In recent days, police in Baltimore have been investigating the death of a 10-year-old boy who was shot and killed in a school in the city.

The boy’s death was the second in a series of shootings in the area in recent weeks, and it has raised concerns about the safety of children in the city.

Police have not yet released any information about the circumstances of the boy’s death, but they said they were investigating the shooting.

The investigation is ongoing, and the department said it would release more details as they become available.

'India expected to grow at 6.3 per cent in Fy24'

The Wholesale Price Index (WPI) in India is likely to rise in the second half of the ongoing fiscal and a subdued inflation trend could impact growth, experts said on Monday. WPI is expected to grow by 7.3 per cent in the second half of the current fiscal, compared to 6.7 per cent in last year's corresponding period. This is mainly due to the fall in prices of chemicals and chemical products, mineral oils, textiles, basic metals, and food products as compared to the same period last year, experts said.

On Monday, WPI for manufactured goods for the month of August showed a rise of 8.5 per cent over August last year, compared to a rise of 5.9 per cent in the previous month. It was 5.5 per cent over the same month in the previous year.

WPI inflation rose to 8.5 per cent in August, compared to 6.6 per cent in July and 5.5 per cent in August last year. The primary articles component contributed to 60 per cent of the rise, while the fuel and power index contributed to 34 per cent.

Experts see WPI inflation rising to 7.3 per cent this fiscal as well.

The overall El Nino effect has had an impact on the spatial distribution of rainfall and temperatures around the world, which has contributed to increased drought conditions and floods in some regions. It has also led to higher prices for agricultural products, which may continue to affect inflation rates.

While the WPI reflects changes in the prices of goods produced in India, it does not necessarily correlate with consumer prices. However, inflation is a key concern for policymakers and stakeholders, as it can affect economic growth, investment decisions, and household spending.

The WPI is a measure of the average change in selling prices of goods and services produced in an economy. It is calculated by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and provides a broad picture of inflationary pressures in the economy.

The WPI is divided into four main categories: primary articles, fuel and power, manufactured goods, and services. Each category is further divided into sub-categories, and the WPI is calculated by averaging the price changes of a representative basket of goods and services within each sub-category.

The WPI is an important indicator for policymakers, as it helps them to understand the inflationary pressures in the economy and make informed decisions to control inflation. It is also a key input for setting monetary policy, as the RBI has a target for inflation in the range of 4 per cent to 6 per cent.

The WPI inflation is expected to remain low as the ongoing decline in fuel and manufactured product prices, along with the continued impact of supply shocks, is already reflecting in India's headline inflation. The core inflation, which excludes food and fuel, has also declined, currently at (-)6.03 per cent in September, against 10.58 per cent in the previous month. This is lower than the previous year's inflation rate of 6.1 per cent.

The government and the RBI have been monitoring the inflation trend closely and have taken measures to reduce inflationary pressures. The RBI has been lowering the repo rate to support the economy, while the government has been working on fiscal measures to boost demand and growth.

The WPI inflation is expected to remain low in the coming months as well, with the impact of the ongoing decline in fuel and manufactured product prices continuing to be felt.

While the WPI inflation is expected to remain low, the government and the RBI need to remain vigilant and take measures to address any potential inflationary pressures in the future. The ongoing decline in fuel and manufactured product prices is expected to provide some relief, but the government and the RBI need to continue to monitor the inflation trend and take appropriate actions to ensure stable and low inflation and support economic growth.

Spain coach De la Fuente able to silence doubters

Spain coach Luis Enrique has welcomed the return of Lionel Messi and the restart of Spain’s qualifying campaign for the World Cup as a chance to show the team can improve on its recent performances.

"We're starting off on the right foot," said Enrique after Sunday's 1-0 victory over Peru in Lima. "We need to keep this up." Spain's next qualifying match is against Iceland on Thursday.

Messi, who has not played for Spain since the 2022 World Cup qualifying tournament, returned to the national team for the Peru match.

Messi, 35, was last selected for Spain in March 2021 and has not played for the team since then.

Enrique said he was pleased with the performance of the team, which included several new faces.

"The team is changing," he said. "We have a lot of young players and we're trying to integrate them into the squad." Spain's next match is against Iceland on Thursday.

LIONEL MESSI REMAINS A DOUBTFUL STARTER

Lionel Messi, the Argentine forward, remains a doubt for the upcoming World Cup qualifying matches.

Messi, 35, has been out of action since injuring his left leg during the 2022 World Cup in Qatar.

He has been ruled out of the upcoming matches against Peru and Ecuador, and his status for the next qualifier against Colombia is uncertain.

Argentina coach Lionel Scaloni said Messi would not play against Peru, but could return for the Colombia match.

"We'll see how it goes," Scaloni said. "We'll give him a few more days to rest and see how he feels." Argentina's next match is against Colombia on Thursday.

Gavi goal against Norway, secures 1-0 win

Argentina's Lionel Messi scored the only goal of the game as his team secured a 1-0 victory over Norway.

Messi, 35, scored in the 11th minute of the match, taking a cross from Angel Di Maria and slotting home.

It was Messi's first goal for Argentina since June 2022, when he scored against Portugal.

Argentina now have 16 points from their five qualifying matches and are top of Group B in the South American zone.

The victory also means Argentina have secured qualification for the 2023 Copa America.
