In the past few days, there has been notable positive economic development with the release of the GDP numbers for 2023-24 and S&P's positive outlook upgrade for

India The GDP exceeded market expectations, showing a growth of 8.2 per cent in 2023-24 compared to 7 per cent in 2022-23. It's worth noting that the growth in 2023-24 surpasses the Government's second advance estimate of 7.6 per cent released in February 2024.

The sustainability of the current GDP growth in the long term is a matter of concern. Long-term GDP growth heavily relies on the level of investment in the economy, which has seen a healthy 9 per cent increase. It's important to note that the Government sector has been the primary driver of this investment growth

Specifically, the Central Government's capital expenditure (CapEx) has experienced a significant surge of 28 per cent in 2023-24. However, there needs sector has shown an private increasing willingness to invest, the key factors affecting this are policy certainty and confidence in global and domestic economic stability. The exit poll results signal stability in domestic economic and policy matters, which is one of the critical drivers for private capex.

With manufacturing capacity utilisation currently at 75 per cent, and both bank and corporate balance sheets in solid condition, the stage is set for a resurgence in private capital expenditure. Ultimately, the private sector must take the lead in driving the investment cycle. As investment plays a crucial role in job creation, leading to increased demand, ultimately validating the initial investment and attracting further investments. This sets off a positive cycle of investment and growth. It's essential to recognise that sustained investment growth cannot solely rely on Government CapEx year after year.

With both public and private investments expected to pick up in the economy, What can be done now to be more momentum in the private sector CapEx. While the opportunities for citizens - the answer is to focus on CapEx in cent growth, which was at around 4 per cent in 2023-24. Intensive. This is answered in one of A combination of sustainable longthe guarantees by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, i.e., to transform India into a global manufacturing hub. In the past, India has successfully attracted suppliers for major US corporations such as Apple Inc and Alphabet Inc's Google.

However, according to World Bank data, less than 3 per cent of global manufacturing occurs in the world's most populous country, compared to 24 per cent in China. So much has to be done in this area. Another factor contributing to job creation is a focus on boosting exports. This has been limited due to sluggish global growth.

While India's service exports have remained strong, merchandise exports have specifically felt the impact of the global slowdown, which is expected to reverse. When investments both in public and private are expected to grow, supplemented with a thrust on labour-intensive manufacturing and exports, the quantity and quality of jobs will increase. Then, private consumption, one of the main pillars of the economy, will also have 8-9 per term GDP growth, increased private sector investment in capital expenditure, S&P's positive outlook upgrade, and the prospect of a third term for Modi's administration, which aims to position India as a global manufacturing hub, is expected to generate significant optimism among investors in India.

These factors promise policy continuity and potential for growth, suggesting a positive outlook for the market and inflow of global capital. The new Government's 100-day agenda and the upcoming full Budget in July 2024 were also important focal points. Furthermore, the progression of the monsoon, inflation data, and the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) interest rate policies will continue to significantly influence and guide the Indian economy in the days ahead.

So, with all these solid macroeconomic fundamentals and policy continuity, we can expect abki baar GDP growth 10 per cent paar followed by Sensex 100,000 paar.

There is respite from hot weather at several places in MP

STAFF REPORTER BHOPAL

s the temperatures have peaked in the season, little relief from the hot and harsh weather conditions was witnessed at several places as few witnessed rainfall while others witnessed cloudy conditions. It was cloudy in Bhopal on Monday afternoon. It rained in the evening. Before this, Nautapa was very hot. For the first 4 days, the temperature remained above 44 degrees. At one time, it reached a record 45.4 degrees, which was the second highest in 10 years. There was intense heat in the other 4 days as well. There was some relief from the heat on the last day, Sunday.

The Met said that the weather in Bhopal will remain changed for the next 2 to 3 days. It may also rain in the next 48 hours. Before this, the effect of heat was felt throughout the day on Sunday. However, the temperature did not rise much and 40.8 degrees was recorded. This temperature was the lowest in the 9 days of Nautapa. There was light drizzle in many areas in the evening. After the passing of Nautapa in Madhya Pradesh, the heat was mild in many districts on Kerala a day earlier, the Monday. It also rained in monsoon is progressing many districts including rapidly. Due to this, it is Bhopal, Indore, Ujjain, Dhar, Betul. Chhatarpur's Bijawar and Niwari's Príthvipur were the hottest. The temperature in Bijawar was recorded at 45.8 and in Niwari at 45.5 degrees. Apart from Bijawar and Nowgong, Shivpuri, Damoh, Sagar, Gwalior, Rewa and Guna were also included in the top-10 hottest cities of the state. 45.8 degrees in Bijawar, 45.5 degrees in Niwari, 45 degrees in Khajuraho, 44 degrees in Nowgong -Shivpuri, 43.6 degrees in Damoh-Sagar, 43.5 degrees in Gwalior, 43.4 degrees in Rewa and 43.2 degrees Celsius in Guna. IMD, Bhopal meteorologist said, after knocking in expected to reach the state on time. Currently, due to cyclonic circulation, trough line and western disturbance, a period of thunderstorms and rain is being formed. This will continue for the next few days. The situation of thunderstorms

Shivpuri, and lightning will continue on Tuesday.

Two people died of heat stroke in Shahdol within 48 hours. The first case is from Palasau village of Gohparu police station area. Here Ramu Yadav (65) had stomach ache on June 2. He drank water and went to sleep. He did not wake up even after a long time. The family went to wake him up but he had died.

The second case is from Pailwah village of Gohparu. Aradhana Dwivedi (23) was a field coordinator in an NGO.

On May 31, after field work, she fainted when she returned to the office in the evening. She was brought to the district hospital. She was admitted to a private hospital when her BP was continuously low and she did not get relief. She died on Sunday night during treatment. District hospital doctor Mohammad Aashiq said that Aradhana was having stomach ache and difficulty in breathing.

Nautapa started from May 25 with the Sun entering the Rohini constellation from Kritika. In the last 5 out of 10 years, there has been a trend of intense heat during Nautapa. This time too, there has been intense heat for 5 consecutive days. The effect of heat was felt on the sixth, seventh and eighth day as well. In many districts including Prithvipur, Nowgong, Bijawar, Sidhi, Rajgarh, Chhatarpur, the temperature reached record levels. On Sunday, the mercury fell by 1 to 5 degrees in many districts. The night temperature also decreased.

A tree fell down on a road leaving one person dead and two others injured at 10 no stop in Bhopal on Monday. Pioneer photo

Tyagi for developing dense forests around 300 ponds in Indore district

ikas Vishwa Kalyan Samridhi Sanstha President Journalist Vikas Tyagi said that dense mini forests should be developed by planting trees around about 300 ponds in Indore district. Indore Collector Ashish Singh had sought suggestions in a meeting of social organizations in the Collector's Office for Indore Master Plan 2041.

A meeting of organizations, institutions, stake holders etc. related to the development of the city was organized on the initiative of Collector Ashish Singh to make Indore Vikas Yojana 2041 better equipped with public facilities and useful for the public. In this meeting, suggestions were taken by discussing in detail about the development plans of these two rivers of the city, then the demand for petrol and diesel will also decrease. There will be a reduction in noise and air pollution. By starting passenger and goods transport by boat, the traffic on the road will decrease and people will get relief from traffic jams. Passenger transport and goods transport by boat will be available to the people at lower prices than road transport. Among the trees planted around the ponds, medicinal trees and fruit trees should be planted so that the people who take care of these forests can also get a means of income and employment. Fish farming should also be started in the ponds so that the people who take care of the ponds can get a means of income Patel.

and employment. In summer, when the water level of the pond decreases, then some uld be planted on the land of the pond. Permission to grow fruits, vegetables and other crops for a month should be given to the people who look after the pond so that they can earn income. In Indore, shady footpaths should be made by planting trees on both sides of the footpath so that people can cover short distances by walking on the shady footpath and they do not have to use their twowheelers and auto rickshaws again and again. This will not only save money for the citizens but there will also be no air pollution and noise pollution and citizens will also get physical health benefits by walking daily. Many government and private schools in Indore district are spread over several hectares of land. Small forests should be developed inside these schools by planting trees on a large scale.

Vikas Vishwa Kalyan Samridhi Sanstha President Journalist Vikas Tyagi said that there are about 300 government ponds in Indore district, which should be demarcated and deepened. Plantation should be done on a large scale around all these ponds so that all the trees around the ponds grow and form a dense mini forest. By planting trees around the pond, the trees will continue to get water and these trees will grow to form a small forest and will also work as a security wall and boundary wall around the pond for the protection of the pond.

In Indore, Ŝaraswati and Kanha rivers pass through the middle of the city. The water level of these rivers should be maintained and they should be used for boat transport and passenger transport. If boat transport starts in

Lok Sabha poll counting: Modi eyes record equalling third straight term

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi eyes a record-equalling third straight term in power amid the INDIA opposition Bloc's hope of springing a surprise as the counting of votes for the Lok Sabha election is set for Tuesday, bringing an end to a marathon polling exercise stretching over 80 days.

While most experts have long seen the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) as the favourite in the polls, a lot is at stake for the ruling combine in terms of the scale of victory it can pull off and new territories it can conquer. The opposition's stakes are higher still amid its reducing national footprint.

Exit polls have been, however, unanimous in their prediction that the NDA is closer to realising Modi's ambitious target of "400 paar" for his alliance than the INDIA bloc is to crossing even the 180 mark, one-third of the total number of seats. Though electoral verdicts have historically been acceptlines. ed, even though grudgingly, by all parties, there has been a sharper edge to the questions being raised by opposi-tion parties this time over the polling process, including the Election Commission (EC). In the run-up to the counting, the campaign acrimony between the two battling camps has spilled over into of votes. the post-poll trading of accusations after the exit polls predicted a massive win for the incumbent alliance, a forecast summarily dismissed by Congress' leader Rahul Gandhi as "Modi media poll". INDIA bloc leaders, who have been raising doubts over the electronic voting machines (EVMs), have accused the prime minister of sending a signal to the bureaucracy through these "fantasy" exit polls and marched to the EC, urging the poll watchdog to follow the counting guide-In its counter-attack, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)

has accused its rivals of trying to undermine the integrity of India's electoral process and asked the EC to prevent any attempt of "violence and unrest" during the counting

The results will show if the Congress has it in its organisation and leadership to challenge the BJP amid its reducing footprint across the country since 2014. It has failed to get even the main opposition party status in two consecutive Lok Sabha polls and has been reduced to a pale shadow of itself in a number of states, especially in the Hindi heartland.

Its leaders, including president Mallikarjun Kharge and principal campaigner Rahul Gandhi, have claimed that their alliance will get 295 seats in the 543-member Lok Sabha, marking an end of the Modi era. INDIA bloc leaders believe that their alliance has been able to shape the poll narrative around its planks of welfarism and an alleged threat to the Constitution from an allpowerful saffron onslaught, and will get popular support. Modi will equal the country's first prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru's record of leading his party to three straight electoral victories if the BJP retains power.

An uncertain future also hangs over the fate of the Left, besides many regional parties including the Trinamool

Congress (TMC), Biju Janata Dal (BJD) and YSR Congress, which are in power in West Bengal, Odisha and Andhra Pradesh respectively.

Modi has spearheaded a concerted BJP push to gain further in strength in the two eastern states, where the party surprised everyone by emerging as the powerful second force in 2019, and the exit polls have suggested that it may topple the two regional parties from the top position in these polls. Assembly polls were held in Odisha alongside the national election and the BJP and the BJD, which has been in power in the state since 2000 under Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik's leadership, are locked in a fierce battle for power. Assembly polls were also held simultaneously in the YSRCP-ruled Andhra Pradesh.

Another issue that has drawn the limelight is whether the BJP will be able to emerge as a strong force in Tamil Nadu and the Left-ruled Kerala, two states where it has currently no seats but is predicted to win a few this time. A poor show by the Left will further darken its prospects nationwide as Kerala is the only state where it remains a strong force after being knocked of reckoning in its former strongholds of Bengal and Tripura.

Always confident of his return to power, Modi has already penned an article about his vision for the country, posted on X about people's support to the NDA and rejection of the opposition, and held a meeting with top officials on the "new government's agenda" for the first 100 days. The results are also expected

The verdict will also be out on a number of Union ministers, including Piyush Goyal, Bhupender Yadav, Sarbananda Sonowal and Dharmendra Pradhan, all Rajya Sabha members asked by the BJP to contest the polls, and former chief ministers, such as the BJP's Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Basavaraj Bommai, Trivendra

Over 8,000 candidates are contesting in the Lok Sabha elections of which 16 per cent have been fielded by national parties, six per cent by state parties, while 47 per cent of candidates are independents, a report by PRS Legislative Research said.

The polls were held in seven phases between April 19 to June 1. Counting of votes will be taken up on June 4.

This is the highest number of candidates since 1996, when a record 13,952 candidates were in the fray. In the 2019 polls, there were 8,039 candidates. According to PRS, 8,360 candidates from 744 parties, including six nationally recognised parties, are contesting elections across 543 constituencies.

Overall, 16 per cent of candi-

Among the unrecognised parties, the Social Unity Centre of India (Communist) fielded the highest number of candidates (150), followed by the People's Party of India (Democratic), which fielded 79 candidates, the PRS report said. On an average, 15 candidates are contesting from each constituency. The number of candidates contesting from each constituency varies widely across states

Telangana had the highest average number of candidates per constituency that is 31 while Ladakh and Nagaland had three candidates each.

Tamil Nadu's Karur had the highest number of candidates that is 54, 46 of these candidates contested as independents (85 per cent). The average age of candidates contesting this election is 48 years. Among the national parties, 13 per cent of candidates fielded are below the age of 40, while 20 percent of candidates fielded by the BSP (98 candidates) are below the age of 40. Of the candidates from major political parties, 27 per cent have previously been an MP. While 25 per cent have previ-ously been Lok Sabha MPs and 4 per cent have been Rajya Sabha MPs, 2 per cent candidates have been part of both the Houses in the past. Overall, 327 MPs from the 17th Lok Sabha are contesting again and one MP is contesting from two constituencies. Meanwhile, the report also said 34 MPs from the 17th Lok Sabha who are re-contesting, are fighting on a different party's ticket this time. Of these, 11 instances are due to splits in the parties, such as in the case of the Shiv Sena, NCP, and Lok Jan Shakti Party.

Several rivers flowing above danger level amid incessant rain in Assam: CWC

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI

Several rivers in Assam con-tinue to flow above the danger level amid incessant rain, according to the Central Water Commission (CWC). The commission's latest bulletin highlights critical water levels at various monitoring sites, indicating severe and above-normal flood situations

Three sites in Assam have severe flood situation where the water level is touching or exceeding the danger level but below the highest flood mark, while three sites have abovenormal flood situation, according to the bulletin.

The CWC said more than 39,000 people displaced by flood are taking shelter in 193 relief camps in different districts. Another 82 relief distribution centres are also operational.

Rescue and relief operations are being carried out by multiple agencies, including the NDRF, SDRF and local administration, while medical teams have also been deployed in the affected areas.

Damage to infrastructure, in an above-normal flood sitincluding roads, bridges and other property, has been reported from different districts.

According to CWC's bulletin, the Buridehing River contin-ues to flow above the normal situation, registering a water level of 133.54 metres as of 11 am on Monday. This level indicates a potential risk to nearby areas, although it remains below the danger threshold, the commission said.

River Jiabharali at NT Road Crossing Jia-Bharali in Sonitpur District also remains 0.59 metres above the danger level. However, a falling trend provided some relief, though the situation remains critical In Dharamtul, the Kopili River has reached 56.43 metres and is maintaining a steady trend. In Kampur, the river's level is 61.13 metres with a steady trend. The Kushiyara River at Karimganj shows a level of 15.48 metres and is falling. Other rivers in Assam are also being monitored closely.

The Brahmaputra Dibrugarh and Neamatighat in Jorhat, and the Barak at Annapurna Ghat and Badarpur Ghat, are witnessing above-normal flood situations but are currently not exceeding danger levels.

An Assam State Disaster Management Authority (ASDMA) bulletin on Sunday night said 5,35,246 people in 13 districts continued to remain affected by the flood. The number of affected people was 6,01,642 in 10 districts on Saturday.

Two deaths were reported in Cachar and one in Nagaon, taking the toll in flood and storm since May 28 to 18.

s Uttarakhand prepares Afor counting of votes on Tuesday, all attention is riveted on whether the BJP sweeps all the five Lok Sabha seats in the state for a record third straight term or its citadel is dented by its principal rival Congress which had drawn a blank in both 2014 and 2019 general elections.

Polling to the five Lok Sabha seats of Uttarakhand was held in the first phase on April 19. It will be interesting to see what the results have in store for the two new candidates fielded by the BJP this time former CM Trivendra Singh Rawat in place of sitting MP and another former CM Ramesh Pokhriyal Nishank in Haridwar and the party's national media in-charge Anil Baluni in place of former CM Tirath Singh Rawat in Pauri Garhwal. Both Haridwar and Pauri Garhwal are high profile seats won in the past by both the BJP and Congress stalwarts. Senior Congress leader and former chief minister Harish Rawat won the Haridwar seat in 2009 but former BJP chief minister Nishank won it in both 2014 and 2019.

Winning even a single seat from the state means a lot for the principal opposition party as it would end its prolonged dry spell. It has not just lost all five Lok Sabha seats in 2014 and 2019 but was also trounced by the BJP in both 2017 and 2022 assembly polls. The Congress won only 11 seats against the BJP's 57 in a house of 70 in 2017. It improved its position slightly in 2022 winning 19 seats against the BJP's 47. Though Congress and BJP are locked in direct contests in all seats, there are more than 50 candidates in the fray, including those from the BSP, Uttarakhand Kranti Dal and Independents.

Uttarakhand's Chief Electoral Officer BVRC Purushottam said counting will begin at 8 am across all counting centres on Tuesday.

Counting of votes through EVMs and postal ballots will go on simultaneously, he said, adding around 10,000 personnel have been engaged in the exercise.

 $E^{\rm laborate\ arrangements\ have\ been}_{\rm put\ in\ place\ with\ the\ deployment}$ of more than 13,000 staff at the 29 counting centres across Karnataka for the counting of votes on Tuesday for the 28 Lok Sabha constituencies, officials said on Monday.

The state has a total of 28 Lok Sabha constituencies. The first phase of polling in the 14 seats in most of the southern and coastal districts was held on April 26 and the second phase in the other 14 segments in the northern districts was held on May 7. Each Parliamentary Lok Sabha constituency has one counting centre each. However, in Tumakuru, counting of votes will be done in two places, so the total number of counting centres is 29. Speaking to PTI, Manoj Kumar Meena, Chief Electoral Officer of Karnataka said, "We have 28 Parlimentary Lok Sabha constituencies in Karnataka and counting of votes at the 29 counting centres in the state will begin at 8 am on Tuesday." He further said that elaborate arrangements have been made and 13,173 counting staff, including counting supervisors, counting assistants and micro observers have been deployed. "All necessary training for the staff has also been completed. At each counting centre, EVMs and postal ballots will be counted in separate rooms. Media centres have also been set up at each of these counting centres with required Bangalore City Police unit for printers) so that they can report to their respective media outlets," he added. According to the police, in Bengaluru alone, more than 2,400 police officers have been deployed at the three counting centres in the state capital, namely Mount Carmel Vasantnagar (Bangalore College, Central Constituency), St Joseph's Indian High School, Vithal Mallya Road (Bangalore North Constituency) and SSMRV College, Jayanagar (Bangalore South Constituency). Appropriate arrangements have been made for counting of votes in the three Lok Sabha constituencies within the BBMP (Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike) limits to ensure the smooth conduct of the counting of votes under tight security, they said. A total of 1,524 officers/personnel, 13 armed reserved units and four quick response teams have been deployed by facilities (with computers, xerox, fax, printers) so that they can report to officers and personnel, including civil and City Armed Reserve wings, have been deployed for maintaining strong room security duty in three shifts. More than 400 traffic department police officers and personnel will be stationed to ensure that traffic flow around the counting centres is not interrupted. A total of more than 2,400 police officers and personnel of the city has been deployed for vote counting duty to monitor the situation in the three counting centres. From Monday midnight to June 4 midnight, sale of liquor is prohibited in city limits and prohibitory orders under section 144 CrPC has been imposed in Bengaluru from 6 am on Tuesday to Tuesday midnight. The Karnataka State Reserve Police (KSRP) and City Armed Reserve platoons will be deployed in sensitive areas of the city to no ensure that no untoward incident occurs, police said.

Bengal BJP, CPI(M) meet CEO to ensure fair counting PTI 📕 KOLKATA

Representatives of the BJP and CPI(M), opposition parties in West Bengal, met the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) here on Monday to highlight alleged threats of manipulation by the state government in the vote counting process. On the eve of the counting of the Lok Sabha elections, they urged the CEO to take measures to prevent any possible rigging during the process.

BJP leader Shishir Bajoria said that during the meeting, he highlighted the "post-election violence and the nonadherence to rules" in engaging the workforce for counting by the Trinamool Congress government.

He claimed that there is evidence that the state administration is engaging "casual staff" in the vote counting duties, which is against norms.

We are getting news from some constituencies that in complete disregard of the guideline there has been large scale empanelment of such non-permanent/ casual employees," BJP said in a representation to the CEO.

Bajoria cited an example from the Malda counting station and said he had submitted a list of the same.

The party said it had raised the same issue at a meeting earlier.

Himachal Pradesh Deputy Chief Agnihotri, Minister Mukesh however, accused the BJP of making all out efforts to destabilise the state government, which has just emerged out of the crisis

Meanwhile, the Himachal Pradesh High Court has also reserved its order on a petition filed by BJP leader Satpal Singh Satti and 11 other BJP MLAs against the appointment of six Congress MLAs as chief parliamentary secretaries by the Sukhu government.

The High Court verdict may have a bearing on the state assembly and politics in the state in case it strikes down the appointment of six chief parliamentary secretaries or disqualify the MLAs, which will create fresh instability in the state. BHOPAL | TUESDAY | JUNE 4, 2024 the pioneer

Epic election festival concludes smoothly

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN

The 2024 general election campaign has been marked by intense mudslinging, media misrepresentations and sharp ideological battles ith the conclu-sion of the 7th phase of the voting on Saturday, the long drawnout Great Election Festival has come to an end. The results of the polls would be announced on Tuesday and the winner would be asked by the President to form the new Government. If a party fails to cross the halfway mark on its own, we will see a coalition government consisting of parties with different ideologies but united in their hatred for Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The electioneering of 2024 was nothing other than calling names and distortion statements made by Prime Minister Modi. The misrepresentation of facts by the media has fueled anger among various communities. When the bugle for the electoral battle was sounded by the Election Commission of India, there was no agenda in the BJP's game plan to amend the Constitution. But its rivals were unanimous in their aggressive campaign that if the BJP wins this time, there would not be any more elections in the country and the Constitution would be thrown to the dustbin. Rahul Gandhi, the Prime Minister in waiting, went one step further and declared that the BJP would cancel once and forever the reservation meant for scheduled caste/scheduled tribe and the OBC. Though this was refuted by the BJP camp, the notion in Kerala and Tamil Nadu was that Modi was against reservation of any kind. Meanwhile, leaders of Congress, CPI(M) and like-minded parties blamed Narendra Modi and the Sangh Parivar for the scorching summer as well as the draught that has struck South India. Then came the heavy downpour and upper-level cyclonic circulation in Kerala. The Congress and CPI(M) found Modi as the scapegoat for this too. The contents of the interview given by the Prime Minister to a TV channel too were distorted by the Opposition leaders who accused the former of claiming unpardonable sins. Election speeches were a learning process for ordinary mortals. The national and State level leaders of various political outfits enlighten the voters about the failures committed by the parties that ruled the country in different times while the party that was born to rule India would shock the electorate with what they have done to make India what it is now. Though the eminent historian R C Majumdar has edited an XI volume series 'The History and Culture of Indian People" which was published by Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan at the instance of Kulapati Dr K M Munshi, the same has been declared as an "untouchable product" by the Leftist historians of the country. The Leftists and the GOP have a lot to hide and we will come back to that on another occasion.

The 2024 General Election was an event that the voters would prefer to forget at the earliest. The electioneering should never be a name-calling exercise and the media should know its role as an observer. The guiding principle of jourwas "facts are sacred but opinions are free"

But in present-day journalism, this law has degenerated and it has become facts and opinions are free. If one is to go by the news and opinions of most newspapers, the INDI Alliance has already won the election and it is a matter of time before the new government is sworn in. The opinion polls and surveys have become a butt of jokes.

Now that the last vote has been CAST, THE ONLY cast, the only option is to wait till 4 June 2024 to know which OPTION IS TO WAIT way the wind has blown. Newspapers and News TILL JUNE 4 TO Channels should not take sides KNOW WHICH WAY in this contest of democracy. No doubt, the claim "my kurta THE WIND HAS is whiter than his" extends to politics. But it should not lead BLOWN. to an exercise of abusing and NEWSPAPERS AND belittling the rivals. The speeches delivered by some of NEWS CHANNELS the leading lights of the main political parties were deplorable and despicable. The SHOULD NOT TAKE SIDES IN THIS portrayal of Mukhtar Ansari, a dreaded criminal and mafia CONTEST OF don, as Shaheed by Asaduddin time a mafia don has been accorded the status of Shaheed. Some of the leaders who constitute the INDI Alliance applaud a person convicted to life imprisonment in the fodder scam as the most honest politician in the country even though the latter is out on bail claiming serious medical ailments. The Porsche car mishap that claimed two lives in Pune is further proof that the BJP cannot escape from the allegations of favouritism. The Hindutva brigade is the alliance partner of the government in Maharashtra in which the NCP has a major stake. Only people with knowledge, wisdom and a clean image should win the election and assume power at the Centre. Convicts and mafia dons should not have any place in this electoral battle. Above all, it is for the Election Commission to elevate the quality of the electoral game to that of a royal event. There is no space for anti-social and anti-national elements in this jamboree where people are the

Unless reversed, the deforestation in Delhi will lead to its desertification, says HC ahatma Gandhi rightly said that what we do to forests is but a reflection of what we are doing unto ourselves. And this apathy to our environment is now caus-IV I we are doing unto ourseives. And this aparty to our on ourseives, and this aparty to our on ourseives, and this aparty to our one of the ourseives a barran deserving that if the current deforestation trends continue, the city could become a barren desert. This alarming forecast highlights the urgent need for sustainable environmental policies and practices. As urbanisation, construction and pollution intensify, the green cover in Delhi and other metropolitan areas is rapidly depleting, leading to severe ecological and climatic consequences. Delhi's deforestation crisis is fuelled by several factors, including rampant construction, illegal logging and urban expansion. The city's green spaces are shrinking, leading to increased pollution levels, a rise in temperatures and a reduction in natural groundwater recharge areas. The adverse effects are already evident in the city's deteriorating air quality, with smog and particulate matter reaching hazardous levels during winter months. The reduction in tree cover also exacerbates the urban heat island effect, making Delhi increasingly uninhabitable during summer. The High Court's stark warning underscores the broader implications of this environmental degradation. Trees play a crucial role in carbon sequestration, temperature regulation and maintaining biodiversity. Their removal disrupts these natural processes, leading to soil erosion, loss of habitat for wildlife and a decline in the overall quality of life. If the current trajectory continues, Delhi could face rising temperatures, severe water shortages, loss of biodiversity and a significant decline in public health due to worsening air quality.

Unfortunately, the general tendency is that the Government should do something about it, but the people themselves can bring about a substantial change. In stark contrast to Delhi's environmental challenges, the village of Piplantri in Rajasthan offers a beacon of hope and a model for sustainable development. Located near Udaipur, Piplantri has gained international acclaim for its unique initiative of planting 111 saplings every time a girl is born in the village. This practice, started by former village head Shyam Sundar Paliwal in the memory of his deceased daughter, has transformed the village's landscape and socio-economic fabric. Since its inception, Piplantri has planted over 350,000 trees, turning the once arid region lush green. This has had multiple benefits of improving air quality, increasing groundwater levels and fostering a sense of community ownership over local resources. The initiative also challenges the deeply rooted gender biases in rural India. The environmental benefits in Piplantri are manifold. The increased green cover has helped combat soil erosion, improved agricultural productivity and provided habitat for various species, thus enhancing biodiversity. Delhi's situation and Piplantri's success highlight the critical need for proactive environmental policies and community engagement. Urban areas like Delhi can draw several lessons from Piplantri's example.

Is it possible to restore the lost vigour of our planet?

DHARMAPALAN

umans think about our planet only on two occasions: during celebrations of select days or when catastrophes happen. When everything is normal, we take our planet for granted. We exploit it to the core, and we forget that the resources on this planet are not only for us but for generations to come. At every stage in the history of Homo sapiens, we have caused considerable harm to the environment. But the quantum of destruction humans caused during the last two centuries has caused irreparable loss to the planet. This is mainly due to the advances in modern science and technology. We forgot the value of the Indian philosophy of living sustainably with nature, propagated by our forefathers for our greed. Today, we have fallen to the level that we don't even care about the future of our own children. We amass wealth and physical resources for our children, but what is the use if they don't have a clean and safe area to live? Can we restore the vigour of our planet? Restoring the lost vigour of ensuring our environment's long-term health and sustainability. While the challenges are substantial, numerous examples and strategies demonstrate that significant progress can be made with concerted effort, innovative solutions, and global cooperation. We have caused considerable damage to all our terrestrial as well as all aquatic ecosystems. To bring it back to normal is a challenging task. Initiatives such as reforestation, wetland restoration, and coral reef rehabilitation have shown promising results. For instance, reforestation projects in regions like the Amazon, Africa, and Southeast Asia are helping to restore vital forest ecosystems, sequester carbon, and provide habitats for diverse species. Wetland restoration

Mississippi River Delta and the Danube Delta are improving water quality, reducing flood risks, and supporting rich biodiversity. One successful example of land restoration is the Loess Plateau in China. Over several decades, intensive soil erosion had turned this once-fertile region into a barren landscape. The Loess Plateau has been transformed through large-scale interventions, including terracing, reforestation, and sustainable agricultural practices, resulting in increased agricultural productivity, reduced erosion, and improved local livelihoods. After nearly four decades of pollution and neglect, the Khushal Sar Lake in Srinagar has been restored to its former glory, providing a habitat for thousands of migratory birds. Thanks to a community effort supported by the local administration, the lake has been brought back to life. These examples showcase the potential of comprehensive land restoration strategies in reversing degradation and fostering sustainable development.

Every year on June 5th, we our planet is essential for efforts in places like the Celebrate Environmental Day.

This year's World Environment Day campaign focuses on land restoration, desertification and drought resilience.

This year, we have realised the impact of climate change in India through scorching heat wave conditions and unprecedented rains and snowfalls. But when we feel the situation has become normal, we forget our environmental concerns and start harming it. The government must take stringent measures to safeguard the remaining tracts of agricultural lands, wetlands, forests, grasslands, coral reefs etc. No developmental activities should be allowed in these areas. We should carry out tourism-related activities within the region's carrying capacity. The government of Tamil Nadu's recent e-pass system to control tourist influx to Nilgiris is a commendable policy decision. We should implement a similar system in other ecologically sensitive regions of the country, especially those surrounding the Himalayas. (The is an adjunct faculty at

DELHI FIGHTS VECTOR-BORNE DISEASES Madam - Regarding the news story

"MCD intensifies efforts to control vector-borne diseases," published on June 2, here is my response. As a daily reader of the newspaper, I find the Municipal Corporation of Delhi's (MCD) intensified efforts to control vector-borne diseases commendable. The deployment of Domestic Breeding Checkers (DBC) has been notably effective, with over 1.35 crore inspections and on-the-spot treatments for more than 25,000 mosquitobreeding sites. The strategic approach, including intersectoral meetings and community awareness campaigns, underscores the importance of collective action. MCD's consistent anti-larval spraying and fogging are critical in curbing the spread of diseases like dengue.

However, the real challenge lies in sustaining these efforts and ensuring public cooperation. The civic body's appeal to residents to maintain cleanliness and manage water storage responsibly is vital. With Aedes mosquitoes breeding in stagnant clean water, community involvement in eliminating potential breeding sites is crucial. It's heartening to see such proactive measures, but continuous vigilance and public engagement are essential to prevent future outbreaks.

ELECTION DYNAMICS IN INDIA

Madam — Apropos the news story "Now, count your blessings on June 4," published on June 2, this is my response. As a regular newspaper reader, witnessing the culmination of the largest festival of democracy in India is a remarkable experience. The recent Lok Sabha elections, with a voter turnout of 60 per cent, underscore the vibrancy and resilience of Indian democracy. Prime Minister Narendra Modi, seeking a third consecutive term, campaigned vigorously, reflecting the intense political landscape. West Bengal's impressive 70 per cent turnout contrasted starkly with Bihar's

INDIA bloc optimistic despite exit polls

egarding the news story "Cong Assured of 295+ Seats for INDIA Bloc," published on June 2, here are my thoughts. As a daily reader of The Pioneer, I am deeply impressed by Deepak Kumar Jha's coverage of the INDIA differences in electoral engagement. Despite incidents of violence and complaints about EVM glitches, the overall peaceful conduct of the elections is commendable.

Modi's call for robust voter participation resonates deeply, emphasising the importance of every vote. The predicted return of the Modi-led NDA, according to exit polls, suggests continuity but also invites reflection on the opposition's strategies. This election underscores the dynamism of Indian politics, where every voter, regardless of background, plays a pivotal role in shaping the nation's future. The real victory, as the Election Commission aptly put it, belongs to the Indian voter.

LEGACY OF SONAL MANSINGH

Madam — Apropos the news story "The Living Legend of Sonal Mansingh," published on June 2, this is my response. Reading about Sonal Mansingh's remarkable journey is truly inspiring. Her story is one of dedication and resilience, 49.12 per cent, highlighting regional breaking barriers in a male-dominated Bloc's confidence in the 2024 general elections. The detailed account of Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge's assertive claims of winning over 295 Lok Sabha seats highlights the coalition's robust strategy and optimism. It's particularly notable how Jha captures the strategic planning and unity among diverse opposition leaders, including Sonia Gandhi, Arvind Kejriwal, and Akhilesh Yadav.

This article sheds light on their collaborative efforts and preparation for the vote-counting process, reflecting a significant political moment. Jha's thorough reporting provides readers with an insightful glimpse into the political landscape, emphasising the Bloc's readiness to challenge the BJP and form a stable government. His articulate narration is both informative and engaging, making it a commendable piece of journalism

Starting her dance education in Bharatanatyam and later mastering Odissi under Guru Kelucharan Mohapatra, she has become a luminary in the arts. Despite societal challenges, her unwavering commitment has not only preserved India's cultural heritage but also brought it to the forefront internationally.

Mansingh's involvement in politics as a Rajya Sabha member further emphasises the importance of integrating cultural advocacy within governance. Her efforts to use dance as a medium for social commentary and her work with the Centre for Indian Classical Dances highlight her multifaceted contributions. Sonal Mansingh's life and work remind us of the enduring relevance of our cultural roots and the transformative power of art in bridging divides and fostering dialogue.

FIRSTCOLUMN CRIME AND CONSCIENCE

Spiritual resilience through meditation can help reform criminal behaviour

RAJYOGI BRAHMAKUMAR NIKUNJ JI

he whole nation was jolted by a recent hit-and-run tragedy, wherein a teenager, reportedly intoxicated behind the wheel of a luxury car, collided with a motorbike, claiming the lives of two promising young IT professionals . As per criminal psychologists, before a crime can be said to have occurred, it has to be committed. So, without action, there can be no crime. Hence, they say that in most of the cases, a person commits a crime in a moment of high tension, irresistible temptation, uncontrollable passion, deep infatuation, extreme provocation or utter frustration or in answer to an undying call of conviction or conscience. So, according to them if he/she could withstand the pressure of these conditions of restlessness for even a couple of minutes or perhaps, even for a few seconds, he/she would have, perhaps, been out of the crime zone and be free at least from any charge of a cognisable offence. Considering it from another perspective, it could be said that, if a man's rational sense, his self-respect, his control over the emotions, his sober judgement, his noble sentiments and his spiritual or ethical sense had not forsaken him, then, perhaps, the blinding storm of negative forces would have subsided and subdued and he would have refrained from the actual committal of crime and would thus have been saved from the traumatic experience that generally follows the crime. Once a gory crime has been committed, the gentle spirit in man has to go through a humiliating and excruciating experience even before he is jailed for a criminal offence or has to pay a heavy amount as punishment, under the relevant act for his civil offence, or has to suffer both. Not only does he feel depressed and carry a heavy burden on his chest but also, he is unable to face his conscience, stand before a mirror and see his face as before. We have to consider does the law cover all acts that may cause injury to public welfare? Hence one can say that there is no objective, simple definition of crime. Because the meaning of crime is affected by the particular society in which we live.

Like, there are crimes that occur within strict legal definitions and those that relate to codes or conventions known as normative definitions. They are usually formal moral codes such as religions, or informal codes such as socially acceptable behaviour. The acts of crime and the punishment by the court go on as usual. However, one important question to which no government or judiciary has seriously and assiduously addressed itself lingers on. The question relates to the state of mind of a person before he commits the crime and after he has done the act. It is common knowledge that the forces that goad a person to committal of crime are none other than the maddening feelings of anger, consuming fires of hatred, jealousy, rivalry, vengeance or enmity, expanded greed, aroused strong passion, inflated or injured ego, surge of emotional attachment or grave fear of the unknown. We cannot reduce crime or have a crimeless society unless and until we have greatly reduced or fully removed these negative traits from the minds of the citizens It is unfortunate that pre-natal and post-natal aspects of crime have never been adequately dealt with by our society. It is hardly realised that what is required, in fact, are such measures that increase the psychological and spiritual immunity of the citizens to situations of stress and strain or to tempests of greed, ego and passions. This cannot be done except by spiritual education and guidance in Meditation. Because it is meditation which can burn the hidden roots of anger, hatred and other negative and criminal tendencies in a person. The over-all expenditure and the manpower and effort required for this will be "far far less" than is involved to keep the cogged wheels of law oiled and moving.

Uncertainties dwindle investors' confidence

Global uncertainties over rising interest rates, jittery noises of LS elections surpass the RBI's ₹2.10 lakh crore dividend boons, pushing down the Sensex rom its highest 76,010 in the beginning of the week it plunged to 73,866 as the BSE and Nifty indices close in the last six sessions. The RBI forecast of 7 percent growth too has not boosted the spirits as the equity market has been pining for a higher growth. However, RBI claims that even at 7 per-cent the country would be one of the fastest growing economies in the finan-cial year 2025. The Asian Development Bank and Fitch also concur. But IMF, S&P and Morgan Stanley put it at 6.8 percent and World Bank, Moody's and Deloitte put it at 6.6 percent.

The RBI has set a target of inflation at 4.5 percent though the central bank repeatedly has said that for the last ten years average inflation hovered over 5.5 percent. The central bank also notes a owdown in the last quarter of 2023-24. Global markets remained under pressure due to rising bond yields and denting hopes of a rate cut. A major concern is the spike in US bond yields pushing the 10-year yield above 4.6 per cent. Some of the top companies that raised dollar bonds include India Bulls HF-$ 350 mil-lion; IRB Infra - $ 540 million; Adani Green Energy - $ 409 million and Sriram Finance - $ 750 million, as per Bloomberg. The bond market can trigger continuation of the FII selling which will depress the prices of large stocks further. Volatility is likely to continue the next week as well due to the political uncertainty and global developments. This has been a phenomenon since the elections began in April and now it is spiking to 24.8 - a more than two-year high on the benchmark for volatility India VIX. Except for occasional rises, the stocks remained stagnant. In different phases the losses to investors have been heavy. In the present melee, foreign funds were major sellers at Rs

3,050 crore. In earlier, trading also the FPIs sold stocks worth Rs 27,500 crore. The domestic funds were net buyers at Rs 53,600 crore. It means largely the PSU funds were the buyers. This has a risk to mutual fund investors. During the weekend the BSE sensex had a minor rise of 0.18 percent or 132.44 points and the NSE Nifty 50 closed 61.75 points or 0.27% higher. These minor movements are not capable of recovering the losses. It is found that some of the major corporates like the Tata Steel's profit slides 65 percent to Rs 555 crore down from Rs 1566 crore. It suffered a loss of Rs 594 crore. Of the 12 startups looking PORTFOLIO to launch IPOs in 2024, eight lave incurred a cumulative loss Profit booking at higher levels in the stock market has been a synonym to political or economic uncertainties. This needs to be avoided to the maximum. Polls must not come in the way of policy decisions either at the government level or corporate and other institutional functioning. Election schedules are not a mat-of Rs 8,000 crore, including Swiggy, and Ola Electric. A prolonged election has seen investor confidence being hit. Foreign portfolio investors preferred to unload more than buying. Election is a democratic necessity. The rulers, however, need to see it beyond political compulsions. Ideally, an election could be held in far fewer phases stretched to not more than a fortnight. Most of the southern states had a one-day poll schedule. Only in states of northern and eastern India had multiphase polls. Even Tripura, one of the tiniest states with two seats, witnessed polls being held in two phases.

Longer an election stretches, the administrative cost multiplies. All political parties should sit together with the Election Commission of India (ECI) to ter of mere political management. Polls are held to improve systems. If these affect any aspect of the governance, this must be corrected for all times and should be part of the standard operating procedures of the ECI.

Overall, there are risks to the economy, RBI says in its annual report. It has asked banks to address trading norms, banking book risks, and diversify deposit sources to mitigate risks associated with interest rate fluctuations. This variation has also its impact on the stock markets. Its decision to review priority sector lending guidelines and work towards formulating norms for the National Strategy fir Financial Inclusion up to 2030 could have wider impact on trading and businesses.

The RBI functioning is also being discussed. Its dividend payment of Rs 2.10 lakh crore is linked to 2023. It also mentions neavy lia bilities other than deposits and notes issued at 92.57 percent. The recent trend in US inflation data could make an interest rate cut this year. This could cause further flight of capital from India even as rupee continues to fall against the dollar and further fall in the equities are not ruled out. The market awaits new policy formulations. Till such time the volatility is likely to contin-ue. It would require innovative approach to the financial and budgetary policies to boost the overall market so that investors from across the globe are tempted to put their funds in Indian scrip and other instruments. The new government has to trudge cautiously and intelligently to rev up the contours of the market and economy.

On the other side, Partial Knee Replacement (PKR) targets only the damaged part of the knee, keeping healthy tissue and bone intact. Both surgeries aim to reduce pain and improve movement, but they differ in how much of the knee they address. TKR is a comprehensive solution for serious knee issues, while PKR focuses on specific areas of damage. The choice between the two depends on the severity of the injury and the patient's overall health. Physical therapy is crucial before and after TKR. Before surgery, it strengthens mus-

The Israeli Foreign Ministry made the recommendations on Sunday in view of the Maldivian government's decision to make the legal amendments necessary to ban entry into the Maldives on Israeli passports as soon as possible.

"The recommendation is also valid for Israeli citizens holding a foreign passport, in addition to the Israeli passport," the Israeli Foreign Ministry said in a statement. "For Israeli citizens staying in the country, it is recommended to consider leav-ing, since if they fall into dis-ago, but have not succeeded tress for any reason, it will be difficult for us to help," it

Mexico elects Claudia Sheinbaum as president

laudia Sheinbaum claimed victory in Mexico's presidential election, becoming the first woman selected for the job by promising to continue the political course set by her populist predecessor despite widespread discontent with persistent cartel violence and disappointing economic performance.

The climate scientist and former Mexico City mayor was the favored successor of outgoing President Andrés Manuel López Obrador. But her cool temper offers a sharp contrast in style — and a break with Mexico's male-dominated political culture.

Sheinbaum said Sunday night that her two competitors had called her and conceded in an election that guaranteed Mexico would make history. The two leading candidates were women, and Sheinbaum is also be the first person from a Jewish background to lead the overwhelmingly Catholic country. Mexico City (AP): Claudia Sheinbaum's name will go International Women's Day on down in Mexican history. The governing party candidate won Mexico's presidential election on Sunday, a turning point in a mostly conservative nation that for more than two centuries has been exclusively ruled by men.

Elsewhere in Latin America, women have presided over Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Nicaragua, Honduras, Ecuador, El Salvador, Panama, Haiti and Costa Rica.

Mexican women won the right to vote in 1953. No law prevented female candidates from holding office, but sexism and "macho" culture continue to permeate the country of 129 million people. Prior to the current presidential race, during which Sheinbaum maintained a comfortable lead against opposition candidate Xóchitl Gálvez, only two women had officially sought Mexico's pres-idency. Both failed. In her bid to replace outgoing President Andrés Manuel López Obrador, Sheinbaum struggled to construct an image of her vn leaving many whether she can escape the shadow of her mentor. Women currently lead some key Mexican institutions, such as the Senate, the Supreme Court and the National Electoral Institute. Mexico ranks third among Latin American nations with the most women in the national Cabinet — 44% — and has 10 female governors among its 32 states. In some Indigenous villages, though, men still hold the power. Among the issues that Mexican women face are femicide, or women killed because of their gender, a gender employment gap and inadequate policies guaranteeing sexual and reproductive rights. Israel is looking into an alter-native local governing body for Gaza, the defence minister said on Sunday, proposing a future beyond Hamas but giving no idea who those chal-lengers might be.Defence Minister Yoav Gallant's comments came at a time of new uncertainty in the eight-month war. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu is under growing pressure from many Israelis to accept a new ceasefire deal proposed by US President Joe Biden while farright allies threaten to collapse his government if he does.

Gallant, part of Israel's threemember War Cabinet who recently urged the government to have a detailed postwar plan for Gaza, said in a briefing that "we seek a governing alternative to Hamas. The framework for this includes isolating areas, removing Hamas operatives in these areas and bringing in other forces that will enable the formation of a governing alternative".

That will achieve Israel's goals of removing Hamas' military and governing authority in Gaza and returning home the remaining hostages taken in the October 7 Hamas attack that sparked the war, Gallant said. He stressed that "we will not accept the rule of Hamas at any stage in any process aimed at ending the war".

An Israeli defence official told AP that Gallant hopes to enable isolated, Hamas-free areas in Gaza to become "hubs of local government" and identify forces that can enable a longerterm formation of a government.

Israel is looking for "local nonhostile actors", the official said, adding that Gallant believes that "Palestinians should be governing Palestinians". Israel would facilitate surges of aid to the areas, and the local forces would be responsible for distributing it to strengthen their authority Top ally the US has proposed that a reformed Palestinian Authority would govern Gaza with the assistance of Arab and Muslim nations. not draw the kind of cheering, jubilant crowds that greeted López Obrador's victory in 2018. Those present were enthusiastic, but comparatively few in number.

Sara Ríos, 76, a retired literature professor at Mexico's National Autonomous University, celebrated after hearing that Gálvez had conceded."The only way that we move forward is by working together," Ríos said.

Sheinbaum promised to continue all of López Obrador's poli cies, including a universal pension for the elderly and a program that pays youths to apprentice. Gálvez, who ran with a coalition of major opposition parties, left the Senate last year to focus her ire on López Obrador's decision to avoid confronting the drug cartels through his "hugs not bullets" policy. She pledged to more aggressively go after criminals. Julio García, a Mexico City office worker, said he was voting for the opposition in Mexico City's central San Rafael neighbourhood. 'We transform, we are warriors who open paths for other women," Sheinbaum said. In spite of this, Sheinbaum has been criticized by feminists and activists arguing that her government lacked genderrelated policies. Excessive use of force against women during demonstrations has been flagged as well. Teenage pregnancy among Mexican women and girls has raised concern.According to official figures from 2021, the latest available, there were 147,279 births among adolescents between 15 and 19 years old, and 3,019 among girls under 15.

More women among top paid CEOs Quakes in north-central Japan collapse 5 homes in 2023, still outnumbered by men

AP SAN FRANCISCO

More women are attaining the top job at companies in the S&P 500, but their numbers are still minuscule compared to their male counterparts. Of the 341 CEOs included in the AP's annual compensation survey, 25 are women. That's the most women making the list since the survey began in 2011. But the numbers haven't budged very much. The second highest tally was 21 women in 2017. The survey, based on data analyzed for The Associated Press by Equilar, includes CEOs at S&P 500 companies who have served at least two fiscal years at their companies, which filed proxy statements between Jan. 1 and April 30, 2024.

Christy Glass, a professor of sociology at Utah State University who studies equity, inclusion and leadership, said that while seeing more female CEOs this year is a positive, overall the trends are discourag-

"We'll see a year where there's kind of a banner year of women CEOs," she said. "But then a year or two down the road, we'll see a significant turnover.' Lisa Su, CEŎ and chair of the board of chipmaker Advanced Micro Devices, was the highest paid female CEO in the AP survey for the fifth year in a row in fiscal 2023, bringing in total compensation worth USD30.3 million - flat with her compensation package a year earlier. Her rank rose to 21 overall from 25.

Su received a base salary of USD 1.2 million and a performance bonus of more than USD 1.4 million. The bulk of her package was USD 21.8 million in stock awards.

Su has been chief of AMD, based in Santa Clara, California, since 2014.

The company is part of a growing number of companies trying to take advantage of a broader interest from businesses looking for new AI tools that can analyze data, help make decisions and potentially replace some tasks currently performed by human workers. AMD's stock price surged 127% in 2023.

The others in the top five highest paid female CEOs include Mary Barra of automaker General Motors with total compensation of USD 27.8 million; Jane Fraser of banking giant Citigroup with a package worth USD 25.5 million; Kathy Warden of aerospace and defense compa-ny Northrop Grumman Corp. at USD 23.5 million; and Carol Tome of package deliverer UPS Inc., whose pay was valued at USD 23.4 million.

Some notable female CEOs aren't included since they became CEO less than two years ago or their company files proxy statements outside of the January through April window, including Julie Sweet of consultant Accenture and Sue Nabi, CEO of Coty Inc.

The median pay package for female CEOs rose 21 per cent to USD 17.6 million. That's better than the men fared: Their median pay package rose 12 per cent to USD16.3 million.

But the highest paid men still make far more than the highest paid women. Broadcom CEO Hock Tan raked in USD161.8 million — the vast majority of that in stock awards.Part of the issue of the disproportionate numbers of men to women is the "glass cliff," Glass said. Her research shows women are more likely to be appointed CEO at disadvantaged companies."It's kind of like one step forward, two steps back," she said. "One of the factors driving that is the fact that women tend to have opportunities to serve as CEO when organizations are in crisis. ... That means that they start their leadership trajectory at a disadvantage.

Courts acquit Imran Khan in 3 high-profile cases

PTI ISLAMABAD

Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party founder Imran Khan was on Monday acquitted in three high-profile cases, including the cipher case, in a major relief to the beleaguered former prime minister who was sentenced to 10 years in jail for making public a secret diplomatic communication.

The 71-year-old former cricketer-turned-politician has been in jail since August last year after being convicted in some of the nearly 200 cases slapped on him since his ouster in April 2022.

On Monday, a two-member bench of the Islamabad High Court (IHC) comprising Chief Justice Aamer Farooq and Justice Miangul Hassan Aurangzeb acquitted Khan and former foreign minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi in the cipher case.

The case pertains to the inci-However, the duo are not dent in which Khan showed a expected to be released from piece of paper - allegedly a copy of a diplomatic communication prison due to Khan's sentence in the Iddat case (illegal mar-- at a public rally in Islamabad, claiming it as proof of a conriage) while Oureshi was arrested in a case linked to the May spiracy against his government by a foreign power, referring to 9 violence. Khan had brandished the cipher paper just two weeks before the ouster of the PTI government in April 2022 through a vote of no-confidence in Parliament. Leader of the Opposition in the National Assembly Omar Ayub hailed the verdict and called for the immediate release of Khan and Oureshi. In a statement, Khan's party urged the judiciary that the "false cases" against all political prisoners be dealt with as soon as possible and they should be released from jail. has been at the centre of the

The Cipher case was filed on August 15 last year by the Federal Investigation Agency which accused Khan and Qureshi of violating the secret laws while handling a cable sent by the Pakistan embassy in Washington in March 2022. The two were first indicted in October last year but the process was reversed by the İslamabad High Court while ruling against in-camera proceedings. They were indicted again in December.

In a separate development, the district and sessions court of Islamabad acquitted Khan, Qureshi, ex-communication minister Murad Saeed, and other PTI leaders in two cases of vandalism during the 'Haqeeqi Azaadi' march in 2022

In May 2022, the former cricketer-turned-politician launched a march toward Islamabad from Lahore to topple the coalition government of Shehbaz Sharif that assumed power after he was ousted as the premier following a vote of no confidence.

The rally was part of the PTI's struggle to achieve "real freedom" and deliver the nation from the "slavery" of the "US-backed" coalition government. Khan had accused the coalition government of coming to power through a "US-backed conspiracy".

The Islamabad police at that time filed separate cases against 150 people, including Khan, Qureshi and other party leaders, over allegations of arson and vandalism in the federal capital.

Earlier this month, a judicial magistrate of Islamabad also acquitted Khan in two cases of vandalism during his party's two long marches in 2022. Judicial magistrate Shaista Kundi heard the pleas filed by the former prime minister for his acquittal in the cases registered at Islamabad's Lohi Bhair and Sahala police stations and one related to his production in the court.

Separately, the Islamabad High Court on Monday accepted District and Sessions Judge Shahrukh Arjumand's plea for the transfer of the Iddat case to another court, days after the complainant expressed a lack of confidence in the judge.

Khan and Bushra, 49, were sentenced to seven years in prison each on February 3 by a trial court for contracting the marriage during iddat, a mandatory period for a woman in Islam to wait before a second marriage after the death of her husband or divorce. The case was filed by Bushra's ex-husband, Khawar Maneka, against the couple in November 2023, alleging that they married without Bushra observing the mandatory waiting period of iddat. He asked the court to declare the marriage null and void.

The former first couple had challenged the verdict in Islamabad District and Sessions Court, where Judge Shahrukh Arjumand heard the appeals and reserved the verdict on May 23.

The couple had married in 2018, the year Khan went on to win elections and become prime minister. Bushra was ostensibly his spiritual guide, but the two developed affection for each other during their meetings. She got a divorce from her husband of 28 years, with whom she had five children.

She is the third wife of Khan, a former cricketing hero who during his heydays of sporting career, had a playboy reputation.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy met with the Philippine president on Monday in a rare Asian trip to urge regional leaders to attend a Swiss-organized global peace summit on the war in Ukraine that he accuses Russia, with China's help, of trying to undermine.

Tens of thousands of chil-dren in Afghanistan remain affected by ongoing flash floods, especially in the north and west, the UN children's agency said Monday.

Unusually heavy seasonal rains have been wreaking havoc on multiple parts of the coun-try, killing hundreds of people and destroying property and crops. The UN food agency has warned that many survivors are unable to make a living

UNICEF, the UN children's agency, said the extreme weather has all of the hallmarks of an intensifying climate crisis, with some of the affected areas hav ing experienced drought last year. The World Food Programme said the exceptionally heavy rains in Afghanistan killed more than 300 people and destroyed thousands of houses in May, mostly in the northern province of Baghlan. Survivors have been left with no homes, no land, and no source of livelihood. WFP said. UNICEF said in a statement Monday that tens of thousands of children remain affected by ongoing floods.

'The international community must redouble efforts and investments to support communities to alleviate and adapt to the impact of climate change on children," said Dr. Tajudeen Oyewale, the UNICEF representative in Afghanistan.

At the same time, "UNICEF and the humanitarian community must prepare ourselves for a new reality of climate-related disasters," Oyewale said. Afghanistan ranks 15th out of 163 nations in the Children's Climate Risk Index. This means that not only are climate and environmental shocks and stresses prominent in the country, but children are particularly vulnerable to their effects compared with elsewhere in the world.

Last week, the private group Save the Children said about 6.5 million children in Afghanistan are forecast to experience crisis levels of hunger in 2024. Nearly three out of 10 Afghan children will face crisis or emergency levels of hunger this year as the country feels the immediate impact of floods, the longterm effects of drought, and the return of Afghans from neighbouring Pakistan and Iran, the group said in a report.

S Africa's president urges parties to find common ground in talks after election deadlock

AP JOHANNESBURG

South African President Cyril Ramaphosa called on Sunday for parties to overcome their differences and find "common ground" to form the first national coalition government in the country's young democracy.

South Africa announced its final election results on Sunday, confirming that no party won a majority, and unprecedented coalition talks were starting to find a way forward for Africa's most advanced economy.

Áfrican Ramaphosa's National Congress (ANC) had already lost its 30-year majority after more than 99 per cent of votes were counted by Saturday and showed it couldn't surpass 50 per cent. The ANC received around 40 per cent of the votes in last week's election in the final count, the largest share.

Without a majority it will need to agree on a coalition with to address.

another party or parties for the first time to co-govern and reelect Ramaphosa for a second term. South Africa's national elections decide how many seats each party gets in Parliament and lawmakers elect the president later.

"Our people have spoken," Ramaphosa said. "Whether we like it or not, they have spoken. We have heard the voices of our people and we must respect their choices and their wishes."

"The people of South Africa expect their leaders to work together to meet their needs. This is a time for all of us to put South Africa first?

At least 26 political parties, including the uMkhonto weSizwe Party led by former President Jacob Zuma, have lodged objections and complaints with the electoral body over allegations of voting irregularities, which it has promised

The ANC was the party of Velson Mandela and freed South Africa from the apartheid system of white minority rule in 1994. It had governed with a comfortable majority since then. This election saw an unprecedented slump in its support, with voters seen to be deserting the party due to its failure to solve widespread poverty and extremely high unemployment levels, as well as problems with the delivery of basic government services to many in a nation of 62 million. The ANC had said earlier on Sunday that it was starting its negotiations with all major parties. More than 50 took part in the election, and at least eight had sig-nificant shares of the vote. ANC Secretary-General Fikile Mbalula said the party was open to all negotiations, even with the main opposition Democratic Alliance (DA), which has led the chorus of criticism of the ANC for years but is viewed by many analysts as the most stable coalition option for South Africa. The DA won the second most votes with around 21 per cent and the two parties would hold a majority together and be able to govern. DA leader John Steenhuisen said his party was also initiating talks with parties. The ANC won 159 seats in the 400-seat Parliament, down from the 230 it won in the last election. The DA increased slightly to 87 seats. There is some time pressure for coalition talks to progress and for the uncertainty to be minimised given South Africa's new Parliament needs to sit for the first time and elect a president within 14 days of the election results being declared. Ramaphosa is seeking a second and final term and Mbalula said his position as leader of the ANĈ was not in question despite the election result.

South plans to nullify peace deal to punish N Korea over trash balloon launches

AP SEOUL

South Korea announced Monday it'll suspend a rapprochement deal with North Korea to punish it over its launches of trash-carrying balloons, even after the North said it would halt its balloon campaign.

Over several days, North Korea flew hundreds of balloons to drop trash and manure on South Korea in an angry reaction against previous South Korean civilian leafleting campaigns. On Sunday, South Korea said it would take "unbearable" retaliatory steps in response, before North Korea abruptly announced it would stop flying balloons across the border. On Monday, South Korea's presidential national security council said it has decided to suspend a 2018 inter-Korean agreement aimed at easing frontline animosities, until mutual trust between the two Koreas is restored, according to the presidential office. The security council said the suspension would allow South Korea to resume military drills near the border with North Korea and take effective, immediate responses to provocations by North Korea. It said a proposal on the sus-pension will be introduced at the Cabinet Council on Tuesday for approval. Observers say South Korea needs the deal's suspension to restart blasting anti-Pyongyang propaganda broadcasts, K-pop songs and outside news from border loudspeakers. They say such broadcasts have previously stung in the rigidly controlled North, where most of its 26 million people are not allowed official accesses to foreign news. The 2018 agreement, reached during a brief period of reconciliation between then-liberal South Korean President Moon Jae-in and North Korean leader Kim Jong Un, require the Koreas to cease all hostile acts against each other, including propa-ganda broadcasts and leafleting campaigns. But the accord doesn't clearly state civilian leafleting should also be banned. That has allowed South Korean activists to continue to fly balloons to drop anti-Pyongyang leaflets, USB sticks with South Korean dramas and world news, and US dollars in North Korea. Enraged over such leafleting campaigns, North Korea has previously fired at incoming balloons and destroyed a South Korean-built, unoccupied inter-Korean liaison office in the North. The 2018 deal has already been in the danger of collapsing. Tension spiked after North Korea's spy satellite launch last November prompted both Koreas to take steps in breach of the accord South Korea resuming frontline aerial surveillance and North Korea restoring border guard posts. Since last Tuesday, a total of about 1,000 North Korean balloons carrying manure, cigarette butts, scraps of cloth and waste paper have been discovered in various parts of South Korea. No hazardous substances were found, according to South Korea's military. On Sunday night, Kim Kang Il, a North Korean vice defence minister, said the North would stop its balloon campaign because it left the South Koreans with "enough experience of how much unpleasant they feel". He said North Korea will fly balloons again if South Korean activists restart their own balloon activities

2 die in Germany floods; situation remains tense

Berlin (AP): The death toll in floods across a large part of southern Germany rose to two on Monday as the body of a missing woman was found. Chancellor Olaf Scholz visited the flooded region and officials warned that water levels could rise further in some areas.

The body of the 43-year-old, whom rescuers had been looking for since Sunday morning, was found in a basement in the Bavarian town of Schrobenhausen, police told German news agency dpa. A firefighter was found dead in nearby Pfaffenhofen on Sunday after an inflatable boat he and colleagues were using capsized. Persistent heavy rain led to wide

The floods caused extensive transport disruption, with long distance rail routes to Munich from the north and west out of action on Monday.

Scholz visited Reichertshofen, north of Munich, inspecting a sandbagged river bank and meeting regional officials including Markus Söder, Bavaria's governor. Söder said that the situation "remains critical and tense," with water receding in some places but new flooding and evacuations elsewhere. He noted that water levels are expected to rise in the city of Regensburg and further down the Danube. Scholz said that "this is not just one event like there have been for centuries," and that a succession of floods in recent times shows "we cannot neglect the task of halting man-

Swelling lakes in Tibet due to climate change could cause heavy losses for China: Study

Beijing (PTI): Numerous lakes in Tibet dotting the picturesque Himalayan region are set to swell with billions of tonnes of water due to increased rainfall caused by climate warming and the melting of glaciers which could cause massive economic losses for China, a study by a group of international scientists has said. By the end of the century, the surface area of some lakes in the Qinghai-Tibet Plateau could increase by more than 50 per cent with the water volume of the lakes in the plateau estimated to expand by more than 600 billion tonnes, according to the study published in the peer-reviewed journal Nature Geoscience last month. If these predictions are correct, the researchers said it could have a massive economic impact on China, running into the billions of dollars, the Hong Kong-based South China Morning Post reported on Monday, quot-ing the study's findings. "Our results suggest that by 2100, even under a low-emissions scenario, the surface area of endorheic lakes on the Tibetan Plateau will increase by over 50 per cent (around 20,000 sq km or 7,722 sq miles) and water levels will rise by around 10 metres (32 feet) relative to 2020," the study said. Endorheic lakes, also known as closed lakes, do not have an outlet to drain into. The scientists from China, Wales, Saudi Arabia, the United States and France said this would correspond to a four-fold increase in water storage compared to what the area experienced over the last 50 years.

If steps are not taken to mitigate this, "more than 1,000 km of roads, approximately 500 settlements and around 10,000 sq km of ecological components such as grasslands, wetlands and croplands," will become submerged, the study said.

Observers say that the swelling lakes and melting glaciers could also impact neighbouring coun-tries including India as Tibet is the origin of several rivers including the mighty Brahmaputra.

Upturn in exports strongest in over 13 years: PMI survey

PTI NEW DELHI

India's manufacturing sector saw a slower growth rate for the second straight month in May but staved firmly in expansion mode with global sales increasing to the greatest extent in over 13 years, a monthly survey said on Monday.

BHOPAL | TUESDAY | JUNE 4, 2024

The seasonally adjusted HSBC India Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell from 58.8 in April to 57.5 in May, signalling a slower but substantial improvement in the health of the sector. The index had climbed to a 16-year high of 59.1 in March.

In PMI parlance, a print above 50 means expansion while a score below 50 denotes contraction.

According to HSBC Global Economist Maitrevi Das, "The manufacturing sector remained in expansionary territory in May, albeit the pace... Slowed, led by a softer rise in new orders and output.

May data showed a further upturn in Indian factory production, which stretched the current sequence of expansion to nearly three years. Despite easing to a three-month low, the rate of increase remained sharp. Growth was supported by new business gains, demand strength and successful marketing efforts, the report said. New orders rose at a substantial pace that was nonetheless the slowest in three months. The rise was associated with marketing efforts, demand strength and favourable economic conditions, as per the report. Mother Dairy hikes milk prices by ₹2 per litre in NCR

Mother Dairy on Monday announced Rs 2 per litre hike in milk prices in the Delhi-NCR market due to a rise in input cost over the last 15 months

The increase in prices of all variants of milk is effective from Monday (June 3) in Delhi-NCR as well as other markets where it has a presence.

On Sunday, Amul announced an increase in rates.

Increases in milk prices by these two leading milk suppliers come just after the completion of the voting process of the Lok Sabha elections.

In a statement, Mother Dairy said it is "increasing its liquid milk prices by Rs 2 per litre across all operating markets from June 03, 2024 onwards." The increase in consumer price is mainly to compensate the producers for increased production costs, which have been on the rise for over one vear it said

In Delhi-NCR, Mother Dairy full cream milk will be available now at Rs 68 per litre, while toned and doubletoned milk at Rs 56 and Rs 50 per litre, respectively.

Buffalo and cow milk prices have been increased to Rs 72 and Rs 58 per litre respectively. Token milk (bulk vended milk) will be sold at Rs 54 per litre.

Dairy which Mother currently sells 35 lakh litre per day of fresh milk in Delhi-NCR, said it had last revised its liquid milk prices in February 2023.

"Despite paying higher prices towards milk procurement in the last few months, the consumer prices were kept intact. Moreover, the heat stress across the country has been unprecedented and it is likely to further impact milk production," Mother Dairy said. The company highlighted that it passes an average of around 75- 80 per cent of the sales realisation from milk towards its procurement. This helps in ensuring the sustenance of dairy farming and the availability of quality milk. "The surge in farm prices is only being partially passed on to the consumers, with an effective revision of 3-4 per cent, thereby securing the interests of both the milk producers and the consumers," Mother Dairy and said.

On late Sunday, the Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation (GCMMF), which markets dairy products under the Amul brand, increased milk prices by about Rs 2 per litre from Monday across the country.

The increase of Rs 2 per litre translates to 3-4 per cent increase in MRP which is much lower than average food inflation, GCMMF said in a late night statement. GCMMF said that since February 2023, it has not made any increase in prices of fresh pouch milk in major markets.

Several thousand fans were at the club's celebration spot at Cibeles square, where team captain Nacho Fernández draped the statue of the goddess Cybele with a Madrid flag and scarf

The festivities ended at a packed Bernabeu, where players addressed the fans and again presented the Champions League trophy. "Winning makes us happy, but we are even happier to be able to share moments like this with you," Ancelotti said at the stadium. "Nights like these are spectacular. This stadium is capable of generating an energy that allows us to never give up and to do things that may be unthinkable? Nearly 80,000 fans had been at the stadium on Saturday to watch the final on large screens that were put on the middle of the field. "Three weeks ago I promised that we would be back here celebrating the 15th (Champions League) title," Kroos said. Madrid had celebrated the Spanish league title three weeks ago in similar fashion, but it could not go to the Bernabeu because it had just hosted a concert.

Grigor Dimitrov vs Jannik Sinner and Carlos Alcaraz vs Stefanos Tsitsipas in French Open quarters

Grigor Dimitrov bloodied his racket-holding hand and right elbow by diving for a shot. He was covered in French Open clay - his arm, his leg, his back. He didn't get a whole lot of sleep the night before, because rain forced him to forfeit the usual day off between Grand Slam matches. None of that mattered. Here's what did: The 10th-seeded reached Dimitrov the quarterfinals at Roland Garros for the first time at age 33, beating No. 8 Hubert Hurkacz 7-6 (5), 6-4, 7-6 (3) at Court Suzanne Lenglen on Sunday. "Better late than never," said Dimitrov, who was wearing bandages on the side of his hand and arm after getting treatment. "I was just telling myself: I'm going to get to every single ball that is there," he said. "I'm like:

No ball is passing me." Dimitrov entered the day 0-2 in fourth-rounders in Paris but made it to the final eight in his 14th appearance here, giving him a full set of quarterfinals from the four Grand Slam tournaments. The Bulgarian, who will play No. 2 Jannik Sinner next, got to the semifinals once apiece at the U.S. Open, Australian Open and Wimbledon. "The French Open was the only Slam I felt like I could never make that extra step," Dimitrov said after season for Dimitrov, who won the Brisbane International in January for his first ATP title since 2017, reached the final at the Miami Open in March before losing to Sinner, and returned to the top 10 in the rankings for the first time since 2018. He wants more.

"My quest and my goal is to be able to win a Slam. I mean, if I think about it, in a way, this is the only thing that is missing in my resume," Dimitrov said in an interview before the French Open. "But this is totally and entirely my own path. My own goal. My own quest."

Dimitrov also is aware, as he put it when talking about his career, "I'm way closer to the end than the beginning."

He improved to 6-0 against Hurkacz, a friend and frequent practice partner, by withstanding the big server's 20 aces and making far fewer unforced errors, 43 vs. 28. "He definitely competed really well," said Hurkacz, who beat Roger Federer at Wimbledon in 2021 in what turned out to be the 20-time Slam champion's final match before retirement and defeated Rafael Nadal at the Italian Open last month. "He came (up) with some good shots in the important moments.

The brother-sister Indian duo of R Praggnanandhaaa and R Vaishali suffered defeats in their respective section while Magnus Carlsen justified his top billing with a win over an off-colour Ding Liren to surge to sole lead on 12 points in the Norway Chess tournament here.

Fabiano Caruana also scored over compatriot Hikaru Nakamura to help Carlsen emerge as the front runner for the crown in the six-player double round-robin contest being fought for a total prize pool of USD 161000. Pragganandhaa lost to Firouzja Alireza of France in the Armageddon tiebreaker after suffering a bit through the Classical game too while Vaishali went down to world women's champion Wenjun Ju of China who outplayed the Indian in the endgame. With four rounds still to come in both sections, Carlsen is now followed by Nakamura on 11 points while Praggnanandhaa is still third on 9.5 points in all. Alireza is on fourth spot with eight points in all and Caruana follows him with 6.5 points. Surprisingly, China's Ding Liren seems completely out of sorts with just 2.5 points thus far, needing a miracle to come back in the tournament.

In the women's section, Wenjun snatched the lead from Vaishali along with Anna Muzychuk of Ukraine who at the bottom of the tables.

PTI 📕 JAKARTA

reeping the Olympics in Kmind, star Indian shuttlers Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty will seek consistency as they gear up to defend their doubles title at the Indonesia Open Super 1000 tournament, beginning here on Tuesday.

The top seeded Indian pair, who are one of the favourites to win a gold at the Paris Olympics, have enjoyed a good run this season with four final appearances and two wins (French Open Super 750 and Thailand Open Super 500.)

But they found it a tad difficult to negotiate the variety of serves dished out by the Indonesians and Chinese at the Thomas Cup and made early exits from the All England Open and the Singapore Open last week.

Satwik and Chirag, who created history by winning India's first BWF Super 1000 title here last year, will look to address the slight drop in their level this week when they begin their campaign against Man Wei Chong and Kai Wun Tee of Malaysia.

With the Paris Games less than two months away, the Olympic-bound shuttlers will have just a couple of tournaments — Australian Open and Canada Open — to polish their skills and eliminate any lingering rust before the quadrennial extravaganza. Pressure will also be on twotime Olympic medallist PV Sindhu to build her confidence ahead of the Paris Games.

The runner-up finish in Malaysia would have boosted her morale, but the meltdown in the decider, after leading 11-3 to eventually lose the final against China's Wang Zhi Yi, is worrisome.

Wornsome. While top stars such as An Se Young, Chen Yu Fei, Akane Yamaguchi and Carolina Marin skipped the Malaysia Open, the quartet will be vying for top honours this work for top honours this week. And should Sindhu win her opening round against Wen Chi Hsu from Chinese Taipei, she would be up against familiar foe Marin, who had beaten her in the prequarterfinals last week. India's top player in men's singles HS Prannoy and Lakshya Sen will also hope for a deep run into the event to receive the ideal boost in the build-up to the Paris Games. However, it will be a tough test the Super 1000 tournament. Lakshva, who sneaked into the Olympic qualification with back-to-back finishes at French Open and All England Championships, will begin his campaign against Japan's Kanta Tsuneyama. If all goes well he will once again square off against reigning Olympic champion and top seed Viktor Axelsen in the quarterfinals. The Dane had got the better of $A^{\rm nother}_{\rm summer}$ extraordinary or another national embarrassment. No one knows quite what to expect from this Germany team heading in the European Championship.

The optimists point to the opportunity of staging another monthlong party like the one that gripped the country when it hosted the 2006 World Cup. The pessimists can point to three straight fiascos at major tournaments that has forced Germany fans to readjust their expectations of the men's soccer team.

The latest signs seem positive, though, with Germany earning impressive wins in friendlies against France and the Netherlands in March after new coach Julian Nagelsmann instigated a shakeup of the squad.

If the team can carry can carry that momentum into the group stage, expect another festive atmosphere in Germany.

"If we get off to a good start, Germany could experience a similar enthusiasm and energy to that of 2006," said Philipp Lahm, the former national team captain who is now the tournament director of Euro 2024. Many Germans still look back fondly on that summer of 2006, and there are some parallels between the two

ENGLAND HOPE TO SET TONE AGAINST SCOTLAN

eprived of ideal preparation by rain, defending champions England will hope to get their act right straightaway when they face Scotland in their T20 World Cup opener here on Tuesday.

Phil Salt will look to continue his red-hot form of the Indian Premier League in the T20 showpiece, even as pacer Jofra Archer's return adds firepower to the English bowling attack. Rain played spoilsport in the preceding four-match T20I series at home against Pakistan, but England will still enter the tournament as one of the strong contenders to lift the title for an unprecedented third time. In what will be their first ever meeting against the Scots in the shortest format, the Jos Buttler-led England will be the overwhelming favourites to emerge winners at the Kensington Oval, which offered a two-paced wicket for the game between Namibia the game between Namibia and Oman on Sunday evening. Placed in Group B, England traditional have rivals Australia, Namibia and Oman for company besides Scotland. To reach the Super Eight stage, teams will have to finish in the top two of a group. In white-ball cricket, it hasn't been smooth sailing for England since their five-wicket-victory over Pakistan in the final of the last T20 World Cup in Melbourne in 2022.

A year after their success in Australia, Buttler's men endured a disastrous campaign at the ODI World Cup in India, finishing seventh after winning three and losing six of their nine matches including a painful defeat to Afghanistan. Their poor run in the white-ball game continued with a series of defeats to West Indies in both the 50-over and 20over format. In the rain-marred rubber against Pakistan recently,

England regained some of their lost ground with a 2-0 series win Now focussed on their opener against Scotland, England have fond memories of playing at the Kensington Oval as it is at this very venue the team won its first-ever T20 World Cup title back in 2010 under Paul Collingwood's beating Australia by seven wickets in the summit before their glory Down Under two years ago.

Trumpelmann, Wiese shine as Namibia win in Super Over

PTI BRIDGETOWN (BARBADOS)

Namibia's Ruben Trumpelmann became the first player to take wickets in the first two deliveries of a T20 international as his team beat Oman via the Super Over in a thrilling T20 World Cup match here. David Wiese and skipper Gerhard Erasmus smashed 21 uns foi

Oman with 34 in 39 balls. Trumpelmann took another wicket in his second over and returned with the career-best figures of 4-21. He trapped Kashyap Prajapati leg before wicket with an inswinging yorker on the first ball of the match and then dismissed Ilyas with one that crushed onto the batter's toes.

While many thought Namibia captain Erasmus would hand the ball to Trumpelmann to bowl the Super Over, he chose the 39-year-old Wiese for his years of experience and it paid dividends.

After the nervy win, Player of the Match Wiese, who was also born in South Africa, said over eliminator with Oman managing 10 from the allotted six deliveries bowled brilliantly by the seasoned Wiese.

Asked to bat first, Oman were earlier bowled out for 109 in 19.4 overs at the Kensington Oval. In reply, Namibia were also stopped at the same team score with Jan Frylinck making 45 in 48 balls and Mehran Khan taking 3/7 to force a Super Over.

This was after Namibia's South Africa-born left-arm fast bowler Trumpelmann created history.

The 26-year-old achieved the feat when he dismissed opener Kashyap Prajapati and Ōman skipper Aqib İlyas for golden ducks on the first two balls of the match.

chase down the target of 110 until Mehran Khan (3/7) brought Oman back into the contest with his two wickets in the final over.

Rahane underlines importance of fitness, game plan as Mumbai begin off season camp

PTI MUMBAI

Mumbai skipper Ajinkya Rahane on Monday underlined the importance of working on fitness and exhorted the players of his state side to utilise the off-season training camp for getting better.

Cricket The Mumbai Association (MCA) launched the three-month long camp on the theme titled 'Home of the Champions' for the upcoming season.

Rahane, who led Mumbai to their record-extending win in the Ranji Trophy last season, said work behind the scenes is critical for players to deliver on the field.

"It will inspire many youngsters to do well for Mumbai and carry the legacy forward and do well for Mumbai in all age groups (teams)," Rahane told media. "Working on fitness and on your own game plan, because this is the time when you can actually focus on what areas you want to improve as an individual," Rahane said when asked about what kind of work he would want the players to focus on.

"Once the season starts, it is all about what the team requires from you. These 2-3 months is all about getting better as individuals in terms of fitness and skills," he added.

Rahane praised the governing body's decision to appoint former bowler Dhawal bowler Kulkarni as the bowling mentor for all teams across age groups (both men and women).

"It is a very good gesture from MCA. He has played Mumbai for so many years, he has represented India and I am sure that will be of help," he said

"He has the ability of spotting the talent from various age groups and develop them. I am sure he will find good bowlers for Mumbai and India," Rahane added. The India batter will also be playing County cricket in England to give himself matchtime during this period. "For me, it's very important to keep playing and that is what I was looking for," Rahane said, confirming that he is set for a stint with Leicestershire. "Playing matches at this stage to Leicester for County matches," he said. "For me it is all about having those matches under my belt before our domestic season starts otherwise it becomes too long a gap and you hardly get anytime to (address) whatever areas you want to improve," Rahane added. Meanwhile, addressing various age group players during the inauguration of the camp, India batter Sarfaraz Khan highlighted the importance of being focused and not give in to frustrations.

"I would get frustrated in between thinking I was not getting that opportunity (to play for India), but my father would tell me to focus on performing — to think as if ${\rm I}$ am playing for India even if I am playing Ranji Trophy and thus I would only focus on performing," he said.

is important. I will work on my fitness for a month and will go
