We shouldn't expect much from Sindhu at Asian Games: Vimal

Kane Williamson and Tim Seifert were included Monday in an experienced New Zealand squad for 50-over World Cup in India. Seifert, who bats at No. 4, was picked alongside lock pick焖安 texts: "Wellington, Chandigarh, Colombo"

Williamson will captain the squad, which has 12 players from the 2019 World Cup squad. Seifert is a 30-year-old opener who made his ODI debut in 2019 and was a part of New Zealand's tour of India in March 2021. He has played 10 ODIs and 10 T20Is for New Zealand.

"We haven't put a date on whether he will be picked for the squad, but he has been bowling and doing a lot of things in his powers to recovery," England captain Jos Buttler said after his side's 26-run win over Pakistan in their Asia Cup opener. "I think he has got a bit more of a role to play in this game than he had previously." Buttler said he was pleased with the way New Zealand's pace attack performed, despite losing Tim Southee for an injury in the early stages of the match.

New Zealand's second-string squad is set to be announced later this week, with the team expected to announce its squad for the 2022 World Cup. The squad will be selected from a pool of players who have performed well in recent matches.

"It's a little disconcerting as it is the first time he has been picked for a World Cup," Buttler said. "But it's good to have him back in action after a few months out." Seifert has played 27 ODIs and 27 T20Is for New Zealand, scoring 1,099 runs and 436 runs respectively.

The match was reduced to 23 overs due to rain, with New Zealand winning by eight wickets with four overs to spare. Pakistan were bowled out for 124.
