Dallewal’s health deteriorates as hunger strike enters 18th day

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Farmer leader Jagjit Singh Dallewal's hunger strike at the Punjab-Haryana border on Friday reached a critical stage as it entered its 18th day. Dallewal, who has been spear-heading the ‘Delhi Chalo Andolan 2.0’ at the Khanauri border to press for 13 key demands, including guarantees for Minimum Support Price (MSP) and the implementation of the Swaminathan Commission's recommendations, is facing severe health complications.

Senior farmer leaders from the Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM), including Bharatiya Kisan Union's (BKU) Rakesh Tikait, joined the protest on Friday, expressing solidarity with Dallewal and urging the Central Government to act swiftly to address farmers' grievances. Dallewal's protest has become a symbol of resilience, but his supporters have now been urging him to prioritize his health.

Observing fast since November 26, Dallewal's health has been declining alarmingly. Doctors, including specialists from the US – who has been monitoring his health since Day 1, have reported that he has lost 12 kilograms, his blood pressure and sugar levels are critically low, and his kidneys and liver are at risk of damage. As a cancer patient, his vulnerability is heightened, with the possibility of a heart attack looming. Despite these warnings, Dallewal remains steadfast in his resolve, insisting that he will not end his hunger strike until the demands are met.

SKM leaders, including prominent face Rakesh Tikait, BKU (Lakhawal) general secretary Harinder Singh Lakhawal, and BKU (Dakaunda) president Manjit Singh Dhaner, among others, visited Dallewal at the protest site.

Hailing Dallewal's determination, Tikait said: "Sikhism is rooted in sacrifice, and Dallewal is upholding that tradition. It's time for the Government to wake up to the plight of farmers." The leaders called for unity among farmers' groups and hinted at the possibility of escalating the protest, including a plan to encircle Delhi via the Kundli-Manesar-Palwal (KMP) Expressway if the demands remain unaddressed.

Lakhawal revealed that SKM has convened an emergency meeting on Friday to discuss Dallewal's health and strategize the next steps. "Our paths may differ, but our demands align," he said, underscoring the need for collective action.

The agitation has drawn support from various quarters, including AAP MLA Gurdit Singh Sekhon and leaders from over 100 farmer unions affiliated with SKM (non-political), the forum led by Dallewal. Religious gatherings at the protest site have bolstered morale, while security has been tightened to ensure Dallewal's safety. Farmers' appeals for larger public participation have intensified, with calls for prayers and solidarity marches.

Concerns over Dallewal's

deteriorating health have intensified, drawing attention to the need for a unified front among farmer organizations. Leaders acknowledged that fragmented efforts by different groups may deter the Central Government from engaging in meaningful dialogue, while calling for a more "unified" effort. A key farmer leader Buta Singh Sadipur has mobilized his supporters from Samana to Khanauri, and joined the protestors at Shambhu border.

Sadipur, speaking about the pressing need for farmer solidarity, emphasized, "Unity is the need of the hour. Only a united front can compel the Central Government to heed our demands." Also criticizing the Punjab Government for its inaction, he said: "No concrete steps have been taken to address the farmers' concerns or to end Dallewal's hunger strike."

Amid mounting pressure, farmer organizations plan to convene at the Khanauri border soon to deliberate on future strategies. Many believed that a unified movement could strengthen their position, paving the way for negotiations with both state and central governments.

Govt's Response

Efforts to mediate have gained urgency. Ambala Deputy Commissioner has written to his Sangrur counterpart urging immediate medical intervention for Dallewal to prevent any adverse impact on the ongoing protest and maintain law and order. A day before, Dallewal himself escalated his demands by sending a "blood-signed" letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, declaring it his first and last appeal.

Dallewal's protest is rooted in the larger struggle for farmers' rights that gained momentum during the 2020-21 agitation against the now-repealed farm laws. Despite differences in strategy, his demands echo those of SKM, including debt waivers, pension schemes, and robust MSP guarantees. The rift between Dallewal and SKM's political arm has not diminished mutual respect, with leaders from both factions acknowledging his contributions to the farmers' movement.

The hunger strike has reignited debates on farmers' issues, with SKM's Tikait hinting at another mass mobilization to pressure the government. "The battle is far from over," Tikait said, warning of renewed protests that could rival the scale of the previous Delhi border demonstrations.

SC's Intervention

Amid growing concerns over Dallewal's health, the Supreme Court on Friday issued stern directions to the Punjab and Central Governments emphasizing that the farmer leader's life is of utmost importance. The Apex Court directed immediate medical assistance to be provided to Dallewal, while cautioning the authorities against using force to end his hunger strike, urging both the Central and Punjab Governments to ensure peace and avoid any escalation of the situation.

Like Haryana, Punjab Govt should procure all crops of farmers at MSP, says CM Saini

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Friday said that all crops of farmers in Haryana are being procured at Minimum Support Price and the Punjab government should also come forward and announce that the produce of farmers in the AAP-ruled state will be purchased at MSP.

Talking to reporters after inaugurating handicraft exhibition, Saini said the works done by Prime Minister Narendra Modi during the past ten years for farmer's benefit are "historic".

He was asked a question about Punjab farmer leader Jagjit Singh Dallewal, who is sitting on fast-unto-death, and has also written an open letter to Prime Minister Modi in which he said that MSP to every farmer is like the fundamental right to live.

Saini said the AAP dispensation in Punjab and the states where Congress is in power should also take a decision to empower the farmers. "Punjab government should also take a decision to procure crops of farmers at MSP. They should not have a problem with this. When farmers of Punjab are facing problems, the Punjab government should come forward and announce that they will procure all crops of farmers at MSP" Saini said.

"In Haryana, we are procuring all crops of farmers at MSP and the state government is taking every such step which empowers farmers," he said. The Congress and other outfits which are part of the opposition's INDIA bloc do politics on everything, he charged.

Dallewal has been on a fast-unto-death at the Khanauri border between Punjab and Haryana since November 26 to press the Centre to accept the agitating farmers' demands, including a legal guarantee of MSP on crops.

Saini also trained his guns at the Congress, saying it has been rejected by people of the country. The Congress "speaks lies" and people have realised this and they have been rejected in Maharashtra also, he said, referring to results of the assembly polls held recently.

Welcomes Centre's move to implement its key plank of 'one nation, one election'

Saini also welcomed the Centre's move to implement its key plank of 'one nation, one election', as the Union Cabinet on Thursday approved the constitutional amendment bill to roll out the concept of simultaneous Lok Sabha and state assembly polls. "We used to be stuck in one election after the other. Sometimes, it is panchayat polls, sometimes municipal polls, Vidhan Sabha or the Lok Sabha polls. It not only involves a lot of expenditure in holding elections, but there is involvement of time too. We were not able to undertake development at the pace at which we want as the Model Code of Conduct comes into effect and development works get impacted," he said. "I congratulate the prime minister and his entire team for the approval they have given to the One Nation One Election (initiative). The common people will get the benefit of this," he said.

MCC OFFICERS VOLUNTARILY GIVE UP THEIR ENTERTAINMENT ALLOWANCE DUE TO FINANCIAL CRUNCH

Chandigarh: Following the footsteps of the Commissioner, all officers of Municipal Corporation Chandigarh having the requisite entitlement, on Friday volunteered to give up their entertainment allowance by 50 percent, which will save expenditure amounting to Rs. 8 lacs per annum. Nearly 28 officers of MCC, including Joint Commissioners, Chief Engineer, SEs, all Executive Engineers and other administrative officers gave up their entertainment allowance. Earlier, the MCC Commissioner Amit Kumar had volunteered to gave up his entertainment allowance to the tune of 50 percent, which costs 90 K per annum. "The Municipal Corporation Chandigarh is facing huge financial crises these days and the Commissioner has directed all his officers to curtail expenditure and explore maximum revenue generation solutions in the Corporation," a statement said. The Commissioner also slashed the expenditure of Chrysanthemum Show to Rs. 3.50 lacs from approved budget of Rs 24 lacs. The MCC auctioned food court in the three days Chrysanthemum show for Rs. 3.35 lacs therefore meeting out all expenditure incurred.

WATER OF GHAGGAR RIVER UNFIT FOR DRINKING OR IRRIGATION: MP SELJA

Chandigarh: Sirsa MP Kumari Selja on Friday said that the water of the Ghaggar River is neither fit for drinking nor for irrigation. In a statement, she said that in Haryana, the total dissolved solids (TDS) range from 198-1068 mg/l, and in Punjab, it is between 248-2010 mg/l. Despite claims by both states regarding sewage treatment capacities, the reality reflects otherwise. Selja raised questions in Parliament to the Union Minister for Jal Shakti about the condition of the Ghaggar River. According to her, the Union Minister confirmed that the water is unfit for drinking and irrigation.

CONSERVE ENERGY FOR A SAFER FUTURE, SAYS KAPURTHALA LEGISLATOR

Kapurthala: Congress MLA from Kapurthala, Rana Gurjeet Singh on Friday called upon the people of Punjab to take pledge to conserve energy in the form of electrical power for a brighter and progressive future for the upcoming generations. On the eve of national energy conservation day (falling on December 14), he said electricity is a national asset and saving it is like performing fundamental duty as contributing towards the economic development of the nation. "So it becomes a moral duty of all citizens of the nation to save electricity and contribute towards the nation's development," he reiterated. Sharing that each unit saved is 1.25 units generated, he said people should make energy consumption more ethical by making conscious choices. He said that lowering energy consumption will have a positive impact not only on the individual finances but will also help in nation-building.

Ajnala Seizure: Punjab Police dismantles terror module, Arrests two

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH/ AMRITSAR

Punjab Police on Friday said it has dismantled a Pakistan-ISI backed terror module operated by Babbar Khalsa International (BKI) associates. The action resulted in the arrest of two individuals, including a juvenile, linked to the planting of an improvised explosive device (IED) at Ajnala Police Station last month.

Director General of Police (DGP) Gaurav Yadav said that the module was orchestrated by BKI operatives Harvinder Randa and Harpreet Singh, alias Happy Passia, with execution directed by foreign-based gangster Gurdev Singh, alias Jaisel. The arrested individuals, identified as Jashandeep Singh, alias Danny, of Jandiala Guru, and a 17-year-old juvenile, confessed to their involvement in the November 23 IED incident and other planned terror activities.

Police recovered two Chinese-made P86 hand grenades, a sophisticated Turkey-made 9MM Zigana pistol, ammunition, and a black Splendor motorcycle from their possession. This recovery underscores the depth of the module's plans, which included targeting government establishments across Punjab.

DGP Yadav highlighted the operatives' dual role in terror activities and drug peddling. "Preliminary investigations indicate that the accused were lured by their handler, Gurdev Jaisel, with promises of money and drugs. They were tasked with planting IEDs and handling consignments of weapons and explosives," he stated.

Biting cold grips Punjab, Haryana; Sangrur coldest at 1.1 degree Celsius

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Sangrur in Punjab and Hisar in Haryana reeled under severe cold on Friday as biting chill continued to prevail at many places in the two states. Chandigarh recorded a minimum temperature of 7.6 degrees Celsius.

According to the meteorological department's daily weather report, Sangrur recorded a minimum temperature of 1.1 degrees Celsius.

Among other places in Punjab, severe chill swept Faridkot, which recorded a low of 2.5 degrees, while Bathinda recorded a minimum of 4.4 degrees Celsius.

Amritsar also experienced a cold night at 3.8 degrees Celsius while Ludhiana recorded a low of 6.3 degrees Celsius. Patiala recorded a low of 7 degrees Celsius.

Meanwhile, in Haryana, Hisar was the coldest place recording a low of 1.7 degrees Celsius.

Piercing cold also swept Narnaul, which recorded a low of 3.8 degrees Celsius. Karnal recorded a low of 6.2 degrees Celsius, Bhiwani 4.6, Sirsa 6.8, Rohtak 8.8 while Ambala registered a low of 8.5 degrees Celsius.

Punjab CM urges Finland-trained teachers to revolutionize state’s education system

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Friday called upon recently returned teachers from Finland to spearhead an educational revolution in the state, transforming government schools into vibrant hubs of quality learning. Addressing the teachers at his official residence, Mann lauded their successful training in Finland and emphasized the critical role they play in building a strong foundation for the nation's future.

"It's a historic day for Punjab as our teachers return equipped with world-class expertise," said the Chief Minister, urging the teachers to serve as role models, imparting skills and knowledge that would allow students to compete with their peers from private schools. The Chief Minister highlighted that the state's initiative to send 72 primary teachers for advanced training in Finland was not just a trip but a mission to overhaul the education system.

Mann elaborated on why Finland was chosen for this program, citing its globally acclaimed education system. "The training has provided our teachers with innovative techniques and best practices that will not only enhance their teaching abilities but also bring a much-needed boost to our education sector," he stated.

The program is aimed at broadening the professional skills of teachers, fostering leadership qualities, and equipping them with advanced pedagogical tools. The Chief Minister emphasized that the enriched expertise of these educators would empower government school students to excel academically and socially. "This initiative will enable the creation of an education system that nurtures every child's potential," Mann asserted.

Mann called the Finland training program a "red-letter day" in Punjab's history. He expressed confidence that such initiatives would help Punjab become a frontrunner in education. "This training will act as a seed, growing into a tree of knowledge that benefits not just individuals but entire communities," he envisioned.

To further support these efforts, Mann announced plans for creating platforms where Finland-trained teachers could share their experiences and expertise with colleagues, fostering a culture of continuous improvement. He encouraged teachers to take pride in their transformative role, adding, "Education is the most powerful tool for progress, and you hold the keys to unlocking our state's potential."

The Chief Minister also underscored the importance of aligning students' academic paths with their interests rather than societal pressures. He urged parents and teachers to nurture children's individual strengths, allowing them to achieve their aspirations.

Adding an exciting dimension to the occasion, Education Minister Harjot Singh Bains announced upcoming student visits to premier institutions like the Indian Institute of Science and Google's headquarters. "This will provide students with valuable exposure to cutting-edge technologies and inspire them to dream big," he stated.

Teachers Laud Initiative, Share Experiences

Equipped with innovative methodologies, the delegation of 72 educators – including BPEOs, CHTs, HTs, and primary teachers – shared their transformative experiences.

Manmeet Singh, a teacher from Ludhiana, reflected on how Finland's playful learning techniques replaced their reliance on traditional methods. "We've started sharing these techniques with fellow educators, and the results are promising," he said.

Bathinda's Daljit Singh recalled praise from Finnish trainer Cristina, who applauded Punjab's initiative. "Her encouragement inspired us to share our experiences with local communities, bringing renewed energy to our teaching," he noted.

Meanwhile, Talwara's Amrinderpal Singh Dhillion emphasized how the training instilled a profound sense of responsibility among the participants. "This visionary program will drive grassroots change in education," he said.

Baljit Kaur Parmar, a primary teacher from Fatehgarh Sahib, expressed how the experience boosted her confidence. "I feel equipped to contribute more effectively, both inside and outside the classroom," she said.

Educators were especially impressed by Finland's emphasis on practical education. Anoop Singh Maini from Tarn Taran highlighted, "The Finnish system focuses on practical learning alongside academics, a model we aspire to replicate in Punjab."

SCERT director Amaninder Kaur Brar emphasized the need for integrating practical tools into classrooms, such as carpentry workshops, to provide hands-on learning experiences. "This approach will ensure students apply theoretical knowledge effectively," she added.

Several teachers acknowledged the psychological benefits of the training. Hoshiarpur's Vandana Heen said: "It was a joyful learning experience that encouraged us to rethink our teaching practices."

Others, like Nirmaljeet Kaur of Tarn Taran, highlighted Finland's unique approach to time management and moral education. "These lessons will prove invaluable as we apply them in our schools," she shared.

Himachal CM Sukhu stays overnight in interior most region as part of grassroots connection

PNS ■ SHIMLA

As part of the ambitious 'Sarkar Gaon Ke Dwar' initiative of the state government, Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu on Friday visited the picturesque Tikkar village in Kupvi tehsil of Chopal subdivision in Shimla district. Despite the chill of the evening, the enthusiasm and hospitality of the villagers radiated their warmth and affection to see the Chief Minister at their doorstep reinforcing his commitment to connecting with the people at the grassroots level.

During the visit, Sukhu interacted with villagers' right from children to the elderly and women. The villagers seized the opportunity to inform the Chief Minister of the day-to-day challenges they faced. He gave on-the-spot directions to officers to ensure timely resolution of the issues raised by the people of the area.

Sukhu then visited the home of Hari Singh a resident of Tikkar where he was greeted with a warm welcome as per the local customs. After warming himself by the bonfire the Chief Minister enquired about the availability of health services and the state of education in the area.

Conversing in the local dialect with the villagers, Sukhu discussed with them the challenges they face, particularly the disruptions in public services during the harsh winter months. With a genuine interest in their well-being, he listened attentively as the villagers freely voiced their concerns. His patient and empathetic approach allowed him to gain a profound understanding of the issues at hand reinforcing his commitment to address the needs of the people residing in the remotest corner of Shimla district.

He informed the villagers about the schemes and initiatives started by the present state Government and also briefed about the special revenue Lok Adalats at the tehsil and sub-tehsil levels aimed to resolve long-pending revenue cases in a time-bound manner. He further told them about the recent amendments to the law, which have set clear timelines for the resolution of partition and correction cases (nine months), marking cases (three months) and transfer cases (one month). He also shared the state government's plans to strengthen the rural economy by introducing a Minimum Support Price (MSP) for milk and the procurement of maize and wheat.

Throughout the visit, Sukhu took a keen interest in the local folk, culture, their customs and cuisine and savoured the local delicacies and enjoyed traditional folk music to further strengthen his connection with the people of the area.

Health Minister Dr. (Col.) Dhani Ram Shandi, State Congress General Secretary Rajneesh Kimta and others were present on the occasion.

One Nation One Election

India’s democratic system is on the verge of a transformative change with the ‘One Nation, One Election’ initiative

The concept of ‘One Nation, One Election’ has been a subject of significant debate in India’s political discourse. On December 12, 2024, the Union Cabinet, chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, approved draft legislation to implement simultaneous elections for the Lok Sabha, state assemblies, and local bodies within 100 days. This proposal seeks to streamline India’s electoral process, reduce the economic and administrative burden of frequent elections and enhance governance. The ‘One Nation, One Election’ initiative aims to align the election schedules of the Lok Sabha, state assemblies, municipal corporations and panchayats. The proposed legislation is likely to be introduced in Parliament during the ongoing Winter Session, reflecting the government’s intention to initiate nationwide consultations on this transformative reform. The draft legislation incorporates 11 recommendations made by a high-level committee led by former President Ram Nath Kovind. These recommendations aim to address the frequent disruptions caused by the current staggered election schedule, which is a drain on economic, social, and political resources. One of the primary suggestions involves synchronising the election dates for the Lok Sabha and state assemblies in the first phase, followed by municipal and panchayat elections within 100 days. To ensure smooth execution, a dedicated implementation group will oversee the reforms. Constitutional amendments, such as the introduction of Articles 324A and 325, are proposed to facilitate simultaneous elections, create unified voter rolls. Elections demand significant financial resources and conducting them simultaneously could reduce costs related to security, logistics and administrative expenses. Frequent elections also result in prolonged enforcement of the Model Code of Conduct, halting developmental activities, which a unified schedule could minimise. However, implementing this ambitious reform involves substantial logistical and constitutional challenges. Synchronising elections requires amendments to several constitutional articles, including Articles 83, 85, 172, 174, and 356, which must be ratified by a majority of state legislatures. Building political consensus among parties with diverse regional interests is another critical requirement. Furthermore, the Election Commission will need to mobilise resources, including additional EVMs and VVPATs and ensure readiness of polling staff and infrastructure nationwide. Besides, simultaneous elections might overshadow local issues due to the dominance of national narratives, potentially affecting regional representation. Coordinating nationwide elections within a short timeframe also poses logistical challenges. Moreover, synchronising subsequent elections in cases of mid-term dissolutions could create governance gaps, leading to policy paralysis. While the proposal promises efficiency and cost-effectiveness, its implementation demands careful consideration of constitutional, logistical, and political complexities.

Unraveling the delicate threads of human interaction

Communication is the lifeblood of human connection, yet it remains one of the most intricate and fragile aspects of our existence

Conversation is a delicate business. It is made even more fragile by being central to all human interaction. The more knowledgeable individuals feel that communication is only partially through words. It can also be through eyes, through touch, through gestures, and even through silence. The list can go on. This makes communication not only complicated but also a sensitive matter. Communication can be with oneself. It can be between two persons, or in groups. It can be a short distance or a long distance. The possibilities are immense.

The pitch of the voice could matter. The eye’s movement can be an intervening variable, and sometimes the more well-versed practice cross-communication. It means giving one message through one medium and another through another. In other words, it can be one message through words and another message through the eyes. If technology intervenes, it becomes even more complex. The technological interventions can be through a medium such as a handset, a telephone, or, in some parts, a piece of paper. In the past, pigeons have been known to serve a useful purpose. The permutations and combinations are immense, and each has a value, just as each medium has a context. Like in the case of many essentials in life, there is no primer available and there is no one author who has covered comprehensively all aspects of communication. Hence, much of this is on learning by practice. Much of this is also learning by grief because in the absence of a proper ‘Guru’ one can only learn by trial and error. Many relationships get under strain or break because one meaning is intended, but another meaning gets conveyed. This can sometimes be incomplete or even distorted. Put simply, coding and decoding a message is a complex process and has to do with many variables, most of which may not be under the control of the parties involved. Hence, it could become like fiddling with wires in the dark. The solutions are not difficult if they are systematically put into operation. In early childhood, when a person is being taught words, it would be helpful if the person is also helped to choose the better word to communicate his ideas. Proper pronunciation should also be taught. If the circumstances permit by linguicism or multi-linguicism can be practiced. This would help adjustment to different levels of people; people of different ages and from different contexts. The solutions are known just as much as the problems are known. But there is little systematic attempt to put it in a frame and help better communication. It is obvious that communication can be between two people of equal age, between somebody who is older and somebody younger, people of the same gender, people of the opposite gender, people with prior antecedents of relationships, and people with no prior antecedents of relationships.

THE USUAL RESPONSE WHEN THERE IS A LACK OF CLARITY ON WHERE TO BEGIN, ONE SHOULD BEGIN JUST SOMEWHERE AND HOPE THAT IT RUNS ON SATISFACTORILY. IF IT IS NOT ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY, IT CAN BE CORRECTED AS ONE GOES ALONG

The contexts are huge and almost impossible to exhaustively list. This is not to say that the problem is not solvable or cannot be handled. The usual response when there is a lack of clarity on where to begin, one should begin just somewhere and hope that it runs on satisfactorily. If it is not entirely satisfactory, it can be corrected as one goes along. Being inundated by problems and not beginning at all cannot be the answer. Sometimes a simple problem can be so elusive that it becomes difficult to structure it for a solution. Effective communication is one such problem. Any discussion touching on communication will be incomplete without the realisation, as already noted, that communication is not always with words. There is an oft-repeated quote to the effect of ‘if you cannot understand my silence, you will not understand my words’. Interestingly, silence also communicates, and there are different types of silence. Often, body language takes over, but that is another matter. Unfortunately, communication through silence also needs deep insights and research. Communication can be between people where one of the limbs that is centrally used in communication, loses its function or becomes unusable. For example, if someone has a problem with listening through one ear, the best course of action would be to help the person concerned restore their hearing through the other ear. However, this may not always work. So options and support systems have to be generated. Like in many things, psychological factors become very heavily involved, and unfortunately, those who are not capable of deep thought fumble more. There is a case for serious research on all aspects of the communication enumerated above and more research on communication per se, in a scholastic mode, would help. Till then, one can only hope that the general conversation on communication will alleviate the confusion that sometimes arises on communication points. One also hopes that research will help good communication all around. (The writer is a well-known management consultant of international repute. The views expressed are personal)

FAMILY FIRST POLITICS

Madam — Family first is not only for Biden. It is rather a human tendency to attend to the needs and aspirations of the family first before thinking and acting for the cause of the society. Biden’s act of granting a pardon to his son is seen as a great sin because the US is projecting itself as the promoter and protector of democracy and democratic values all over. Though it is expected of any leader to rise above all petty thinking and prioritise the benefit of the general mass and the country, many a time we do observe some people at the helm of affairs succumbing to simple human instincts, keeping the disciplines and decorum related to the position held at bay. No doubt, such acts not only demolish the image of the person that has been built for decades but also bring shame to the nation and the society he is attached to. We have seen the way the entire country of Sri Lanka was brought under the grip of one family that led to unprecedented levels of corruption, amassing wealth by the family, unleashing some sort of dictatorship, and plunging the common people into sufferings of all sorts. But people are watching, which all the leaders should keep in mind. Biden lost in the US, and the family is out in Sri Lanka. India is not an exception. The leaders of the ruling dispensation, pointing at the Opposition for promoting the culture of family, assuming the leadership of the party, are simultaneously focusing on bringing their siblings to the limelight of political careers. In most of the states, the regional parties are almost converted into family organs, and they firmly believe in the dictum of ‘the king and his family can do no wrong,’ meaning that their family is above all the laws of the land and none of them can be questioned or punished. In India it is almost an accepted norm to bear with all the mistakes or misdeeds of the members of the family in power.

Gukesh youngest world chess champion

India’s young Grandmaster D Gukesh defeated China’s World Champion Ding Liren in the 14th and final round, claiming the title of the youngest world chess champion. At just 18 years old, Dommaraju Gukesh has demonstrated that conquering the world is possible at a young age. Thursday was a historic day for Indian chess, thanks to Gukesh’s remarkable achievement. Gukesh broke the 14-year-old record held by Russia’s Garry Kasparov, who became the youngest world champion at the age of 22 years, 6 months, and 27 days. Gukesh’s victory marks a new chapter in the history of chess. After Viswanathan Anand, Gukesh is the second Indian chess player to earn the title of world champion. In a 14th-round match that lasted nearly four hours, Gukesh defeated Ding Liren in 58 moves, becoming the 18th world champion in chess history. In October 2022, Gukesh had already captured everyone’s attention by defeating then-world champion Magnus Carlsen in a rapid chess tournament. In 2024, Gukesh first triumphed in the Candidates Tournament. Later, he played a pivotal role in helping the Indian men’s team win the gold medal in the Chess Olympiad. Now, by claiming the world championship title, he has added another feather to India’s cap.

HC JUDGE FACES FLAK

Madam— The Allahabad High Court judge made insensitive comments about the Muslim community and its practices and used offensive language against them, which was not warranted from someone who is looked up to by thousands of common men seeking justice at the high court. It cannot be construed as a slip of the tongue, as he spoke for more than 30 minutes, and it is not the first time he has garnered attention for his controversial words; earlier too, his oral remarks in the court made headlines, and he has also said that cows exhale oxygen. Such poor statements have the potential to undermine public trust in the judiciary and raise a question mark over judicial integrity. It is welcome that the apex court of the country has taken note of this and sought details of the speech. Some may argue about freedom of speech, but the fact that a judge’s impartial conduct in office and public events should be above reproach. The Supreme Court’s action in this matter should set the house in order for other judges in district and high courts.

RS CHAIRMAN FACES NO CONFIDENCE

Madam — It is unfortunate that the ruling BJP and the opposition parties in our country do not look at each other as ideological opponents but as real-time enemies. The present move by sixty members of the opposition expressing ‘no confidence against the RS chairman may not reach the extent of voting, and even if it does, it will get defeated as the opposition does not have the sufficient strength for the motion’s success. However, such a move by the opposition expressing lack of confidence in the chair is a black mark in the world’s largest democracy. This has led to the situation that they do not engage themselves with each other and ensure a fair and useful debate in both the Houses of Parliament, trying to score one over the other.

Why simplicity and equality must redefine weddings

There is a pressing need to rethink our approach to weddings; advocating for a shift towards simplicity, equality and genuine joy rather than crass display of wealth

Weddings have long been a grand celebration where two people unite, signifying not just the union of two souls, but also the joining of two families. These joyous occasions are infused with rituals, traditions, and celebrations designed to enhance the richness and pride of cultural heritage. Within the shimmering lights, the grand feast, and the spirited festivities, there exists a frequently ignored reality: the rising expenses these celebrations impose on families, especially those in the middle and lower-middle classes. Dowry, once regarded as a remnant of outdated and oppressive traditions, has taken on a contemporary guise. The concept of ‘dowry’ may no longer be prevalent in everyday language, yet its core remains hidden beneath the polished surface of what we now refer to as ‘gifts.’ What was once viewed with disdain has now been embraced, illuminated by a fresh perspective that aligns with contemporary feelings. What’s the final takeaway? Families, particularly the bride’s, face immense financial strain due to these ‘gift’ expectations, which frequently manifest as expensive items, vehicles, and cash contributions. In many cases, what are presented as gifts are actually disguised demands. Middle-class families, determined to avoid the label of being stingy, frequently push themselves to the limit to maintain their standing. The expectation to host lavish weddings adds an extra weight, as in many cultures, these ceremonies are seen as a reflection of the family’s standing in the community. In severe situations, for struggling families, this can be devastating; for individuals find themselves compelled to deplete their life savings or other assets, while others are drawn into loan schemes. This debt, incurred at the expense of societal expectations, is repaid over years—and even decades—creating a relentless cycle of instability. The most concerning aspect of this situation is its ongoing nature and the way it sustains economic and gender disparities. When a groom traditionally requests gifts for the bride, it often creates an unfair financial burden on the bride’s family, even if the demand is subtle. It merely reinforces the outdated notion that a family must ‘pay’ to marry off their daughter. This approach truly detracts from the principle of equality in relationships and adds unnecessary stress to what should be a welcoming event.

Now is the moment for society to reevaluate its values and confront these detrimental customs. Marriage ought to be a celebration of love and togetherness, rather than a cause for financial distress or societal expectations. A shift away from materialism is essential, emphasising the importance of mutual respect, understanding, and equality. Families and communities should collaborate to foster an atmosphere that values simplicity and authenticity over extravagance and false displays of wealth. Both governments and social organisations can play a vital role in addressing this issue by implementing laws against all forms of dowry and raising awareness about its psychological and financial consequences. A debt-free, joyful beginning to married life is the greatest blessing any couple could hope for. The true essence of celebration is not found in the extravagance of the occasion, but rather in the commitment to a shared future rooted in love and respect. HARMONISING WITH CHANGE

RRAJYOGI BRAHMA KUMAR NIKUNJ JI

While change is often seen as a source of progress, its relentless pace can leave many mentally drained

Whether we like it or not, we have to constantly adapt to the changing time, changing thoughts, and changing future. Today, change has become so rapid that some people, especially professionals, have to keep a constant watch on the emerging trends and must be perpetually prepared to gear up in order to keep pace with change. As a consequence of keeping themselves in high gear constantly over a long period of time, many feel that rapid changes shake up their nerves and are physically and mentally so exhausting and taxing that life has become more of a problem than a pleasure. However, we must not have the impression that every change is an anathema.

No! On the contrary to common belief, change is generally a welcome feature of life, and stagnancy is always considered boring. It is the rapidity and high frequency of change, or the enormity of change, that forces responsible people to miss the necessary physical and mental rest, keeping them always on the move and causing them worry. But the question that arises is, what has led to this condition of rapid and ever-growing change? Observation and analysis tell us that it is science and technology that are responsible for this predicament, as they compel individuals to lead an increasingly faster life in a highly competitive world. They force people to move like machines, which, too, are moving faster day by day and are changing enormously in design and functions. But if we go deeper into the problem, then we would find that science and technology are, in fact, at the service of mankind; therefore, it is man who decides what kind of gadgets and goods he requires and at what pace—not vice versa. The evolution of science is based on man's needs, desires, mindset, motives, emotions, set of values, conscience, and external influences, including exposure to media and to society's approval, appreciation, or criticism of his acts. Hence, these factors are the major driving forces that lead to new inventions or new forms and designs. It is these factors that determine the purpose and use to which science and technology should be put. It is these which set new trends. It is these that lead to the rejection of the old and the change to the new.

Therefore, the rapidity of change depends, to a great degree, on the rapidity of rejection of the old system, old set of values, prevalent fashions and customs, and existing norms and beliefs. This, in turn, depends on how rapidly a person is dissatisfied or discontented with the present goods, facilities, services, practices, norms, status-symbols, and security needs. This dissatisfaction or discontentment may, in some cases, be justified and may, in most cases, be due to a lack of man's inner stability and inner happiness stemming from a wrong set of values and wrong attitudes. A thorough analysis of the present situation would lead us to the conclusion that the current situation, which is leading us either to tension or depression or short-lived pleasure, is due to our own consumerist attitude, which is geared mainly to cater to man's indulgence in sensual pleasure or comforts.

In order to bring a change to this callous attitude and wrong lifestyle, we need to reform our mind by adopting a spiritual attitude through a spiritual set of values, or what is called 'Spiritualism,' which is a turnaround of thoughts and a way of living. Today, those people who are trying to cope with change without bringing change to their mindset, value system, and lifestyle through spirituality have really missed the message of the wise. Therefore, it's high time that we as a society realised that simplicity of lifestyle, by embracing spiritual values, alone would be the remedy to the present precarious situation that would empower us to manage rapid change with vigor and enthusiasm.

Bangladesh's secular fabric under siege

HIRANMAY KARLEKAR

The suppression of dissent, coupled with the growing boldness of extremist ideologies, risks steering the nation towards a fundamentalist Islamist state

It is increasingly clear that fundamentalist Islamist organisations, which are pathologically hostile to India as well as to all secular and democratic persons and organisations in Bangladesh, are increasingly calling the shots in that country under the rule of its interim government. An indication of this is the relentless persecution of Shahriar Kabir, an internationally acclaimed author, journalist, champion of human rights, democracy and secularism, and a tireless campaigner to bring to justice the perpetrators of war crimes during Bangladesh's liberation war in 1971. He continues to languish in Kashimpur jail under terrible conditions. Despite being designated as a prisoner of conscience by Amnesty International, a magistrate's order giving him Division One status, which would give him a separate room and other facilities remains to be carried out. This is because the deputy commissioner of Ghazipur district, where Kashimpur prison, where he is lodged, is located, has not signed the order, which will be effective only after his signature is affixed to it. Nor, according to reports, does he seem inclined to sign it soon.

As a result, Kabir, who is 74-years-old has to live among common prisoners and sleep on the floor during a cold winter as his health continues to deteriorate. Earlier, during a remand hearing at Dhaka's Chief Metropolitan Magistrate's Court on 20 October, Kabir had complained that he was not receiving adequate medical treatment in jail. On November 2, he was taken to Shaheed Tajuddin Ahmed Medical College Hospital for a check-up. According to its deputy-director, he suffered from various old age-related ailments but these were not critical.

Kabir has high blood pressure and diabetes and a large accumulation of stones in his kidney. Blood is coming out with his stool. Given the role of the deputy commissioner, who presumably has nothing personal against him, it is difficult not to feel that the it is the interim government, led by Nobel laureate Chief Advisor Muhammad Yunus, that wants to deny him Division One status. That it continues to do so despite considerable international demand for his release is clearly the result of pressure from organisations like the Hefazat-e-Islam (Hefazat) and Bangladesh Jamaat-e-Islami (Jamaat). Hefazat's hand in Kabir's persecution is clear from the fact that one of the several charges on which he has been jailed was filed with Bangladesh's International Crimes Tribunal on August 20, 2024, by Mufti Harun Izhar Chowdhury, Hefazat's joint secretary. It showed him, along with Sheikh Hasina, as one of the 23 accused, charged with crimes against humanity and mass killing in connection with the violent clashes between Hefazat's supporters and members of security forces and Awami League activists during it rally in Dhaka, on May 5, 2013, to press its 13-point charter of demands. The latter included demand for a stricter dress code as ordained by Islam, a ban on statues, candlelight vigils and public mixing of men and women, besides the scrapping of the Awami League government's women's development policy. Also, it demanded the designation of Ahmadiyas as "non-Muslims."

The charter underlined the fundamentalist ideology of Hefazat which was formed in 2010 to oppose the Awami League government's women's development policy promising women equal rights to property. Comprising mainly of Sunni clerics heading a network of 19,199 Quami madrasahs and its students in Bangladesh, it has considerable power to mobilise in the streets. Its intensely anti-India orientation was reflected in its violent protests against Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Dhaka on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of Bangladesh's independence on March 26, 2021. Thirteen 13 persons were killed and scores injured in clashes between its supporters and members of the security forces and Awami League's supporters.

While the Hefazat is not calling all the shots in the interim government, it certainly has a wide measure of influence and has its way wherever it wants, however small or big the event or the demand is. The "Mahati Sadhusanga and Lalon Mela" (great gathering of sadhus and Lalon fair) hosted by Muktidham Ashram and Lalon Academy in Madya Narsingpur, Kashipur Union Parishad in Narayanganj, was scheduled to begin on November 22, 2024. There was to be singing, dancing, festivities and food. Baul singers and devotee from all over Bangladesh were coming over for the occasion. The district administration, however, ordered its cancellation. A report in The Daily Star (November 23, 2024) quoted Fakir Shah Jalal, founder of the ashram and academy, said, "All arrangements had been made, but the administration did not permit the event, citing warning from some members of the "Muslim" community. Even when we requested to hold the event indoors, without loudspeakers, it was denied."

A spiritual leader, philosopher, mystic poet and social reformer, Lalon articulated a weltanschauung, which encompassed the essence of the Bhakti cult and Sufism, rejected all distinctions of caste, class and creed, opposed theological conflicts and racism. It is not surprising that such a person would be anathema to fundamentalist Islamists. The report in The Daily Star, cited above, had stated that Hefazat-e-Islam leader Maulana Abdul Auwal had warned the administration in a speech to stop the event or face intervention by protestors.

Other Islamist organisations are also flexing their muscles. Speaking at a grand convention of the District Qaumi Madrasa Council in Dhaka on November 25, Mamunul Haque, the secretary general of Bangladesh Khelafat Majlis, described the August 5 revolution as a significant step toward an Islamic revolution in Bangladesh, adding that the country was destined to undergo an Islamist transformation. Not surprisingly, Ahmadiyas and Sufis have come under attack. Several of the former's mosques were attacked on August 6. A violent mob destroyed Baba Pagla Ali's Sufi shrine at Sherpur district on August 29; another such mob vandalised and looted Ismail Pagla's shrine in Sirajganj district on September 3.

Meanwhile two Islamist terrorist outfits—Ansar al-Islam (erstwhile Ansarulallah Bangla Team) and Hiyab Tahrir (Tahrir) are increasingly active. Despite the ban on Tahrir, its supporters organised, on August 9, a rally in Dhaka city and demanded the establishment of an Islamic Caliphate in Bangladesh. Also, the statues of two police officers who died fighting the terrorists at the Holey Artisan Bakery in July 2016, have been destroyed and a Hijab Tahrir poster has been found at the site. Despite the arrest of its media coordinator in Dhaka in early October, its activities continue, albeit clandestinely, in many parts of Bangladesh.

This is because the interim government is pursuing a much softer line against both Ansar al-Islam and Tahrir than Sheikh Hasina's government. An example is the release of the 'chief' of Ansar al-Islam on bail on August 26. As a consequence, while the Hefazat and Jamaat are riding high and terrorist bodies are quietly active, champions of secularism like Shahriar Kabir are imprisoned and organisations opposing communalism are apprehensive and defensive. In a situation like this, one can hardly rule out Bangladesh slowly sliding towards becoming a fundamentalist Islamist country and even an exporter of terrorism.

The rise of preventative fillers: A new era in beauty standards

India's Millennials and Gen Z are embracing early cosmetic treatments like fillers as part of their self-care routines

In recent years, a noticeable trend has emerged among India's Millennials and Gen Z, the increasing popularity of early cosmetic treatments like fillers. This shift highlights evolving beauty standards influenced heavily by social media platforms such as Instagram and TikTok, where idealised images of flawless skin abound.

These platforms perpetuate an image-driven culture, encouraging young people to consider cosmetic enhancements as a means to maintain a youthful appearance and meet contemporary beauty ideals. Recent data from Deloitte underscores this trend, revealing that 65 per cent of Millennials and 58 per cent of Gen Z in India have a positive outlook on using technology and aesthetic treatments to improve their lives. This optimism is coupled with a heightened focus on self-care and personal enhancement, which has led to the rising popularity of preventative fillers. Often referred to as 'Baby Botox,' these treatments involve minimal amounts of Botox or dermal fillers used before the onset of wrinkles, appealing to those who wish to stave off the visible signs of ageing before they even begin. A significant demographic shift is evident in data from NASSCOM, which indicates that Millennials and Gen Z comprise 52 per cent of India's population. This figure highlights the growing influence of these younger generations who are increasingly well-versed in cosmetic procedures and less stigmatised by them. The normalisation of such treatments owes much to open discussions on social media, where people share their experiences and results, contributing to a growing acceptance. The American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery reports that 64 per cent of practitioners have noted a rise in patients under 30 seeking cosmetic procedures, reflecting this broader cultural acceptance. The allure of preventative fillers lies not only in the desire to maintain a youthful appearance but also in the empowerment that comes from taking control of one's aesthetic journey. Young individuals today are more informed and proactive about their beauty routines, often seeking expert advice to make informed decisions. This proactive approach to beauty and self-care represents a significant cultural shift toward embracing enhancements as a normal part of life in a digital era. However, while the appeal of preventative fillers is undeniable, young people must approach these treatments with caution. Overuse can result in "filler fatigue," a condition where excessive treatments lead to skin stretching and the need for more frequent interventions.

A balanced approach that integrates overall skin health with aesthetic goals is essential to ensure that beauty enhancements do not compromise one's natural appearance. Education plays a vital role in this process. Young individuals are encouraged to seek guidance from reputable professionals who prioritise safety and use high-quality products. By doing so, they can make informed choices that align with their personal beauty goals without succumbing to the pressures of fleeting trends. This emphasis on education and safety empowers them to navigate their beauty journeys with confidence, fostering a sense of self-assuredness in their natural selves.

The rise of early cosmetic treatments among India's youth illustrates a significant cultural shift towards embracing self-care and beauty enhancements in a digital era. As these generations navigate their identities in a visually oriented world, they increasingly turn to options like fillers to maintain their youthful allure. By prioritising education and safety, young individuals are empowered to make informed decisions about their beauty routines, fostering confidence in their natural selves.

As this trend continues to evolve, it will be intriguing to observe how it shapes the ongoing conversation around beauty in modern society. The future of beauty is likely to be shaped by these young, informed consumers who value both innovation and authenticity, setting new standards for generations to come.

President Macron names centrist ally Bayrou as France’s next PM

AP ■ PARIS

French President Emmanuel Macron on Friday named centrist ally Francois Bayrou as prime minister in an effort to address the country's deep political crisis, after a historic parliamentary vote ousted the previous government last week. Bayrou, 73, a crucial partner in Macron's centrist alliance, has been a well-known figure in French politics for decades. His political experience is seen as key in efforts to restore stability with no single party holds a majority at the National Assembly. Macron's office said in a statement that Bayrou "has been charged with forming a new government." Former Prime Minister Michel Barnier resigned last week following a no-confidence vote prompted by budget disputes in the National Assembly, leaving France without a functioning government. Macron in an address to the nation vowed to remain in office until his term ends in 2027. Bayrou is expected to hold talks with political leaders from various parties in the coming days in order to choose new ministers. The task appears challenging because Macron's centrist alliance does not have a majority in parliament and Bayrou's Cabinet will need to rely on moderate lawmakers from both the left and right to be able to stay in power. Some conservatives are expected to be part of the new government. Macron's strategy aims at preventing far-right leader Marine Le Pen from holding "make or break" power over the government. Le Pen helped oust Barnier by joining her National Rally party's forces to the left to pass the no-confidence motion last week.

The president of the National Rally, Jordan Bardella, said Friday his party will take a wait-and-see approach for now. "Our red lines are still there, they're not going to change," he warned. National Rally officials, including Le Pen, have said they want any new budget law to preserve the purchasing power of the French people. Bayrou's appointment comes also in line with Macron's efforts to build a non-aggression pact with the Socialists so that they commit not to vote against the government in any future confidence motion. Mathilde Panot, head of the hard-left France Unbowed group at the National Assembly, criticised Bayrou's appointment in a message on X as "the continuity of (Macron's) bad policies." She said her party is ready to vote for a no-confidence motion again against the new government. Bayrou leads the centrist Democratic Movement, known as MoDem, which he founded in 2007. In 2017, he supported Macron's first presidential bid and became a weighty partner in the French president's centrist alliance. At the time, he was appointed justice minister, but he quickly resigned from the government amid an investigation into the MoDem's alleged embezzlement of European Parliament funds. Bayrou this year was cleared in the case by a Paris court, which found eight other party officials guilty and sentenced the party to pay a fine. Bayrou became well known to the French public when he was education minister from 1993 to 1997 in a conservative government. He was three times a candidate for president, in 2002, 2007 and 2012.

Biden watching situation in Bangladesh very closely: White House

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

President Joe Biden is closely monitoring the situation in Bangladesh and the US will hold the country's interim government accountable for ensuring the protection of religious and ethnic minorities, the White House has said. The security situation in Bangladesh has been difficult following the ouster of the former prime minister Sheikh Hasina, White House National Security Communications Advisor John Kirby said. "We have been working closely with the interim government to enhance the capability of their law enforcement and security services to deal with the challenge," Kirby said at a news conference on Thursday.

Hasina was ousted as prime minister in the face of a massive anti-government protest in August. There have been a spate of incidents of violence against Hindus and other minorities, as well as attacks on temples in the last few weeks in Bangladesh. "We've been very clear in our engagement with all Bangladeshi leaders that protection of religious and ethnic minorities is absolutely critical, and the leaders of the interim government have repeatedly committed to providing security to all Bangladeshis, regardless of religion or ethnicity," he said. "We want to hold them to that," Kirby said in response to a question. Over the past few weeks, Indian Americans have held peaceful protests and marches in several cities, including in front of the White House, in Chicago, New York, SFO, Detroit, Houston and Atlanta, urging Biden to help stop alleged brutalities against the minority Hindu community in Bangladesh. Earlier in the day, Indian-American Congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi urged members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to address the issue of violence against minorities, primarily Hindus, in Bangladesh during the confirmation hearing of Senator Marco Rubio for the position of secretary of state. President-elect Donald Trump has nominated Senator Rubio for the top diplomatic position. The date of his confirmation hearing has not been announced yet.

Speaker resigns in Sri Lanka

Colombo (PTI): Sri Lanka's Parliament Speaker Asoka Ranwala announced his resignation on Friday following days of speculation about him falsifying his educational qualifications. "In recent days, a problem with my educational qualifications has been raised in society. I have not made any false statements about my educational qualifications," Ranwala said in a statement. Asserting that he currently does not possess any documents to prove his qualifications, Ranwala said that it would also not be possible for him to obtain these from the relevant institutions. "However, in order to stop the inconvenience caused to the government and the people who had placed trust in the government, I have decided to resign from the post of Speaker," he said.

British Indian hedge fund trader jailed in Denmark

PTI ■ LONDON

A British hedge fund trader of Indian heritage has been sentenced to 12 years in prison by authorities in Denmark after being found guilty of a tax fraud amounting to over GBP 1 billion. Sanjay Shah, 54, was handed the maximum prison sentence for an economic crime by a district court in Glostrup this week. The Danish prosecution said in a statement that the court found it proven that Shah was the mastermind behind a complex setup in which 190 American pension companies and 24 Malaysian companies entered into agreements to purchase Danish listed shares at times when the shares were traded with the right to dividends. "The verdict is a milestone in the criminal justice settlement following the dividend tax cases, as the convicted person was the main instigator of a fraud against the Danish state of historic proportions," said Marie Tullin, special prosecutor at the State Attorney for Serious Crime (SSK). "It is therefore with satisfaction that I can now state that the court has imposed a sentence that reflects the extremely serious and extensive nature of the case," she said. In addition to the prison sentence, the court confiscated a total of approximately 7.2 billion kroner (USD 1bn), corresponding to the economic gain of the convicted person. Among other things, deposits in accounts in foreign banks, shares and bonds, as well as a number of properties or shares thereof belonging to the convicted person, his companies or his wife were confiscated. "The fraud has caused a major loss for the Danish state, and it is therefore of crucial importance that the court today has confiscated an amount that corresponds to the convicted person's profits from the fraud," says Dennis Bæckmann, special prosecutor, National Unit for Serious Crime (NSK). Shah, who has denied wrongdoing, was also expelled from Denmark permanently, and he was denied the right to participate in the management of a business in Denmark or abroad without being personally and unlimitedly liable for the company's obligations. He has lodged an appeal against the Glostrup district court's verdict in the High Court. According to the Danish Prosecution Service (AnklageMyndigheden), the British national was convicted of committing fraud of a "particularly serious nature for 9,025,205,871 kroner (GBP 1bn) and attempted fraud for an additional 553,346,302 kroner during a period from 2012 to 2015".

Suspected spy with business ties to Prince Andrew barred from UK

AP ■ LONDON

A suspected Chinese spy with business ties to Prince Andrew has been barred from the UK because of concerns he poses a threat to national security. A British immigration tribunal upheld the decision on Thursday in a ruling that revealed the Chinese national had developed such a close relationship with Andrew that he was invited to the prince's birthday party. Government officials were concerned the man could have misused his influence because the prince was under "considerable pressure" at the time, according to the ruling. British authorities believe the Chinese national, whose name wasn't released, was working on behalf of the United Front Work Department, an arm of the Chinese Communist Party that is used to influence foreign entities. The government determined that the businessman "was in a position to generate relationships between senior Chinese officials and prominent UK figures which could be leveraged for political interference purposes by the Chinese State," according to the tribunal's decision. Prince Andrew, the younger brother of King Charles III, has been repeatedly criticised for his links to wealthy foreigners, raising concerns that those individuals are trying to buy access to the royal family. Andrew's finances have been squeezed in recent years after he was forced to step away from royal duties and give up public funding amid concerns about his relationship with Jeffrey Epstein, the American financier and convicted pedophile who committed suicide in prison in 2019. British intelligence chiefs have become increasingly concerned about China's efforts to influence UK government policy. In 2022, Britain's domestic intelligence service, known as MI5, warned politicians that a British-Chinese lawyer had been seeking to improperly influence members of Parliament for years. A parliamentary researcher was arrested in 2023 on suspicion of providing sensitive information to China. The 50-year-old Chinese national covered by this week's ruling was described as a man who worked as a junior civil servant in China before he came to the UK as a student in 2002. He earned a master's degree in public administration and public policy at the University of York before starting a business that advises UK-based companies on their operations in China. He was granted the right to live and work in the UK for an indefinite period in 2013. Although he didn't make Britain his permanent home, the man told authorities that he spent one to two weeks a month in the country and considered it his "second home." He was stopped while entering the UK on November 6, 2021, and ordered to surrender his mobile phone and other digital devices on which authorities found a letter from a senior adviser to Andrew confirming that he was authorised to act on behalf of the prince in relation to potential partners and investors in China.

Biden grants clemency to four Indian-Americans

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

Four Indian-Americans facing sentences ranging from 17 years to life imprisonment are among nearly 1,500 people granted clemency by President Joe Biden. These four Indian-Americans are Meera Sachdeva, Babubhai Patel, Krishna Mote and Vikram Dutta. "America was built on the promise of possibility and second chances. As President, I have the great privilege of extending mercy to people who have demonstrated remorse and rehabilitation, restoring opportunity for Americans to participate in daily life and contribute to their communities, and taking steps to remove sentencing disparities for non-violent offenders, especially those convicted of drug offences," Biden said in a statement on Thursday. "That is why, today, I am pardoning 39 people who have shown successful rehabilitation and have shown commitment to making their communities stronger and safer. I am also commuting the sentences of nearly 1,500 people who are serving long prison sentences - many

Israeli strike in Gaza kills 25 people as US makes new push for a ceasefire

AP ■ DEIR AL-BALAH (GAZA)

An Israeli airstrike has hit the central Gaza Strip, killing at least 25 Palestinians and wounding dozens more, Palestinian medics said, just hours after President Joe Biden's national security adviser raised hopes about a ceasefire deal to end the war in Gaza. Officials at two hospitals in the Gaza Strip, al-Awda Hospital in the north and al-Aqsa Hospital in central Gaza, reported they received a combined total of 25 bodies from an Israeli strike on a multi-storey residential building in the urban Nuseirat refugee camp on Thursday. Palestinian medics also reported that over 40 people, most of them children, were receiving treatment at the two hospitals. The al-Aqsa Hospital said that the Israeli attack also damaged several nearby houses in Nuseirat. There was no immediate comment from the Israeli military on the deadly strike. Israel is trying to eliminate Hamas, which led the attack on southern Israel in October 2023 that sparked the war in Gaza. The Israeli military says Hamas militants hide among Gaza's civilian population. Photos from the site showed a completely collapsed building with people walking through its mangled and charred remains, smoke rising from piles of belongings strewn over the rubble. The bombardment came just hours after Jake Sullivan, President Biden's national security adviser, told reporters in Jerusalem that Israel's ceasefire in Lebanon has helped clear the way for another deal to end the war in Gaza. He plans to travel next to Qatar and Egypt, key mediators in the ceasefire talks, as the Biden administration makes a final push on negotiations before Donald Trump is inaugurated. Sullivan said "Hamas' posture at the negotiating table did adapt" after Israel decimated the leadership of its ally Hezbollah in Lebanon and reached a ceasefire there. "We believe it puts us in a position to close this negotiation," he said. Israel's offensive has killed over 44,800 Palestinians in Gaza, more than half of them women and children, according to the Gaza Health Ministry, which does not say how many were combatants. The Israeli military says it has killed over 17,000 militants, without providing evidence. The fighting has plunged Gaza into a severe humanitarian crisis, with experts warning of famine. Israel says it allows enough aid to enter and blames UN agencies for not distributing it. The UN says Israeli restrictions, and the breakdown of law and order after Israel repeatedly targeted the Hamas-run police force, make it extremely difficult to operate in the territory.

Blinken urges nations to support peaceful Syrian political transition

AP ■ JERUSALEM

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken is pressing ahead with efforts to unify Middle East nations in support of a peaceful political transition in Syria. He is meeting on Friday with Türkiye's foreign minister after talks with President Recep Tayyip Erdogan to try to bring Türkiye into a consensus to prevent Syria from collapsing into wider turmoil. It's Blinken's 12th trip to the Mideast since the Israel-Hamas war erupted in Gaza last year but first since the ouster of Syrian President Bashar Assad. The outgoing Biden administration is particularly concerned that a power vacuum in Syria could exacerbate already heightened tensions in the region and create conditions for the Islamic State group to regain territory and influence. The fighting between Israel and Hamas has plunged Gaza into a severe humanitarian crisis. Israel's offensive has killed over 44,800 Palestinians in Gaza, more than half of them women and children, according to the Gaza Health Ministry, which does not say how many were combatants. The Israeli military says it has killed over 17,000 militants, without providing evidence. The war in Gaza was sparked by an October 7, 2023, attack by Hamas in southern Israel in which some 1,200 people, mostly civilians, were killed and around 250 others were taken hostage. Some 100 hostages are still inside Gaza, at least a third of whom are believed to be dead. Blinken says there's broad agreement' between US and Türkiye on Syria's future: US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said Friday there was "broad agreement" between Türkiye and the United States on what they would like to see in Syria following the ouster of President Bashar Assad. "There's broad agreement on what we would like to see going forward, starting with the interim government in Syria, one that is inclusive and non-sectarian and one that protects the rights of minorities and women" and does not "pose any kind of threat to any of Syria's neighbours," Blinken said in joint statements with Turkish Foreign Minister Hakan Fidan. The insurgent groups that toppled Assad in Syria have not made clear their policy or stance on Israel, whose military in recent days has bombed sites all over the country, saying it is trying to prevent weapons from falling into extremist hands. Blinken also said it was crucial to keep the Islamic State group under control. "We also discussed the imperative of continuing the efforts to keep ISIS down. Our countries worked very hard and gave a lot over many years to ensure the elimination of the territorial caliphate of ISIS to ensure that that threat doesn't rear its head again," Blinken said. The Turkish foreign minister said the two discussed ways of establishing prosperity in Syria and ending terrorism in the country. "Our priority is establishing stability in Syria as soon as possible, preventing terrorism from gaining ground, and ensuring that IS and the PKK aren't dominant," Fidan said, in a reference to the banned Kurdistan Workers Party. Blinken said: "We're very focused on Syria, very focused on the opportunity that now is before us and before the Syrian people to move from out from under the shackles of Bashar al-Assad to a different and better future for the Syrian people, one that the Syrian people decide for themselves." Blinken and Fidan said they had also discussed a ceasefire for Gaza. "We've seen in the last couple of weeks more encouraging signs that (a ceasefire) is possible," Blinken said.

Russia targets Ukrainian power infrastructure

AP ■ KYIV

Russia on Friday launched a massive aerial attack against Ukraine, involving dozens of cruise missiles and drones, the latest such strike aimed at crippling the country's electricity system. The Russian military targeted the Ukrainian power grid, energy minister Herman Halushchenko wrote on his Facebook page. "The enemy continues its terror," he said. Halushchenko said energy workers do everything necessary to "minimize negative consequences for the energy system," promising to release more details on damages once the security situation allows it. Ukraine's air force reported multiple strike drones launched at Ukraine overnight followed by swarms of cruise missiles in the country's air space. It said Russia also used air-launched ballistic Kinzhal missiles against Ukraine's western regions. Friday's attack is the latest in a series of such raids that has heightened fears that the Kremlin aims to destroy the country's power generation capacity as the winter sets in. Since launching its invasion in February 2022, Russia has relentlessly pummelled Ukraine's electricity system, resulting in repeated shutdowns of critical heating and drinking water supplies during the bitter winter months in an apparent attempt to break Ukrainian spirits and resolve. Moscow has declared that the attacks are aimed at hobbling Ukraine's defence industry, thwarting the production of missiles, drones, armoured vehicles and artillery, among other weapons. A similar massive attack on November 28 involved about 200 missiles and drones and left more than a million households without power until emergency teams restored supplies. Ukrainian officials have warned that Russia is stockpiling cruise and ballistic missiles for more attacks. On November 21, Russia for the first time used an intermediate range hypersonic ballistic missile to strike an industrial plant in the city of Dnipro, in eastern Ukraine. Russian President Vladimir Putin described the attack with the Oreshnik missile as retaliation for Ukrainian strikes on Russian territory with longer-range Western weapons. He declared that more attacks with the new weapon could follow. The Pentagon warned Wednesday that Russia could use its new missile against Ukraine again soon. Around half of Ukraine's energy infrastructure has been destroyed during the almost three years of war with Russia, and rolling electricity blackouts are widespread. Kyiv's Western allies have provided Ukraine with air defence systems to help it protect critical infrastructure, but Russia has sought to overwhelm the air defences with combined strikes involving big numbers of missiles and drones. Russia has held the initiative this year as its military has steadily rammed through Ukrainian defences in the east in a series of slow but steady offensives.

Trump invites Xi Jinping to his Jan 20 inauguration

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

US President-elect Donald Trump has invited Chinese President Xi Jinping to attend his inauguration on January 20, according to his spokesperson. “This is an example of President Trump creating an open dialogue with leaders of countries that are not just our allies but our adversaries and our competitors too,” the incoming White House Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt told Fox News in an interview on Thursday. “We saw this in the first term. He got a lot of criticism for it, but it led to peace around the world. He is willing to talk to anyone. He will always put America’s interest first,” she said. Leavitt, however, did not say if the invitation had been accepted by the Chinese president. The White House preferred not to comment on the merit of the invitation.

Switzerland suspends India’s most favoured nation status

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Swiss government has suspended the most favoured nation status (MFN) clause in the Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement (DTAA) between India and Switzerland, potentially impacting Swiss investments in India and leading to higher taxes on Indian companies operating in the European nation.

According to a December 11 statement by the Swiss finance department, the move follows the Supreme Court of India last year ruling that the MFN clause doesn't automatically trigger when a country joins the OECD if the Indian government signed a tax treaty with that country before it joined the organization.

India signed tax treaties with Colombia and Lithuania that provided tax rates on certain types of income that were lower than the rates it provided to OECD countries. The two countries later joined OECD.

Switzerland in 2021 interpreted that Colombia and Lithuania joining the OECD meant a 5 per cent rate for dividends would apply to the India-Switzerland tax treaty under the MFN clause, rather than 10 per cent as outlined in the agreement.

But post suspension of the MFN status, Switzerland will from January 1, 2025, levy a 10 per cent tax on dividends due to Indian tax residents who claim refunds for Swiss withholding tax and for Swiss tax residents who claim foreign tax credits.

In the statement, the Swiss Finance Department announced suspension of the application of the MFN clause of the protocol to the agreement between the Swiss Confederation and the Republic of India for the avoidance of double taxation with respect to taxes on income.

Switzerland cited a 2023 ruling by Indian Supreme Court in a case relating to Vevey-headquartered Nestle for its decision to withdraw the MFN status.

This means that Switzerland will tax dividends that Indian entities will earn in that country at 10 per cent from January 1, 2025.

According to the statement, in 2021, the Delhi High Court in the Nestle case upheld the applicability of the residual tax rates after taking into account the MFN clause in the double taxation avoidance treaty. However, the Indian Supreme Court, in a decision dated October 19, 2023, reversed the lower court's decision and concluded that, the applicability of MFN clause provided "was not directly applicable in the absence of 'notification' in accordance with Section 90 of the Income Tax Act".

Commenting on the decision of Swiss authority decision, Nangia Andersen M&A Tax Partner Sandeep Jhunjhunwala, said the unilateral suspension of application of the MFN clause under its tax treaty with India, marks a significant shift in bilateral treaty dynamics.

"This suspension may lead to increased tax liabilities for Indian entities operating in Switzerland, highlighting the complexities of navigating international tax treaties in an evolving global landscape," he said. It also underscores the necessity of aligning treaty partners on the interpretation and application of tax treaty clauses to ensure predictability, equity, and stability in international tax framework, Jhunjhunwala said.

AKM Global, Tax Partner, Amit Maheshwari, said that the main reason behind the decision to withdraw MFN is of reciprocity, which ensures that taxpayers in both countries are treated equally and fairly.

"Swiss authorities announced in August 2021 that based on the MFN clause between Switzerland and India, the tax rate on dividends from qualifying shareholdings would be reduced from 10 per cent to 5 per cent, effective retroactively from July 5, 2018. However, the subsequent Supreme Court ruling in 2023 contradicted the same," Maheshwari said.

Overall, he added that this could impact Swiss investments in India as dividends would be subject to higher withholding now and income accruing on or after January 1, 2025, may be taxed at the rates provided for in the original double taxation treaty between Switzerland and India, regardless of the MFN clause.

ISA Advocates & Solicitors Partner Kumarmanglam Vijay said this would especially impact Indian companies having ODI (overseas direct investment) structures with subsidiaries in Switzerland and will raise the Swiss withholding tax on dividends from 5 per cent to 10 per cent from January 1, 2025.

Delhi-Dehradun expressway to be completed within three months says Union minister Nitin Gadkari

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Union minister Nitin Gadkari on Friday said that the Delhi-Dehradun expressway, which is expected to reduce travel time between the two cities to two hours, will be completed within the next three months.

Currently, the travel time between the two cities is five to six hours Addressing 'Times Network India Economic Conclave 2024', Gadkari further said that construction of the Delhi-Mumbai Expressway is expected to be completed within two months. The travel time between the two metropolitan cities is expected to reduce to 12 hours with the completion of the expressway from the present 24 hours. The road transport and highways minister said Delhi-Dehradun highway project has two packages. "A Rs 10,000 crore project has been approved for Delhi's Kalindi Kunj, extending to Faridabad. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is set to inaugurate the project within the next 15-20 days," Gadkari said. Gadkari also said that the Modi government is working to reduce air pollution, lower the import of fossil fuel and enhance farm income. "The transport ministry is responsible for 40 per cent of the air pollution... While a huge part of pollution is due to stubble burning in neighbouring states of Punjab and Haryana, road construction and fossil fuels also add to the annual problem," he said. The minister also pointed out that the problem of stubble burning will be solved in two years as the government is working on 400 projects that will convert 200 lakh tonnes of rice straw every year to alternate fuels. Gadkari said that his ministry is working on 36 green express highways, which will help reduce the logistics costs in the country. "India's logistics cost is 14-16 per cent compared to 8 per cent in China and 12 per cent in the US and European Union. We aim to bring this down to 9 per cent in two years," he said. According to the minister, this will push India's exports by 1.5 times and help us become more competitive.

No staff fired, it was campaign to highlight workplace stress: YesMadam co-founder

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

After beauty services platform YesMadam faced backlash on Monday over a purported internal email leaked on social media suggesting the termination of staff who indicated workplace stress, the company co-founder on Friday clarified that no staff was fired and called it a marketing initiative "to shed light on workplace stress and mental health".

YesMadam Co-Founder Mayank Arya in a note said the intent behind the campaign was to highlight an important issue, but it inadvertently triggered negative reactions. "It is important to clarify that no firing mail was sent to employees, and no one was terminated. The picture shared on LinkedIn was the first step toward introducing the initiative, and the clarification shared the following day was meant to serve as a wake-up call for the industry about the importance of mental health awareness," he said. He added that the campaign was conceptualised with the genuine objective of raising awareness about mental health challenges in corporate and startup environments. "Our intentions were rooted in addressing workplace stress and fostering a healthier

GRACE IN EVERY GESTURE

Indian classical dance is a beautiful and spiritual form of expression that connects the artist to the divine. SAMASRAVA: An Ode to Classical Heritage was a stunning tribute to this tradition, offering a rich, immersive experience for the audience at Stein Auditorium, India Habitat Centre. The performances were not only visually captivating but emotionally resonant, bringing out the timeless relevance of these art forms in today's world.

The evening opened with Arunima Ghosh's Odissi performance, which immediately captured the audience's attention. Her graceful movements and deep emotional connection to the piece were evident throughout. In Yahi Madhava, she portrayed Radha's inner turmoil and vulnerability with such sensitivity that it left a lasting impact. The subtlety of her facial expressions and the fluidity of her movements beautifully conveyed Radha's frustration and sorrow, giving the audience a glimpse into the emotional complexity of the character.

Vinod Kevin Bachan's performance, Devi Mahamaya: The Rise of the Divine Shakti, was a powerful display of strength and grace. Bachan's portrayal of Durga embodied the goddess's divine energy and formidable presence. Each movement exuded confidence, reflecting the unstoppable force of the feminine divine. The intensity of his performance reminded the audience of the spiritual power that classical dance can convey and how it can bring mythological stories to life in a way that resonates deeply.

Arohi Munshi's Bharatnatyam pieces also made a strong impression. In Shringara Lahiri, she captured the essence of the goddess through fluid movements and expressions that spoke to the beauty and rhythm of the divine. Her portrayal of Yashoda calling out to Krishna in Krishna ni begane baro was equally deep. The tenderness in her gestures and expressions beautifully conveyed the maternal love of Yashoda, drawing the audience into the emotional world of the character. Diksha Rawat's Kathak performance concluded the evening, bringing the rhythm and dynamism of the art form to the forefront. Her Taal Ashtamangal was a brilliant demonstration of her technical skill, with intricate footwork and rhythmic precision that left the audience in wonder. Her second piece, a traditional Banaras Gharana thumri, was emotionally charged as she portrayed Radha's plea to Krishna. The intensity of her abhinaya and the complexity of the rhythm made this performance a fitting finale to the evening.

What made SAMASRAVA special was the variety of classical dance forms, each showcasing its unique style, yet all communicating the same emotional and spiritual depth. The dancers not only demonstrated their technical brilliance but also their ability to tell compelling stories through movement, emotion and expression. The evening was a celebration of the enduring relevance of Indian classical dance, a reminder that these ancient art forms continue to evoke deep emotions and speak to the human experience in ways that resonate today.

This event was a powerful reminder of the enduring legacy of classical dance and its ability to connect audiences with the divine, the emotional and the eternal. SAMASRAVA reaffirmed the importance of preserving and promoting India's rich cultural heritage while making it accessible to contemporary audiences. The performances were a beautiful reflection of the grace and spiritual power of classical dance, leaving the audience with a sense of wonder and appreciation for these timeless art forms.

"Art reflects a culture's spirit, capturing its traditions, dreams and enduring beauty"

The Parampara Series 2024 at New Delhi's Kamani Auditorium brought together three evenings of exceptional artistry, celebrating India's classical dance and music heritage. Each performance honoured the depth and diversity of the country's cultural traditions, showcasing the seamless blend of history and creativity that continues to inspire across generations.

The series opened with a riveting Kuchipudi presentation by the renowned Raja Radha Reddy Repertory. Their storytelling and precision enthralled the audience, setting an inspiring tone for the evenings to come. This was followed by the soulful Hindustani vocals of Mahesh Kale, whose emotive artistry left a lasting impression.

The second evening shone a spotlight on the SRJAN Ensemble, who brought the intricate elegance of Odissi to life through their refined movements and expressions. Accompanying this visual splendour was the Hindustani flute recital by maestro Rakesh Chaurasia, whose melodies resonated deeply with the audience. Audiences not only experienced mesmerising performances but also the stories embedded into each art form, reflecting centuries of cultural evolution. Every gesture, note and rhythm carried forward a legacy passed down through generations, offering a meaningful connection to India's artistic roots.

The final night featured the graceful Mohiniyattam performance by Neena Prasad and her group, followed by an evocative classical music act by Tal Fry, which brought the event to a memorable close. The event witnessed attendance from notable personalities such as Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat and Rajiv Pratap Rudy, among others, underlining its cultural significance.

The 28th edition of the Parampara Series was a celebration of India's cultural heritage. As the performances concluded they left behind a deep sense of connection to tradition and artistry. Such events keep India's rich legacy alive, inspiring people across generations.

Brushstrokes of Devotion

In the serene surroundings of the Open Palm Court at the India Habitat Centre, Shruti Gupta Kasana's solo exhibition, Sampurn Vrindavan, offered a unique and thought-provoking exploration of Lord Krishna's life. The exhibition focused on three key themes: Krishna's childhood in Vrindavan, his life in the kingdom of Dwarka and his deep affection for cows. Kasana's artistic interpretation brought these stories to life in a way that was both captivating and immersive.

The exhibition featured a combination of vibrant acrylic paintings and mixed-media works that reflected the essence of Krishna's life and teachings. The themes of Anterdupe, depicting the underwater city of Dwarka and Krishna's bond with cows were particularly striking, capturing his tenderness and divine connection with all living beings. The works portrayed Krishna not only as a powerful deity but as a compassionate and loving figure whose legacy continues to inspire.

In addition to the paintings, Kasana's artistic vision extended into fashion, with a series of statement knitwear pieces incorporated into the exhibition. These garments, made with a mix of hand embroidery, applique patchwork and Bengali Kantha techniques, were designed not just as wearable pieces of art, but as representations of the themes within the exhibition. The blend of traditional craft and modern design created a dynamic interaction between fashion and fine art, adding an interesting layer to the overall experience. Through bold strokes and delicate textures, the artist brought to life the stories of Krishna with remarkable emotional depth. The use of mixed media, including acrylics and textiles, added a layered richness to the works, making each painting not just a visual experience but a tactile one.

The fusion of art and fashion also brought a unique touch, with knitwear pieces featuring hand embroidery and applique work that mirrored the themes of Krishna's life. Kasana's work also reflected her commitment to sustainability. She has been experimenting with jute, a biodegradable fabric, using it as a base for her paintings. This eco-friendly approach demonstrates her innovative thinking, as she works to combine art with environmental consciousness. By blending jute with cotton, she has created a unique medium that supports her artistic vision while also promoting sustainability in the art world.

The exhibition offered a deep, meaningful look into the life of Krishna, celebrating not only his mythology but also his love for nature and compassion for all beings. Kasana's work, through its vibrant colours, intricate details and thought-provoking themes, invited visitors to engage with Krishna's story in a modern context, while also highlighting the artist's versatility and innovation.

Sampurn Vrindavan was a powerful artistic journey into the heart of Krishna's life and teachings. It brought together the worlds of mythology, fashion and sustainability in a way that felt both fresh and deeply rooted in tradition. Kasana's unique vision and skill left a lasting impression, offering a new lens through which to appreciate the eternal message of love, compassion and devotion that Krishna embodies.

The India International Centre Annexe recently hosted a compelling photo exhibition, Portraits of Persistence: Enduring Communities of North Bihar, as part of the Visual Katha series. It was inaugurated by Sunita Narain, Director General of the Centre for Science and Environment, the exhibition offered a powerful portrayal of North Bihar's rural communities and their resilience in the face of relentless annual flooding. Curated by Eklavya Prasad, a social development professional and photographer, the exhibition presented a poignant visual narrative of submerged homes, devastated farmlands, and fractured infrastructure. Prasad's photographs documented not only the immediate impacts of flooding but also the long-term transformations it imposes on livelihoods and societal structures. Amidst these challenges, the exhibition celebrated stories of adaptation, ingenuity, and survival, showcasing community-driven solutions and innovative coping mechanisms.

Prasad, reflecting on his nearly two decades of grassroots work with Megh Pyne Abhiyan, shared that the exhibition was born from his desire to inspire sustainable interventions for flood-affected regions. His images shed light on the everyday heroism of these communities, demonstrating their strength in adapting to nature's adversities.

Sunita Narain, in her inaugural address, commended the series for its depth and impact. She highlighted how the exhibition went beyond capturing the seasonal aftermath of floods to reveal the year-round struggles of these communities. She also stressed its relevance in the era of climate change, urging the need for focused and sustainable solutions.

The exhibition concluded, leaving visitors with a profound appreciation for the resilience of North Bihar's flood-affected communities.

Aspirin Bumrah embodies the qualities of pace legends such as Dennis Lillee, Andy Roberts and Richard Hadlee but at the same time is forging his own legacy, one that is set to inspire future generations of pacemen, feels former India coach Greg Chappell. He also said that Bumrah is the only player standing between Australia and the Border Gavaskar Trophy. "What sets Bumrah apart is his combination of skills: (Malcolm) Marshall's adaptability, Lillee's aggression, Richard Hadlee's control, Roberts' strategy, Wasim (Akram) and Waqar's (Younis) reverse swing, (Glenn) McGrath's precision, (Dale) Steyn's explosiveness, and (Kagiso) Rabada's modern versatility," "As Nasser Hussain aptly observed, 'He's the complete bowler. As he has had back surgery already, it is not certain he will have a long career, but if he does, his name will be mentioned in the same breath as the champions above," Chappell wrote in the 'Sydney Morning Herald'. An all-format bowler, Bumrah has reinforced his status as the best bowler in the world several times including when he led India to a 295-run win in the Perth Test recently.

"While the legends of yesteryear established the foundations, Bumrah is carving his own legacy – one that promises to inspire future generations of pacemen."

The former Australia captain said Bumrah's lethal yorkers and unsettling bounce evoked memories of Lille's raw aggression on the field.

"Lille was a warrior, combining raw aggression with psychological prowess. I opposed him many times in domestic cricket and watched him from close quarters combative, channels Lillee's ability to unsettle batsmen. His deadly yorkers and disconcerting bounce – especially with his unorthodox release point and trajectory – echo Lillee's capacity to dictate terms. "Bumrah's quiet intensity and precision make him a nightmare, much like Lillee's unrelenting aggression." Another great of the game was Roberts, who combined pace with strategic brilliance. Chappell felt Bumrah's 2018 performance at the MCG where he used variations to get the better of the batters was reminiscent of the way Roberts operated. "Bumrah shares Roberts' cerebral approach. Both bowlers use subtle variations to outfox batsmen, relying on strategy rather than brute force. Bumrah's spell in the 2018 Boxing Day Test against Australia – culminating in 6-33 – was a modern echo of Roberts' game-changing “Roberts had a loping and relaxed run-up and a very strong shoulder action like Bumrah, and skidded onto you quite quickly, so it was important to be focused on the ball leaving the hand.

“The danger of a bowler who zeroes in on the stumps, as Roberts did and Bumrah does, is that if you relax for a moment and try to hit across their deliveries, you become even more vulnerable to LBWs and bowled. I would use the same approach against Bumrah,” Chappell added.

The 31-year-old has consistently churned out stellar performances and is the go to bowler when the Indian team is need of wickets.

“With 151 wickets at an average of 21.03 in just 30 Tests, his ability to excel in diverse conditions recalls Marshall’s dominance. Bumrah’s reverse swing on abrasive surfaces and his bility to seam and swing the ball under cloudy skies have been pivotal, evoking the same uncertainty that batsmen faced against Marshall.

"As Ian Botham famously remarked of Marshall, "He gave you no respite." Today, batsmen echo similar sentiments about Bumrah," Chappell wrote.

Drawing comparison to Hadlee, Chappell said "Bumrah's meticulousness draws comparisons to Hadlee. His mastery of English conditions, where he averages 22.02, and his ability to exploit even the slightest movement resemble Hadlee's clinical dismantling of batting orders.

"Like Hadlee, Bumrah's focus on perfecting every delivery has made him indispensable in critical moments. He is also carrying the Indian pace attack at present as Hadlee did for New Zealand in his era," he added.

Shubman Gill admitted that the fall of wickets at the other end affected his game in the Adelaide Test but expressed confidence that the Indian batting group would deliver a stronger first-innings effort in what is now effectively a three-match series.

Gill didn't play the first Test due to a finger injury but looked good in his brief innings of 31 and 28 during the pink ball Test at Adelaide which India lost by 10 wickets.

"As a batting group, we are looking to post a big total first up. That's been the key discussion and every batter has his own game plan," Gill said in the pre-match press conference after the team scored 150 and 180 in the first innings at Perth and Adelaide respectively.

Gill believes that he wouldn't curb his natural game although he did get edgy seeing wickets tumble at the other end.

"I still have the freedom as a batter. One of the challenges is whether you can play the game you want to play, irrespective of what's happening at the other end and irrespective of scorecard."

"I faltered in the first innings because of what happened at the other end and I take that upon myself."

There was a four-over period in which Gill faced just one ball and that affected his concentration.

"And there was a period when I didn't face much – may be one ball in four overs and then when I faced a delivery I missed a completely fuller ball. These are challenges you face. You might not face a ball for four overs or you might end up facing 18 balls on the trot," Gill explained.

India have had at least six scores of 150 or less in recent times and Gill admitted that the piece of stat isn't lost upon the batting group. He said it is now a three-match series for his side.

"Adelaide Test, we didn't do well but the series is still 1-1. We will treat it as a three-match Test series and if we win this one, we will have advantage going into Melbourne and Sydney," Gill was nostalgic as he walked into the Gabba for the first time since the 2021 Test where he was the top-scorer in the run-chase with a fine 91 that catapulted him into stardom.

"Walking into the stadium after 2021 with the team, definitely it felt very nostalgic."

Skipper Rohit Sharma didn't attend the optional training session and when asked about his absence, Gill replied: "This was an optional session and he has already practised a lot."

Hojlund scores twice for Manchester United to beat Viktoria Plzen 2-1 in Europa League

AP LONDON

Rasmus Hojlund scored twice after coming off the bench and Manchester United rallied to beat Viktoria Plzen 2-1 in the Europa League.

The Denmark striker netted in the 88th minute after collecting Bruno Fernandes' pass off a free kick to seal the victory and put United into the top eight of the standings.

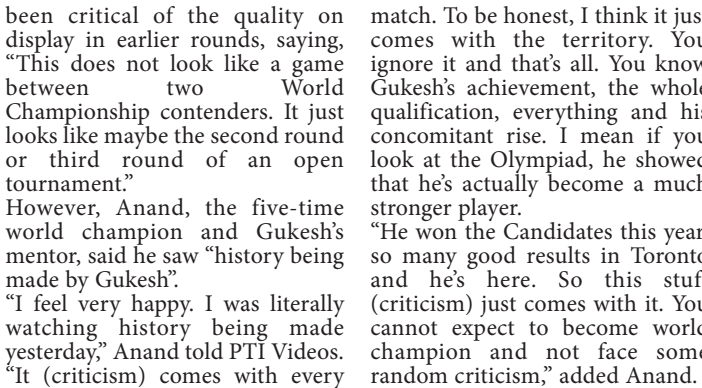

Hojlund replaced Marcus Rashford in the 56th and scored an equalizer six minutes later after Amad Diallo's shot was deflected by goalkeeper Martin Jedlicka into his path for an easy finish. The 21-year-old Hojlund also scored twice in the previous round, when United beat Norwegian team Bodø/Glimt 3-2, and has five goals in his six appearances in the second-tier competition.

"It feels good to have scored two goals but I am more happy with the win," Hojlund said. "My instructions? Go out there and score two goals! Just to use my qualities, run the channels and be assertive in front of goal."

Ignore the criticism, it comes with the territory: Anand to Gukesh

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Legendary chess player Viswanathan Anand on Friday asked D. Gukesh to ignore those questioning the standard of the World Championship title showdown with China's Ding Liren, saying criticism always comes with success. Indian Grandmaster Gukesh made history on Thursday, becoming the youngest-ever to win the world title defeating Liren in the 14th and final game of the championship in Singapore. Former world champion Vladimir Kramnik was not impressed with the quality of chess on display during the match, calling it the "end of chess as we know it." Kramnik expressed his frustration over the game's quality, calling a critical blunder by Ding Liren "childish". In his reaction, Kramnik wrote on 'X', "No comment. Sad. End of chess as we know it." In another tweet, he said, "Never yet has a WC title been decided by such a childish one-move blunder." Five-time world champion, Norway's Magnus Carlsen too has

Treesa-Gayatri bow out of BWF World Tour Finals

PTI ■ HANGZHOU

Indian women's doubles pair of Treasa Jolly and Gayatri Gopichand missed out on a semifinal spot at the BWF World Tour Finals after losing to Japanese Nami Matsuyama and Chiharu Shida in straight games in their third and final group A match here on Friday.

Treasa and Gayatri, who won their maiden BWF Super 300 title at Syed Modi International in Lucknow recently, lost 17-21 13-21 to their world number 4 opponents in 49 minutes.

It was the fourth defeat for the Indian pair against the Paris Olympics bronze medallists Japanese rivals in five meetings.

World number 13 Treasa and Gayatri, the only Indians to have qualified for the prestigious season-ending tournament, needed a win to secure a spot in the knockout stage of the tournament.

On Wednesday, the Indians had

Thereafter, the Japanese pair zoomed ahead and a six-point burst took them to 18-10. Treasa and Gayatri narrowed down the deficit to 17-19 but Matsuyama and Shida prevailed. After the change of sides, Treasa and Gayatri had a slender 4-2 lead but Matsuyama and Shida turned the tables quickly and entered the break with a four-point advantage.
