DELHI ON KARTAVYA PATH

Unique affair as CM on bail; Cong, AAP fight in sync

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

A sort of history will be created when the national Capital votes in the Lok Sabha elections on Friday. Firstly, the voting will occur while the Delhi Chief Minister is out on interim bail after serving 50 days in judicial custody and is set to return to Tihar Jail on June 2. Secondly, it will be for the first time that Congress and AAP have united to challenge BJP's dominance in Delhi. In the last two Lok Sabha elections — 2014 and 2019 — the BJP retained all seven seats in Delhi. So far there used to be a direct fight between the Congress and BJP with Aam Admi Party (AAP) being the third entrant but the 2024 general elections will give chance to the electorates to vote for BJP candidates or combined candidates of Congress and AAP. Interestingly AAP had dislodged the 15 years of Congress Government-led by late Sheila Dikshit on charges of corruption and the incumbent Kejriwal-led AAP Government is facing charges in multi-crore liquor scam. Since 2013, AAP has replaced Congress as a major political force in Delhi. A total of 1.52 crore voters, including 82 lakh male and 69 lakh female voters as well as 1,228

Congress will field candidates in the remaining three constituencies: Chandni Chowk, North East Delhi, and North West Delhi. The electoral battle in Delhi had its fair share of twists and turns with the BJP dropping its six out of seven sitting MPs replacing them with freshers and the INDIA constituents entering into a seat-sharing agreement. The AAP faced a major jolt with its national convener and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal being arrested by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in a money laundering case, hardly a week after announcement of the polls, on March 21. After 50 days, Kejriwal was granted an interim bail by the Supreme Court to campaign. He came out of Tihar on May 10 energising his party cadre and supporters with a whirlwind tour of the city in the road shows and public meetings in favour of not only the AAP candidates but also its ally, the Congress. The Congress also faced a revolt. Arvinder Singh Lovely resigned as Congress chief protesting the party's move to name former JNU Students' Union president Kanhaiya Kumar from North East Delhi and 'outsider' Udit Raj from North West Delhi.

third gender, are eligible to cast their votes at more than 13,000 polling booths in 2,627 places across the seven seats. The weather department has sounded a yellow alert on the polling day with maximum temperature expected around 44 degrees Celsius. The national Capital is always a battle of prestige and not numbers. Delhi has only seven parliamentary constituencies but it has high stakes. Interestingly, despite winning all seats in two consecutive parliamentary elections in 2014 and 2019, the BJP has not been able to snatch Delhi from AAP in the Assembly polls. In late February, Congress and AAP reached a seat-sharing agreement after weeks of negotiations. Under this agreement, AAP will contest in four constituencies: East Delhi, West Delhi, South Delhi, and New Delhi.

Poll preparations reach fever pitch

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

With urban apathy continuing through the first five rounds of polling, the Election Commission (EC) on Friday reminded urban voters of their right and duty to vote, urging them to break this trend despite the extreme heatwave and high humidity. Over 11.13 crore voters, including 5.29 crore women, will cast their votes for the 58 Parliamentary constituency seats in six States and Union Territories on Saturday. The commission has called upon voters to turn out in large numbers at polling stations and to vote with responsibility and pride. Voters of Parliamentary constituencies in urban centres like Delhi, Gurugram and Faridabad are specially reminded about their right and duty to vote and break the trend of urban apathy. After the five rounds of voting on May 20, the EC lamented the lower voter turnout in urban cities such as Mumbai, Thane, Jaipur, Lucknow, Chennai, Jhansi, Thiruvananthapuram, Howrah, and Madurai compared to the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, calling it urban apathy. An analysis of turnout shows that of the 409 seats where data can be compared with 2019, nearly two-thirds, or 258, have witnessed a lower percentage turnout this year and 88 (more than one in five) have seen even the absolute number of votes drop from five years ago.

The EC had noted that in the past, these cities have "suffered" from urban apathy as far as voting is concerned. On May 3 too, while referring to voter turnout in phase two, the commission had said it was "disappointed" with the turnout level in some metropolitan cities. Last month, the EC assembled many metro commissioners here to devise a strategy to combat voter apathy. Urban and youth apathy is described as a phenomenon when young voters and those living in metros fail to turn up at polling stations on the election day.

Fitness first for Chardham Yatra

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

More than 50 pilgrims have died so far since the start of the Chardham Yatra in Uttarakhand nearly a fortnight ago on May 10. Garhwal Commissioner Vinay Shankar Pandey said, "Fifty two Chardham pilgrims have died so far, mostly due to heart attacks. Most of them were above 60 years." Three devotees died in Gangotri, 12 in Yamunotri, 14 in Badrinath and 23 in Kedarnath, he said. Medical screening for devotees above 50 years of age has been made mandatory. The screening is being done en route to the Himalayan temples, and pilgrims are being advised not to travel if they are not found medically fit enough, he said. However, if they still insist on continuing the yatra, they are allowed to go further after filling up a form. Continuous efforts are being made to further improve the Chardham Yatra arrangements, he said, adding that so far nine lakh 67 thousand 302 devotees have visited the Chardham. The yatra is going on smoothly at all the four pilgrimage sites, Pandey said.

Youth offer a distinct outlook

SAUMYA SHUKLA/ SAMAR PANDEY ■ NEW DELHI

During the election season, The Pioneer spoke with youngsters from various parts of the country, who flock to the national Capital, to study at the prestigious Delhi University. Filled with hopes and aspirations, these students express concerns that surprisingly differ from those of their elders. Education, sports facilities, and rising communal tensions were the primary issues they want their Government to address. Moreover, unlike traditional responses, when asked about their favourite leaders, youngsters mentioned Minister of External Affairs S Jaishankar, Minister of Road, Transport, and Highways

Nitin Gadkari, and Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw. Ankit, a 20-year-old boy from Ramjas College, said he likes Jaishankar's personality and fearless attitude. Puja, a specially-abled 23-year-old girl from Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Varanasi constituency said while developmental projects have taken place under the BJP's rule in her hometown, she would want places to be accessible for people like her. Elaborating on the development projects, she said, "Roads have been a lot better. Kashi corridor was a really great project undertaken by Modi. The infrastructure of our primary level schools has become better and education of girls is being promoted by decreasing their fees." She also talked about steps she wants the Government, which coined the term divyang for people like her, to take and said, "I would like if our infrastructure is more accessible for people like me. We don't get good facilities in educational institutions or even roads for that matter." Two 20-year-old boys from Rajasthan's Bharatpur said they will vote for NOTA since they don't like any candidate. "I will vote for the betterment of my constituency. There is crime in my place. There are governance issues. There are no facilities for sports. In fact in a few years there will be a water crisis too," they said, adding that since they find no one working for them they will vote for NOTA. A 21-year-old Kirti, who hails from Mathura, said she has witnessed development in the constituency of actress turned politician Hema Malini. "It is likely she will be re-elected again in my hometown. However I would want more focus on opening new educational institutions in my area," she said. A Delhi voter and a law student, Arzu, 22, said she feels that when it comes to women empowerment not just the Government but society needs to work in tandem with their aspirations.

Mehbooba aiming for hat-trick in Anantnag Rajouri LS constituency

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

A high-stakes battle is on the cards in the Anantnag-Rajouri Lok Sabha constituency as Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) Chief and former Chief Minister Mehbooba Mufti is aiming for a hat-trick amid several roadblocks. She first won the seat in 2004, then for the second time in 2014, and now a decade later in 2024, she is again giving a tough fight to her rival candidates in the fray. The Jammu and Kashmir National Conference has fielded Mian Altaf Ahmad, one of the tallest Gujjar leaders, to prevent her from reaching the milestone. In a multi-corner contest on the high-profile seat, the Bharatiya Janta Party is not staying away due to the absence of their party candidate in the fray. The party is lending its support to Zaffar Iqbal Mangas (a member of the Paharia community) of Jammu and Kashmir APNI party.

In a video message posted on X (earlier Twitter), Mehbooba Mufti made a passionate appeal to the voters, "Tomorrow you all will go to vote. I request you to think before casting your vote about who has supported you in difficult times," the former Jammu and Kashmir chief minister said in a video message on X. Mehbooba Mufti said her family, her party, and she had paid a huge price for advocating the cause of the people. "Despite that, I rose above caste and religion, and raised my voice for justice and will continue to do so," she added. "By supporting me and voting for me, you will allow me to be your advocate in the Parliament and portray the issues we are facing," she added.

Ahead of the polling day, the two rival parties traded barbs. Hitting out at Mehbooba Mufti, Omar also reminded her "Mehbooba Ji is from Bijbehara, Anantnag. Doesn't

Mian Sahab have relatives in Rajouri or Kokernag? If Mian Sahab isn't from here, then please explain to me, Mehbooba Ji, when I was contesting my second parliament election from Srinagar, and you were my rival candidate, how were you considered local then and Mian Sahab is not now? "Can you accuse him of taking a single penny as a bribe, abus-ing anyone, or taking anyone's land or job? Wherever Mian Sahab has served, he has done so with dedication to the people" JKNC Vice President OmarAbdullah said at Noorabad on Thursday. Over 18.36 lakh voters will decide the fate of 20 candidates on May 25. The constituency was originally going to polls on May 7. Still, it was deferred by the Election Commission of India at the request of BJP and other parties, to May 25 citing inclement weather conditions. Meanwhile, elaborate security arrangements have been made to ensure incident-free and peaceful polling across 18 Assembly segments spread between five districts, three in the Kashmir valley and two in the Jammu region. Of 18 assembly segments — 11 fall in Kashmir's Anantnag, Kulgam, and Shopian districts, and seven in Jammu's Poonch and Rajouri districts across the mighty Pir Panjal range. The ECI has set up 2,338 polling stations across the Anantnag-Rajouri Parliamentary Constituency. South Kashmir used to be an erstwhile bastion of PDP.

Before launching his own regional political party, Mufti Mohd Sayeed won the 1998 Lok Sabha polls from Anantnag. Between 1967 - 1977 Mohd Shafi Qureshi of the congress party retained the seat for three consecutive terms. Begum Akbar Jahan Abdullah won the seat in 1984. A Kashmiri Pandit Piyare Lal Handoo won the seat on JKNC ticket in 1989. Mohd Maqbool Dar won the seat on Janta Dal ticket in 1996. The NC won the seat in 1999, 2009 and 2019, PDP emerged winner in 2004 and 2014. In the last Lok Sabha election, the Anantnag Lok Sabha constituency had recorded a low voter turn of 9 percent voting while the Rajouri-Poonch area, which was part of Jammu Lok Sabha seat, recorded over 72 percent voting. In 2014, the Anantnag Lok Sabha seat saw a turnout of 28 percent. While the polls in Baramulla and Srinagar were peaceful, authorities have a security challenge in the Anantnag-Rajouri Lok Sabha constituency. Last week terrorists carried out two back-to-back attacks in south Kashmir in which a former sarpanch associated with the BJP was shot dead and a tourist couple was wounded in a separate attack. While the terrorist-related violence and law and order situations have reached their lowest ebb in Kashmir after August 5, 2019 — the day when J&K's special status was abrogated — the terrorist handlers have spread the arc of terror towards the Pir Panjal districts of the Poonch-Rajouri. The last few years have witnessed a series of deadly attacks on the Army in the twin districts of Poonch-Rajouri that left several soldiers dead. Three weeks back, on May 4, foreign terrorists killed an IAF official and injured four others in a brazen attack in Poonch before vanishing into the forests.

FTII student film bags La Cinef award at Cannes Festival

T N RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a historic moment for Indian cinema, "Sunflowers were the first to know" -- a course-end film made by Chidanand Naik, a student of Film and Television Institute of India (FTII) based on a Karnataka folklore -- has bagged the coveted La Cinef Award at 77th Cannes Film Festival. An announcement about "Sunflowers were the first to know" winning the coveted award was made at the Cannes Film Festival where the student Director Chidanand Naik received the award on Friday. The award-winning film has been directed by Chidananda S Naik, who is a doctor-turned-filmmaker from Mysuru in Karnataka. It has been shot by Suraj Thakur and edited by Manoj V. Abhishek Kadam has provided sound to the film. These students had worked on the film as part of their final year coordinated exercise and passed out from the FTII in 2023. "Sunflowers were the first to know" is a story of an elderly woman who steals the village's rooster, which throws the community into disarray. To bring the rooster back, a prophecy is invoked, sending the old lady's family into exile. This is the first time a film by a student from a 1-year Television course of FTII has been selected and won at the prestigious Cannes Film Festival. Before joining FTII in 2022, Chidanand S Naik was also selected as one of the 75 Creative Minds at 53rd International Film Festival of India (IFFI), an initiative of the Ministry of I & B to recognize and support budding young artists in the field of Cinema. "La Cinef" is an official section of the festival aimed at encouraging new talents and recognising films from film schools across the world. The award-winning film was among 18 short films (14 live-action and 4 animated films) chosen from a total of 2,263 films submitted by 555 film schools all over the world.

Bengal braces up for phase VI polls today amid tense air

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Bengal on Saturday would go to sixth phase of elections for eight parliamentary seats — in five districts — where about 1.45 voters would elect their future legislators from 79 candidates. The Lok Sabha seats that are going to polls on Saturday are Ghatol, Midnapore, Jhargram, Bankura, Bishnupur and Purulia, all situated in three jangalmahal districts of West Midnapore, Bankura and Purulia. The other two seats are Tamulak and Kanthi in East Midnapore district, which is also considered to be the home turf of State Opposition Leader Suwendu Adhikari. The sixth phase is likely to decide much of Bengal's political trajectory considering the fact that opposition BJP presently holds five out of the eight seats where polls would be held. Much would depend upon the saffron outfit's performance in these seats, experts say. Among the notable people who are contesting in the sixth phase are retired Justice Abjihit Gangu'li from Tamluk. He is pitted against Debangshu Bhattacharya of Trinamool Congress and Sayan Banerjee of CPI(M). In the neighbouring Kanthi constituency Suwendu Adhikari the younger brother of Suwendu Adhikari is contesting on BJP ticket. He is pitted against TMC's Uttam Barik and Congress' Urbashi Bhattacharya.

In 2019 the seat was won by Sisir Adhikari the father of Suwendu Adhikari on a TMC ticket. Later he switched over to the BJP. In neighbouring Ghatol seat TMC's sitting MP Dipak Adhikari or Deb the Bengali superstar is contesting against the BJP's Hiranmay Chattopadhyay also a film star and Congress' Papiya Chakrabarty. From Midnapore from where sitting BJP MP Dilip Ghosh was shifted to Burdwan-Durgapur seat, BJP's Agnimitra Paul is taking on TMC's June Maliya an actress and CPI's Biplab Bhatta. In neighbouring Jhargram, seat BJP's Pranat Tudu is fighting against TMC's Kalipada Soren and CPI(M)'s Sonamani Tudu. The seat was won by the BJP in 2019. Further west BJP's sitting MP Soumitra Khan is contesting against his estranged wife and TMC candidate Sujata Khan from Bishnupur. Both are pitted against CPI(M)'s Shital Kaibartya. From Bankura BJP MP Dr Subhas Sarkar is taking on local TMC strongman Arup Chakrabarty and CPI(M)'s Nilajan Dasgupta an advocate. From Purulia bordering Jharkhand, TMC's Shantiram Mahato is pitted against sitting BJP MP Jyotirmoy Singh Mahato. They are taking on Congress' Nepal Mahato who has the backing of the CPI(M). Interestingly, Left Front constituent Forward Bloc has fielded a separate candidate from this constituency dimming the chances of the Congress.

Mamata slams PM Modi

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ KOLKATA

Continuing her tirade against Narendra Modi for calling himself a person chosen by the God, Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Friday said facing an imminent defeat the Prime Minister was making all kinds of statements that were devoid of any sense. In an apparent reference to a recent interview given by the Prime Minister she sarcastically said, "he is now telling that he is the son of God who does not have any biological parents like us ... but my question is whether God provokes riots and sends people to jail by invoking National Register of Citizens." Banerjee was addressing an election rally at Mathurapur bordering Sunderbans in South 24 Parganas district. Asking whether the God would stop funds meant for the poor people under 100-days work scheme or whether the God would go back on his promise of depositing Rs 15 lakhs in people's accounts. She also took a jab at the BJP leader for allowing his party men to call Lord Jagannath the devotee of the Prime Minister. Apparently she was referring to a statement from Odisha BJP leader Sambit Patra who had in a reported "slip of tongue" said that the Lord was a Bhakta or devotee of the Prime Minister. He however apologized and corrected himself subsequently.

Ensure well being of Indian students in Kyrgyzstan: JK Students' association to EAM

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

A students' association of Jammu and Kashmir on Friday wrote to External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and requested that "proactive measures" be taken immediately to ensure well-being of the Indian students in Kyrgyzstan. This comes days after mobs targeted the foreigners in capital city Bishkek triggering concerns about their safety. Jammu and Kashmir Students Association in its letter also said that students from the Kashmir Valley studying there are "waiting to return to their homeland" after the incident. Meanwhile, the Indian Embassy in Kyrgyz Republic on Friday said the situation in Bishkek "continues to remain calm". "However, upon request of Indian medical students, the Embassy is working with Medical Universities in the Kyrgyz Republic to arrange for their transport to the nearest international airport to address their concerns," it posted on X. Ambassador Arun K Chatterjee had met the Indian medical students at International Higher School of Medicine (IHSM) in Bishkek on May 22 and as part of its outreach activity, some embassy officials had also met with various Indian medical students at Royal Metropolitan University. Jammu and Kashmir

Students Association in its letter said several Kashmiri students and their parents have "reached out to us, expressing their fear and anxiety following a series of troubling events". The Indian students, particularly those from Kashmir in Kyrgyzstan's capital city, Bishkek, were "caught unaware of the mob violence" and are "desperate to return home", it said. "Given the gravity of the situation and the urgency of ensuring the safety and well-being of our fellow citizens, we earnestly request the Ministry of External Affairs to take immediate steps to facilitate the evacuation of Indian students stranded in Kyrgyzstan. Their safe return home should be a priority to prevent any further distress or potential harm," the letter said. "We trust in the prompt and decisive action of the Ministry in safeguarding the interests and security of Indian citizens in Kyrgyzstan. We request that proactive measures be taken immediately to ensure the well-being of these students," it added. The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) should "collaborate closely" with the respective government and diplomatic mission to "facilitate the safe passage of Indian students out of harm's way", the association said. "Your swift intervention in this matter will be greatly appreciated by the students, their families, and the students' body," it added.

Dombivli chemical factory blast toll rises to 13

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

The toll in the Dombivli chemical unit multiple blasts rose to 13 on Friday, even as the police arrested two absconding owner-directors of M/s Amudan Chemicals Pvt Ltd and booked a case against them for culpable homicide not amounting to murder and other various other offences.

Stepfather sentenced to death for killing actress Laila Khan

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

More than 13 years after actress-model Laila Khan and her five family members were brutally killed and buried in a farmhouse at Igatpuri in Nashik district, a Mumbai court on Friday handed out capital punishment to her stepfather Parvez Ahmad Tak, a resident of Jammu & Kashmir with alleged Lashkar-e-Taiba links. Having held him guilty of killing his step-daughter and actress Laila Khan, her mother, three siblings, and a cousin sister in February 2011, Additional Sessions Judge S B Pawar awarded the death sentence to Tak on Friday. Tak was the third husband of Selina Patel, Laila's mother, and has been found guilty of the ghastly six murders, destruction of evidence, and other offences.

DELHI ON KARTAVYA...

From Page 1 BJP is banking on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's charisma and works done by the Modi Government including national security. It has also focused on corruption charges against Kejriwal and minority appeasement issues while both AAP and the Congress have focused on dictatorship of Modi and misuse of ED, CBI against Opposition leaders. The entire election in Delhi is focused between two personalities—Modi vs Kejriwal. AAP has fielded Kuldeep Kumar from East Delhi seat, Mahabab Mishra from West Delhi, Somnath Bharti from New Delhi and Sahi Ram Palhalwan from South Delhi. The Congress has fielded JP Agarwal from Chandni Chowk, Kanhaiya Kumar from North East Delhi and Udit Raj from North West Delhi constituency. BJP candidates include Manoj Tiwari from North East Delhi, the only sitting MP from Delhi fielded by the party again; Ramvir Singh Bidhuri from South Delhi, Bansuri Swaraj from New Delhi, Harsh Deep Malhotra from East Delhi, Yogendra Chandolia from North West Delhi, Praveen Khandelwal from Chandni Chowk and Kamaljeet Sehrawat from West Delhi. The BJP has fielded two women candidates in the national Capital. Campaigners included Modi, BJP chief JP Nadda, Union Ministers Amit Shah, Rajnath

Singh, Nitin Gadkari, Piyush Goyal among others; Chief Ministers of BJP ruled States including Yogi Adityanath of UP, Himanta Biswa Sarma of Assam, Pushkar Singh Dhami of Uttarakhand, Pramod Sawant of Goa and Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis among others. Congress leader Rahul Gandhi held three public meetings for the party candidates. Besides, Kejriwal and his wife Sunita Kejriwal, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann and Delhi government ministers Atishi, Saurabh Bharadwaj, Gopal Rai, Kailash Gahlot also campaigned for the AAP candidates. Several dignitaries and eminent personalities, including President of India Droupadi Murmu, Congress leaders Sonia Gandhi and Rahul, Kejriwal and Union Minister Hardeep Singh Puri are also voters of the city. With 13,637 and four auxiliary -- including 2,891 critical -- polling stations in Delhi, 70 pink booths will also be set up, which will be handled by women officials only. Along with this, 70 model polling booths have been set up. The maximum number of voters is in the West Delhi seat at 25.87 lakh followed by West Delhi seat (25.67 lakh), North East Delhi seat (24.63 lakh), South Delhi seat (22.91 lakh), East Delhi seat (21.20 lakh), Chandni Chowk seat (16.45 lakh) and New Delhi seat (15.25 lakh).

Youth offer a distinct...

From Page 1 "As a woman I think while our society wants us to pursue our studies and work keeping us at par with men, the burden of home falls on us alone. We are pressured to marry early," she shared. Explaining what her issues are, she said, "The issues for me this election will be lack of infrastructure when it comes to our legal system and in education too. I think if we build more courts and have more vacancies, so many lawyers and advocates can get jobs. A resident of North West Delhi's Kirari, she said she will vote for Congress and INDIA Bloc in her constituency Rituraj, a 22-year-old student of Faculty of Law College, vociferously questioned why developmental projects haven't taken place in Bihar from where 39 MPs were voted to power in 2019 to BJP-led NDA Government. He said, "I believe that even though BJP-led NDA went on to secure 39 seats in Bihar, developmental projects in the State weren't focused upon. Even Gujarat doesn't give so many seats to them and yet nobody works for Bihar. There are migrant workers from Bihar in Gujarat. We are facing a brain drain in our State. We need a leader from Bihar who can understand our problems and work on them at a fast pace." "However, we have to choose the best from the worst. First of all, even though Tejashwi Yadav has taken over, his father is still there. They still do caste politics. The JD(U) and NDA Government has done some good work. For example, my mother benefitted from the loan women self help groups get with no interest for work. Toilets installed by the Government to make India open defecation free was an important initiative. The EWS scheme has made the lives of general people like me a bit better. I come from the Bhumihar caste and even though they belong to the general caste, the census done in Bihar shows that they are among the most poor. The NDA Government was bringing the farm laws which I believe would have been helpful to the farmers of Bihar since we don't have mandis like the one in Punjab but then they took it back," he said while talking about who he will consider to vote for. Shreya, a 20-year-old native of Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath's Gorakhpur constituency, said, "Developmental projects did take place in Gorakhpur after the Yogi Government came into power. AIMS was opened in my hometown. In regard to women safety, we were given counselling about which places we can find help from the police. They impose curfews also to maintain law and order from time to time at night." Further, she expressed her concerns about rising communal tensions and said, "I think privatisation affects the working force in the government sector. My parents are in Government services. I also feel that politics based on Hindu Muslim should be contained. Communalism in the country has gone up I believe." She said, "It has gone up everywhere, not just there. However, not a lot of people might know but the hospital in the name of Yogi's father provides free treatment to Muslims." Anamika, a 23-year-old student who hails from Kerala, also expressed similar concerns and said, "I want a Government which doesn't favour a particular group and alienates others. I believe our focus is too much on Hindutva and religion. More push should be given to development." "At the present moment, I see Congress and the INDIA Bloc winning in my State. I like Rahul Gandhi but I think he is good in principle albeit I am not sure if he is a good leader," she stated. Arayan, 18, who studies in Hindu College, said unemployment is an issue. "I hail from Uttarakhand so I don't see much development there. Facilities in sports are not much there which demotivates the youth to participate in it," he shared.

Poll preparations reach fever...

From Page 1 Besides urban apathy, heatwave in poll bound States and UTs are major concerns to the authorities to improve voter turnout. According to the weather department, the maximum temperature is expected to be around 44 to 45 degrees Celsius which is likely to give feelings of over 50-52 degrees Celsius. In a statement issued on Friday, the poll panel said the India Meteorological Department has predicted "no adverse impact" of cyclone in poll-going constituencies. But it gave no details. Polling for the Anantnag-Rajouri seat in Jammu and Kashmir will also be held on Saturday. The election there was postponed from phase three to six due to logistical issues owing to adverse weather conditions. Among the key contestants are Dharmendra Pradhan (BJP) from Sambalpur (Odisha), Manoj Tiwari (BJP) and Kanhaiya Kumar (Congress) from North East Delhi, Bansuri Swaraj from New Delhi, Maneka Gandhi (BJP) from Sultapur (Uttar Pradesh), Mehbooba Mufti (PDP) from Anantnag-Rajouri (Jammu & Kashmir), Abhijit Gangopadhyay (BJP) from Tamluk (West Bengal), and BJP's Manohar Lal Khattar (Karnal, Haryana), Naveen Jindal (Kurukshetra) Raj Babbar (Gurugram) Dinesh Lal Yadav alias Nirahua (Azamgarh) and Rao Inderjit Singh (Gurgaon). So far, polling has been completed in 428 constituencies across 25 States and Union Territories. Phase V witnessed a voter turnout of approximately 62.19 per cent. In the corresponding phase during the 2019 polls, a voter turnout of 64.16 per cent was recorded as 51 seats across seven States went to the polls. The Congress did not win even one of these 58 seats in the 2019 elections. In contrast, the BJP's stakes are high as it had won 40, securing a vote share of more than 40 per cent on 47 seats in the last elections. This clearly shows Congress doesn't have any strongholds in this phase. What makes this phase particularly interesting is that all seven seats in Delhi and all the 10 seats in Haryana will go to polls. Of the 58 Parliamentary constituencies, the BJP has a stronghold in five, Biju Janata Dal on four, and Trinamool Congress on two. The BJP is a strong contender in 30 seats. This means the party won the seat at least twice in the last three elections. There are six seats where the victory margin was more than 35 per cent in the 2019 election, and the BJP won all of them. The other four seats with less than one per cent victory margin in the last election are Shrawasti in UP, Rohtak in Haryana, Sambalpur in Odisha, and Jhargram in West Bengal. In West Bengal, voting will be held in the tribal belt Jangalmahal region, spanning five districts. A hotspot for identity politics, the region sends eight representatives to Lok Sabha from Tamluk, Kanthi, Ghatol, Jhargram, Medinipur, Purulia, Bankura, and Bishnupur seats. Out of the eight seats, the BJP won five and TMC bagged three in the 2019 polls. The seats going to the polls in Uttar Pradesh are Sultanpur, Pratapgarh, Phulpur, Allahabad, Ambedkar Nagar, Shrawasti, Domariyaganj, Basti, Sant Kabir Nagar, Lalganj, Azamgarh, Jaunpur, Machhlishahr and Bhadohi. From Sultanpur, BJP candidate Maneka Gandhi is seeking her ninth entry into the Lok Sabha. The former Union Minister is up against the Samajwadi Party's Ram Bhuwal Nishad and the Bahujan Samaj Party's (BSP) Uday Raj Verma. In Azamgarh, incumbent MP Dinesh Lal Yadav Nirahua will be hoping to retain the seat for the BJP against the Samajwadi Party's Dharmendra Yadav. Jaunpur will witness former Maharashtra Minister Kripashankar Singh of the BJP taking on Samajwadi Party candidate Babu Singh Khushwaha and the incumbent MP Shyam Singh Yadav of the BSP.

PM admitted excise policy scam fake, claims Kejriwal

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Friday claimed that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has admitted that the alleged excise policy linked money laundering scam 'is completely fake' while the ED and CBI have no evidence of the scam.

The AAP chief made this disclosure citing the statement given by the Prime Minister in an interview on Thursday where he called him an 'experienced thief'. He said, "In the interview, Prime Minister Modi admitted in front of the whole country that the liquor scam is fake, and no evidence has been found in it. He has said that no evidence was found because Kejriwal is 'an experienced thief'."

He asked whether ED and CBI officers are useless. "The truth is that Modi is making this an excuse that Kejriwal is an experienced thief to justify my wrong arrest. I appeal to the Prime Minister that when you have already admitted that the liquor scam is fake and there is no recovery, then release all the people arrested in this case," he stated.

AAP Convenor said, "For the last two years, they have been making noise that there is a liquor scam in Delhi. They arrested me, Sanjay Singh, Manish Sisodia, and conducted more than 500 raids all over the country. Don't know how many more people they arrested. They say that we took a bribe of Rs 100 crores, and just a few days ago, they said that there is a scam of Rs 1100 crores. A big question arises that if there is a scam of Rs 100 crores or Rs 1100 crores, then the money must be kept somewhere. They conducted more than 500 raids; they did not find a single penny anywhere. We must have spent (that money) somewhere," adding that they conducted so many raids but did not find any account of the expenditure.

Claiming that the PM Modi accepted that they have no evidence against him, Kejriwal said, "The Prime Minister said that the reason why no evidence was found, no recovery was made, no money was recovered is because Kejriwal is an experienced thief. So yesterday, the Prime Minister admitted in front of the whole country that he has no evidence in the liquor scam, not even a penny was recovered."

"So, your entire CBI is useless, all your ED officers are useless. That is just an excuse to justify his wrongful arrest that Kejriwal is an experienced thief. But yesterday the Prime Minister himself admitted in front of the whole country that he has no evidence, there is no recovery. Prime Minister, when you have already admitted that the entire liquor scam is fake, you have no evidence, there is no recovery, then release everyone," reasoned Kejriwal.

LS poll: 131 roadshows, rallies took place in Capital

SAUMYA SHUKLA ■ NEW DELHI

A total of 131 roadshows and rallies happened in the national Capital with stars like Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath and BJP Chief JP Nadda descending in a high voltage election campaign. As the city votes to decide their MPs on Saturday, Delhi BJP President Virendra Sachdeva and seven BJP candidates on Friday shared their experiences of the entire 84 days of election campaign. All seven candidates of BJP including South Delhi's

Ramvir Singh Bidhuri, North East Delhi's Manoj Tiwari, East Delhi's Harsh Malhotra, West Delhi's Kamaljit Sehrawat, Northwest Delhi's Yogendra Chandolia, New Delhi's Bansuri Swaraj and Chandni Chowk's Praveen Khandelwal shared their experiences and stated that they are sure of a consecutive win for the third time because people have belief in the Prime Minister. Delhi will vote on Saturday to decide the fate of the candidates in the fray. Sachdeva while sharing his experiences of election rallies said, "By winning for the third time in Delhi, the BJP is going to make Prime Minister Narendra Modi the Prime Minister. When the national leadership within the BJP met the people of Delhi, they too received a lot of love from the people of Delhi."

Tiwari, who is vying for a third term, said, "Arvind Kejriwal and his leaders constantly tried to spread lies and bad propaganda about the BJP, but the people of Delhi have understood what the truth is."

Bidhuri said that this time everyone has made up their mind to vote for Prime Minister Narendra Modi to make him secure a win the third time while Malhotra stated that this election is an election to secure the borders of the country.

Sehrawat said, "This election is to make Prime Minister Modi win who brought Wing Commander Abhinandan back home and this is being said by rickshaw pullers which is a witness to the fact that even rickshaw pullers have faith in our country and our leadership." Chandolia said that people are so worried about ration cards since seven lakh people's cards have not been made till now by the Delhi government.

LG appeals city voters to exercise their franchise

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

On the eve of Lok Sabha polls in the national capital, Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena reminded Delhiites that Saturday is a "day of duty" and not a holiday, and urged voters to exercise their franchise.

In a video message, Saxena advised people to cast their votes early in the morning in view of the prevailing intense summer heat in the city.

Votes for the seven Lok Sabha seats in Delhi will be cast from 7 am to 6 pm on Saturday.

"We are going to celebrate the festival of democracy on May 25. Festivals like Holi, Diwali, Eid, Christmas come every year, but this biggest poll festival comes only once in five years," said the LG in his message. He dubbed the Lok Sabha polls a "golden opportunity for the people to decide the future direction of the country and shape the country socio-economically, politically as per their wish."

There are 1.52 crore valid voters in Delhi, including 82 lakh male, 69 lakh female and 1,228 third gender voters.

"I appeal to all of you to participate enthusiastically in the festival of voting for formation of a government that is strong and performing," said the LG.

LS picks meet with party workers, strategise on poll day eve

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

With a day to go before the Lok Sabha elections in Delhi, the candidates spent their time with their families, seeking blessings from God and planning booth management for the D-Day. The campaigning for the polls ended on Thursday evening. The AAP candidate from West Delhi parliamentary constituency, Mahabal Mishra, began his day by playing carrom board with his grandchildren.

"His grandchildren are having summer vacations, so he spent time with them. Then, he had breakfast with his family members, including his sons-in-laws and others who were also involved in campaigning. Then he proceeded to the war room and appreciated and thanked the volunteers. He also had 'dahi-chooda' with party workers and strategised on preparations for May 25. Throughout the day, he will be meeting party workers at his residence," his grandchild Ayush Mishra said. Similarly, the AAP candidate from South Delhi, Sahi Ram Pahalwan, said he spent one hour in the morning with his family and then left to meet the volunteers to discuss booth management. "Even the volunteers are a part of our family and they have been working hard giving their blood and sweat for the campaigning," he added. His opponent Ramvir Singh Bidhuri spent his time in meeting booth workers to plan management for the highly anticipated D-day.

The AAP candidate from New Delhi, Somnath Bharti, unwound himself after a hectic campaign by playing tennis in the morning, having tea with his family and then paying obeisance at a gurdwara and Valmiki temple. "I will take my children out since I have not been able to give them time. Throughout the day, booth management discussions will also be going on," he added.

MEA serves show-cause notice to Revanna

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) has served a show-cause notice to suspended JD(S) MP Prajwal Revanna asking why his diplomatic passport should not be cancelled as sought by the Karnataka government in view of allegations of sexual abuse against him, it was learnt here on Friday. Official sources on Thursday had said the MEA is processing the Karnataka government's request to cancel Prajwal's diplomatic passport. Currently, he is believed to be in Germany. The show-cause notice has been served on Prajwal as part of the process initiated to cancel his passport, they said. It is learnt that the show-cause notice was served through email. Prajwal, the grandson of former prime minister H D Deve Gowda, is at the centre of a mass sexual abuse case and the Hassan MP left India on April 27, a day after voting for the Lok Sabha elections took place in his constituency. The MEA is undertaking the process to cancel Prajwal's diplomatic passport under the provisions of the Passports Act of 1967 as well as related regulations, sources said. If the passport is cancelled, then Prajwal's stay abroad will be illegal and he may face legal action by concerned authorities in the country he is staying, a person familiar with the matter said.

On Wednesday, Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah wrote a second letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi urging him to take "prompt and necessary" actions to cancel Prajwal's diplomatic passport. The chief minister sent a similar letter to the prime minister on May 1. The Special Investigation Team (SIT) set up by the Karnataka government to probe the sexual abuse charges against Prajwal wrote the MEA to cancel his diplomatic passport after an arrest warrant was issued against him by a local court. A 'Blue Corner Notice' seeking information on Revanna's whereabouts has already been issued by the Interpol following a request by the SIT. Earlier this month, MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said Prajwal travelled to Germany on a diplomatic passport and he did not seek political clearance for the trip. "No political clearance was either sought from or issued by MEA in respect of the travel of the said MP to Germany," Jaiswal had said. "Obviously, no visa note was issued either. No visa is required for diplomatic passport holders to travel to Germany. The Ministry has not issued visa note for any other country," the MEA spokesperson said.

On Friday, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar also addressed questions about Revanna's diplomatic passport cancellation while speaking to the media. "MEA got this request from the Karnataka Government only on the 21st of May. People were saying a lot of things to the press. I don't know how other governments/state governments function. We in MEA at least function as per the law," he said. Incidentally, Janata Dal Secular (JDS) supremo H D Deve Gowda on Thursday issued a stern warning to his grandson Prajwal Revanna, asking him to return to India, surrender to the police or face his wrath. He also said he should be given the harshest punishment if the accusations against him turn out to be true.

India's growing weight will ensure overall global balance remains in favour of freedom, openness: EAM Jaishankar

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India's growing weight will ensure that the overall balance in the world order remains in favour of freedom, openness, transparency and a rules-based order, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said on Friday. In a virtual address at the Nikkei Asia Future of Asia Forum, he said the challenge of supply chain and the use of economic coercion by states have put a premium on resilience, in comments that came amid China's attempt to become an economic hegemon. Jaishankar said the world is undergoing a flux, driven by geopolitical, geo-economic and geo-technological developments and that the global order today is visibly under stress, with Asia and the Indo-Pacific very much part of this transformation. "But it is not just change we are seeing; there is also much greater risk-taking. It is visible in the conflict in Ukraine, in violence in the Middle East and the disregard for international law and agreements in Asia and the Indo-Pacific," he said. This has economic facets, perhaps even more concerning. The supply chain challenge, over-concentrations stemming from globalization and the use of economic coercion by states have put a premium on resilience and redundancy," he said. The minister said equally important is the technology challenge that has created a new level of inter-penetration and interdependence. "As a result, the era of AI, EVs (electric vehicles), green and clean technologies have brought both hope and anxiety in equal measure. "As both market shares and data harnessing are leveraged, national security has become crucial to many economic transactions," he said. Jaishankar said the transformation of India is critical to strengthening multipolarity in Asia itself, which is a prerequisite for a multipolar world. "India's growing weight will ensure that the overall balance in the world order remains in favour of freedom, openness, transparency and a rules-based order," he said. "Equally, its greater sense of responsibility and more contributions are also making a difference. Indian naval ships are currently operating in the Red Sea to protect maritime shipping," he noted. "India has been a First Responder for natural disasters across the Indian Ocean, sometimes even beyond. Its initiatives ranging from solar energy to disaster resilience and bio-diversity have been recognised across the world," he said.

India would have progressed at much faster pace had borders been more secure: NSA Doval

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

National Security Advisor (NSA) Ajit Doval said here on Friday India would have progressed at a much faster pace if its borders had been more secure, defined and not in "adversarial disposition." He also underlined that the country's power has grown immensely in the last 10 years. Delivering the Rustamji Memorial Lecture organised by the Border Security Force (BSF) on its 21st investiture ceremony, Doval said India's economic progress would have been much faster if "we had more secure borders." "In the foreseeable future, I don't think our borders are going to be as secure as we will require for our fast economic growth. So, the responsibility on border guarding forces has become very, very heavy. They have got to remain on alert 24x7 in perpetuity. They have got to see that our national interests and country are protected," he said. Borders are important because that is the limit which "defines our sovereignty", he said. "Jameen par jo kabja hai wo apna hai, baki to sab adalat aur kachehri ka kaam hai, usse farak nahi padta (The land which is in our possession is ours, the rest is the matter of courts and that is immaterial)," Doval said.

The government has paid very, very high attention to border security during the last 10 years, a period in which "our comprehensive national power has grown immensely," Doval said on Friday. The NSA said India is changing very fast and, in the next 10 years, "we will be a USD 10 trillion economy and the third largest economy" that he called a "major achievement". He said India will have one of the largest workforces and be a hub of high-technology artificial intelligence, semiconductors, quantum computing and various other areas of defence and security manufacturing. The country, which was an importer of arms, exported USD 2.5 billion worth of arms until March 31, emerging as a big exporter because of the government's policy of self-reliance and Atmanirbhar Bharat, Doval said. In this changing India, prosperity guarantees security to some extent and increases vulnerability in much larger areas, he said.

Army Chief exhorts NDA cadets to further spirit of jointness

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Army chief General Manoj Pande on Friday exhorted National Defence Academy (NDA) cadets to further the spirit of jointness as they grow in service and also emphasised about the revolution in military affairs which are mostly driven by technology. He made this assertion while reviewing the Passing Out Parade of 146th Course of National Defence Academy at Khetarpal Parade Ground, NDA, Khadakwasla. A total of 1,265 cadets participated in the parade of which 337 cadets were from the passing out Course. This included 199 Army Cadets, 38 Naval Cadets and 100 Air Force cadets including 19 cadets from Friendly Foreign Countries including Bhutan, Tajikistan, Afghanistan, Sri Lanka, Myanmar and Maldives. A contingent of 24 female cadets, presently in their third and fourth term of training also took part in the parade. Known as the cradle of military leadership, the NDA is the country's premier Joint Services Training Institution. The 146th course was inducted in June 2021 and after completion of three years of rigorous military training the cadets passed out in a grand ceremonial event. The cadets will now join their respective Pre-Commissioning Training Academics.

AMR infections threatening millions of lives globally: Study

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Antimicrobial resistance (AMR) threatens millions of lives annually, with bacterial infections claiming one in every eight global deaths, said a study published in The Lancet, painting a grim picture of a world where 50 lakh lives are lost each year due to bacteria resistant to antibiotics. It said up to 7.5 lakh AMR-related deaths annually in low middle income countries could be prevented by improving infection prevention measures, including hand hygiene, sanitation, and vaccination, said the authors and have called for support in providing sustainable access to antibiotics to be central to ambitious and actionable targets for tackling AMR. "Access to effective antibiotics is essential to patients worldwide. A failure to provide these antibiotics puts us at risk for not meeting the UN sustainable development goals on child survival and health ageing," said series co-author, Iruka Okeke of the University of Ibadan, Nigeria. Okeke said that effective antibiotics prolong lives, reduce disabilities, limit healthcare costs and enable other life-saving medical actions such as surgery. "However, antimicrobial resistance is on the rise - accelerated by inappropriate use of antibiotics during the COVID-19 pandemic - threatening the backbone of modern medicine and already leading to deaths and disease which would have once been preventable," said Okeke. Existing infection prevention methods can prevent AMR-associated deaths, according to modelling analysis undertaken for putting together the series of papers. Up to 3.37 lakh deaths a year could be saved by improving infection prevention and control in healthcare facilities while around 2.5 lakh deaths could be avoided yearly by providing universal access to safe drinking water and effective sanitation in community settings. Further, 1.82 lakh deaths a year could be saved by expanding the rollout of some paediatric vaccines, such as pneumococcal vaccines which help protect against pneumonia and meningitis, along with introducing new ones, such as RSV vaccines for pregnant women, the researchers found. "Our findings highlight how public health actions to prevent infections in the first place should be prioritised as a strategy to tackle AMR as these methods have the potential to drastically reduce the number of deaths from AMR-associated infections," said co-author Yewande Alimi of Africa Centres for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Polling in Haryana for 10 LS seats today; former CM Khattar, Union Ministers in fray

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH
Polling in the 10 Lok Sabha constituencies in Haryana and for the Karnal assembly bypoll will be held on Saturday that will decide the fate of 223 candidates, including big guns like former chief minister Manohar Lal Khattar and Congress' Kumari Selja. A total of 223 candidates — 207 men and 16 women — are in the fray in the sixth phase of the Lok Sabha polls and more than 2 crore people are eligible to vote in the state. Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini is contesting the Karnal byelection. Voting will be held from 7 am to 6 pm.

The BJP had won all 10 Lok Sabha seats in Haryana in the 2019 general elections. For the Lok Sabha elections, Union ministers Rao Inderjit Singh and Krishan Pal Gurjar, former chief minister Manohar Lal and Congress heavyweights Kumari Selja and Deepender Singh Hooda are among the candidates. Khattar, the BJP candidate from Karnal, is facing Haryana Youth Congress president Divyanshu Budhiraja. Haryana is witnessing a direct fight between the ruling BJP and opposition Congress on most seats. However, seats like Hisar are witnessing a multi-cornered contest. From Hisar, Power Minister

Ranjit Singh Chautala, an Independent MLA who joined the BJP ahead of the polls, is pitted against two members of the Chautala clan — JJP's Naina Chautala and INLD's Sunaina Chautala. Congress' Jai Prakash is also in the fray. The BJP has fielded industrialist and former Congress MP Naveen Jindal from Kurukshetra. He is facing AAP's state unit chief Sushil Gupta and INLD's Abhay Singh Chautala. Union minister Inderjit Singh and Krishan Pal Gurjar are seeking re-election from Gurugram and Faridabad seats, respectively. The

Congress has fielded its senior leader Raj Babbar from Gurugram. Congress' Kumari Selja and BJP's Ashok Tanwar are contesting from Sirsa. In Rohtak, Deepender Singh Hooda is up against BJP's Arvind Sharma. During the high-pitched campaigning for the sixth phase, which ended on Thursday evening, BJP leaders including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union ministers Amit Shah, Rajnath Singh and Nitin Gadhkar, and INDIA bloc leaders Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and Arvind Kejriwal made all-out efforts to garner support for candidates of their parties. Jannayak Janta Party (JJP), Indian National Lok Dal (INLD) and Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) have also fielded their candidates in the Lok Sabha polls. JJP's 10, BSP's nine and INLD's seven candidates are contesting the polls. A few sitting MLAs are also in the fray, including INLD's Kurukshetra candidate Abhay Singh Chautala. Congress' sitting MLAs Varun

Chaudhary and Rao Dan Singh are contesting from Ambala and Bhiwani-Mahendragarh seats, respectively. BJP MLA Mohan Lal Badoli is contesting from Sonapat and JJP's Naina Chautala from Hisar. PAPER WITH PASSION

Market's thumbs-up

There is jubilation in economic circles, signalling positive investor sentiment in Govt fate

It is not every day that the market breaches new records just days ahead of the Lok Sabha poll results. Both Sensex and Nifty are shooting northwards, especially since the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) declared a huge dividend bonanza for the Government. The stock market has witnessed a historic surge, with the benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty hitting lifetime highs two consecutive days. With the RBI also recently announcing a record dividend for the Government, this confluence of events has fostered an atmosphere of positive investor sentiment, largely driven by optimistic expectations from election outcomes. The RBI's decision to transfer a record dividend of Rs87,416 crore to the Government has been a crucial factor in this financial upturn. This move not only bolsters the Government's fiscal position but also signals robust economic health and prudent management by the Central bank. Such a hefty dividend payout is expected to provide the Government with additional fiscal space to boost public spending, invest in infrastructure projects and support social welfare programmes. The substantial RBI dividend is seen as a sign of economic stability and strong fundamentals, encouraging both domestic and foreign investors to pour capital into the market. Following the dividend announcement, both Sensex and Nifty have experienced unprecedented highs. Sensex soared past the 62,000-mark while Nifty breached the 18,600-level.

This surge reflects investor confidence in Indian economy's resilience and growth potential. The interplay between the RBI's dividend announcement and the buoyant stock market creates a positive feedback loop. Another critical driver of this market exuberance is the anticipation of favourable election outcomes. Investors often view political stability as a key determinant of economic policies and growth trajectories. This growth prospect attracts more investment, driving the stock markets higher and creating a cycle of optimism and financial prosperity. The prevailing sentiment suggests that the election results will lead to a continuation of pro-business and market-friendly policies. Historical trends indicate that markets typically react positively to clear and stable election results, which are seen as conducive to consistent and predictable economic governance. The interplay between the RBI's dividend announcement and the buoyant stock market creates a positive feedback loop. The additional fiscal resources enable the Government to undertake more significant developmental initiatives, which in turn stimulate economic growth. This alignment of fiscal prudence, economic strategy and political expectations bodes well for the nation's future. As the election comes to an end shortly and a new Government takes over, a positive sentiment among investors is likely to reinforce market stability and growth. However, the market does not reflect the state of the economy. The indices are more speculative and driven by positive sentiments rather than actual ground realities.

Ambedkar's warning on democracy rings true

BHOPIINDER SINGH

India backslides on global democracy indexes and exhibits resistance to internal party democracy, starkly contrasting with the political culture of the UK

In 1936, Dr BR Ambedkar wrote an undelivered speech, Annihilation of Caste, where he forewarned, "Constitutional morality is not a natural sentiment. It has to be cultivated. We must realise that our people have yet to learn it. Democracy in India is only a top-dressing on an Indian soil which is essentially undemocratic." This sharp but sage observation was well before the Constitution of India was formally framed and adopted under his leadership. Eighty-eight years since the speech that was considered too controversial to be delivered, the issues of caste, constitutional impropriety and his controversial but astute insistence that

"Democracy in India is only a top-dressing on Indian soil which is essentially undemocratic" resonates loud and clear with the proceedings (rather, regressions) in the ensuing Lok Sabha elections. Amongst the most invoked, galvanising and feared concerns in the ongoing election pitch are still, caste and religion. Beyond the trumpeting label of 'world's largest democracy' which we proudly accept and acknowledge, is the damning backsliding on various Democracy 'indexes' - which we equally readily slam as vested, unfair, or even 'anti-national'. An unmistakably think-skinned spirit and hypersensitivity about the unflattering reportage abounds, which does not help build credentials of a mature, confident and progressive democracy. The 'mother of democracy' simply cannot be selectively entertaining of all praise and simultaneously small-spirited against criticism. However, beyond the multiple and well-known afflictions like dynastic tendencies, majoritarianism, ethnic-casteist-regional assertions, muscle power, money power et al, lies yet another serious curse of the complete lack of, or even any pretence of an 'internal democracy' in any political party, national or regional. We seem to be partaking in the exercise of democracy with a rather regrettable set of undemocratic parties.

Beyond the obvious threats of the 'carrot-and-stick' nature (with murmurs of the infamous 'washing machine' phenomenon) that may have made many opposition politicians jump ships - there is yet another loud concern expressed of unapproachability, remaining essentially unheard, or even of inaccessibility attributed to political leadership that leads to members to leave political parties for greener pastures. All Indian political parties have their exclusive leadership cocooned, isolated and protected from lesser leaders - this seemingly helps build leadership aura, mystique and even fear of the respective 'high commands'. The top leadership is only for taking the 'final call' and all others must robotically comply with the same, as described in the uniquely Indian expression of subservience, 'as disciplined soldiers of the party'. Such obsequious and diktat-filled frameworks are more suggestive of autocracies rather than participative democracies. This suffocating, intolerant and illiberal normalcy of Indian political culture is in stark contrast to that of its progenitor, British Westminster politics. In the UK, there have always been divisions within party ranks (on issues), expressed ambition for top roles and public expression of dissenting positions e.g., Brexit.

All these individualistic or non-conformist positions do not warrant the automatic expulsion or diminishment of an individual from party ranks. The ruling Conservative Party has many active and known 'camps' that may or may not agree with the policies and decisions of their Partyman as the Prime Minister, Rishi Sunak. It has always been so with divides amongst social liberals and social democrats, modernisers and traditionalists and Brexiteers of various sides and shades etc.,. Therefore, even though the Conservative Party has ruled uninterrupted since 2010 (then by David Cameron), it has since had five different Prime Ministers i.e., David Cameron, Theresa May, Boris Johnson, Liz Truss and now, Rishi Sunak. Even now the jostling within the Tories continues with apparently Boris Johnson planning a comeback to David Cameron having staged a dramatic comeback as the Secretary of State for Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Affairs, under Rishi Sunak!

It is the same concept of 'internal democracy' that has seen a similar leadership change in the principal opposition party i.e., the Labour Party. Since 2010 under Gordon Brown, it has seen a constant change in leadership Harriet Harman, Ed Miliband, Jeremy Corbyn to now Sir Keir Starmer. Each of these individual leaders has reflected the topical preference of the party cadres and leaders. Now with Keir Starmer sure to get elected as the Prime Minister of the UK, he couldn't be more unlike his party predecessor, Jeremy Corbyn, both in person and policies. Starmer continues to consult both the former Labour Prime Minister i.e., Tony Blair and Gordon Brown, though neither has any outsized political relevance. In short, there are no permanent Gods in British political parties, unlike the Indian context where a few individuals rule the roost without getting subjected to any internal challenge, questioning or change. The rules and circumstances for leadership can be made to change overnight to suit certain individuals or dynasties which essentially seek to perpetuate the leadership composition, that has existed for years. As Winston Churchill once said, "The opposition occupies the benches in front of you, but the enemy sits behind you" implying in his party ranks - that such internal competition can never be a sign of weakness but of ensuring that only one with the most competitive, compelling and winning credentials leads the party.

THERE ARE NO PERMANENT GODS IN BRITISH POLITICAL PARTIES, UNLIKE IN THE INDIAN CONTEXT, WHERE A FEW INDIVIDUALS RULE THE ROOST WITHOUT GETTING SUBJECTED TO ANY INTERNAL CHALLENGE, QUESTIONING OR CHANGE

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CONTROL PLASTIC USE

Madam — Although the central and State Governments have imposed a complete ban on polythene covers of thickness less than 125 microns in the State, it is not seen in practice. The viscosity of polythene bags is too high. 75-micron-thick bags, which were once banned, are still being used today. A large number of polythene covers are used in vegetable, tiffin, grocery, big shops and wholesale shops. As authorities have failed to ban polythene covers, they are seen everywhere on roads and canals. Cattle are falling sick by eating the wastes dumped in these covers in front of the houses and on the road. Criticisms are being heard that even though so many mishaps are happening, the concerned authorities are not paying attention. The authorities should clamp down on the sale of banned polythene bags which harm the environment and take strict action against those selling them. The authorities should make an effort to inform the people about the disadvantages caused by the use of banned polythene bags and to organise awareness programmes to encourage people to use eco-friendly clothing as an alternative.

WORKPLACE GASLIGHTING HARMS

Madam — It refers to 'Deleterious Effects of Workplace Gaslighting' (May 23). Gaslighting within the organisational setting presents a significant threat to employee well-being and overall organisational effectiveness. This form of psychological manipulation, characterised by the deliberate undermining of an individual's perceptions, beliefs and reality, fosters a detrimental work environment with far-reaching consequences. The erosion of employee confidence and self-esteem, heightened anxiety and paranoia, social isolation and withdrawal and manifestations in physical health are some of the critical impacts of gaslighting in the workplace. Gaslighting through denial, blame-shifting and criticism erodes employees' self-worth and competence, causing isolation, stress,

Recognise Palestinian sovereignty

As propos the news article, "Norway, Ireland and Spain give recognition to Palestinian State", published on May 23, this is my response. Palestine should be treated as a sovereign country as per the partisan plan of Great Britain's Palestine in 1947. Israel has been ignoring the two-State solution as per the 1993 Oslo Accord for decades and now it has engaged in genocidal violence in response to the October 7 Hamas attack. The United Nations secretary-general António Guterres said that the Hamas attack did not take place in a vacuum. His comment was as right as the observation that the Indian Rebellion of 1857 did not take place in a vacuum.

There were acts of terrorism against British civilians like Kennedy ladies during the British Raj in India. Khudiram Bose and his friend Prafulla Chaki threw a bomb at a carriage thinking that the district magistrate of Muzaffarpur, Douglas Kingsford, was in the carriage. However, Kingsford was seated in a different carriage and the bomb killed two British women. Can such attacks on the British civilians justify the Jallianwala Bagh massacre? Had the British still been ruling India, would the world have lent moral support to the colonial regime against the freedom fighters? Gaza massacre put Jallianwala Bagh to shame. More than 35,000 Palestinians, including nearly half of them children and elderly, have been killed in Gaza.

decreased productivity and physical health issues like headaches and sleep disturbances. Address gaslighting by documenting interactions, building support, prioritising self-care, limiting exposure and seeking intervention. Organisations must cultivate a supportive work environment through awareness campaigns, clear reporting mechanisms, robust anti-bullying policies, respectful communication practices and training for managers to identify and address gaslighting. By empowering employees and fostering a supportive culture, organisations can combat gaslighting effectively and build a healthier workplace for all.

MAKE STRESS YOUR FRIEND

Madam — In a world where stress is often demonised, reframing it as a friend can transform your relationship with it. Most people think that stress makes them sick; it increases the risk of everything from the common cold to cardiovascular disease. Basically, we have turned stress into our enemy. One study found that people who experienced a lot of stress in the previous year had a 43 per cent increased risk of dying, but that was only true for people who believed that stress was harmful to their health.

The researchers estimated that the people who died prematurely died not from stress but from the belief that stress was bad for them. Cultivate a mindset shift: view stress as a sign that your body is energised and ready to tackle tasks. Embrace the physiological changes, like an increased heart rate, as your body gears up for action. If you're breathing faster, there is no problem; it's getting more oxygen to your brain. Over a lifetime of stressful experiences, this one biological change could be the difference between a stress-induced heart attack at age 50 and living well into your 90s. Ultimately, by reframing stress as a friend rather than a foe, you no longer need to get rid of your stress; instead, make yourself better at it.

New-to-credit users drive financial inclusion

New-to-credit users have become one of the fastest-growing segments over the past three years but they also present challenges

New-to-credit (NTC) users or first-time users of credit products were one of the fastest-growing consumer segments in the lending category in the last three years, driving sustainable financial inclusion and economic growth in India. Industry data suggests that India currently has around 200 million active credit users and around 800,000 NTC consumers are being added to this pool every year.

Over the last few years, these consumers driven by easy access to credit cards and short-term-personal loans (STPL) grew the retail credit category at a rapid pace. Rapid digitisation of the lending process gave a boost to the rise in NTC customers but also resulted in challenges in background checks and client's repayment capacity. It took the RBI to step in by increasing risk weightage to control the uncontrolled growth in this category. As a result, the supply has been curtailed with first-time users increasingly finding it difficult to get easy access to credit products. However, there are some specially co-created credit cards for first-time users, helping them to build a good credit history before getting access to other credit products. In such a situation, managing debt smartly has become important for first-time consumers. For them, using a credit card responsibly is crucial for building a positive credit history and avoiding debt. Here are some financial tips:

Understand your need for a credit card: For new users, it is very important to understand the terms and conditions of your credit card. These include interest rates, fees, grace periods and rewards programs if applicable. We often make the mistake of activating the credit card without understanding the finer details of credit card usage. This mistake may cost you a bad debt and a bad financial history, limiting your access to credit in the future.

Start small: There is always a temptation to overspend with a credit card, especially if you are a first-time user. So, it is advisable to begin with a low credit limit to avoid overspending and to ease into managing credit responsibly.

Always pay on time and in full: Always pay your credit card bill on time and in full to avoid late fees and interest charges. Setting up automatic payments can help ensure you never miss a due date.

Monitor your spending: Keep track of your credit card transactions to stay within your budget and avoid overspending. Many credit card companies offer online or mobile banking apps to help you monitor your spending in real time. Keep utilisation low: Aim to keep your credit utilisation ratio—the amount of credit you're using compared to your total credit limit—below 30 per cent. This shows lenders that you're using credit responsibly and can help improve your credit score.

Avoid cash advances: Cash advances often come with high fees and interest rates, so it's best to avoid using your credit card for cash withdrawals unless necessary.

Regularly check your credit report: Monitor your credit report for any errors or unauthorised activity. You're entitled to a free credit report from each of the three major credit bureaus (Equifax, Experian and TransUnion) once a year. Build an emergency fund: Having an emergency fund can help cover unexpected expenses without relying solely on credit cards, reducing the risk of accumulating debt. Having a financial discipline is very important towards a good financial future. For NTC consumers the early they start is good for a healthy future but with a bit of discipline and consciousness.

TRUST IN THE SUPREME BEING!

The writer ponders the true nature of belief and the role of religion in our lives

SANJAY CHANDRA

I am not an atheist! But I do believe that there is a supreme power that guides us through the journey that we call life. Yet, there are questions that the rational mind refuses to subdue. One such dilemma that I have not been able to resolve is that we cannot be the only living beings in this vast universe. There have to be others. Would they also look like us?

Probably not my mother was a firm believer in the Gods of the faith that I was born in. She would make it a point to visit the nearby temples every week, accompanied by our father and the three of us children. We would watch her from outside the temple folding her hands in supplication before each God, praying for our wellbeing. I never asked my father the reason that he would stand at the entry to the temple, not accompanying his wife inside. Maybe it was to keep a watch on my mother's footwear, which had to be left outside.

Even a temple was not immune to missing slippers or sandals or shoes — others were more in need of the accessory. It also might have been because it was a little difficult to untie and then retie the laces on our shoes. As I grew up, I was intrigued by the increase in traffic at the temples, particularly at examination times. Young boys and also girls, could be seen touching the holy steps and then bowing to the deities, sometimes even putting their books reverentially at the feet of the Gods. I asked a friend, who smirked at my naiveté, before explaining that this helped in securing good marks. I also saw young unmarried women fasting and then visiting the temple on specific days of the week in the hope of getting a suitable husband.

I do not know if they lived a happily thereafter life. As I grew older, I too felt the need to visit the temple, particularly when facing a difficult time — initially when I was a student and then during my professional life. And then I realised the power of trust in a supreme being. It was this implicit faith, that the Lord above will not forsake me in my tough times, that gave me the confidence. It was a trust in my capabilities, reinforced by faith, that kept me going and kept me working. It sounds clichéd, but I also understood that my God resides within me; I do not need to visit a temple to pray to my God. I can do it wherever I am, whenever I need to. There was an interesting episode in my life recently. I got trolled on the WhatsApp group of my society by the same people who had only in the morning appreciated my writing. My fault — I had sinned opposing the construction of a temple inside the gated community. I felt there were more pressing issues to be attended. I smiled as I was called an elitist — the gentleman probably wanted to call me a pseudo-intellectual. These are the persons who have chosen, like me, to live out their lives in this complex — and hence, by default, they are the extended family. Relationships went for a toss. Which brings me to the query of the rational me. If there is a life after death and if there is life on many distant planets, then, I might be reborn in another form somewhere else. In that other life, I might pray to the supreme being in another form or shape. Then, is it really important for us to wear our religion on our sleeves or even to let it divide?

Political messaging in Indian elections

SAIDEEP KAR

The current election cycle witnesses a proliferation of digital misinformation campaigns, presenting new challenges for the authorities and citizens alike

A prominent film programmer and writer David Schwartz has rightly quoted, "Political commercials pretend to be like documentaries, but they use all the techniques of fiction filmmaking, including scripts, performances and music." This could be quite apt to ponder on the current general election and political communication in India. The use of technologies including deep fakes is attempting to make this election distinct from the 2019 general election. Political communication is the production and influence of persuasive political messages, campaigns and advertisements, often involving the mass media. It is an interdisciplinary field that uses communication, journalism and political science. Political communication concerns ideas such as information flow, political influence, decision-making, news and impact on citizens. Since the advent of the World Wide Web, the amount of data to be analysed has increased and researchers are turning to computational methods to study the dynamics of political communication. This can be quite relevant in the light of Parliamentary elections, 2024 in India.

The parliamentary elections in India have started from 19 April and will continue up to 1 June in seven phases to elect all 543 members of the Lok Sabha. This is the longest election in history, surpassing the previous election of 44 days, second only to the Indian general election of 1951-52. Approximately 970 million of the 1.4 billion people are eligible to vote, that is 70 per cent of the total population. In the States of Andhra Pradesh, Arunachal Pradesh, Odisha and Sikkim, parliamentary elections will be held simultaneously with general elections and by-elections to 25 constituencies in 12 legislative assemblies. The votes will be counted and the results announced on June 4. Current Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who has completed his second term, is running for a third consecutive term.

Social media in the political domain

Social media has become an increasingly important tool for political communication. For certain demographics, it is one of the main platforms where people get their news and interact with it by commenting and sharing. Social media has dramatically changed the way modern political campaigns are run. As more and more digitally native citizens vote, social media has become an important tool for politicians to establish themselves and communicate with voters.

The experience of using social media depends largely on the user, as the platform's algorithms tailor the consumer experience to each user. This leads to each person seeing more like-minded people due to increased digital social behaviour. In addition, social media changed politics because it gave politicians a direct way to inform their constituents and people to speak directly to politicians. This unofficial nature can lead to misinformation because it is not subject to the same "fact-checking processes as institutional journalism". Moreover, social media platforms serve as democratising agents, empowering individuals to participate in political conversations irrespective of geographical or socio-economic barriers. Citizens can voice their perspectives, amplify marginalised narratives and mobilise collective action, thereby enriching the democratic fabric of society. Concurrently, social media's interactive nature engenders heightened transparency and accountability within political institutions, as public scrutiny intensifies and feedback mechanisms proliferate.

AI Deepfakes: A new era

Technological implications are increasingly becoming imperative in the current election in India about political communication. This election season, misinformation has a new face. This time, India smiles, talks and woos the voters with a wisdom that is hard to start and harder to regulate. The 2019 election was no stranger to hate and misinformation campaigns, but the technology that enables this ecosystem has changed the rate of misrepresentation. The fraud pulse has found a new, more enthusiastic channel in the last five years. Law enforcement agencies are warning louder than ever that the average Indian voter in 2024 is most at risk of being misinformed about the election. There are gaps in people's ability to distinguish between real and artificial intelligence, leaving them vulnerable to fraud and unauthorised access. Social media companies struggle to curb fake news and propaganda; The Indian Government is updating existing legislation to better address the spread of online counterfeiting. The 2019 election took place on social media. Researchers identified sophisticated campaigns that used WhatsApp messaging and massive deployment of IT bots to distribute cropped photos, post coordinated content and publish fake videos on Facebook during the 2024 general elections. The pressing question now is how digital platforms tag, identify and contextualise such media. Even in the era of generative AI, such enforcement measures were nascent or seasonal at best. Now, cheap or free tools allow even amateurs to create deep fakes without content filters to prevent fake or illegal content from spreading. This means that technology platforms have to act stronger against criminals and break the chain of disinformation faster than they do. One of the biggest changes in social media after the 2019 elections in India is the absence of Twitter (Now X), the platform used by India's controlled politicians and Government agencies to broadcast official information to the country's media.

A way forward

In today's world, understanding politics means delving into how political actors communicate and navigate various media channels. These channels not only reflect but also shape political messages and images. Just as political systems influence media through policies and decisions, media structures profoundly impact political communication processes. Easy-to-make AI videos with near-perfect shadows and hand gestures can sometimes confuse even the digitally literate. But the risks are greater in a country where many of its 1.4 billion people are technologically challenged and where manipulated content can easily stoke sectarian tensions, especially during elections. The Election Commission of India recently warned political parties against using artificial intelligence to spread misinformation, issuing seven provisions of IT and other laws that carry up to three years in prison for offences including forgery, rumour and hostility. Looking forward to a free and fair election this time!

Millennium City says 'no development, no vote'

Frustrated by poor infrastructure despite high taxes, Gurgaon residents are shunning election candidates

This month Gurgaon has seen protests in several localities with frustrated and disillusioned residents announcing 'Election candidates not welcome, no development, no vote'.

Gurgaon residents are piqued that despite paying taxes (the highest share in the State), they are getting a raw deal. Sensing the mood of the public, both BJP stalwart and five-time MP, Rao Inderjit Singh and Congress candidate Raj Babbar, have made development their poll plank. Interestingly though it is a national election, focus remains on local issues, especially in the absence of a central national poll theme. Gurgaon may have fancy tags of 'Millennium City' and 'Cyber City' but the city which has made a global mark, lacks badly on physical and social infrastructure. It presents an ugly face with city waste besides construction debris lying all over, posing a serious health hazard.

It is not just Gurgaon, even the new sectors of the city which are grappling with poorly maintained roads (leading to accidents and dust pollution), inadequate drinking water, power and sewerage infrastructure. In the absence of proper drainage. Failure of civic authorities has made matters worse. The lack of an adequate metro network in the city has created a traffic mess on the roads. The lack of proper parking infrastructure has only made matters worse. A lot of the city's civic woes are because of the flawed development model of real estate development preceding infrastructure development. Moreover, unlike in neighbouring Noida where there is a single development authority, Gurgaon lacks on this front. GMDA (Gurgaon Metropolitan Development Authority) constituted to put an end to a multiplicity of development authorities, has proved to be an eyewash with MCG (Municipal Corporation Gurgaon) and HSVP (Haryana Shahari Vikas Pradhikaran) around. Seeking vote on development, Rao Inderjit Singh takes credit for initiating the mega infrastructure and connectivity projects like KMP Expressway, Delhi-Mumbai Expressway (passing through Gurgaon), Sohna Elevated Expressway, Dwarka Expressway, Metro Expansion, Gurgaon Railway Station upgradation.

In rural and Muslim-dominated Nuh, he is telling voters about the development gains of key infrastructure projects like the Delhi-

Mumbai Expressway and Orbital Rail. Raj Babbar, on the other hand, is also playing the development card to counter Rao Inderjit, pointing to shoddy development with several civic issues plaguing the city, turning it into a slum. Long delays in metro expansion, Lack of an Inter-State Bus Terminus and the absence of a suitable Civil Hospital are among the issues he has been raking up among the voters, demanding a fair share of development. He is promising the transformation of Gurgaon.

Though Rao Inderjit Singh may be facing anti-incumbency he has an obvious advantage of a well-oiled organisation besides the Modi factor. On the other hand, Raj Babbar faces the challenge of being an outsider. Besides he has the disadvantage of being a late starter due to a delay in announcing his nomination. The Gurgaon electorate seems to be in a mood to give another chance to the BJP, banking on the strong pro-development credentials of Modi. However, they have also shown their displeasure with the political parties. Indeed Gurgaon's infrastructure is not up to the mark and needs an immediate attention. Besides, their anger has led politicians to take notice of their woes and have now started showing interest in infrastructure upgradation.

Bodies of 3 more hostages recovered from Gaza

AP ■ TEL AVIV

The bodies of three more hostages killed on October 7 were recovered overnight from Gaza, Israel's army said on Friday, as the top United Nations court prepares to rule on whether Israel must halt its military operations and withdraw from the enclave. The bodies of Hanan Yablonka, Michel Nisenbaum, and Orion Hernandez Radoux were found and their families have been notified. The army said they were killed on the day of the attack at the Mefalim intersection and their bodies were taken to Gaza. The announcement comes less than a week after the army said it found the bodies of three other Israeli hostages killed on October 7. Hamas-led militants killed around 1,200 people, mainly civilians, and abducted around 250 others in the October 7 attack. Around half of those hostages have since been freed, most in swaps for Palestinian prisoners held by Israel during a weeklong cease-fire in November.

Israel says around 100 hostages are still captive in Gaza, along with the bodies of at least 39 more, while 17 bodies of hostages have been recovered.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has vowed to both eliminate Hamas and bring all the hostages back, but he's made little progress. He faces pressure to resign, and the US has threatened to scale back its support over the humanitarian situation in Gaza. On Friday, Netanyahu said the country had a duty to do everything to return those abducted, both those killed and those who are alive. In a post on X Friday, French President Emmanuel Macron gave condolences to the family of Hernández-Radoux, a French-Mexican citizen, saying France remains committed to releasing the hostages. The country is also expecting a ruling on Friday afternoon by the International Court of Justice to decide on an urgent plea by South Africa to order Israel to cease operations. Israel is unlikely to comply with any such order.

Even so, a cease-fire order by judges of the International Court of Justice would heap more pressure on an increasingly isolated Israel.

On the hostages, Israelis are divided into two main camps: those who want the government to put the war on hold and free the hostages, and others who think the hostages are an unfortunate price to pay for eradicating Hamas.

On-and-off negotiations mediated by Qatar, the United States and Egypt have yielded little. Anger is growing at home at the government's handling of the hostage crisis. Earlier this week, a group representing the families of hostages released new video footage showing Hamas' capture of five female Israeli soldiers near the Gaza border on October 7.

The video shows several of the young soldiers bloody and wounded. In one scene, a militant tells one of the terrified

Top UN court opens hearing on Israel; seeks to halt military operation

The Hague (AP): The top United Nations court opened a hearing Friday to rule on a request to order Israel to halt its military operation in Gaza and withdraw from the enclave. While Israel is unlikely to comply with any such order, it would heap more pressure on the increasingly isolated country.

Criticism of Israel's conduct in the war in Gaza has been growing — even from its closest ally, the United States, which has warned against an invasion of the southern city of Rafah, where hundreds of thousands of Palestinians have sought shelter from fighting elsewhere. And this week alone, three European countries announced they would recognise a Palestinian state, and the chief prosecutor for another UN court requested arrest warrants for Israeli leaders, along with Hamas officials. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu is also under heavy pressure at home to end the war, which was triggered when Hamas-led militants stormed into Israel, killing 1,200 people, most civilians, and taking some 250 captive. Thousands of Israelis have joined weekly demonstrations calling on the government to reach a deal to bring the hostages home, fearing that time is running out. While the International Court of Justice has broad powers to order an end to the Israeli military campaign and any such ruling would be a blow to Israel's international standing, it does not have a police force to enforce its orders. In another case on its docket, Russia has so far ignored a 2022 order by the court to halt its full-scale invasion of Ukraine. Israel signaled it, too, would brush off an ICJ order to stop its operations.

spokesman Rear Adm. Daniel Hagari said in a news conference that the army was able to retrieve the bodies based on "critical intelligence" uncovered last week by Israeli forces operating in Gaza. The group representing the families of the hostages said the bodies had been returned to their families for burial. Nisenbaum, 59, was a Brazilian-Israeli from the southern city of Sderot.

'More aid getting from US pier to people in Gaza after troubled launch'

AP ■ WASHINGTON

A six-day-old U.S. pier project in Gaza is starting to get more aid to Palestinians in need but conditions are challenging, U.S. officials said Thursday. That reflects the larger problems bringing food and other supplies to starving people in the besieged territory.

The floating pier had a troubled launch, with crowds overrunning some of the first trucks coming from the new U.S.-led sea route and taking its contents over the weekend. One man in the crowd was shot dead in still-unexplained circumstances. It led to a two-day suspension of aid distribution.

The U.S. military worked with the U.N. and Israeli officials to select safer alternate routes for trucks coming from the pier, U.S. Vice Admiral Brad Cooper told reporters Thursday.

As a result, the U.S. pier on Wednesday accounted for 27 of the 70 total trucks of aid that the U.N. was able to round up from all land and sea crossings into Gaza for distribution to civilians, the United States said.

That's a fraction of the 150 truckloads of food, emergency nutrition treatment and other supplies that U.S. officials aim to bring in when the sea route is working at maximum capacity.

Plus, Gaza needs 600 trucks entering each day, according to the U.S. Agency for International Development, to curb a famine that the heads of USAID and the U.N. World Food Program have said has begun in the north and to keep it from spreading south. Only one of the 54 trucks that came from the pier Tuesday and Wednesday encountered any security issues on their way to aid warehouses and distribution points, U.S. officials said. They called the issues "minor"

but gave no details.

A deepening Israeli offensive in the southern city of Rafah has made it impossible for aid shipments to get through the crossing there, which is a key source for fuel and food coming into Gaza. Israel says it is bringing aid in through another border crossing, Kerem Shalom, but humanitarian organizations say Israeli military operations make it difficult for them to retrieve the aid there for distribution.

The Biden administration last week launched the $320 million floating pier for a new maritime aid route into Gaza as the seven-month-old Israel-Hamas war and Israeli restrictions on land crossings have severely limited food deliveries to 2.3 million Palestinians.

For all humanitarian efforts, "the risks are manifold," Daniel Dieckhaus, USAID's response director for Gaza, said at a briefing with Cooper. "This is an active conflict with deteriorating conditions."

Dieckhaus rejected charges from some aid groups that the pier is diverting attention from what the U.S., U.N. and relief workers say is the essential need for Israel to allow full access to land crossings for humanitarian shipments. For instance, Jeremy Konyndyk, a former USAID official now leading Refugees International, tweeted that "the pier is humanitarian theatre."

"I would not call, within a couple of days, getting enough food and other supplies for tens of thousands of people for a month theater," Dieckhaus said Thursday when asked about the criticism. At maximum capacity, the pier would bring in enough food for 500,000 of Gaza's people. US officials stressed the need for flow through open land crossings for the remaining 1.8 million.

SIA to continue review of safety processes after turbulence incident

PTI ■ SINGAPORE

In-flight meal services will now be suspended when the seatbelt sign lights up on a Singapore Airlines plane to better manage turbulence in the air, an airline spokesperson has said, days after severe weather forced a flight to make an emergency landing in Bangkok with one dead and 60 injured. Singapore Airlines (SIA) said it will continue to review inflight security processes, giving utmost importance to the safety of passengers and crew following last Tuesday's incident. "The SIA will continue to review our processes as the safety of our passengers and crew is of utmost importance," the Straits Times quoted a spokesman for the flag carrier as saying on Thursday.

In-flight meal services will now be suspended when the seat-belt sign lights up on a Singapore Airlines plane as part of efforts to take a more cautious approach to managing turbulence in the air, the spokesperson said. Cabin crew will also sit down and fasten their seat belts when the seat-belt sign is lit, the SIA said on May 23.

Unlike in the past, when only hot drinks would be cut off during turbulence, the new measures would require all meal and drink services to stop when the ride gets bumpy.

Other existing safety measures that kick in during poor weather conditions, including getting crew members to secure loose items in the cabin, advising passengers to return to their seats and buckle up, and monitoring, will remain in place. On May 21, Flight SQ321, which was heading to Singapore from London, experienced sudden severe turbulence over the Irrawaddy Basin in Myanmar during the breakfast service. One passenger — 73-year-old Briton Geoffrey Kitchen — died, and dozens were injured. The pilot declared a medical emergency and diverted the Boeing 777-300ER carrying 211 passengers and 18 crew members to Bangkok's Suvarnabhumi Airport, where the plane made an emergency landing at 3:45 pm (4:45 pm Singapore time). It is the first SIA aviation accident involving a fatality since the SQ006 crash in Taiwan in October 2000. Meanwhile, SIA has apologised to the injured passengers who say they had no information from the airline. Keith Davis, an Australian passenger, on May 23 complained to the media that he had not heard from any SIA staff since he was hospitalised, according to local reports.

Another Singaporean, who was previously in the Intensive Care Unit at a Bangkok hospital, has been discharged while 48 passengers from Flight SQ321 remain wounded. According to an update from Samitivej Srinakarin Hospital, 34 passengers remain warded in its premises as of noon on May 24, with another 12 at the Samitivej Sukhumvit Hospital and two at the Bangkok Hospital.

The 34 warded at Samitivej Srinakarin Hospital — comprising 14 males and 20 females — are from countries such as Australia, Britain, Malaysia, and the Philippines, according to media reports.

Singapore Transport Minister Chee Hong Tat said on Friday he was relieved that passengers who were injured when the Singapore Airlines plane encountered severe turbulence were recovering and that some had already been discharged from the hospital and returned home.

He said investigators from Singapore's Transport Safety Investigation Bureau (TSIB) were going through data from the cockpit voice recorder and the flight data recorder. "We await the investigation findings to understand what happened during those moments," the Singapore Daily quoted Chee as saying.

Investigators from TSIB, a department of the Transport Ministry responsible for investigating air, marine and rail accidents and incidents, had arrived in Bangkok on the night of May 21.

Asked what support the government is providing to the Singaporeans who remain in Bangkok, Chee said: "We will continue to provide whatever support and assistance that is necessary, working closely with the SIA and also the Thai authorities to bring the passengers and crew home as soon as possible."

More than 100 people believed killed by landslide in PNG

AP ■ MELBOURNE

More than 100 people are believed to have been killed Friday in a landslide that buried a village in a remote, mountainous part of Papua New Guinea, and an emergency response is underway, the South Pacific island nation's leader and news media said. The landslide hit Kaokalam village in Enga province, about 600 kilometers (370 miles) northwest of the capital, Port Moresby, at roughly 3 am, Australian Broadcasting Corporation (ABC) reported.

Residents said estimates of the death toll were above 100, although authorities have not confirmed that figure. Villagers said the number of people killed could be much higher. Prime Minister James Marape said authorities were responding and he would release information about the destruction and loss of life when it was available.

"I am yet to be fully briefed on the situation. However, I extend my heartfelt condolences to the families of those who lost their lives in the landslide disaster in the early hours of this morning," Marape said in a statement. "We are sending in disaster officials, PNG Defense Force, and the Department of Works and Highways to ... start relief work, recovery of bodies, and reconstruction of infrastructure," he added.

Australia, a near neighbor and Papua New Guinea's most generous provider of foreign aid, said the government stood ready to help. "We send our heartfelt sympathies to the people of PNG following the landslide at Kaokalam village," Australian Foreign Minister Penny Wong posted on social media. "The loss of life and destruction is devastating," she added. "As friends and partners, Australia stands ready to assist in relief and recovery efforts."

Videos on social media showed residents pulling out bodies buried under rocks and trees.

Elizabeth Laruma, who runs a women's business association in Porgera, a town in the same province near the Porgera Gold Mine, said houses were flattened when the side of a mountain gave way.

"It has occurred when people were still asleep in the early hours, and the entire village has gone down," Laruma told the Australian Broadcasting Corp. "From what I can presume, it's about 100-plus people who are buried beneath the ground."

The landslide blocked the road between Porgera and the village, she said, raising concerns about the town's supply of fuel and goods. Village resident Ninga Role, who was away when the landslide struck, expects that at least four of his relatives died.

"There are some huge stones and plants, trees. The buildings collapsed," Role said. "These things are making it hard to find the bodies."

Belinda Kora, a Port Moresby-based ABC reporter, said helicopters were the only way of accessing the village, which is in the mountainous interior region known as the Highlands, with the main road closed. Papua New Guinea is a diverse, developing nation of mostly subsistence farmers with 800 languages.

There are few roads outside the larger cities.

With 10 million people, it is also the most populous South Pacific nation after Australia, which is home to some 27 million. Telecommunications are poor, particularly outside Port Moresby where government data show 56 per cent of the nation's social media users reside. Only 1.66 million people across the country use the internet and 85 per cent of the population lives in rural areas.

UK general elections to delay FTA with India

PTI ■ LONDON

As the campaign for the UK general election gathers momentum after British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak surprised many this week with a snap summer poll on July 4, exactly a month after India's election results on June 4, the prospect of an India-UK free trade agreement (FTA) has been kicked into the long grass.

While political analysts and strategic experts have expressed confidence that very little should change on the bilateral relationship front whatever the outcome in either election, the very small window that was open for a deal being clinched by the Sunak-led Tory government has now been swept away in the election wave of both countries.

The Opposition Labour Party, in the lead in most pre-election surveys, has committed itself to "finish the job" but the timelines will remain uncertain for some time. "Rishi Sunak's shock poll date announcement of July 4 has skewed any prospect of the finalisation of the long-awaited and much-anticipated FTA with India by a Conservative govern-

King Charles III to limit public appearances during six weeks of election campaign

London (AP): King Charles III won't be out and about much over the next six weeks — and it's not because of his ongoing cancer treatments. Shortly after UK Prime Minister Rishi Sunak called an early parliamentary election for July 4, Buckingham Palace said that all members of the royal family were cancelling most public engagements until after the vote to avoid doing anything that might divert attention from the campaign.

That announcement is just one of the ways that Charles will seek to play his part as a unifying head of state during the election, without violating a constitutional ban on interfering in politics. While the king's role in government is largely ceremonial, it's bound up by traditions that embody the way royal powers were gradually transferred to Parliament over the last 800 years. Here's a look at the monarch's role in the run up to the election, including a few dos and don'ts.

The decision to call an election was entirely Sunak's. But before he could do so, the king had to grant permission to dissolve Parliament early. Technically, the king still has the power to refuse a dissolution request if he believes an election would be detrimental to the nation.

But the last time this happened was in 1835. Ignoring that precedent "would expose the monarch to allegations of political interference of an undemocratic nature, even if the intention of the refusal was to preserve the good functioning of democracy," according to the Institute for Government, an independent think tank.

Research Fellow for South Asia, Asia-Pacific Programme at Chatham House, described the FTA as a "key watchpoint" for its broader strategic significance in terms of deepening the bilateral relationship. "There should be a high degree of continuity in UK-India relations, irrespective of who wins the UK election.

Under Keir Starmer's leadership, the Labour Party has tried to reset relations with India, which had deteriorated under [former leader] Jeremy Corbyn," said Bajpaae.

"The UK's outreach to India also needs to be seen in the broader context of the UK's Indo-Pacific pivot. There are questions on the UK's ability to sustain this in the context of fiscal constraints and preoccupation with other foreign policy priorities — wars in Ukraine and Gaza, and reviving relations with the EU," he said.

A key aspect of this UK election will be that the country's first Indian-origin Prime Minister, who took over in the wake of political turmoil within the governing Conservative Party in October 2022, will now be taking his record at Downing Street to the voters. The British Future think tank has already forecast that the next UK Parliament is set to be the most diverse yet based on candidate selections by the major political parties, with at least 10 more MPs of ethnic minority background being elected to the House of Commons. "While Labour is doing well overall in the polls, it's got more

Joe Biden wins Idaho Democratic caucuses

Boise (US) (AP): Idaho Democrats on Thursday selected Joe Biden as their nominee for the White House, giving the president more delegates after he already clinched his party's 2024 nomination.

The caucus was structured a bit differently than previous Democratic caucuses. Instead of listening to speeches and moving to various parts of the room to show their support for a candidate, voters were given ballots to fill out their choices.

Only registered Democrats and unaffiliated voters were allowed to participate in the Democratic caucus. Unaffiliated voters first had to sign a pledge saying they are participating as Democrats and have not participated in any other presidential nomination contest this year. Voters who are 17 years old are allowed to caucus as long as they will turn 18 before the general election on Nov. 5. That is different from Idaho's Republican caucus, held earlier this year. The Republican caucus allowed only registered Republicans to vote, and they had to be at least 18 at the time of the caucus. Former President Donald Trump won all of Idaho's 32 GOP delegates at the March 2 event.

Biden will face a steep hill to climb for Idaho's general election. The Republican presidential candidate has won the deep-red state in every election since 1968. Democrats in Idaho utilized caucuses for years but switched the presidential contest to a primary for 2020. Biden won with about 49% of the vote, compared with roughly 42% that went to US Sen. Bernie Sanders of Vermont.

Both the Republican and the Democratic parties had to caucus this year, however, after state lawmakers inadvertently scrapped the state's primaries during the 2023 legislative session. The error happened when lawmakers were trying to change the date of the state's primary from March to May, but the new date wasn't included in the bill.

Two men to go on trial for aiding HK authorities in UK intelligence gathering

AP ■ LONDON

The office manager of the Hong Kong trade office in London and another man will go on trial in February for allegedly helping Hong Kong authorities gather intelligence in the UK, a judge said on Friday.

Chung Biu Yuen, 63, and Chi Leung Peter Wai, 38, appeared at London's Central Criminal Court for a preliminary hearing, charged with agreeing to undertake information gathering, surveillance and acts of deception that were likely to materially assist a foreign intelligence service between December 2023 and May 2. Hong Kong authorities have confirmed that Yuen was the office manager of the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office in London. A third suspect, Briton Matthew Trickett, was also charged in the case, but he was found dead Sunday in a park under what police said were unexplained circumstances.

Prosecutor Kashif Malik said during an earlier hearing that Trickett, reportedly a UK immigration enforcement officer and a former Royal Marine, had attempted suicide after being charged. He was also the director of a security company. Justice Jeremy Baker set a trial date for February 10, set to last for about five weeks. The judge said the men were granted bail on condition that they observe a set curfew and other restrictions.

The three men were charged under Britain's National Security Act after an investigation by the Metropolitan Police Counter Terrorism Command. Prosecutors allege that the suspects also forced entry into a UK residential address.

They were arrested earlier this month in London and Yorkshire in northern England by counterterrorism police, using provisions of a new law that allows suspects in national security and espionage cases to be detained without warrant. The case drew strong criticism from officials in Beijing and Hong Kong, a former British colony that returned to Chinese control in 1997. Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman

Wang Wenbin said Friday that the charges were "an act of political manipulation in the name of national security." "It seriously infringed on the legitimate rights and interests of Chinese nationals in the UK, gravely undermined China-UK relations, seriously violated the principles of international law and the basic norms of international relations and badly harmed the image of the UK," he told reporters. In Hong Kong, a government spokesman said the city's Secretary for Commerce and Economic Development, Algenon Yau, met with Britain's deputy consul-general in Hong Kong on Friday to reiterate concerns about the case.

Taiwan tracks Chinese warplanes and navy vessels during drills

AP ■ TAIPEI

Taiwan tracked dozens of Chinese warplanes and navy vessels off its coast on Friday on the second day of a large exercise China's People's Liberation Army held in response to the inauguration of the island's new leadership.

China has issued elaborate releases to media showing Taiwan being surrounded by forces from the ruling Communist Party's military wing, the People's Liberation Army. A new video on Friday showed animated Chinese forces approaching from all sides and Taiwan being enclosed within a circular target area.

Despite that, there was little sign of concern among Taiwan's 23 million people, who have under threat of Chinese invasion since the sides divided during a bitter and bloody civil war in 1949. Taiwan's parliament was mired in a dispute between its political parties over procedural measures on Friday and business continued as usual in the bustling capital of Taipei.

The defense ministry said it tracked 49 warplanes and 19 navy vessels, as well as Chinese coast guard vessels, and that 35 of the planes flew across the median of the Taiwan Strait, the de facto boundary between the sides, over a 24-hour period from Thursday to Friday.

Marine and coast guard vessels, air and ground-based missile units have all been put on alert, particularly around the Taiwan-controlled island chains of Kinmen and Matsu located just off the China coast and far from Taiwan's main island, roughly 160 kilometers (100 miles) across the Taiwan Strait. "Facing external challenges and threats, we will continue to maintain the values of freedom and democracy," Taiwan's new President Lai Ching-te told sailors and top security officials on Thursday as he visited a marine base in Taoyuan, just south of the capital, Taipei. In his inauguration speech on Monday, Lai had called on Beijing to stop its military intimidation and said Taiwan was "a sovereign independent nation in which sovereignty lies in the hands of the people."

China's military said its two-day exercises around Taiwan were punishment for separatist forces seeking independence. It sends navy ships and warplanes into the Taiwan Strait and other areas around the island almost daily to wear down Taiwan's defences and seek to intimidate its people, who firmly back their de facto independence.

Putin on two-day Belarus visit

AP ■ BELARUS

Russian President Vladimir Putin arrived Thursday in Belarus for a two-day visit as part of several foreign tours to kick off his fifth term in office, underscoring close ties with a neighboring ally that has been instrumental in Russia's war effort in Ukraine.

Putin traveled to China earlier this month, and is expected in Uzbekistan on Sunday. Earlier on Thursday, the Russian president hosted Bahrain's King Hamad bin Isa Al Khalifa in the Kremlin.

In Belarus, Putin is to hold talks with his Belarusian counterpart Alexander Lukashenko. Lukashenko greeted him on the tarmac, and then the two sat down for a "short conversation" at the airport, the Kremlin reported. Lukashenko promised to discuss "security issues at the forefront, and tomorrow we will discuss economic issues together with our colleagues from the governments."

The Belarusian leader on Thursday appointed a new chief of the country's military general staff in a move that analysts say is aimed at showing the Kremlin the utmost loyalty of its neighbor and ally.

Russia used Belarus, which depends on Russian loans and cheap energy, as a staging ground in the war in Ukraine, deploying some of its troops there from Belarusian territory. In 2023, Russia also moved some of its tactical nuclear weapons to Belarus.

Maj. Gen. Pavel Muraveyka, who was appointed as chief of Belarus' General Staff and as first deputy defense minister, is known for publicly threatening neighboring NATO members Poland and Lithuania.

In October 2023, he said that Belarus could seize the so-called Suwalki Gap — a sparsely populated stretch of land running about 100 kilometers (60 miles) along the Polish-Lithuanian border. It links Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia with the rest of the NATO alliance and separates Belarus from Kaliningrad, a heavily militarized Russian exclave on the Baltic Sea that has no land connection to Russia. Military analysts in the West have long viewed the Suwalki Gap as a potential flashpoint in any confrontation between Russia and NATO. They worry that Russia might try to seize the gap and cut off the three Baltic states from Poland and other NATO nations. "Muraveiko's appointment is an open challenge to the West and a desire to show Putin Minsk's complete loyalty and willingness to maintain a strategic partnership with Russia," independent Belarusian analyst Valery Karbalevich told The Associated Press.

"The deployment of Russian nuclear weapons in Belarus does not leave Lukashenko a strategic choice, turns him into a hostage of the Kremlin and firmly binds Minsk to Moscow's policies," Karbalevich said. Both Russia and Belarus began military drills involving tactical nuclear weapons earlier this month. Moscow said its drills, announced publicly for the first time on May 6, were a response to statements by Western officials signaling possibly deeper involvement in the war in Ukraine. Belarus launched its maneuvers involving missiles and warplanes capable of carrying tactical nuclear weapons on May 7; Russia's exercises began this week.

B'desh court remands 3 suspects in MP murder case for 8 days

Dhaka (PTI): A Bangladesh court on Friday sent three suspects to an eight-day police remand for their alleged involvement in the brutal murder of the ruling Awami League lawmaker Anwarul Azim Anar while he was in India.

Anar, a three-time parliamentarian from the Jhenaidah-4 segment in Bangladesh and also the president of Awami League's Kaliganj sub-district unit, had made a personal visit to West Bengal's capital city Kolkata on May 12 to undergo medical treatment. He went missing from Kolkata on May 13.

According to the Kolkata police, circumstantial evidence indicated that the MP was first strangled and killed after which his body was chopped into pieces and dumped at different areas. Traces of his body or body parts are yet to be found. Bangladesh Police had arrested three persons in connection with his murder. On Friday, police produced the three accused identified as Tanvir, Shimul Bhuiyan and Silisti Rahman before the Dhaka Metropolitan Magistrate Dilruba Afroz Tithi and sought their 10-day remand.

After the hearing, the court sent the trio to an eight-day police remand. According to Bangladesh police, Bhuiyan, a leader of the outlawed Purbo Banglar Communist Party, changed his name to Amanullah and obtained a fake passport to facilitate the killing of the lawmaker in Kolkata and evade law enforcement agencies. The murder was planned two to three months ago, with multiple meetings held at two houses in Gulshan and Bashundhara areas which are owned by mastermind and the MP's close friend Akhtaruzzaman Shahin. Akhtaruzzaman, a Bangladeshi-born American citizen, fled to Nepal after the murder, police said. A team of the West Bengal CID visited Bangladesh on Thursday to interrogate the three accused. Earlier on May 23, Dhaka Metropolitan Magistrate Mahbul Haque set a July 4 deadline for submitting the probe report in the case.

China sends second consignment of glacial water from Tibet to Maldives

PTI ■ MALE

China has gifted 1,500 tonnes of water from the Tibetan glaciers to Maldives, the second such donation in less than two months, a media report said on Friday.

This is the latest in the multiple grants and aid that China has promised the Maldives, especially since pro-China Mohamed Muizzu took over as the President in November 2023.

China's Xizang Autonomous Region has gifted 1,500 tonnes of mineral water to the Maldives government on Thursday. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs said that the donated water will be distributed to island communities, for use during times of drinking shortage, news portal Sun.mv reported. Earlier on March 27, the Maldives government had announced that it had received a similar consignment of 1,500 tonnes of water from China.

Foreign Minister Moosa

Zameer, while speaking at a ceremony where Wang Lixin, the Chinese Ambassador to the Maldives, handed over the donation, said that China continues to remain a "good friend to the Maldives," especially during the challenging times and crisis.

The minister also expressed his gratitude to the people of Xinjiang Autonomous Region for the kind gesture and to the government and people of China for their continued support and goodwill.

"Grateful to receive 1,500 tonnes of mineral water from the people of Xizang Autonomous Region, PRC. This generous donation will greatly support our island communities during water shortages. Thank you for your support and friendship," Zameer said on his official X handle late on Friday and tagged Wang while posting photos from the ceremony.

The Maldives has 26 atolls and its 1,192 islands are mostly composed of coral reefs and sandbars, a combination that makes groundwater and freshwater extremely scarce, and the problems are exacerbated due to climate change.

The country has tried between 2011 and 2015, a UN-funded 'Increasing Climate Resilience through an Integrated Water Resources Management Programme' but with limited success.

In December 2014, India carried out 'Operation Neer' during one of its worst water crises following a massive fire in the Male Water and Sewerage Company complex on December 4, 2014.

While announcing the earlier consignment in March, the government had said that the decision to provide Maldives with drinking water was reached during the official visit in November 2023 of China's Tibet Autonomous Region's Chairman, Yan Jinhai to the Maldives, when he met President Muizzu.

At that time, it was deliberated to donate water that is produced out of frozen water procured from glacial regions which are highly clean, clear, and rich in minerals.

Moreover, Tibet (Xizang in Chinese) Autonomous Region is known to produce high-cost premium brands of water, the Maldives Foreign Ministry said then.

Previously, China had been exclusively known for its assistance in the urban and economic development of the Maldives. But since Muizzu assumed office, China has been helping the country with the supply of defence equipment too.

Philippines to hold drills despite China's opposition

AP ■ MANILA

The Philippines will continue to build security alliances and stage joint combat drills in disputed waters to defend its territorial interests, Defense Secretary Gilberto Teodoro said Friday, dismissing China's criticisms of such moves as paranoia.

Teodoro bluntly criticised Beijing's increasingly aggressive actions in the South China Sea, without citing China by name, in a speech before the military's top brass at a ceremony marking the anniversary of the Philippine navy's founding in Manila. The Philippines, he said, would not tolerate aggression and provocative moves.

Since territorial hostilities with China surged last year in the South China Sea, Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos Jr's administration has taken steps to forge new security alliances with a number of Asian and Western countries and allowed a US military presence in more Philippine bases under a 2014 defence pact.

In April and May, the Philippine military staged annual live-fire combat exercises with US forces in and near the disputed waters. China has said such actions by the US and its allies, including the Philippines, were provocative, aimed to contain Beijing and were endangering regional security.

"Terming these cooperative activities with like-minded nations as a containment or a provocation is disinformation and evidence of paranoia of a closed political system," Teodoro said in a clear reference to China. "The ultimate intent is to get what they want by the threat or the use of force. This we cannot allow to continue." The Philippines is the US's oldest treaty ally in Asia. Washington has warned that it is obligated to help defend the Philippines if its forces, aircraft and ships come under an armed attack, including in the disputed South China Sea. The Philippines has defense pacts allowing American and Australian forces to enter the country for annual combat-readiness and disaster-response training and is negotiating a similar agreement with Japan and considering another pact with France. It has held joint maneuvers with the US, Australian and Japanese navies this year. In their largest and boldest annual military exercises last month, thousands of US and Philippine forces staged the retaking of an island and sank a warship in combat drills focusing on territorial defence in or near the South China Sea. They carried out aerial reconnaissance and logistical transport drills and secured an airfield during mock combat in a Philippine town near Taiwan. "For the first time we have evolved a realistic training scenario with evolutionary hypothetical scenarios where we can actually test our capabilities," Teodoro said. "There will be more maritime cooperative activity between us and like-minded nations."

'Hungary will seek to opt out of NATO efforts to support Ukraine'

AP ■ HUNGARY

Hungary will seek to opt out of any NATO operations aimed at supporting Ukraine, Prime Minister Viktor Orban said on Friday, suggesting that the military alliance and the European Union were moving toward a more direct conflict with Russia.

Orban told state radio that Hungary opposes a plan NATO is weighing to provide more predictable military support to Ukraine in coming years to repel Moscow's full-scale invasion, as better armed Russian troops assert control on the battlefield.

"We do not approve of this, nor do we want to participate in financial or arms support (for Ukraine), even within the framework of NATO," Orban said, adding that Hungary has taken a position as a "non-participant" in any potential NATO operations to assist Kyiv.

"We've got to redefine our position within the military alliance, and our lawyers and officers are working on ... how Hungary can exist as a NATO member while not participating in NATO actions outside of its territory," he said.

Orban, considered Russian President Vladimir Putin's closest partner in the EU, emphasised NATO's role as a defensive alliance, and said he doesn't share the concerns of some other Central and Eastern European countries that Russia's military would not cease its aggression if it wins the war in Ukraine. NATO's strength cannot be compared to that of Ukraine," he said.

"I don't consider it a logical proposition that Russia, which cannot even deal with Ukraine, will come all of a sudden and swallow up the whole Western world."

Hungary has refused to supply neighbouring Ukraine with military aid in contrast to most other countries in the EU, and Orban has vigorously opposed the bloc's sanctions on Moscow though has ultimately always voted for them.

The nationalist leader is preparing for the European Parliament election on June 6-9, and has cast his party as a guarantor of peace in the region.

He has characterised the United States and other EU countries that urge greater support for Ukraine as "pro-war" and acting in preparation for a global conflict.

Russia smashes train tracks in Ukraine

AP ■ KYIV

A nighttime Russian attack destroyed train tracks and rolling stock in Ukraine's north-eastern Kharkiv region, officials said Friday, and authorities organised the evacuation of children from the area that is being pumelled by the Kremlin's forces in a powerful new offensive.

The overnight strike also damaged buildings and freight cars, according to Ukraine's national railway operator Ukrzaliznytsia. No injuries were reported. Authorities have evacuated more than 11,000 people from the Kharkiv region since Russia launched an offensive there on May 10, regional Gov Oleh Syniehubov said. Officials on Friday announced the mandatory evacuation over the next 60 days of 123 orphans and children living without their parents in the area.

Russia's Kharkiv push appears to be a coordinated new offensive that includes testing Ukrainian defences in the Donetsk region further south, while also launching incursions in the northern Sumy and Chernihiv regions. Ukraine's problems have been mounting in recent months as it tries to hold out against its much bigger foe, and the war appears to be at a critical juncture.

The new Russian offensive is stretching thin Ukraine's depleted ranks, exhausted by more than two years of war. Destroying the train network puts further pressure on the already overstretched Ukrainian army.

Crucial Western aid for Kyiv, especially air defence systems to stop Russia's targeted destruction of the power grid, isn't arriving quickly enough. Also, most Western donors won't let Ukraine use the sophisticated long-range weapons they are providing to strike targets on Russian soil. That allows Moscow to assemble virtually unimpeded its troops for cross-border assaults, as well as deploy missile launchers to bombard Ukraine. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said those limitations made possible an attack on the city of Kharkiv, the region's capital, on Thursday that killed seven civilians and wounded 21 others. Zelenskyy said on social media that Ukraine has "a shortage of air defence systems that are actually available in the world" and a "lack of long-range capabilities for our warriors and the complete inability to destroy the very source of Russian terror near our borders, including the missile launchers that actually hit Ukraine and the lives of our people."

'Progress in talks with Pak on new bailout package'

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

The IMF has said that "significant progress" has been achieved during talks with Pakistani officials towards reaching a staff-level agreement for an extended fund facility for the cash-strapped country.

Pakistan has made a formal request for a fresh bailout package between USD 6 and USD 8 billion under the EFF, with the possibility of being augmented through climate finance.

If successful, it would be the 24th International Monetary Fund (IMF) bailout programme for the country.

An IMF team led by Nathan Porter, the IMF's Mission Chief to Pakistan, visited Islamabad between May 13 and May 23 to discuss the country's plans for a home-grown economic programme that can be supported under the IMF's Extended Fund Facility. The visit was undertaken on Islamabad's request.

The global lender has emphasised that prioritising reforms to revitalise the Pakistani economy outweighs the size of the new loan package being negotiated. The mission and the authorities will continue policy discussions virtually over the coming days aiming to finalise discussions, including the financial support needed to underpin the authorities' reform efforts from the IMF and Pakistan's bilateral and multilateral partners," Porter said in a statement.

Ahead of the discussions, the IMF had warned that downside risks for the Pakistani economy remained exceptionally high. The official said that building on the economic stabilisation achieved through the successful completion of the 2023 Stand-by Arrangement, the global lender and the Pakistani authorities made "significant progress" toward reaching a Staff Level Agreement (SLA) on a comprehensive economic policy and reform programme that can be supported under an EFF. "The authorities' reform programme aims to move Pakistan from economic stabilisation to strong, inclusive, and resilient growth. To achieve this, the authorities plan to continue to strengthen public finances to reduce vulnerabilities by improving domestic revenue mobilisation through fairer taxation while scaling up spending for human capital, social protection, and climate resilience; secure energy sector viability, including reforms to reduce the high cost of energy; continue progress towards low and stable inflation by appropriate monetary and exchange rate policies; improve public service provision through state-owned enterprise (SOE) restructuring and privatisation; and promote private sector development, by securing a level-playing field for investment and stronger governance," the statement said.

Shortly after the statement's release, the Pakistan Stock Exchange (PSX) gained 556.5 points to stand at 75,670.97 points at 9:41 am on Friday from the previous close of 75,114.47.

The Washington-based lender opened discussions with Pakistan on a new loan programme after the cash-strapped country last month completed a short-term USD 3 billion programme, which helped stave off a sovereign debt default. Ahead of the discussions, the IMF had earlier this month warned that downside risks for the Pakistani economy remained exceptionally high. Pakistan narrowly averted default last summer, and the economy has stabilised after the completion of the last IMF programme, with inflation coming down to around 17 per cent in April from a record high of 38 per cent last May.

The country is still dealing with a high fiscal shortfall, and while the external account deficit has been controlled through import control mechanisms, it has come at the expense of stagnating growth, which is expected to be around two per cent this year compared to negative growth last year.

Markets end lower after scaling record peaks

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Equity benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty closed marginally lower on Friday as investors booked profit in FMCG, IT and healthcare stocks after the BSE Sensex and Nifty hit fresh lifetime highs in intra-day deals. The 30-share BSE Sensex dipped 7.65 points or 0.01 per cent to settle at 75,410.39. During the day, it rallied 218.46 points or 0.28 per cent to hit its all-time intra-day high of 75,636.50. The NSE Nifty breached the 23,000 mark for the first time in early trade. During the day, the benchmark climbed 58.75 points or 0.25 per cent to hit its lifetime peak of 23,026.40. However, it pared all the gains and ended with a marginal decline of 10.55 points or 0.05 per cent at 22,957.10. Markets were on a record-breaking rally for the second straight day ahead of the results of Lok Sabha polls. The results of the ongoing general elections will be declared on June 4. From the Sensex firms, Tech Mahindra, Asian Paints, Tata Consultancy Services, Mahindra & Mahindra, Titan, JSW Steel and ITC were among the major laggards. On the other hand, HDFC Bank, Bharti Airtel, Larsen & Toubro, NTPC, Axis Bank and UltraTech Cement were the major gainers. Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) turned buyers on Thursday after days of offloading equities. They bought equities worth Rs 4,670.95 crore on Thursday, according to exchange data. In Asian markets, Seoul, Tokyo, Shanghai and Hong Kong settled lower. European markets were trading with cuts. Wall Street ended in negative territory on Thursday. Global oil benchmark Brent crude declined 0.73 per cent to USD 80.77 a barrel. With nearly a fortnight left for the results of Lok Sabha polls, benchmark stock indices Sensex and Nifty zoomed more than 1.6 per cent to close at lifetime high levels on Thursday.

Windfall RBI dividend positive, usage to signal new Government's fiscal priorities: Ratings agencies

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Global rating agencies on Friday said windfall of Rs 2.1 lakh crore dividend from the RBI is positive for the country's fiscal metrics and its usage will provide a signal around the new government's fiscal priorities. The board of India's central bank earlier this week decided to pay Rs 2.1 lakh crore dividend to the government from the profits earned in 2023-24. This is more than double of Rs 1.02 lakh crore that was budgeted by the government.

Fitch Ratings Asia-Pacific Sovereigns Director Jeremy Zook said sustained deficit reduction, particularly if underpinned by durable revenue-raising reforms, would be positive for India's rating fundamentals over the medium-term. "The use of the dividend — whether it is saved or used for additional spending — could provide a signal around the government's fiscal priorities," Zook told PTI in an email response. Fitch has a 'BBB-' rating on India with a stable outlook. In January, the rating agency had affirmed India's rating on robust growth outlook, but had said that weak public finances continue to constraint the rating.

Another rating agency Moody's Ratings said the fiscal impact of much higher-than-expected dividend transfer by the RBI will be determined by what the incoming government decides to do with these additional resources. Moody's Ratings Senior Vice President Christian de Guzman said on one hand, the government could observe expenditure restraint and facilitate further progress towards meeting its deficit target. This would lower the borrowing requirements that could in turn free up liquidity in the market for other purposes. He said the government could also deploy these extra funds towards new policies and initiatives. "The impact of much higher-than-expected transfers from the RBI will ultimately be determined by what the incoming government decides to do with these additional resources," Guzman said in an email response to the fiscal impact of RBI dividend transfer. The general elections are currently underway and a new government would be formed sometime next month. A full budget for 2024-25 fiscal year will be tabled in July. Fitch in its response further said that while higher dividend is supportive of near-term fiscal performance, its one-off nature, however, means the medium-term impact of this windfall on India's consolidation and debt path will be limited. The larger-than-expected RBI dividend to the government is likely positive for fiscal metrics, helping to ensure that the fiscal deficit target of 5.1 per cent of GDP will be met and could be utilized to lower the deficit beyond the current target, Zook said.

The interim budget presented in Parliament earlier in the year had set a fiscal deficit target of 5.1 per cent of the GDP for 2024-25, down from 5.8 per cent in 2023-24. As per the fiscal consolidation roadmap, the deficit — the difference between government expenditure and revenue — would be brought down to 4.5 per cent by 2025-26. Another global rating agency S&P Global Ratings on Thursday said the additional dividends from the RBI are around 0.35 per cent of GDP and India can get a 'rating support' over time, if it utilises the windfall dividend to reduce fiscal deficit. "The additional dividends may not necessarily lead to a full decrease of the deficit, due to potential revenue shortfalls in areas like divestment receipts or additional allocation to expenditures in the final budget. If it does lead to a full decrease of the deficit, we believe it will lead to a faster path of fiscal consolidation that, in turn, will provide rating support over time," S&P Global Ratings Analyst YeeFarn Phua had told PTI. All three global rating agencies — Fitch, S&P and Moody's — have the lowest investment grade rating on India with a stable outlook.

Bengaluru, Hyderabad see jump in IT sector job opportunities in April: Report

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Even as overall job opportunities in the IT sector declined by 3.6 per cent nationwide, openings gained traction in technology hubs Bengaluru and Hyderabad that saw a growth of 24 per cent and 41.5 per cent, respectively, during April, a report said on Friday. According to data from Indeed, job postings in the IT sector have increased by 41.5 per cent in Hyderabad and 24 per cent in Bengaluru, highlighting the growing prominence of these cities as top destinations for IT professionals. There has also been a significant growth in job clicks, with a 161 per cent rise in job seeker interest in Hyderabad and an 80 per cent increase in Bengaluru, the report added. Overall, there has been a decrease in IT job opportunities nationally, with job postings declining by 3.6 per cent, indicating that tech companies are being cautious in hiring due to the uncertain global economic climate, said the report. The report is based on data related to job postings and job clicks on Indeed's platform in April compared to that of the corresponding month in 2023. The report further revealed that the rise in top five job postings are for skills in analysis, agile, APIs, javascript and SQL. "Software and IT positions seem to be highly sought after, not just by those currently working in the field but also by individuals looking for new career opportunities. Despite the layoffs, the appeal of IT jobs has risen.

India should impose tax on ultra wealthy to tackle wealth inequality: Study

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India needs to impose a 2 per cent tax on net wealth exceeding Rs 10 crore and a 33 per cent inheritance tax to deal with the problem of rising inequality in the country, a new research paper co-authored by economist Thomas Piketty has suggested. The paper titled 'Proposals For a Wealth Tax Package to Tackle Extreme Inequalities in India' propose a comprehensive tax package on the ultra-wealthy to tackle the massive concentration at the very top of the wealth distribution and create valuable fiscal space for crucial social sector investments. "Raise phenomenally large tax revenues while leaving 99.96 per cent of the adults unaffected by the tax. "In a baseline scenario, a 2 per cent annual tax on net wealth exceeding Rs 10 crore and a 33 per cent inheritance tax on estates exceeding Rs 10 crore in valuation would generate a massive 2.73 per cent of Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in revenues," the paper suggested.

The paper said that the taxation proposal needs to be accompanied by explicit redistributive policies to support the poor, lower castes, and middle classes. "For example, the baseline scenario would allow nearly doubling the current public spending on education, which has stagnated at 2.9 per cent of GDP over the past 15 years, well below -- less than half -- the 6 per cent target set by the government's own National Education Policy 2020 (NEP 2020)," it said. The paper noted that the taxation proposal needs to be extensively debated, with a consensus on specific details of the design emerging from a broader democratic debate on tax justice and wealth redistribution in India. The paper has been authored by Thomas Piketty (Paris School of Economics and World Inequality Lab), Lucas Chancel (Harvard Kennedy School and World Inequality Lab) and Nitin Kumar Bharti (New York University and World Inequality Lab). According to the paper, debates on income and wealth inequality in India have gained significant momentum in recent weeks, partly following the release of our study 'Income and Wealth Inequality in India, 1922-2023: The Rise of the Billionaire Raj', which revealed that economic disparities in India have reached historical highs. These extreme inequalities and their close link with social injustice can no longer be ignored, it said. The authors in their working paper released on March 20 had said inequality in India has skyrocketed since the early 2000s, with the income and wealth share of the top 1 per cent population rising to 22.6 per cent and 40.1 per cent, respectively, in 2022-23. "Between 2014-15 and 2022-23, the rise of top-end inequality has been particularly pronounced in terms of wealth concentration. "By 2022-23, top 1 per cent income and wealth shares (22.6 per cent and 40.1 per cent) are at their highest historical levels and India's top 1 per cent income share is among the very highest in the world, higher than even South Africa, Brazil, and the US," the paper had said.

JLR to produce Range Rover, Range Rover Sport in India; prices set to fall up to 22 per cent

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Tata Motors owned Jaguar Land Rover will start producing its Range Rover and Range Rover Sport in India, marking a first for the iconic models in their 54-year long history, to be rolled out from a country outside of the UK. Till now the two models were only produced in Jaguar Land Rover's Solihull plant in the UK and then exported to around 121 markets globally, including India. With enhanced localisation, the Marquee British brand aims to make the two products better in terms of pricing to cater to a larger set of customers in India. The price of two models is set to come down in the range of 18-22 per cent with the local production. Tata Group Chairman N

Chandrasekaran lauded Tata Sons Chairman Emeritus Ratan Tata for bringing the JLR brand to the Tata family 15 years ago. "The Range Rover will be manufactured right here in India is just a super feeling. Its a very very special moment and I feel proud," he said. He noted that the company would see an increase in sales in the country going ahead. "We will sell more, I am very confident that it's going to be a great journey from here," Chandrasekaran said. And the manufacturing here should really send a signal and show the confidence that the company has in this market, he added. In an interaction with PTI, JLR India Managing Director Rajan Amba said the local production is a big step for the company to make the two models accessible to a wider set of customers in the country. "For the first time in the history of the company, the Range Rover and Range Rover Sport will also now be produced in India...This is a huge announcement for us as these are our flagship cars and have only been produced in Solihull in their 54 years long history," Amba said. He noted that the step is also an indication of the kind of market India is developing when it comes to premium products. "This (local assembly) will allow us to take the benefit of the duty structure and to bring the price down of the two models by about 18 to 22 per cent," Amba said. The dip in prices will help in making the models affordable and enhance sales, he added. JLR India reported an 81 per cent increase in retail sales last fiscal in India at 4,436 units.

Amba said the company has calibrated expansion plans to grow business in the country. "Our intent is to double our business in the next three years. We will bring innovative products, leverage the Tata Group ecosystem and bring in the latest innovative products to the country," he said. JLR also plans to introduce six new battery electric vehicles in India over the next four years, Amba noted. With local production, the price of Range Rover Sport, which would be available for deliveries in August this year, would come down to Rs 1.4 crore as compared with Rs 1.9 crore currently, Amba said. Similarly, the price of Range Rover which will be available in the market from this month-end, would cost Rs 2.6 crore for the Autobiography version which is currently tagged at around Rs 3.3 crore, he added. "So the products remain very premium but more in a price range where we can capture that aspiration and desire to be affiliated to the brand," Amba said. The local production would also help over the next year to bring down the waiting period on the two SUVs, he stated. With the addition of the two models, JLR India will now be rolling out a total of six models from the Pune-based facility it shares with Tata Motors. JLR currently has an installed production capacity of around 10,000 units per annum at the plant. The company already assembles Range Rover Velar, Range Rover Evoque, Jaguar

F-PACE and Discovery Sport in Pune. JLR Chief Commercial Officer Lennard Hoornik said that over the last few years, India has witnessed steady and spectacular economic growth and is poised to grow consistently in the near future as well. This growth has resulted in tremendous opportunities to localise product offerings for Indian customers, he stated. Local manufacturing of the Range Rover and Range Rover Sport in India is the next significant step towards the brand consolidating its position as the most desirable modern luxury SUV family, in the country, Hoornik said. Range Rover MD Geraldine Ingham said retail sales in India have surged and the local manufacturing of the Range Rover will enable the brand to respond to this growing demand.

AI anchors to helm DD Kisan relaunch on May 26

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Meet AI Krish and AI Bhoomi, the world's first Government TV channel Artificial Intelligence (AI) anchors on Doordarshan Kisan. Powered by artificial intelligence, these virtual presenters are poised to redefine the way farmers across India receive agricultural information. Scheduled to debut on May 26, the same day the channel was launched 15 years ago, these anchors will provide crucial updates on agricultural research, market trends, weather forecasts, and government schemes in fifty languages, catering to viewers from Kashmir to Tamil Nadu and Gujarat to Arunachal Pradesh. What will set these new presenters apart will be their capability of tirelessly delivering news 24/7 without fatigue as they will provide crucial updates on agricultural research, weather forecasts, and government schemes in fifty languages, catering to viewers from Kashmir to Tamil Nadu and Gujarat to Arunachal Pradesh. This unparalleled linguistic versatility ensures that crucial agricultural information reaches every corner of the country, empowering farmers with knowledge and insights to make informed decisions. With AI Krish and AI Bhoomi leading the charge, DD Kisan is hoping to pioneer a revolution in agricultural communication, ushering in an era of accessibility, efficiency, and inclusivity. These AI anchors epitomize the channel's commitment to serving farmers and advancing the agricultural sector in India, said an official from the DD Kisan. "The DD Kisan is committed to promoting balanced farming, animal husbandry, and plantation, thus fostering a comprehensive approach to agriculture.

As it embarks on this new chapter with AI anchors, DD Kisan continues its journey towards uplifting and empowering the agricultural sector, contributing to the holistic development of rural India," the official added. Commenting on DD Kisan's initiative in the AI sector, Dr. Subi Chaturvedi, global AI expert and Chief Corporate Affairs and Public Policy Officer at InMobi, welcomed the move, which she said, is in keeping with the Centre's vision of 'Digital India'. "This highlights the transformative potential of AI, emphasizing its capacity to revolutionize every sector," she said, stressing the importance of understanding AI's applications and potential use cases. Dr. Chaturvedi also pointed out that with changing times, AI is not merely an option but an essential opportunity for any country aspiring to become an economic powerhouse. The AI in Agriculture Market is projected to grow from USD1.7 billion in 2023 to USD4.7 billion by 2028, highlighting the pivotal role of advanced technologies in this sector. DD Kisan is the only TV channel in the country, which has been established by the central Government and dedicated to the farmers.

Zee seeks USD 90 million termination fee from Sony for calling off merger

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Zee Entertainment Enterprises has sought a termination fee of USD 90 million (around Rs 748.7 crore) from the Sony Group for calling off the USD 10 billion merger deal in January this year. It has sought termination fees from two Sony Group entities — Sony Pictures Networks India (SPNI), now known as Culver Max Entertainment, and Bangla Entertainment (BEPL), according to a regulatory filing from Zee Entertainment Enterprises Ltd (ZEEL) on Thursday. ZEEL has, on account of Culver Max's and BEPL's breaches under the Merger Cooperation agreement (MCA), terminated the MCA by issuing a letter dated May 23, 2024. The company has sought a termination fee from Culver Max and BEPL under the provisions of the MCA, it said. "Culver Max and BEPL have failed to comply with their obligations under the MCA. Therefore, the company has terminated the MCA and called upon Culver Max and BEPL to pay the termination fee i.e. The aggregate amount equal to USD 90 million in accordance with the MCA," it said. Earlier on January 22, 2024, Sony Group Corporation (SGC) had said that ZEEL did not satisfy the merger conditions and initiated arbitration proceedings before the Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC) claiming USD 90 million as termination fee. This was contested by ZEEL before the SIAC, which denied any interim relief to the Sony group against the Indian broadcaster. ZEEL had moved the National Company Law Tribunal seeking implementation of the proposed merger and later withdrew its plea. "We hereby wish to inform you that the company has, on account of Culver Max's and BEPL's breaches under the MCA, terminated the MCA by issuing a letter dated May 23, 2024, and sought a termination fee from Culver Max and BEPL in accordance with the provisions of the MCA," the filing said. ZEEL and SPNI had entered into an agreement to merge on December 22, 2021. On August 10, 2023 the Mumbai bench of NCLT approved the scheme of merger of ZEEL with Sony group entities Culver Max Entertainment and BEPL, which could have created a USD 10 billion media entity.

INDIA SQUAD FOR FIFA WC QUALIFIER AGAINST KUWAIT: GOGOI, HAMMAD MISS OUT DUE TO INJURIES

PTI ■ BHUBANESWAR
Forward Parthib Gogoi and defender Muhammad Hammad were left out due to injuries as India announced a 27-member squad for the World Cup qualifying match against Kuwait on June 6 which would mark the end of long-serving captain and ace striker Sunil Chhetri's international career. The squad for the game to be held in Kolkata was announced by head coach Igor Stimac.

A total of 32 players had been camping in Bhubaneswar, out of which five — Phurba Lachenpa, Parthib, Imran Khan, Hammad and Jithin MS — have been released from the camp.

"All of them were very professional and hard-working. The competition is really strong amongst them, especially in the positions of Jithin and Parthib," Stimac said in a media release.

"Parthib and Hammad suffered minor injuries a few days back and will need 7-14 days of rest," he added without specifying the nature of injuries. The remaining players will continue to train in Bhubaneswar until May 29 when they will travel to Kolkata. The Blue Tigers will face Kuwait at the Vivekananda Yuba Bharati Krirangan on June 6. Following the match against Kuwait, India will travel to take on Qatar on June 11 in their last two matches of Group A. India are currently placed second in the group, with four points from four matches. The top two teams in the group will qualify for Round 3 of the FIFA World Cup Qualifiers and book their berth at the AFC Asian Cup Saudi Arabia 2027.

Chhetri, 39, announced his decision to retire from international football on May 17. The match against Kuwait will bring the curtains down on a glittering 19-year career during which he became India's top goal-scorer with 94 strikes. He will leave the scene as India's most-capped player after competing in 151 matches at the end of his swansong contest. Chhetri will bow out third in the list of goal scorers among active players behind Cristiano Ronaldo and Lionel Messi. He currently sits fourth in the all-time list of international goal-scorers.

THE SQUAD:
Goalkeepers: Gurpreet Singh Sandhu, Amrinder Singh, Vishal Kaith.
Defenders: Amey Ranawade, Anwar Ali, Jay Gupta, Lalchungnunga, Mehtab Singh, Narendra, Nikhil Poojary, Rahul Bheke, Subhasish Bose.
Midfielders: Anirudh Thapa, Brandon Fernandes, Edmund Lalrindika, Jeakson Singh Thounaojam, Lallianzuala Chhangte, Liston Colaco, Mahesh Singh Naorem, Nandhakumar Sekar, Sahal Abdul Samad, Suresh Singh Wangiam.
Forwards: David Lalhlansanga, Manvir Singh, Rahim Ali, Sunil Chhetri, Vikram Partap Singh.

Indian lose 1-4 to Belgium in FIH Pro League goalkeeper Loick van Doren. Two minutes later, India secured back-to-back penalty corners but an off-colour Harmanpreet failed to utilise the chances. Belgium eventually took the lead in the 22nd minute when captain Denayer guided the ball into the goal after Sreejesh blocked the first shot from Florent van Aubele. Belgium doubled their lead four minutes into the third quarter from a blistering counter-attack from Tanguy Cosyns, Denayer and Nicolas de Kerpel to eventually win a penalty corner, which was converted by Hendrickx through Sreejesh's feet. Charlier made it 3-0 in favour of Belgium in the 49th minute after receiving a long cross-field pass from Denayer, finding the bottom-right corner of Sreejesh's goal. India drew one back five minutes from the final hooter with a superb reverse hit strike from Abhishek to beat Van Doren. It was not to be India's day as they conceded a penalty stroke just before the hooter for not being 5m away when a Belgian player was receiving the ball inside the circle, and Hendrickx stepped up to seal the deal. India skipper Harmanpreet was understandably disappointed with the performance. "We did some good things, but the finishing wasn't there. Defensively we need to improve, man-to-man marking needs to get better. Excited to play them again on Saturday, looking forward to improve game-by-game," he said after the match on Thursday night.

AP ■ PARIS
If this is, as expected, Rafael Nadal's final French Open, it will be one that everyone — the 37-year-old Spaniard included — surely will remember vividly. No matter how healthy the guy everyone calls "Rafa" might be. No matter how long his stay in Paris lasts. No matter whether he somehow adds another championship at Roland Garros to the record 14 he owns. Narrator: Not even Nadal truly believes that is possible. Indeed, it wasn't even certain that he would be in the field until his name was placed in the bracket on Thursday - and he was drawn to face No. 4 seed Alexander Zverev - although Nadal has been practicing all week on site. "I am not negative," he explained. "I am just realistic." Think back just a couple of years ago to Serena Williams' farewell at the U.S. Open. That's the sort of atmosphere and adoration likely to be on display whenever Nadal swings a racket or simply strolls around the compact-for-a-Grand-Slam-grounds in the southwest section of the

If this is Rafael Nadal's last French Open, it should be similar to Serena Williams last US Open

French capital where the clay-court tournament begins Sunday. "I cannot predict what kind of emotions I am going to have there," said Nadal, who has been saying for a while that he thinks 2024 will be his final season before retirement. "I just want to enjoy every day." That's been difficult lately because of hip and abdominal muscle injuries that limited him to 20 matches, and a 9-11 record, over the past 20 months. Nadal missed nearly all of 2023 after hurting his hip during a loss at the Australian Open that January. He had surgery almost exactly a year ago and sat out the French Open for the first time since making his debut there in 2005, when, naturally, he claimed the trophy at age 19. A torn hip muscle this January forced Nadal to miss the Australian Open; an ab problem sidelined him later. He returned in April, but in three places he's won a total of 27 titles — Barcelona, Madrid, Rome — Nadal made it no further than the fourth round anywhere and called himself "unpredictable." That stretch was capped by a 6-1, 6-3 loss to Hubert Hurkacz at the Italian Open, a result so demoralising that Nadal wondered aloud whether he should bother showing up at Roland Garros, although did say he was reluctant to skip "the most important event of my tennis career." The 22-time major champion is not able to run at full speed or compete with full force. He does not have the match-readiness required to succeed. "For him to feel like he's going in with his C' game - not B' game; C' game - and maybe fearing almost that he could lose first or second round?" said Chris Evert, who won seven of her 18 Grand Slam titles in Paris. "He's been such a perfectionist on that surface, why would he want to expose himself at that level?" No man has won even half as many French Opens as Nadal. His winning percentage there is .974. He had streaks of five championships in a row, four in a row and three in a row. This says it all: There's already a statue of him near the main stadium. "It's really a paramount challenge to play him in Roland Garros," said Novak Djokovic, whose 24 major trophies make him the only man with more than Nadal. "He's an incredible athlete. The tenacity and intensity he brings on the court, particularly there, is something that was very rarely seen, I think, in the history of this sport." Djokovic - who formed, with Nadal and the now-retired Roger Federer, the so-called Big Three - and Iga Swiatek are the defending champions in France and both are ranked No. 1. Carlos Alcaraz and Jannik Sinner are the emerging stars of men's tennis; Aryna Sabalenka and Coco Gauff have that status in the women's game. But all eyes — of spectators and of other athletes — will be on Nadal for however long he stays in the field. "He's probably the only player that when I practice on the court next to him, I would literally zone out of my practice to watch him," said Gauff, the 20-year-old American who won last year's U.S. Open. "The way he carries himself is just great. His legacy is going to be something that is almost unmatched when it comes to just the intensity in which he approaches everything. That's something that the players will miss and the fans will miss." So this represents a chance to say "Merci" and "Au revoir." No one — maybe not even Nadal himself - knows how many more times he will play, whether at Roland Garros, which also is set to host tennis at the Summer Olympics (he already owns singles and doubles golds), or anywhere else.

Indian compound mixed team enters final

Jyothi Surekha Vennam and Priyansh advanced to the compound mixed team final, confirming India's second medal, while Deepika Kumari brightened the country's gloomy recurve campaign, reaching to her second successive Archery World Cup semifinals after her comeback in the Stage 2 of the event, here on Friday. The compound women's team of Jyothi, Parneet Kaur and Aditi Swami had assured India's first medal by making the final on Wednesday. Young compound archer Prathamesh Fuge is also eyeing a medal as he advanced to the semifinal in the individual category. The Indian compound mixed team, No. 2 in world rankings, dropped just two points from 16 arrows to eliminate the host country's duo of Han Seungyeon and Yang Jaewon 158-157 in a tight semi-final. Jyothi and Priyansh will face USA's Olivia Dean and Sawyer Sullivan in the gold medal match on Saturday in a clash of the top-two world ranked nations. The fourth-seeded Indian duo earlier ousted Vietnam 159-152 in the first round of 16, missing the target only once from 16 arrows. India then thwarted some strong resistance from formidable Mexico, seeded fifth, to win 156-155 in an intense quarterfinal. Former world number one Deepika, who is making a return to the International circuit after embracing motherhood in December 2022, secured four back-to-back wins to enter the last-four stage and remained the only

DEEPIKA IN SUCCESSIVE ARCHERY WC SEMIFINALS AFTER COMEBACK
Indian recurve archer in the medal hunt. Deepika will face home favourite and world No. 2 Lim Sihyeon in Sunday's semi-final, four weeks after the rising South Korean 20-year-old won the Shanghai Stage 1 gold by in a ruthless straight set victory. Starting at fourth in the qualifications, Deepika overcame early jitters when she pipped Slovenian teenager Tinkara Kardinar in the shoot-off after 1-3 down in a dramatic first round clash. Deepika started out shooting twice in the red ring (8-8) to total 26 and lost the first set by two points. She drew level in the second set, shooting 27, and came on her own in the third where she dropped just a point to win the set 29-25. Deepika won the fourth set 28-24 as pressure began to mount on the 18-year-old opponent. But there was more drama as Tinkara won the fifth set 28-27 to force a shoot-off that the Indian won 9-8. Deepika then went on defeat Loc Thi Dao of Vietnam (6-2), Lisa Barbelin of France (6-0), Elif Berra Gokkirk of Turkey (6-

Sindhu enters semifinals of Malaysia Masters, Ashmita loses

PTI ■ KUALA LUMPUR
Double Olympic medallist P V Sindhu took a giant stride towards securing a title at the Malaysia Masters after progressing to the semifinals with a hard-fought win over top seed Han Yue of China here on Friday. World No. 15 Sindhu recovered from a mid-game slump to outwit Han, ranked sixth, 21-13 14-21 21-12 in a 55-minute quarterfinal battle to avenge her loss to the Chinese in their last meeting at the Asia badminton Championships in Ningbo last month. Sindhu, a former world champion, will now square off against either Indonesia's Putri Kusuma Wardani or Thailand's Busanan Ongbamrunphan in the last four stage. In other results, Ashmita Chaliha's fine run ended in the quarterfinals with a 10-21 15-21 loss to sixth seed Zhang Yi Man of China. Sindhu, who last won the Singapore Open in 2022, gave a good account of herself during the 55-minute match as she broke off from 3-3 in the opening game to take a 11-5 cushion at the break. The Chinese slowly made her way to 13-16 but Sindhu reeled off the remaining five straight points to take the opening game. Stung by the reversal, Han zoomed to a 5-0 lead after the change of sides. She continued to dominate the proceedings as Sindhu struggled. The result was she jumped to a massive 15-2 advantage and despite some fightback from the Indian, Han comfortably took the match to the decider. Sindhu gathered her wits in the third game to open up a massive 11-3 lead at the break, which proved decisive as Han just couldn't bridge the gap.

Nagal drawn against world number 18 Khachanov in French Open 1st round

PTI ■ PARIS
India's top-ranked singles player Sumit Nagal was handed a tough opening round at the French Open as he is set to face world number 18 Karen Khachanov of Russia here on Sunday. World No. 94 Nagal earned a direct entry into the main draw of the Grand Slam after his consistent performances on the tour. He became the first Indian male player to qualify for the French Open main draw since Prajnesh Gunneswaran in 2019. Nagal, though, has not been in the best of form leading up to the clay Grand Slam. He lost to Holger Rune in the third round of the Monte Carlo Masters, before missing the Madrid and Rome Masters. The 26-year-old then made first round exits from the Bordeaux Challenger and Geneva Open earlier this month. On the other hand, Khachanov who has been seeded 18th, had reached the quarterfinals last year. He won the Qatar Open 250 in February and enjoys an impressive 21-7 record this season.

Record breaking gymnast Oksana Chusovitina bid for ninth Olympics ends with injury

AP ■ TASHKENT (UZBEKISTAN)
Record-breaking 48-year-old gymnast Oksana Chusovitina says an injury has ended her attempt to qualify for what would have been her ninth Olympics. Chusovitina said in a statement on Instagram that she had been injured while practicing her floor exercise ahead of the Asian championships in her home country of Uzbekistan. That was Chusovitina's last opportunity to qualify for the upcoming Paris Olympics. "I will not be able to take part and I am very upset as I have been preparing for this competition for a long time," Chusovitina said in the statement Thursday. The competition was starting

Friday, and Chusovitina said she would be there to support the rest of the Uzbekistan team. Chusovitina's long career is all the more striking in gymnastics, a sport where medalists are often in their teens and elite-level careers rarely last long. She has previously competed alongside gymnasts a third of her age. Chusovitina won an Olympic gold medal in 1992 with the Unified Team of athletes from post-Soviet nations and a silver in the vault in 2008 representing Germany, where she lived at the time. Chusovitina is one of the last remaining active athletes in any sport to have represented the Soviet Union, for which she won world championship gold in 1991 at the age of 16. Only one female Olympian has competed at the Games more times than Chusovitina. Georgian shooter Nino Salukvadze marked her ninth Olympic appearance in Tokyo in 2021 and has qualified for this year's Games in Paris. Chusovitina has repeatedly retired and un-retired over the decades and made no statement on her future following her latest injury. She has previously left open the possibility she might carry on competing even if she misses the Paris Olympics. "If next year I can't qualify," Chusovitina said in September at the Asian Games, "maybe I will give up my career."

DK BOOSTED ME WHEN I STRUGGLED IN IPL 2022: KOHLI

PTI ■ BENGALURU

Premier India batter Virat Kohli has paid tribute to Dinesh Karthik after his retirement at the end of RCB's IPL campaign, describing the veteran wicketkeeper-batter as a wise and honest person who lifted his spirits during a phase of struggle in the league's 2022 season.

The 38-year-old, who joined Royal Challengers Bengaluru from Kolkata Knight Riders in 2022 for his second stint after 2015, played his last IPL match on Wednesday when RCB were eliminated by Rajasthan Royals in the playoffs.

"Off the field, I have had some really nice and interesting conversations with him. He is a wise man, and has great knowledge about a lot of things, not just cricket," Kohli said in a special tribute video posted by RCB.

The little over 11-minute video features tributes from Karthik's wife, Dipika Pallikal Karthik; his personal mentor, Abhishek Nayar; RCB assistant coach, Malolan Rangarajan; and fitness coach, Shanker Basu.

Kohli recalled the 2022 season when he averaged just 22.73 scoring 341 runs from 16 matches as they missed the final bus losing to Rajasthan Royals in the second qualifier.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed my conversations with him. Even in that phase in 2022 when I did not have a great IPL season, I was really struggling for confidence," he recalled.

"He sat me down a couple of times and just gave me a very honest explanation of how he saw things and maybe I am not able to see them myself," Kohli added.

A veteran campaigner in the IPL, Karthik has been involved in all the editions of the league since the inaugural 2008 season and has represented six franchises, including leading KKR to the playoffs in 2018. He ended with 4,842 runs in 257 matches with 22 fifties.

"I just like his honesty, his courage to go and speak to anyone about things that he really feels about. And that, I think, is the most special thing for me when it comes to Dinesh. "And that's something that I've always cherished about him. And that's why we get along really, really well."

A CORRECT PLAYER: Kohli also hailed Karthik as a technically "correct" and versatile batter.

"I always looked at Dinesh and felt like he was such a correct player technically that he could adapt to any kind of role that's been given to him, and I remember watching him in the 2013 season where he got 600 runs or something and he batted brilliantly at three.

"I saw him play shots which were like 'wow'. I think he's done brilliantly to switch and become a renowned finisher.

"...I wish him all the very best for all his future endeavours moving forward." Kohli hoped that Karthik would stay connected to the RCB franchise in some capacity.

"...Because his expertise when it comes to cricket is priceless. I think he's of great value to this franchise," he said.

'HYPERACTIVE, CONFUSED PERSON': Recalling his first meeting with Karthik during India's tour of South Africa in 2009, Kohli said at first, he found him to be a hyperactive and confused person moving all over the place.

"The first time I met him, I remember we were playing in South Africa if I am not wrong in the Champions Trophy 2009. It was the first time I shared the change room with Dinesh, and I found him to be very amusing, very... I would say hyperactive, confused person. "Most of the time, he was moving all over the place, never stopping. That was my first impression of Dinesh.

"He is an outstanding talent, brilliant batter to watch and my first impression and the present-day impression are not far — just that he has become wiser and calmed down a lot," Kohli added.

No reason for Dhoni to stop playing: Kaif

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Former India batter Mohammad Kaif feels there is no reason why Mahendra Singh Dhoni should not play the next season of the IPL, given his form, fitness and ability to play big shots with ease.

Speculation has been rife that Dhoni, who has led CSK to five IPL titles, could have played his last IPL season.

The former CSK skipper, who had undergone surgery to treat a knee injury issue last year, scored 161 runs in 73 balls at a strike rate of 220.55 this season. He was also good behind the stumps.

Kaif thinks Dhoni has enough left in the tank to keep playing.

"Personally, I don't think he's done, he could not win the game (last league match against RCB). In the last over after hitting a six, he got out. You could make out seeing his body language that he seemed very disappointed not winning the game for CSK," Kaif, a cricket expert with Star Sports, told PTI Videos.

"Why he should not come back? He is fit, he is scoring runs and hitting sixes, and there's no reason to stop playing... It's up to him, we can't say with Dhoni what's his plan," added Kaif, regarded as one of India's greatest fielders.

20 points.

"He (Iyer) missed the whole IPL last year and KKR probably missed his captaincy in 2023. The way he is changing the bowlers, and picking his playing XI, he looks very calm under pressure.

"In a tournament like the IPL, you have to be very composed, you have to know what's happening in the game and Iyer has come a long way. He has become a much better captain now," opined Kaif.

Experts are also attributing KKR's success this season to Gautam Gambhir returning to the side as the team mentor but Kaif said the team's superb run had got a lot to do with how Iyer marshals his boys on the field.

"We always talk about (Gautam) Gambhir, but he can't enter the field... In the rope with the players. Iyer has been there with the players and it will help him grow as a person and player.

"He missed out on the (T20) World Cup this year (beginning in the US and West Indies next month), but certainly it's great learning for him, captaining the team, leading it to the finals. He has a great future ahead," said Kaif.

Kaif said KKR were the overwhelming favourites to lift the IPL trophy this season given that they have quality bowlers and a balanced side, the two ingredients required to win.

"I think KKR is a very well-balanced side. Tournament-winning team has to have good bowlers, KKR has got the bowlers. You saw how (Mitchell) Starc bowled against (SRH in Qualifier 1), it's a balanced side. KKR has got all bases covered in terms of batting and bowling. They are the team to beat in IPL, they are way ahead."

Shah denies approaching Aussies for coach job

PTI ■ MUMBAI

BCCI secretary Jay Shah on Friday rejected claims that the Board has approached any former Australian cricketer to be India's next head coach and hinted that Rahul Dravid's successor could be an Indian by saying that he should have a "deep understanding" of the game's structure in the country.

While Dravid has reportedly told the board that he is not interested in a third stint, former Australian players like Ricky Ponting and Justin Langer have claimed that they have turned down approaches for the high-profile position.

"Neither I nor the BCCI have approached any former Australian cricketer with a coaching offer. The reports circulating in certain media sections are completely incorrect," Shah said in a statement.

Both Ponting and Langer are involved in the Indian Premier League as the head coaches of Delhi Capitals and Lucknow Super Giants respectively.

World Cup-winning former batting star Gautam Gambhir, who is currently mentoring Kolkata Knight Riders, is speculated to be among the top contenders for the post right now.

"Finding the right coach for our national team is a meticulous and thorough process. We are focused on identifying individuals who possess a deep understanding of the Indian cricket structure and have risen through the ranks," Shah said.

The BCCI secretary also said that having in-depth knowledge of Indian domestic cricket will be one of the important criteria for appointing the next coach. He said the understanding would be crucial to "truly elevate Team India to the next level."

Ponting had claimed on Thursday that he was approached to take over the role but said that he declined as it did not fit with his "lifestyle" right now.

Ponting told ICC review, "I've seen a lot of reports about it. Normally these things pop up on social media before you even know about them, but there were a few little one-on-one conversations during the IPL, just to get a level of interest from me as to whether I would do it."

"I'd love to be a senior coach of a national team, but with the other things that I have in my life and wanting to have a bit of time at home... everyone knows if you take a job working with the Indian team you can't be involved in an IPL team, so it would take that out of it as well," he said.

Taking up the job of coaching India also implies spending 10-11 months away from home but Ponting said his family seemed ready for it.

"...I had a whisper to my son about it, and I said, 'Dad's been offered the Indian coaching job' and he said, 'Just take it, dad, we would love to move over there for the next couple of years'" he said.

"That's how much they love being over there and the culture of cricket in India, but right now it probably doesn't exactly fit into my lifestyle," Ponting said.

Meanwhile, Langer, who had remained noncommittal about applying for India coaching role after IPL clash between LSG and Mumbai Indians, said he would "never say never" but at the same time revealed receiving crucial advice from Lucknow skipper KL Rahul.

Langer told BBS Stumped Podcast, "It would be an amazing job. I also know that it's an all-encompassing role, and having done it for four years with the Australian team, honestly, it's exhausting.

And that's the Australian job." "You never say never. And the pressure of doing it in India... I was talking to KL Rahul and he said, 'You know, if you think there's pressure and politics in an IPL team, multiply that by a thousand, (that is) coaching India. That was a good bit of advice, I guess,' Langer said.

"It would be an awesome job, but not for me at the moment," he added.

Former England and current Royal Challengers Bengaluru head coach Andy Flower had also ruled himself out of the race saying he is happy being involved in franchise cricket for now.

Chennai Super Kings chief executive Kasi Viswanathan has done the same for Stephen Fleming claiming the former New Zealand captain won't be keen on taking a job which requires him to work 'nine-ten months a year'.

Shah described the position of India's head coach as the most prestigious job in international cricket, saying it demands high level of professionalism given the kind of support the national side enjoys.

"When we talk about international cricket, no role is more prestigious than that of the Head Coach of the Indian Cricket Team. Team India commands the largest fan base globally, enjoying support that is truly unrivalled," he said.

"Our rich history, passion for the game make this one of the most lucrative jobs in the world. The role demands a high level of professionalism as one gets to nurture some of the best cricketers in the world and an assembly line of talented cricketers to follow.

"Catering to the aspirations of a billion fans is a huge honour and the BCCI will pick the right candidate, capable of propelling Indian cricket forward," Shah added.

Indian junior men hockey team loses 4-5 against Dutch local club

PTI ■ ANTWERP (BELGIUM)

Indian men's hockey team will hope to iron out the flaws ahead of the Paris Olympics, while the women's team under new skipper Salima Tete will look to overcome the disappointment of not qualifying for the Summer Games, when the gruelling European leg of the FIH Pro League commences here with matches against Argentina on Wednesday.

The men's team under drag-flicker Harmanpreet Singh is coming into the tournament following a 0-5 Test series whitewash at the hands of Australia and would look to make the most of the opportunity in Europe to get back to winning ways ahead of the Paris Games.

"Undoubtedly, we are focused on the Olympics but we also need to give our best to finish as champions (in Pro League) and secure direct qualification for the 2026 Hockey World Cup as well," said Harmanpreet, whose team is currently placed third with 15 points from eight Pro League games.

Netherlands are leading the charts with 26 points (12 matches), while Australia are on 20 points (8 matches).

"To achieve both these targets (doing well ahead of Olympics and secure direct qualification for 2026 World Cup), we will strive to give our all on the pitch and win all our matches," the skipper added.

Besides Argentina, the Indian men's team will also test their Olympic preparations against Belgium, Germany and Great Britain. The Indian women, currently placed sixth on the Pro League table, have a chance to climb up the table when they take on world No.7 Argentina on Wednesday.

The world No.6 side has earned eight points from an equal number of games in the Pro League home leg, registering victories against the United States and Australia.

Newly-appointed captain Salima Tete said the friendlies against South Africa in India earlier this month had helped her team prepare for the European leg of the Pro League.

"We played practice matches against South Africa (in India) to prepare for these Hockey Pro League matches. The point difference between us and second-placed China is just seven points," said Tete in a Hockey India release.

"We (will) aim to close this gap in the remaining matches against Argentina, Belgium, Germany, and Great Britain in a bid to finish as high as we can," she added. China are placed second on the table with 15 points from eight games, while leaders Netherlands are on 36 points with an all-win record in 12 games.

Delhi HC appoints administrative committee for Equestrian Federation of India

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court has appointed an ad-hoc administrative committee under its retired judge to run the affairs of the Equestrian Federation of India (EFI) following allegations of "impropriety" in its functioning.

Justice Tara V Ganju said, ordinarily, a court does not interfere in the administration of a national sports federation but when there is "clear impropriety" and the administration is being carried on in an "arbitrary" or "perverse" manner, the situation cannot be ignored. The court said the ad-hoc administrative committee (AAC) shall have former high court judge Justice Najmi Waziri as its chairperson, former Chief Election Commissioner S Y Quraishi as an observer/member and advocate Rohini Musa as member.

The order came on a petition by Rajasthan Equestrian Association.

"Pending the conduct of elections, EFI cannot be left without any office bearers.. This Court cannot in good conscience leave the functioning of the EFI solely in the hands of those office bearer(s) whose tenure has expired and who are acting in a capricious manner and in violation of the directives of the court," said the court in an order passed on May 21.

"Accordingly, the interest of justice would be served if an ad-hoc Administrative Committee is appointed to supervise the administration of the Respondent No. 1/EFI," the court ordered.

Atwal, Jeev open with 69s at seniors PGA Championships

PTI ■ BENTON HARBOR (US)

Indian golfers Arjun Atwal and Jeev Milkha Singh opened with identical rounds of 2-under 69 each and were Tied-19th at the end of the first round at the KitchenAid Senior PGA Championship, one of the Majors for the Seniors, on the Champions Tour here.

As the Indian duo began strongly, leading the field in the USD 3.5 million seniors' event (over-50s), were Australian Richard Green and Englishman Richard Bland, who shot 7-under 64 each at Harbor Shores.

Green hit all 13 fairways and 17 of the 18 greens in regulation en route to the 64. Green shared the lead with Englishman Richard Bland, playing his first over-50s event. Bland showed great overall form and did not miss a fairway until the eighth hole, which was his 17th of the day. He was bogey free on his debut on the PGA TOUR Champions.

Defending champion Steve Stricker opened with a 5-under 66 and was among five players with 66.

Jeev, playing from the first alongside Italian Emanuele Canonica (69) and Jeff Schmid (66), opened on the first with three pars and then had a great run. He birdied the fourth and then had three in a row from seventh to ninth to turn in an impressive 4-under. On the back, he missed a couple of birdie chances but was hit by a double bogey on Par-4 12th and no more birdies or bogeys to finish with 69.

Atwal, the only Indian to have won on the main PGA TOUR, began on the 10th with a birdie and added a second on the 12th. He dropped three shots in a row from 16th to 18th and turned in 1-over.

On the back nine, Atwal birdied the first, third and the ninth and bogeyed Par-4 sixth to finish in 69, while his playing partners Jake Reeves (89) and Kirk Triplett (75) struggled through the day.

Presidents Cup International team captain Mike Weir mixed six birdies with one bogey to open in 5-under 66 and was T-4. He played alongside Darren Clarke (67) and Ernie Els (70).
