NEW INDIA'S TRYST WITH DESTINY

Old paves way for the new Parliament House

RAHUL DATTA/ DEEPAK KUMAR JHA/DEEPAK K UPRETI/ NEW DELHI

Reminiscing the "extraordinary journey" of the country's democracy in "Sansad", which would pass into a relic of the past in another 24 hours, the members in the both Houses of Parliament — the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha — led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday spoke on the milestones in the last 75 years, including many highs and lows which shaped and set the destiny of the nation.

For several members of Parliament, it was a nostalgic trip down memory lanes in the Parliament house by invoking the architects of modern India from first Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Indira Gandhi to Atal Bihari Vajpayee. The five-day special session that commenced in the old Parliament was the last in the historic iconic building that will be now turned into a museum as the MPs of both the Houses would do the rituals of "Grih Pravesh" in the adjacent new Parliament house on Tuesday and then resume the sittings in the afternoon.

"We are saying farewell to the historic building," the Prime Minister said, adding that though the building was constructed by the British "We cannot forget that the building was built by the labour and sweat of our citizens".

The Rajya Sabha on its part paid tributes to architects of the Constitution, saying it has stood the test of time with Leader of the House Piyush Goyal, who initiated the debate, stating Parliament upholds democracy. Goyal said while the elected MPs have made big contributions to strengthen democracy, the nominated Rajya Sabha members have also given their best. Late Dr Chandan Mitra,

Old and new Parliament Houses in New Delhi on Monday

the then Editor of The Pioneer, served two terms in the Rajya Sabha with the first as nominated by the Atal Bihari Vajpayee Government. Mitra served as Chairman of Select Committee (Amendment) Bill in 2014 and then Chairman of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Commerce in 2016.

Various political parties, including the BJP, the Congress, also called for passing the Women's Reservation Bill while discussing the "Parliamentary Journey of 75 Years Starting from Samvidhan Sabha — Achievements, Experiences, Memories and Learnings" on the first day of the five-day special session.

The Parliament house, universally known as "Sansad Bhavan," was conceived in the circular design by the eminent architects Lutyens and Baker in 1912 and 1913. Its construction spanned from 1921 to 1927, culminating in its inauguration as the seat of the Central Legislative Assembly, the Council of State, and the Chamber of Princes, which also accommodated the Indian

Supreme Court until 1958.

Inaugurating the discussion in the Lok Sabha, Modi commended the foresight of first Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and subsequent leaders such as Lal Bahadur Shastri, PV Narasimha Rao, and Atal Bihari Vajpayee.

However, he also brought to light the "cash-for-vote" scandal during the Manmohan Singh Government, urging for reflection on all facets of the parliamentary legacy.

"Who can deny Nehru's significant contributions?" remarked the Prime Minister, emphasising how politics often intervenes in recognising such achievements. Modi also commended PV Narsimha Rao, another Prime Minister from the Congress, for his pioneering economic policies, which are now yielding positive results for the country.

Reflecting on the establishment of Uttarakhand, Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh by Vajpayee, Modi lamented that the creation of Telangana from Andhra Pradesh during the Congress-led UPA regime led to bitterness and bloodshed in both States.

"In this very Parliament, Pandit Nehru spoke of the 'stroke of midnight hour,' and his words continue to inspire us all," Modi stated, while Congress leaders Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi observed.

Modi highlighted that the most significant achievement of these 75 years is the increasing trust of the common person in Parliament. He expressed hope that the shift to the new building on Tuesday would usher in a new era of hope and confidence. He took a moment to honour those who have guided this House, from Pandit Nehru to Vajpayee. Additionally, he paid tribute to Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Chandrashekhar, and Lal Krishna Advani for their enriching contributions.

Historic decision likely today

RAKESH K SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

With speculation rife about a possible "historic decision" during the Special Session of Parliament that began on Monday as declared by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the Government is expected to table a key Bill on Tuesday in the new Parliament building.

Top Government sources said a decision regarding the Bill was taken during the Cabinet meeting late on Monday chaired by Modi.

The media briefing of the Cabinet decision did not take place as the Government wants to convey the decision directly to Parliament by introducing the Bill in keeping with the Parliamentary conventions.

The Cabinet meeting lasted for over 100 minutes and was chaired by Prime Minister Modi.

Modi is known to spring surprises at the last minute and is also adept in holding government business on sensitive

Prime Minister Narendra Modi addresses the media on the first day of the Special Session of Parliament in New Delhi. Union Ministers V Muraleedharan, Pralhad Joshi and Arjun Ram Meghwal are also seen matters as closely guarded secrets.

While the Government remained tightlipped on the proposed Bill, there was speculation that the Modi Government is planning to bring a new reservation Bill for enlarging the role of women in Parliamentary and Assembly Reservation Bill that may come up during the Session.

Amid a demand for the Women's Reservation Bill, Modi on Monday said the contribution of women parliamentarians has been on the rise over the years.

In his speech in the Lok Sabha on the first day of the special session on Monday, Modi highlighted the changing composition of the House over the years, saying it had become more inclusive with all sections of society finding representation.

"Inclusive atmosphere has kept manifesting the aspirations of the people with full power," he said.

The Prime Minister noted the contributions of women parliamentarians that have helped burnish the dignity of the House.

"Be it Dalits, oppressed, adivasis, backwards or women, every section's contribution has increased gradually," Modi said.

Aditya delivers on promises

PTI ■ BENGALURU

India's Aditya-L1 solar mission spacecraft has commenced collecting data that will help scientists analyse the behaviour of particles surrounding Earth, ISRO said on Monday.

The sensors of an instrument on board India's first solar observatory have begun measuring supra-thermal and energetic ions and electrons at distances greater than 50,000 km from Earth, it said.

"This data helps scientists analyse the behaviour of particles surrounding Earth," the Bengaluru-headquartered national space agency said in a post on X.

The Supra Thermal & Energetic Particle Spectrometer (STEPS) instrument is a part of the Aditya Solar Wind Particle EXperiment (ASPEX) payload.

"These STEPS measurements will persist during the cruise phase of the Aditya-L1 mission as it progresses toward the Sun-Earth L1 point.

They will continue once the spacecraft is positioned in its intended orbit", ISRO said. Data collected around L1 would provide insights into the origin, acceleration, and anisotropy of solar wind and space weather phenomena, it said. STEPS was developed by the Physical Research Laboratory with support from the Space Application Centre in Ahmedabad.

ISRO had launched Aditya-L1 on September 2 using a PSLV-C57 rocket. The Aditya-L1 spacecraft carries a total of seven different payloads to study the Sun, four of which will observe the light from the Sun and the remaining three will measure in situ parameters of the plasma and magnetic fields.

Aditya-L1 will be placed in a halo orbit around the Lagrangian Point 1 (L1), which is 1.5 million km from the Earth in the direction of the Sun. It will revolve around the Sun with the same relative position and hence can see the Sun continuously.

STEPS comprises six sensors, each observing in different directions and measuring supra-thermal and energetic ions ranging from 20 keV/nucleon to 5 MeV/nucleon, in addition to electrons exceeding 1 MeV.

These measurements are conducted using low and high-energy particle spectrometers. The data collected during Earth's orbits helps scientists to analyse the behaviour of particles surrounding Earth, especially in the presence of the magnetic field of Earth.

STEPS was activated on September 10 at a distance greater than 50,000 km from Earth. This distance is equivalent to more than eight times the Earth's radius, placing it well beyond Earth's radiation belt region, ISRO added.

Artist's flight of fancy

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

As Mumbaikars prepared themselves in a big way to celebrate 10-day-long Ganesh festival from Tuesday, the spotlight turned onto Mumbai's Khetwadi cha Raja, a Ganapati idol installed by Sarvajani Shree Ganeshotsav Mandal, at Khambata Lane in south Mumbai, theme of which this year is Chandrayaan-3's recent landing on the Moon.

Chandrayaan-3 is one of the major themes adopted by the Ganesh Mandals across Mumbai this year. A majestic 38-foot Khetwadi cha Raja, themed around Chandrayaan-3, will be unveiled on Tuesday morning, as the 10-day festivities get off to an enthusiastic start in Mumbai and various other parts of Maharashtra.

"This year, we have chosen Chandrayaan-3 as the theme to express gratitude to ISRO scientists for their tremendous work in space technology in general and the recent landing of the spacecraft on the moon in particular. They are the pride of the nation. We would like to celebrate them this year," president of Sarvajani Shree Ganeshotsav Mandal told The Pioneer on Monday evening.

The tall Ganesh idol, made of Plaster Of Paris (PoP), has been crafted by noted idol maker Kunal Patil, while the lavish pandal has been decorated by Kamlesh Rajapuri.

"We intend to narrate the successful landing of Chandrayaan-3 through decorations featuring ISRO, the Lunar Rover, the Moon, and all the planets of our solar system. We are presenting the decorations in 3D form with fluorescent theme colours. It will be a new experience for the devotees this year," Narkar said.

Every year, the Ganesh Mandals adopt contemporary themes for their Ganapati festival decorations. This year, the Ganapati mandals have chosen Chandrayaan-3 launch to Ayodhya's Ram Mandir as their theme.

The 350th coronation of the Maratha King Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj is another major theme adopted for Mumbai's most-revered Lalbaugcha Raja (King of Lalbaug), a Ganesh idol installed at Lalbaug in south-central Mumbai.

This year, Lalbaugcha Raja is seated on a throne decorated similar to that of Shivaji Maharaj.

The coronation theme revolving around Raigad Fort was the last of the pandals designed by noted art director Nitin Desai, who committed suicide at his ND Studios at Karjat in Raigad district.

Another crowd-drawing Ganesh pandal is the one set by the GSB Seva Mandal's Ganapati at Sion in north-central Mumbai.

This year, GSB Seva Mandal's idol has been decorated with ornaments worth over 60 kgs of gold and 336 kgs of silver.

A special feature of this

GSB Mandal this year will be that it will perform special "havans" on Tuesday and Wednesday for the successful Chandrayaan-3 landing and for the construction of Ram Temple at Ayodhya.

The other Ganesh mandals which will draw huge crowds will be idols set up by Tejukaya Mandal, Lalbaug, GSB Sarvajani Ganeshotsav Samiti, Wadala, Kethwadi, 11th Lane, Kethwadi, 12th Lane, Sahyadri Mandal, Tilak Nagar-Chembur, Shri Bal Gopal Ganesh Utsav Mandal, Marine Lines, Fort Vibhag Sarvajani Ganeshotsav Mandal, Fort, Andheri-cha-Raja or the Azad Nagar Sarvajani Utsav Samitee at Andheri.

Like every year, Mumbai will reverberate to the beating of drums, cymbals, chants of "Ganpati Bappa Morya" and "Sukh-karta Dukh-harta" bhajan, as Mumbaikars take to their homes more than 3 lakh small and medium-sized Ganapati idols to their homes, while Sarvajani Mandals install 12,000-odd huge idols across the city.

Besides, awareness of water conservation would be at the centre of Ganesh festivities in Maharashtra's Latur district.

In view of this, a water literacy campaign will be held during the Ganesh festivities that start on Tuesday and more than 1,350 Ganapati mandals will be contacted, MLA Sambhaji Patil Nilangekar told reporters.

A motorcycle rally from Nilanga to Latur city and other events have been planned to create awareness among people so that they know the importance of water preservation.

The campaign is part of the "Jal Saksharta Abhiyan", a citizen's initiative, and is not political, he said. The district has received less than 50 per cent of the annual average rainfall this year and the local residents have to make do with only 40-50 litres of water per person per day against the normal quota of more than 100 litres, he said.

CRPF's CoBRA deployed in J&K to curb terrorism

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

The elite CoBRA commandos of the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) are all set to break the backbone of the terrorist outfits after their induction in the multi-tier security grid in Jammu & Kashmir.

It is the first time the CoBRA commandos, trained in jungle warfare, have been deployed in Kashmir valley to further strengthen the anti-terrorist security grid.

Before their induction, the CoBRA commandos had undergone rigorous training in Kashmir Valley to understand the dynamics of anti-terrorist operations in built-up areas inhabited by the civilian population.

Since their inception in 2009, their services have been utilized only across Naxal-hit areas of Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Orissa, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, Assam, and Meghalaya.

Official sources told The Pioneer that the centre is keen on utilizing the services of CoBRA commandos to check the penetration of homegrown terrorists and their sympathizers from establishing their hideouts to further consolidate their bases in the forest areas.

At present, the CRPF is playing an important role in maintaining law and order and also participating in counter-terrorist operations alongside the Indian army and Jammu and Kashmir police.

A senior CRPF officer posted in Srinagar told The Pioneer that the CoBRA units, deployed in Bihar, Jharkhand, and some other pockets were recalled and stationed in Kashmir valley in the month of April 2023 to undergo training before their induction.

The Officer confirmed these commandos have been deployed in different CRPF battalions and their services will be utilized as per the operational requirement.

Initially, the CoBRA commandos have been attached to different quick reaction teams and soon the same would be inducted in the counter-terrorist grid to add teeth to the existing security grid.

Modi praised BR Ambedkar's vision for industrialisation, aimed at bringing social justice, which remains the cornerstone of contemporary industrial policies.

He acknowledged the somber moments when the Parliament mourned the loss of three serving Prime Ministers—Nehru, Lal Bahadur Shastri, and Indira Gandhi. He also recognised the House's support for the liberation of Bangladesh under the leadership of Indira Gandhi.

The Prime Minister recalled the contributions of the 7500 MPs, including 600 women parliamentarians. He mentioned the oldest member of Lok Sabha, 93-year-old Samajwadi Party MP Shafiqur Rahman Barq, and the youngest, 30-year-old Chandrani Murmu of Biju Janata Dal (BJD), who became an MP at 25.

Speaker Om Birla noted the success of the recently concluded G20 meeting organised in the national Capital and across 60 cities for over a year.

In the Upper House, Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar emphasised that Parliament's hallowed precincts have witnessed both highs and lows, and reflecting on these experiences is crucial in propelling the country to its rightful place in 2047, when it celebrates the centenary of its independence.

Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, following the Prime Minister's address in the Lok Sabha, urged the Centre to pass the Women's Reservation Bill, attributing its inception to Sonia Gandhi. He credited Sonia for her role in the enactment of the RTI Act, Right to Food Act, and Right to Education Act during the UPA's rule.

Chowdhury highlighted concerns about potential "one-party dictatorship," attempts to destabilise Opposition party-ruled States, and the "selective" use of Central agencies. He also acknowledged the achievements of previous governments, including the Indo-US nuclear deal and the IT revolution. Initiating the discussion in the Upper House, Goyal underscored the invaluable contributions made by various chairmen towards strengthening Parliamentary democracy.

Indian Sellers Collective WHO's processed food report

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Indian Sellers Collective, an Umbrella body of trade associations and sellers across the country, has outrightly trashed the WHO backed report "The growth of ultra-processed foods in India: An analysis of trends, issues and policy recommendations", saying that it hurts the interests of the domestic traditional food manufacturers.

The Indian Sellers Collective has alleged that the report by the WHO is a proxy report on behalf of global Cola and food MNCs who are pushing their agenda to undermine Indian traditional food and facilitate the takeover of the Indian foods market by popular foreign foods and proliferate the growth of foreign companies that make such products.

The body has also made a representation to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to protect their interests and initiate an investigation into the WHO report.

In July 2023, the International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC), WHO and the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) Joint Expert Committee on Food Additives (JECFA) had released a report classifying that aspartame, one of the world's most common artificial sweeteners is possibly carcinogenic or cancerous to humans.

Aspartame is used in diet soft drinks and remains a preferred choice for many who consider it as an healthy option vis-à-vis non sugar-free added soft beverages.

To decrease the cost of zero-sugar soft drinks and make them more accessible to Indian consumers, the WHO report in question proposes that zero-sugar carbonated drinks should not be classified under the same GST category as all carbonated drinks, which currently carry a 28% tax rate coupled with a 12% sin tax, totalling 40%.

"However, it's worth noting that in May 2023, WHO introduced new guidelines on non-sugar sweeteners (NSS). These guidelines advise against the use of NSS for weight control or reducing the risk of non-communicable diseases (NCDs)," said the Indian sellers Collective.

Abhay Raj Mishra, Member & National Coordinator, Indian Sellers Collective, alleged that "The WHO report contradicts its own advisory of advocating prohibition of non-sugar sweeteners, commonly found in zero-sugar carbonated drinks."

"This contradictory stance appears to push a biased narrative by the global body, suggesting an agenda to promote products from multinational corporations in the Indian market. This positioning of carcinogenic non-sugar sweeteners by WHO is clearly geared to suit the interests of a few at the cost of the health of millions of Indians."

The Collective also expressed dismay at the WHO report advocating the implementation of the Draft Notifications on Food Safety and Standards (Labelling & Display) Amendment Regulations (2022) proposed by the FSSAI.

Shantiniketan included in UNESCO's World Heritage list, Bengal upbeat

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

As Bengal continued to earn accolades one after the other — from the Durga Puja winning the world heritage status and tongue smacking Rasogolla clinching the GI standing — the State intelligentsia is upbeat over the inclusion of Shantiniketan in the UNESCO world heritage list.

"We have been silently watching with a painful heart how our very own Viswa Bharati was fast becoming the epicenter of a political tug of war for the past few years ... In the midst of all these it is heartening to see Shantiniketan win the UNESCO World Heritage status ... that is yet another feather on our cap," said Suhardo Dutta a professor in Calcutta University.

Another painter of national repute refusing to be identified said, "being a son of a someone who was once taught by Rabindranath Tagore I feel proud ... but it will be better if Shantiniketan is left alone with its unique culture and traditions set by Gurudev ... all that powers that be must immediately stop playing with the honour of this prestigious institution."

Dr Shefali Sengupta an educationist and a nephew of famous writer Sarat Chandra Chattopadhyay said, "this is one moment I feel proud not only as an Indian or a Bengali but also a humanist because amongst everything Tagore represented humanism and of course internationalism."

Earlier the Archeological Survey of India wrote on X: "A momentous achievement for India as Santiniketan, West Bengal, has been officially inscribed on UNESCO's World Heritage List, becoming the 41st World Heritage Property from India. This historic decision was made during the ongoing extended 45th World Heritage Committee Meeting held in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia."

The decision was taken by The International Council on Monuments and Sites (ICOMOS).

Prime Minister Narendra Modi posted his comments saying, "Delighted that Santiniketan, an embodiment of Gurudev Rabindranath Tagore's vision and India's rich cultural heritage, has been inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List. This is a proud moment for all Indians."

This whereas Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee who was presently touring Spain wrote, "Biswa Bangla's pride, Santiniketan was nurtured by the poet and has been supported by people of Bengal over the generations. We from the Government of West Bengal have significantly added to its infrastructure in the last 12 years and the world now recognises the glory of the heritage place. Kudos to all who love Bengal, Tagore, and his messages of fraternity. Jai Bangla, Pranam to Gurudev."

Shantiniketan is situated in the Birbhum district of Bengal. Rabindranath Tagore's father Maharshi Debendranath Tagore had set up an Ashram there in 1863 apparently to escape the din and bustle of Kolkata --- then an utterly anglicized Calcutta. About 40 years later poet, lyricist, author and philosopher Rabindranath Tagore transformed the Ashram into a school of art in 1901 following the Gurukul tradition.

Santiniketan which continues to be a residential school (presently a central university) with the Prime Minister being its Chancellor) and centre for art based on ancient Indian traditions and a vision of the unity of humanity transcending religious and cultural boundaries was upgraded to Viswa Bharati (a World University) in 1921 by the Poet Laureate.

Covered by ancient trees, a glass house more popularly known as house of Upasana Griha (prayer) and numerous buildings representing a mixture of various architectural forms --- based not wholly on the British colonial architectural orientations of the early 20th century --- Viswa Bharati Shantiniketan represents approaches toward pan-Asian modernity, drawing on ancient, medieval and folk traditions from across the region.

The institution has been associated with a galaxy of big names like Indira Devi Chaudhurani, Krishna Kripalani, Dinendranath Tagore, Abanindranath Tagore, former Prime Minister of India Indira Gandhi, Oscar Award winning director Satyajit Ray, Nobel Laureate Amartya Sen and iconic artists such as, Ram Kinker Baij and Jogen Chaudhuri, Kanika Bandhopadhyay, Udai Sankar, Charles Freer Andrews, Leonard Knight Elmherst, Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan, Martin Kampchen.

Set timeline on disqualification plea: SC to Maharashtra Speaker

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Monday directed the Maharashtra Assembly Speaker to spell out the timeline within a week for adjudication of the disqualification petitions filed against Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and Shiv Sena MLAs loyal to him who had tied up with the BJP to form a new government in June 2022. A bench comprising Chief Justice DY Chandrachud and justices B Pardiwala and Manoj Misra referred to the May 11 verdict of the apex court on the Maharashtra political crisis and the direction issued by it to the speaker to decide the disqualification petitions within a reasonable time.

The Speaker has to honour the dignity of the Supreme Court and abide by its verdict, the bench said. It asked Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Speaker, to inform it about the time frame being set by the House chair for disposal of the disqualification petitions. "We expect deference and dignity to the directions issued by the Supreme Court," the bench said and listed the plea by Shiv Sena (UBT) faction seeking disqualification of Shinde and other Shiv Sena MLAs supporting him after two weeks.

The Speaker is a "tribunal under the tenth schedule of the Constitution", and as a tribunal, he is amenable to the court's jurisdiction, the bench said, adding nothing has been done about the pending disqualification petitions after the May 11 judgment. "We now direct that the procedural directions shall be issued by the speaker within a week setting out a timeline to complete the proceedings. The solicitor general shall inform the court about the timeline being set for disposing of the proceedings," the bench said.

The Uddhav Thackeray faction had moved the apex court in July seeking direction to the state assembly speaker to expeditiously adjudicate the disqualification petitions in a time-bound manner. The plea by Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) MLA Sunil Prabhu, who as the chief whip of the undivided Shiv Sena had filed the disqualification petitions against Shinde and other MLAs in 2022, alleged Speaker Rahul Narwekar is deliberately delaying the adjudication despite the verdict of the apex court.

SC rejects Soren's plea against ED summons

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Monday refused to entertain Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren's plea against the Enforcement Directorate's (ED) summons in a case of alleged money laundering. A bench of Justice Aniruddha Bose and Justice Bela M Trivedi granted Soren the liberty to approach the Jharkhand High Court for relief in the matter.

Senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi claimed in the court that this is a complete case of a witch-hunt. "Rohatgi, why don't you go to the High Court? No no, go to the High Court. We will permit you to withdraw," the bench said. The matter was dismissed as withdrawn. Additional Solicitor General S V Raju, appearing for the ED, submitted that the issue is covered by a large number of judgments.

Soren has moved the apex court challenging the summons sent to him to depose at the federal agency's office in Ranchi on August 14 and record his statement under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act. Earlier, Soren had skipped the ED's summons in an alleged defence land scam case citing pre-scheduled events. The 48-year-old Jharkhand Mukti Morcha leader was interrogated for over nine hours by the ED on November 17 last year in connection with another money-laundering case linked to alleged illegal mining in the State.

TMC refuses to react to CPM's absence from INDIA meeting

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

The Trinamool Congress has refused to react to the CPI(M)'s decision to stay out of the coordination committee of the Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance (INDIA).

TMC national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee on Monday said that decision taken by the Marxist outfit was its own and need not be commented on by his party.

"We as a party have tried to bring all the like-minded forces together to fight the BJP ... we will do all possible things to reach our goal ... as per the CPI(M) ... if they have decided to remain out of the coordination committee then they will have to explain it ... it is completely on them to take decision on this ... so I have nothing to say about this," Banerjee said in a guarded language.

Earlier the CPI(M) had made it clear that they would stay out of the INDIA coordination committee but would remain a part of the anti-BJP coalition formed by national and state parties for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

The decision was taken by the party's politburo. Though there was a view that the Bengal leaders did not want the party to be in a committee where Abhishek Banerjee was a member CPI(M) State secretary and politburo member Md Salim on Monday said that the decision was not related to Banerjee's inclusion in the committee.

Rather he said, "our politburo has rightly visualized the issue ... we have found that there is not much relevance of the coordination committee ... as seat-sharing has to be discussed at the State level and not nationally being or not being in the coordination committee does not matter ... the decision to remain out of it has no relation with anything else." When asked to comment about CPI leader D Raja's presence in the committee Salim said, "it is for the CPI and D Raja to explain ... the CPI(M) is not responsible for that."

According to reports the CPI(M) politburo's decision to remain out of the committee comes in the wake of a vehement protest within the party particularly from Bengal where the Left has witnessed good resurgence in the past little more than a year or so coming closer to the BJP to claim the principal opposition party status — at least vote percentage wise.

Most of the district committees had objected to being openly seen with Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee — against whose party the Marxists had been engaged in a fierce turf war in the State.

"Our men are being murdered, their houses are looted, women raped, lands grabbed forcibly and our local leaders are threatened with false ganja cases to join the TMC every day ... the TMC has brought the BJP in Bengal by holding its hands ... they have helped BJP by driving away the Left workers from the villages ... our grassroots workers and our supporters in the villages are a party to the day-to-day fight which the national leadership has to understand if they want to see a revival of the party in Bengal," said a CPIM State committee member.

Another former CPI(M) MP said that "Mamata Banerjee has entered the INDIA alliance to spoil it from within ... she is working as Narendra Modi's agent there in lieu of being relieved from the corruption cases being handled by CBI and ED ... most BJP leaders in Bengal including its State president Sukanta Majumdar, Opposition Leader, MP Locket Chatterjee and many others are former TMC men ... then you have Arjun Singh, Mukul Roy, Rajib Banerjee and others who keep on shuttling between the two parties ... so we see the BJP and the TMC as the two sides of the same coin ... we cannot and should share platforms with them ..."

Explaining the CPI(M)'s joining the INDIA alliance where the TMC too was a member he said, "it was on a broader national issue of throwing out BJP from power ... in Bengal not a single inch of land will be left either to the BJP or the TMC."

Hoysala Dynasty temples now UNESCO Heritage

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

The beautiful 13th century CE temples of the Hoysala Dynasty in Karnataka, have been inscribed on Monday on the World Heritage list of UNESCO, making India's total sites on the World Heritage list as 42. Presently, India has the sixth largest number of sites in the World.

The Hoysala temples site has been on the UNESCO's tentative list since 2014. They are protected monuments of the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI), which takes care of their conservation and maintenance.

Reacting to the development, Prime Minister Narendra Modi posted on social media X, "More pride for India! The magnificent Sacred Ensembles of the Hoysalas have been inscribed on the @UNESCO World Heritage List. The timeless beauty and intricate details of the Hoysala temples are a testament to India's rich cultural heritage and the exceptional craftsmanship of our ancestors." India had submitted the nomination dossier for The Sacred Ensembles of the Hoysalas to the World Heritage Centre early last year.

With this successful nomination, India has 42 world heritage properties overall, which includes 34 cultural, 7 natural and 1 mixed property.

A statement from the ASI said, "The Sacred Ensembles of the Hoysalas, has been nominated as a serial property comprising three temples in the southern Indian state of Karnataka, namely the Channakeshava temple in Belur, the Hoysaleswara temple in Halebidu and the Keshava temple in Somanathapura, reflects the creative brilliance of the 13th century architects."

These temples are a culmination of various temple building traditions prevalent in the Northern, Central and Southern India such as the Nagara, Bhumija and Dravida styles. Hence the inscription of these temples in the World Heritage List is a combined homage to the great temple building tradition of India.

The Temples are richly experiential, with their exquisite architecture, sculptures and intricate carvings, reflecting the genius of the sculptors in translating religious beliefs, stories and abstract ideas into the medium of stone.

The practice of having sculptural panels narrating stories from the Hindu Epics and puranas along the walls of the temple deepened the religious experience of circumambulation path was first introduced by the Hoysalas.

DU POLLS: GROUPS RELEASE MANIFESTOS TO WOO VOTERS

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

From menstrual leave up to 12 days per semester to one course one fee and metro concession passes to students are among the part of the manifestos issued by the students groups for the upcoming Delhi University Students Union (DUSU) elections which is being held after a gap of three years because of the pandemic.

The Congress's National Student Union of India (NSUI) has come out with a five-point manifesto for female students which include menstrual leave, a zero-tolerance policy against harassment, security and safety, empowerment, and better infrastructural facilities for female students. The RSS-affiliated Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP) has also launched its 21 points manifesto promising to work for more scholarships to the marginalised, including transgenders, one course one fees, fairness in education cost and metro concession passes for students.

The four main student outfits in the fray are the ABVP, the Left-backed All India Student Association (AISA) and Student Federation of India, and the NSUI. The last five times, the tussle for the four posts in the union have been between the ABVP and NSUI. The ABVP bagged the president's seat in 2016, '18, and '19, while the NSUI got the post for a year in between, in 2017.

With this, the NSUI has released two manifestos for the September 22 elections. The other, released on Saturday by the NSUI is a 10-point manifesto for all students that promises to ensure a violence-free campus, no fee hike and free metro passes. The women-centric "Her Manifesto" also promises students legal assistance in cases of "harassment, moral policing, cyber-bullying" among others, the NSUI said.

Round the clock security teams with increased number of women guards, installation of street lights and CCTV cameras across the campus will be ensured, the manifesto stated and added that students' body will also take up the issue of 12 days menstrual leave per semester. The NSUI also promises "a functional internal complaints committee, gender sensitisation workshops and self-defence training workshops in collaboration with NGOs and police", it said.

Issues of counselling centres, medical rooms and sanitary napkin dispensers at colleges will also be looked into, the manifesto said. Both the NSUI manifestos assured a violence-free campus, a grievance redressal cell, no fee hike, hostel for all, free metro passes, a round the clock library, an on-campus railway reservation counter, an active placement cell, free WiFi and better infrastructure.

The NSUI announced its list of candidates for the DUSU elections. Hitesh Gulia, a final-year Law Centre-I student, will contest for the president's post. The 23-year-old completed his graduation from the Shaheed Bhagat Singh College.

Abhi Dahiya has been fielded for the post of vice-president and the 24-year-old is currently pursuing a Masters degree in Buddhist Studies.

The NSUI has fielded 24-year-old Yakshana Sharma for the post of secretary. The Hindu College graduate is a final-year LLB student at the Campus Law Centre.

Shubham Kumar Chaudhary, contesting for the post of joint secretary, did his schooling from GD Goenka School in Vasant Kunj.

He completed his graduation from the College of Vocational Studies and is currently pursuing a Masters degree in Buddhist Studies.

On the other hand, the ABVP said, "It has been aptly titled 'WoManifesto' as it reflects the ABVP's commitment to addressing a wide array of issues that concern the student community, especially women."

The ABVP said that 'One Course, One Fee', more University Special buses, Metro concession passes, new hostels and more girls' hostels are some of the main issues mentioned in their manifesto.

Beside this the ABVP has pitched for increment in SC/ST/OBC scholarships, construction of new hostels and girls' hostels in every college.

"We are also pushing for an 'Earn While Learn' policy to provide students with opportunities to earn while pursuing their education," the student organisation added.

The manifesto was released in the presence of all four ABVP candidates for DUSU — Tushar Dedha, Sushant Dhankar, Aprajita, and Sachin Baisla, along with ABVP state secretary, Harsh Attri, and ABVP national media convener, Ashutosh Singh.

Tushar Dedha, the ABVP's presidential candidate, affirmed,

"Previous ABVP-led DUSUs have diligently addressed student concerns. We are committed to addressing issues like fee hikes, expanding hostel infrastructure, and prioritising mental health of the students."

Aprajita, the ABVP's candidate for the secretary's post emphasised the student organisation's commitment to women empowerment and mentioned initiatives like 'Mission Sahasi' for self-defence training and 'Ritumati Abhiyan' for sanitary pad distribution.

She added that the ABVP aims to further these efforts through measures like restoring and renewing sanitary pad vending machines and incinerators in all colleges, ensuring the availability of full-time gynecologists and psychologists in the WUS Health Centre in Delhi University (DU), pink booths near every hostel, installation of CCTV cameras inside and outside college campuses, gender sensitisation camps, strengthening Internal Complaints Committees (ICC) in colleges, hiring women trainers in sports and co-curricular activities, girls' common room in every college, etc.

Harsh Attri stressed that the manifesto was solution-oriented, emphasising a three-fold approach for the DU's curriculum: Review, rational debate, and revise.

DU VC takes stock of preparations for DUSU elections

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi University's Vice Chancellor Professor Yogesh Singh on Monday chaired a meeting to review arrangements, including security measures, for the September 22 student union (DUSU) elections. The VC took stock of the pre-election situation and discussed with university officials, college principals, provosts of halls and hostels and police officials the preparations for the elections, according to a DU statement.

It said the vice chancellor asked everyone to "leave no stone unturned" to ensure that the DUSU elections are conducted smoothly and peacefully. DUSU Chief Electoral Officer Chandra Shekhar said that the college elections will be held through the paper ballot. Voting for DUSU will be held through electronic voting machines (EVM).

To ensure flawless use of EVMs on the election day, training sessions of designated staff from colleges have been organised with the help of executives from Monday to Wednesday, he said.

He said EVMs will be delivered to colleges on September 21 and colleges will be responsible for their security.

"To ensure that DUSU votes are cast first, EVMs should be placed prior to paper ballot boxes. Polling timings are from 8.30 am to 1 pm for day classes and from 3 pm to 7.30 pm for evening classes," Shekar said.

After voting, the EVMs will be sealed in boxes in the presence of student representatives and the election officer and sent to the Multipurpose Hall of the University Stadium in the North Campus.

The respective college must obtain the handover receipt from the returning officer, the statement from DU administration said.

Wilful denial of sexual relationship by spouse cruelty, rules Delhi HC

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Wilful denial of sexual relationship by a spouse amounts to cruelty, the Delhi High Court has ruled while upholding the divorce granted to a couple whose marriage effectively subsisted for barely 35 days and failed on account of non-consummation of marriage.

A bench headed by Justice Suresh Kumar Kait, while rejecting the wife's appeal against the family court order granting divorce, said the high court has ruled in a case that "marriage without sex is an anathema" and that "there is nothing (more) fatal to marriage than disappointment in sexual relationship".

In the present case, the court observed, the marriage was not consummated on account of resistance by the wife who also filed a police complaint claiming she was harassed for dowry about which there was "no cogent evidence". This can also be termed as cruelty, it said.

"In (a case), it (the high court has) ... Observed that wilful denial of sexual relationship by a spouse amounts to cruelty, especially when the parties are newly married and this itself is a ground for grant of divorce," said the bench, also comprising Justice Neena Bansal Krishna, in an order dated September 11.

"In the present case, not only did the marriage between the parties subsist for barely 35 days but failed completely on account of deprivation of conjugal rights and non-consummation of marriage," the court said referring to the period the woman spent at her matrimonial home. It cannot be overlooked that such deprivation over a period of more than 18 years itself amounts to mental cruelty, the court said.

The court recorded the couple got married according to Hindu customs and rites in 2004 and the wife soon went back to her parental home and did not return. The husband later approached the family court for divorce on the grounds of cruelty and desertion.

In its order, the court said the family court "rightly concluded" that although the ground of desertion was not proved, the conduct of the wife towards the husband amounted to cruelty, entitling him to the decree of divorce.

"Making allegations of dowry harassment resulted in registration of a FIR and the trial to follow can only be termed as an act of cruelty when the appellant has failed to prove even one incident of dowry demand," it said.

"In (a case), the Apex Court laid down various acts which may amount to mental cruelty and one such illustration was unilateral decision of refusal to have intercourse for considerable period of time without there being no physical incapacity or valid reason," added the court. The court said the evidence on record established that the wife did not permit the husband to consummate the marriage.

PWD roads to get facelift: Minister

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Government will give a new look to PWD roads in the city through redesigning, blacktopping, and plant ornamentation, PWD minister Atishi said on Monday.

The Government seeks to develop PWD roads in the city on the lines of those recently revamped in many areas for G20 Summit. The PWD Minister, who has been regularly visiting various stretches for the purpose, inspected Shankar Road and Pusa Road along with officials.

She directed the officials to work towards redesigning Delhi roads and making them clean, beautiful and user-friendly. The officials were also directed by the minister to prioritise horticulture along the roads and ensure they are regularly maintained, said a statement from PWD minister's office.

Under the road revamp plan, footpath of different stretches will be repaired and given a uniform look, central verges will be beautified with various types of plants besides LED lighting and design standards as per global standards, it said.

"Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal has promised the people of Delhi that, just like certain parts of Delhi were given a splendid makeover during the G-20 summit, now the entire city's roads will be transformed into something magnificent. We will beautify the entire Delhi," Atishi said. Inspection of the roads is being done to review how these can be improved, she said.

The road revamp will also involve use of street furniture, regular pruning of trees and shrubs, improved drainage, repaired and painted curbstones, painted railings, mechanised road sweeping, better management of street lights, and proper signage.

Geo-tagging of all civil works made mandatory

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena has directed mandatory geo-tagging of all civil work-related projects of Delhi Government departments to curb corruption, cost escalation and delay in execution, according to a note of the Raj Niwas.

It will also be mandatory for contractors to upload pictures of project sites before and after completion on the IT department's portal for evaluation. Payments will be made to them following verification by authorities, it said.

"The LG (lieutenant governor) has made it mandatory to geo-tag each and every project on the IT department portal to curb corruption, cost escalation and inordinate delays in execution of civil works by various Delhi government departments," the note issued on Monday said.

The directions were issued by the LG while approving a proposal of the Directorate of Vigilance, it said.

Besides geo-tagging, he also directed heads of the departments to ensure uploading of progress report with photographs of projects and works, mandatorily on the portal, before any payments are made, the note said.

Geo-tagging and uploading of project status online has already been implemented by several Union ministries and departments of state governments, including Kerala, Andhra Pradesh and Arunachal Pradesh, it said.

The Central Government Ministries are using geo-tagging in schemes such as the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana, the MGNREGA, the Pradhan Mantri Jan Vikas Karyakram, according to the note.

The Delhi LG issued the directions after observing that most departments were not using the portal, the note said.

19-year-old waiter stabbed by café owner

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

An argument over a petty issue turned ugly as a 19-year-old waiter was allegedly thrashed and stabbed by the café owner in southwest Delhi's Satya Niketan area on Monday, police said.

They said they received a PCR call at the South Campus police station about the alleged stabbing incident.

"A dispute had occurred between two young men in a café in Satya Niketan.

"Later, information regarding a medico-legal case (MLC) from SJ Hospital was received. Teams recorded the statement of the injured, Ashish, a resident of Sagarpur," said a senior police officer.

The victim told the police he worked as a waiter at the café. "On Monday, a fight broke out between Ashish and (his colleague) Guddu over serving customers. Guddu started misbehaving and a verbal spat ensued between them," said the official. The victim further told police the café owner, Kunal, took Guddu's side and allegedly assaulted Ashish and stabbed him in the right thigh with a knife.

Police said that health condition of the victim is out of danger as of now.

HC permits DU to admit students for 5-year integrated law course through CLAT

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court on Monday permitted the Delhi University to offer admissions in its newly introduced five-year integrated law course on the basis of the score of CLAT-UG, held last year, only for the current academic year 2023-24. A bench of Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Sanjeev Narula passed the interim order while observing that classes have started in all other universities for the current academic session.

The high court was hearing a petition against Delhi University's (DU) decision to admit students to the five-year integrated law course solely on the basis of Common Law Admission Test — UG 2023 and not Common University Entrance Test (CUET).

The court observed that the matter involves a broader issue — whether CUET should be mandatory for admissions in all central universities or if such varsities should have the liberty to make decisions in the matter of admission.

"The matter requires consideration. However, for the present academic year, as in all universities the classes have started, the Delhi University is permitted to admit students for the five year law courses based upon CLAT-UG which is a common law entrance test," the bench said.

The bench appointed senior advocate Arun Bhardwaj as amicus curiae to assist the court in the matter and listed the petition for further hearing on November 23. During the hearing, the bench perused the affidavit filed by the University Grants Commission (UGC) Chairman pursuant to the court's earlier directions.

The affidavit stated that CUET is not mandatory for professional specialised courses like law, engineering and medicine and that the universities offering such courses can adopt different admission criteria including conducting entrance tests like CLAT and NEET. UGC said it has resolved that CUET will be mandatory for admissions in all general degree programmes in central universities.

The bench had earlier asked the UGC Chairman to file an affidavit clarifying whether CUET is mandatory for admission to 5-year law degree courses in central universities, after its two top officials spoke in different voices on the issue.

MCD hospitals, dispensaries to be revamped: Mayor

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Mayor Dr Shelly Oberai on Monday said municipal hospitals, dispensaries and maternity centres will be refurbished as part of a plan to revamp Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD)-run medical facilities.

Addressing a press conference at the Civic Centre, Oberoi said that for improving civic medical infrastructure, the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) will use funds from the corpus of ₹117 crore — ₹54 crore under the capital head and ₹63 crore under the revenue head — it has received from the Delhi Government.

Funds received under the capital head will be used in 491 projects, including the infrastructure revamp of seven big hospitals under the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD), a civic-run medical college and primary healthcare centres.

The mayor said that under the AAP-led Municipal Corporation of Delhi, a "good healthcare model" will be established in the civic body, as has been in the Delhi government under the leadership of Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal.

Without naming anyone, she alleged that previous governments in the municipal corporation in the last 15 years, "did not do anything" to improve the medical infrastructure of civic hospitals, as their "intention was not right" when they were in power.

The funds received under the capital head will be used for revamping Hindu Rao Hospital and the medical college it is attached to, Swami Dayanand Hospital and Rajan Babu Institute of Pulmonary Medicine and Tuberculosis, among other facilities, she said.

From the funds received under the revenue head, medical facilities will be augmented at various hospitals like Mata Gujri Hospital and Kasturba Hospital, the largest maternity care hospital under the MCD, the mayor said.

Badakhana for Capital cops for G20 success

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Police on Monday organised a "Badakhana" (elaborate lunch) for the officers and men from different units of city police that participated in the security paraphernalia of the recently concluded G20 Summit here at the Bharat Mandapam.

The personnel of the police headquarters (PHQ), Security, Traffic, New Delhi District, South West District and various others districts/units who performed their duties in New Delhi and other District Areas during the mega event attended the celebratory lunch.

The Badakhana was organised by Delhi Police at Hall No.2 of Bharat Mandapam managed by India Trade Promotion Organisation (ITPO). Delhi LG VK Saxena participated in the Badakhana to encourage and motivate the staff. Delhi Police Commissioner, Special Commissioners of Police, Joint/Additional Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners and officers of all ranks also participated in the event.

In his address, LG lauded the efforts of Delhi Police in ensuring a foolproof security and Law and Order arrangement during G-20 Summit.

He appreciated the professionalism of Delhi Police in the conduct of the arrangement. He further acknowledged the sincerity and dedication with which every personnel performed his/her duties despite rain and long duty hours and compared their efforts and success to the scientists who had successfully managed and ensured the recent launch of Chandrayan 3. He exhorted and encouraged the staff to work with the same zeal and enthusiasm and keep up the good work being done by Delhi Police.

Underlining that the entire strength of Delhi Police worked in tandem to maintain law and order, manage traffic, handled sensitive areas, even as they provided flawless arrangements to the visiting Heads of States and Heads of Governments, Saxena emphasized that the same was achieved without causing much inconvenience to the common residents and commuters of the city.

Railway station to get city's first 'rail coach restaurant'

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The New Delhi railway station is soon going to start the capital's first "rail coach restaurant", in the national capital. An old coach would be converted into a state of art restaurant, expected to offer best in the fine dining.

According to Northern Railway, the coach has been placed in the VIP parking area at Ajmeri Gate. Besides New Delhi railway station, the railway has planned to open coach restaurants near Old Delhi, Anand Vihar, and Sarojini Nagar stations. Similar rail coach restaurants are operational at railway stations in Mumbai, Bhopal, Indore and Jabalpur.

According to officials, the rail coach restaurant at Ajmeri Gate is expected to be operational by October.

Though located inside the station complex, the rail coach restaurant would be open not only to passengers, but other visitors too. While it would be open on all seven days of the week, it might be operational 24x7 too. The restaurant would accommodate up to 50 at a time.

Officials said there would also be separate food stalls on both sides of the coach for which separate sheds might be given.

Rajya Sabha pays tributes to architects of Constitution

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Rajya Sabha on Monday paid tributes to architects of the Constitution saying it has stood the test of time with Leader of the House Piyush Goyal stating Parliament upholds democracy. Highlighting the contribution of Congress in laying the foundation of Constitution, the party claimed the ruling BJP combine was harassing the Opposition by using agencies like the Enforcement Directorate or Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

Opposition members also hit out at the Government, accusing it of indulging in majoritarianism and defying the tenets of parliamentary democracy. Various political parties including the BJP, Congress and others also called for passing the women's reservation bill while discussing the the "Parliamentary Journey of 75 Years Starting from Samvidhan Sabha -- Achievements, Experiences, Memories and Learnings" on the first day of the five-day special session.

Initiating the discussion, Goyal underlined the contributions made towards strengthening parliamentary democracy by various chairmen of the Upper House, including Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, Zakir Husain, Shankar Dayal Sharma, Kocheril Raman Narayanan, Bhairon Singh Shekhawat, Mohammad Hamid Ansari, M Venkaiah Naidu and Dhankhar.

Goyal said the Rajya Sabha is a witness to enlightening debates and the House always functioned by evolving consensus despite difference of opinion. He urged the members to maintain decorum and uphold the dignity of the house.

He also said the Rajya Sabha has all along maintained the principle of agree to disagree despite difference of opinion and stressed the opposition's role of keeping the government in check.

In his opening remarks in Rajya Sabha Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar said the hallowed precincts of Parliament for years have witnessed highs and lows, which need to be reflected and deliberated upon so as to take the country to its rightful place in 2047, when it celebrates the centenary of its independence.

"The honourable members' use of wit, humour, sarcasm and even acerbic comments inside Parliament are an important, inalienable facet of a vigorous democracy. These days we do not get to hear such light-hearted exchanges. Hopefully, we will see the revival of wit, humour and scholarly debates," the Chairman said.

Meanwhile, Goyal said while the elected MPs have made big contributions to strengthen democracy, the nominated Rajya Sabha members have also given their best.

Leader of the House also recalled the abrogation of the provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution, the process for which started in the Upper House. The legislations concerning "triple talaq" and the Goods and Services Tax (GST) too figured prominently in his nearly 40-minute speech.

While most of Goyal's speech focused on the achievements of the 75-year journey of India's parliamentary democracy and the last nine years of the Narendra Modi government, he also highlighted certain memories, such as Emergency, the 2001 Parliament terror attack, the cash-for-votes scam and the parliamentary proceedings associated with the creation of the state of Telangana. He said India showed democracy is invincible after the terror attack on Parliament.

The ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader noted that the opposition has a key role to play in keeping the government in check and said Parliament is an institution to keep democracy alive. Goyal called upon the Members of Parliament to work towards women empowerment and making India a corruption-free, developed country.

Starting his speech, Leader of Opposition and Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge requested the chairman to revoke the suspension of two Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) members -- Sanjay Singh and Raghav Chadha -- at a time when the House is holding the session and moving into the new Parliament building.

Kharge said constitution is the bedrock of Indian democracy and highlighted the role of his party in laying the sound foundation for it. He then quipped the Congress worked to strengthen democratic institutions over 70 years and have an inclusive society. The Congress leader also said constitution provided for adult franchise.

Claiming that the ruling BJP combine was targeting Opposition by using investigative agencies like the Enforcement Directorate (ED), Kharge charged the government was trying to weaken the strong opposition through these means.

He asked the government what did it achieve by shifting the parliamentary proceedings to a new building. "Badalna hai to halat badlo, aise naam badalne se kya hota hai. Dena hein to yuva ko rozgar do, sab ko berozgar karke kya hota hai. Dil ko thoda bada karke dekho, logon ko marne se kya hota hai. Kuch kar nahi sakte ho, kursi chor do, baat mein darane se kya hota hai."

"Apni hukumrani par guroor hai, logon ko darane se dhakane se kya hota hai. Badalna hai to halat badlo, aise naam badalne se kya hota hai. Yaah se wahan jane mein kya aur honewala hai," the Congress leader said.

He took a dig at Prime Minister Narendra Modi and said he rarely participates in the proceedings of the Rajya Sabha adding erstwhile Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru always honoured difference of opinion and the role of the opposition.

Kharge said former prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee gave 21 speeches in the House during his term, while Manmohan Singh gave about 30 speeches. "The current prime minister spoke only twice, leaving aside the customary speeches, in the last nine years," he added.

The Congress leader urged the government to address issues like rising unemployment and inflation warning joblessness poses danger to democracy. He also questioned Prime Minister Modi's silence on Manipur. Kharge said the Prime Minister is yet to visit the north-eastern state witnessing turmoil for the last three months or so.

Kharge also expressed concern over the passage of several bills in a manner faster than the "bullet train", without referring to parliamentary standing committees. He urged the government to bring Women Reservation Bill in the parliament and said "Women Reservation Bill should come. We all tried. This issue if you (Chair) raise then they will."

Kharge highlighted the small numbers of women lawmakers in parliament, saying they constituted only 14 per cent in both houses combined, while their number in legislative assemblies is just 10 per cent. The proportion of women MPs was just five per cent in first Lok Sabha in 1952.

Kharge told the House that the proportion of women members had risen to 28 per cent from two per cent in the US Parliament while in Britain, it jumped to 33 per cent from three per cent.

Ram Nath Thakur of JD(U) too demanded reservation for women when the lawmakers shift to the new parliament building and also demanded a special session to discuss rising inflation and remedy for it.

Taking part in the discussion, Manoj Kumar Jha (RJD) quoted the chief architect of the Constitution B R Ambedkar and said democracy also meant "preventing tyranny of the majority".

"There is a need for a majority as governments cannot run without a majority but there is a "difference between majority and majoritarianism", he added.

Jose K Mani (KC(M) said, "It is an undeniable fact (that) recent years have witnessed instances of undemocratic parliamentary methods and procedures, which threatened the very essence of democracy."

Tiruchi Siva (DMK) claimed that the space for the opposition is shrinking. "There has been a decline in the ability of Parliament to hold the government accountable... The government resorts to ordinances rather than legislation," he said.

S Niranjan Reddy (YSRCP) said as Parliament is moving to a new building, there is concern among south Indian states. "South Indian states, the more developed Indian states, are feeling that they will be outnumbered because Article 82 gives protection until 2026. Would that be balanced in some manner? We will debate it," he said.

Article 82 deals with the number of seats allotted to the House of People.

John Brittas (CPM) said according to Ambedkar, democracy is not the law of the majority but the protection of the minority. He alleged that the current government was flouting the tenets of parliamentary democracy of the accountability of the executive to the legislator.

The NCP's Praful Patel, BJP's Bhubaneswar Kalita, AGP's Birendra Prasad Baishya, TMC's Md Nadimul Haque, Congress' Shaktisinh Gohil and Rajiv Shukla, AIADMK's M Thambidurai, BRS' K Keshava Rao, AAP's Vikramjit Singh Sahney, BJD's Mamata Mohanta and GK Vasan of the TMC(M) also took part in the discussion.

PARLIAMENT TITBITS

DISRUPTION JUSTICE

Rajya Sabha Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar on Monday asked the Opposition how long it plans to keep justifying disrupting the House citing past precedent and said the Congress was absent from the House when the time came for the party to put forward its view. Dhankhar was responding to Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge saying the Opposition party was only taking its cue from BJP leaders when they sat on the other side of the aisle.

based on past precedent? How long will we continue to justify the disturbance."

COPYING BJP: KHARGE

Participating in a discussion on "Parliamentary Journey of 75 Years Starting from Samvidhan Sabha - Achievements, Experiences, Memories, and Learnings", Kharge, the Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha, said that with its disruptions, his party was only following the example of late BJP leaders Arun Jaitley and Sushma Swaraj when they were in Opposition. Quoting a remark from Jaitley from an Upper House proceeding on January 30, 2011, Kharge said, "The job of Parliament is to discuss. Whenever issues are ignored, creating obstacles is in the interest of the public system. Therefore, Parliamentary obstruction cannot be called undemocratic." "Swaraj too had said in the Lok Sabha, 'Not allowing Parliament to function is also a form of democracy in other words.' "When we are doing the same, we are attacked," Kharge said. The chairman responded to his remarks, saying, "Think carefully and then tell me, how long will we continue to disturb the house

OFFICIALS CONTRIBUTION

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday lauded the contribution of chamber attendants and officials in ensuring the smooth functioning of Parliament and also remembered journalists who have dedicated their lives to reporting the proceedings of Parliament, even without the use of the latest technology. Modi said that bidding farewell to the old Parliament building will be an even tougher task for journalists as they have been connected with the establishment more than their members. "There is a group of people who help us, elected representatives, at every stage... Sometimes they bring us papers and documents. Their contribution is no less," Modi said in Lok Sabha initiating the discussion on "Parliamentary Journey of 75 years starting from Samvidhan Sabha -- Achievements, Experiences, Memories and Learnings". Some may have served "us tea or water, some may have ensured that no one remains hungry when House proceedings stretch into the night", he said and also remembered House Marshals who remain alert to ensure no mistake creeps in during parliamentary proceedings.

"Their contribution too has improved the quality of governance. I extend my compliments to them and those who have served in the past," he said on the first day of the five-day session of Parliament. There are some who have ensured the upkeep of Parliament's surroundings while some have maintained cleanliness, Modi said. "There are countless people who have ensured that the ambience and systems are in place to help us discharge our duties in a better way," Prime Minister Modi said.

MMS ALL EARS

Former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh attended Rajya Sabha proceedings in a wheelchair while MPs from K Chandrashekar Rao's BRS displayed posters in bright pink colour in the Rajya Sabha. The 90-year-old frail-looking Singh sat quietly for exactly an hour, listening to Leader of the House and Union Minister Piyush Goyal and Leader of the Opposition and Congress president M Mallikarjun Kharge speak on a discussion on 75 years of parliamentary journey. Congress MPs, including former Union Finance Minister P Chidambaram, greeted Singh with folded hands as they passed by. As the session started, MPs from the Bharat Rashtira Samithi, formerly known as Telangana Rashtira Samithi, stood up holding posters demanding passage of the Women's Reservation Bill. BRS leader K Keshava Rao rose to speak holding a poster in bright pink colour. When his party colleagues too stood up displaying similar posters, Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar warned of action if any MP violated the rules by displaying posters. At this, Rao and his party colleagues quickly folded up the posters, and Dhankhar said they will be given an opportunity to speak on the issue.

SPEAKERS LINED UP

For the first Session address on Tuesday, Joint Vice President Dhankhar will speak, followed by Prime Minister Modi, Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla, Leader of House in Rajya Sabha Piyush Goyal, Leader of Congress (largest opposition party) in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chaudhary, Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha Kharge. Those invited to be the first speakers are BJP member former Union Minister Maneka Gandhi for holding record number woman representative in Lok Sabha, former PM Manmohan Singh longest serving Rajya Sabha MP and JMM leader former Union Minister Shibu Soren for holding the record of longest tenure together in both the Houses of Parliament.

SOUND EFFECT

Trinamool Congress leader Derek O'Brien said his microphone was turned off suddenly in middle of speech during the discussion on 75 years of Parliament in Rajya Sabha, and the House was adjourned. "What happened in the Old Parliament building today was sad. I was the last speaker today from the Opposition, my party Trinamool Congress was given 18 minutes to speak. Then I was told I would only get a chance to speak for 10 minutes. Suddenly at 10 minutes to six, in the middle of my speech, I was stopped and the House was adjourned," he told after the adjournment.

"We are talking about 75 years of democracy, we should have such a day spoilt by censorship. I was not allowed to conclude my speech, so I have come here to the Gandhi statue to speak," he said. "Give me my India where I can eat what I want, where I can speak in Parliament, where I can love who I want. Give me back my India where unity and diversity is not just an empty phrase but a belief, a way of life..." he said. "They have mocked and undermined Parliament and they did it again today," he said.

Induction into CBI

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CBI has inducted Indian Police Service (IPS) officer Gaurav Singh as Superintendent of Police in the agency.

A 2012-batch IPS officer of Maharashtra cadre, Singh has been inducted in the agency for five years, an order issued by the Personnel Ministry said.

In another order, it said that the deputation tenure of Manoj Verma has been extended by one year in the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

Verma, the second-in-command in the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), is currently working as an SP in the CBI.

His tenure has been extended from August 28, 2023 to August 27, 2024, the order said. The Centre has also approved the "extension/regularisation" of the deputation of two Deputy Inspectors General - Keshav Ram Chaurasia and Prem Kumar Gautam - who were associated with the inquiry and investigating the coal blocks allocation cases.

Gautam is a 2005-batch IPS officer of Uttar Pradesh cadre and Chaurasia belongs to the 2003 batch.

Gautam's tenure has been extended/regularised from January 28, 2019 to September 30, 2023 and Chaurasia's tenure from June 7, 2016 to August 25, 2023, it said citing a direction from Supreme Court in this connection.

TDP, YSRCP trade barbs in Lok Sabha over Naidu's arrest

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Members of the TDP and the YSRCP traded barbs in the Lok Sabha on Monday as Telugu Desam Party MP Jayadev Gala raised the issue of the arrest of his party chief and former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu.

Gala accused the ruling YSRCP in the state of indulging in vendetta politics and said it was a black day for democracy when the TDP leader was arrested.

He was participating in the discussion on Parliamentary Journey of 75 years starting from Samvidhan Sabha -- Achievements, Experiences, Memories and Learnings.

"Today we see an unblemished senior leader being arrested with political incarceration. It is a black day for democracy and in the history of Andhra Pradesh," Gala said, adding, "I wish to inform the prime minister and the home minister on how laws are being violated in the State."

Gala demanded that the TDP chief be released at the earliest. Responding to his comments, YSRCP member PV Midhun Reddy said that a notice has been served by the Income Tax department and the ED has found a money trail.

US delegation meets iDEX-DIO team at IIT-D

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

As Indian defence industry witnesses increasing participation of start-ups using latest technology, a US delegation led by Under Secretary (Research and Engineering), Department of Defence Heidi Shyu, met a team of Innovations for Defence Excellence-Defence Innovation Organisation (iDEX-DIO) under Ministry of Defence at Inidna Institute of Technology (IIT), Delhi on Monday.

Giving details here, defence ministry officials said Joint Secretary (Defence Industries Production) and Additional CEO of DIO Anurag Bajpai presented an overview on iDEX to the US delegation, explaining how the initiative is revolutionising the defence innovation ecosystem in India.

He highlighted how iDEX is fostering innovation, in critical domains like Artificial Intelligence (AI), unmanned solutions, domain awareness, communications, space, cybersecurity etc. He brought out how technologies developed by iDEX winners are acting as force multipliers for the Services and the innovators are beginning to make their mark globally with their dual-use solutions.

The Joint Secretary brought out that the India-US Defence Acceleration Ecosystem (INDUS-X) initiative will further deepen the strategic technology partnership and defence industrial cooperation between the two sides.

He appreciated the momentum in INDUS-X activities and informed that iDEX and Defence Innovation Unit (DIU) teams have finalised two challenges to kick start joint challenges, to be launched soon.

A showcase of select iDEX winners and defence innovation start-ups with cutting-edge dual-use technologies was organised. Deep-tech innovations including on information security and cyber security, AI/Machine Learning-based imaging, maritime technologies, wireless communication, space technologies and advanced sensors were showcased.

Heidi Shyu was highly appreciative of the start-up showcase, and the way the iDEX scheme and stakeholders have revolutionised the defence innovation ecosystem in India. She noted the rapid developments under the collaboration agenda of INDUS-X and suggested that procurement of advanced technologies be given due consideration under INDUS-X.

iDEX, in partnership with US Department of Defence, conducted the India-US Defence Acceleration Ecosystem (INDUS-X) event in Washington DC on June 20-21. The initiative will expand the strategic technology partnership and defence industrial cooperation between the start-up ecosystems, businesses and academic institutions.

The first-ever joint technology showcasing by the Indian and US start-ups generated great interest during the INDUS-X Event. The collaboration agenda under the Defence Innovation Bridge includes launch of Joint Challenges, Innovation Partnership Program, Academia partnership, Joint Innovation Fund, establishing of Testing and Certification facilities in India. The INDUS-X event found mention in the Joint Statement of the two leaders during the recent bilateral meetings.

India to soon launch flu, pneumococcal vaccination schedule

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

India may soon start a national immunization schedule for the elderly people offering flu and pneumococcal vaccines aiming to reduce the burden of respiratory infections and antimicrobial use in this susceptible population.

As a first step towards this direction, the top research body has invited researchers and research institutions to conduct studies to evaluate the effectiveness of these jabs vaccines for flu and pneumonia in reducing infections and subsequent antimicrobial use in the susceptible population.

Post Covid-19 pandemic, the impact of vaccinating the adults against vaccine-preventable diseases in terms of health, social and economic benefits is being increasingly recognized, said a scientist from the premier research body. More so, given that the population over 50 years is expected to represent 27 per cent of the projected population in India in 2036 out of which 13 per cent population will be over 60 years.

"Elderly people suffer from dual medical problems, i.e., both communicable as well as non-communicable diseases. A decline in immunity with age leads to increased risk of infections in the elderly like pneumococcal infection, influenza, tetanus and herpes zoster."

The upper respiratory tract infections (URTI) are among the major causes of morbidity and mortality among the elderly and are responsible for a large number of deaths and hospitalizations, he said.

Incidentally, they also account for major portion of antibiotic prescriptions especially in developing countries, thus fuelling the already ongoing crisis of antibiotic resistance, the scientist noted.

Complete preparations ahead of PM's visit, says CM

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath inspected the proposed visit sites of Prime Minister Narendra Modi here on Monday evening and instructed the officers to complete preparations on time by launching a campaign on war footing. The PM is proposed to arrive in his parliamentary constituency (Varanasi) for a day-long visit on September 23 when he would stay here for 5-6 hours.

To check the preparations, Yogi first landed at the helpad of his own 'dream project' Atal Residential School set up at Karsada. The PM during his visit will formally inaugurate all such schools set up at divisional level in all the 16 divisions of the state to impart standard education to the kids of construction workers as well as orphans of Covid-19 pandemic. During his visit, the CM spent a good time visiting the smart classrooms as the first session there has already started giving admissions to boys and girls from four districts of the divisions. He inquired about the children studying there and their families and also took information about the education system being provided in the school.

He also took detailed information from the children regarding the arrangements for their accommodation, food, education etc. The CM blessed the children to study diligently and progress in life with all their might. He also instructed the officers present on the spot and the school principal to provide a high level education system to the children as per the intention of the government. During the inspection, Yogi interacted with the children in the classroom and took information about their studies. During this, the CM also examined the quality of education by questioning the children about the words written in English on the digital sign boards installed in the classrooms. During the inspection of the classroom, he was seen in the role of a teacher on the sign board. He also saw the school library and the demo of the school's design.

As many as 80 students have been admitted in the school of the age group of 6 to 14 years and they will be provided free quality education in primary, junior high school and secondary school by the state government. The school, built on 12.25 acres with a cost of Rs 66.54 crore. Among the students taking admission in the school, there are 40 boys and 40 girls. Education and boarding facilities will be free for these students. Sports and entertainment facilities will be provided to the children by the government. The CM was accompanied by three local UP Ministers Anil Rajbhar, Ravindra Jaiswal and Dayashankar Mishra 'Dayalu' apart from District Magistrate (DM) S Rajalingam, Chief Development Officer Himanshu Nagpal and other officers.

Then the CM reached Ganjari in Rajatalab area where an international cricket stadium will be built. The PM will lay the foundation stone of the stadium and address a public meeting also there. It will be the first international standard stadium being constructed by the Board of Cricket Control of India (BCCI) in India and for this land has been provided by the state government. After reaching there, the CM inspected the stage, pandal, sitting and other arrangements and asked about all the details from the Divisional Commissioner (DC) Kaushal Raj Sharma. MLAs Neelkanth Tiwari and Awadhesh Singh, Mayor Ashok Tiwari, Zila Panchayat Chairperson Poonam Maurya and others were also present there.

Later, after the on-site inspection, the CM held a meeting at Circuit House and reviewed the development works and law and order apart from all the preparations for the PM's visit. He also offered prayers at Kaal Bhairav and Kashi Vishwanath temples. During his visit, the PM will also attend a programme at Rudraksh International Convention Centre at Sigra where he will give awards to the winners of Kashi Sansad Sanskritik Mahotsav.

Nitish can't be trusted: Chirag

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PRAYAGRAJ

Nitish Kumar will certainly ditch the Opposition alliance, said LJP leader Chirag Paswan while discussing Bihar politics here on Sunday.

Chirag had arrived here to console the Dalit family of which three members had been killed a couple of days ago. Son of Ram Vilas Paswan, Chirag is considered to be a prominent Dalit face in NDA.

Nitish had his eyes on the chair of prime minister and the day he will realise that his dream will not be fulfilled while remaining a part of INDIA, he will waste no time in separating himself from the alliance and search for new partners.

His previous records say that he can go to any extent to grab power. He can join hands with the arch rival Lalu and can ditch him to garner support of the BJP on the other hand.

Time will come soon when Nitish will say good bye to the Opposition alliance, in which he had not been made even convener.

Earlier he was enthusiastically attached to INDIA, but his detachment is quite visible now on different issues. He had ditched the NDA in the past and is the time to do the same with INDIA bloc.

Nitish and Lalu have come together in Bihar to grab power at any cost even by supporting 'corruption' of the RJD.

On being asked for his political comments, Paswan first said that it was no time to discuss politics as he had arrived here for a totally different purpose, but later attacked Nitish Kumar and Lalu family.

He also showered praises on Prime Minister Narendra Modi, and the success of G-20 summit. India is on a totally different platform at present, he added.

Motorcycle rally taken out

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PRAYAGRAJ

To spread awareness amongst the residents about the air display at Sangam on October 8 a motorcycle rally was taken out from the Headquarters Central Air Command to Sangam and back. It was flagged off by Air Vice Marshal JS Mann Vayusena Medal, ACAS Ops (Offensive) and 35 air warriors participated in it with great zeal.

The air warriors interacted with the local populace and informed them about the air display over Sangam and exhorted them to witness the grand event on October 8, from 02.30 pm onwards. The rally also offered an opportunity to the youth to know about the various exciting career options in the Indian Air Force.

Workshop on bird watching and documentation

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ PRAYAGRAJ

Birder lovers and wildlife enthusiasts from Lucknow, Ayodhya, Kanpur and other parts of Uttar Pradesh had a unique opportunity to interact with eminent birdwatchers and photographers and bird data scientists at the state's first workshop on bird watching and documentation organised by Bengaluru-based organisation 'Bird Count India Collective' here. This unique workshop was organised under the supervision of Dr Arpit Bansal- Advanced Laparoscopy and Cancer Surgeon and an acclaimed wildlife and bird photographer. A quiz was also organised at the workshop also attended by some students and teachers from SHUATS Naini.

The Wildlife Institute of India members and volunteers also attended the workshop. Addressing the gathering Dr Arpit Bansal said UP has some fascinating bird species and it calls for their proper documentation and conservation efforts. The eBird.org is one such prestigious online site on which the birdwatchers can upload all details of bird species they have spotted and clicked, besides track bird species in different states in India. "The eBird.org assisted me in organising my short birding trips at the right places. This in turn helped me getting the picture of 1120th bird species found in India and claiming the sixth spot for spotting/clicking over 1100 bird species in India as per eBird.org. Therefore, it is very important for all the birdwatchers to regularly document the presence of bird species on sites like eBird.org, as it will help in their conservation efforts," he pointed out. A scientist with Bird Count India Collective Ashwin Viswanathan said birds and biodiversity in general are declining across the world. To address this India has set ambi-itious goals of reversing this loss, and restoring ecosystems. As part of initiative State of India's Birds 2020 report was the first attempt to assess the conservation status of majority of India's bird species. It identified 101 species of high conservation concern, which require focused efforts. The report also suggests that birds that live in key habitats like open ecosystems, rivers and coasts have declines and so has the population of raptors, migratory shorebirds and ducks. Project coordinator with Bird Count India Mittal Gala said they have identified some bird species in UP that needs high conservation efforts. These species are Indian skimmers black-bellied tern, little tern to name some. If birdwatchers regularly document the details of birds they have clicked/spotted on ebird.org or other similar sites, the data analysts will get clear picture of the bird count, their population trend, nesting sites etc and they will go a long way in conservation efforts. She also appreciated the efforts being done by Dr Bansal in highlighting the birds population in Prayagraj region.

G20 event increased India's reputation, says economist

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

President of Indian Economic Association (IEA) Prof Ghanshyam N Singh said that successfully hosting of the G20 event has increased the country's reputation across the world and now India has become a leader in the world. He was addressing an online National Conclave on 'future challenges of emerging India', organised jointly by IEA and Harishchandra Post-Graduate College (HPGC) as the chief guest. He said that at present our country is the fifth largest economy in the world but there are still both internal and external challenges for the future, for which efforts should be made to overcome through other organisations like G20. He was of the opinion that the Russia-Ukraine war should be ended through dialogue.

The Conference President of the IEA and former Vice-Chancellor (V-C) of Manipur University Prof Adya Prasad Pandey, while presenting a keynote address, said that the biggest challenge facing emerging India is unemployment and the government can reduce it by running skill development related programmes. Along with this, he said that for sustainable and inclusive development, we will have to pay attention to rural development along with cities. He said that there should be proper utilisation of resources in the country and human values should be developed and this will reduce the problems of the country, he added.

Prof RK Upadhyay talked about two types of challenges (internal and external) facing emerging India. Among the internal challenges he talked about the population, unemployment, education and inequality and to deal with these challenges, he suggested promotion of manufacturing. He said that we can achieve demographic dividend through our increased population. Dr Manish Hindvi said that there is no economic development without an increase in income. Dr Anil Kumar Thakur said how income inequality and crime are increasing due to unemployment.

Prof Shyam Pal said that most of the population of our country lives in villages and earn their livelihood from agriculture. The government's aim was to double the income of farmers but it could not be achieved as there is no price stability in agriculture hence the lower class is not getting the benefit of development. Dr Udham Singh of KMCL University, Lucknow said that income inequality is increasing day by day, there is a need for labour reforms and agriculture.

Presiding over the conclave, HPGC Prof Rajnish Kunwar said that our country is facing both internal and external challenges. Under internal challenges, problems like poverty, unemployment, starvation exist and under external problems there are border disputes and country security is important and there is a need to keep the country safe. Prof AK Tomar, Chief Conference Coordinator of the IEA said that poverty and unemployment can be removed from the country by increasing public expenditure on education, health and skill development in our country, which will help in the development of the country. Prof Jagadish Singh, Regional Joint Secretary of IEA and Head of Economics department, HPGC said that our country is moving towards a five trillion dollar economy and the country is facing both internal and external problems.

Dr DK Asthana, General Secretary IEA said that everything cannot be left in the hands of the government. Technical support was provided by Dr Monika Varshney and Karunesh Ojha. Prof Shashi Jain, Dr Remmiya Rajan P, Dr Vikram Singh, Prof Ripu Daman Singh, Prof Mukulika Hitkari, Dr Vivek Singh, Dr Priya Mittal, Dr Anju Aggarwal, Dr Tarun Kumar Dwivedi, Prof Hanuman Prasad, Prof Praveen Sharma, Dr Marutesh, Dr MS Khan, Dr Poonam Gupta, Dr Sahab Singh, Dr Rachna and Dr Archana Mudgal also participated.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Old giveth way...

The first day of Parliament's special session was its last in the old building

It can now be said with certain confidence that there is nothing special about the special session of Parliament, which got under way yesterday after prolonged suspense regarding the agenda. The only highlight may perhaps be that Parliament will henceforth assemble in the new building. The Government wanted to hold the monsoon session in the new building but could not since it was not ready then, so, it appears, it thought of a special five-day session. In a way, the move is to showcase the new Parliament House and bid adieu to the old building which would now be a relic serving as a museum. While most MPs were nostalgic about parting ways with the old building, they also hailed their new working place in the grand, state-of-the-art Parliament House. The special session began with an address by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in the Lok Sabha, where he talked about several significant events that have taken place on the old premises. He also hoped that the old building will continue to inspire generations with its rich heritage. The Prime Minister took this opportunity to also enumerate the important Bills passed by his Government, pointing out that several historic decisions and solutions to issues pending for decades were reached in the old building. "The House will always say proudly that (abrogation of) Article 370 became possible due to it. GST was also passed here. One Rank One Pension was witnessed by this House. Ten per cent reservation for the economically weaker sections was successfully allowed in the country for the first time without any dispute," he said to thunderous applause.

Earlier, MoS (Parliamentary Affairs) Arjun Ram Meghwal had informed the MPs that Indian Parliament's "journey of 75 years will be discussed throughout the day" but that did not happen. Instead, the day was all about speeches from the Treasury benches and the Opposition, mainly the Congress. Opposition leader Mallikarjun Kharge did not mince words in attacking the Government over its alleged misuse of CBI-ED in muzzling the dissenting voices. Quoting Nehru, he said he believed that the absence of a strong Opposition meant that there were significant drawbacks in the system. If there is no strong Opposition, it is not right. Now that there is a strong Opposition, the focus is on weakening it through ED and CBI, he claimed. The special session will include five sittings across five days, with a focus on discussing eight legislative items. Additionally, there will be deliberations on the "parliamentary journey of 75 years", encompassing achievements, experiences, memories and learnings. However, how much business is actually transacted in the House remains to be seen. But the bleak possibility of the Government sneaking something up its sleeve and shocking the parliamentarians at a time suited to it appears dimmer each passing minute. We should also, as a responsible nation, not play into paranoia and celebrate the old yielding place to the new: It was simply about shifting from the old building to the new.

G20 Summit: Towards a just world order

Challenges remain, and the road ahead is not free of headwinds but a strong push has been made

The just concluded G20 meeting in Delhi has been an unqualified success. India, while fulfilling its responsibility of holding the G20 Presidency, has demonstrated an inspiring leadership of the issues of the Global South. The path of the G20 summit, from Indonesia last year to India, to Brazil later this year and from there to South Africa, augurs well for the rightful assertion of the Global South within the international community.

Like most other international bodies, the G20 carries with it a cause of concern — as it contains the world's most powerful and influential in its origins. The path of the upcoming summits, as it traverses through the nations of the Global South, however, provides hope of giving momentum to the next phase of decolonisation.

The first phase of decolonisation, which concluded by the middle of the last century, saw strong momentum embodied by nationalist struggles leading up, with a few notable exceptions, to the physical ouster of occupiers and the first steps of liberation of the Global South.

From quite early on, the Global South realised the need to build collective energies to counter the hegemonies of the Global North, and this saw the Bandung Conference in 1955 and the Non-Aligned Movement that continued to the early 1990s. With a hiatus brought about by the end of the Cold War, we see today renewed recognition of the need to resist the continued hegemony of the Global North.

In that context, the decision to welcome the African Union as a permanent member of the G20 will shape the ideas of planetary futures. Powered by the suffering of plundered pasts, popular momentums and a youthful future, there can be little doubt that the peoples and states of the African continent will eventually define the future of equality and justice together with the other nations of the Global South. The G20 New Delhi Leaders' Declaration, adopted as a consensus document, shows four key departure points. These include the issue of climate justice, the expressed need for debt restructuring, the agenda of gender equality and empowerment of all women and girls and the war in Ukraine.

Climate action also presents a significant arena for decolonisation. Peoples and nations of the Global South have contributed the least to the climate crisis and yet suffer the most. Within the G20, the G7, in particular, carry the historical responsibility for most damage and, therefore, must shoulder the burden/weight of reparations and compensation for damage. Indeed, climate justice needs to adopt the principle of common but differentiated responsibility. The document spells out the need for adequate climate financing by the Global North.

The Delhi Declaration brought a sharp focus on global debt vulnerabilities, especially as related to low- and middle-income countries. Progressive opinion has long pushed the agenda of debt cancellation, as the pos-

Congress leaders are upbeat after the weekend Congress Working Committee meeting in Hyderabad

They are ready to plunge into poll mode. The CWC, the Party's highest policy-making body agreed on several contentious and sensitive topics and planned its future course. The meeting was the first after Mallikarjun Kharge became party president. The Gandhis had a strong presence, with Sonia, Rahul, and Priyanka attending the conference. Following three productive gatherings of the Opposition coalition in INDIA, the CWC members voiced their backing for Rahul Gandhi's leadership and their intention to move forward with the Bharat Jodo Yatra 2-0. There was a sense of assurance and positivity in the air. The choice of Hyderabad as the capital of bifurcated — Telangana is significant as assembly polls are due in three months. The Congress has lost both bifurcated states — Andhra Pradesh since 2014.

After considering the political, economic and security situations, the CWC emphatically declared that it is fully prepared for the upcoming Assembly polls and the 2024 Lok Sabha. Congress presented itself as an alternative to the BJP with the support of the INDIA coalition.

Congress leaders are optimistic about INDIA alliance. The Grand Old Party wants to play a primary role in the coalition and criticised the Modi government's failure on all fronts, particularly in Manipur and Kashmir. One of the 14 resolutions said, "The CWC reiterates the Congress party's resolve to make the INDIA initiative an ideological and electoral success so that our country is freed from divisive and polarising politics, the forces of social equity and justice are strengthened, and the people get a Union Government that is responsible, responsive, sensitive, transparent and accountable." In essence, this will be the thrust of the poll campaign.

This message serves as a reaffirmation of the Party's unwavering commitment to its alliance partners. There have been doubts about it because of the inherent contradictions among the players. The Party strategized for the upcoming Lok Sabha and Assembly elections in Telangana, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan, and Mizoram. It took note of the challenges including differing views between the central leadership and specific state units on forming alliances and adjusting seats with some members of the INDIA coalition.

According to internal assessments, the Party expects trouble from within its Punjab, Delhi, and West Bengal ranks. Party leaders in Punjab and Delhi don't support the rival Aam Aadmi Party. In West Bengal, the state leadership competes directly with the Trinamool Congress.

In Rajasthan, the Congress and BJP are closely competing for power. Based on internal surveys, the Congress party has a slight advantage in Chhattisgarh and a stronger position in Madhya Pradesh. Party insiders also report that the Congress is gaining momentum in Telangana. The Party organised a two-day event to celebrate Hyderabad Day on September 17th, which marks the city's inclusion in India in 1948.

Resolutions about legislative business in Parliament mainly centred on rejecting proposals to review the Constitution. The Party demanded the one-third women's reservation Bill and augmented reservation limits for SCs, STs, and OBCs. These measures aim to win over various voter groups.

THE GRAND OLD PARTY WANTS TO PLAY A PRIMARY ROLE IN THE COALITION. IT HAS CRITICISED THE MODI GOVERNMENT'S FAILURE ON ALL FRONTS

The CWC also opposed a proposed Bill to amend the salary, allowance, and service conditions of the Chief Election Commissioner and the two Election Commissioners. They argued that the bill may harm the independence of the Election Commission.

The CWC has opposed the BJP's proposal of "one nation, one poll," citing it as unconstitutional. Nevertheless, the Modi government has established a committee, led by former President Ram Nath Kovind, to explore the feasibility of conducting coexistent elections for Lok Sabha, state Assemblies, municipalities, and panchayats.

One resolution criticized the heartlessness of the BJP for celebrating Modi's G20 achievements during a crisis in Jammu and Kashmir, disrespecting the sacrifice of security personnel.

Meanwhile, the Congress is careful and avoids controversial topics by stating that they believe in the principle of sarva dharma sambhavana. Significantly, at a public rally in Madhya Pradesh, Prime Minister Modi recently accused INDIA bloc of trying to eliminate Sanatana culture and making it a political agenda for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls. At the public rally following the CWC, Sonia Gandhi made six promises for the upcoming Telangana elections. Sonia has announced several benefits, which are as follows:

1. Women will receive a monthly sum of ₹2,500.
2. Farmers and tenant farmers will receive an annual amount of ₹15,000.
3. Home loans who need them.
4. Homeless will receive house sites and a sum of ₹5 lakhs.
5. Programs to support the development of young people.
6. Medical assistance to all needy citizens.

These benefits were aimed at attracting voters with freebies.

The Congress, however, has yet to reveal its new narrative, while it is clear that ideology is the central plank. The Congress has to work hard to improve its position. The success of the Party will depend on several factors, including seat sharing, candidate selection, Alliance, resources, and worker support. But the worker's morale has been boosted.

A REMARKABLE VICTORY IN THE ASIA CUP

Sir — India achieved a remarkable victory in the Asia Cup by defeating Sri Lanka by 10 wickets, securing their eighth title across formats. Sri Lanka was bowled out for a mere 50 runs, marking the lowest-ever ODI total against India. Pacer Mohammed Siraj made history by becoming the first Indian to claim four wickets in a single over in international cricket. He also joined the ranks of the quickest bowlers to secure an ODI five-wicket haul.

Winning the Asia Cup final held significant importance for India as it allowed them to establish a winning mindset and peak at the right time before the World Cup. This victory will undoubtedly boost the players' confidence and momentum heading into the upcoming event. We, the Indian people, hope for further success in the World Cup, aiming to bring glory to our nation.

A SIGNIFICANT STRIDE IN JUSTICE

Sir — The Supreme Court has taken a momentous step towards enhancing transparency and addressing the persistent issue of case backlog. The integration of real-time case data from the Supreme Court with the National Judicial Data Grid (NJDG) portal holds the promise of being a game-changer. The NJDG is an extensive database that encompasses information regarding orders, judgments, and case details from numerous district, subordinate courts, and high courts throughout the nation. It was established as part of the e-Courts Project.

This integration ensures that the NJDG portal will consistently provide up-to-date information on cases pending before the Supreme Court. Currently, the NJDG holds a vast repository of 23 crore orders and judgments, spanning both civil and criminal cases. This development is crucial in addressing India's persistent issue of case backlogs, with approximately five crore cases pending nationwide. It is imperative for both central and state governments, who are significant lit-

Unveiling of new parliament building

India is poised to mark history with the unveiling of the new Parliament House, a symbol of the nation's indomitable spirit and its relentless pursuit of progress. This state-of-the-art infrastructure is set to welcome the presiding members of Parliament, speakers of both houses, and various nominated and invitee dignitaries. It boasts a seating capacity of approximately 1272 seats for members of the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha.

The existing Parliament building, constructed in 1927 under the supervision of British architects Lutyens and Baker, has witnessed the evolution of Indian politics up to the 75th year of the country's independence. In the face of rapid developments and dynamic changes, the Central Vista project is poised to inscribe the history of New India with greater accountability and responsibility.

igants, to actively participate in reducing this backlog. This can be accomplished through investments in judicial infrastructure, filling judicial vacancies, and curbing frivolous litigation. However, the most effective solution involves a comprehensive overhaul of the judicial system, encompassing digitalisation of workflows and procedural reforms. The NJDG, established in 2015, plays a pivotal role in these reforms, utilising technology to expedite the delivery of justice. Recently, the Union Cabinet approved Phase III of the e-Courts Project. PROTECTING THE OZONE LAYER

Sir — The slogan "Ozone for Life" and the theme of fixing the ozone layer to reduce climate change take center stage on this year's International Day for the Preservation of the Ozone Layer. On September 16, 1994, the UN General Assembly pledged to protect it from harmful ultraviolet rays and phase out ozone-depleting substances within a specified timeframe. While the extent of the ozone layer's depletion is still under scrutiny, recent findings from scientists worldwide indicate an overall healing trend. A new UN report provides encouraging insights into the state of our Earth's protective shield, projecting its recovery within approximately 43 years. This could save the lives of 2 million people annually.

Direct exposure to harmful UV rays poses a significant threat to various species and can lead to skin cancer, cataracts, reduced agricultural productivity, and disruptions in marine ecosystems, thereby disturbing the delicate balance of Earth's ecosystem. In light of such alarming revelations, the Kigali Amendment in 2016 extended the protocol's scope to include hydrofluorocarbons (HFCs), potent greenhouse gases. The Kyoto Protocol in Japan in 1997 emphasized the need to reduce greenhouse gases, indirectly contributing to the protection of the ozone layer. The Montreal Protocol in 1987, ratified by 187 countries, and the Kigali Amendment have significantly curbed the use of chemicals in refrigeration and air conditioning, as well as other ozone-depleting substances (ODS). This represents one of the greatest victories for the human race.

TRAITS OF A SUCCESSFUL LEADER

A successful leader must be highly motivated and a team worker

RAVI VALLURI

Once perched on a hilltop was a consummate tea maker. His virtuosity in the craft was unparalleled. Serpentine queues of curious onlookers, expectant youngsters seeking to become apprentices and tea lovers desirous of savouring the elixir of life called tea were a commonplace sight outside his dwelling.

One day a querulous Samurai happened to singe his tongue while sipping the Master's tea. Piqued and incensed, he challenged the master to a duel.

"I am an ignoramus in strategy and warfare. My entire life has been spent perfecting the art of making tea," exclaimed the tea maker. He took a momentous decision to pass on his legacy and the reins of the establishment to his favourite student. Giving him his sword, he asked the greenhorn to face the challenger by raising the weapon in the same manner that he raised the teapot.

Accepting the advice, the mentee raised the sword without a glitch, undeviating. The combatant was awe-struck seeing the acolyte wield the sword with remarkable countenance.

The story reveals how mastery of one craft is of greater significance than attempting to master multiple skills just to appear more formidable. Certainly, an individual can multitask but only after becoming proficient in one's craft.

CORE COMPETENCY MATTERS

As a marketing strategy, corporations like the Tatas and the Reliance group have cannonaded the electronic and print media with their products. The focus on their core competency never wavers, even as they diversify into different product lines.

Phenomenal all-rounder cricketers like Imran Khan, Kapil Dev, Garry Sobers, the talismanic Chappell brothers, and Shaun Pollock among others have embellished the game of cricket with their splendid stellar performances.

Albert Einstein, one of the two pillars of modern physics is better known for his scientific contributions rather than his ability to play the piano, even though he was more than an amateur in the latter craft.

UPGRADING AND ENRICHING SKILLS

The unrevealed secret of any triumphant leadership is to burnish particular expertise and then make forays into uncharted territories. Psychologists have zeroed in on certain compelling traits that separate celebratory individuals and organizations from the pedestrian.

These are intellectual and personal skills and enhancing creativity to deliver in such a manner as to be the cynosure on the world stage.

INTELLECTUAL AND PERSONAL SKILLS

Primary among these skills is the ability to establish a connection, to empathize. The finesse and aptness to lionize interest in other cultures, experiences, values, points of view, goals and desires provide the cutting edge.

Exceptional leaders have the uncanny skill of disentangling and decoding the most complex and vexed problems. This is often the defining moment in their lives and careers. The momentous decision of Dhoni to tweak the batting order against the Lions of the Emerald Island piloted India to victory in the 2014 World Cup final. The iconoclastic Steve Jobs was expelled from Apple, the company he co-founded, yet he went on to establish Pixar which dramatically altered the contours of the animation industry.

COMMUNICATION: A TWO-WAY PROCESS

Personality attributes defined by an attitude of glasnost and perestroika are centrifugal characteristics of achievers. They wade through the swathes of covenants, conventions and doctrines to discover perceptible solutions. Intrepid and mettlesome individuals or organizations have the quintessential ability to communicate ideas, feelings and emotions both formally and informally. This ability makes them successful leaders.

An idea whose time has come

The idea of "One Nation, One Election" is a reverberation from the past. Though there are hurdles on the way, it is the way to go

While this proposition may appear to be a recent entrant in the annals of public discourse, the concept was, in fact, the status quo in the early formative years of the Indian democratic landscape. From 1952 to 1967, simultaneous elections were the norm, ensuring a rhythm and consistency in the political and governance cycles. However, this period of synchronisation began to disintegrate between 1968 and 1969, when a state of premature dissolutions of several state assemblies led to a ripple effect that skewed the election timelines irrevocably.

While the merits and demerits of reviving the simultaneous elections are vigorously debated, it's important to recognize the judicial perspectives that have, in an indirect way, endorsed the need for political stability—a cornerstone argument for "One Nation, One Election." Specifically, seminal judgments like Kihoto Hollohan vs. Zachillhu And Others (1992) and SR Bommai v. Union of India (1994) serve as critical touchpoints in this context. Although these cases did not directly tackle the subject of simultaneous elections, their implications are far-reaching.

The Supreme Court, in Kihoto Hollohan, upheld the constitutionality of anti-defection laws, thereby affirming the need for legislative stability. Similarly, in SR Bommai, the apex court circumscribed the discretionary use of Article 356 by the President on the advice of the Cabinet, emphasising the sanctity of democratically elected state governments. In essence, these landmark judgments underline the judiciary's stance on the necessity for political stability and offer an implicit nod to ideas like "One Nation, One Election," which aim to create a more stable and predictable political environment.

The financial repercussions of separate elections are monumental. The figures are staggering, both for the Lok Sabha and the state elections. Let's talk numbers. The 2014 General Elections cost the exchequer INR 3,870 crores, a sum that could have easily funded several crucial social welfare programs whilst the estimated figures on the total expenditure rose to almost INR 30,000 crores. The 2019 elections escalated the costs even further, reportedly costing INR 60,000 crores when considering the total expenditure, including that by political parties and candidates. This is significant in the notion of the concept of 'One Nation One Election' because of the exponential rise in the estimated total expenditure during elections rising from INR 10,000 crores in the year 1998 to almost 60,000 crores in 2019. However, let's look beyond mere financials.

A lurking concern that doesn't catch the public eye as much as it should is the Model Code of Conduct (MCC). The MCC comes into effect as soon as elections are announced, freezing all new development activities and policy announcements. Considering that India virtually remains in an election mode year-round, the MCC has a long-term chilling effect on governance. Infrastructure projects face constant delays, policy implementation gets mired in uncertainties, and long-term planning takes a backseat. The MCC, in its current ubiquitous presence, essentially acts as a straitjacket on governance.

To pivot the country towards a "One Nation, One Election" model, a multi-tiered strategy will have to be envisioned. The challenge, constitutionally speaking, is colossal. A slew of amendments will have to be enacted. Article 83(2), which stipulates the term of the Lok Sabha, and Article 172, concerning the term of the state legislative assemblies, will need to be revised. While the constitutional changes form the bedrock of this transformation, the practical aspects cannot be overlooked. Logistically speaking, the transition would necessitate a massive upgrade in electoral infrastructure. The Election Commission would require more Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) and Voter-Verified Paper Audit Trails (VVPATs).

THE FINANCIAL REPERCUSSIONS OF SEPARATE ELECTIONS ARE MONUMENTAL. THE FIGURES ARE STAGGERING, BOTH FOR THE LOK SABHA AND THE STATE ELECTIONS

(Writer is a legal expert; studied law at King's College, London)

So, what's the likely timeline for this tectonic shift? The drafting and passing of constitutional amendments alone could take up to two years, considering the political negotiations involved. A pilot phase, involving a few states, could take another two years. If successful, a phased rollout might consume an additional four to six years. Thus, we're looking at a timeline that stretches across nearly a decade, crossing multiple electoral cycles. The "One Nation, One Election" idea, although ambitious, reflects the aspirations of a nation that aims to balance its democratic ethos with administrative efficiency. It's a complex task, steeped in legal intricacies and logistical challenges. Yet, the potential advantages it offers—fiscal responsibility, governance stability, and administrative focus—make it a concept that demands serious attention. In a country as diverse and complex as India, the change will be anything but straightforward.

The prospective advantages of "One Nation, One Election" are multifold and transcend beyond fiscal savings. The idea also promises to bring a certain degree of predictability into the Indian political landscape. This stability, in turn, could make governance more accountable and transparent. But what about the international perspective? One compelling example is the United Kingdom, which had for decades operated under a system of 'snap elections' triggered by various factors including the loss of a no-confidence motion or the decision of the ruling party. This changed with the Fixed-term Parliaments Act of 2011, championed by then Prime Minister David Cameron. The Act stipulated that general elections would be held every five years on the first Thursday in May. This reform brought a semblance of predictability into the British electoral process and has since been a point of reference for other democracies looking to streamline their electoral systems.

Implementing the "One Nation, One Election" idea would necessitate the realignment of several constitutional provisions. Article 356, which allows for President's Rule, and Article 365, concerning failure to comply with or to give effect to directions given by the Union, could both serve as disruptors to a fixed-term electoral cycle. Thus, modifications to these Articles, likely via constitutional amendments, would be necessary to create a legally sound foundation for simultaneous elections.

Moreover, the Election Commission of India would need to undergo massive infrastructural and logistical changes to implement this mammoth task. Advanced planning, down to the last detail, would be required. An exhaustive database would have to be created and maintained to ensure that electoral rolls are accurate, reflecting the dynamic demographic changes of a nation with a population of over 1.3 billion. Technological improvements, including the potential deployment of blockchain technology for secure and transparent elections, could also be explored. Given the grand scale of this change, one could argue that a decade might be an optimistic estimate for its full implementation. The first two to three years could be devoted solely to building a bipartisan consensus, followed by meticulous legal drafting. The pilot projects, reviews, and nationwide implementation could then be staggered over the remaining years.

The reality is that "One Nation, One Election" is a vision that demands serious contemplation. It requires us to juggle constitutional amendments, tackle logistical nightmares, address political concerns, and yet keep the democratic spirit intact. It's a high-stakes gamble, with the potential for monumental gains. The dividends it promises in terms of governance, fiscal responsibility, and administrative convenience, are too significant to overlook. It cannot just reform but transform the way India administers itself. In a country where every policy and every reform is intensely scrutinised, critiqued, and debated, the road to "One Nation, One Election" will undoubtedly be fraught with hurdles. Yet, it is an idea whose time has come, and it is up to the collective wisdom of the Indian polity to navigate the intricacies and lay down a roadmap for one of the most significant electoral reforms in Indian history.

Meghalaya can reap rich dividends from export of pineapple

Pineapple can be a great money spinner for the state but its processing industry is in its infancy due to expensive canning and the high cost of inputs

A conjoint analysis of local consumers' preferences for pineapple, funded by the Indonesian government in Labuhan Batu district, North Sumatra, in 2021, revealed that consumers like the yellowish-green fruit, which has a sweet taste, great size, pungent flavour, soft and smooth texture. Though consumer preferences for the fruit that sports a crown have yet to be studied in India, the Meghalaya variety ticks all the boxes, standing tall among numerous varieties available worldwide.

Mother Nature has a special place for Meghalaya. Apart from the natural beauty and the lush rolling hills, the north-eastern state offers perfect climatic conditions for cultivating the perennial herbaceous plant. The fruit grows well in

SK MALHOTRA

(The writer is former Agriculture and Horticulture Commissioner, Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare, Govt of India. Views expressed are personal) areas such as Ri Bhoi, East Khasi, Garo Hills, in Meghalaya, as long as the temperatures are not extreme. The optimum temperature required for successful cultivation is 22-32 degrees C. Sandy loam soils with a pH of 5.0-6.0, precisely the kind of soil pineapple cultivation requires, have plenty in Meghalaya. These help the Meghalaya pineapple to become more delicious and nutrient-rich than its peers and find a special place in the hearts of both within and outside the state. These have won the hearts and tastes in the international markets as well.

Nutritionally, Meghalaya pineapple is a powerhouse. They are rich sources of vitamins A and C, potassium and essential nutritional fibre, making them an obvious choice for aficionados seeking both flavour and nutrients simultaneously in their diet. The fruit contains vitamins A, B, and C and calcium, magnesium, potassium, and iron. It is also high in bromelain, a digesting enzyme. The fruit can be eaten fresh or in juice, jam, squash, or syrup. In India, canned slices and liquid are in high demand, accounting for over 70% of total production.

Meghalaya contributes over 8% of India's pineapple production, making it a key player in India's agriculture map. From 1,38,701 MT production in 2019-20, pineapple production in Meghalaya has grown significantly over the last few years. Apart from the unique flavour of Meghalayan pineapple, the deep flesh of this pineapple consists of a profusion of juiciness, adding to the overall sensory appeal.

Of the two principal varieties -- Giant Kew and Queen Pineapple, the former is famous for its high BRIX value. Ri-Bhoi district ranks first in pineapple manufacturing in Meghalaya, accounting for 38% of the state's total pineapple production, followed by West Garo Hills district with 62% of the produce.

The Meghalaya pineapples are produced using age-old organic agricultural practices, free from artificial fertilisers and insecticides. As a result, these pineapples contain significantly less metallic and pesticide residue. Natural and conventional cultivation practices make sure that there aren't any harmful chemical residues in the fruit. Thanks to natural, organic and traditional farming practices, those pineapples are remarkably resistant to pests and sicknesses. However, the remote nature of the terrain adds to the aggregation of costs in the case of Meghalaya pineapples. Thus, a unique challenge remains to reach trade hubs, and markets like Delhi and Mumbai via road /rail for a perishable fruit like pineapple. The pineapple processing industry is still in its infancy due to expensive canning and the high cost of fruit, sugar, containers, and overheads. Fresh pineapple marketing is very challenging.

Beyond its emphasised focus on Pineapple, the Government of Meghalaya has taken up several initiatives to its aspiration to improve farming livelihoods and double their income. So far, through various mission mode interventions for various products like Lakadong Turmeric, Honey, Aroma, Ginger, Spice, Pepper, Khasi Mandarin, Piggery and others. Along with these, to improve the value chain support, the Government has established about 200 CMC as one-stop shops for assisting farmers and primary farmgate infrastructure being set up to be the nodes for aggregation, processing and marketing of produce in the villages and clusters under the project. Through PRIME Agri Response Vehicle more than 110 farmer groups have been supported with a 50% subsidy and 20 Farmer Markets have been established, to improve the market linkages and provide farmers with wholistic support.

However, despite the odds, tremendous progress has been achieved through persistent efforts by the Government of Meghalaya in the last few years. Issues related to post-harvest management losses have been addressed by installing Cold storage in pineapple clusters. New marketing channels were created to aid farmers in improving visibility and logistics beyond state borders. The government of Meghalaya is exploring options to indulge export-oriented social enterprises in setting up frozen fruit processing units within the active Pineapple clusters, which could be a way to overcome the bottlenecks plaguing the investment milieu of the state.

China flies 103 military planes towards Taiwan

AP ■ TAIPEI

China's military sent 103 warplanes toward Taiwan in a 24-hour period in what the island's defense ministry called a recent new high.

The planes were detected between 6 am on Sunday and 6 am on Monday, the ministry said. As is customary, they turned back before reaching Taiwan.

Chinese warplanes fly toward the self-governing island on a near-daily basis but typically in smaller numbers. The Taiwan ministry didn't explain what time period it meant by a "recent" high. China, which claims Taiwan as part of its territory, has conducted increasingly large military drills in the air and waters around Taiwan as tensions have grown between the two and with the United States.

The US is Taiwan's main supplier of arms and opposes any attempt to change Taiwan's status by force. The Chinese government would prefer that Taiwan come under its control voluntarily and last week unveiled a plan for an integrated development demonstration zone in Fujian province, trying to entice Taiwanese even as it threatens the island militarily in what experts say is China's long-running carrot and stick approach.

The recent actions may be an attempt to sway Taiwan's presidential election in January. The governing Democratic Progressive Party, which leans toward formal independence for the island, is anathema to the Chinese leadership. China favours opposition candidates who advocate working with the mainland.

The presidential candidates had no immediate comment Monday on the latest Chinese military activity. Taiwan's Defense Ministry said 40 of the planes crossed the symbolic median line between mainland China and the island. They included more than 30 fighter jets as well as midair refuelling tanker planes. Taiwan also reported nine Chinese naval vessels in area waters in the previous 24 hours.

The ministry called the Chinese military action "harassment" that it warned could escalate in the current tense atmosphere.

"We urge the Beijing authorities to bear responsibility and immediately stop such kind of destructive military activities," it said in a statement.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Mao Ning, asked about the reported military activity, said there is no such thing as a "median line" because Taiwan is part of Chinese territory.

China last week sent a flotilla of ships including the aircraft carrier Shandong into waters near Taiwan. The drills came shortly after the US and Canada sailed warships through the Taiwan Strait, the waters that separate the island from the mainland.

Russia urges UN's top court to toss out Ukrainian case

AP ■ THE HAGUE

Russia on Monday called a Ukrainian case alleging that Moscow abused the Genocide Convention to justify its invasion last year an "abuse of process," as lawyers for Moscow sought to have judges at the United Nations' highest court throw it out. As a series of lawyers laid out Moscow's objections to the case, the leader of Russia's legal team at the International Court of Justice, Gennady Kuzmin, told the 16-judge panel that Ukraine's case that the court does not have jurisdiction and that the genocide convention cannot be used to regulate use of force by nations. Ukraine's legal team will respond Tuesday and urge judges to press ahead to hearings on the substance of its claims.

In his opening speech, Kuzmin echoed Russian claims about what he called "neo-Nazis" in Kyiv and drew parallels between Russia's Assault unit commander from the 3rd Assault Brigade who goes by the call sign 'Fedya', passes by the body of a dead Russian soldier at the frontline in Andriivka, Donetsk region, Ukraine, Saturday, Sept. 16, 2023. tute grave violations of the human rights of millions of people across Ukraine." Lawyers for Russia insist that the court does not have jurisdiction and that the genocide convention cannot be used to regulate use of force by nations. Ukraine's legal team will respond Tuesday and urge judges to press ahead to hearings on the substance of its claims.

In his opening speech, Kuzmin echoed Russian claims about what he called "neo-Nazis" in Kyiv and drew parallels between Russia's attack on Ukraine and the 1999 NATO airstrikes on Serbia aimed at halting Belgrade's military campaign in Kosovo. Ukraine brought the case to the Hague-based court based on the 1948 Genocide Convention, which both Moscow and Kyiv have ratified. In an interim ruling in March 2022, the court ordered Russia to halt hostilities in Ukraine, a binding legal ruling that Moscow has flouted as it presses ahead with its devastating attacks on Ukrainian towns and cities.

Pope meets new Russian envoy

Vatican City (AP): Russia's new ambassador to the Vatican met on Monday with Pope Francis for a protocol visit, as signs emerged that the Vatican's Ukraine peace envoy could soon be undertaking a second mission to Moscow. The Vatican said Ambassador Ivan Soltanovsky was presenting his credentials to Francis, signalling the official start of his term. His motorcade was seen leaving the Russian embassy Monday morning, bound for the Vatican, and returning about two hours later.

Soltanovsky replaced Ambassador Alexander Avdeev, whom Francis met with on February 25, 2022 in a remarkable in-person papal visit to the embassy the day after Moscow's forces invaded Ukraine.

The credential presentation appointment comes after Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov said in recent days that Moscow was ready to meet again with Francis' Ukraine peace envoy, Cardinal Matteo Zuppi, a veteran of the Catholic Church's peace initiatives. "The Vatican is continuing its efforts. The papal envoy will come back (to Russia) soon," Lavrov said on September 15 at a roundtable discussion on Ukraine. Since Zuppi was appointed in May, he has visited Kyiv, Moscow, Washington and Beijing.

Initially his mandate appeared limited to measures to try to reunite Ukrainian children taken to Russia after Moscow's invasion. But during his meeting last week with Li Hui, China's special representative for Eurasian affairs, the resumption of stalled grain exports from Ukraine's Black Sea ports was also discussed.

Pak court issues notice to FIA on bail plea of Imran

AP ■ ISLAMABAD

The Islamabad High Court on Monday issued a notice to Pakistan's top investigation agency seeking its response to the post-arrest bail plea of jailed former prime minister Imran Khan in a case related to the alleged disclosure of state secrets. Khan, 70, through his lawyer Salman Safdar filed a petition in the Islamabad High Court on Saturday against rejection of his post-arrest bail by a special court that is proceeding against him and former foreign minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi in the case.

The special court on September 13 extended the judicial remand of Khan and two-time foreign minister Qureshi till September 26 in the cipher case. Both Khan and Qureshi have been accused of violating the secret laws of the country regarding a document sent by the Pakistan embassy in March last year that has gone missing.

Islamabad High Court Chief Justice Aamer Farooq after hearing the arguments by Khan's lawyer issued notice to the Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) and directed it to submit its response to his petition.

Later, the court adjourned the hearing until next week. Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party confirmed in a WhatsApp message. The FIA launched the case last month and Khan was arrested when he was in the Attock Jail.

Khan has been kept in the Attock Jail since August 5 after his conviction in the Toshakhana corruption case. His sentence was suspended by the Islamabad High Court (IHC) on August 29, but he continues to remain in Attock prison in the cipher case.

Qureshi, 67-year-old former foreign minister, was arrested under the Official Secrets Act for violating the secrecy of the official cable sent by the Pakistani embassy in the US to the foreign office when he was the foreign minister.

The cipher case was filed last month against Khan on the allegations of violating secret laws of the country in the matter of a cable sent by the Pakistan embassy in Washington in March last year.

In March last year, ahead of the vote of no-confidence that resulted in his ouster, Khan pulled out a piece of paper - allegedly the cipher - from his pocket and waved it at a public rally in Islamabad, claiming it was the evidence of an "international conspiracy" being hatched to topple his government.

However, during the interrogation with the joint investigation team (JIT) in the jail on August 26, Khan denied that the paper he waved at a public gathering last year was the cipher. He also admitted to losing the cipher, saying he couldn't recall where he kept it.

His principal secretary Azam Khan stated before a magistrate and the FIA that the Khan used it for his 'political gains' and to avert a vote of no-confidence against him.

The purported cipher (secret diplomatic cable) contained an account of a meeting between US State Department officials, including Assistant Secretary of State for the Bureau of South and Central Asian Affairs Donald Lu, and Pakistani envoy Asad Majeed Khan last year.

Of late, Khan has come under increased scrutiny following the publication of a purported copy of the secret cable by the US media outlet The Intercept, with many in the previous government led by Shehbaz Sharif pointing fingers at the PTI chief for being the source of the leak.

Khan, who served as the country's prime minister until April last year, currently faces around 180 cases.

China's Foreign Minister heads to Moscow

AP ■ BEIJING

China's top foreign policy official is heading to Russia for security talks after two days of meetings with US President Joe Biden's national security adviser over the weekend in Malta. Foreign Minister Wang Yi, who simultaneously holds the ruling Communist Party's top foreign policy post, will be in Russia from Monday to Thursday for a round of China-Russia strategic security consultations, the Foreign Ministry said in a brief statement.

The US and China are at odds over Russia's invasion of Ukraine. China has refrained from taking sides in the war, saying that while a country's territory must be respected, the West needs to consider Russia's security concerns about NATO expansion.

Ukraine fires 6 dy. defence ministers

AP ■ KYIV (UKRAINE)

Six Ukrainian deputy defence ministers were fired Monday following the dismissal two weeks ago of Defence Minister Oleksii Reznikov in a corruption scandal, officials said, as heavy fighting continued in the east.

Russia claimed to have struck key Ukrainian facilities in air attacks overnight, hitting stores of Storm Shadow missiles and depleted uranium ammunition along with electronic intelligence centers and training facilities for Ukrainian military scouts. The deputy defence ministers fired included Hanna Maliar, Vitalii Deyneha and Denys Sharapov, as well as the state secretary of the Ministry of Defence, Kostiantyn Vashchenko, were fired, according to the Telegram account of Taras Melnychuk, permanent representative of the Cabinet of Ministers.

Melnychuk provided no explanation of the firings, but the government has been investigating accusations of corruption in the military related to purchasing equipment. Rustem Umerov, a Crimean Tatar lawmaker who took over as defence minister, did not immediately issue a statement.

Reznikov was removed earlier this month after a scandal involving the defence ministry's procurement of military jackets at three times their cost. Reznikov denied the allegations but resigned.

The reshuffling of the department came a day after Ukraine's military said it captured the village of Klishchiivka from Russian troops after months of fierce battles. Fighting continued Monday as troops tried to hold the village south of the Russian-held city of Bakhmut in the eastern Donetsk region. Its recapture followed the retaking of the nearby village of Andriivka. "The enemy is trying with all his might to regain lost positions," Maliar said in a briefing Monday before she was fired. "Therefore, our fighters hold back the enemy's attacks there and are entrenched at the achieved frontiers."

Retaking Klishchiivka is considered tactically important, allowing Ukrainian forces to further extend their gains around Bakhmut.

Russia invaded Ukraine in February last year. Ukraine launched a counteroffensive in June that so far has been marked by small victories but no major breakthroughs. Despite being bolstered by NATO-standard weapons worth billions of dollars, Ukrainian military officials have said there are no quick solutions to puncture Russian defensive lines — only slow, grinding battles that have led to heavy losses. In his efforts to draw more support, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy is headed to the US where he is expected at the White House and on Capitol Hill this week as he visits during the United Nations General Assembly.

'Rights situation in Russia has deteriorated'

AP ■ GENEVA

The rights situation in Russia has "significantly deteriorated" since President Vladimir Putin launched his war against Ukraine in February last year, an expert commissioned by the UN's top human rights body said in her first report on the country on Monday. Mariana Katzarova, the special rapporteur on Russia's rights situation mandated by the Human Rights Council, chronicled the domestic crackdown that has largely targeted critics of Putin's war as well as other opposition voices in Russia.

Her report, made public on Monday, is separate from another probe by UN-backed investigators that has accused Russia of war crimes in Ukraine. Never before has the council authorised a rights expert to examine rights issues in one of the permanent members of the UN Security Council: Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States.

The report cited figures last month from OVD-Info, which tracks human rights violations, indicating that more than 20,000 people were detained between February last year and June for participating in anti-war protests.

More than 600 criminal lawsuits were initiated against "anti-war activity," it said. The report said over half of all protesters who were arrested for what it called "peaceful anti-war activism" were women.

Katarzova said she had received "credible reports" of a litany of rights violations including torture, allegations of rape and sexual violence, and threats of sexual abuse by law enforcement officers against both men and women. None of those cases had been officially investigated, she said.

The Russian Justice Ministry's registry of "foreign agents" contained 649 organisations and individuals by the end of July — an increase of more than 25 per cent in six months, the report said. More than 100 organizations were declared as "undesirable" at the end of July, meaning they could be banned.

Last April, barely six weeks after Russia's armed invasion of Ukraine, the UN General Assembly suspended Russia's seat in the 47-member-country rights council in Geneva. The mandate of Katzarova, who is Bulgarian, was created a year ago, and she started work in May.

Authorities in Russia have refused to cooperate, and said submissions from her team would be "automatically disregarded," the report said.

Rights in Russia have been on a "steady decline" over the last two decades, the report said, but Katzarova found the situation has "significantly deteriorated" since its invasion of Ukraine in February 2022.

The report was built on consultations with over 60 Russian and international rights organisations and individuals, and nearly 100 written submissions, including from rights advocates and witnesses of rights violations. The rights council is set to discuss it Thursday. Since the start of the war, the Kremlin has claimed that the vast majority of Russians support its "special military operation" in Ukraine, while also insisting that those who disagree are free to do so.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov has noted, however, that those willing to criticize the government must do it in compliance with the existing laws. Putin himself has said that he is "not judging" those "who behaved not like patriots."

Islamabad, Kabul should work for common goals: Pak PM

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

amid heightened tensions at their borders, Pakistan's caretaker Prime Minister Anwaar-ul-Haq Kakar has written to his Afghan counterpart Mullah Muhammad Hasan Akhund that the two countries should work together to achieve common goals, a media report said on Monday.

"Pakistan has close fraternal relations with Afghanistan as we are neighbours and brothers. Pakistan-Afghanistan relations are rooted in religion, culture and history," The News International newspaper reported on Monday. Kakar's letter to Afghanistan's interim Prime Minister comes amid the heightened tensions between Pakistan and Afghanistan due to rising cross-border attacks on Pakistani soil, it said. Islamabad blames the Afghan Taliban for supporting Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP), a dreaded militant group fighting to impose the law of Sharia across Pakistan, which frequently carries out attacks in cash-strapped Pakistan. Kakar said that Islamabad was determined to further strengthen bilateral, political, security, and economic relations with Kabul.

Last week, Pakistan also accused the interim Afghanistan government of misusing the transit trade agreement. "It is important for our customs authorities to ensure that any border trade that takes place complies with the understandings and agreements that exist between Pakistan and Afghanistan and that such commercial activities do not contravene Pakistani laws," the Foreign Office cited the letter as saying. The Foreign Office said the trade between both countries was on the rise, calling it an established fact and added that the activity has grown because Pakistan facilitated trade with Afghanistan. The comments came following the September 6 clash between the security forces of the two countries, which left a Pakistani Frontier Corps soldier injured. This led to the closure of the key Torkham border for over a week.

Kakar has said that Pakistan was playing its part in ensuring durable peace in Afghanistan and was engaged with the Afghan Taliban and the international community at all the relevant forums. Kakar said the Taliban had made a commitment under the Doha agreement that Afghan soil would not be used against any country for terrorism, adding that they were addressing Afghan transit issues including illegal trade.

India's Mission LIFE takes centre-stage at London Fashion Week

London (PTI): India's Lifestyle for Environment (LIFE) mission to promote sustainability in all aspects of life took centre-stage for "India Day" at London Fashion Week 2023, with Indian designers showcasing creations using a range of eco-friendly materials. Under the umbrella of "Sustainable Modernity", students of Inter National Institute of Fashion Design (INIFD) in partnership with the London School of Trends presented their collections at a colourful catwalk in London on Saturday.

Their creations were made using plant-based fabrics produced in India such as lotus stems, banana leaves, rose petals, cotton, bamboo and other natural fibres. "The designers were instructed to employ sustainable materials and zero-waste practices to create a collection that was both cutting edge and wearable," the London School of Trends said in a statement.

"They were tasked to show how the artisans and their surroundings are linked and depend on each other. A profound connection to the Earth has played a significant role in the cultural practices of India, which have a long history of being influenced by the natural environment," it said.

The all-female design team was made up of Rajvi and Yatri Patel, Preksha Jain, Somya Goyal, Vidhita Raut, Sidhi Penkar and Roma Agarwal.

Their unique designs were showcased by models following an earlier interaction at the Indian High Commission in London with High

Peace rally organised in US in solidarity with Manipur's Zomi-Kuki community

AP ■ WASHINGTON

Participants at a peace rally held by a prominent organisation representing the Zomi ethnic community in Manipur in front of the Indian embassy here have voiced solidarity with their fellow brethren in the state who have been adversely affected by the ongoing ethnic violence.

The rally organised by Zomi Innkuan USA in front of the Embassy of India in Washington DC last week expressed the participants' unwavering solidarity with the Zomi-Kuki people hit by the crisis in Manipur for more than 120 days, the organisation said in a statement.

More than 180 people have been killed and several hundred injured since ethnic violence broke out in Manipur on May 3, when a 'Tribal Solidarity March' was organised in the hill districts to protest against the majority Meitei community's demand for Scheduled Tribe status.

The violence has inflicted untold suffering on the residents of Manipur and the state government's actions, particularly against the minority Zomi-Kuki tribes, have caused great pain and division in the region, the statement alleged.

The rally, attended by members of the Zomi community in the US and other supporters, aimed to shed light on the urgent need for a lasting solution to the conflict in Manipur, the statement added.

Demonstrators held placards bearing messages that reflected the plight of the Zomi ethnic people and their earnest plea for a separate administration in Manipur.

Dr. Hauzachin Suante, Executive Director of Zomi Innkuan, in his address, said: "Our land, our rights, our freedom - these are not mere slogans but the very heartbeat of our struggle."

5 prisoners sought by US in swap with Iran freed

AP ■ DOHA (QATAR)

Five prisoners sought by the US in a swap with Iran were freed Monday and headed home as part of a deal that saw nearly USD 6 billion in Iranian assets unfrozen. Despite the deal, tensions are almost certain to remain high between the U.S. and Iran, which are locked in various disputes, including over Tehran's nuclear programme. Iran says the programme is peaceful, but it now enriches uranium closer than ever to weapons-grade levels. The planned exchange has unfolded amid a major American military buildup in the Persian Gulf, with the possibility of US troops boarding and guarding commercial ships in the Strait of Hormuz, through which 20% of all oil shipments pass.

"Today, five innocent Americans who were imprisoned in Iran are finally coming home," President Joe Biden said in a statement released as the plane carrying the group from Tehran landed in Doha, Qatar.

After the plane slowed to a stop, three of the prisoners walked down the ramp and were greeted by the U.S. ambassador to Qatar, Timmy Davis. The former prisoners hugged the ambassador and others. The three — Siamak Namazi, Emad Sharghi and Morad Tahbaz — then wrapped their arms around their shoulders and walked off to a building in the airport.

In a statement issued on his behalf after landing, Namazi said: "I would not be free today, if it wasn't for all of you who didn't allow the world to forget me."

"Thank you for being my voice when I could not speak for myself and for making sure I was heard when I mustered the strength to scream from behind the impenetrable walls of Evin Prison," Namazi said.

In addition to the five freed Americans, two U.S. family members flew out of Tehran, according to a senior Biden administration official, who spoke on condition of anonymity when the exchange was ongoing. Earlier, Iranian Foreign Ministry spokesman Nasser Kanaani said that the exchange would take place Monday after nearly USD 6 billion in once-frozen Iranian assets reached Qatar.

"Fortunately Iran's frozen assets in South Korea were released and God willing today the assets will start to be fully controlled by the government and the nation," Kanaani said. "On the subject of the prisoner swap, it will happen today and five prisoners, citizens of the Islamic Republic, will be released from the prisons in the US," he added. "Five imprisoned citizens who were in Iran will be given to the US side." He said two of the Iranian prisoners will stay in the US. Meanwhile, Nour News, a website believed to be close to Iran's security apparatus, said two of the Iranian prisoners had arrived in Doha for the swap.

Mohammad Reza Farzin,

Iran's Central Bank chief, later came on state television to acknowledge the receipt of over 5.5 billion euros — USD 5.9 billion — in accounts in Qatar. Months ago, Iran had anticipated getting as much as USD 7 billion.

The planned exchange comes ahead of the convening of world leaders at the U.N. General Assembly this week in New York, where Iran's hardline President Ebrahim Raisi will speak. The deal has already opened US President Joe Biden to fresh criticism from Republicans and others who say that the administration is helping boost the Iranian economy at a time when Iran poses a growing threat to American troops and Mideast allies. That could have implications in his reelection campaign as well.

In his statement, Biden urged Americans not to travel to Iran, and he demanded more information on what happened to Bob Levinson, an American who went missing years ago. Biden also announced sanctions on former Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad and the Iranian Ministry of Intelligence. The prisoners freed Monday were: Namazi, who was detained in 2015 and was later sentenced to 10 years in prison on spying charges; Emad Sharghi, a venture capitalist sentenced to 10 years; and Morad Tahbaz, a British-American conservationist of Iranian descent who was arrested in 2018 and also received a 10-year sentence. All of their charges have been widely criticized by their families, activists and the US government.

US officials have declined to identify the fourth and fifth prisoner.

The five prisoners Iran has said it seeks are mostly held over allegedly trying to export banned material to Iran, such as dual use electronics that can be used by a military. The two that Nour News said were in Doha were: Mehrdad Ansari, an Iranian sentenced to 63 months in prison in 2021 for obtaining equipment that could be used in missiles, electronic warfare, nuclear weapons and other military gear, and Reza Sarhangpour Kafarani, an Iranian charged in 2021 over allegedly unlawfully exporting laboratory equipment to Iran.

The cash represents money South Korea owed Iran — but had not yet paid — for oil purchased before the U.S. imposed sanctions on such transactions in 2019. The US maintains that, once in Qatar, the money will be held in restricted accounts and will only be able to be used for humanitarian goods, such as medicine and food.

Those transactions are currently allowed under American sanctions targeting the Islamic Republic over its advancing nuclear program.

Iranian government officials have largely concurred with that explanation, though some hard-liners have insisted, without providing evidence, that there would be no restrictions on how Tehran spends the money.

UNGA week starts with focus on SDGs

PTI ■ UNITED NATIONS

Heads of State and Governments, world leaders and foreign ministers have arrived at the UN headquarters here for the annual high-level week described as the 'Oscars of Diplomacy', with agendas of Sustainable Development Goals, financing for development, climate action and pandemic response taking centre stage as global priorities at the session.

At the high-level 78th session of the United Nations General Assembly, which begins Monday, the global organisation will host a series of summits that will bring together Presidents and Prime Ministers and leaders.

UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres, who attended the G-20 Leaders' Summit in New Delhi and the G-77 and China meeting in Havana earlier this month, said this week, "begins the greatest G of all — the G-193 — the High-Level Week of the General Assembly. It is a one-of-a-kind moment each year for leaders from every corner of the globe to not only assess the state of the world — but to act for the common good.

"Action is what the world needs now. We will be gathering at a time when humanity faces huge challenges — from the worsening climate emergency to escalating conflicts, the global cost-of-living crisis, soaring inequalities and dramatic technological disruptions. People are looking to their leaders for a way out of this mess."

The week will open with the 2023 SDG Summit on September 18-19 that will review the implementation of the 2030 Agenda and its 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and provide high-level political guidance on transformative and accelerated actions leading up to the target year of 2030 for achieving the Goals, the UN said.

Convened by President of the General Assembly Dennis Francis, the Summit will mark the half-way point to the deadline set for achieving the 2030 Agenda and the SDGs. "It will be the centerpiece of the High-Level Week of the General Assembly. It will respond to the impact of multiple and interlocking crises facing the world and is expected to reignite a sense of hope, optimism, and enthusiasm for the 2030 Agenda."

From September 19 through September 26, 193 world leaders and foreign ministers will one by one take to the lectern in the UN General Assembly hall and enunciate their positions on global issues at the General Debate, the central event of the high-level week. As is tradition, Brazil will open the General Debate followed by the US, with President Joe Biden arriving in New York on Sunday to attend the UNGA session.

The theme of the General Debate is "Rebuilding trust and reigniting global solidarity: Accelerating action on the 2030 Agenda and its Sustainable Development Goals towards peace, prosperity, progress and sustainability for all."

External Affairs Ministers S Jaishankar will address the debate on September 26.

On September 20, the General Assembly will convene its second High-Level Dialogue on Financing for Development since the adoption of the Addis Ababa Action Agenda.

The dialogue will aim to renew global commitment to financing at the global level.

Alongside the SDG Summit, UN chief Guterres will convene the Climate Ambition Summit on September 20, with a call on every leader from Governments, business, cities and regions, civil society, and financial institutions to step up.

The UN chief urges individuals or organizations participating in the event to present credible, serious and new climate action and nature-based solutions that will move the needle forward and respond to the urgency of the climate crisis.

The High-level Meeting on Pandemic Prevention, Preparedness and Response will be convened by President of the General Assembly, in collaboration with the World Health Organization, on September 20, bringing together Heads of State and Government for the one-day meeting that will adopt a political declaration aimed at mobilizing political will at the national, regional and international levels for pandemic prevention, preparedness and response. In the declaration, the world leaders will commit to scale up their efforts to strengthen pandemic prevention, preparedness and response and "Strengthen international collaboration and coordination at the highest political levels with the determination to reduce inequities and increase the fair, equitable and timely access to, and strengthening of capacities for pandemic prevention, preparedness and response."

The Preparatory Ministerial Meeting for the Summit of the Future will be held on September 21. The ministerial meeting will take place to prepare for the September 2024 Summit of the Future, which marks a once-in-a-generation opportunity to enhance global cooperation to tackle critical challenges, address gaps in global governance, reaffirm existing commitments, including to the SDGs and the United Nations Charter, and make a multilateral system better positioned to positively impact people's lives, the UN said.

The High-level Meeting on Universal Health Coverage on September 21 presents an opportunity for countries and stakeholders to renew efforts and accelerate progress toward achieving health for all. This will serve as the foundation for executing policies and ensuring responsibility for strengthening health systems for the future, building on the 2019 Political Declaration, the UN said.

The UN General Assembly will hold the second high-level meeting on the fight against tuberculosis on September 22.

Guterres said that the high-level will shine a spotlight on how to rescue the SDGs at the half-way mark to 2030, how to boost ambition to tackle the climate crisis, on crucial questions of funding and investments for development, on health challenges, hotspots and a host of other issues. "My appeal to world leaders will be clear: This is not a time for posturing or positioning. This is not a time for indifference or indecision. This is a time to come together for real, practical solutions. It is time for compromise for a better tomorrow.

Military drone crashes during test flight in Iran, injuring 2

AP ■ TEHRAN

A military drone crashed during a test flight in northern Iran on Monday, wounding two people and damaging buildings, state media reported. Debris fell in different parts of the northern city of Gorgan, according to the official IRNA news agency.

The semiofficial Tasnim news agency released a video showing white smoke rising from different areas and the sound of anti-aircraft batteries.

Defence Ministry spokesman Reza Taleainik told state TV that the test flight in a remote area went off track due to a "technical failure."

He did not specify the type of drone, but images of the wreckage circulating on social media suggested it was the type that carries bombs.

Iran is a major producer of both civilian and military drones, and has supplied attack drones to Russia for its war on Ukraine.

'Auto collision kills 4 rescue workers dispatched to flood-stricken Libya'

AP ■ CAIRO

Four Greek rescue workers dispatched to Libya following devastating flooding in the eastern city of Derna were killed in an automobile collision on Sunday, Libya's health minister said. Some 11,300 people died when two dams collapsed during Mediterranean storm Daniel last week sending a wall of water gushing through the city, according to the Red Crescent aid group. A further 10,000 people are missing, presumed dead. Rescue workers from Greece, Turkey, Egypt and other countries have since flocked to the decimated port city to offer help.

On Sunday, a bus carrying 19 Greek rescue workers collided with an oncoming vehicle carrying five Libyan nationals on the road between the cities of Benghazi and Derna, said health minister Othman Abduljaleel in a press conference. Three Libyans in the oncoming vehicle were also killed.

Seven of the surviving Greek rescue workers were in critical condition, the minister said. In a parallel statement, the Rescue teams search for victims in Derna, Libya, on Sunday. Libyan authorities have opened an investigation into the collapse of two dams that caused a devastating flood in a Derna as rescue teams searched for bodies on Saturday, nearly a week after the deluge killed more than 11,000 people. Greek Foreign Ministry acknowledged the crash but said all its nationals "only suffered minor injuries" and were being treated at nearby hospitals. The Associated Press was not immediately able to reconcile the conflicting reports. The disaster has brought some rare unity to oil-rich Libya, which has been divided between rival governments in the country's east and west that are backed by various militia forces and international patrons. Residents from the nearby cities of Benghazi and Tobruk have offered to put up the displaced, while volunteers have helped hunt for survivors buried beneath the rubble.

But the opposing governments have struggled to respond to the crisis. Their recovery efforts have been hampered by confusion, difficulty getting aid to the hardest-hit areas, and the destruction of Derna's infrastructure, including several bridges. More than 3,283 bodies were buried as of Sunday, Abduljaleel said, many in mass graves outside Derna, while others were transferred to nearby towns and cities.

On Saturday, Libya's General Prosecutor, al-Sediq al-Sour, opened an investigation into the collapse of the two dams, built in the 1970s, as well as the allocation of maintenance funds. Derna's mayor, Abdel-Moneim al-Gaithi, was suspended pending an investigation into the disaster.

Authorities and aid groups have voiced concern about the spread of waterborne diseases and shifting of explosive ordnance from Libya's recent conflicts. Haider al-Saeid, head of Libya's center for combating diseases, said in televised comments Saturday that at least 150 people had suffered from diarrhea after drinking contaminated water in Derna.

Landslide in Congo kills at least 17 people

Kinshasa (AP): Torrential rain in northwestern Congo caused a landslide that killed at least 17 people overnight, authorities said Sunday, warning the toll could rise as rescuers sift through rubble beneath collapsed homes.

The disaster took place along the Congo River in the town of Lisal in northwestern Mongala province, according to Matthieu Mole, president of the civil society organization Forces Vives. The victims lived in homes that were built at the foot of a mountain. "A torrential downpour caused a lot of damage, including a landslide that swallowed up several houses," he said. "The toll is still provisional as bodies are still under the rubble." Governor Cesar Limbaya Mbangisa said machinery was desperately needed to help clear away the debris and try to save any survivors.

The governor also offered his condolences to the victims' families and decreed three days of mourning throughout the province.

Many annoyed by my rise: Ramaswamy

Washington (PTI): Indian-American Vivek Ramaswamy on Sunday said many people are annoyed by his rise and believe that a 38-year-old is too young to become US President.

Following his impressive performance during the maiden Republican presidential primary debate, various opinion polls show that his popularity is on the rise. The latest opinion poll shows that he is 12 points up since his August performance. At the same time his criticism by his opponents has also grown up. "Well, look, we have been taking intense criticism, Shannon, over the last several weeks since I performed well on that second debate. And this is part of the process, so I invite the open debate," Ramaswamy told Fox News in an interview. "The reality is many people are annoyed by my rise and believe that a 38-year-old is too young to be US President. The fact of the matter is Thomas Jefferson was 33 years old when he wrote the US Declaration of Independence. He also invented the swivel chair while he was at it, by the way," he asserted.

Ramaswamy argued that there is a need to revive that spirit. "And I believe, it will take someone whose best days ahead are still yet ahead in life to see a country whose best days are still yet ahead of itself. And I do believe that the United States of America can see our best days still yet ahead.

But we can't just be running from something."

"I don't actually criticize the radical Biden agenda that much because I think it's the wrong place to focus. Of course, there's a lot to criticize.

Erdogan, Elon Musk discuss establishing Tesla car factory

AP ■ ISTANBUL

Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan called on Elon Musk, the head of electric carmaker Tesla, to establish a factory in Turkey during a meeting in New York, Erdogan's office said on Monday. Erdogan, who is in the US to attend the UN General Assembly, also discussed potential cooperation between Musk's space exploration firm SpaceX and Turkey's space programme, the Turkish president's office said. The statement said Erdogan told Musk that Turkiye would welcome cooperation on artificial intelligence and Starlink, SpaceX's satellite internet service. Musk said SpaceX wanted to secure the necessary license to offer Starlink in Turkey.

Images of the meeting showed Musk holding one of his sons as he talked to Erdogan.

Turkish Industry and Technology Minister Mehmet Fatih Kacir, who attended the meeting, said Musk described Turkey as "among the most important candidates for Tesla investment."

SL court remands six for attacking on LTTE activist event

Colombo (PTI): At least six people were remanded to judicial custody by a Sri Lankan court on Monday in connection with an attack by a Sinhalese group on people attending the commemorative event for a prominent LTTE activist in the eastern town of Trincomalee.

Selvaraja Kajendran, a parliamentarian from the Tamil National Alliance, and 14 others were attacked by a gang from the majority Sinhalese in the multi-ethnic Trincomalee's Kappalthurai area on Sunday.

The Tamil group said the police watched in silence as the Sinhalese group assaulted Kajendran and disrupted the vehicle float commemorating Thillepan, a prominent LTTE (Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam) activist from the north. The Court in the eastern town of Trincomalee today served remand orders on at least six people in connection with the attack.

The attackers have been remanded to judicial custody till September 21. Thillepan was the LTTE's political leader for Jaffna.

China lodges protest with Germany over foreign minister's comment

PTI ■ BEIJING

China on Monday lodged a diplomatic protest with Germany over its Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock labelling President Xi Jinping as a dictator.

"If (President Vladimir) Putin were to win this war, what sign would that be for other dictators in the world, like Xi, like the Chinese president? Therefore, Ukraine has to win this war," Baerbock said in an interview on Friday during her trip to the US.

The Chinese Foreign Ministry took exception to Baerbock's remarks, saying that the comments were an "open political provocation."

"We deplore and reject the remarks by the German side which are irreproachable and extremely disrespectful," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Mao Ning said while responding to a question at a media briefing on the German Minister's comments.

The remarks are contrary to facts and a breach of diplomatic protocol and China lodged a diplomatic protest to Germany, Mao said.

Earlier this year, US President Joe Biden also called Xi a dictator.

Xi, 70, heads the ruling Communist Party, the military besides the Presidency, earning him the tag of the most powerful Chinese leader after Mao Zedong. Baerbock's comments came in the backdrop of steady deterioration in once flourishing relations between China and the European Union as well as Germany.

Recently, the European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen said the EU executive would launch an investigation into Chinese electric vehicle subsidies.

And the China-German ties which thrived during the previous German Chancellor Angela Merkel's long tenure showed a steady decline, especially over China's backing of Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

German envoy's attendance at Israeli court hearing ignites diplomatic spat

Jerusalem (AP): The Israeli government has complained to Germany after the German ambassador attended a high-profile Supreme Court hearing last week looking at the legality of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's judicial overhaul, an Israeli diplomatic official said Monday.

The complaint, sent at the order of Israeli Foreign Minister Eli Cohen, sparked a rare diplomatic spat between the two allies, with German leaders defending their ambassador against the criticism.

The Israeli official, speaking on condition of anonymity because he was discussing behind-the-scenes diplomacy, said that Israel had delayed its "dismay" through diplomatic channels, including the Israeli Embassy in Berlin.

"This was a decision taken by the highest figure in the ministry," he added. Cohen is a close ally of Netanyahu.

Net direct tax collection rises 23.5 per cent

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Net direct tax collection grew 23.51 per cent to over Rs 8.65 lakh crore till mid-September, on higher advance tax mop-up from corporates, the Finance Ministry said on Monday.

The net direct tax collection of Rs 8,65,117 crore (as on September 16) includes corporate income tax (CIT) at Rs 4,16,217 crore and personal income tax (PIT) including Securities Transaction Tax (STT) at Rs 4,47,291 crore.

Net direct tax collections for the current fiscal as on September 16, have grown at over 23.51 per cent, the ministry said in a statement.

Advance tax collections stood at Rs 3.55 lakh crore till mid-September, a 21 per cent growth against Rs 2.94 lakh crore collected in the corresponding period of the preceding financial year.

The advance tax collection of Rs 3.55 lakh crore as on September 16, comprises CIT at Rs 2.80 lakh crore and PIT at Rs 74,858 crore.

Refunds of about Rs 1.22 lakh crore have been issued up to September 16.

On a gross basis, direct tax collection for the financial year 2023-24 stands at Rs 9.87 lakh crore, a 18.29 per cent growth over Rs 8.34 lakh crore in the corresponding period of the preceding financial year.

'India's growth in F24 to be above 6%'

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India's economic growth will be above 6 per cent in the current fiscal as the country has managed to strengthen its macroeconomic stability and performance even in a period of large global shocks, RBI Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) Member Ashima Goyal said on Monday.

Goyal further said that a global slowdown reducing India's export growth, geopolitics fueling oil and food prices, and erratic weather are some of the continuing risks that the country faces. "India has managed to strengthen its macroeconomic stability and performance even in a period of large global shocks."

India's GDP growth in FY24 will be above 6 per cent," she told PTI in a telephonic interview.

While GDP growth in 2022-23 was 7.2 per cent, lower than 9.1 per cent in 2021-22, the RBI projects India's GDP to grow at 6.5 per cent in the current fiscal year.

Asked when retail inflation will decline to RBI's target of 4 per cent, the eminent economist said inflation expectations are getting anchored at around 4 per cent.

"For a long time now, firms' inflation expectations are around 4 per cent. That means, despite cost shocks, their price increases do not exceed 4 per cent," Goyal noted.

Observing that core inflation is softening, she said inflation targeting is teaching price-setters to look through transient supply shocks.

According to Goyal, under transient even if repeated supply shocks (like the Ukraine war), monetary tightening should be adequate to anchor inflation expectations, but not so sharp as to impose a large growth sacrifice on the economy.

"But other supply-side policies will continue to reduce inflation," she opined.

Retail inflation declined to 6.83 per cent in August after touching a 15-month high of 7.44 per cent in July, mainly due to softening prices of vegetables, but still remains above the Reserve Bank's comfort zone.

RBI has the mandate to keep retail inflation in the range of 2 to 6 per cent.

Commenting on a recent brokerage report which stated private capex actually declined in the last two quarters, Goyal asserted that it is absurd to over-interpret quarterly changes.

While observing that since the pandemic annual gross domestic capital formation has been rising, she said it has fluctuated in quarters. "quarter on quarter growth is normally negative in Q1 and shows the highest growth in Q4," Goyal said, adding that many other types of data, including bank credit, IPOs and capital goods imports, show a revival in private capex.

Pointing out that the government capex creates opportunities for private capex in steel, cement, logistics, green infrastructure, she noted that people mistakenly think it is not happening because they expect a 2008 type boom.

"Private capex will rise sustainably in step with GDP in a virtuous cycle, even if there are some delays because of political uncertainty in an election year," she said, adding that policy continuity is very important for private capex.

Responding to a question on rising crude oil prices and its impact on the government's subsidy figures and inflation, Goyal said the government and oil companies have built-up counter-cyclical buffers by not fully passing through a fall in international crude oil prices.

Emphasising that in a well-established inflation targeting regime, transient rise in cost is looked through and does not have second round effects, she noted that high crude oil prices have intensified efforts to diversify away from oil. "So overall we are seeing less pass-through of higher oil prices to Indian inflation," she said.

With international crude oil prices breaching USD 90 per barrel mark for the first time in 10 months, Indian refiners which are the key beneficiaries of cheaper Russian crude should still be able to clock refining margins of around USD 9-10 per barrel in current fiscal, CareEdge Ratings had said recently.

Asked if India losing out on accurate data measurement as the government is yet to come up with the latest version of the Consumer Expenditure Survey and Census, she said overhauling statistical systems takes time.

"The pandemic, as well as excessive criticism, has intensified the break in many of these periodic surveys...The break is a loss to policy-making," Goyal said.

The eminent economist, however, noted that now India has all kinds of new high-frequency data to aid policy.

In 2021, the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MOSPI) decided not to release the Consumer Expenditure Survey results of 2017-18 due to data quality issues. According to the ministry, the reference period for the next Household Consumer Expenditure Survey is 2022-2023.

The decadal Census, postponed for an indefinite period due to the pandemic, is unlikely to be held before the next Lok Sabha elections that are due in April-May 2024.

Sensex falls 242 points, snaps 11-day winning run

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Snapping its record 11-day winning run, Sensex declined by around 242 points on Monday as profit taking in metal, banking and telecom shares amid weak global trends dragged down the benchmark index from record high levels.

The 30-share BSE Sensex fell by 241.79 points or 0.36 per cent to settle at 67,596.84 in a volatile trading. During the day, it declined by 305.8 points or 0.45 per cent to a low of 67,532.83.

Retreating from its all-time high, the broader Nifty closed at 20,133.30, down by 115.05 points or 0.29 per cent, as 26 of its constituents closed in the red while 24 advanced.

BSE Sensex closed at a lifetime high of 67,838.63 after 11 straight days of gains while Nifty settled at record 20,192.35 on Friday following positive macro data.

Among the Sensex firms, HDFC Bank fell the most by 1.98 per cent. Bharti Airtel (1.71 per cent), Infosys (1.4 per cent), Tata Steel (1.21 per cent), UltraTech Cement (1.19 per cent), Wipro (1.17 per cent), Kotak Mahindra Bank (1.02 per cent), Reliance Industries, Tech Mahindra and JSW Steel were the major laggards.

Power Grid, Titan, Mahindra & Mahindra and Research (Retail), Kotak Securities Ltd.

Other than global headwinds, higher domestic index valuations after the recent upsurge is making investors nervous, which may lead to some more profit-taking in the near term, Chouhan said.

Vinod Nair, Head of Research at Geojit Financial Services, said, "Domestic markets relinquished their momentum as they anticipated a raft of policy rate decisions due this week."

"The investor's confidence was also impacted by the expectations of a demand resurgence in China, combined with crude supply cuts. With the Fed rate hike fears back on the cards, as reflected in the elevated US bond yields, the markets await clarification from major central banks."

In the broader market, the BSE smallcap gauge fell 0.60 per cent and the midcap index declined 0.27 per cent.

Among the indices, telecommunication fell by 1.86 per cent, realty declined 1.27 per cent, commodities (0.96 per cent), teck (0.92 per cent), metal (0.89 per cent) and services (0.74 per cent).

Consumer Discretionary, FMCG, utilities, auto and power were among the gainers.

In Asian markets, Seoul and Hong Kong settled lower, while Shanghai ended in the green.

European markets were trading lower. The US markets ended in negative territory on Friday.

Global oil benchmark Brent crude climbed 0.39 per cent to USD 94.30 a barrel.

Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were buyers on Friday as they bought equities worth Rs 164.42 crore, according to exchange data.

Rupee hits all-time low of 83.29 against US dollar

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The rupee depreciated for the fourth straight day to settle 13 paise lower at its lifetime low of 83.29 (provisional) against the US dollar on Monday, mainly due to risk aversion in global markets and rising crude oil prices.

Besides, a strong American currency against key rivals overseas and a negative trend in domestic equities weighed on investor sentiments, according to forex traders.

At the interbank foreign exchange, the domestic unit opened at 83.09 against the dollar and traded in the range of 83.09 to 83.30 against the greenback.

The rupee finally closed at the record low of 83.29 against the dollar, registering a fall of 13 paise from its previous close.

On Friday, the rupee fell 13 paise to settle at 83.16 against the US dollar.

The dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, fell marginally by 0.11 per cent to 105.20.

Brent crude futures, the global oil benchmark, were trading 0.42 per cent higher at USD 94.32 per barrel.

Ahead of the holiday, the rupee closed at another record low following risk-averse sentiments and a rally in crude oil prices, said Dilip Parmar, Research Analyst, at HDFC Securities.

"This week will remain highly volatile following a series of central bank policy rate meetings across the developed and emerging market economies. The baseline of it is the dollar to hold onto its strength through the week," Parmar said.

In the near term, spot USD/INR is expected to cross the record high and may see a level of 83.50 to 83.70 while it could hold the support of 83, Parmar added.

On the domestic equity market front, the BSE Sensex closed 241.79 points or 0.36 per cent lower at 67,596.84 points, while the broader Nifty declined 59.05 points or 0.29 per cent to end at 20,133.30 points.

TCS launches digital solution for life cycle assessment, reporting

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Tata Consultancy Services on Monday announced the launch of a life cycle assessment (LCA) tool that computes environmental impact across product lines.

The tool, built in collaboration with PRé Sustainability, is based on open-source technologies and a cloud-agnostic architecture so it can be easily deployed across different cloud platforms, the IT major said in a statement.

TCS Product Life Cycle Profiler enables simultaneous LCA for all products originating from a specific manufacturing facility, offering a comprehensive view of the impact from materials, transportation, suppliers, energy consumption, and processes.

It computes environmental impact across multiple dimensions, beyond greenhouse gas emissions, from human toxicity and water use to ozone depletion and particulate matter - and highlights impact hotspots to alert the organization to possible changes.

"TCS Product Life Cycle Profiler will help our clients identify the changes they need to make their product value chains more sustainable and advance their climate goals," TCS Global Head for Strategic Capabilities Group Suranjan Chatterjee said.

PRé Sustainability Managing Director and CEO Eric Mieras said, "Our partnership with TCS addresses the need for customers to have reliable and transparent environmental footprint information for products at scale."

Foxconn commits to double employment, investments in India

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Phone-maker Apple's supplier Foxconn has committed to doubling employment, investments and business size in India by next year, underlining its smooth and rapid growth in the country, according to a social media post by a company executive.

Wishing Prime Minister Narendra Modi on his birthday on Sunday, Foxconn representative V Lee wrote in a LinkedIn post: "Under your leadership, Foxconn has grown smoothly and rapidly in India."

"We will work even harder to present you with a greater birthday gift next year, aiming for another doubling of employment, FDI, and business size in India," Lee said in the post.

Replying to the post on X (formerly Twitter), IT, Electronics and Communications Minister Ashwini Vaishnav said that the Government is "fully committed" in its endeavour to support and facilitate.

Earlier this month, Young Liu, Chairman and CEO of Hon Hai Technology Group (Foxconn), said that India will be an important country in terms of manufacturing in the future, his comment adding to a growing chorus of global voices acknowledging the country's bold moves to position itself as electronics and hi-tech production powerhouse.

In an interaction with reporters in Taipei, the top honcho of the Taiwanese electronics manufacturing giant had further said the development of the entire ecosystem and industrial chain, and opportunities for development in India are "very, very huge opportunities".

"If there is no big change, India will be a very important country in terms of manufacturing in the future," Liu had said.

In the past, it took 30 years to build the entire supply chain ecosystem in China, he noted, adding that while it will take an "appropriate amount of time in India" and the process will be shorter given the experience. The environment too is not quite the same, he had said pointing to the advent of new technologies like AI and generative AI.

Gold climbs ₹180, silver jumps ₹400

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Gold price climbed Rs 180 to Rs 60,200 per 10 grams in the national capital on Monday amid a jump in yellow metal prices in overseas markets, according to HDFC Securities.

In the previous trade, the precious metal had closed at Rs 60,020 per 10 grams.

Silver also jumped Rs 400 to Rs 74,400 per kilogram.

"Gold rose on Monday, with spot gold prices (24 carats) in the Delhi markets trading at Rs 60,200/10 grams, up by Rs 180 following a positive trade in the overseas markets," Saumil Gandhi, senior analyst of commodities at HDFC Securities, said.

In the global markets, gold and silver were up at USD 1,927 per ounce and USD 23.10 per ounce, respectively.

Banking issues hinder growth of exports through e-commerce: GTRI report

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Banking issues like reluctance to process forex received through alternate channels and high processing fees are hindering the growth of e-commerce exports from India, and there is a need to bring mindset change to unlock the sector's potential, a report by think tank GTRI said on Monday.

Unlocking India's e-commerce export potential to USD 350 billion by 2030 requires addressing banking issues that hinder growth and increase operational costs, the Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) said.

"To initiate change, both the RBI and banks must shift their mindset towards treating small-value exports differently from larger ones. This shift is essential to prevent misuse while streamlining processes. Without this fundamental change, any reforms attempted by the RBI and banks will fall short," it said.

Small e-commerce businesses often face challenges because banks are not equipped to handle low-value transactions efficiently, it added.

The key issues include reluctance to process forex through alternate channels, high processing fees, incorrect purpose code allocation, and limitations in the RBI's EDPMS (Export Data Processing and Monitoring System).

The Reserve Bank of India tracks export payments and reconciliation through its Export Data Processing and Monitoring System.

"Banks are happy to process forex received through bank transfers but reluctant to process forex received through foreign currency cheques, payment gateways like PayPal, credit cards, Western Union, cash receipt when a buyer selects item live in the retail shop," it said.

Banks delay crediting forex received in a firm's account through such channels, and this affects cash flow and hampers business operations, the report noted.

Banks charge money multiple times at different stages for the same small-value shipment, it added.

Elaborating this, it said that essential charges include charges for submitting shipping bills (Rs 80 to Rs 2,000) at the time of forex realisation (1-to-2.5 per cent of value), intermediary bank charges during forex transfers (USD 10 to USD 55 per transaction), penalties for bills pending at EDPMS (Rs 100 per shipping bill per month).

"Most charges are fixed for a transaction irrespective of value. Bank charges can exceed 50-60 per cent of the shipment value. This makes e-commerce exports commercially unviable," it said, adding banks allocate purpose codes for each remittance but frequently issue incorrect codes.

For example, purpose code P0103, meant for advance payments, is often assigned even when exports have already occurred and the firm has submitted proof. Incorrect allocation of purpose codes by banks leads to reconciliation problems, EDPMS pendency issues, and issuance of notices and fines on exporters.

The RBI issues notices to exporters for EDPMS defaults but does not give them direct access to view their records, as per the report.

"Exporters must rely on banks/DGFT for critical data, leading to unnecessary delays and complications," GTRI co-founder Ajay Srivastava said. The report suggested eight action points, such as the creation of a single window platform for e-commerce and small-value shipments, standardise bank charges, defining a time limit for banks to complete all small export-related requests by the RBI, and exempting shipment value up to USD 1,000 per shipment from monitoring till the single window is implemented.

It also pitched for an extension of the timeline for EDPMS closure from the current nine months to 24 months and redesign the courier shipping bill to reflect correct payment terms.

On the single window, Srivastava called for integrating the RBI, banks, Customs, DGFT, India Post, courier companies and exporters.

"This platform should cover all realisation methods other than bank transfers. The exporter should be able to conduct all transactions online. SW will automate the EDPMS reconciliation process," he added.

He said that high processing fees and multiple charges at different stages of exporting hurt small businesses the most, and the banks should charge a one-time fee for each shipment instead of further charges at various stages.

"The government could subsidise these fees to ease the financial burden on small exporters," the report said, adding there is a need to raise the export realisation variation limit from 25 per cent to 100 per cent.

INDIA FACE CHINA IN ASIAN GAMES OPENER

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

Set to play their opening match without any training session and proper rest after the last-minute announcement of the squad, India will be the clear underdogs against formidable China in their Asian Games group game here on Tuesday.

India were able to stitch a rag-tag final squad only on Friday and the team left for China on Sunday, leaving no time for the players to even have a training session together.

Moreover, two players — defenders Kongsam Chinglensana Singh and Lalchungnunga — out of the 22 players picked will join later as their visas were not ready. The Indian contingent's chef de mission Bhupinder

Singh Bajwa has, however, said that the duo will get their 'express visas' in a day or two and they will join the team.

In any case, the duo will not be available for the Group A match against China on Tuesday and that will be a blow for India. Also head coach Igor Stimac said on Sunday that senior defender Sandesh Jhingana and talismanic striker Sunil Chhetri will not play the opening match to save them for the later two matches.

Chhetri has started training just a couple of weeks ago as he needed time with his family after becoming a father recently.

Stimac's move is understandable as India have more chance to win against Bangladesh (September 21) and Myanmar (September 24) than against China, and considering that the team will take on the hosts without proper rest and training. The head coach was forced to have strategy sessions inside the aircraft and at the airport.

It will have to be seen whether Stimac sticks to what he had said or field Jhingana as defenders Chinglensana and Lalchungnunga will not be available for Tuesday's match. Already, he is facing the problem of full backs and central midfielders as he lamented on Sunday.

Even otherwise, China are a much stronger side than India at the continental stage, and they will also have the advantage of playing at a familiar surroundings at the Huanglong Sports Center Stadium. For India, on the other hand, their first outdoor activity could be the match.

The last time the two coun-who are really important to them. "One striker looks like a tower, scoring a lot of goals in the Chinese Super League. There is also an attacking midfielder, a senior player of great experience."

On the strategy that he may be employing, Stimac said, "We have to be very clever and see whether we need to invest all our energy (against China) or skip it to keep for the next two matches and try to make it to the knock-out rounds."

"No tournament is a formality for me, neither the players. There is a possibility to qualify from the group, but to do that, some luck needs to be on our side also, and the goal is for the boys to give their best performances of their lives."

The top two teams from the six groups will make it to the round of 16, with four best-ranked third-placed sides also qualifying.

Thirteen players out of the initial 22 were not released by their respective Indian Super League clubs, including Jhingana and first-choice goalkeeper Gurpreet Singh Sandhu. A 17-member team with Chhetri as the only notable face was named initially.

On Friday, the AIFF announced a revised squad of 22 after hectic parleys with Jhingana in it, besides two more senior players in Chinglensana and Lalchungnunga.

Real maintain 100% win record

AP ■ MADRID

Real Madrid came from behind to beat Real Sociedad 2-1 and climb back to the top of La Liga on Sunday, maintaining their perfect start to the season.

After Barcelona put five past Real Betis in a flashy display on Saturday the onus was on Carlo Ancelotti's Madrid side to maintain their 100 per cent record and they did, against the tricky Basque visitors.

Propelled by the electric Takefusa Kubo, Real Sociedad took an early lead through Ander Barrenetxea, but Madrid hit back with goals from Fede Valverde and Joselu to earn their fifth win from five games.

England international Jude Bellingham was unable to continue his excellent goalscoring form, after netting five goals in his first four Madrid matches, but remains the division's top goalscorer.

Madrid start their Champions League campaign on Wednesday at home against Wednesday at home against Union Berlin, and despite losing Ballon d'Or winner Karim Benzema in the summer and star player Vinicius Junior to injury, remain a force to be reckoned with.

"We kept believing, we know that here at home the support we've received is incredible," said left-back Fran Garcia, who set up both goals.

"I'm happy to help the team, now we have to think about the next game which is coming up very soon."

Garcia came through the Real Madrid youth system, moving to another capital club in Rayo Vallecano before Los Blancos brought him back this summer.

The Basque visitors went ahead at the new-look Santiago Bernabeu after only five minutes, when Kubo stroked a fine pass into Barrenetxea's path.

Kepa Arrizabalaga kept out the first effort with a fine save but could not claw out the second.

Valverde slammed Real Madrid level less than a minute into the second half, lashing Fran Garcia's cut-back in off the post from outside the area.

The left-back created the second goal too, crossing for target man Joselu to nod the hosts ahead at the back post.

The Spain international, on loan from Espanyol, was immediately taken off for Eduardo Camavinga, as Ancelotti sought more control of the game.

tries met in the Asian Games was in the 2002 edition in Busan, Korea, where India lost 0-2. The then Indian team had the likes of Bhaichung Bhutia, Shanmugam Venkatesh, Jo Paul Ancheri, Renedy Singh and current assistant coach Mahesh Gawli.

Stimac was candid enough to concede that it would be a tough task for his side against China, more so due to the unprecedented controversy surrounding the picking of the team, that too after getting exemption of eligibility criteria to take part in the Games.

"They have been preparing this team for a long time. Since March this year, they've played four tough and quality games against strong opponents, losing three and winning one," the Croatian said.

"So, it will be tough because they (China) have invested a lot in this team, especially because they are hosting the Asian Games."

Talking about the players of the opposition team, Stimac said, "Mostly they (China) prefer a 4-4-2 system, which might change to a 3-4-3 occasionally. They have three senior players

Guardiola says single Champions League trophy 'nothing special'

AP ■ MANCHESTER

Pep Guardiola said Manchester City have not done "anything special" by winning just one Champions League as the holders prepare to launch the defence of their crown.

City won the top prize in European club football for the first time in June, beating Inter Milan 1-0 in the final in Istanbul to complete a historic treble.

Guardiola's men, who have won all five of their Premier League matches this season, face former champions Red Star Belgrade at the Etihad on Tuesday.

"For our club to win the Champions League is something incredible," the City boss told reporters on Monday. "But how many teams have won just one Champions League? A lot. "But there are a lot to win two, three, four, five. In perspective, we didn't do anything special, just one. For us the club didn't have it, to be part of that (makes me) proud."

Real Madrid lead the way with 14 Champions League titles, followed by AC Milan on seven. Liverpool and Bayern Munich have six each.

Guardiola said his team might find it easier to defend their trophy than win it for the first time — their recent triumph came after years of agonising near-misses.

"The hardest thing is to win the first one," he said.

The Champions League final this season will be held at Wembley, but Guardiola said that was not in his thoughts.

"We didn't think about that," he said. "Win the first one. You have to think of the final when you are in the quarters and semis. The first game in these months, it's a long time. Still a long, long, long time."

"Let's try to win tomorrow (against) a team who is so aggressive and fast upfront."

Defender Kyle Walker, who signed a contract extension last week, said the City players were hungry for more success despite winning multiple trophies in recent years.

"It comes from within to keep going," he said. "The hunger is still definitely in the dressing room from the players and the manager. He (Guardiola) still wants to win more, won't settle for second and we need to follow his footsteps."

City will again be without John Stones, Jack Grealish and Mateo Kovacic for the match against Red Star, who were European champions in 1991.

New-look PSG in relaxed mood ahead of latest CL bid

AP ■ PARIS

Paris Saint-Germain have undergone sweeping changes over the summer ahead of their latest bid for Champions League glory, but new coach Luis Enrique insists the Qatar-owned club will not make winning European football's biggest prize an obsession this season.

PSG host Borussia Dortmund on Tuesday in their first match in a heavyweight Champions League group which also features AC Milan and Newcastle United.

The French title-holders have endured one frustration after another in the competition in recent years, with a defeat by Bayern Munich last season seeing them go out of the Champions League in the last 16 for the fifth time in seven years.

Beaten finalists in 2020, PSG went backwards after that, the decision to sign Lionel Messi ultimately backfiring.

Messi and Neymar have now left the Parc des Princes after a close-season clear-out which continued up to last week, when Marco Verratti was sold to Qatari side Al-Arabi for a reported 50 million euros ($53.3m). Verratti spent 11 years in Paris and was, at his peak, one of the finest midfielders in the world.

But PSG president Nasser al-Khelaifi decided it was time to move on and the club accelerated the reconstruction of their squad in recent months, while keeping hold of Kylian Mbappe following a contract dispute that threatened to end his time in the French capital.

They spent an estimated 350 million euros on new players, with the biggest outlay coming to sign France forward Randal Kolo Muani from Eintracht Frankfurt for a reported 75 million euros plus bonuses.

Barcelona winger Ousmane Dembele, Uruguay midfielder Manuel Ugarte, defensive duo Milan Skriniar and Lucas Hernandez, Real Madrid's Marco Asensio, Benfica striker Goncalo Ramos and promising Lyon winger Bradley Barcola are just some of the other new faces brought in. But Luis Enrique and his captain Marquinhos on Monday both sought to play down expectations about the new-look team's prospects in Europe this season.

"There is no added pressure when it comes to the Champions League. It is not an obsession," Brazil defender Marquinhos told reporters at the club's new training ground in the distant Paris suburbs.

"We are competitors and that is the mentality of the club too. They want to win every trophy possible, but those of us in the dressing room, the coach, and the management above him, are not obsessed with the Champions League.

"We want to get to the very top but we know the path that we have to take. It is long, so we have to work hard and go one step at a time."

Derby nightmare set aside for Newcastle clash: Pioli

AP ■ MILAN

Stefano Pioli insisted on Monday that AC Milan have turned their attentions to the Champions League opener with Newcastle United after local derby humiliation at the weekend.

The seven-time European champions were hammered 5-1 by Serie A leaders Inter Milan on Saturday, a brutal defeat which swept away all the positive vibes created by a new-look team claiming three straight wins before the international break.

It was a fifth defeat in as many Milan derbies in 2023, Inter racking up an aggregate score of 12-1 over those matches which include last season's Champions League semi-final.

"We had a lot of faith and positivity for the derby but it didn't go well, there's no point hiding it," Pioli told reporters.

"It was a big disappointment, but we have the Champions League and that is good as it's the only way to switch.

"These defeats in the derby hurt... I'd give everything to change them but unfortunately they went how they went."

Milan have been drawn in a tough Group F which also features Borussia Dortmund and French champions Paris Saint-Germain, and a good start at home to Saudi Arabia-backed Newcastle would be the perfect response to Saturday's disappointment.

"I know I have a good team, this group of players will be able to get over a really difficult derby," said Pioli.

"I owe a debt to the fans because last year when we were struggling, when we were playing really badly, they stayed behind us."

Sandro Tonali will return to the San Siro earlier than expected after being sold to Newcastle in July, one of two big changes over the summer with club icon Paolo Maldini being sacked as technical director.

Italy midfielder Tonali, who is expected to feature on Tuesday, is a boyhood Milan fan and was a key component of the team which won a first league title in 11 years in 2022.

"It will be emotional. Sandro is a great player and was important to us getting where we are today," said Pioli.

"We won together and we grew together, and it will be emotional for him to return to the San Siro. We wish him the very best — from the next match."

Milan currently sit third in Serie A, three points behind Inter and one off Juventus.

Barca under brutal pressure after our golden era: Xavi

AP ■ BARCELONA

Barcelona coach Xavi Hernandez said Monday his time in the team as a player helped set a high bar which the club are now struggling to reach in the Champions League.

The Catalan giants won four editions of the competition between 2006 and 2015, and have endured some humiliating eliminations since.

Barcelona let leads slip against Roma and Liverpool and were thrashed by Bayern Munich in recent years, while they have failed to make it out of the group stage in the past two seasons.

"There is huge demand on us, the bar is so high — this is Barca," Xavi told a news conference.

"This is a consequence of the Barca of the past few years, of our era, as a player. In 10 years, from 2006 to 2015, four Champions Leagues were won."

The coach said the club's objective was to make it through the group phase, ahead of their opener in the competition against Belgian champions Royal Antwerp on Tuesday.

"We like challenges, but the level of demand is so high, it's brutal," he continued.

"It's a consequence of inheriting a brilliant era, the best in the history of this club."

However Xavi said his players were coping well and excited to start their new European campaign.

"Looking in the faces of the players, the joy, I see hope," added Xavi. "A lot of hope and desire."

The Indian men's hockey team has climbed to the third spot in the latest world rankings issued by the International Hockey Federation (FIH) on Monday.

India (2771) are back into the top-3, after more than year since dropping out in May 2022. The elevation happened due to their undefeated run in the Asian Champions Trophy 2023 in Chennai last month.

The Indians have won six and drew one of their seven matches. England (2745), who fell just short of winning the EuroHockey title with a 1-2 loss to the Netherlands in the final, are out of top three.

Despite their strong run to the finals, an earlier loss in the tournament against Belgium and the loss in the final, coupled with India's run of wins, saw

India men climb to third spot, women placed 7th in latest FIH list

England slip to fourth. Netherlands (3113) continue to lead the way with a strong defence of their title at the EuroHockey Championships, to add to their FIH Hockey Pro League title and the bronze medal at the FIH Hockey World Cup in 2023.

Netherlands' dominance has seen them pull off a comfortable lead over Belgium (2989) in second place.

Germany (2689) and Australia (2544) hold on to the fifth and sixth positions respectively, while Argentina (2350) climbed up one spot to seventh ahead of Spain (2347).

In the women's rankings,

Netherlands (3422) are perched at the top spot, remain well clear of the chasing pack, continuing their dominance with a record-extending 12th EuroHockey Championship title. Australia (2818) and Argentina (2767) stay put in the second and third places respectively.

However, Belgium (2609)

had a great campaign at the EuroHockey Championships, winning the silver medal that propels them ahead of Germany (2574) as the two teams occupy the fourth and fifth spots in the world rankings.

Indian women (2325) have climbed one spot to the seventh position, at the expense of Spain (2173), who finished sixth in the EuroHockey Championships dropping over 150 world ranking points in losses against Belgium and Scotland.

New Zealand (2001) and Japan (1900) continue to hold their ninth and 10th spots, with China (1894) marginally behind Japan in the 11th spot.

INDIA READY TO WIN ODI WORLD CUP: KAPIL

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Former captain Kapil Dev believes India are ready to win the ODI World Cup at home but he doesn't want to put the favourite tag on the hosts as a lot would depend on luck.

"I think if we can come in top four, that is more important and then it will be about stroke of luck and everything," Kapil said on the sidelines of the launch of the third edition of J&K Open to be held at Jammu Tawi Golf Course from October 4 to 7. "We can't say right now that we are favourites, of course our team is very good. Heart says something else, mind says no we have to work very hard. I know our team, I don't know about other teams, so I would say it is unfair for me to give a blank answer."

"...As far as India team is concerned, it is ready to play and win the championships...They should play passionately, enjoy themselves."

India geared up for the World Cup with the Asia Cup triumph on Sunday. The 10-wicket victory against hosts Sri Lanka was set up by the pacers, who claimed all 10 wickets with Mohammed Siraj returning with magical figures of 6 for 21.

"It is wonderful (to see Siraj bowl). I feel so happy that nowadays in all continents our fast bowlers are taking all 10 wickets, that's the cherry on the cake," said India's 1983 world cup winning captain.

"There was a time when we used to depend on spinners, it is not anymore, that's why the strength of the team becomes so good. Kapil, however, said as a fan he would have wanted to see a close match rather than a lopsided final in Colombo.

"...What a fantastic cricket played! As a cricketer I would like to see much close games but as a player, I feel bowl them out for 30 and win. As a spectator, probably a little close matches would have been better."

India have a few fitness concerns ahead of the World Cup as some key players, including Axar Patel and Shreyas Iyer, suffered injuries during the Asia Cup. While Axar is nursing both a wrist injury and a minor tear in his left quadriceps, Iyer had a back spasm and played only two matches during the continental event.

"In any team, if any two main players get injured then it hurts the team's fortunes. That's why stroke of luck is required, because if your main player gets injured, the team's balance gets disturbed," Kapil said.

Kapil also lauded India opener Shubman Gill.

"This is a youngster who we can look up to. He is the future of Indian cricket. Very very proud to have a player of that ability in India," he said.

There has been a debate on the team selection with some senior players such as Shikhar Dhawan, Ravichandran Ashwin, Yuzvendra Chahal missing the world cup bus.

Kapil, however, backed the selectors, led by Ajit Agarkar, for the picking the best Indian team for the World Cup.

"Those who are not there in the team, what's the point talking about them. Everybody has their opinion. The selectors are better people than us, because they put their heads together and pick the best team."

"Selectors are doing their job. Just leave them alone. It is easy to point figures."

Kapil, who is also the Vice President of Professional Golf Tour of India (PGTI), was here to attend the launch of the J&K Open golf tournament.

The Rs. 50 lakh event, presented by J&K Tourism, will see top Indian professionals including Udayan Mane, Rashid Khan, defending champion Yuvraj Singh Sandhu and former champion Honey Baisoya, participating in the event.

We're determined to win WC for fans: Kohli

PTI ■ CHENNAI

Celebrated Virat Kohli says he and his teammates are ready to give their best in the upcoming ODI World Cup at home to make the dreams of Indian fans come true once again.

The Men in Blue won the World Cup twice, with their last success coming in 2011 when the competition was jointly hosted by India, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka.

India defeated Sri Lanka by six wickets at the Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai, under the leadership of Mahendra Singh Dhoni.

But Kohli is now eager to end their 12-year-long wait for the title, having missed out on winning the 2015 and 2019 editions in Australia-New Zealand and England, respectively.

"The passion and unwavering support of our fans is what fuels our determination to win the World Cup," Kohli told Star Sports.

"The memories of past World Cup victories, especially the iconic 2011 win, are etched in our hearts, and we want to create new memories for our fans."

"I am thrilled to be a part of this incredible campaign, which perfectly captures the emotions of our fans, and we're ready to give it our all to make their dreams come true," he added.

Kohli's thoughts were echoed by all-rounder Ravindra Jadeja.

"As a cricketer, there's nothing more motivating than knowing that millions of fans are standing behind you, cheering for your success," he said.

"This campaign reflects the deep passion and obsession of our fans to see Team India win."

"It's a journey we're embarking on together with the entire nation, and we're determined to make our fans proud with our performances on the field."

Fascinating how Pant's impact has changed Indian keeper-batters' mindset: Gilchrist

PTI ■ AHMEDABAD

Rishabh Pant isn't fit to play the upcoming World Cup but former Australian ace Adam Gilchrist is still fascinated by the kind of impact that the burly keeper-batter has had in his six years with the Indian team.

Pant, who met with a horrific car accident last December, is currently doing his rehabilitation programme at the National Cricket Academy in Bengaluru and is expected to make a comeback sometime next year.

In his absence, KL Rahul will keep wickets for India and Ishan Kishan has a good chance of playing as a specialist middle-order batter.

"I think Rishabh has inspired a lot of wicket-keeper batters around the world to play that way (he does). It is fascinating for such a young man to have such an impact that Rishabh has had and others are responding and playing in that positive manner," Gilchrist said.

Gilchrist was impressed how Kishan has shaped up despite knowing that Rahul will be the first keeper.

"They (India) are well stocked. They have got a couple of options there, obviously when KL was out with his injury, Ishan Kishan took his opportunity and played really well and now they find themselves in the team together so that's a wonderful case of taking an opportunity," said the man who won three World Cups for Australia.

What Gilchrist found laudable was Kishan's ability to force the selectors to keep him in the mix with consistent performances.

"Being positive and then and forcing the selectors into keeping you in the team so it seems like KL is gonna be the one who is going to continue with the gloves but it does not seem to hinder Ishan Kishan's batting, he seems to be playing really well, carefree, attacking and dangerous," he explained.

The man, who played nearly 400 international games across three formats, with 15,000 plus runs and over 900 dismissals (catches and stumpings), however had straight forward choices as far as four potential semi-finalists were concerned.

"I think India and Pakistan could feature in the semi-finals, Australia and England are another two teams," opined Gilchrist.

PTI ■ COLOMBO

Hours of net sessions perfecting the art of getting the ball to dart in the air and then deviate away after pitching paid dividends while bamboozling Sri Lanka captain Dasun Shanaka, India's man of the moment Mohammed Siraj, said after his magical spell of 6/21 in the Asia Cup final.

Siraj dismissed Pathum Nissanka, Sadeera Samarawickrama, Charith Asalanka and Dhananjaya De Silva in his second over before returning to clean up Lankan skipper Dasun Shanaka with a peach of a delivery.

"I had practised a lot on generating out-swing deliveries from wide of the crease in West Indies. My outswingers were going well. So I tried from the wide of the crease to push for inswing (which will move away after pitching)," Siraj told bcci.Tv.

"So what I planned, what I had in mind, it turned out to be absolutely perfect and it was my best wicket of the game," Siraj said in an interaction with Indian teammate Kuldeep Yadav. With less than a month to go for the World Cup, Siraj said his spell in the Asia Cup Final would give him a lot of confidence heading into the mega event.

"It's a great achievement for me, especially since it's the final. It will help me gain a lot of confidence before the (ODI) World Cup," he said. "To be honest, it was a magical spell, as I had never dreamt about it. I had to struggle hard to gain the fifth wicket in the last ODI against Lanka in Trivandrum, which never came. But, it all worked out today (Sunday).

"In my first spell, the moment I saw I was able to swing the ball, I realised that I didn't need to hit the wicket. I just intended on bowling at a particular spot and make the ball talk."

While Siraj grabbed the Man of the Match award on Sunday, left-arm wrist spinner Kuldeep took home the Man of the Tournament prize.

Kuldeep finished the event as India's second-highest wicket-taker, with nine scalps in four innings at an average of 11.44 and an economy of 3.61. His best figures were 5 for 25 against Pakistan.

"I don't think a lot; I just read the wicket. It's very important for me to get the length right, and keep bowling at the good length," he said.

"I also read the batter, as to what shot is he trying to play. I have been efficiently using my wrong one and flipper, and I'm gaining a lot of confidence from it. I have worked a lot (on the wrong'un) in the last one and a half years. The rhythm is something that breaks off quite often and takes time to get it back."

Southee will be given every chance to prove his fitness: Stead

PTI ■ LONDON

New Zealand pace ace Tim Southee will be given every chance to prove his fitness ahead of the World Cup in India next month, head coach Gary Stead has said.

Southee broke a bone in his right thumb while attempting to take a catch in the fourth ODI against England last week.

Stead said a call on the 34-year-old will be taken after the seamer consults specialists at home.

"Until then, we can't make a call around the World Cup. We'll just need to understand the time frames and what that looks like and once we have that information, we will then be able to move forward and make a decision."

Southee, who featured the last time the tournament was held in India in 2011, will be playing in his fourth ODI World Cup.

"We'll want to give Tim every chance of proving his fitness. There will be an element of the unknown being that it's a bone fracture, and at some stage he will have to start catching balls and bowling again."

"The healing process in the next 10 to 12 days will be pretty important for him as well," Stead told reporters.

The Black Caps, who went down 1-3 in the ODIs against England, have flown to Bangladesh for a three-match ODI series, starting Thursday.

They will take on Pakistan and South Africa in the World Cup warm up matches on September 29 and October 2 respectively before playing the tournament opener against England on October 5.

Southee, who featured the last time the tournament was held in India in 2011, will be playing in his fourth ODI World Cup.

Nortje, Magala uncertain for WC

PTI ■ JOHANNESBURG

South African fast bowlers Anrich Nortje and Sisanda Magala's availability for the upcoming ODI World Cup in India will be determined this week following a fitness test.

The duo was named in South Africa's initial 15-member squad for the World Cup, but played only one game each in the just-concluded five-match ODI series against Australia.

While Nortje has sustained a lower-back injury, Magala is nursing a left-knee problem. South Africa is set to leave for India on September 23 and final call on the duo's availability will be taken before the journey.

But going by early indication, both quicks are likely to miss the bus.

"We are continually taking stock as to where both of those players are," South Africa's white-ball coach Rob Walter was quoted as saying by

'ESPNcricinfo' after the 3-2 series win over Australia.

"The fact that they weren't playing today with a week to go before we board the plane for the World Cup is obviously a cause for concern. We would have wanted them out there. There are complications around taking players that are injured into a World Cup because then you have to provide a medical reason to be swapped out."

In case both Nortje and Magala are ruled out, South Africa is likely to call up Andile Phehlukwayo in the World Cup-bound squad.

"Andile is one of a couple of guys who are part of a broader squad and today he showed us, especially with the bat, what we have seen in terms of his capability," Walter said. "That knock, you can look at it, and say it was match influencing. A total of 270 looks different to a total of 315 and he was a massive role-player in that."

Head to miss first half of World Cup

PTI ■ JOHANNESBURG

A fracture in the left hand has ruled out Australia batter Travis Head from the first half of the World Cup in India with his participation in the rest of the tournament also uncertain, leaving the door open for the inclusion of in-form Marnus Labuschagne.

The opener was struck on the left glove by a short delivery from Proteas seamer Gerald Coetzee in the fourth ODI against South Africa last week.

Head coach Andrew McDonald revealed that Head, who will miss the three-match ODI series against India beginning on Friday, doesn't require surgery but the Australian selectors need to deliberate on the risk of "carrying" him in the World Cup squad.

"The timeframe is still a bit loose at the moment but the good news is he doesn't require surgery as it sits at the moment. There will be an extended period of time out and we've just got to weigh up whether that time

(out) falls with an option to carry him through the front half of the World Cup," McDonald said.

"There's no doubt he won't be available for the front half, so that's a decision we'll have to make for the final 15. But I can't give you an exact time frame."

The World Cup starts on October 5 with the final scheduled for November 19.

Head's injury leaves the door ajar for Labuschagne, who did not make Australia's 15-member provisional squad. However, the Test star put up tremendous display in the ODIs against South Africa, finishing as the leading run-scorer.

"I can't talk on behalf of the selection panel and lock him away in the World Cup 15 but it's no doubt looking likely," McDonald said.

"He's made a significant shift in his intent at the crease and putting the bowlers under pressure (more) than he was potentially 12 months ago. He's struck at around 100 strike-rate in this series."
