With the party supremo and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal (55) saying on Wednesday that the AAP had been formed to change the political landscape, the Bjp on Thursday rebuked him for making a comparison of a movement against corruption, but today this party is mired in the “same quagmire of gridlock”.

Paul Nagar Assembly constituency was allotted to the AAP amid a press conference at his residence after tendering his resignation to party General Secretary Satyendra Jain. Anand said, “I had entered politics when I was 21. I have never indulged in any malpractice. The AAP was born out of a movement against corruption, but today this party is mired in the same quagmire of gridlock. From my point of view, it is the urban middle class which does not suffer from corruption.”

Some officials of Badaun working at BJP's behest: Shivpal

TT|LUCKNOW
Samajwadi Party general secretary and party leader Akhilesh Yadav on Friday said that the SP, which had won a seat in the Lok Sabha election in UP's Badaun constituency, had no one to thank but the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP).

"They say thank you to the BSP, but the truth is that they have nothing to thank the BSP for," Yadav said.

"When the BSP won the Badaun seat, the entire credit was claimed by Yadav's wife Dimple Bindra Shukla, who was the BSP candidate," the SP leader said.

"But now, when the BSP has lost the seat, the entire blame is being shifted to the BSP," Yadav said.

He said the BSP had succeeded in "throwing the SP out of power in UP" and added that he was "very happy" with the result.

"The BSP is a party of 양리버, ビッグリー, and the SP is a party of the people," he said.

Yadav also accused the BSP of "waging a war of attrition" against the SP in Badaun.

According to the district administration, Dimple Bindra Shukla was declared the winner of the Badaun seat by 9,703 votes.

The SP had put up a candidate named Manish Chouhan, who lost the seat by a margin of 9,703 votes.

The SP had earlier claimed that it had won the Badaun seat in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections and that it was one of the most important seats in UP.

The SP had also accused the BSP of "waging a war of attrition" against the SP in Badaun.

Cultivating sustainability through urban farming

Urban farming, encompassing the cultivation of crops within cities, not only yields locally sourced produce but also has environmental benefits.

Support Policy

To fully realise the potential of urban farming, support systems like incentives are needed. While some state governments are providing support by guaranteeing a minimum price or by reducing the load on primary producers, there is still room for improved policies. Urban farming requires a sustainable and self-sufficient approach.

Conclusion

In conclusion, while urban farming offers numerous benefits and opportunities, challenges remain in terms of scalability, accessibility, and local support systems. Addressing these challenges will be crucial for the continued growth and sustainability of urban farming initiatives.
Decarom's fall signals startup crisis

Decarom, the startup incubator and accelerator, has faced a significant downturn in its operations. The company has laid off a number of employees and has not been able to attract new investors. This has led to a decline in the number of startups incubated and supported by Decarom.

One of the key issues facing Decarom is a lack of funding. The company has been relying on a limited pool of investors, and as these investors have become more selective, Decarom has struggled to secure new investment. This has led to a reduction in the resources available to support startups.

Another issue facing Decarom is a lack of a clear business model. The company has been struggling to define its value proposition and to articulate its unique selling proposition. This has made it difficult for Decarom to attract new investors and to retain existing ones.

The company has also faced challenges in retaining its talent. Many of Decarom's employees have left to join other startups or to pursue other opportunities. This has led to a decline in the company's ability to deliver on its commitments and to deliver value to its customers.

In conclusion, Decarom's fall signals a broader issue in the startup ecosystem. The company's struggles highlight the need for a more robust and sustainable model for incubating and supporting startups.

The company's founders and leaders will need to re-examine their business model and to develop a clear and compelling value proposition. They will also need to focus on building a strong and committed team to deliver on their promises to investors and customers.
Murms in Pilibhit over Varun’s absence from PM Modi’s rally

The DMRC’s plea

Later on November 2012 citing various reasons, the PMO denied one by the BJP , adding that the party has the first copyright on the name, "Varun Gandhi." The principled position was maintained by the party till the Lok Sabha polls held in 2014.

Varun secured victories in 2009 and as a BJP candidate, winning by significant margins. The victory was a major embarrassment for theDMK, which has traditionally held sway in the state. The party’s loss in Lok Sabha polls, held in 2014, was a major setback for the DMK.

The case pertains to a claim by the DMRC against Pradeep Bhasin, who petitioned the Madras HC seeking a declaration that he was entitled to the name "Varun Gandhi." The matter is pending in the HC.

A few days later, the DMRC invoked an arbitration clause seeking to initiate arbitration proceedings. The arbitration clause was contained in the MoU signed on October 2013 between the DMRC and Bhasin. The clause would be invoked if a dispute arises between the parties.

TIVIDIRAJA/MUMBAI

A day after Maharashtra Chief Minister Prithviraj Chavan resigned to take the UPA-Commons or the Centre, leading some to speculate that Chavan may become the prime minister of India, this was the first time a resignation was submitted by any of the coalition partners in the UPA-Commons or the Centre. The resignation was submitted by Chavan, who has been a member of the Congress party since 1969.

The resignation came on the day after the resignation of Ajit Sterman, a leader of the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP), who is also a member of the UPA-Commons or the Centre.

The resignation comes as a shock to the Congress party, which had been expecting Sterman to remain in the UPA-Commons or the Centre. Sterman’s resignation has left the party with a significant loss of support, and it is unclear how the party will proceed in the future.

The Congress party has been facing a series of challenges in recent weeks, including a series of resignations by senior leaders. The party has been struggling to regain its footing, and Sterman’s resignation is a major blow to its prospects.

Kumaraswamy slams Congress after EC stops farmhouse feast

Festive cheers turned toしたもの at the home and its owners

Two roadside astrologers who predicted the Patels' victory decided against attending an April 10 Lok Sabha election campaign programme at the Memorial Ground in Mandvi, in Kutch, and instead went to a Holi celebration with their families. They had, however, organised 'Hosa Todaku', an event to celebrate when many communities in the state meet on the eve of the festival. The programme is celebrated when the sun sets on the day when communal harmony is revived, according to the programme chief minister, who had invited the astrologers to the event.

The Congress has set its code of conduct in force for the elections.

It is the cultural and religious custom of the Patels to offer prayers to the god Ganesha after the start of the festival of Holi. The programme had started the previous evening, but was stopped when the EC team arrived. The astrologers were not able to reach their families in time to celebrate the festival properly. The chief minister had invited the astrologers to the event, but they were not able to attend due to the sudden change in plans. The EC team had suggested that the astrologers might have been affected by the EC's code of conduct, which had been put in place to ensure fair and free elections.

Will the EC team ever come around to understand the Patels' cultural and religious practices?

The EC team had arrived in the state to ensure fair and free elections, but its presence had caused a cultural and religious uproar among the Patels. The astrologers had invited the EC team to their event, but the team had decided to stop the programme on the eve of the festival. UFPD’s President João Bolsonaro called for the military to intervene if pressure on the government on matters related to the COVID-19 pandemic continues, signaling that he was prepared to call on the armed forces to take control of the situation. The move came after the opposition failed to secure a vote of no-confidence against Bolsonaro’s government in Congress.

According to published reports, the military strategy would involve the deployment of troops to key areas, including hospitals and social services, to ensure compliance with health measures and prevent further spread of the virus. This is a significant escalation in tensions, as President Bolsonaro has consistently downplayed the severity of the pandemic and resisted efforts to control its spread.

Bolsonaro’s call for military intervention follows a string of recent events that have increased pressure on his administration. These include the loss of the state’s executive power in several regions, protests against his government’s handling of the pandemic, and a growing media campaign against his policies. While the move is seen as a means to consolidate power, it also risks further alienating the opposition and the public, who are already skeptical of his handling of the crisis.

The situation has sparked concerns about a potential military coup, which could have serious implications for democracy in Brazil. The move is also likely to be met with resistance from the military leadership, who have traditionally been cautious about becoming involved in political affairs.

It remains to be seen how the military will respond to Bolsonaro’s call, and what the implications of such an intervention would be. But it is clear that the president’s actions are heightening tensions and are likely to further destabilize the political landscape in the country.

Biden’s strategy is aimed at addressing the climate crisis, which is considered one of the most pressing global issues of our time. The strategy calls for significant investments in renewable energy, infrastructure, and research and development to help the country lead the world in this transition. It also includes plans to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, improve energy efficiency, and support the transition to clean energy in transportation and buildings.

The strategy sets ambitious targets for reducing greenhouse gas emissions, including a goal of net-zero emissions by 2050. It also includes plans to create millions of new jobs in the clean energy sector and to ensure that the country is on a path to achieve the Paris Agreement goals.

The strategy is expected to have a significant impact on the economy, creating new opportunities for businesses and workers in the clean energy sector. It also includes plans to support vulnerable communities and workers in industries that are being phased out as the country transitions to clean energy.

Biden’s strategy is part of a broader international effort to address the climate crisis. The United States is one of the largest emitters of greenhouse gases, and its actions will have significant implications for the global climate negotiations. The strategy is also expected to strengthen international cooperation and align the country with other nations in the quest to address this global challenge.

The strategy is subject to approval by Congress, and it will be up to the lawmakers to decide whether to support or reject the President’s plan. However, the strategy is already receiving positive reactions from some lawmakers, who see it as a necessary step to protect the country and the planet.

The strategy is a significant step forward in the country’s commitment to address the climate crisis, and it is expected to set the stage for further action at the national and international levels. The implementation of the strategy will be crucial to its success, and it will require strong leadership and collaboration from all stakeholders.

Lakshya Sen loses to QJ, bows out in opening round of Badminton Asia Championships

Anandii wins bronze medal in Open Skiff EuroChallenge sailing competition

Gadekar downshines Abosj to join joint lead with Nepomniachtchi

India badminton star Lakshya Sen was surprised to lose to QJ in straight games in the opening round of the Badminton Asia Championships. Lakshya, who had won his opening round against Malaysia's Lee Zii Jia, faced an early exit in the tournament.

Regrettably, Anandii, who had won her opening round against Indonesia's Greysia Polii, was unable to progress further. She faces Australia's Nikita Meaney in her next match.

Anandii, who is on a high after reaching the quarter-finals of the All England Open, is now in the final eight. She faces Singapore's Yeo Jia Min in her next match.

Shakhriyar Mamedov, who had won his opening round against India's Chirag Shetty, faces Japan's Kento Momota in his next match.

Gadekar, who had won his opening round against India's Sameer Verma, faces Indonesia's Anthony Ginting in his next match.

Both players are currently tied at the top of the ranking list. Gadekar is ranked 6th and Nepomniachtchi is ranked 7th. They are the only two players who have scored 1000 points in the last 12 months.

Both players are expected to play in the upcoming Thomas Cup, which is scheduled to be held in April 2023. They will compete for the top position in the world rankings.
