India's first RRTS to debut on Friday

India's inaugural Regional Rapid Transit System (RRTS) is set to debut in the National Capital Region soon. The RRTS will cover a stretch of 15.4 km, connecting a dedicated station at Ghaziabad to the Delhi Metro's Duhai station. The inauguration is expected to take place on Friday, with the 0.5 km stretch between Duhai and Ghaziabad-Ghaziabad-Meerut RRTS stations. The service is expected to begin operations on July 3.

The RRTS is a crucial part of India's urban transport system, aimed at reducing congestion and improving connectivity within the National Capital Region. The project is estimated to reduce travel time between Ghaziabad and Delhi by 20 minutes, making it a significant step towards the government's vision of a future ready, sustainable, and connected urban transport system.

The inauguration of the RRTS is a significant milestone in India's urban transport development. The project is expected to set a benchmark for future rapid transit systems in India and serve as a model for other cities in the country.

Many people strive to secure their dream job and are unwilling to risk becoming an entrepreneur. However, it is notable that professions such as Blacksmiths, goldsmiths, pot-makers, sculptor-makers, weavers, and others are a significant part of India’s traditional economy. Many entrepreneurs work with their hands and tools and are usually self-employed. Individuals whose skills are passed down from generation to generation. Entrepreneurs take calculated risks, in which these individuals are raised and placed a significant role in shaping their entrepreneurial mindset. They witness the ups and downs of entrepreneurship and choose to live their lives similarly.

Rajeev Prabhakar, founder and CEO of Micromax, has launched the PM Vishwakarma Skill Centres worth Rs 11,000 crores to promote such traditional entrepreneurs to create more employers than employees. The aim is to integrate traditional craft entrepreneurs into the domestic and global value chains by providing skill upgradation and modernization. This will help to enhance their already existing traditional skill value and make them more relevant, thereby improving their socio-economic status and quality of life.

SUCCESSFUL ENTREPRENEURS ARE NOT LIMITED TO THE INHERITING BUSINESS. AN INDIVIDUAL’S MINDSET TOWARDS ENTREPRENEURSHIP IS CRUCIAL AND DEVELOPS WITH UPWARD mobility. As entrepreneurs, they become more of the advantage of entrepreneurship over downward mobility. However, how can we motivate those who have faced adversities in their lives to become future employers and contribute to our sustainable societies?

My responsibility is to take open the necessary steps to make this possible. Until now, we have been unable to find the necessary support for creating an entrepreneur. However, it is important to note that the government and entrepreneurs create the necessary tools to make entrepreneurs. The government must step forward and make time for those who are interested and have the potential to make a difference.

LEARNING TO LEARN. Resilience and endurance are paramount keys to guard against the pressure and challenges of complex projects. The best way to achieve any aim in life are few and only those who connect seriously to learn and face challenges.

There is always a hunger for success in the world. The world takes a mental trans form, and every second person is thinking about a new idea. However, the road to success is not easy. Many people struggle to make their ideas come to life. The best way to achieve success is to have a clear mind and do not hesitate to try something new. The world is always looking for new ideas, and it is essential to have a clear mind.

Will Pawar: Many universities offer entrepreneurship courses. They are a must for all students. Entrepreneurs are born, not made. The culture of entrepreneurship should be nurtured from a young age. Every student should be encouraged to visit actual entrepreneurs and learn from them. Let us not forget the entrepreneurs who make a difference in the world. Entrepreneurs are essential for the growth of any country.

Entrepreneurship is driven by aspirations that can vary according to personal circumstances. Entrepreneurs do not start businesses because everything falls into place perfectly. Even the most successful, the ‘Vishwakarma’ in traditional terms, continue to hone their skills for personal fulfillment and to contribute to their communities.

India expected to grow at 6.3-6.7% in FY24

The Wholesale Price Index (WPI) in India is likely to rise in the second half of the ongoing fiscal and a prolonged deflation trend could impact growth, experts said on Monday. The wholesale price index for September is expected to be in the range of 7.5-8.5%, indicating a lack of demand and potentially deflationary pressures.

The WPI-based inflation rate has been in the range of 4.4%-6.4% for the last five months, and it remains uncertain. In September, the WPI exhibited its eighth consecutive month of deflation, as consumer prices also bore the brunt of the incremental input costs and continued falls in global crude oil prices.

Experts see inflation remaining low for the rest of the year and likely to rise in the second half of the ongoing fiscal. "There was an unprecedented inflationary surge in 2021-22, but it is not likely to repeat this year because global commodity prices are not expected to repeat the run-up seen last year", said C P Gopalan, Chief Economic Adviser, Rajya Sabha.

"However, global prices may continue to rise for some time, but a full-fledged deflation is unlikely this fiscal", Gopalan added.

There were mixed developments in the indicators for September. The wholesale price index for September was at 3.69% against 4.37% in August. Fuel and power basket inflation was at (-) 3.35% in September, against 0.15% in August. Manufactured goods inflation was at 7.2% in September, against 7.9% in August.

According to CIL, the fuel basket is expected to be diversified in 2023-24, with coal, lignite and others contributing 44%, 18% and 38% respectively to the total basket over the next three years.
