor marriages are found on both even and odd days, making it a unique scenario compared to usual months.

VIVEK RAMGARHIA, US Presidential candidate in the upcoming US elections has stirred a hornet's nest by saying that Hinduism and Christianity are not dissimilar faiths.

In his recent campaign speech, Ramgarhia said that both faiths share similar beliefs, values, and practices, and that it is time the United States recognized the contributions of these two great faiths towards global peace and understanding.

His comments sparked intense debate, with many arguing that Hinduism and Christianity are fundamentally different belief systems. However, Ramgarhia's views reflect a broader trend towards religious pluralism and interfaith dialogue in contemporary society.

The US presidential election is set to take place on November 3rd, and the issue of religious freedom and equal treatment of all faiths is likely to be a key issue in the campaign.

Meanwhile, the international community continues to watch with interest as the US election unfolds, hoping for a resolution that will contribute to global stability and cooperation.

P a r i s Hilton’s welcome baby girl, names her London

Sometimes Paris Hilton surprised her fans on Thanksgiving by announcing that she has welcomed a baby girl via surrogate, and named her London. The actress and model, who is known for her love of babies, has already welcomed two children with her ex-boyfriend and actor Carter Reum. However, this is her second child with Carter. It seems as if the celebrity couple is ready to expand their family, as Paris has been sharing sweet photos of her children on Instagram.

“All the way from my honey,” the actress captioned one photo of her son, Carter, and her husband. “I’m so proud of you, love,” she added.

The baby’s name, London, is fitting for a child born in the capital city of the United Kingdom. Paris Hilton is known for her love of the city, and has even shared photos of her baby son playing with a Lamborghini toy car.
