

OPINION 6

BJP-AIADMK SPLIT: WHAT NEXT?

WORLD 8

TRUMP DENOUNCES CIVIL FRAUD CASE AS A 'SCAM'

MONEY 10

SEBI EXTENDS DEADLINE TO CONFIRM OR DENY MARKET RUMOURS

NEW DELHI, TUESDAY OCTOBER 3, 2023; PAGES 12 ₹3

the pioneer

www.dailypioneer.com

KOHLI SKIPS OPTIONAL PRACTICE SESSION 12 SPORT

MOST WANTED TERRORIST NABBED IN DELHI

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

In a breakthrough against the Pune ISIS module, the Delhi Police arrested three Islamic State terrorists on Monday. One of them is Mohammad Shahnawaz, also known as Shafi Uzzama, who had a reward of ₹3 lakh on his head. Shahnawaz was on the most wanted list of the National Investigation Agency (NIA).

According to the Delhi Police, the trio had been planning to carry out terror incidents in north India, taking instructions from handlers based abroad.

Addressing a Press briefing, Special Commissioner of Police (Special Cell) HS Dhaliwal, said, "Last month NIA declared award on three persons allegedly involved in blast cases. Among them, Mohammad Shahnawaz, the main accused, has been arrested with his two associates — Mohammad Rizwan Ashraf and Mohammad Arshad Warsi."

Shahnawaz was arrested from Southeast Delhi's Jaitpur area on Sunday night. Ashraf and Arshad were nabbed from Lucknow and Moradabad in Uttar Pradesh, respectively. All the three suspected terrorists, who are engineers and have expertise in assembling bombs, were produced in a court earlier in the morning and have been sent to seven days of police custody.

While responding to media queries, Dhaliwal said, "Shahnawaz is a mining engineer from Visvesvaraya Institute of Technology, and he had knowledge of blast mechanisms. He hails from Hazaribagh in Jharkhand. His wife, Basanti Patel, is converted to Islam and is now known as Mariam. She is currently on the run."

Delhi Police's Special Cell with most-wanted terrorist Shahnawaz and his associates after arresting them for their links with an ISIS module, in New Delhi on Monday

Dhaliwal added that bomb making literature sent from Pakistan-based handlers and other incriminating materials were recovered from Shahnawaz's hideouts.

He said initial interrogation revealed that these people conducted elaborate reconnaissance in Western Ghats, southern India, including Hubballi, Dharwad, and Ahmedabad in Gujarat to establish their hideouts.

They wanted to make their base in Western Ghats, the police said. During the investigation, it was revealed that they had been instructed to procure all items they needed locally so that external role in their work is not exposed.

Shahnawaz had managed to escape from the custody of the Pune Police. Last month, the NIA had released pictures of Shahnawaz, who was wanted in the Pune ISIS (Islamic State of Iraq and Syria) module case.

"The arrests were made following a tipoff from an arrested accused of another ISIS module in Delhi. Elementary plastic tubes, iron pipes, different types of chemicals, timing devices, etc, which could have been used in making explosive devices, were seized from Shahnawaz, along with a pistol and cartridges," the police alleged.

Dhaliwal said the ongoing crackdown has exposed the pan-India reach of the ISIS module. "Their aim was to target well-known people and inflict maximum casualties," he said, adding that they have also uncovered the funding trail behind such activities.

Warsi, police said, is also from Jharkhand. He had completed a BTech in Mechanical Engineering from Aligarh University and was pursuing a doctorate from Jamia Millia Islamia in Delhi. Ashraf holds a BTech in computer science. Originally from Azamgarh in Uttar Pradesh, he had also trained as a cleric.

Earlier this month, the NIA had announced ₹3 lakh each for information about Shahnawaz and three other terror suspects: Rizwan Abdul Haji Ali, Abdulla Faiyaz Shaikh alias Diaperwala and Talha Liyakat Khan. Shahnawaz, Abdulla and Rizwan were radicalised into joining the ISIS mission over Telegram app, it is learnt. It is alleged that they were linked to an ISIS module at Pune in Maharashtra.

Initially dismissed as petty thieves, further questioning revealed their association with ISIS as part of a sleeper cell.

Shahnawaz, along with two accomplices named Mohammad Imran Mohammad Yunus Khan and Mohammad Yunus Mohammad Yakub Saki, faced arrest by the Kothrud police in Pune on July 18 after attempting to steal a two-wheeler. While the police were en route to their residence in Kondhwa, Pune, for a search operation, Shahnawaz made a daring escape by leaping out of the police vehicle. Police uncovered that Khan and Saki, who originally hailed from Ratlam in Madhya Pradesh, were reportedly implicated in a different terrorism case registered in Rajasthan.

In this case, explosives were found inside a car back in March 2022. Both Khan and Saki carried a reward of ₹5 lakh each for information leading to their capture. On July 22, the Maharashtra Anti-Terrorism Squad assumed control of the investigation. As part of their probe, the ATS detained more individuals, including an IT engineer named Qadir Dastagir Pathan and SN Kazi in Kondhwa.

Continued on Page 2

Khalistanis lay siege to Indian mission in UK

PTI ■ LONDON

A group of pro-Khalistan protesters on Monday gathered outside the High Commission of India here, waving anti-India placards and chanting slogans amid strong Scotland Yard presence.

The protest, which was promoted by British Sikh groups on social media, was organised to draw attention to Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's allegations last month of alleged Indian involvement in the killing of wanted terrorist Hardeep Singh Nijjar in Canada.

The allegation has been strongly rejected by the Ministry of External Affairs as "absurd and motivated".

"Sikhs will raise domestic issues, including the suspicious death of activist Bhai Avtar Singh Khanda," reads the call for Monday's protest.

There were several uniformed Metropolitan Police officers on guard and patrolling on foot outside India House, which was cordoned off to restrict the small group of turbaned men and some women opposite the building outside Waldorf Hotel at Aldwych in central London. Several police vehicles also patrolled the area throughout the roughly two-hour-long demonstration during which the protesters made speeches in Punjabi and raised pro-Khalistan slogans.

Earlier on Monday, the Sikh Federation (UK) organised a press conference in London to announce a formal request being submitted to the Chief Coroner for England and Wales to open an inquest into the death of Avtar Singh Khanda, a pro-Khalistan UK-based Sikh activist who died in Birmingham in June.

"Given the timing of Khanda's death, and the fact that death threats had been made by those with connections to Indian politics before his death, his case is at the very least suspicious," said Michael Polak, the family's barrister.

Following speculation around the 45-year-old's passing earlier this year, the local West Midlands Police had stated that there were "no suspicious circumstances" surrounding the death. The official cause of death post-mortem was stated as acute leukaemia or blood cancer.

Earlier on Saturday, pro-Khalistan extremists blocked the Indian High Commissioner to the UK, Vikram Dorwaiswami, from entering a gurdwara in Glasgow. The Indian mission dubbed the incident "disgraceful" before reporting it to the UK government.

In a statement issued on Saturday, the High Commission of India in London said that three people from outside Scotland "deliberately disrupted" the visit on Friday evening, and one even attempted to violently force open the diplomatic vehicle as senior diplomats arrived at Glasgow Gurdwara Guru Granth Sahib on Albert Drive.

As they hurled threats and abuses, the High Commissioner (HC) and Consul General of India (CG) decided to leave the premises to avert any further altercation.

"On September 29, 2023, three persons — all from areas outside Scotland — disrupted a planned interaction organised by the Gurdwara Committee for the community, the High Commissioner (HC) and the Consul General of India (CG)," said the High Commission of India statement.

Caste survey opens can of worms

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PATNA/NEW DELHI

The Nitish Kumar-led Government in Bihar on Monday released findings of its long-awaited caste survey, disclosing that Other Backward Classes (OBCs) and Extremely Backward Classes (EBCs) together make up a significant 63 per cent of the State's entire population.

The first Caste Census was conducted during the British colonial era in 1872, with the last one taking place in 1931.

The data which could spur demands for similar caste-based census elsewhere is a key agenda of the Opposition INDIA bloc. And this could provide an advantage to Nitish and his alliance in the upcoming elections in the Hindi heartland, where caste-based politics holds significant sway.

The Congress, which is a major constituent of the Opposition grouping called INDIA, has welcomed the announcement while another Grand Alliance partner Lalu Prasad-led RJD has expressed satisfaction that their long-standing demand for a caste census has finally been fulfilled.

The Opposition BJP, however, voiced dissatisfaction with the caste survey, stressing that it did not give an idea of the Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar speaks with the media regarding the caste-based census report in Patna on Monday

"changed social and economic realities" over the years.

State BJP president Samrat Choudhary said his party had "given its consent" for the exercise and would make an assessment of the findings which have now been made public.

According to the data released here by Development Commissioner Vivek Singh, the State's total population stood at a little over 13.07 crore, out of which the Extremely Backward Classes (36 per cent) were the largest social segment followed by the Other Backward Classes at 27.13 per cent.

Backward caste politicians have long claimed that the population of castes they represented numbered far more than the conventional wisdom based on the 1931 census, which was the last time a caste headcount was conducted and released.

The survey also stated that Yadavs, the OBC group to which Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Yadav belongs, were the largest in terms of the population, accounting for 14.27 per cent of the total.

Dalits, also known as the Scheduled Castes, accounted for 19.65 per cent of the total population in the State, which is also home to nearly 22 lakh

(1.68 per cent) people belonging to the Scheduled Tribes.

Those belonging to the "unreserved" category, which denotes the proverbial "upper castes" who dominated politics till the Mandal wave of the 1990s comprise 15.52 per cent of the total population.

Nitish said he will convene a meeting of all the nine political parties with an electoral presence in the State legislature and the facts and figures will be shared with them.

RJD president Lalu Prasad said declaring the survey will set the tone for a nationwide caste census which will be undertaken if "We form the next Government at the Centre".

Both the leaders have played an instrumental role in the formation of the INDIA bloc, which affirmed its commitment to holding a caste census at a meeting it held in Bengaluru recently.

The survey establishes that the State's population is overwhelmingly Hindu, with the majority community comprising 81.99 per cent of the total population, followed by Muslims (17.70 per cent).

Christians, Sikhs, Jains and those following other religions as also the non-believers have a minuscule presence, together making up for less than one per cent of the total population.

The grand old party in recent months has pushed for caste census and announced if the Modi Government does not carry out a caste census, it will be conducted as soon as the Congress Government is formed so that every section can get their right.

Interestingly the Congress in 2010 felt, being a secular State, should "discourage community distinction". The Group of Ministers headed by the then Union Minister Pranab Mukherjee decided that caste census is not advisable.

Before that first Prime Minister late Jawaharlal Nehru took a stand against caste census while late Prime Minister Indira Gandhi too followed the Nehru policy.

Another Congress stalwart and former Prime Minister late Rajiv Gandhi had hit out at the VP Singh Government for implementing the Mandal Commission report on OBC reservations by saying it will divide the country.

The caste survey in Bihar was ordered last year after the Narendra Modi Government at the Centre made it clear that it would not be able to undertake a headcount of castes other than SCs and STs as part of the census.

Continued on Page 2

Jeene Bhi Do Yaaro

People from different walks of life participated in a rally to raise voice against cruelty to animals at Jantar Mantar on the eve of the birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi. During the rally, signatures for a petition addressed to Prime Minister Narendra Modi seeking his attention on the issue were also collected, an official statement from the organisers said. The rally was organised by India Unites For Animal Rights, a citizen-led movement. As many as 43 NGOs and animal rights groups, including People for Animals and Puroyuda Welfare Foundation, were part of the event

The Nobel Prize in medicine has been awarded to Hungarian-American biochemist Katalin Kariko and American physician-scientist Drew Weissman for enabling development of mRNA COVID-19 vaccines. In the photo above, Katalin Kariko, left, and, Drew Weissman pose with their trophies during the Japan Prize presentation ceremony in Tokyo on April 13, 2022

Nobel for COVID saviours

AP ■ STOCKHOLM

Two scientists won the Nobel Prize in medicine on Monday for discoveries that enabled the creation of mRNA vaccines against COVID-19 and that could be used to develop other shots in the future.

Hungarian-born American Katalin Kariko and American Drew Weissman were cited for contributing "to the unprecedented rate of vaccine development during one of the greatest threats to human health in modern times," according to the panel that awarded the prize in Stockholm.

The Nobel panel said the pair's "groundbreaking findings... Fundamentally changed our understanding of how mRNA interacts with our immune system."

Traditionally, making vaccines required growing viruses or pieces of viruses — often in giant vats of cells or, like most flu shots, in chicken eggs — and then purifying them before next steps in brewing shots.

The messenger RNA approach is radically different. It starts with a snippet of genetic code that carries instructions for making proteins. Pick the right virus protein to target, and the body turns into a mini vaccine factory. But simply injecting lab-grown mRNA into the body triggered an inflammatory reaction that usually destroyed it.

Kariko, a professor at Szeged University in Hungary and an adjunct professor at the University of Pennsylvania, and Weissman, of the University of Pennsylvania, figured out a tiny modification to the building blocks of RNA that made it stealthy enough to slip past those immune defences.

Kariko, 68, is the 13th woman to win the Nobel Prize in medicine. She was a senior vice president at BioNTech, which partnered with Pfizer to make one of the COVID-19 vaccines.

She and Weissman, 64, who is a professor and director of the Penn Institute for RNA Innovations, met by chance in the 1990s while photocopying research papers, according to Penn Today, the university's news website. WHY DO MRNA VACCINES MATTER?

Dr Paul Hunter, a professor of medicine at Britain's University of East Anglia, described the mRNA vaccines as a "game changer" in helping to shut down the coronavirus pandemic, crediting the shots with saving millions of lives.

"If it hadn't been for the mRNA technology, COVID would have been much worse... Vaccines generally were the turning point in slowing down COVID and the mRNA vaccines were just so much better than all the others," he said, noting that the main vaccine used in the UK, made by AstraZeneca, is barely in use anymore.

"We would likely only now be coming out of the depths of COVID without the mRNA vaccines," Hunter said.

Dr Bharat Pankhania, an infectious diseases expert at Exeter University, said that a major advantage of mRNA technology was that vaccines could be made in extremely large quantities since their main components are made in laboratories.

Pankhania predicted the technology used in the vaccines could be used to refine vaccines for other diseases like Ebola, malaria and dengue, and might also be used to create shots that immunise people against certain types of cancer or autoimmune diseases like lupus.

Continued on Page 2

INDIA tries to wrest BJP bastion

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Even though Assembly elections are nowhere on the horizon in the Union Territory of Jammu and Kashmir in the near future, some of the key constituents of the INDIA alliance are gathering here to discuss their future strategy to checkmate the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) in its stronghold of the Jammu region.

A formal invitation has been extended to the opposition party leaders on behalf of Dr. Farooq Abdullah, President of the National Conference and Member Parliament from Srinagar, to take stock of the emerging political scenario in the region on Tuesday.

The invitation to attend the meeting has been extended to leaders of various opposition parties including Congress, People's Democratic Party (PDP), Awami National Conference (ANC) of Muzaffar Shah, CPI and CPI (M), Panthers Party (PP), Dogra Sadar Sabha (DSS), Shiv Sena, Akali Dal and few other smaller political groups of the UT.

The meeting is scheduled to take place at the residence of Dr. Abdullah in the Bhatindi area of Jammu in the post-lunch session.

Earlier, Dr Farooq Abdullah had convened similar meetings in Jammu to meet leaders from different political parties at his residence.

As per the political grapevine, this crucial meeting is taking place amid growing resentment among the masses across the Jammu region.

The leaders from the opposition parties are expected to share their feedback and brainstorm on their future strategy to checkmate the BJP in its stronghold of the Jammu region.

The Opposition parties have already increased their political engagement with the masses across the Jammu region.

Leaders from the Kashmir-based mainstream political parties have been holding regular meetings with the party cadre and highlighting the grievances of the common masses to consolidate their footprints across the Jammu region.

To begin with, they are focusing on the Pir Panjal and Chenab valley regions.

These parties had earlier lost their sizeable voter base across the Jammu region but now they are hopeful of finding a foothold amid growing resentment among the masses.

"It is too early to speculate whether these Opposition parties will join hands and contest 'unitedly' against the BJP to prevent it from winning the majority seats from the Jammu region", a senior political commentator told The Pioneer.

Leaders from different political parties have already confirmed their attendance in Jammu in response to the invitation extended on behalf of Dr Abdullah by the former MLA from Kulgam, Mohd Yousuf Tariqami.

Barring the BJP several leaders from the opposition parties have been questioning the delay in holding the maiden assembly, Urban Local Bodies, and Panchayat polls in J&K.

Taking a dig at the BJP, J&K Congress president, Vikar Rasool Sunday said, "Why is BJP running away from holding Urban Local Bodies and Panchayat elections on time and finding security reasons & other excuses to defer these polls? The Congress party local unit Chief said, "the BJP was aiming to win 50 plus seats and suddenly they have gone into hiding and shying away from facing these elections."

"People are dissatisfied and the public at large is feeling restless in the absence of popular government in J&K", he added.

Former Chief Minister and National Conference Vice President Omar Abdullah last week told reporters on the sidelines of a function in Srinagar, "They (BJP) are not in a mood to hold elections because they know that people are not with them."

Leave Kashmir aside, BJP will be at the receiving end from the people in Jammu as well. That's why they do not have the courage to hold polls."

BJP won 25 Assembly seats in the 2014 Assembly polls in J&K.

Later, they formed an alliance Government with the Peoples Democratic Party as it had 28 seats in its kitty. On June 19, 2018, the BJP pulled out of the alliance Government headed by Mehbooba Mufti.

24 deaths reported in 24 hours from Govt hospital in Nanded: Official

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Twenty-four deaths, including that of 12 infants, were reported between September 30 and October 1 in a government hospital in Nanded, a top Maharashtra health official said on Monday.

"In the last 24 hours, 24 deaths have been reported at Nanded government Hospital and Medical College (GMCH). Out of these, 12 are infants who were referred here by some local private hospitals. The remaining deaths are of adults for various reasons," Dr Dilip Mhaisekar, Director, Medical Education and Research, Maharashtra, told PTI.

Dean Dr S R Wakode of Dr Shankarrao Chavan Government Medical College and Hospital told reporters the 12 infants comprise six males and six females, adding that most were in the 0-3 day age group and had "very low weight".

"There are 142 admissions in the paediatric department, of which 42 are still critical. Oxygen as well as ventilator facilities are there. The patients are from neighbouring districts, including Hingoli, Parbhani and Washim. Some are from villages in neighbouring Telangana," he said.

Bengal BJP cries scams, justifies blocking of funds

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

The BJP leadership has provided contradicting accounts of fake job cards based on which the Centre has stopped MNREGA and other funds to Bengal.

While the BJP and Trinamool Congress locked horns over the freezing of the central funds under Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MNREGA) and Prime Minister's housing schemes Bengal Opposition Leader Suvendu Adhikari on Monday justified the Centre's action saying, "1.30 crore fake job cards have been found in Bengal after the Aadhar and voters cards were linked... this is a big scam and needs a thorough investigation..."

"The Centre has done the right thing by stopping the funds... the State should first account for the previous funds before asking for the subsequent release."

Curiously Union Rural Development Minister Giriraj Singh too echoed Adhikari's views but provided different statistics to justify his claims. He too demanded a CBI investigation into what he called "job-card scam" but provided a different figure saying, "our probe teams were met with sustained non-cooperation from the Bengal Government and its administration. When the hour came to link the Aadhar cards with the job card holders of the scheme, we found that as many as 25 lakh job cards in the state were fake, belonging to either non-existent beneficiaries or to people who are dead and gone.

The State Government was showing the utilisation of those cards for years on end and taking money."

In Delhi TMC general secretary Abhishek Banerjee while leading a dharna — participated by the entire Bengal Cabinet and almost the whole army of TMC MPs and MLAs — at Rajghat put up a counter logic alleging at least 200 central teams had visited Bengal to inquire into the MNREGA and PM Awaas affairs "but they have given report about only four districts."

He wondered why the Centre had blocked funds for the remaining 18 districts too.

In Kolkata Adhikari led a counter-rally of BJP legislators and workers saying the TMC was enacting a drama in Delhi in order to save its face.

"They have stolen hundreds of crores by creating fake job cards and now having failed to account for them they are creating a drama in Delhi to save their faces... for this they have taken the family members of the fake job card holders to Delhi."

Referring to Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's skipping the Delhi programme Adhikari said that "she has not gone to Delhi because she has no face to go there... she will have to face strong questions there... all the scam money has gone to her house... how she will explain this."

Kejriwal trying to mislead people on health services: BJP

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Alleging that Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's health model has totally collapsed in Delhi, Delhi BJP President Virendra Sachdeva on Monday said it is shocking to see Kejriwal trying to mislead people of Punjab on health services.

Delhi BJP President also said not a day passes when a new news story of break down of services or lack of doctors and medicines in Delhi government does not come out and at such a time it is surprising to see the Chief Minister telling Punjab that Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) will provide world class health facilities to them as available in Delhi.

Sachdeva claimed on a day when Kejriwal was misrepresenting before Punjab about Delhi's health services on that day newspapers carried story on the bad health of Delhi State Cancer Institute where basic machines are not working, no in house tests are being done and medicines are missing.

The condition of government hospitals is pathetic with reports telling of poor state of affairs in hospitals like G.B. Pant Hospital where patients are being given 39 months date for a MRI, the BJP leader alleged adding Maulana Azad Dental College giving date of 13 months for tooth replacement.

Be it the GTB Hospital and Chacha Nehru Hospital of East Delhi, Deen Dayal Upadhyay Hospital of West Delhi or LNJP

Hospital all remain in bad news for lack of doctors, beds, paramedic staff, cleanliness apart from perennial shortage of medicines.

Mohalla Clinics have totally failed Delhiites and we cannot forget how they were shut down during Covid phase when neighbourhood medical help was most needed, Sachdeva said.

The poor condition of health services of Delhi Government stands ultimately proved by the Minister Atishi talking to media about corruption in setting up of a special covid hospital and Minister Saurabh Bhardwaj last week raiding and suspending Mohalla Clinic doctors. Bhardwaj openly admitted that doctors were missing from clinics and medicines were missing.

Delhi BJP President said corruption regime let loose by Delhi Government with the blessings of erstwhile health minister Satyendar Jain is responsible for the pathetic condition of Mohalla Clinics as well as hospitals of Delhi Government.

Leader of Opposition in Delhi Assembly, Ramvir Singh Bidhuri also slammed the Kejriwal government for spreading lies on AAP health model. "Where was AAP's mohalla clinics during the COVID 19 pandemic. There is a huge shortage of doctors and para-medical staff in Cancer hospital in Delhi," Bidhuri added.

Chief Minister Vijayan avoiding me: Governor Arif

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

The relation between Arif Mohammed Khan, the Governor of Kerala and the CPI(M)-led State Government reached a point of no return on Monday as the former made it clear that Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan was avoiding him and does not inform the Raj Bhavan what was happening in the State.

Speaking to reporters at Thiruvananthapuram, the Governor said that the Kerala Government was partisan in all its dealings. "This is a government elected by the people of the State and its commitment should be towards the people. The ministers while taking the oath of office undertakes to serve the people of the State and not the political party that has nominated them," said the Governor while he was asked about the Pinarayi Vijayan-led Government's move to seek legal opinion from Supreme Court lawyers about Raj Bhavan withholding the files sent for approval.

"They are wasting millions of rupees under the pretext of seeking legal opinion from Supreme Court lawyers on issues about which the Supreme Court has delivered judgements. The supreme Court has ruled many times that the State Governments do not have any role in the appointment of vice-chancellors of universities. Still they go around seeking legal expertise," lambasted Arif Mohammed Khan.

He said the Chief Minister does not come to the Raj

Bhavan though he is duty-bound to brief the Governor about the happenings in the State. The Governor's words come in the backdrop of the scams from cooperative banks in the State. Many Cooperative Banks ruled by the CPI(M) have downed shutters as their coffers were empty following the diversion of Bank funds by the party leaders for furthering their business interests. P R Aravindakshan, a close confidante of former Marxist minister A C Moideen has been arrested by the Enforcement Directorate for embezzlement of the funds belonging to Karuvannur Cooperative Bank Ltd based in Thrissur district.

The bank is facing financial scam worth ₹485 crore as borrowers stopped repaying the loans availed by them. K P Kannan, another CPI(M) leader, has been grilled by the ED probing the Karuvannur Bank scam which the Central agencies doubt was into money laundering.

By Monday, reports of two more Banks going down under surfaced sensing shock waves across the State. The CPI controlled cooperative bank on Kollam district and the Congress controlled co-op bank in Thiruvananthapuram too downed shutters. Leaders of Kerala Pradesh Congress Committee were in a fire fighting mode pleading with investors not to take up the matter with the Police.

The name of former Kerala Minister V S Shivakumar is being singled out by the investors who staged a sit-in in front of the former's residence in the capital city o Monday.

Congress takes dig at Centre over National Medical Commission

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Monday took a dig at the Centre over the National Medical Commission stating that a majority of colleges it assessed in 2022-23 had ghost faculty and senior residents, saying this is what happens when "the PM chases headlines and self-glory".

The National Medical Commission (NMC) said this recently in a reply to the Associations of Emergency Physicians of India (AEPI) over its grievance regarding the exclusion of emergency medicine speciality as a requirement for setting up new medical colleges. The NMC also said that none of the institutes met the requirement of 50 per cent attendance.

"This is exactly what happens when the PM chases headlines and self-glory momentarily. It is shocking that NONE of the 246 medical colleges sanctioned with great fanfare by the National Medical Commission had adequate faculty or residents and ALL failed to meet minimum 50% attendance requirement. This is revealed by the Commission itself," Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said in a post on 'X'.

The NMC further said it found that none of the doctors visit the emergency department regularly "because there is no one in the emergency medicine department to interact with them other than the casualty medical officer".

"The posting in the emergency medicine department is supposed to be a break period for the students," the Under-Graduate Medical Education Board (UGMEB) of the NMC said.

In a recently notified regulation, the NMC excluded the requirement of an emergency department for setting up new medical colleges. Earlier, in its June 23 draft, the emergency medicine department was among the 14 departments that new medical colleges approved for undergraduate admissions must have.

30-year-old man held for murder in Southeast Delhi

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

A 30-year-old man was arrested for allegedly killing a person in southeast Delhi's Govindpuri area, police said on Monday. The accused has been identified as Anurag Paliwal, a resident of Govindpuri, they said.

He used to run a temporary tea kiosk near the Kalkaji roundabout and was previously involved in six cases of attempt to murder, robbery and Arms Act, the police said.

On Sunday, police got information that a person was stabbed with a knife. After reaching the spot, it was informed that injured Akash had been shifted to AIIMS Trauma Centre, where he was declared 'brought dead', a senior police officer said.

The police recorded the statement of the complainant who claimed that four people attacked Akash with knives multiple times and fled from the spot, the officer said.

During the investigation, the accused, Paliwal, was nabbed from his residence in Govindpuri. Further investigation is underway to nab his associates who are absconding, the officer said. Paliwal told the police that he was beaten up by some people a few days ago. He had seen the same people with Akash two to three times. Thereafter, he was waiting for an opportunity to take revenge.

On Sunday, he was with his friends when they saw Akash on Agarsen Marg. They asked him about the persons who had beaten Paliwal. When Akash refused to tell anything, they stabbed him multiple times before fleeing, police added.

TMC trying to to make party rally in Delhi a hit

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Sources in the Trinamool Congress have said that the party has "devised plans to make Abhishek Banerjee's Delhi rally a national hit".

According to sources there are two opinions in the party regarding the line of action on October 3 when the TMC leaders and the few hundred job-card holders that they have led to Delhi assemble at the sit-in site at Jantar Mantar.

"While a couple of ministers including Partha Bhowmick have suggested a peaceful demonstration, others like Kunal Ghosh have advocated an 'eventful movement' like breaking of barricades or doing 'something more eye-catching and sensational like Mamata Banerjee did during when she was the opposition leader in Bengal.'" Insiders said that leaders in Delhi were planning to "widen the scope" of Tuesday's "peaceful dharna" at Jantar Mantar.

Most wanted terrorist nabbed in...

From Page 1

The agency applied sections of the stringent Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act against Khan, Saki, and the other individuals implicated in the case.

The course of the investigation took a significant twist when Khan and Saki disclosed that Shah Nawaz had stored acid in the vicinity of Bopatghat near Kondhwa.

To secure the acid and various chemicals employed in the creation of explosives, the NIA enlisted the help of the Bomb Disposal and Detection Squad. In addition, the ATS seized various other materials and discovered 500 gigabytes (GB) of data on the laptops and mobile phones of the suspects.

According to sources, Abdulla ran a diaper store at Pune that was used to assemble explosive devices. Rizwan Ali is from Delhi. He and his younger brother were arrested in 2018 for alleged ISIS links, but security agencies could not find evidence against them.

He was released after a de-radicalisation programme. He went to Pune again after two years and told his family that he is running a computer business. He married and lived there with his wife. The couple returned to Delhi after Rizwan's father started keeping unwell. Two months back, he left his home.

The Delhi Police Special Cell is among several agencies working with the NIA to crack down on terror networks across several States.

Caste survey opens can...

From Page 1

The Bihar Government allocated Rs 500 crore for the survey and it briefly ran into rough weather when it was stayed by the Patna High Court which was hearing a bunch of petitions challenging the exercise. However, the deadline it then set, of February 2023, was overshoot and the survey itself could take off no sooner than January 7 this year.

Former Congress president Rahul Gandhi said the caste census of Bihar has proved that 84 per cent of people in the State are OBCs, SCs and STs and their share should be according to their population. "Out of 90 secretaries of the Central Government, only 3 are OBC, who handle only 5 per cent of India's budget."

Therefore, it is important to know the caste statistics of India..." Rahul said in a social media post.

Nobel for COVID...

From Page 1

"It's possible that we could vaccinate people against abnormal cancer proteins and have the immune system attack it after being given a targeted mRNA shot," he explained.

"It's a much more targeted technology than has been previously available and could revolutionise how we handle not only outbreaks, but non-communicable diseases."

Nobel Committee member Gunilla Karlsson Hedestam said the prize could go some way to addressing concerns among skeptics about the speed with which COVID-19 vaccines were developed.

She said the award highlights "the decades of basic research that's behind this kind of work."

HOW DID KARIKÓ AND WEISSMAN REACT?

Karikó said her husband was the first to pick up the early morning call, handing it to her to hear the news. "I couldn't believe it," she said. "I was very much surprised. But I am very happy."

Before COVID-19, mRNA vaccines were already being tested for other diseases like Zika, influenza and rabies — but the pandemic brought more attention to this approach, Karikó said.

"There were already clinical trials before COVID, but people were not aware," she said.

Thomas Perlmann, the secretary of the Nobel

Assembly who announced the prize, said both scientists were "overwhelmed" by the news when he spoke to them shortly before their names became public.

The prize carries a cash award of 11 million Swedish kronor (USD 1 million) — from a bequest left by the prize's creator, Swedish inventor Alfred Nobel.

The laureates are invited to receive their awards at ceremonies on December 10, the anniversary of Nobel's death.

Nobel announcements continue with the physics prize on Tuesday, chemistry on Wednesday and literature on Thursday. The Nobel Peace Prize will be announced Friday and the economics award on October 9.

PUBLIC NOTICE
INFORMED that my client, Sh. Surendra Pandey S/o Bhagwat Pandey and Smt. Sangeta Pandey W/o Surendra Pandey both R/O A-1/848, J.J. Colony, Madanpur Khadar, New Delhi-76, both has debarred their son DEEPAK PANDEY and has no relation with him in any manner. Anyone dealing with him, doing so entirely at his/her own risk and responsibility. My client is/has not liable or responsible for any act(s) deeds, things, dealings committed or done by him.
M. N. SHARMA (Advocate)
Ch. No.83, AK Sen Block
Supreme Court of India,
Date: 03.10.23
Place: Delhi
New Delhi-110001

LG for unit to coordinate multi model transport

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Expressing concern over lack of coordination among the agencies, Delhi Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena has directed for an overarching Project Management Unit (PMU) to be constituted under the Transport Commissioner to make the Multi Modal Integration (MMI) plans for Metro Stations more effective on the ground, by taking all stakeholder agencies on board.

Stations were being implemented in the right earnest, due to the lack of proactive interventions by other stakeholder agencies apart from Metro, their effectiveness was getting limited to the premise of the Metro Stations only.

The issue came up during the last meeting of the UTTIPEC, where the body headed by Lt Governor, discussed and cleared MMI plans for Tis Hazari, Rithala and Seelampur Metro Stations.

In its previous meeting in March this year, UTTIPEC had cleared MMI Plans for Shadipur, Mayur Vihar and Peeragarhi Metro Stations.

"Multi Modal Integration Plans to be implemented in and around different Metro Stations, that have invariably developed as the prime public

PM pays tribute to Bapu

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

People from all walks of life paid tributes to 'Father of the Nation' Mahatma Gandhi on his 154th birth anniversary on Monday and recalled his role in India's fight for independence. President Droupadi Murmu, Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar and Prime Minister Narendra Modi led the country in paying homage to the iconic freedom fighter.

Murmu and Dhankhar visited the Gandhi Smriti museum, formerly Birla Bhavan where Mahatma Gandhi was assassinated on January 30, 1948, and attended a 'Bhajan Sandhya'.

On this occasion, Modi said his timeless teachings "continue to illuminate our path." He also hailed former prime minister Lal Bahadur Shastri on X, saying his iconic call for 'Jai Jawan, Jai Kisan' resonates even today.

"His unwavering commitment to India's progress and his leadership during challenging times remain exemplary. May we always work to realise his vision for a strong India," he posted.

The nation remembered Bapu and Lal Bahadur Shastri, revered freedom fighters and stalwarts of India, both of whom were born on October 2. Modi paid floral tributes to Shastri at Vijay Ghat memorial early in the morning.

Modi reached Rajghat around 8 am and offered floral petals to the Mahatma's memorial and bowed before it. An interfaith prayer service was held at Rajghat where Gandhi's favourite devotional songs were also played.

"I bow to Mahatma Gandhi on the special occasion of Gandhi Jayanti. His timeless teachings continue to illuminate our path. Mahatma Gandhi's impact is global, motivating the entire humankind to foster the spirit of unity and compassion.

"May we always work towards fulfilling his dreams. May his thoughts enable every youngster be (sic) the agent of change he dreamt of, fostering unity and harmony all over," Modi posted on X.

Several Union ministers and bureaucrats were present on the occasion at Rajghat, situated on the banks of Yamuna.

The Prime Minister also posted a video of German singer Cassandra Mae's rendition

Mother of constable killed by ex-colleague seeks strict punishment to accused

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The mother of the woman constable who was allegedly killed by her former colleague two years ago demanded strict action against the accused who had been deceiving them into believing that she was alive.

Three men, including the Delhi Police constable, his brother-in-law and another accomplice have been arrested for allegedly killing the woman, police said on Sunday.

The trio also deceived the victim's family into believing that she was alive by dropping false clues, they said.

"I had been running from pillar to post just to know about my daughter's whereabouts," the victim's mother told PTI over the phone from Bulandshahr.

"My younger daughter decided to meet the Delhi Police Commissioner a few months ago. He understood our problem and assured proper investigation. Police have now arrested the accused constable. We want strict action against him," she added.

Suresh Singh (42) had been stalking the victim to marry her and when she refused to give in to his demands, he first strangled her and later buried the body near a nullah near Pushta area. His brother-in-law Ravin (26) and Rajpal (33) helped him in hiding the crime, the police said.

The police have recovered the skeletal remains of the victim from the Pushta area of Burari and sent them for DNA profiling to ascertain if they belong to the woman, they said.

The victim had resigned from Delhi Police after she was selected as a Sub-Inspector in Uttar Pradesh Police. She was meanwhile staying as a paying guest in the Mukherjee Nagar area when she went missing under mysterious circumstances.

A missing report of the 28-year-old woman was lodged at the Mukherjee Nagar police station on October 20, 2021. Later, her family members met the CP to know about her whereabouts. The Crime Branch of Delhi Police on September 30 had arrested the constable and two of his associates.

Abhishek, TMC stage dharna at Rajghat for release of funds

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Trinamool Congress general secretary Abhishek Banerjee, along with party leaders and workers, sat on a dharna at the Rajghat on Mahatma Gandhi's birth anniversary on Monday demanding the release of funds for West Bengal by the Centre. The Lok Sabha member, accompanied by party leaders including MPs, MLAs and state ministers who had arrived from West Bengal to take part in the protest, paid tributes to Gandhi at the memorial and sat in protest for two hours, sporting black armbands and displaying placards, after which they were escorted out by security personnel.

"They are scared that is why they are doing this... They talk about being a big party, but it is now visible that they are scared," Banerjee told media persons outside Rajghat before he was stopped by the police and the TMC protesters were asked to clear the area.

West Bengal Chief Minister and TMC supremo Mamata Banerjee was scheduled to attend the programme in New Delhi, but is unlikely to do so as she has been advised ten days of rest by doctors after she suffered an injury in her left knee during a recent trip to Spain and Dubai. The chief minister held a two-day sit-in in March this year against the Centre's alleged move of "not releasing funds" to the state for MGNREGA and other welfare schemes.

The TMC lashed out at the central government for "stopping" it from holding a "peaceful protest" and alleged that the protesters were heckled and manhandled by the security personnel. Banerjee later visited Lal Bahadur Shastri's memorial Vijay Ghat and paid tributes to the former prime minister on his birth anniversary.

At Gandhi's samadhi, Banerjee held a placard demanding that the Centre "release fund for Bengal". Another placard read 'Bengal Deprived: 1 lakh 15 thousand crore families, ₹15,000 crore owed'.

Bengal has accused the BJP-led NDA government of withholding ₹15,000 crore in dues to the state under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) and PM Awas Yojana.

The demonstration was held for about two hours, after which the TMC leaders were escorted out by security personnel. Banerjee addressed the media outside Raj Ghat but loudspeakers were used by police to ask the TMC leaders and supporters to move out of the area.

"Our leaders peacefully protesting for the rights of the people were abruptly asked to leave by the police. All Abhishek Banerjee asked for was ten minutes, but was ungracefully refused. What is the BJP-led Central Government scared of?" the Trinamool Congress said in a statement. They also shared a video on social media of a police official asking the TMC leaders to leave.

The party leaders alleged that derogatory remarks were made by an IPS officer about the peaceful protest and that women leaders were "manhandled" by police. "It is deeply disheartening to witness such a lack of respect for the democratic process and the voices of the people under the BJP-led central government," Trinamool Congress said.

"Raising our voice for people's rights is labelled as Tamasha. On Gandhi Jayanti, all we sought was a peaceful dharna for the betterment of our people. However, the anti-people BJP-led central government chose to silence us," the party alleged. Speaking to the media before leaving the venue, Banerjee said the BJP government is "scared". The TMC leaders and supporters will stage a protest at Jantar Mantar on Tuesday over the issue.

The party claimed that over 50 lakh letters have been brought by the protesters from West Bengal that are addressed to Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the non-payment of dues. TMC sources said letters will also be brought from BJP-ruled Assam, Goa, Tripura and Meghalaya highlighting alleged corruption in central schemes.

Green War Room to function 24X7 to monitor air pollution

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Government's control centre to monitor air pollution and redress complaints — 'Green War Room' — will start functioning round-the-clock from October 3.

Launched in 2020, the Green War Room has state-of-the-art air quality monitoring equipment and a team of experts, including scientists and data analysts, which keeps an eye on all sources contributing to Delhi's air pollution and helps the city administration implement its action plan. "Though the Green War Room functions round-the-year, the 24X7 monitoring will start Tuesday onwards," an official said.

The Delhi government on Friday launched a 15-point action plan to mitigate air pollution in the capital during the winter season, with a strong emphasis on addressing dust pollution, vehicular emissions and the open burning of garbage.

During a press conference, Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal announced that separate and specific action plans have been designed for each of the 13 air pollution hotspots in Delhi based on real-time data collected from 40 air quality monitoring stations in the capital.

Kejriwal said the winter action plan primarily focuses on preventing crop residue burning, dust pollution, vehicular and industrial emissions, open burning of garbage, regulating firecrackers, tree planting, ensuring effective implementation of the Graded Response Action Plan, managing e-waste and fostering collaboration with neighbouring States.

Delhi's Environment Minister Gopal Rai had earlier warned of stern action against project proponents at large construction and demolition sites flouting dust control norms.

Rai had also announced a comprehensive ban on the manufacture, storage, sale, and bursting of firecrackers in the city.

HC stops pizza outlet from using 'Dominick Pizza' trademark

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court has issued a permanent injunction, barring a Ghaziabad-based pizza outlet from utilising the trademark 'Dominick Pizza', deeming it an infringement on the trademark of multinational pizza giant, Domino's Pizza.

Justice C. Hari Shankar, presiding over the case, stressed on the phonetic similarity between 'Domino's Pizza' and 'Dominick's Pizza', characterising them as deceptively similar.

The case stemmed from a trademark infringement lawsuit filed by Domino's against Dominick Pizza for employing an identical name and employing registered trademarks like 'Cheese Burst' and 'Pasta Italiano'.

The judge pointed out that confusion was highly likely to arise when a customer of average intelligence with an imperfect memory visits a Domino's outlet and subsequently frequents a Dominick's Pizza outlet.

The court further stressed the responsibility of courts to prevent such imitative attempts in trademarks, particularly in the context of consumable items or eateries.

"When the marks in question pertain to food items or eateries where food items are dispensed and served, a somewhat higher degree of care and caution is expected to be observed," the court said.

In August 2022, the court had issued an interim order against Dominick Pizza. In the final order, Justice Shankar expressed disapproval of operating an eatery with a mark deceptively similar to a well-known mark.

"The intent to capitalise on the reputation of a known and established brand, by using a mark which is deceptively similar to the mark used by the brand, can, in a given case, give rise to a legitimate apprehension of quality compromise by the imitator," the court said.

Moreover, the court clarified that the determination of whether an infringing mark may cause confusion is primarily a matter of subjective discretion for the court and not a matter to be decided based on customer evidence.

The court found that Dominick Pizza had unmistakably infringed Domino's Pizza's trademark. Hence, it restrained Dominick Pizza from using the name 'Dominick Pizza' as well as the marks 'Cheese Burst' and 'Pasta Italiano'.

Reproduction, dissemination of ISKCON Trust's work restrained

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court has restrained several entities from reproducing and disseminating content belonging to Bhaktivedanta Book Trust, established by ISKCON founder Srila Prabhupada, saying while there can be no copyright in religious scriptures, their adaptations which are "transformative works" — like Ramanand Sagar's Ramayana or BR Chopra's Mahabharat — are entitled to protection from piracy.

Justice Prathiba M Singh, while dealing with the Trust's lawsuit on the issue, said copyright would vest in original parts of works which preach, teach or explain the scripture and the piracy of such copyrighted works of the plaintiff cannot be permitted.

"Defendant Nos.1 to 14 shall stand restrained in any manner from printing, reproducing, communicating, disseminating any part of the Plaintiff's works to the public either in print form or in audio-visual form or in electronic form including through websites, mobile applications, weblinks, Instagram posts or any other posts on the social media as would result in the infringement of Plaintiff's copyright," ordered the court recently in an ex parte interim order.

It also directed Google LLC and Meta Platforms Inc to take down the infringing works from their platforms while ordering suspension and blocking of the offending links by the authorities.

The plaintiff submitted that it has copyright in all works of spiritual teacher Abhay Charanaravinda Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada who simplified the religious books and scriptures and made it easy for the common man to understand them.

It was stated that during Prabhupada's lifetime and after his "Mahasamadhi" the plaintiff spread his teachings in various forms including printed and audio books, and the defendants were making them available on their online platforms, mobile apps and Instagram handles without any licence or right to reproduce or communicate them.

Iconic cricket ground Roshanara Club earned place in world cinema history

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The iconic Roshanara Club in Shakti Nagar area besides serving as a cradle of Indian cricket, has a place in world cinema history as it featured in Richard Attenborough's Oscar-winning film on Mahatma Gandhi.

"Gandhi", Attenborough's 1982 film which won multiple Academy Awards, continues to hold its magic for the audience, even more than 40 years since it hit the theatres. The biopic was shot on different locations in India, in cities like Delhi, Mumbai, Pune and Patna, among others.

known for his attention to details, used original locations, such as the Birla House, the Rashtrapati Bhavan (earlier Viceroy House) and Rajpath (now Kartavya Path), as much as possible to recreate key events including Gandhi's assassination and the funeral march of 1948, for which an army of extras were hired.

At Roshanara Club, a cricket match sequence was shot, with its lush green ground and British-era pavilion adding a layer of authenticity to the scene that was set in the early 20th century when Gandhi had visited Bihar, particularly Champaran district which would later serve as his 'karmaboomi'. In the scene, the cricket match can be seen interrupted by the arrival of a car, carrying two police personnel in uniform and one of them informing club guests about some disturbance in Motihari, the then district headquarters of Champaran, and an epicentre of Gandhi's movement for peasants.

The iconic Roshanara Club, where the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), was formed back in 1928 has been sealed by the DDA (Delhi Development Authority) after its lease expired.

The club has hosted several first-class and age-group matches over the years. The historic club was established on August 15, 1922, and had turned 100 last year. However, in a dramatic turn of events, the famed club on September 29 was sealed by the Delhi Development Authority, which also took possession of the sprawling property.

Rajan Manchanda, general secretary of the Club and joint secretary of the Delhi & District Cricket Association (DDCA), said Roshanara Club featured in Oscar-winning "Gandhi" and "we have all heard anecdotes attached" to the shooting of the classic movie.

"Roshanara Club got immortalised in the film about a man who has been immortalised in the epic film," Manchanda added. Roshanara Club Ltd. Was granted two premium free leases by the Secretary of State for India in Council during the British-era on annual rent basis for 30 years, which was extendable by further two periods of 30 years each, i.e. Up to a maximum period of 90 years, the DDA said in statement on September 29.

"The first lease commenced on 01.09.1922 while the second, on 01.01.1928. The total area given on lease to the Club was 23.29 acres. The lease deeds did not have any provision for renewal or extension beyond 90 years. Thus, both the leases expired on 31.08.2012 and 31.12.2017, respectively," the urban body said.

"During the eviction proceedings, it was found that apart from illegally occupying land worth thousands of crores for years together, the management of the club had allowed about 3.5 acres of precious land, out of 23.29 acres land leased to the Club, to be encroached.

The cost of the encroached land itself works out to more than ₹180 crore as per the prevalent circle rate.

The Management of the Club had also unauthorisedly let out land to nurseries and illegal hutments. Furthermore, Roshanara Club Ltd. has been in unauthorised occupation of the land for years together after expiry of the lease, for which it is to pay damages," it said.

Gehlot Government destroying Rajasthan: Modi

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday made a scathing attack on the "corrupt" Ashok Gehlot-led Congress Government in Rajasthan and accused it of destroying the State as he made it amply clear that party's election symbol "Kamal" is the "only face" of the BJP in the assembly poll.

The Prime Minister claimed that Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot had already "accepted defeat" by requesting him not to stop schemes initiated by the Congress in Rajasthan.

Addressing a rally in Chittorgarh, Modi said Rajasthan tops the list when it comes to crime, riots, atrocities against women, Dalits and backward classes and also mentioned the incident of beheading of a tailor in the state.

The Prime Minister also addressed public meeting in another election bound state of Madhya Pradesh and inaugurated and laid foundation stones for projects worth over Rs 19,000 crore there.

"Nearly 2.25 lakh families will enter into their new homes before Dussehra, Dhanteras and Diwali this year," said Modi in Gwalior.

In Madhya Pradesh Modi slammed Opposition forces as "anti-development" saying "they have hatred towards growth because of their politics."

"Our target is to ensure Madhya Pradesh emerges as one of the top three states; your votes will help achieve this goal, he said adding "Next five years crucial for Madhya Pradesh's development; double engine government is necessary in the state"

BJP ensured 'BIMARU' tag was removed from Madhya Pradesh; party brought MP among top 10 states in terms of development, said the Prime Minister. Rajasthan top the list when it comes to crime, riots, atrocities against women, Dalits and backward classes, Modi said at a rally in Chittorgarh.

In Chittorgarh public rally, the prime minister said that he feels pain when atrocities against daughters take place anywhere in the country but charged that the Congress has made this a tradition in Rajasthan.

He also assured the people that all public schemes initiated by the Congress government will continue if the BJP is elected to power in Rajasthan.

"Gehlot knows that the countdown of the Congress government has started. He in a way has congratulated the BJP by publicly requesting that the schemes should not be stopped. I assure you that BJP will not stop any scheme of public interest but will try to improve it. This is Modi's guarantee," he said.

The prime minister said if his party has voted to power, action against the corrupt and those involved in the alleged paper leak mafia will be taken.

In Chittorgarh rally, Modi also gave a clear indication that no chief minister face will be projected in the poll-bound state.

The BJP, he said, will contest the assembly election on the party's symbol 'lotus'. "Hmara chehra kamal hain, Umvedwar kamal hai, usiko jitana hain", he said.

Former chief minister Vasundhara Raje, BJP state president CP Joshi, leader of opposition Rajendra Rathore, union minister Arjun Meghwal were among the political leaders present at the rally.

There has been much speculation whether Raje will be declared the chief ministerial face by the BJP in Rajasthan.

Modi will visit Chhattisgarh and Telangana on Tuesday to launch a slew of development projects in the two poll-bound states.

The Prime Minister's Office said Modi will inaugurate and lay the foundation stone of multiple development projects worth more than Rs 26,000 crore from Jagdalpur in Chhattisgarh and more than Rs 8,000 crore from Nizamabad in Telangana.

Arsh Dala planning terror attacks: Intelligence

RAKESH K SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

Designated "individual terrorist" Arshdeep Singh Gill alias Arsh Dala, based in Canada, involved in various criminal activities such as extortions and murders in India through his network of gangsters has now diversified his network to perpetrate terror attacks in the country.

Arsh Dala has formed an association with another US-based terrorist Gurpatwant Singh Pannun of banned terror outfit "Sikhs for Justice" for fanning anti-India activities, an Intelligence dossier has warned.

Arsh Dala has been designated "individual terrorist" under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967.

"It has come to notice that Arsh Dala has formed an association with USA-based Gurpatwant Singh Pannun of Sikhs for Justice. It has been learnt that Arsh Dala and Gurpatwant Singh Pannun have colluded to carry out suspicious activity in Gurdaspur in Punjab," the report said.

The dossier further said, "Previous activities of Gurpatwant Singh Pannun suggest that he might look to hoist pro-Khalistan flags and graffiti on Government buildings and other public places but ing terror, violence and large scale extortion in India on behalf of the Khalistan Tiger Force (KTF). Besides smuggling weapons from Pakistan, they (Dala and his associates) were also involved in recruitment of youth to carry out acts of violence and terror in the country at the behest of the KTF," the NIA had earlier said.

NIA had registered a suo moto case on August 20, 2022 under various sections of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) and Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967 in connection with the terror activities of banned Khalistani terrorist organisations in India.

The agency has been cracking down on individual terrorist outfits and terrorists conspiring to smuggle terrorist hardware, such as arms, ammunition and explosives besides raising funds for carrying out terrorist acts in the country.

The syndicates run by Dala, Lakhbir Singh alias Landa and Lawrence Bishnoi among others have been alleged to be spreading their mafia style criminal networks in the northern States of India and were involved in commission of many sensational crimes, such as the murder of popular singer Sidhu Moosewala, and large-scale extortions from businessmen and professionals.

Their crimes, according to the NIA, included killing of Maharashtra builder Sanjay Bijyani, as well Sandeep Nangal Ambia, an international Kabaddi organiser in Punjab.

Many of these conspiracies were found to have been masterminded from abroad, including Pakistan and Canada, or by leaders of syndicates lodged in jails, according to the NIA.

India, Tanzania to bolster defence ties on Army Chief Pande's visit

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India and Tanzania will review the entire spectrum of their bilateral defence ties and explore ways to further bolster them during Army Chief General Manoj Pande's four-day visit there starting Monday.

Giving details of his schedule, army officials said here, the visit reinforces the long-standing defence ties between the two countries.

Pande will visit Dar es Salaam, the Tanzanian capital, the historical city of Zanzibar, and Arusha. He will engage in discussions and meetings with a host of dignitaries and senior officers from Tanzania.

During his visit, the Army chief is likely to call on Tanzanian President Samia Suluhu Hassan.

Officials said high on the agenda are the planned meetings with Defence Minister Stergomena Lawrence Tax and Chief of Defence Force General Jacob John Mkunda. Pande will also be visiting Zanzibar and call on President Hussein Ali Mwinyi. In addition, interaction with the Commander of the 101st Infantry Brigade General Saidi Hamisi Saidi is also scheduled.

Pande will also be addressing the National Defence College and interacting with Major General Wilbert Augustine Ibuge Commandant and the faculty. Additionally, a meeting with Brigadier General Stephen Justice Mnkande, Commandant of the Command and Staff College, Duluti is also planned during the visit.

The visit also coincides with the 2nd India Tanzania Mini DEFEXPO being conducted at Dar-es-Salaam which will showcase the growing prowess of the Indigenous defence industry complex of India, they said.

ICG's pollution control vessel arrives at Indonesian port

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

In a significant demonstration of India's commitment to address regional marine pollution threats, the Indian Coast Guard (ICG) ship Samudra Prahari, a specialized Pollution Control Vessel, arrived at the port of Tanjung Priok, Jakarta, Indonesia, on Sunday, Coast Guard officials said here on Monday.

This visit, a part of India's Association of South East Nations (ASEAN) initiatives for Marine Pollution Response, underscores India's expertise and collaborative efforts in tackling regional maritime challenges, particularly those related to marine pollution threats.

During this overseas deployment from September 11 to October 14, the specialized Pollution Control Vessel earlier made port call in Bangkok, Thailand from September 16 to 20. Equipped with a Chetak helicopter in Pollution Response configuration, the vessel highlights India's commitment to enhancing pollution response capabilities in the region, officials said.

As a part of an overseas exchange program, the ship has aboard 13 National Cadet Corps (NCC) cadets, who will participate actively in the 'Puneet Sagar Abhiyan' thereby giving the Abhiyan an international reach. This program focuses on beach cleanups and similar activities, fostering collaboration with partner nations.

The ship received a warm

1 held, weapons seized after raids in CPI(Maoist) conspiracy case

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Monday arrested one person and seized weapons, cash and incriminating material in raids across Andhra Pradesh and Telangana in the Munchingiputtu CPI (Maoist) conspiracy case.

Multiple raids were carried out across 62 locations in the two States, leading to the arrest of one Chandra Narasimhulu, a State Executive Committee Member of the Pragathiseela Karmika Samakya (PKS), from Satya Sai district of Andhra Pradesh, the NIA said in a statement.

A pistol, along with 14 rounds, was seized from the location. An amount of 13 lakh was seized from one of the premises in Kadapa district, while Maoist literature and documents were seized from other locations, it said.

The raids covered 53 locations in Guntur, Palanadu, Vijayawada, Rajhmundry, Prakasam, Bapatla, Eluru, East Godawari, Dr BR Ambedkar Konaseema, Visakhapatnam, Vizianagaram, Nellore, Tirupati, Kadapa Satya Sai, Anantapur, and Kurnool in Andhra Pradesh. Nine locations were raided in Telangana in the districts of Hyderabad, Mahabub Nagar, Hanumakonda, Ranga Reddy and Adilabad, the agency said.

"The custodial interrogation of the arrested accused is expected to yield further information about the conspiracy relating to the attempts of various frontal organisations to further the activities of the proscribed CPI (Maoist) outfit," it said.

The frontal organisations

Ships of Navy's 1st Training Squadron on visit to Malaysia

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

As part of the Indian Navy's long range deployment in South East Asia, the ships of First Training Squadron (1TS) - INS Tir, INS Sujata, and ICGS Sarathi are on a visit to Port Klang, Malaysia from September 30 to October 3, navy officials said here on Monday.

During the visit the activities being undertaken by the crew of 1TS include various professional and community interactions, training exchanges, cross deck visits and sports fixtures with personnel of Royal Malaysian Navy, as well as ships open for visit of school children, they said.

The deployment of 1 TS is aimed at exposing the trainees to the sociopolitical, military and maritime linkages of India with the friendly countries in the Indian Ocean Region and strengthening of bilateral engagements between the two Navies.

Personal consumption, possession of e-cigarettes violation of law: Ministry

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

In the wake of no let up in cases of air travellers arriving with e-cigarettes at various airports in the country, Union Health Ministry has clarified that its personal consumption as well as possession of any such devices in any form, quantity or manner is in violation of the Prohibition of Electronic Cigarette Act (PECA) 2019.

The clarification was sent to the Ministry of Civil Aviation (MCA) last month, official sources said, adding it will strengthen the enforcement of the ban.

There has been cases of consumption of vaping devices from travellers passing through Mumbai, Bangalore, Chennai, Kolkata, Delhi and Bhavnagar airports. The travellers argue that they had purchase them for personal use.

Just last month, Bengaluru Customs officials had held two persons for allegedly smuggling 1,590 packets of e-cigarettes worth Rs 15.9 lakh from Malaysia.

The ministry said that though there is no explicit mention of prohibition of individual use of e-cigarette in PECA, the law has been enacted to prohibit the production, manufacture, import, export, transport, sale, distribution, storage and advertisement of e-cigarettes.

"Therefore, possession of e-cigarette within the country in any quantity is not possible without contravening the provisions of PECA, 2019," said Dr Pulkesh Kumar, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Health.

The ban includes a prohibition on all forms of Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems, Heat Not Burn Products, e-Hookah and similar devices.

The law was enacted in the interest of public health and to protect the people from harm, the health ministry said.

Despite heavy penalties and imprisonment, e-cigarettes are reported to be widely available across a range of sources including tobacco vendors, general stores, and online providers.

The health ministry has also launched an online portal to facilitate reporting of violations under PECA. This portal will allow the ministry to take necessary action on violations.

Anyone can report these violations at "http://www.violation-reporting.in".

The government has also expressed concern regarding the alarming rise in its use amongst youth.

In May, the ministry issued a public notice for effective implementation of the Act. Later in July, the ministry sent notices to 15 websites selling e-cigarettes, asking them to stop advertisement and sale of such products.

The ministry, earlier in February, had written to all states and UTs to ensure effective compliance of the government's ban on e-cigarettes.

In a letter addressed to chief secretaries of all states and Union territories, it had flagged the sale of e-cigarettes at stationary stores near educational institutions.

India scouting for indigenous POC test for antibiotic resistant typhoid strains

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Grappling with two highly antibiotic resistant strains of typhoid fever, India is now scouting for indigenously developed improved point of care (POC) test that can help distinguish the duo variants so as to ensure effective management of the life-threatening disease.

In this connection, the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) under the Union Health Ministry has invited expression of interest (EOI) from the manufacturers and research institutes for development of diagnostic In Vitro kits for diagnosis of the drug resistant strains.

The move follows concerns that existing typhoid diagnostic tests, such as the Widal test, TUBEX, Typhidot, and Test-It (KIT), have shown sub-optimal sensitivity and specificity to the two serovars namely Salomonella. Typhi (S.

Typhi) and Salmonella enterica serovar Paratyphi (S. Paratyphi) which have become resistance to many antibiotics.

Moreover, the S Typhi and S Paratyphi strains are indistinguishable, thus making it crucial for clinicians to differentiate between them before starting antibiotic therapy due to their different antibiotic susceptibility profiles, said an ICMR scientist on the need for next generation in vitro kits.

"There is an urgent need for indigenously developed, improved typhoid POC tests that offer higher sensitivity and specificity. Such tests would enable healthcare professionals to promptly and accurately diagnose typhoid, leading to more appropriate and targeted treatment, which in turn, could result in better patient outcomes and reduced antibiotic misuse," further added the scientist.

While the morbidity and mortality of S. Typhi make it a greater public health concern, the increasing prevalence of S. Paratyphi in certain regions necessitates a next-generation diagnostic test capable of detecting both the strains, she explained.

Improved disease diagnostics will support the government in guiding interventions program efforts to prevent the diseases, said the ICMR scientist on the need for the next generation detection kit.

"S. Typhi, the bacterium responsible for typhoid fever, has developed resistance to multiple antibiotics, including three frontline agents. India is bearing a high burden of the disease. It is estimated that there are 11-21 million cases of enteric fever worldwide each year, resulting in 120,000-160,000 deaths.

"Due to lack of proper diagnosis and heterogeneity of disease, the exact burden of disease is unclear but extrapolation of regional data estimates 586 cases per 100,000 persons/year typhoid/paratyphoid incidence in India," said the scientist.

District judge flags off cycle rally

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

The birth anniversaries of 'Father of the Nation' Mahatma Gandhi and former Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri were celebrated with simplicity and joy in the district here on Monday. In the morning, the national flags were hoisted in all government, semi-government offices and schools. Thereafter, tributes were paid to the statues of Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri by garlanding them.

Additional Commissioner Manoj Singh in the Commissionerate Office auditorium, Additional District Magistrate (Civil Supplies) Jawahar Lal Srivastava in the Collectorate's Rifle Club paid homage to the statues of Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri.

On the occasion of Gandhi Jayanti, District Judge and Chairman District Legal Services Authority (DLSA) Ajay Kumar Vishwesh flagged off the cycle rally of school-children as part of the cleanliness and awareness campaign in the District Court premises. Thereafter, live telecast of the e-inauguration programme related to cleanliness and awareness campaign organised on the occasion of Gandhi District Judge AK Vishwesh flagging off a cycle rally on the occasion of Gandhi Jayanti in Varanasi on Monday.

Jayanti was seen and heard in the video conferencing hall.

While presiding over the programme organised in the Commissionerate auditorium, Additional Commissioner Manoj Singh informed the people in detail about the life and struggles of Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri.

He said that taking inspiration from these great men, we should take a pledge that we will work with complete honesty and transparency for the public interest and welfare of the people in the last line of society. This would be a true tribute to these great personalities. Presiding over the programme organised at Rifle Club, the ADM (Civil Supplies) Jawahar Lal Srivastava, quoting the life struggles of Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri, said that Mahatma Gandhi was a priest of truth and non-violence.

He shook the British rule by making non-violence a weapon in the country's freedom struggle, while Lal Bahadur Shastri gave the slogan 'Jai Jawan Jai Kisan' to make the country self-reliant in the field of food production and its result is being seen today as the country has become a self-sufficient in food production. He further highlighted his concept of 'Antyodaya', especially regarding the welfare of the weak, thoughts regarding emotional unity, national unity and integrity.

Besides, Gandhian philosophy of life was propagated in schools and colleges and debate competitions/ seminars were organised for students on various aspects of Gandhi's life and emphasis should be laid on bringing equality and harmony in the society by staying away from caste discrimination.

Modi's cleanliness message from Kashi becomes mass movement

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

By using a shovel from Assi on the banks of 'Mokshadayini' Ganga and a broom in the streets of Banaras in November, 2014, Prime Minister Narendra Modi had given the message of cleanliness to the country, which has now become a mass movement. Later, the campaign gained momentum when Yogi Adityanath became the Chief Minister in 2017 as he linked the cleanliness system of the religious, spiritual and cultural city to the Kashi Integrated Command Centre (KICC), due to which the entire waste management started being monitored from this centre and it has resulted in improving the cleanliness conditions of ghats, streets and main roads.

Nagar Swashtya Adhikari Dr Narendra Pratap Singh said that for solid waste management, a team of more than 6,000 people starts cleaning and door-to-door garbage collection from early morning and takes it to the processing plant. "This entire management is monitored from KICC," he said, adding that, here the attendance of employees is taken through 130 biometric devices. Besides, he said that 174 locations of 20 garbage houses are also monitored with 433 cameras. "270 garbage trucks are tracked with GPS. 902 volume sensors and other sources measure the amount of garbage generated by the city. About 700-800 tonnes of garbage is generated daily in Varanasi, Dr Singh informed, adding that the roads are cleaned with mechanised cleaning machines and water is sprayed to remove dust. Apart from this, cleanliness of 235 public and community toilets is also taken care of.

Swachh Bharat Mission, which has been running for nine years, has taken the form of a mass movement with public participation. In Prime Minister Narendra Modi's parliamentary constituency Varanasi, state Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath is paying special attention to development as well as keeping the city clean.

Spl cleanliness campaign launched

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

On the auspicious occasion of Gandhi Jayanti, 'Special Cleanliness Campaign 3.0' was launched by the Department of Posts in Varanasi region. Postmaster General (PMG) of Varanasi Region Krishna Kumar Yadav, while garlanding the statue of the 'Father of the Nation' Mahatma Gandhi in a function organised at the Varanasi Cantt Head Post Office, motivated all the officials of the Department of Posts to make the vision of Swachh Bharat and Swachhata Hi Sewa meaningful as thought by Mahatma Gandhi.

He also gave a call for active participation in the cleanliness campaign, which will run till October 31. He also delivered the message of environment protection by planting saplings of Rudraksha, Aawala and Ashoka in the Head Post Office premises with the Director of Postal Services (Prayagraj) Gaurav Srivastava, Superintendent of Posts Vinay Yadav and Assistant Director Brijesh Sharma. Besides, Yadav administered the cleanliness pledge to the employees. He also inspired them to contribute in keeping their environment clean by being a part of this special campaign and gave the message of better health, fitness and cleanliness.

PMG KK Yadav launching a special cleanliness campaign 3.0 in Varanasi on Monday.

During the event, postal employees also motivated the people by running a cleanliness campaign in the post office premises, postal colony, parks, garden and surrounding areas.

Assistant Account Officer Santoshi Rai, inspectors (Posts) Shrikant Pal, Inderjit Pal, Dilip Pandey, Postmaster Varanasi Cantt Arvind Sharma, Rahul Verma, Anand Pradhan, Rakesh Kumar, Manish Kumar, Anurag Shukla, Gyan Sagar and others were also present.

Swachhata Pakhwada ends at BLW

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

As per the guidelines of the Ministry of Railways, 'Swachhata Pakhwada' organised from September 16 concluded in Banaras Locomotive Works (BLW) here on Monday on the occasion of the birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi when the General Manager (GM) Basudev Panda and other senior officers paid tributes to the 'Father of the Nation'.

Principal Chief Electrical Engineer SK Srivastava, Principal Chief Materials Manager Rajneesh Gupta, Principal Chief Medical Officer Dr Devesh Kumar, Principal Chief Personnel Officer Ranvijay, Chief Vigilance Officer Pramod Kumar Chaudhary, Chief Materials Manager Trilok Kothari, Chief Mechanical Engineer (Service) Neeraj Jain, Chief Engineer Vinod Kumar Shukla, Chief Safety Officer SB Patel, Chief Electrical Engineer (Loco) Arun Kumar Sharma, Chief Electrical Engineer (Inspection) MK Singh, Deputy Chief Personnel Officer Shyam Babu, Senior Personnel Officer (Headquarters) Raj

GM Basudev Panda inaugurating the concluding function of Swachhata Pakhwada at BLW in Varanasi on Monday.

Kumar Gupta, Public Relations Officer Rajesh Kumar, Staff Council's member Naveen Sinha and other heads of departments, officers and employees present there and they took a pledge for cleanliness while lighting the lamp and offering floral tributes to Mahatma Gandhi.

The entire cleanliness fortnight programmes were implemented under the guidance of Chief Safety Officer SB Patel under the auspices of the Safety department with the cooperation of all other departments.

Shiv Ganga Express best organised train

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

The most popular 12559/12560 Banaras-New Delhi Shiv Ganga Express has been declared as best organised train while Siwan as best station in A and AI category, Ghazipur City best station in B category, Chhapra best organised coaching depot and Banaras Railway Colony best organised residential colony under Swachhata Fortnight. All of them were awarded by Divisional Railway Manager (DRM) Vineet Kumar Srivastava on the occasion of the 154th birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi in a function organised at the Officers' Club at Lahartara here on Monday. The DRM paid floral tributes to the portraits of 'Father of the Nation' Mahatma Gandhi and former Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and administered an oath to the employees to voluntarily keep their residences and workplaces clean and adopt environment friendly behaviour.

The winners were rewarded with shields. Banaras Coaching Depot Officer Vineet Ranjan received shield for Swachhata Rail Train Shiv Ganga Express, while Chief Health Inspector/Bhatni Amit Kumar Mishra, Chief Health Inspector for Swachh Station AI category/ Siwan Radheshyam Raman, Chief Health Inspector for Swachh Station B Category/Ghazipur City Usha Yadav, Chief Health Inspector for Swachh Railway Colony, Banaras, Kamlesh Singh, Coaching Depot Officer Ajit Kumar for Swachh Office Chhapra Coaching Depot/Chhapra were honoured with citations.

Along with this, in order to

DRM VK Srivastava felicitating an employee in Varanasi on Monday.

conclude the Cleanliness Fortnight organised by Varanasi Division of North Eastern Railway (NER) under the theme of 'Swachhata Hi Seva', cultural programmes were organised under the aegis of Environment and Housekeeping Management (EnHM) department.

The prize distribution programme was inaugurated by lighting the lamp by the DRM along with chairperson of Divisional Women's Welfare Organisation Monica Saxena and others. On the occasion, the DRM presented plants and handmade jute bags to the officers.

In the cultural programme organised on this occasion, cleanliness songs were presented by the members of Mandal Kala Samiti and a captivating dance drama was presented by the children of NER Junior High School.

An inspirational street play was staged by the members of Bharat Scouts and Guides District Association, Varanasi to stop the use of plastic, increase public awareness about cleanliness and adopt nature friendly behaviour.

At the end of the programme, the artistes and children who performed well were appreciated and rewarded by the DRM.

Earlier, Senior Divisional Mechanical Engineer (EnHM) Apoorva Swarnik welcomed everyone. Additional Divisional Railway Manager (Infra) Roshan Lal Yadav, ADRM (Operations) Rajesh

Kumar Singh, Chief Medical Superintendent Dr RJ Chaudhuri, Senior Divisional Mechanical Engineer (C&W) Anubhav Pathak, Senior Divisional Electrical Engineer (Traction) RN Singh, Senior Divisional Signal & Telecommunication Engineer Rajat Priya, Senior Divisional Engineers Rishi Srivastava, Satyam Singh and Anuj Verma, Senior Divisional Electrical Engineer (Operation) Anil Srivastava, Senior Divisional Safety Officer Balendra Paul, Divisional Mechanical Engineer (EnHM) Abhishek Singh, Divisional Personnel Officer Vivek Mishra, Assistant Commercial Manager AK Suman, Assistant Commercial Manager Prashant Kumar and others were also present.

Floral tributes paid to Gandhi, Shastri

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PRAYAGRAJ

The Swachhata Pakhwada closing ceremony was organised at the North Central Railway (NCR) headquarters on Monday where tributes were paid to the Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi and former Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri on their birth anniversary. A cycle rally was organised at North Central Railway (NCR) headquarters to mark the occasion.

The Swachhata Pakhwada was celebrated in the NCR from September 16 to October 2. During the conclusion of Swachhata Pakhwada on Monday a function presided over by Additional General Manager (AGM) Chandra Prakash Gupta was held at the NCR headquarters. The programme started with the AGM and other officers offering floral tribute to Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri. The AGM also released a pamphlet and it was distributed among the people present to create awareness about cleanliness.

A cycle rally was also organised. It started from the NCR headquarters and ended at the Rail Gaon railway colony stadium. A large number of senior officers and staff of NCR headquarters, including the AGM, enthusiastically participated in this rally. Senior officers of various departments of NCR and a large number of officers, employees and their families were present.

TRIPLE MURDER CASE: Action is being initiated against the police and the Revenue department officials and staff whose 'negligence' and 'partisan attitude' claimed the life of an elderly Dalit person, his pregnant daughter and son-in-law in Mohiuddinpur Ghaus village of Kaushambi district. The incident had taken place on September 15 and the matter had reached the chief minister. Kaushambi SP Brijesh Kumar Srivastava after preliminary inquiry, sent SO of Sandeepan Ghat Kotwali Dilip Singh and out post incharge of Harraypur to Police Lines.

Subhash, son of the deceased Hori Lal Pasi, met the chief minister and told him that the 'illegal' act of the chakbandi officials led to this triple murder. District Magistrate Sunit Kumar found three lekh-pals of Chakbandi department prima facie guilty and placed them under suspension. The assistant chakbandi officer is also under scanner and his suspension has also been recommended.

Cycle rally to create awareness about air display

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PRAYAGRAJ

To spread awareness about the air display at Sangam on October 8 a cycle rally was conducted on Monday from the headquarters Central Air Command (CAC) to Sangam and back. The event was flagged off by Dr Suneeta Kapoor, president, AFFWA (Regional). Air Marshal RGK Kapoor, Air Officer

Commanding-in-Chief, CAC led the team comprising 35 air warriors who participated in the rally with lot of fervour. The rally reached Sangam near VIP Ghat braving heavy rain. The public was informed about the visibility of aerial display from Sangam Ghat, Saraswati Ghat, Arail Ghat, Jhusi side of Sangam, Shastri Bridge and surrounding areas. The rally spread the message of awareness about the aerial display to the citizens of Sangam city. AOC-in-C explained that the first aircraft flight in our country was from Naini in 1911. He lauded the efforts in Swachhata Abhiyan and felicitated the shramiks (workers) who participated in cleanliness efforts in Sangam area. He expressed gratitude to media and its personnel in their endeavour to spread awareness about the aerial display and urged people to witness the unprecedented display in large numbers. The air warriors also interacted with the local population and informed them about the air display over Sangam. They exhorted them to witness the event 2:30 pm onwards on October 8 from one of the locations at Saraswati Ghat, Jhusi village, Shastri Bridge or Arail Ghat. The rally also offered an opportunity to youth to know about various exciting career options in the Indian Air Force.

Stress on dedication, honesty for progress of nation

CORRESPONDENT ■ MIRZAPUR

The birth anniversary of Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi and former Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was observed across the district on Monday. District Judge Anmol Pal after hoisting the national flag and garlanding the portraits of the heroes paid his tributes in a programme organised under the aegis of the District Legal Services Authority (DLSA) in the Civil Court. He said it will be a real tribute to the leaders if we followed their path honestly. He exhorted the people to adopt the path of dedication and honesty for the progress of the nation. Secretary of the DLSA and ADJ Lal Babu said Gandhi was committed to cleanliness.

District Magistrate Priyanka Niranjani after hoisting the tricolour at the Collectorate building garlanded the statue of Gandhi at Gandhi Ghat. She garlanded the statues of heroes, including Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri, at Shaheed Udyan. Superintendent of Police (SP) Abhinandan garlanded the portraits of Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri at the Police Lines. Additional Superintendent of Police (ASP/City) Srikant Prajapati and Circle Officer (CO) Sadar Shailendra Tripathi hoisted the flag at the police office, CO (City) Ajay Singh at City Kotwali, CO (Lalganj) Manjari Rao at Lalganj police station, CO (Operation) Anil Kumar Pandey at Madihan police station and CO

District Magistrate Priyanka Niranjani paying tributes during a programme to mark the birth anniversary of Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi and former Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri at the Collectorate on Monday.

(Chunar) Uma Shankar Singh at Chunar Kotwali. At the Rajdeep PG College Kailhat a day-long programme was organised and Director RB Singh addressed a gathering.

MISHAP DEATH: One person died in road mishap in an area under Kachhawaan on police station on Sunday. According to a report, Azad Kumar Bind (55), a resident of Bachchhaan Meerapur village under Mirzamurad police station in Varanasi was on the way on his bike when it was hit by a vehicle near Barapur village under Kachhawaan police station. After the accident the vehicle driver managed to flee from the spot.

On getting information the police reached the spot and brought the victim to the hospital where the doctor declared him as brought dead. On the basis of the papers recovered from his pocket the police informed the kin of the victim and completed the legal formalities.

www.dailypioneer.com

facebook.com/dailypioneer | @TheDailyPioneer | instagram.com/dailypioneer/

PAPER WITH PASSION

Power play

Mamata sends her troops to Delhi to embarrass the Centre over non-payment of dues

While the BJP brass is busy formulating strategy for the upcoming Assembly elections in five States and meeting voters there, the wily West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee has unleashed a 4,000-strong contingent in Delhi under her TMC MP and nephew Abhishek Banerjee's charge. Mamata's party leaders and cadres are here for a two-day protest rally to highlight the NDA Government's apathy towards non-payment of Central scheme funds to the State's workers. Interestingly, while the BJP is seeking action in the poll-bound States, Mamata has brought her fight right at its very doorstep and fired the Capital's political atmosphere. The rally has garnered attention for several reasons, ranging from demands for the release of funds to the TMC's clash with the Enforcement Directorate (ED). Another interesting point remains as to why Mamata chose to hold her mega show of strength in faraway Delhi and what the BJP feels about it. The two-day protest in Delhi was prompted by mounting concerns over the Centre's alleged neglect of West Bengal's development and the delay in releasing funds for vital schemes like the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA). Thousands of TMC leaders and supporters descended on the national Capital with a resolute mission — to voice their grievances against the Central Government.

On Gandhi Jayanti, the TMC MPs embarked on a sit-in at Rajghat to highlight their dedication to the principles of Mahatma Gandhi. The peaceful rally followed with TMC supporters and MGNREGA job card holders marching together to air their concerns. However, it was not a smooth ride for the TMC cadres from Bengal to Delhi, with them facing unexpected hurdles. Initially, a special train was booked for the TMC supporters and MGNREGA job card holders, along with the party's 'panchayat pramukhs'. But the Railway Ministry abruptly cancelled the train, forcing the TMC to arrange for private buses to transport its supporters. Adding to the intrigue, the Enforcement Directorate summoned Mamata's nephew and party's number 2 leader Abhishek Banerjee for questioning on October 3, coinciding with the rally. Abhishek, however, has chosen to ignore the ED summons. As the rally unfolds, the nation awaits the outcome of this high-stakes showdown between the prominent parties. Though Mamata is challenging the BJP in the Capital, she has a lot to answer to people in her home State as there have been alleged irregularities in the disbursement of MGNREGA salaries by her Government, besides numerous cases of misappropriation of such funds. Union Minister Smriti Irani has also questioned the rationale behind the rally as TMC has failed to ensure even the minimum wages to tea garden workers in North Bengal. The BJP Minister is currently in Bengal, where she met tea workers in Siliguri. On the other hand, Mamata is a strong leader in her State and an important member of the INDIA bloc; her message in Delhi is indeed something the BJP must be watching very carefully.

PICTALK

Army personnel briefs students about a weapon during an event of 'Veer Gatha', in Kolkata

BJP-AIADMK split: What next?

The AIADMK-BJP split does not augur well for the BJP which is trying hard to get a foothold in southern India

KALYANI SHANKAR

Could the split between the AIADMK and BJP be permanent? If so, this could hurt the BJP's chances of winning in Tamil Nadu since the AIADMK had supported them since J Jayalalitha's passing in 2016. The decision to end its partnership with the NDA on a national and state level may put the BJP at a disadvantage.

The future political landscape could have an impact on the upcoming 2024 elections. It could cause a shift in power among Tamil Nadu parties and their alliances. This may result in the AIADMK losing the support of the Modi government, which has acted as a powerful ally.

According to experts, the separation between the BJP and AIADMK is expected to be temporary. The leaders of both parties have advised their members to refrain from making negative comments about each other. The BJP seeks more support in the Southern region and hopes to secure additional seats through partnerships.

Last week, former AIADMK minister Munuswamy announced that his party is severing ties with the BJP and NDA. He accused the BJP state chief, Annamalai, of deliberately tarnishing the reputation of respected party members, including former Chief Ministers CN Annadurai and Jayalalitha.

The decision may have a significant impact on state and national politics. AIADMK is the lone major partner of the BJP at the national level. Previously, NDA included bigger parties like Shiv Sena, Akali Dal, Telugu Desam, and AIADMK. Still, now only AIADMK remains in the alliance. For the BJP, the loss is more significant. Despite earnest efforts, it has not established a substantial presence in Tamil Nadu — the power switches between the DMK and AIADMK since 1967. The AIADMK has ruled 30 out of their 50 years.

Tamil Nadu has two main political parties: AIADMK and DMK. AIADMK is a popular party with a large membership of two crore people, and it offers an alternative to DMK. The DMK and AIADMK, the two main Dravidian parties, have both supported the BJP at different times.

For decades, The BJP has faced a tough challenge in winning over voters in Tamil Nadu. The Dravidian movement started by EV Ramaswamy Naicker has taken deep roots in the form of DMK and AIADMK parties. The party only secured 3% of the vote in the last Lok Sabha elections. In comparison, the two Dravidian parties had a solid 25% base.

Since 2016, the AIADMK party has experienced continuous defeats in all elections. It has no charismatic leaders like Jayalalitha or founder MG. Ramachandran — both matinee idols. The party's performance in the most recent Assembly polls in 2021 decreased the seats won, from 136 to 75. The DMK-Congress coalition took control of the government. In the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, AIADMK only secured one seat, a significant drop compared to their previous 37. Meanwhile, the DMK coalition's seats increased from 0 to 39. Consequently, AIADMK cadres view their connection with the BJP as a hindrance. The BJP's attempt to win over voters in Tamil

THE UPCOMING LOK SABHA ELECTIONS ARE SIGNIFICANT FOR THE BJP, WHILE THE AIADMK FOCUSES ON THE 2026 ASSEMBLY POLLS

Nadu failed due to differing ideologies. The Dravidian parties are non-believers, while BJP's primary election strategy is centred around Ram Temple in Ayodhya earlier and Sanathan dharma now.

The upcoming Lok Sabha elections are significant for the BJP, while the AIADMK focuses on the 2026 Assembly polls. The outcome will largely depend on the coalitions formed by the two Dravidian parties. Prime Minister Modi is determined to secure a third term in the 2024 elections.

Insiders suggest that Annamalai's behaviour was not the main reason for the split.

Despite numerous complaints, AIADMK is unhappy that the BJP has not taken action against Annamalai. There is a more significant disagreement over seat sharing. Both parties failed to win seats in Tamil Nadu in the 2019 elections due to a lack of shared ideology. Annamalai has suggested running independently in the election, and some BJP members are considering the idea. Annamalai wants to form a coalition with smaller parties.

AIADMK chief Eadapadi Palaniswamy has successfully united the party and worked with senior leaders to prevent the re-entry of Sasikala, TTV Dhinakaran, and former Chief Minister O. Pannarselvam. It is a no-no for him even if the BJP provides them seats under its quota. Palaniswamy was able to remove them from AIADMK and now holds complete control. He apprehends that once they entered, his authority would diminish.

The ruling DMK coalition apprehends it could be affected, and some suggest that Congress may ally with the AIADMK. The results will depend on the number of seats won by each alliance.

The upcoming Lok Sabha elections are crucial for the DMK, AIADMK, Congress and BJP. Among them, the BJP stands to gain or lose the most. Factors such as caste, financial resources, and political influence will also play a significant role in the election. The BJP needs to perform well in the Five States Assembly polls. While BJP is ahead, in politics, a week is a long time, and anything can happen in the next six months leading up to the Lok Sabha elections.

(The writer is a popular columnist; views expressed are personal)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DISTURBING INCIDENT IN THE UK

Sir — The incident that occurred on September 29th, involving the Indian High Commissioner to the UK, Vikram Doraiswami, being prevented from entering a Gurdwara in Glasgow, Scotland, is a deeply condemnable and disturbing event. During this incident, some radical elements not only blocked the envoy's entry but also resorted to threats and abuse. They even attempted to open the envoy's locked car, which fortunately was thwarted due to the timely intervention of the event organizers. The UK, being aware of the potential threat from such extremist elements, should have taken adequate security measures for the visiting Indian envoy.

It is essential to acknowledge that the Khalistan ideology has very limited support among Sikhs in India. The majority of Sikhs in India lead peaceful lives and have made significant contributions to the nation in various fields, including defense and trade. Sikhs in the armed forces have played a pivotal role in defending the nation against external threats from countries like China and Pakistan. Only a small fraction of radical elements resort to violence to pursue their objectives.

The recent incident in Scotland, as well as the July attack on the Indian consulate in San Francisco, serves as a stark reminder that these extremist elements, although numerically small, continue to exist and have grown more emboldened. These incidents are not isolated and are part of a concerning trend, with extremist elements expanding their reach in countries like Canada, the US, the UK, and Australia. This situation demands serious attention from the international community.

Ramesh G Jethwan | Bengaluru

UKRAINE AID QUESTIONED

Sir — The United States narrowly escaped a government shutdown crisis as a bill was passed at the eleventh hour on Saturday, providing emergency funding to federal services. Notably absent from the bill was any mention of continued aid to war-torn

World Cup Excitement

Cricket enthusiasts in India are thrilled as the World Cup inches closer to our doorsteps. The Indian cricket team is poised to compete on home turf, aiming to seize the championship and bring glory to the BCCI. Preparations are progressing as scheduled, with strategic changes in the team composition to provide opportunities to our top players. Fortunately, we have a wealth of talent, boasting the world's finest all-rounder and the number one bowler. The team is ready to unleash their full potential in various venues. The round-robin format of the tournament offers us a promising path to qualify for the knockout stage, despite even odds.

However, we must address concerns about the team's fitness and fielding prowess, which need improvement. With the best squad at our disposal and a well-balanced team, the 2023 World Cup is a golden opportunity to secure a major victory. Let's rally behind our team and hope for a triumphant campaign!

CK Subramaniam, | Mumbai

Ukraine, raising concerns about the suspension of monetary assistance. The passage of this bill ensures uninterrupted operation of US federal services for the next 45 days.

Failure to approve funding for federal departments and agencies by October 1 would have resulted in a complete government shutdown, with far-reaching consequences, including furloughs without pay for federal employees and a significant economic impact.

While the immediate threat of a shutdown has been averted, there remains the looming challenge of securing government funding in the weeks ahead. Differing viewpoints, particularly among right-wing lawmakers, could lead to further crises, emphasizing the need for a more bipartisan approach.

Bhagwan Thadani | Mumbai

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MINORITIES

Sir — I am writing to express my deep concerns about the discrimination faced by Muslims and religious minorities in India. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar's recent statement denying discrimination against minorities is contradicted by alarming statistics. Between 2014 and 2018, there was a shocking 786% increase in hate crimes against minorities. Ethnic violence has persisted for four months in Manipur against minorities, and attacks on Christians have quadrupled between 2011 and 2022.

Furthermore, instances of hate speech by BJP members and leaders, targeting Muslims, have been on the rise. Muslims have been lynched, houses demolished, and violence inflicted upon them merely due to their faith. The government's silence on these matters is deeply concerning. Propaganda films like 'Kashmir Files' have further exacerbated tensions, and religious institutions like mosques and dargahs have been attacked.

The organized violence against Muslims since the current government came to power has created a climate of fear among ordinary Muslims in the country. Discriminatory laws and divisive rhetoric only worsen the situation. It is crucial that we acknowledge these issues and work towards a more inclusive and harmonious society.

Zakir Hussain | Kazipet

Orders by Govt officers are for the larger good

KISHLAYA MISHRA

It is imperative to abide by just orders promulgated by Govt servants in public interest and any objection to such orders, must be through legal channels

What we often come across is the law of contempt concerning courts. It may pertain to maligning the reputation of the judiciary or for that purpose obstructing the functioning of the court. The law of contempt concerning court has now been well established and the educated section across the country mostly have a rough idea about the same if they keep themselves informed by print or electronic media, including social media.

take such decisions and pass such orders which may help contain the infectious disease.

Section 3 of the Epidemic Disease Act imposes a penalty for disobeying any order or regulation made under this act. It makes the act of disobeying or abatement punishable under section 188 of the Indian Penal Code. For instance, if we take the step of price capping by the respective state governments on the treatment of COVID-19 in private hospitals, passing an order under this act or any other act for the time being in force, they impose a duty on private hospitals not to charge above the limits fixed by government authorities.

If private hospitals are charging more than the limit imposed by the government, they are inviting prosecution u/s 188 of the Indian Penal Code i.e., Disobedience to an order duly promulgated by a public servant. Bombay High Court in the case of HLA Shwe v. State of Maharashtra peeled section 188 and mentioned its ingredients as follows - The order must be duly promulgated by a public servant authorised to do so; The order directs the accused to abstain from certain acts; Accused was aware of such order; Accused disobeyed such order and lastly, such disobeying resulted in obstruction, annoyance or injury.

This section is part of chapter X of IPC which deals with contempt of lawful authority of public servant. Prosecution under this is slightly different to that of other offences where the victim himself/herself reports the crime to police officials. Cognizance under this chapter X of IPC can only be taken under section 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) which requires a written complaint by a public servant concerned or of some other public servant to whom he is administratively subordinate. This means, that if a person 'X' is aggrieved that he has been charged more than the prescribed amount (as prescribed by the government during covid times) in a private hospital for Covid19 treatment, he cannot directly report that to the police station and ask the police to register FIR under section 188 of IPC, but he needs to report the same to the official or ministry that promulgated such order and it will be upon the written complaint of such ministry or official that an action can be brought against the private hospital under section 188 of IPC.

In India, we very well know that crimes often are not reported by individuals because of a lack of awareness which further encourages the wrongdoer, initiative should be taken by the government to check the implementation of their orders. This can be done by audits and taking the views and experiences of the intended beneficiaries of those orders. Therefore, for a peaceful society to exist, it is imperative to abide by just orders promulgated by public servants and any objection to such orders, should only have legal recourse.

(The writer is an advocate in Delhi; views are personal)

Send your feedback to: letterstopioneer@gmail.com

FIRST COLUMN

TOLERANCE IS THE KEY TO PEACE

Tolerance can bring about lasting peace in the world

RAJYOGI BRAHMAKUMAR NIKUNJ JI

Most of us have come across many such situations in life where in the question of Tolerance comes up and we are required to choose whether to tolerate or retaliate. If, for example, a person who has no control over his tongue or is uncultured, impolite, short-tempered and ill-mannered talks in an offensive or insulting language or behaves rudely and roughly with us, then what would we do?

Well! A cultured and spiritualised person, under such a situation, would choose to tolerate, because he knows very well that when tolerance is lost, temper is also lost and the loss of both means the loss of mental balance. Hence, in such a situation, one should not feel hurt, injured or mauled and should not think of revenge. Instead, one should pity such a person and give him vibrations of peace to recover from his temper. This kind of approach or attitude would enable one to remain calm, composed and dignified. Tolerance, in such provocative situations, is a Value that saves one's life. Tolerance, joined by humility, has great Value even as a matter of policy, strategy or tactic.

So, if one loses tolerance in such hot situations even for a moment, one may even lose one's life or face a still more complicated situation, fraught with grave consequences and unpredictable repercussions. Looking at it from this angle, one can say that tolerance is not only a high-class virtue and moral value but it is a non-violent strategy for self-defence and survival and also a weapon for victory. Remember! Our tolerance and Humility can melt or mellow the minds of our bitter critics and opponents while it enables us to be in a state of peace. It creates harmony in the course of time and even the most arrogant person, at some point in time, expresses appreciation of our amazing tolerance in the face of grave aggravation. Along with this, we should also learn to forget and forgive some lapses and shortcomings of others in the spirit of friendliness or brotherhood, or else we cannot have goodwill, amity co-operation and peace.

However, most people ask this question: how long should we allow our tormentor to continue with his cruel acts, his nefarious designs and his dirty ways? Should we tolerate injustice? If we do so, wouldn't it mean our silent consent to his acts of depriving those who deserve justice? Also, it would mean our connivance in his acts of punishing those who are not at fault. Isn't it a kind of self-imposed servitude, servility and slavery? The answer is that we must put forth our moral resistance. We must make our disapproval manifest through our non-cooperation in such acts. Better still, we must use our skill of persuasion at proper moments. We must make efforts to enable this man of blinded intellect to see the real nature of his act and the attendant evils and the following consequences.

We must have the spiritual power to change his heart, to transform him from being stone-hearted. We must try to give a healing touch to this mentally and morally sick person. We must pity him rather than lose our moral sense and react with a feeling of rancour and vengeance. That would be our tolerance. But the question that ultimately comes up is whether we have that spiritual power to transform a sinner into a saint. For that, we must check our stock of spirituality and fill ourselves with the power again through Yoga-Meditation as one would recharge one's battery with the help of a dynamo. With our high spiritual power, we can use tolerance as a tool of social transformation and can be God's instrument for uplifting a man, fallen from his seat of morality.

(The writer is a spiritual educator and popular columnist; views expressed are personal)

Timeless traditions: Thathera metal craft

SUKHDEV SINGH

Thathera metal craft has been on the UNESCO list for almost a decade now, but the struggle of the artisans making these utensils continues

Despite the UNESCO Intangible Cultural Heritage inscription of the thathera craft of Jindiala Guru since 2014, the financial and social condition of the craftsmen has not improved much. Recognising the cultural heritage worth of the 'thathera' metal craft in Jindiala Guru, in its 9th session held in Paris in 2014, UNESCO 'Intergovernmental Committee (IGC) for the Safeguarding of Intangible Heritage' decided to inscribe the craft on its list. This is the first metal craft from India to find a place in UNESCO's Intangible Cultural Heritage list. Thus, not only Punjab but India should be proud of it. "But just the pride cannot feed the craftsmen and keep the craft vibrant", says a craftsman seeking anonymity.

S Hardev Singh of the 'father' community says, "The younger generation is opting out of this family profession because it neither earns money nor respect. Although Ayurveda recognises the advantages of eating in copper, bronze and brass utensils, the 'use and throw' cheaper alternatives are pushing it out of use". Instead of popular cosmetic measures, the government should take concrete steps of waiving taxes and continuing the old quota system of issuing scrap as the raw material directly and only to the working craftsmen to reduce the cost and prices of objects to face the competition. Further, it can help market the products as art pieces and utilitarian objects. The government can check the entry of middlemen who buy raw materials from the Indian Army on auction and then distribute them among the craftsmen to produce objects for them at low labour rates. "In the current practice, a craftsman has no claim of ownership of the product and after the day-long hard work earns only 500-600 a day", a craftsman quips. He asks, "Is this the value of skill or the wage of labour? How would my son like to pursue this profession?"

THE SCIENCE OF AYURVEDA IN INDIA RECOGNISES THE RELEVANCE OF THESE METALS FOR HEALTH

(The writer is a retired professor from Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar; views are personal)

Recently, the Punjab government has declared the Thathera Bazar a Heritage street and built a gate at the street entry symbolising the value of the craft, but has neither waived off its share in GST nor taken any serious steps to help them improve their condition. The question is how the gate and the heritage street status would help if there were no craftsmen in the street.

The UNESCO recognition has, of course, created some hype in the media. Some agencies have succeeded in getting the study projects sanctioned adding to their profiles and justifying their jobs but have not advocated the case forcefully enough to deliver at the ground. Some art and craft dealers have tried to reap benefits by tagging the products with UNESCO recognition to sell them at premium prices while the craftsmen continue to work as labourers at low rates.

This is where the shoe pinches and the government should step in to save the craft, the craftsmen and the cultural heritage of the state. The thathera craft is practised at several other places in India but the uniqueness of the craftsmen in Jindiala Guru is their continuance as a community to practice the family tradition of handmade copper and brass utensils. The ten to twelve-generation tradition of fathers in Jindiala Guru and their craft is a journey of place and people in and through time. The knowledge systems transmitted from generation to generation and the continued relevance of their products to the people make the craftsmanship a 'living tradition', fulfilling the three-tier criterion of 'people, place and time' to identify the craft as the Cultural Heritage.

According to the Amritsar District Gazetteer of 1883, "Besides the city [Amritsar]...the only trade centre worthy of notice is the town of Jandiala, which is known for its manufacture of brass and copper vessels in which it has a brisk export trade" (p.117). If so, the trade perfected worthy of export must have started during the days of Maharaja Ranjit Singh or before.

While the utensils are tangible objects, traditional knowledge, skills and art are intangible. Both the craft and its knowledge conventions have been recognized in the UNESCO inscription. The craftsmen of Jandiala Guru use the conventional knowledge and skills of 'forging' instead of 'casting' metal to shape it as a utensil. Using the method of forging, they hammer the metal plates with the help of a mallet. After heating the plates in a small hand-driven furnace, they consistently thump and beat a plate to make it malleable and ductile.

Then the parts of a utensil are made by cutting, heating and curving the metal sheet; then these parts are joined with each other. There are five methods for joining of metals: soldering, brazing, flux, riveting and welding. The fathers of Jandiala Guru use brazing and riveting. Brazing is a process of joining two or more metals by pouring a molten filler metal into the joint. The utensils made from the metal sheets are then cleaned with diluted acid and scrubbed with tamarind water and sand. The whole process of polishing is carried out with hands and feet. This final process brings out the rich texture and colour of the metal. Finally, the utensils are ornamented with hand-engraved designs with patterns of delicate dents of small size and round shapes looking like small stars.

Utensils are art objects "produced not only for their use but also for their beauty possessing an artistic image which expresses their function". Thus the contribution of craftsmen to the development of culture and civilization, on the one hand, and to the fulfilment of utilitarian and aesthetic needs, on the other, has been great in human history.

Eating and cooking in the mud, copper, brass and bronze utensils is good for health and taste. The science of Ayurveda in India recognizes the relevance of these metals for health. The references to Bronze for health healing can be found in several tracts like Ashtanga Samgraha/ Hridaya, Rajtarangini and Bhavprakash. In contrast with glass, plastic and steel, bronze shows nil microbial presence one hour after being washed in hot water. Copper is said to kill harmful bacteria and viruses. It helps prevent cell damage and slow ageing due to its antioxidant and anti-carcinogenic properties.

As copper, which is well known as a biocide, is the major content in alloy metal of brasses, utensils made from brass have the beneficial effect of restricting the growth of microorganisms. While the craftsmen must be acknowledged as educated and skilled worthy of social respect and honour; their craft must be supported and promoted as our precious cultural heritage.

Turning challenges of food insecurity into opportunity

Food loss can impact food security and nutrition by influencing the four aspects of food security: food availability, access, utilisation, and stability

Food insecurity, hunger and environmental degradation are being aggravated by food loss and waste, globally. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) estimates that — in terms of economic value — 14 per cent of the world's food is lost from post-harvest up to, but not including, the retail level. In India, 4-6 % of cereal and 5-12 % of vegetables are being lost every year.

FAO on the fourth International Day of Awareness of Food Loss and Waste (IDAWLW), calls upon the need to adopt the Food Loss Index (FLI) methodology and monitor losses throughout the supply chain from production to consumption. In collaboration with FAO, IASRI-ICAR has estimated the FLI for India. These estimates are based on the three national-level surveys conducted by the Ministry of Food Processing Industries to estimate the harvest and post-harvest losses of major crops and commodities in the country. India has been a torchbearer for the world as the only country that has established a robust system of regular surveys for monitoring food losses. These surveys conducted in India have provided the foundations for the development of the FLI methodology globally and for the technical support, FAO provides to countries across the world.

TAKAYUKI HAGIWARA

(The writer is a country head & representative of FAO in India; views are personal)

Food loss is a recurring issue due to several causes stemming from different stages of the food supply chain and socio-economic factors. To address these issues and to ensure food security in the country, mitigating the challenges along the supply chain is critical. FAO works closely with the government and relevant bodies to identify these challenges and find solutions. Food Loss, a leading cause of Hunger, Food Insecurity and Climate Change. Food loss can impact food security and nutrition by influencing the four aspects of food security: food availability, access, utilization, and stability. As per FAO's report, India's food loss percentage stands at approximately 4.5%.

The highest levels of food loss occur in nutrient-rich foods such as fruits and vegetables, meat and fish. It is also estimated that 8 to 10 % of global greenhouse gases are generated by the food that ends up in landfills. This results in unstable climate conditions thereby affecting crop yields, reducing the nutritional crop quality and supply chain disruptions.

FOOD LOSS IN INDIA
Inadequate storage and transportation infrastructure coupled with post-harvest losses contribute to a substantial amount of food loss in the country. The fragmented and complex supply chain with multiple intermediaries involved further escalates the problem leading to food loss at almost every stage.

Food loss is a pervasive issue resulting in critical economic, social, and environmental implications in the country, limiting India's ability to achieve the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

WAY FORWARD
FAO draws attention to the critical need to measure post-harvest losses across the country. This approach aligns with achieving SDG 12, Target 12.3 which seeks to halve per-capita global food waste at the retail and consumer levels and reduce food losses along production and supply chains, including post-harvest losses, and SDG 2 — Zero Hunger.

FAO firmly believes that it is crucial to identify the channels where significant losses occur. Disaggregation of data at subnational levels throughout the supply chain will help locate loss points and their impact. This, in turn, will support targeted intervention and necessary aids. A critical requirement for effective decision-making is improved data, which can drive innovation, promote best practices, and optimize resource allocation.

Addressing India's food loss challenge requires a comprehensive and coordinated effort from various stakeholders, including the government, farmers, food processors, retailers, and consumers. Improvements in localised infrastructure, storage, transportation, processing, packaging, market linkages, and awareness campaigns to change consumer behaviour, are critical.

It is essential to identify the channels in harvest and post-harvest operations in which substantial losses are taking place for further technological interventions. Food loss is a global challenge. Countries must adopt the globally agreed methodology and measurement techniques for the computation of FLI which also provides a platform for global comparability and cross-learning opportunities.

Reducing food loss will help conserve resources and reduce the environmental footprint associated with food production and disposal. FAO firmly believes that India as the leader for the Global South can address this issue and demonstrate a way forward in reducing food loss that is essential to achieving efficient, inclusive, sustainable, and resilient agri-food systems for better production, better nutrition, better environment, and a better life, leaving no one behind.

At least 10 die after church roof collapses in Mexico

AP ■ CIJUED MADERO (MEXICO)

The roof of a church collapsed in northern Mexico during Sunday Mass, killing at least 10 people and injuring around 60, authorities said as searchers probed in the wreckage throughout the night and into Monday morning looking for survivors and more victims.

Approximately 30 parishioners were believed to have been trapped in the rubble when the roof caved in, officials said.

Searchers crawled under the roof slabs and officials brought in dogs to help search for possible survivors.

The Tamaulipas state police said about 100 people were in the church at the time of the collapse.

The state security spokesman's office said early Monday that 10 people had been confirmed dead from the collapse, which it described as likely being caused by a structural failure. The office said 23 of the 60 injured remain hospitalized, with two in serious condition.

Tamaulipas state police said units of the National Guard, the state police and state civil defense office and the Red Cross were involved in the operation.

The Mexican Council of Bishops issued a statement saying that "we join in prayer at the tragic loss of life and those injured." Bishop José Armando Alvarez of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Tampico said the roof caved in while parishioners were receiving communion at the Santa Cruz church in the Gulf coast city of Ciudad Madero, next to the port city of Tampico.

The diocese later posted a list of people who had been injured, including a 4-month-old baby, three 5-year-olds and two 9-year-olds. The number of young victims — police officers said three of the dead were children — may have been due to the fact that baptisms were to take place at the church.

"We lament the painful loss of people who were there celebrating the baptism of their children," Alvarez wrote. At the same time, there were signs of hope.

"From underneath the rubble, thanks to Divine Providence and the work of the rescue teams, people have been pulled out alive!" Alvarez's diocese wrote in a statement posted on its social media accounts. "Let's keep praying!"

He also called on anyone who had wood to donate to bring it to the church, apparently to shore up the roof while rescue teams crawled inside.

Photos published by local media showed what appeared to be a concrete and brick structure, with parts of the roof fallen almost to the ground.

Security camera footage from about a block away showed the unusual, gabled roof simply collapsed downward.

Walls did not appear to have been blown outward, nor was there any indication of an explosion, or anything other than simple structural failure.

The roof appeared to be made of relatively thin poured concrete, and photos distributed by state authorities showed the roof slab resting on the top of pews in some parts of the church. That left open the possibility there were air spaces for any survivors.

"At this time, the necessary work is being performed to extract the people who are still under the rubble," Alvarez said in a taped message. "Today we are living through a very difficult moment."

UK Treasury chief to hike min wage Tax cuts ruled out while inflation stays high

AP ■ MANCHESTER

Britain's Treasury chief announced a hike in the national minimum wage on Monday, as the governing Conservative Party tries to persuade voters it is on the side of those who are struggling financially.

But Chancellor of the Exchequer Jeremy Hunt ruled out tax cuts, saying they would fuel inflation. "I do want us to have lower taxes," Hunt told Sky News before his speech. But he said "it's very difficult to see" it happening this year.

That message was not what many Conservatives at the party's annual conference wanted to hear. Hundreds of them packed a room to applaud as former Prime Minister Liz Truss — whose seven weeks in office plunged Britain's economy into crisis — demanded Hunt slash taxes in his fall budget next month. Hunt told the Conservatives' annual conference that the hourly rate for workers 23 or older will rise in April from 10.42 pounds ($12.70) to at least 11 pounds ($13.40). The exact amount will be set after a recommendation by the Low Pay Commission, an advisory body. Hunt said that will mean a raise for more than 2 million workers.

Hunt also pledged to toughen the rules on social benefits in an attempt to stem the flow of working-age people out of the workforce, a trend that has accelerated since the coronavirus pandemic.

"Those who won't even look for work do not deserve the same benefits as people trying hard to do the right thing," he said. The party is trying to sprinkle voter-pleasing measures such as the pay increase at the conference, which may be the last before a national election due in 2024. But the government's spending power is constricted by the UK's sluggish economy and stubbornly high inflation that hit double digits last year and now stands just below 7%. The right-of-centre Tories, in power since 2010, are lagging far behind the centre-left opposition Labour Party in opinion polls. Voters are weary after years of political turmoil over the UK's exit from the European Union, the coronavirus pandemic and a cost-of-living crisis fuelled by Russia's invasion of Ukraine last year. Prime Minister Rishi Sunak, who took office just under a year ago, is facing grumbling — and even open rebellion — from some Conservative members and lawmakers.

Sunak steadied the economy after his predecessor Truss crashed the pound and trashed Britain's reputation for fiscal prudence with her tax-slashing economic plans. She left office after just 49 days.

Many Conservatives doubt whether Sunak — the party's fifth leader since 2016 — can restore its popularity to the level that saw the party win an 80-seat majority in the 650-seat House of Commons in 2019. The prime minister then, Boris Johnson, resigned in mid-2022 amid scandals over his ethics and judgment.

In recent weeks, Sunak has sought to take the initiative with a clutch of measures depicted as easing the economic burden on taxpayers. He has delayed a ban on selling new gas and diesel cars and watered down other green measures that he said imposed "unacceptable costs" on ordinary people.

'At least 13 killed in Spain nightclub fire'

Madrid (AP): A fire broke out in a nightclub in the southeastern Spanish city of Murcia on Sunday, killing 13 people and injuring several others, authorities said. The fire started around 6 a.m. in the popular Teatre nightclub and quickly tore through the venue, according to Spain's state news agency EFE. It was not immediately clear what caused the fire. A video shared by Murcia's fire service showed firefighters trying to control flames inside the nightclub. Police and emergency services worked to secure the interior of the club to avoid a possible collapse and were trying to locate and identify the bodies. Officials said the death toll could increase. The city council declared three days of mourning with flags flown at half-staff on public buildings throughout the region of Murcia.

Fire at Egypt police HQ injures 38

Cairo (AP): A huge fire broke out early Monday at a police facility in northeastern Egypt, injuring at least 38 people before firefighters were able to extinguish the blaze several hours later, authorities said. The cause of the fire, which ripped through the multistory police headquarters in the Suez Canal province of Ismailia, was not immediately clear.

Interior Minister Mahoud Tawfiq, whose ministry oversees police forces, rushed to the site in the city of Ismailia, about 125 kilometres (77 miles) northeast of Cairo. He said a committee was set up to investigate the fire.

Hossam Abdel-Ghaffar, a spokesperson for the Health Ministry, said in a statement that 12 of the injured were treated at the site, while 26 others were taken to hospitals.

All but two suffered from breathing difficulties; seven of the injured were treated and discharged, he said.

It was not immediately clear how many police were in the building at the time. Local media reported that the police building was severely damaged in the blaze.

Videos circulating on social media shows flames and black smoke pouring out of the building.

The state-run MENA news agency said firefighters managed to put out the fire after several hours.

Safety standards and fire regulations are poorly enforced in Egypt and have been linked to many deaths. In August 2022, a fire at a packed Coptic Orthodox church during morning services in Cairo killed 41 worshippers in what was one of Egypt's deadliest fires in recent years.

Trump denounces civil fraud case as a 'scam'

AP ■ NEW YORK

Former President Donald Trump denounced the civil fraud case over his business practices as a politically motivated "scam" as he arrived defiantly for a trial in the lawsuit, which could cost him control of Trump Tower and other prized properties.

"This is a continuation of the single greatest witch hunt of all time," he said as he made a voluntary trip to a New York court for a trial that has high stakes for him.

"It's a scam. It's a sham," the Republican said, reiterating claims that New York Attorney General Letitia James' suit is a politically motivated attempt to thwart his return to the White House.

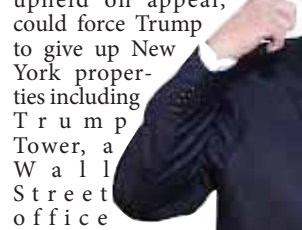

"What we have here is an attempt to hurt me in an election," he charged, adding: "I don't think the people of this country are going to stand for it." He looked away from

James, a Democrat, as he passed her on the way into court, with a disgusted look on his face.

The suit accuses Trump and his company of deceiving banks, insurers and others by habitually lying about his wealth in financial statements.

Judge Arthur Engoron already has ruled that Trump committed fraud in his business dealings. It is a non-jury trial, so Engoron will decide on six other claims in the lawsuit.

James, a Democrat, is seeking $250 million in penalties and a ban on Trump doing business in New York. The judge's ruling last week, if upheld on appeal, could force Trump to give up New York properties including Trump Tower, a Wall Street office building, golf courses and a suburban estate. Trump, the Republican front-runner in the 2024 presidential race, has denied wrongdoing. He says that James and the judge are undervaluing such assets as Mar-a-Lago, and that it didn't matter what he put on his financial statements because they have a disclaimer that says they shouldn't be trusted.

In posts overnight on his Truth Social site, he said he was going to court "to fight for my name and reputation," denounced the case as "A SHAM," and called on the attorney general and judge to resign.

Before the trial

Monday, James reiterated her position that Trump for years engaged in "persistent and repeated fraud."

"No matter how powerful you are, and no matter how much money you think you have, no one is above the law," she said on her way into the courthouse.

Trump isn't expected to testify for several weeks. His trip to court Monday marked a remarkable departure from his past practice. Trump didn't go to court as either a witness or a spectator when his company and one of its top executives was convicted of tax fraud last year. He didn't show, either, for a trial earlier this year in which a jury found him liable for sexually assaulting the writer E Jean Carroll in a department store dressing room. In some ways, though, this new trial comes with higher stakes. James, a Democrat, is seeking $250 million in penalties and a ban on doing business in New York.

Engoron's ruling of last week, if upheld on appeal, would also shift control of some of his companies to a court-appointed receiver and could force him to give up prized New York properties such as Trump Tower, a Wall Street office building, golf courses and a suburban estate. Trump called it a "corporate death penalty". In a post Sunday night on his Truth Social platform, Trump wrote that Engoron is "unfair, unhinged, and vicious in his PURSUIT of me."

Engoron will decide on six remaining claims in James' lawsuit, including allegations of conspiracy, falsifying business records and insurance fraud.

James' lawsuit accused Trump and his company of a long list of falsehoods in the financial statements he gave to banks. In a recent court filing, James' office alleged Trump exaggerated his wealth by as

Smoky haze on Indonesia's island prompting calls for work from home

AP ■ PALEMBANG (INDONESIA)

More than 300 forest and peatland fires on Indonesia's Sumatra island caused hazy skies across the region on Monday, prompting government officials to ask people to work from home. The military, police and local government were working together to extinguish the fires, which were burning in 316 places across South Sumatra province, but their work was complicated by the extreme dry weather, said Iriansyah, the head of the South Sumatra Disaster Management Agency.

The smoky haze drifted from the fires toward Palembang, the capital of South Sumatra province, causing unhealthy air conditions for the area's 1.7 million people. "There is a high potential for people to suffer from respiratory tract infections, coughing, shortness of breath and eye irritation," said

Iriansyah, who like many Indonesians uses only one name. The government in South Sumatra last week called on schools to delay their opening time, as the haze tends to decrease during the day. But on Monday, the schools asked students to attend classes online, as the air quality had worsened and was categorised as "dangerous". "We are worried as the haze is getting worse in Palembang... Many children are sick and we can only pray that this disaster will pass quickly," Umi Kalsum, a private sector worker and mother, told The Associated Press on Monday.

Forest and peat fires are an annual problem in Indonesia that strains relations with neighboring countries. Smoke from the fires has blanketed parts of Indonesia, Singapore, Malaysia and southern Thailand. Some parts of Malaysia said they experienced smoke from the Indonesian fires since last week. Malaysia's Environment Department chief Wan Abdul Latiff Wan Jaffar last week said the return of smog in some parts of the country was due to hundreds of forest fires in Indonesia. "Overall, air quality in the country has deteriorated," he said in a statement. "Forest fires that occur in the southern part of Sumatra and the central and southern parts of Kalimantan, Indonesia have caused haze to cross borders."

But Siti Nurbaya Bakar, Indonesia's Environment and Forestry Minister, said in a statement on Monday there has been no transboundary haze from Indonesia to Malaysia. Satellite data from Indonesia's Meteorology, Climatology and Geophysics Agency shows that the haze in Indonesia was in several areas in Sumatra and Borneo islands. Wind direction in Indonesia is generally from southeast to northwest-northeast.

Work starts on turning Adolf Hitler's birthplace into police station

Braunau am Inn (Austria) : Work started Monday on turning the house in Austria where Adolf Hitler was born in 1889 into a police station, a project meant to make it unattractive as a site of pilgrimage for people who glorify the Nazi dictator.

The decision on the future of the building in Braunau am Inn, a town on Austria's border with Germany, was made in late 2019. Plans call for a police station, the district police headquarters and a security academy branch where police officers will get human rights training.

On Monday, workers put up fencing and started taking measurements for the construction work. The police are expected to occupy the premises in early 2026. A years-long back-and-forth over the ownership of the house preceded the overhaul project. The question was resolved in 2017 when Austria's highest court ruled that the government was within its rights to expropriate the building after its owner refused to sell it. A suggestion it might be demolished was dropped.

The building had been rented by Austria's Interior Ministry since 1972 to prevent its misuse, and was sublet to various charitable organisations. It stood empty after a care centre for adults with disabilities moved out in 2011.

A memorial stone with the inscription "for freedom, democracy and liberty. Never again fascism. Millions of dead remind us" is to remain in place outside the house.

The Austrian government argues that having the police, as the guardians of civil liberties, move in is the best use for the building. AP

'India will help maintaining sites connected to Gandhi in S Africa'

PTI ■ JOHANNESBURG

India will assist in maintaining all sites connected to Mahatma Gandhi in South Africa, the Indian envoy here said on Monday as the world marked the 154th birth anniversary of the global peace icon.

On the occasion of Gandhi Jayanti, High Commissioner Prabhakar Kumar paid floral homage to the bust of Gandhi at the Constitutional Court premises here, which was once a prison where the Mahatma and his followers served sentences during their resistance to discriminatory laws.

Gandhi served four terms of imprisonment between 1908 and 1913 here, including his very first sentence in South Africa.

The bust was unveiled in 2012 by then-President Pratibha Patil when she paid a visit to South Africa. "In all my postings abroad, I have always garlanded the statue of Mahatma Gandhi and now in South Africa, where I am doing so for the first time, it is very special, because Gandhiji was here for 21 years," Kumar said.

After the garlanding, Kumar visited permanent exhibitions at the venue dedicated to the lives of both Gandhi and Nelson Mandela, who served 27 years as a political prisoner of the apartheid government before becoming South Africa's first democratically-elected president in May 1994.

The diplomat said he is also looking forward to attending the installation of a seven-foot statue of Gandhi at Tolstoy Farm, the once-thriving commune established by Gandhi about 30 km south of Johannesburg during his tenure as a lawyer in the city.

CJ, Maha minister mark Gandhi Jayanti in London

London (PTI): The Chief Justice of India, Justice Dhananjaya Yeshwant Chandrachud, and Maharashtra Minister for Cultural Affairs Sudhir Munganitwar were among the special guests at the annual Gandhi Jayanti celebrations in London on Monday. The Indian diaspora gathering at the iconic Gandhi statue at Tavistock Square in London, assembled by the Indian High Commission in London and India League, included floral tributes to the Mahatma and addresses reflective of his message. Students of the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan in London performed a selection of Mahatma Gandhi's favourite bhajans, including 'Raghupati Raghav' and 'Vaishnava Jan', as community leaders and parliamentarians gathered for the sombre ceremony which concluded with a Buddhist prayer. "Today, on his 154th birth anniversary, we remember Mahatma Gandhi for his teachings, wisdom and compassion for humankind," said Justice Chandrachud in his address to the gathering.

"Mahatma Gandhi is a name that is known to everyone in the world. A name which stands for the principle of truth and non-violence. A name which calls for universal peace. A name which inspires hope that we shall make our world a better place than it was before," he said. The Chief Justice described Bapu, as he is lovingly known in India, as a guiding light for all Indians in a spiritual sense.

Remembrance Organisation (MGRO).

With support largely from the Indian government, Tolstoy Farm has now been restored to some extent with a fruit orchard, a Peace Garden with flowers and shrubs, and a library.

Hira arranged for an artisan from India to sculpt the latest statue at his residence here before moving it to Tolstoy Farm. Kumar pledged further support for Tolstoy Farm.

"The support from India will continue...all the places connected with Mahatma Gandhi (in South Africa) will receive attention from the government of India," the envoy said. Standing next to a wall-sized image of the two leaders together, prepared for the exhibition although they had never met, Kumar reflected on the special relationship between Gandhi and the African National Congress (ANC) led by Mandela. "Gandhiji was here and the ANC got a lot of inspiration from Gandhiji and thereafter Nelson Mandela also always admired Gandhi and said a lot about him, so this exhibition is an inspiration for all of us, Indians and South Africans," he said.

The exhibitions are very popular among foreign tourists, who visit the site daily.

Nobel in medicine goes to two scientists

Karikó, Drew Weissman's work enabled creation of vaccines against COVID-19

AP ■ STOCKHOLM

Two scientists won the Nobel Prize in medicine on Monday for discoveries that enabled the creation of mRNA vaccines against COVID-19 and that could be used to develop other shots in the future. Hungarian-born American Katalin Karikó and American Drew Weissman were cited for contributing "to the unprecedented rate of vaccine development during one of the greatest threats to human health in modern times," according to the panel that awarded the prize in Stockholm.

The panel said the pair's "groundbreaking findings ... fundamentally changed our understanding of how mRNA interacts with our immune system." Traditionally, making vaccines required growing viruses or pieces of viruses — often in giant vats of cells, or like most flu shots, in chicken eggs — and then purifying them before next steps in brewing shots.

The messenger RNA approach is radically different. It starts with a snippet of genetic code that carries instructions for making proteins. Pick the right virus protein to target, and the body turns into a mini vaccine factory. But simply injecting lab-grown mRNA into the body triggered an inflammatory reaction that usually destroyed it. Karikó, a professor at Szege University in Hungary and an adjunct professor at the University of Pennsylvania, and Weissman, of the University of Pennsylvania, figured out a tiny modification to the building blocks of RNA that made it stealthy enough to slip past those immune defences. Karikó, 68, is the 13th woman to win the Nobel Prize in medicine. She was a senior vice president at BioNTech, which partnered with Pfizer to make one of the COVID-19 vaccines. She and Weissman, 64, who is a professor and director of the Penn Institute for RNA Innovations, met by chance in the 1990s while photocopying research papers, according to Penn Today, the university's news website.

Dr. Paul Hunter, a professor of medicine at Britain's University of East Anglia, described the mRNA vaccines as a "game changer" in helping to shut down the coronavirus pandemic, crediting the shots with saving millions of lives.

"If it hadn't been for the mRNA technology, COVID would have been much worse," he said. "Vaccines generally were the turning point in slowing down COVID and the mRNA vaccines were just so much better than all the others," he said, noting that the main vaccine used in the UK, made by AstraZeneca, is barely in use anymore.

"We would likely only now be coming out of the depths of COVID without the mRNA vaccines," Hunter said.

'Open hearing of Imran bail plea may affect ties with other countries'

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Pakistan's top investigation agency Monday informed a court here that an open hearing of former premier Imran Khan's bail plea in a case related to the alleged disclosure of state secrets could pose a "risk of deteriorating relations" with other countries.

The Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) on Saturday filed a charge sheet in the Special Court established under the Official Secrets Act, declaring Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf chairman Khan and Vice Chairman Shah Mahmood Qureshi "principal accused" in the cipher case. Both Khan and Qureshi are currently detained in jail on judicial remand.

The FIA on Monday informed the Islamabad High Court (IHC) that an open hearing of Khan's bail plea in the cipher case could pose a "risk of deteriorating relations with other countries," Dawn newspaper reported.

The post-arrest bail pleas of Khan and Qureshi were rejected by the special court earlier, following which the former premier approached the IHC seeking the same.

Khan, 70, was arrested in August after the case was filed against him for allegedly violating the Official Secrets Act by disclosing a secret diplomatic cable (cipher) sent by the country's embassy in Washington last year in March.

Qureshi, 67-year-old former foreign minister, was arrested under the Official Secrets Act for violating the secrecy of the official cable sent by the Pakistani embassy in the US to the foreign office when he was the foreign minister.

On September 26, the judicial remand of Khan and Qureshi was extended till October 10 and as per the IHC's orders, the PTI chairman was shifted to Rawalpindi's Adiala jail from the Attock district jail.

Last week, the FIA filed a petition in the IHC seeking in-camera proceedings of Khan's bail plea in the case.

On Monday, IHC Chief Justice Aamer Farooq took up the FIA's plea.

"We also have to present statements regarding other countries before the court. By bringing such statements before an open court, there is a risk of deteriorating relations with other countries," prosecutor Shah Khawar said during the hearing.

Additional Attorney General (AAG) Munawar Iqbal Dogal also presented the code of conduct for diplomatic state documents before the IHC.

Khan's lawyer Salman Safdar pointed out that the FIA's request, which was meant to prevent matters from being made public, contradicted its stance that the PTI chief had already "made the cipher public".

Subsequently, the IHC reserved its verdict on the FIA's plea seeking in-camera proceedings of Khan's bail plea.

Separately, a two-member bench of the IHC on Monday accepted a set of petitions filed by Khan's party against trial courts' decisions to dismiss his bail in nine cases.

Last month, local courts of Islamabad had rejected nine petitions of the PTI chief seeking bail in first information reports (FIRs) registered against him over violent protests.

Meanwhile, a special court on Monday summoned Khan and Qureshi on October 4 in the cipher case.

Special court judge Abul Hasnat Zulqarnain issued notices to respondents saying that statements of witnesses are sufficient to summon the accused in the court, Geo News reported. The judge directed the superintendent of Adiala jail to present the PTI leaders before the court on October 4.

Khan and Qureshi have been placed in column 3 in the charge sheet which describes the names and addresses of the accused sent for trial.

The FIA invoked in the charge sheet sections 5 and 9 of the Official Secrets Act which may lead to a death sentence, or two to 14 years' imprisonment if proven.

The cricketer-turned-politician is charged with the violation of the Official Secrets Act in connection with the leakage of a confidential diplomatic cable from Pakistan's embassy in Washington.

In March last year, ahead of the vote of no-confidence that resulted in his ouster, Khan pulled out a piece of paper - allegedly the cipher - from his pocket and waved it at a public rally in Islamabad, claiming it was the evidence of an "international conspiracy" being hatched to topple his government.

However, during the interrogation with the joint investigation team (JIT) in the jail on August 26, Khan denied that the paper he waved at a public gathering last year was the cipher. He also admitted to losing the cipher, saying he couldn't recall where he kept it.

His principal secretary Azam Khan stated before a magistrate and the FIA that the Khan used it for his "political gains" and to avert a vote of no-confidence against him.

Indian mining tycoon, son among six killed in Zim plane crash

Johannesburg (PTI): An Indian billionaire and his son were among the six individuals killed when their private plane crashed near a diamond mine in southwestern Zimbabwe after experiencing a technical fault, according to media reports.

Harpal Randhawa, the owner of RioZim, a diversified mining company producing gold and coal as well as refining nickel and copper, along with his son and four others was killed when the plane crashed in the Zvumahande area of Mashava, iHarare, a news and media website in Zimbabwe, reported.

The Cessna 206 aircraft, owned by RioZim, was en route from Harare to the Murowa diamond mine when the tragic incident occurred on Friday. The single-engine aircraft crashed near the Murowa Diamonds mine, which is partly owned by RioZim. The plane experienced a technical fault, possibly resulting in a mid-air explosion, before plummeting into Peter Farm in the Zvumahande region.

All passengers and crew onboard lost their lives in this accident, the report said.

The Herald, a state-owned daily newspaper, quoted police as saying four of the victims were foreigners and the other two Zimbabweans.

"The Zimbabwe Republic Police reports a plane crash which occurred on September 29 between 7.30 am and 8 am, where six people are confirmed dead," police said.

"The Murowa Diamond Company (RioZim)-owned white and red Zcam aircraft had left Harare for the mine at 6 am and crashed about 6km from Mashava."

RioZim confirmed the crash and said it was working with relevant authorities to gather more information.

Names of the deceased are yet to be released by police but journalist and filmmaker Hopewell Chinono, who was a friend of Randhawa, confirmed his death. "I am deeply saddened by the passing of Harpal Randhawa, the owner of RioZim who died today in a plane crash in Zvishavane. Five other people including his son, who was also a pilot but a passenger on this flight, also died in the crash," wrote Chinono on X.

"My thoughts are with his wife, family, friends and the RioZim community."

Turkiye strikes suspected Kurdish militant targets in northern Iraq

AP ■ ANKARA

The Turkish defence ministry says its warplanes have carried out raids on suspected Kurdish rebel targets in northern Iraq on Sunday following a suicide attack on a government building in the Turkish capital.

A ministry statement said some 20 targets of the Kurdistan Workers' Party (PKK) were "destroyed" in the aerial operation, including caves, shelters, and depots.

Earlier, a suicide bomber detonated an explosive device near an entrance of the Ministry of Interior Affairs, injuring two police officers. A second assailant was killed in a shootout with police on Sunday, the interior minister said. A news agency close to the PKK said the group has claimed responsibility for the suicide bombing.

The attack happened hours before Turkey's Parliament was set to reopen after its three-month summer recess with an address by President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

Two police officers were slightly wounded in the bombing near an entrance to the Ministry of Interior Affairs, Minister Ali Yerlikaya said on X. Assailants who arrived at the scene inside a light commercial vehicle carried out the attack, he said.

Turkiye has launched sev-

"Our heroic police officers, through their intuition, resisted the terrorists as soon as they got out of the vehicle," Yerlikaya later told reporters. "One of them blew himself up, while the other one was shot in the head before he had a chance to blow himself up."

"Our fight against terrorism, their collaborators, the (drug) dealers, gangs, and organised crime organisations will continue with determination," he said.

The interior minister did not say who was behind the attack. However, ANF News, a news agency close to the banned Kurdistan Workers' Party, or PKK, reported on Sunday night that the group had claimed responsibility for the blast.

Leftist extremists and the Islamic State group have also carried out deadly attacks throughout Turkey in the past.

Erdogan gave his speech in Parliament as planned and called the attack "the last stand of terrorism." "The scoundrels who targeted the peace and security of the citizens could not achieve their goals and they never will," he said.

The president reiterated his government's aim to create a 30-km safe zone along Turkey's border with Syria to secure its southern border from attacks.

Turkiye has launched several incursions into northern Syria since 2016 to drive away the Islamic State group and a Kurdish militia group, known by the initials YPG, and controls swaths of territory in the area.

Turkiye views the YPG as an extension of the PKK, which is listed as a terror group by Turkey, the United States, and the European Union. The PKK has waged an insurgency against Turkey since 1984. Tens of thousands of people have died in the conflict.

Last year, a bomb blast in a bustling pedestrian street in Istanbul left six people dead, including two children. More than 80 others were wounded. Turkiye blamed the attack on the PKK and the YPG.

The State-run Anadolu Agency reported that the two attackers on Sunday had seized the vehicle in the central province of Kayseri from a veterinarian. The pro-government daily Sabah reported that they shot the man in the head and threw his body into a ditch by the side of the road. They then drove the vehicle to Ankara, roughly 300 km away.

Security camera footage on Sunday showed the vehicle stopping in front of the ministry, with a man exiting it and rushing toward the entrance of the building before blowing himself up. A second man is seen following him.

Pak court gives police one week to recover Imran's key ally Sheikh Rashid

Islamabad (PTI): A Pakistani court on Monday ordered the police to recover within a week Awami Muslim League chief and former interior minister Sheikh Rashid, a key ally of former premier Imran Khan, after his lawyer claimed that the politician had been arrested.

Rashid, 72, was detained by "plain clothes men" from his residence in Bahria Town of Rawalpindi on September 17 and shifted to an undisclosed location, his lawyer Sardar Abdul Raziq Khan had said.

Rashid's nephew Sheikh Shakir and houseworker Sheikh Imran had also been arrested and taken to an "undisclosed location", according to the lawyer.

Later, police submitted City Police Officer (CPO) Khalid Hamdani's report to the court, which stated that Rashid was neither in their custody nor was he arrested by the Rawalpindi police. Last week, Rashid's lawyer told the court that his client was arrested by the Rawalpindi police. However, police denied having the politician in their custody.

The court then directed the police to locate Rashid's whereabouts and asked the law enforcement agency to make an all-out effort for his recovery.

On Monday, Justice Sadaqat Ali Khan of the Lahore High Court's (LHC) Rawalpindi bench resumed the proceedings over the plea against the former interior minister's arrest. The court ordered the police to recover the AML chief within a week and present him before the court, Dawn newspaper reported.

Pakistan launches anti-polio vaccine drive targeting 44M children amid tight security

Islamabad (AP): Pakistan launched its second nationwide anti-polio campaign of the year Monday in an effort to inoculate 44 million children under the age of 5 amid signs the country was close to eradicating the disease.

Caretaker Prime Minister Anwarul Haq Kakar launched the five-day vaccination campaign in the capital, Islamabad, and urged parents in a televised address to cooperate with the 350,000 health workers who are going door-to-door to administer vaccine drops to children.

The campaign was taking place under heavy security. The government deployed police and security forces to ensure the safety of the inoculation drive workers.

Vaccine providers and the police assigned to protect them have been attacked during past anti-polio campaigns, which militants falsely claimed were a Western conspiracy to sterilise children. Pakistan has registered two new polio cases since January, a blow to the goal of eradicating a disease that affects the nervous system and can cause severe paralysis in children.

Pakistan and neighbouring Afghanistan are the only two countries in the world where polio continues to threaten the health and well-being of children.

Pakistan came close to eradicating polio in 2021, when only one case was reported, and last year reported about two dozen cases.

'Private sector desperate to take migrants despite negative narrative'

AP ■ GENEVA

The new head of the UN's migration agency said on Monday that the private sector is "desperate" for their countries to take in migrants to mop up labour shortages, especially in the West — endeavouring to steer a narrative away from reticence and suspicion about migrants in many parts of the world.

Amy Pope, the first woman to head the International Organisation for Migration, sought to play up the economic benefits of migration for rich nations with aging populations and declining workforces — in the face of "build-the-wall" rhetoric in the United States to block migrants from Latin America and right-wing movements in Europe that want to keep foreigners out.

"We hear from ... the private sector globally, but especially in Europe and in North America, that they are desperate for migration in order to meet their own labour market needs and in order to continue to fuel innovation within their own companies," Pope, who is American, told reporters.

She said the evidence was "fairly overwhelming" that migration benefits economies by filling jobs, powering innovation or "fuelling the renovation or revitalisation of aging communities."

"Migration, on the whole, is a benefit. That's not to say that the rhetoric around migration reflects the fact that it is a tremendous benefit."

Governments who open up to migration often do so at their political peril: The Biden administration — which strongly supported Pope's candidacy — recently gave work permits to nearly 500,000 Venezuelans, whose home country has been in economic and political turmoil in recent years to help get them to work, pay taxes and stop being a burden on public finances.

New head of UN's migration agency Amy Pope

But critics insist such policies are likely to encourage migrants to flock to the United States, and say they take manual and blue-collar jobs and put downward pressure on wages.

Pope insisted that countries must ensure legal and proper "pathways" to migration, a longstanding call by UN institutions.

"The difference today is that 30 of the biggest economies have experienced very significant labour shortages — and we are seeing it everywhere," she said, adding that agriculture, construction, health care and hospitality were among the sectors affected.

Pope said her first trip abroad in the job will be to East Africa, where drought and the impacts of climate change have driven many to flee.

She said 80 per cent of African migrants stay in Africa, and said her job was "not to focus just on south-to-north migration, which I know occupies a lot of the political space and a lot of the print space."

She pointed to shrinking humanitarian aid budgets, the need to draw in the private sector into the "conversation" to support migration, and signs that migration is set to continue to grow.

"Whether it's climate change, whether it's conflict, whether it's the inability to find a job or a future at home, or violence within neighbourhoods or communities, more and more people are looking to find a better life somewhere else in the world," she said of a message gleaned from her talks last week with migration experts in Asia.

Pope officially took over Sunday from Antonio Vitorino of Portugal, her former boss, whom she outlasted in a US-vs.-European Union showdown earlier this year. The Geneva-based agency has only had two non-American directors-general since its founding in 1951, and today it brings together 175 member countries and more than 20,000 staff.

European diplomats meet in Kyiv to support Ukraine

AP ■ KYIV

Some of Europe's top diplomats gathered Monday in Kyiv in a display of support for Ukraine's fight against Russia's invasion as signs emerge of political strain in Europe and the United States over the 19-month-old war.

European Union foreign ministers converged on the Ukrainian capital for an unannounced informal meeting that officials said would review the bloc's support for Ukraine and discuss Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy's proposed peace formula. EU foreign policy chief Josep Borrell said the foreign ministers' first joint meeting outside EU borders signalled that the 27-nation bloc's support is "unwavering," and underscored the EU's commitment to Ukraine.

The United States, the EU and the United Kingdom have provided massive military and financial support to Ukraine, enabling it to stand up to the Kremlin's attack. The assistance is crucial for Ukraine's weakened economy and has so far been open-ended.

But uncertainty has set in over how long Kyiv's allies will keep sending it aid worth billions of dollars (euros).

US President Joe Biden on Sunday reassured allies of continued US financial support for the war effort, after Congress averted a government shutdown by adopting a short-term funding package that dropped assistance for Ukraine in its battle against Russia.

Many US lawmakers acknowledge that winning approval for Ukraine assistance in Congress is growing more difficult as the war grinds on. Ukrainian Foreign Minister Dmytro Kuleba told reporters that Ukraine held discussions with representatives of both parties in the US Congress to ensure more help will arrive. "The decision was taken as it was, but we are now working with both sides of the Congress to make sure that it does not repeat again under any circumstances," Kuleba said. "The question is whether what happens in the US Congress last weekend is an incident or a system. I think it was an incident," he added.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said Monday he didn't doubt that Washington "will continue to be directly involved in the conflict."

At the same time, Russian President Vladimir Putin is waging that international support for Kyiv will sooner or later begin to flag, and Peskov said the fatigue will eventually bring "fragmentation" of Ukraine's foreign assistance.

The largely symbolic EU meeting in Kyiv took place after the weekend election victory in EU member Slovakia of Robert Fico, whose pro-Russian agenda has increased the question marks about the EU's continued support for Kyiv.

The small eastern European country could bring more tension to the EU's discussions on Ukraine, as has happened with Hungary's at-times cool attitude toward Kyiv.

Budapest has maintained close relations with Moscow and argued against supplying arms to Ukraine or providing it with economic assistance. Slovakia operates a key rail line used to transport western military hardware to Ukraine.

Peskov, the Kremlin spokesman, didn't comment directly on what Moscow expects from the new Slovak government, saying that a governing coalition is yet to be formed there. The foreign ministers of Hungary and Poland were not at the Kyiv gathering. However, it is not unusual for diplomats to skip such informal meetings.

Four of the 27 countries sent high-ranking officials instead of their diplomacy chiefs, EU officials said.

Even so, French Foreign Minister Catherine Colonna described the gathering as "an exceptional diplomatic gesture" that "shows Ukraine is part of our European family."

Danish Foreign Minister Lars Løkke Rasmussen said Europe must be ready to provide further help "for many good reasons."

"First of all, in order to support Ukraine, but also to send a strong trans-Atlantic signal that what's going on on our own soil is something we have to take on a great responsibility for," Løkke Rasmussen said.

China's next lunar mission to carry payload from Pakistan

PTI ■ BEIJING

China's next lunar mission scheduled for 2024 will also carry a payload from Pakistan, the country's space agency has said, as the two all-weather friends step up their cooperation in the space sector.

The Change-6 lunar mission is currently undergoing research and development work as planned, state-run news agency Xinhua reported on Friday quoting China National Space Administration (CNSA). The Change-6 mission, with the launch scheduled for around 2024, is tasked with bringing back samples from the far side of the moon. To date, all 10 lunar sampling missions conducted by humans have taken place on the near side of the moon, The Global Times newspaper reported.

The far side is generally older and contains the Aitken Basin, one of the three major lunar landforms, making it of significant scientific value, the report said, quoting CNSA.

The Change-6 mission aims at landing the South Pole-Aitken Basin on the far side to explore and collect lunar samples from different regions and ages.

To promote international cooperation, the Change-6 mission will carry payloads and satellite projects from different countries and regions - France's DORN radon detection instrument, the European Space Agency's negative ion detector, Italy's laser retroreflector, and Pakistan's CubeSat, the CNSA said.

A CubeSat is a miniaturised satellite from Pakistan. Earlier this year, Pakistan also sent seeds to the Chinese space station, Tiangong, for research into environmentally tolerant seeds. Similarly, Pakistan is exploring the possibility of a formal agreement to join both the Tiangong space station, as well as the more ambitious China-led base on the lunar South Pole, the Dawn newspaper reported last month.

Work starts on turning Adolf Hitler's birthplace in Austria into police station

Braunau am Inn (Austria): Work started Monday on turning the house in Austria where Adolf Hitler was born in 1889 into a police station, a project meant to make it unattractive as a site of pilgrimage for people who glorify the Nazi dictator. The decision on the future of the building in Braunau am Inn, a town on Austria's border with Germany, was made in late 2019. Plans call for a police station, the district police headquarters and a security academy branch where police officers will get human rights training. On Monday, workers put up fencing and started taking measurements for the construction work. The police are expected to occupy the premises in early 2026.

A years-long back-and-forth over the ownership of the house preceded the overhaul project. The question was resolved in 2017 when Austria's highest court ruled that the government was within its rights to expropriate the building after its owner refused to sell it. A suggestion it might be demolished was dropped.

The building had been rented by Austria's Interior Ministry since 1972 to prevent its misuse, and was sublet to various charitable organisations. It stood empty after a care centre for adults with disabilities moved out in 2011. AP

An aerial acrobatics team, the Canadian Snowbirds, performs during the Pacific Airshow at Huntington Beach, California, on Sunday AP/PTI

India to clock 6.5% GROWTH in FY24: Rajiv Kumar

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
The Indian economy will grow at around 6.5 per cent in the current fiscal as the country's macroeconomic situation is benefiting from the reforms that have been taken up in the last nine years by the Narendra Modi-led government, former NITI Aayog Vice Chairman Rajiv Kumar said on Monday.

India's GDP growth in FY 2023-24 is 6.5 per cent. "And I think we can easily maintain this (growth) over the next few years," he told PTI in an interview.

India's GDP growth in 2022-23 was 7.2 per cent, lower than 9.1 per cent in 2021-22.

According to Reserve Bank of India's projections, India's GDP is likely to grow at 6.5 per cent in the current fiscal year.

Kumar further said, "Macroeconomic situation India is benefiting from the reforms that have been implemented in the last nine years. Therefore, both the external macroeconomic balance as well as the domestic ones are in good shape." He said that India's current account deficit is manageable, the country's foreign exchange reserves are sufficient to cover about 11 months of imports and the foreign direct investment flows are continuing.

On the domestic side, Kumar said inflation is beginning to come down to the target levels and the government tax revenues have shown a good 16 per cent increase over last year. "So, this will take care of the fiscal situation and lead to fiscal consolidation. As a result of this improvement, the rating agencies have improved their ratings and JP Morgan has included India in its international bond indices," he said.

According to Kumar, the only weakness that he sees is that the private corporate investment is not yet responding in the manner that "we would expect, but that also is beginning to improve as demonstrated by the increase in bank credit growth over the last six months".

Expressing concern over decline of India's exports between April and August by about 11 per cent compared to the same period last year, he said,

"This reflects our age old situation which is that India's export performance is strongly correlated with the global trade performance."

Kumar pointed out that as the global trade has weakened, India's exports performance has also weakened given the weak demand in Europe, the US and other developed economies.

"We have to change this. We must do whatever we can to ensure that our exports have a greater share of world markets," he said.

On some US-based economists' claim that India is over-stating economic growth, Kumar said that the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI) must take a firm position and give enough reasons as to why they are using the wholesale price index (WPI) deflator and not the Consumer Price Index (CPI) as GDP deflator.

"And that needs to be firmly established once and for all," Kumar emphasised.

Meanwhile, India's real GDP growth was 7.8 per cent on a year-on-year basis in Q1 FY24, as per the Income or Production Approach.

Recently, former chief economic advisor Arvind Subramanian, in an article, argued that India's GDP is not measured from the expenditure side and measured only from the income side. This tends to over estimate GDP growth.

Last month, chief economic advisor V Anantha Nageswaran rejected criticism of "statistical discrepancy" in the first quarter GDP data, saying when the same statistical authority reported the severest contraction in the first quarter of 2020, the naysayers had called it credible as it suited their narrative.

The article by Nageswaran was written in light of debates over India's economic performance and economist Ashoka Mody, a Princeton University professor, raising concerns regarding the country's GDP growth rate for the first quarter of the financial year 2023-24.

Lava eyes 10% smartphone market share in 2 years with investment of ₹600 crore in R&D, marketing

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Home-grown mobile devices maker Lava International expects to capture 10 per cent market share in under Rs 30,000-priced smartphone segment on account of up to Rs 600 crore investment in product development and marketing in the next two years, a senior company official said.

Lava International President Sunil Raina told PTI that at a time when several Indian mobile phone companies succumbed to the pressure of aggressive pricing of foreign players around 2016-17 coupled with challenges posed by demonetisation and GST implementation, Lava focussed on its core strength and re-worked on the growth strategy.

The company relaunched its smartphone business with a small pause with focus on customer experience around devices and providing repair service at home, Raina said.

He said that the company has realised that technology has to be competitive for growth along with visibility.

"With branding and product development, we will invest Rs 500-600 crore in the next two years with a large part of it will go in product development," Raina said.

He said that the company has decided not to load smartphones with bloatware — which are pre-loaded apps on mobile phones.

"We have decided we will not put out any bloatware in the phone. We have taken some hit on what could have been earned from bloatware only because we don't want to compromise on consumer experience. I also believe that bloatware is going to be short-lived because consumers don't like it and what consumers don't like doesn't last long," Raina said.

He said that consumers are very unhappy about bloatware because they get irritated with unwanted advertisements, unwanted notifications and bloatware makes devices slow and very vulnerable to security issues.

Raina said most of the brands are not providing software updates on the devices that patch security loopholes and improve performances of the devices.

"In the last 2-3 years, we have not missed any single update," he said.

Raina said that the company has over 800 service centres but still decided to come up with "service at home" where the company sends engineers to the home of consumers for repair.

"In Agni 2, we have gone a step ahead and started giving replacement at home if their is any hardware fault," he said.

While the India smartphone market has recorded continuous decline in shipment since April 2022, Raina said that with new strategy Lava's smartphone business grew over 200 per cent last year and this year it is growing at the rate of 300 per cent.

"We expect to grow by 100 per cent on average in the next 2-3 years. Our plan is to get 10 per cent market share in sub-Rs 30,000 price range smartphones. Right now we have around 2 per cent share," he said.

Lava president said that the company will leverage its retail channel strength as well as boost online growth to meet the target.

The company at present sells products through 1.2 lakh retail stores which largely include feature phones only.

Lava claims to have 25 per cent share in the feature phone segment.

"We will fully leverage our offline strength. As of now we sell our product through 1.2 lakh retailers. Smartphones are not present in the entire 100 per cent of that universe. We will look at taking smartphones to most of the outlets and strong presence across all geographies in the country," Raina said.

Lava also plans to strengthen online business to meet its target. "Online earlier used to account for 10 per cent of our total sales. Now online contributes 25 per cent of our total which we will grow further," Raina said.

Remarkable 5G adoption drives India's global speed ranking 72 places higher, says Ookla

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
The mobile download speeds in India have seen significant boost with launch of 5G services, and the country has climbed 72 places higher to clinch 47th spot in Speedtest Global Index, according to Ookla.

This puts India not only ahead of its neighbours like Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, and Pakistan, but also some G20 countries, such as Mexico (90th), Turkey (68th), the UK (62nd), Japan (58th), Brazil (50th place), and South Africa (48th place).

India's speed performance has seen a 3.59 times increase since the introduction of 5G, with median download speeds improving to 50.21 Mbps in August 2023, from 13.87 Mbps in September 2022.

"This improvement has led to India's rise in the Speedtest Global Index, moving up 72 places, from 119th place to the 47th position," it said.

The 5G deployments have led to an improved overall user experience across all telecom circles with operators investing in backhaul infrastructure.

The launch of 5G technology by operators like Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel has led to a substantial increase in 5G subscribers, and operators still have ambitious roll-out plans, with the deployment of a significant number of 5G base stations across the country.

In fact, 5G has not only brought faster speeds but also higher customer satisfaction, as indicated by the Net Promoter Score (NPS), which shows that 5G users in India consistently rate their network operators more positively compared to 4G users.

Sebi extends deadline to confirm or deny market rumours

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Capital markets regulator Sebi has extended the deadline for mandatory confirmation or denial of market rumours by listed companies.

The deadline has been extended for the top 100 listed companies by market capitalisation to February 1, 2024, from October 1 this year at present, according to the latest circular by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi).

Similarly, for the top 250 listed entities, the rule will kick in on August 1, 2024, from the current requirement of April 1, 2024.

The rule is aimed at strengthening the corporate governance of listed entities.

"It has been decided to extend the effective date of implementation of...The LODR (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) rules for top 100 listed companies by market capitalisation to February 1, 2024, and for top 250 listed companies by market capitalisation to August 1, 2024," Sebi said.

Earlier in June, Sebi notified rules asking these listed companies by market capitalisation to confirm, deny, or clarify any market rumour reported in the mainstream media.

As per the disclosure requirements, these companies will have to "confirm, deny or clarify any reported event or information in the mainstream media, which is not general in nature and which indicates that rumours of an impending specific material event" are circulating amongst the investing public within 24 hours from the reporting of the information.

WhatsApp bans 74 lakh accounts in August

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Meta-owned WhatsApp banned 74 lakh accounts in August, keeping in line with IT rules, according to the latest India monthly report by the messaging platform.

Of these, 35 lakh accounts were proactively banned, before any reports from users.

The 'user-safety report' contains details of user complaints received and the corresponding action taken by WhatsApp, as well as WhatsApp's own preventive actions to combat abuse on the platform. "Between August 1 and August 31, a total of 7,420,748 WhatsApp accounts were banned. 3,506,905 of these accounts were proactively banned, before any reports from users," it said.

An Indian account is identified via a +91 phone number.

Google with HP partnership start producing Chromebooks in India

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Google in partnership with HP has started manufacturing Chromebooks in India, the PC maker said on Monday.

The Chromebook devices are being manufactured at the Flex Facility near Chennai, where HP has been producing a range of laptops and desktops since August 2020.

"We're partnering with HP to manufacture Chromebooks in India - These are the first Chromebooks to be made in India and will make it easier for Indian students to have access to affordable and secure computing," Google CEO Sundar Pichai on Monday said in a post on X.

An HP spokesperson confirmed that the production of Chromebooks has started in India.

New Chromebooks are available online from a price range starting at Rs 15,990 apiece.

HP is one of the applicants under the government's Rs 17,000 crore production-linked incentive scheme for IT hardware.

Chromebooks come at a lower price compared to notebooks with proprietary operating system.

A joint statement of Google and HP said Chromebooks are leading devices in K-12 education, helping over 50 million students and teachers across the world.

The local production of Chromebooks expands HP's India-made PC portfolio.

HP has been expanding its manufacturing operations in India since 2020, and from December 2021, started manufacturing a wide range of laptops in India, including HP EliteBooks, HP ProBooks, and HP G8 series notebooks.

It has also expanded its portfolio of locally manufactured commercial desktops by adding various models of desktop mini towers (MT), mini desktops (DM), small form factor (SFF) desktops, and a range of All-in-One PCs.

Power consumption grows 10.7% to 140.49 billion units in September

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
The country's power consumption grew 10.7 per cent to 140.49 billion units in September mainly due to increased use of cooling appliances amid unusually humid weather conditions.

In the year-ago period, power consumption stood at 126.91 Billion Units (BU), higher than 112.43 billion units in September 2021, according to government data.

The peak power demand met — the highest supply in a day — rose to 239.97 GW in September. The peak power supply stood at 199.50 GW in September 2022 and 180.73 GW in September 2021.

The power ministry had estimated the country's electricity demand to touch 229 GW during summer. The demand did not reach the projected level in April-July due to unseasonal rain.

The peak supply, however, touched a new high of 224.1 GW in June and before dropping to 209.03 GW in July. Peak demand touched 238.19 GW in August.

Spokesperson of the Tata Power Delhi Distribution Ltd, which supplies electricity to 70 lakh people in Delhi, told PTI that the demand has remained higher mainly due to unusually higher temperature levels this year.

The spokesperson said in the coming months, demand is expected to remain on the higher side due to festivities.

In September, the Tata Power Delhi Distribution's power consumption was estimated at 1,110 MUs (million units), compared to 1,035 MUs in a year ago.

Shriram General to diversify: Official

PTI ■ CHENNAI
Shriram General Insurance has planned to diversify its product portfolio by focusing more on the non-motor segments like marine, fire, during the current financial year, a top official said.

Motor insurance has been the core of the business for the Jaipur-based firm accounting to about 92 per cent, company Chief Underwriting Officer Shashi Kant Dahuja said.

As part of the diversification plan, the company would launch new insurance products under the fire, marine, engineering segments, he said.

"The idea is to double our non-motor business to around 15 per cent in two to three years from the current 7-8 per cent," Dahuja told PTI in an interaction.

The non-motor business was growing at 70 per cent, he said.

To strengthen its presence in the non-motor business, he said the company would launch products in cyber insurance, pay as you drive, theft and pet insurance, soon.

"As a business strategy we don't want to be excessively dependent on one vertical and we also want to diversify our products slowly and increase our non-motor portfolio to 15 per cent over the next 2-3 years," he said responding to a query.

For the quarter ended June 30, 2023, Shriram General Insurance reported a profit of Rs 98 crore, up by 37 per cent over the corresponding quarter of last year.

The Gross Written Premium during the quarter under review was at Rs 560 crore, up by 39 per cent from Rs 401 crore registered in the same period of last year.

On the overall business growth targeted, he said the company has set a plan of growing 30 per cent during the current financial year.

"This year, we will grow the overall business by 30 per cent. The general insurance industry grew by 12 per cent between April and August this year, but our growth has been strong and we hope the momentum continues for the remaining months," he said.

On the surge in electric vehicles in the domestic market, he said the sales of EV insurance policies were growing faster and the company issued policies worth Rs 82 crore during last financial year.

"EV is a good business for us. Last year, we wrote policies worth Rs 82 crore, while we have achieved that mark in the first six months of the current financial year, we expect Rs 200 crore in this segment, by the end of this fiscal," he said.

Dahuja said the company was also expanding its employee base with plans to add 700 people during the current financial year.

"The growth in business will be driven by aggressive recruitment of employees and agents. We have 3,780 employees now and will recruit another 700 in the current fiscal," he explained.

"Similarly, we have nearly 63,000 agents and that will increase to 1.50 lakh over the next couple of years," he said.

On the medical policy segment, he said the company would grow this segment as it was witnessing traction in the market in the 'Benefit-based health insurance' category.

"Shriram General Insurance will also grow its medical policy segment. Insurers offer two types of products - indemnity based and benefit-based policy. The most commonly known health insurance is the indemnity-based health insurance which is popularly known as Mediclaim," he said.

Exporters seek Government intervention for affordable credit to MSMEs, seek ECLGS extension

PTI ■ NEW DELHI
Exporters have sought the central government's intervention in providing affordable and easy availability of credit to MSMEs amid global headwinds due to lack of liquidity.

In a letter to Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, apex exporters' body Federation of Indian Export Organisations (FIEO) requested for the extension of Emergency Credit Linked Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) till March 31, 2024 and restoration of interest subsidy benefit of 5 per cent to manufacturer MSMEs.

It said some of the MSME sectors are affected due to a dip in exports on account of a global demand slowdown.

FIEO has urged extending the ECLGS 'till March 31, 2024' as it will help micro, small and medium enterprises sail through this difficult time and bounce back when the situation improves.

"With interest rates firming up, MSMEs are getting credit at not less than 8-11 per cent. The subvention for the interest equalisation scheme was reduced as interest rates were coming down. However with complete change in situation, there is an urgent need to restore interest equalisation benefit of 5 per cent," it added.

MSMEs account for about 40 per cent in the country's total exports.

India's exports declined 6.86 per cent to USD 34.48 billion in August, for the seventh month in a row, due to a fall in shipments from key sectors like petroleum and gems and jewellery on subdued global demand.

The trade deficit (difference between imports and exports) during the month touched a 10-month high of USD 24.16 billion.

Cumulatively, exports during April-August this fiscal contracted 11.9 per cent to USD 172.95 billion. India's exports contracted 15.88 per cent in July.

Exports sectors, which recorded negative growth in August, include tea, coffee, rice, spices, leather, gems and jewellery, textiles, and petroleum products.

INDIA MAKE QUARTERS IN ALL SIX TEAM EVENTS

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

Indian archers showed tenacity and authority in equal measure to storm into the quarterfinals in all the six team events of the Asian Games here on Monday.

The Indians played five team elimination rounds and dropped just one set on way to their respective quarterfinal matches in both recurve and compound sections.

India have got a bye into the quarters by virtue of topping the qualifications in the women's compound team event.

India remained in contention in all five gold medals up for grabs in compound section with all the four archers — Ojas Deotale, Abhishek Verma, Jyothi Surekha Vennam and Aditi Swami — progressing to their respective individual quarterfinals in the afternoon session.

In the recurve section, Dhiraj Bommadevara and Atanu Das advanced, while India's campaign ended in women's individual section, in the only blip of the day.

First, it was the top-seeded compound mixed team of Ojas Deotale and Jyothi Surekha Vennam, who showed the way as they dropped just one point from 16 arrows to eliminate UAE's Amna Alawadhi and Mohammed Binamro 159-151.

The duo will take on formidable Malaysia (No 8 seed) in the quarters, and thereafter, they should have an easy draw till the final.

CAMPAIGN ENDS IN WOMEN'S INDIVIDUAL RECURVE SECTION

Then, the Indian recurve mixed pair duo of Atanu Das and Ankit Bhakat were at their resilient best and overcome a first-set deficit to defeat Malaysia in a three-setter.

The fifth seeded Indian duo of Das and Ankit rallied to beat the Malaysian team of Syaqiera Binti Mashayikh and Muhamad Zarif Syahir Bin Zolkepli 6-2 (39-38, 37-36, 39-33).

The Malaysia pair enjoyed a 2-0 lead with three 10s including one X in the first set. But, the experienced Indian duo bounced back with two 10s and went on to draw level, as the Malaysians crumbled under pressure.

The Malaysians hit the red-ring (8) once and went on to lose the second by a slender one-point margin.

There was more misery in store for the Malaysians who shot into the red ring thrice (8-8-8), while Das-Ankita drilled in three perfect 10s en route to a six-point win in the third set.

The Indian pair sealed the issue with three more 10s in the fourth set and set up a last-eight clash against the fourth-seeded Indonesians.

Should they overcome the Indonesian challenge, the Indians may run into the top-seeded Koreans in a potential semifinal clash in the Olympic-qualifying event.

There are six quota spots available from the Asian Games — the recurve mixed team winners and two archers ranked high in the individual events.

of Das, Dhiraj and Tushar Shelke beat Hong Kong's Kwok Yin Chai, Law Kwun Pok Lucien and Wn Chun Kit 6-0 (58-47, 57-49, 57-55) in a lopsided contest.

The third-seeded Indians, who face lower-ranked Mongolia (No 11) in the last-eight, have an easy draw till the final, with Korea and Japan in the top half. The unfancied women's recurve team of Ankit Bhakat, Bhajan Kaur and Simranjeet Kaur also shone through, ousting 12th seeded Thailand.

The fifth-seeded Indians won 5-1 (49-47, 54-54, 55-54) and are pitted against fourth-seeded Japan in a tough quarterfinal match-up.

ARCHERS EXCEL IN INDIVIDUAL ELIMINATIONS

Reigning world champion Deotale began with an easy defeat of Ahmad Alshatti (Kuwait) 148-138. He then overcame Chen Chieh-Lun of Chinese Taipei 146-145 in a tough contest.

The fourth seeded Verma defeated Belal Ayman Alawadi of Saudi Arabia 147-139, and then ousted Nguyen Van Day (Vietnam) 146-142 to make the last-eight.

Verma and Deotale are in the opposite halves and will head for a potential final clash, should they win their respective semi-finals.

Jyothi and her protege Aditi, once again, are headed for a possible face-off after falling into their respective quarters without much fuss.

Aditi had beaten Jyothi 145-149 in the semifinal before becoming the world champion at Berlin in August this year.

Jyothi beat Anuradha Wijesinghe Karunaratne of Sri Lanka 145-132, and then accounted for Fatimah Saad Mahmood Almarshadani 146-141.

Aditi prevailed over Imapyung Rai of Nepal 149-137, while she overwhelmed Syahara Khoerunisa of Indonesia 148-146.

In recurve section, Atanu Das beat Bin Mohamad Khairul Anuar of Malaysia 6-4 (27-27, 29-28, 24-28, 26-26, 29-28) in a challenging five-setter.

He then overcame Robert Nam of Tajikistan 7-1 (28-26, 28-28, 26-25, 28-26) to make the last-eight.

Dhiraj Bommadevara had to come through a tie-breaker to make the quarters with a tough 6-5 (27-27, 28-30, 28-27, 28-27, 25-29) (10-8) win over Muhammad Hakim Ahmed Rubel of Bangladesh.

The Army man rallied to beat Lam Dorji of Bhutan 6-2 (27-28, 30-29, 30-26, 28-27).

India's campaign ended in women's individual section. Bhajan made a pre-quarters exit, going down to reigning Olympic champion An San of South Korea 3-7 (28-27, 25-28, 28-28, 27-28, 27-28).

Ankita lost to Rezza Octavia in the second round, enduring a 5-6 (26-27, 28-27, 27-28, 25-25, 26-25) (9-10) defeat in the shoot-off.

AP ■ HANGZHOU (CHINA)

Parul, Priti bag silver and bronze in 3000m steeplechase

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

9:43.32 sec.

Winfred Mutile Yavi of Bahrain won the gold with a Games record timing of 9:18.28 sec.

In August this year at the World Championships held in Budapest, Parul registered a national record in 3000m steeplechase with a time of 9:15.31 sec, and in the process qualified for the 2024 Paris Olympics.

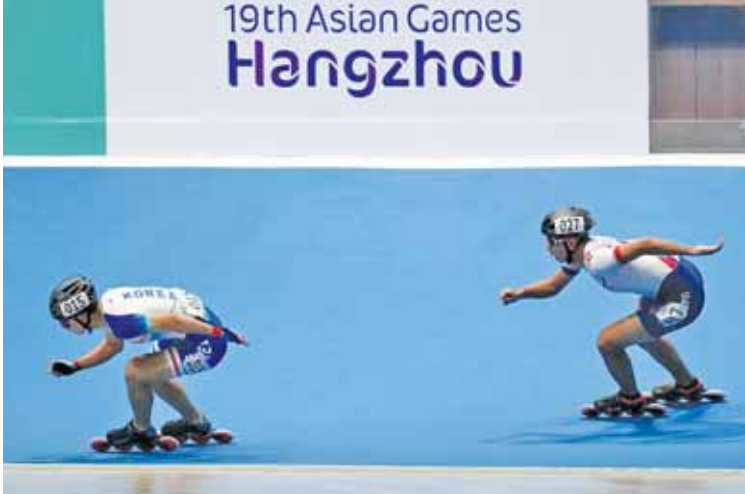

India's Parul Chaudhary and Priti secured silver and bronze medal respectively in the women's 3000m steeplechase at the Asian Games here on Monday.

Parul clocked 9:27.63 sec to claim the silver medal ahead of compatriot Priti, who made a strong finish to clinch the bronze with a personal best time of China is simply relentless in its domination of the Asian Games. At the games five years ago in Jakarta, Indonesia, the country won 132 gold medals and 287 medals overall.

This time, into Day 9 with five full days remaining, China has already broken its mark for gold medals and is very close to matching the overall total from five years ago. With 290 gold medals awarded, China has won almost half-141. Its overall total stood at 255, just short of the 287 mark set in 2018. Host nations typically get a "home field" bounce when hosting the Olympics or a large multi-sport event like the Asian Games.

China relentless in its domination of medals

ROLLER SKATING: Skater Jung Cheolwon crossed the line in Monday's 3,000-meter relay and began to celebrate thinking he'd won the gold medal for South Korea. But he was shocked when the scoreboard showed South Korea had finished second to Taiwan, which clocked 4 minutes, 05.692 seconds. South Korea finished in 4:05.702.

Jung apologised to his teammates for his costly error.

"I made a rather big mistake," the 27-year-old Jung said. "I didn't come at full speed to the finish line. I let my guard down too early. I am very sorry."

KURASH ENDS: Uzbekistan failed to completely dominate the ancient martial art of kurash, which has its roots in the Central Asian country. The sport debuted in the 2018 Asian Games in Indonesia. Uzbekistan won four of the seven gold medals available. But China picked up two gold and Iran added another.

On Monday on the closing day, Liu Yi of China defeated Zahra Bagheri of Iran 3-0 in the women's 87-kilogram division, and Sadeq Azarang of Iran defeated Kim Ming-yo of South Korea 10-0. On Sunday, Yu Dan of China won the women's 70-kilogram final against Donya Aghaei of Iran.

Yu is a former judoka that China has moved into kurash because of its similarities to other martial arts.

"In terms of throws and grips, there are many similarities between wrestling, judo and kurash," Yu said. "It has helped me a lot."

TRIATHLON: Japan completed its sweep of the triathlon gold medals by winning the mixed relay on Monday.

Kenji Nener won the men's gold on Friday and Yuko Takahashi added the women's title on Saturday. Both ran on Monday in the winning team event, which saw China take the silver and Hong Kong the bronze.

"It was tough," Takahashi said. "I was almost dead at the end, but I gave it everything." Many triathletes competed in the world championships in Pontevedra, Spain, on Sept. 22-24 and then rushed to China.

ESPORTS: Esports wrapped up Monday as one of the most talked about events at the Asian Games.

Going into bronze- and gold-medal games, China led the medal table with three gold and four overall. South Korea had two gold and also four overall. Thailand was the only other nation with gold and also had four overall. Taiwan had four overall but failed to win gold.

Malaysia won the bronze on Monday in Dota 2, defeating Kyrgyzstan 2-0.

India bow out in quarterfinals of women's basketball

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

The Indian women's basketball team lost 57-96 against North Korea to bow out in the quarterfinals of the Asian Games here on Monday.

The Indian women cagers were no match for North Korea as they lost all the four quarters 20-26, 6-26, 17-22, 14-22 at the Shaoying Olympic Sports Centre Gymnasium.

The Indians started impressively and gave North Korea a fight in the first quarter but were completely outplayed in the remaining three quarters.

Earlier, India finished second in Group A, beating Indonesia 66-46, Mongolia 68-62 before losing 53-111 against defending champions China.

North Korea will play China in the semifinals on Tuesday.

20 cuts and 26 stitches later, Aarathy rises to win medal

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

Things looked gloomy for Aarathy Kasturi Raj after a nasty fall in May that required 26 stitches to treat more than 20 cuts, including few deep ones on her forehead.

But, with her physician mother by her side, the Indian roller skater recovered in time to win a historic bronze medal at the Asian Games. Her goal achieved, Aarathy, who has completed her MBBS, will rejoin her mother in running the hospital in her town.

Aarathy suffered the injury during training exactly four months before the start of the continental showpiece.

The 29-year-old said it was scary but she took the injury in her stride and recovered quickly after rehabilitation with her physician mother taking care of her.

"I had a scary incident on May 26 this year and I had 26 stitches. There were deep cuts on my forehead," Aarathy told PTI after playing a part in the bronze medal win in the women's 3000m team relay. "I started training on the bike, did rehab."

Daughter of a businessman father C Kasturi Raj and gynaecologist mother Mala Raj in Chennai, Aarathy took to skating at the age of seven and after frequent falls, numerous bruises and bleeding, she is now an Asian Games medallist.

"It's a dream come true moment, I took to this sport at the age of seven and since then, it has been my passion.

"My parents wanted me to play some sport and my mom footsteps, she has completed MBBS from SRM Medical College in Chennai, and has also done Masters in Clinical Embryology. "My mother runs a hospital and I have joined there. I have taken a break for the Asian Games. I will join after I reach home," said Aarathy.

"It is difficult at times to divide time between studies and my sport but I was able to manage it with support from my family and my husband," she said.

Aarathy trains at the Nehru Indoor Stadium in Chennai.

"I trained for two hours in the morning and two hours in the evening. Before the Asian Games, we took special permission to train longer there."

Aarathy married Tamil Nadu cricketer Sandeep Warrier in 2019 and she said he is her "best supporter".

"I am continuing my passion and he has not told me anything to change it after marriage. He is very supportive."

Talking about the bronze medal in Hangzhou, she said, "Skating for 22 years has obviously paid off. I'm very happy about the younger players who have come into the team. They did a good job and kept calm."

"Sadly, roller skating is not an Olympic sport. But winning bronze will definitely open up a lot of opportunities for the players because skating is not on the priority list in India."

Ghosal progresses, Joshna exits from Asian Games

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

Star Indian squash player Joshna Chinappa made a shock exit from the women's singles event but veteran Sourav Ghosal sailed into the quarterfinals of men's singles at the Asian Games here on Monday.

Taking the court first, Chinappa lost 1-3 to lower-ranked Heo Mingyeong of South Korea in the pre-quarters.

The 37-year-old, who received a first-round bye, went down 4-11, 12-10, 9-11, 8-11 in 37 minutes to the South Korean, ranked 158th, in the round of 16. The result is a major upset as Joshna was a medal favourite.

The Chennai player had won a singles bronze in the 2018 edition.

She also has two silver medals and as many bronze in team events at the Asian Games, including the one she picked up in this edition last week.

She has been hit by injuries recently and lack of game time has pushed Joshna to as low as 70 in the world rankings.

The other Indian in the fray, Tanvi Khanna progressed to the quarterfinals with an easy 11-1, 11-3, 11-2 win over Arichaya Chujit of Thailand.

The Indian mixed doubles pair of Anahat Singh and Abhay Singh continued its winning run to enhance its chances of making the quarterfinal.

The duo cruised to a 2-0 (11-5, 11-6) win over Thailand's Anantana Prasertanakul and Arkaradet Arkarahirunya to stay on top in group D.

Indian women's kabaddi team plays out 34-34 draw against Chinese Taipei

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

After seeing today's performance, kabaddi aficionados would have been reminded of the shocking defeat the Indian women's team suffered at the hands of a gritty Iranian side in the gold medal match at the 2018 Jakarta Asian Games.

The Indian women's team did not have an ideal start today but recovered well to finish ahead at the end of the first half.

Defender Hsiu-Chen Feng troubled the Indians, who scripted a late recovery to finish 17-15 after the first half.

For India, Ritu Negi earned the first defensive point through an ankle hold, while Pooja Hathwala took the bonus point in the second half.

India managed to extend their lead by five points at 23-17 before grabbing a 26-20 lead at one stage, but thereafter the Chinese Taipei side came back roaring to level the scores.

Towards the end of the game, Nidhi claimed that she had a touch but the referees did not agree. Pooja then managed a raid point, which took the scoreline to 32-32.

India once again took the lead but the Chinese Taipei side kept coming back and walked off with a drawn result.

Indian skaters surprise with unexpected bronze, match best ever haul in roller sports

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

India's speed skaters dazzled at the Asian Games with two surprise bronze medals in men's and women's 3000m team relay events to match their best-ever performance in roller sports at the continental showpiece here on Monday.

Teenagers Karthika Jagadeeswaran and Heeral Sadhu combined with 29-year-old Aarathy Kasturi Raj to clinch India's first-ever medal in the speeding skating discipline in Asian Games.

Anand Kumar Velkumar,

Siddhant Kamble and Vikram Iggale then followed their women counterparts to grab the third spot with a timing of 4:34.861s in the final at Qiantang Roller Sports Centre.

Roller sports made its debut in the Asian Games in 2010 when Anup Kumar Yama bagged bronze in men's single free skating event before combining with Avani Panchal to finish third in the pairs skating event.

On Monday, the women's quartet finished with a timing of 4:34.861s to bag the third place on the podium behind gold medallists Chinese Taipei (4:19.447) and silver winner South Korea (4:21.146).

"Winning bronze will definitely open up a lot of opportunities for us because we are not on the priority list in India. Sadly, this isn't an Olympic sport," Aarathy, a doctor and wife of Indian cricketer Sandeep Warrier, said after the win.

Incidentally, Chinese Taipei (4:05.692) and South Korea (4:05.702) took the top-two spots in the men's event as well.

The Indian trio had clocked 4:15.126 in the heats and bettered it in the final.

"We were really hoping for a medal today, as we knew we were in the mix. Being with the Chinese Taipei and Republic of Korea guys is a really big thing for us, as they're the best in the world, and we are not at that level yet. We're maybe among the top 15 athletes in the world," Kamble said.

The 24-year-old revealed that his wheel slipped in his second lap which slowed them a bit.

"We were still going to try and fight for silver in the relay, but in my second lap, in one of the corners, my wheel slipped a little bit and a small gap grew between us and the other teams. After that, it was all about recovering."

For most of the Indian skaters it was a maiden Asian Games appearance.

Kohli skips optional practice session due to personal reasons

PTI ■ THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

India's star batter Virat Kohli didn't join the team's optional practice session here due to personal reasons but is expected to link up with the squad before the second warm-up game against The Netherlands here on Tuesday.

Kohli had left for Mumbai from Guwahati for some emergency personal reasons on September 30 and wasn't available for the afternoon training session at the local college ground here.

"It was an optional session. He is expected to join the squad soon and could play the warm-up game if required," a BCCI source privy to developments told PTI on condition of anonymity.

On the day, skipper Rohit Sharma, batter Shreyas Iyer and pacer Mohammed Shami also skipped the session which was attended by the likes of Shubman Gill, Suryakumar Yadav, Jasprit Bumrah and veteran spin duo Ravichandran Ashwin and Ravindra Jadeja. The World Cup warm-up match against the Dutch will be the last chance for India to get some game time before the start of tournament proper against Australia in Chennai on October

8. The Indians had a full-fledged session with Gill, Surya and KL Rahul batting for a considerable amount of time against the likes of Bumrah and Mohammed

Siraj. Ashwin and Jadeja also rolled their arm over for considerable period of time as they both are going to play a massive role in this World Cup on tracks which are expected to offer turn.

SURYA WILL BE IN MY XII, SAYS SHASTRI

The warm-up match could be also a chance for Suryakumar Yadav to press his case for a first XI berth ahead of Shreyas Iyer or Ishan Kishan.

"I will be watching him very closely," Ravi Shastri said on ESPN Cricinfo.

"If your top-order is firing, you will play him or Shreyas Iyer? If all guys get runs, that guy becomes X factor in big game. The damage he can do along with Hardik (Pandya), they can take the game away. In Indian conditions, your top order will rarely struggle. Surya will always be in my XII," Shastri said.

But Shastri believes that one should look at the conditions.

"If the track is flat, then it's Surya and if conditions are tough, then Shreyas," said the former head coach.

"Play him (Surya) before the semi-final not just in the semi-final."

Rachin: From cheering for NZ at bar in 2019 to being part of 2023 World Cup batch

PTI ■ HYDERABAD

Rachin Ravindra found the night of July 14, 2019, one of the longest and hardest to endure as he watched New Zealand's heartbreaking defeat to England in the ODI World Cup final sitting in a Bengaluru pub.

Ravindra, then all of 19 was on an annual trip to India with his father's cricket club and the roller-coaster experience of watching the final is still etched in his memory.

New Zealand losing that final to England on the boundary count-back rule divides opinion to this day. Rachin, whose first name is inspired by the first names of Sachin Tendulkar and Rahul Dravid, remembers that night as it was yesterday.

As a budding cricketer dreaming to represent New Zealand one day, the Indian-origin cricketer was shattered with the outcome of the game and the desire to represent New Zealand grew stronger.

Cut to 2023, he is among the fast rising cricketers in the New Zealand set-up. Primarily a batter, who also takes his left-arm spin very seriously, Rachin has already made a statement with a gutsy 97 as an opener in the World Cup warm-up against Pakistan here last week.

Born to Indian parents in Wellington, Rachin has a strong connect with the cricket mad nation with his family roots in Bengaluru. It was fitting that he made his Test debut in India two years ago and now he is set to make his World Cup debut here.

"Looking back on my Test debut, it was a special and emotional time. Being able to play in India, the fanfare around the game here, to be able to experience that is pretty special.

"My parents came from Bangalore and it is amazing to play a World Cup here," the 23-year-old PTI referring to the Kanpur Test which he was able to draw for his team while batting alongside number 11 Ajaz Patel.

From watching previous World Cup as a fanboy to now being part of the next one, it has been a pretty "cool" journey for Rachin.

"It is actually quite a story. My dad takes a bunch of age group boys to India (annually) and we were in Bangalore on a senior trip. We were watching the final (2019) in a stock exchange bar.

"I watched the whole final. It was unbelievable and such a rollercoaster experience with the high and lows of the game. Having Indian supporters around us was pretty cool. It is an experience I will never forget."

New Zealand is probably the most liked team on the planet but on that night, no pleasantries were exchanged in that bar. A couple of days ago, New Zealand had ended India's run in the semifinals.

"All of us were New Zealanders, so we were massively going for the Black Caps but quite a few Indians were going for England, probably because of the emotional hangover from the semifinal.

"That created a nice little atmosphere there as we all know how the game went," recalled Rachin.

Did he think then that he will be part of the 2023 batch?

"It has been a great ride. You always think one day you might get a chance. Being a 19-year old at that time, few years into professional cricket, you have those dreams to be part of a World Cup. It is pretty cool how it has come to fruition," he said.

Experience of cricket tours to India with my dad will come in hand

Rachin, who opens for Wellington back home but bats in the middle-order for New Zealand, feels the experience of playing age-group cricket around the country will help him in this World Cup as the team travels all around India for its nine league games.

"For sure. Any sort of experience playing in India goes a long way. Grateful for these tours of India in my younger days. Goes a long way in playing spin and how to bowl in these conditions, face different type of seamers on different wickets.

"The conditions over here are so different to what we get back home. I think it will definitely come in handy. Prior to this World Cup, I have played in Hyderabad, Chennai, Bangalore, up North.

"It gives you a bit of sense of belonging and calms you down knowing you have played here," said Rachin, whose father Ravi Krishnamurthy has been his coach since childhood.

Rachin might not get to open in the tournament proper like he did against Pakistan but he has already made a statement. However, he is fully aware of his role in the side.

"Naah (laughs)," he responded when asked about opening the innings regularly. "It was a nice wicket to bat on. To be fair I do open for my domestic side, have always been an opener so nice to get the opportunity for New Zealand. Whatever role I get hopefully I would be able to do it," he added.

South Africa lack good all-rounder at No 7, going into World Cup: Graeme

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

South Africa are lacking depth in their batting in the absence of quality all-rounders, an aspect that could affect the team's chances in the World Cup, reckons former skipper Graeme Smith.

There was a time when South Africa boasted of world class all-rounders like Lance Klusener, Jacques Kallis and even a bowling all-rounder like Shaun Pollock but Temba Bavuma's team doesn't have a quality batter at No. 7.

"Where they fall short is, they don't have a lot of depth in batting like some of the other teams have. Who is going to be that all-rounder for them at No.

7? Marco Jansen or someone else," Smith said during an exclusive interview with PTI.

For South Africa to succeed, left-arm spinner Keshav Maharaj's control and wicket-taking ability will go a long way, in case Bavuma wants to leave an impression as a leader.

"Whether they go with two spinners or not but Keshav Maharaj needs to have an outstanding tournament. Obviously, he has Tabraiz Shamsi on his wings but reliability of Maharaj is key to Temba as a captain," said Smith, who scored nearly 7000 runs in ODIs.

The 42-year-old, who retired in 2014, is also hopeful that Kagiso Rabada will carry a lot on his shoulders in the absence of Anrich Nortje and Sisanda Magala due to injuries. "Rabada, we all know how world class he is and we would like him to have an incredible World Cup tournament. Always carries a lot on his shoulders and you need a couple of key players to play well and then push through knock-out of the tournament and give yourself good chances back-to-back to hold that trophy." Nortje's absence will hurt South Africa on those batting friendly tracks.

"I think Nortje in particular, to win in India in a long tournament, you need players who can contribute. Nortje's pace through the air, wicket-taking ability is certainly going to be missed."

The key to South African campaign will be the top six batters, he said. "If South Africa need to be successful, they would need their 6-7 big players to really have a great World Cup. If you look at top-order you have Quinton, Temba and in that middle-order, really you have really good players of spin, power players like David Miller, Heinrich Klassen and Aiden Markram that's going to be key area for South Africa if they are going to be successful."

Spain's women's team players Putellas, Rodríguez, Paredes appear before judge

AP N MADRID

Two-time Ballon d'Or winner Alexia Putellas and two of her teammates in Spain's women's national team appeared before a judge Monday as witness in the investigation of former soccer federation president Luis Rubiales for his kiss on a player.

Putellas, Irene Paredes and Misa Rodríguez all answered questions from the judge in Madrid. Rodríguez appeared in court in the Spanish capital, while Putellas and Paredes testified through video conference from Barcelona.

Spanish state prosecutors have accused Rubiales of sexual assault and coercion for kissing Jenni Hermoso on the lips without her consent during the awards ceremony after the Women's World Cup final in August.

A couple of federation officials and former national team coach Jorge Vilda, who was replaced not long after winning the World Cup in Australia, have been summoned as investigated parties. They are set to appear before the judge next week. Vilda was among those accused of allegedly trying to convince Hermoso to back Rubiales after the kiss.

Rubiales eventually resigned and the players ended their boycott of the national team after being given some guarantees of change within the federation. Some federation officials have already been fired as a result.

Hermoso is also expected to testify at some point.

According to a sexual consent law passed last year, Rubiales could face a fine or a prison sentence of one to four years if found guilty of sexual assault. The new law eliminated the difference between "sexual harassment" and "sexual assault," sanctioning any unconsented sexual act.

Fenesta Open: Sureshkumar begins title defence with win over Kesharwani

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Reigning men's singles champion Manish Sureshkumar of Tamil Nadu began his title defence at the Fenesta Open National Tennis Championship with a win over Uttar Pradesh's Maan Kesharwani here on Monday.

The No. 4 seed overcame an early challenge from Kesharwani to win 6-4 6-4 and advance to the second round at the DLTA Complex.

Kesharwani's shots from the baseline looked to disrupt the defending champion's rhythm but Sureshkumar was soon back in his groove, playing accurate forehands and backhands to win the match.

The No. 2 seed Karan Singh of Haryana also began the tournament with a comfortable 6-4 6-2 win over Jagmeet Singh.

No. 7 seed Ishaque Eqbal of West Bengal defeated Gujarat's Dhruv Hirpara 6-2 3-6 6-1 to reach the second round. In women's singles, No.4 seed from Maharashtra, Vaishnavi Adkar made a positive start, defeating Sonal Patil 6-3 6-2.

No. 5 seed Sharmada Balu also made a winning return to the Fenesta Open, defeating Telangana's Paavanii Paathak 6-2 4-6 6-1 to advance.

Sureshkumar said after the match that he was looking to defend his title this year.

"Last year was a good experience as I went on to win the tournament and I would like to continue the same. I played my first match today and I was not feeling very sharp but as I play more matches here I will get into the groove, and hopefully, I will be able to repeat what I did last season," said Sureshkumar.

The Under-18 boys' category saw top seed Chandan Shivaraj of Karnataka defeat Tamil Nadu's Kavin Karthik KS 6-1 6-3, while Aditi Rawat of Haryana beat Swasti Singh 6-0 7-5 in Under-18 girl's section to move into the second round.

The Fenesta Open offers a prize pool of over Rs 21.5 lakh along with kit allowance for the junior categories.

Over the years, the tournament has witnessed the participation of players such as Rohan Bopanna, Somdev Devvarman, Yuki Bhambri, Sania Mirza and Rutuja Bhosale.

Liverpool says it will 'explore range of options available' after VAR controversy at Tottenham

AP ■ LIVERPOOL

Liverpool criticised the Professional Game Match Officials Limited and warned it will "explore the range of options available" following the VAR controversy at Tottenham.

PGMOL, the referees' governing body in England, admitted Video Assistant Referee officials Darren England and Dan Cook failed to act after Luis Diaz' 34th-minute strike at Tottenham on Saturday was wrongly disallowed for offside. Still images of the incident showed Tottenham's Cristian Romero playing Diaz inside.

The decision was made when the Premier League match was goalless but after Curtis Jones had been contentiously sent off following Darren England's intervention. Liverpool went on to lose 2-1, ending the game with nine players.

The officials were stood down from duty for the rest of the weekend but Liverpool says it will pursue the matter.

A statement read: "Liverpool Football Club acknowledges PGMOL's admission of their failures last night. It is clear that the correct application of the laws of the game did not occur, resulting in sporting integrity being undermined. We fully accept the pressures that match officials work under but these pressures are supposed to be alleviated, not exacerbated, by the existence and implementation of VAR."

Liverpool said it was "therefore unsatisfactory that sufficient time was not afforded to allow the correct decision to be made and that there was no subsequent intervention."

"That such failings have already been categorized as significant human error" is also unacceptable," the club's statement added. "Any and all outcomes should be established only by the review and with full transparency."

Liverpool said it need to explore its options, "given the clear need for escalation and resolution."

PGMOL had earlier acknowledged that "a significant human error" occurred in the first half of the game and said it would conduct a full review.

Medvedev through to semifinals at China Open, Swiatek wins on debut in Beijing

AP ■ BEIJING

Third-ranked Daniil Medvedev overcame a second-set stumble to beat Frenchman Ugo Humbert 6-4, 3-6, 6-1 and advance to the semifinals of the China Open on Monday.

The Russian struggled to find his usual fluid game in the first two sets but sprung to life in the third set to shake off the 36th-ranked Humbert and progress to his 10th semifinal of the year. "I'm kind of happy that I managed to raise my level in important moments, except a game in the second set," Medvedev said. "It's great that I managed to still find in this tough match these moments of consistency, which is enough to win. That's what you have to do."

The Russian will next face either eighth-seeded Alexander

Zverev or Nicolas Jarry, who play later Monday. Second-ranked, and top-seeded, Carlos Alcaraz plays his quarterfinal match against seventh-seeded Casper Ruud in a night match.

Making her first appearance at the China Open, second-ranked Iga Swiatek advanced to the second round with a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Sara Sorribes Tormo. The Pole fired 27 winners and made 25

unforced errors, breaking serve a total of seven times in the win.

"You have to be patient with her because she's running for every ball," Swiatek said of her No.55-ranked Spanish opponent. "I kind of wanted to just be solid and be intensive but not make too many mistakes with risking."

Swiatek will next face Varvara Gracheva. Seventh-seeded Ons Jabeur, winner of the Ningbo Open last week, beat Ashlyn Krueger 6-3, 6-4 and ninth-seeded Caroline Garcia was a 6-2, 6-4 winner over Kateryna Baindl.

China's Wang Xinyu beat wildcard Vera Zvonareva 6-4, 6-3 and 11th-seeded Daria Kasatkina defeated Mayar Sherif 1-6, 6-4, 7-6 (8).

Third-ranked Coco Gauff plays her first-round match later Monday against No.20-ranked Ekaterina Alexandrova. Jelena Ostapenko, seeded-13th, had a walkover into the round-of-16 after Linda Noskova withdrew due to illness. Ostapenko will face either fourth-seeded Jessica Pegula or Anna Blinkova next.

Also in the second-round, Anhelina Kalinina defeated Daria Saville 6-2, 7-6 (5) and Jasmine Paolini beat Yuan Yue 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.