Rains predicted across State in 3 days

Congress votes are going to BJP now. Rahul Gandhi is trying to stop the erosion of Congress vote bank with the rank and file and is working behind the scenes. The party has created an advertising campaign that has achieved the result, how can we deny it?"

I was a person who had to live by the sentiments of the general voters. If we proactively work with the people, the BJP will not be able to stop us. I am sure we can stop Congress from converting the momentum.

What is your opinion regarding the BJP's strategy?

Yes, the revenue has increased by only 5% in comparison to our demands, but our money is not just lying there. In the next stage, we believe that there will be a BJP and are determined to work with the money to bring back the numbers.

Do you think that in future the stability between BJP and Congress?

It is a fascinating and hot topic indeed and has taken the internet at the ground zero. However, in my opinion, it is a possibility that both parties will find it challenging to form a joint government.

How do you see Rahul Gandhi coming in days?

Rahul Gandhi is a very popular leader and I have been trying to make him understand the decisions that I have made. I believe that he can come back to us in the future.

Expert hands IPI's G20 presidency

I ndian and Russian experts on Monday hailed IPI's G20 presidency as an opportunity to advance India's agenda on global issues, including the possibility of a new global financial architecture.

"India's G20 presidency offers a unique opportunity to address some of the pressing global challenges," said Shubhra Nanda, executive director of the Institute for International Economic Policy (IPI) in New Delhi.

"The Indian government has a clear agenda, which includes issues such as climate change, digital economy, and global health," Nanda said. "India's leadership in the G20 can help advance these issues and promote a more inclusive, equitable globalization.

"Furthermore, India's G20 presidency can provide a platform to address the challenges posed by the current global economic climate, including the impact of the Russia-Ukraine war and the ongoing fallout of the pandemic," she added.

Nanda also noted that India's G20 presidency could help in the fight against climate change, as India has expressed its commitment to the Paris Agreement and the goal of achieving net-zero emissions by 2070.

"India's G20 presidency also provides an opportunity to work towards a more sustainable and resilient global economy," she concluded.

The Indian government has set a goal to achieve net-zero emissions by 2070, as part of its broader commitment to sustainability and environmental protection.

"India's G20 presidency can play a critical role in shaping the global agenda on climate change," Nanda said. "India's leadership in the G20 can help in the transition towards a low-carbon economy and the adoption of clean energy technologies.

"Furthermore, India's G20 presidency can help in the fight against deforestation and the protection of biodiversity, as India has a rich array of biological diversity and is a signatory to several international agreements on conservation and sustainability," she added.

The G20 summit will be held in Bali, Indonesia, from November 15 to 16, and India's G20 presidency will continue until December 31.

A momentous chapter in India’s spiritual history

Swami Vivekananda’s lecture at the World’s Parliament of Religions revolved around the principle of unity, tolerance, and justice

Swami Vivekananda a vanguard 1863-1902

India is a land of performative religious and cultural traditions, with roots deeply interwoven in spirituality, yoga, and meditation. One such ancient science that has been quietly passed down through generations is Swami Vivekananda’s work. Growing up in a vibrant intellectual and cosmopolitan environment, Swami Vivekananda’s philosophy has profound implications for today’s world, offering a unique perspective on personal growth, spiritual transformation, and societal change.

Swami Vivekananda is known as the “ §§§§##" of the Banyan Tree, a lowercase "S" added to the word "Swamiji," which was later dropped. His teachings revolve around the core message of spirituality, tolerance, and the unity of all religions. Swami Vivekananda emphasized the spiritual, mental, and moral development of all people, with a particular focus on social reform and the importance of tolerance and cooperation.

His philosophy is rooted in the belief that true spirituality leads to respect, tolerance, and understanding among people of different religions and cultures. His foundation laid the groundwork for interfaith understanding, promoting a deeper connection with our shared humanity.

In 1893, Vivekananda delivered his famous speech at the Parliament of the World’s Religions. During his speech, he stressed the importance of unity and tolerance, calling for a new era of inter-faith understanding. He stated, "There is no religion without love, and there is no love without charity. When we see love and charity, we see the Godhead." His message highlighted the dogma of hope and tolerance.

With his opening words of “Sisters and Brothers of America,” Vivekananda eloquently articulated the sameness of all religions and the importance of tolerance and acceptance.

"I am proud to belong to a religion which has taught the world both tolerance and universal acceptance. We believe not only in universal toleration, but we accept all religions, great or small, as belonging to a nation which has itself been created by the union of multitudes from all the races and nations of the earth." Swami Vivekananda's message resonates with contemporary global society, emphasizing the universality of spiritual traditions and the importance of embracing diversity.

Vivekananda's ideas have been influential in the development of inter-faith dialogue and the promotion of pluralism. His philosophy continues to inspire individuals and organizations around the world, promoting a values-based approach to leadership and social change.

With his closing words of "We shall have, in the end, a religion not of bands and sects, not of独or differences, but of union and brotherhood.\" Vivekananda left an indelible mark on the world, his message of unity and brotherhood resonating with the modern spirit of global interconnectedness.

Vivekananda paved the way for modern times, with his teachings guiding the development of inter-faith dialogue and the promotion of tolerance and understanding. His legacy continues to inspire individuals and organizations around the world, offering a profound message of hope and unity for humanity's future.

Kim Jong Un on way to meet Putin

Ukraine

Russia's Central Election Commission said on Monday that the country is voting on whether to invite President Vladimir Putin to attend the inauguration ceremony for Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky.

The vote will be held at the same time as an attempt to lighten up the country's election campaign, which has been delayed for several months due to Russia's military invasion. The vote is open to all Ukrainians, except those living in Russian-occupied territories.

The vote will take place on the last day of the month in which it was announced, and the results will be announced on the same day.

Military experts have noted that the vote could increase tensions with Russia, which has already invaded Ukraine and annexed its Crimean Peninsula.
