MALIWAL'S NIGHTMARE

Was slapped, kicked, abused, threatened, says FIR

SAUMYA SHUKLA ■ NEW DELHI

The First Information Report (FIR) lodged by AAP leader and Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal against Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's Personal Secretary Bibhav Kumar has revealed shocking details of the assault. Maliwal alleged that Kejriwal's aide Kumar "slapped" her "at least seven to eight times" while she "continued screaming" and "brutally dragged" her while "kicking" her on the "chest, stomach, and pelvis area", and threatened with dire consequences. "When I called 112 (emergency number) after the assault, Kumar said do what you have to do. You can't spoil anything for us. We'll bury and dump you in such a place that no one will even know," read the FIR.

In a related development, Maliwal on Friday went to Tis Hazari court to record her statement before a magistrate about the alleged assault on her. Metropolitan magistrate Katyayini Sharma Kandwal recorded Maliwal's statement in her chambers. Under section 164 CrPC, a judicial magistrate is empowered to record any statement or confession made before him during the course of an investigation.

The medico-legal case report also confirmed that she has suffered internal injuries to her face.

Maliwal underwent a four-hour-long medical check-up at AIIMS Delhi in the wee hours of Friday. A Delhi Police team reached AIIMS with the AAP MP at around 11 pm and left at around 3:15 am. Delhi Commission for Women (DCW) member Vandana Singh also accompanied Maliwal. During this medical examination, an X-ray and CT scan were done.

According to the FIR, on May 13, Maliwal visited Kejriwal's camp office at his Civil Lines residence where she called and messaged Kumar, but couldn't reach him. As she waited for the CM in the drawing room, Kumar "suddenly barged in, screamed at her without provocation and abused her", before allegedly assaulting her, it states.

Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal leaves Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's residence at Civil Lines, in New Delhi, on Friday. The Delhi Police on Friday took Maliwal to the CM's residence to recreate the crime scene as it investigates the alleged assault on her there earlier this week, officials said.

The FIR based on Maliwal's complaint, recorded on Thursday, three days after the incident, states that as Kumar was not present at the CM's house, she went inside the residential area "through the main door, as she has always done in the past year", and told the CM's staff that she was there to meet him.

The FIR reads, "I went inside the camp office and called Kumar, but I could not go in. I then sent a message to his mobile number (through WhatsApp). However, there was no response. I then went inside the residential area through the main door as I have always done in the past year. Since Kumar was not present, I entered the residence area and informed the staff present there to tell the CM that I was there to meet him."

She said a staff member informed me that the CM would meet me shortly, and suddenly, the PS of the CM, Bibhav Kumar, barged into the room. "He started screaming without any provocation and even resorted to verbal abuse. I was stunned by this sudden outburst and reacted by telling him to stop talking to me in such a manner and to call the CM. He said, "How dare you not obey us? How can you not obey us? Your status is so low that you won't refuse us. You're a lowly woman, we'll teach you a lesson," she claimed in the FIR.

Maliwal said while uttering these words, he came and stood right in front of me. "Without any provocation on my part, he started hitting me repeatedly," she said.

"He slapped me at least 7-8 times while I continued to scream for help. I felt absolutely shocked and kept screaming for assistance."

Historic taint on AAP, Kejriwal

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

For the first in the country's jurisprudence, the Enforcement Directorate (ED) has named Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) as well as its convener and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal as an accused in the supplementary charge sheet filed in a money laundering case linked to the alleged excise scam. This is the first time that a recognised national political party has been mentioned as an accused in a corruption case. Until now, no political party has been implicated under India's anti-money laundering laws, although several NGOs and other organisations have been scrutinised by the ED. This is also the first time that Kejriwal, who was arrested on March 21 and granted 21-day interim bail by the Supreme Court last week, has been mentioned as an accused in the ED's chargesheet. ED has claimed to have established a money trail linked to Kejriwal.

Caste a big factor in Ram Janmabhoomi

BISWAJEET BANERJEE/
KAMLESH SRIVASTAVA ■
AYODHYA

The grand inauguration of the Ram Mandir by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on January 22 has thrust Ayodhya into the international spotlight. However, the electoral dynamics in this Lok Sabha constituency, still commonly referred to as Faizabad, are far more complex, deeply influenced by intricate caste equations alongside temple politics. In this high-stakes seat, the BJP's Thakur candidate Lallu Singh faces stiff competition from SP's Dalit candidate and sitting MLA Awadhesh Prasad, and BSP's Brahmin candidate Sachchidanand Pandey. Pandey, who recently switched allegiances from the BJP to the BSP, aims to capture the Brahmin vote bank.

"Ayodhya is synonymous with Lord Ram. But when it comes to elections, invoking Ram's name is not enough. The caste of the candidates also matters," observed political analyst Rajesh N Bajpayee. He highlighted that while outsiders might see Ayodhya as a BJP bastion due to its long-standing advocacy for the Ram Temple, the reality is more nuanced. Since 1989, there have been eight Lok Sabha elections, and the BJP has won only four of them. Lallu Singh and Vinay Katiyar each won twice, while Mitrasen Yadav won three times-twice on an SP ticket and once as a CPI candidate. The SP also clinched the seat in 2009.

During the peak of Ram Lahar following the demolition of the Babri Mosque in 1992, the BJP faced defeat in the 1993 Vidhan Sabha election due to a strategic alliance known as social engineering. Kanshi Ram and Mulayam Singh Yadav joined forces, leading to the formation of the first Government by the SP and BSP. Locals attest to Ayodhya's transformation following the consecration of Lord Ram. The city now bustles with traffic jams and crowds of pilgrims from across the country. The once tranquil 13-km road connecting Ayodhya with Faizabad, now renamed Ram Path, has become the city's bustling hub, reminiscent of Connaught Place in Delhi. "This Ram Path has become the city's lifeline, with prominent eateries, big merchandise shops, and business centers emerging. Quaint souvenir shops have transformed into modern establishments adorned with Ram Temple models, saffron flags, and other Hindu memorabilia," said BP Singh, a local resident. Despite the prominence of saffron politics, caste dynamics remain crucial in the Faizabad Lok Sabha seat, which votes on May 20 in the fifth phase. Modi underscored the BJP's focus on this constituency with a roadshow on May 5, supporting Lallu Singh's bid for a third consecutive term. Dalits constitute 26 per cent of the constituency's population, mainly from the Rawat, Chamar, and Kori communities. SP candidate Awadhesh Prasad, a seasoned politician and the party's Dalit face, is contesting from here. Prasad, the SP MLA from the Milkipur Assembly constituency, has had a long political career since his first Assembly win in 1977. After losing the 2017 Assembly election, Prasad reclaimed the Milkipur seat in 2022.

Meanwhile, former BJP leader Sachchidanand Pandey is the BSP's candidate, representing Brahmin interests.

"This contest is likely to be interesting because caste plays a significant role," said VN Das, a local journalist. "The upper castes predominantly support the BJP, while Dalits and Muslims are likely to back the INDIA Bloc candidate."

Veteran BJP leader Lallu Singh is relying on a unified Hindu vote to secure his seat. Singh's campaign, led by Kamla Kant, is based out of the party's office on Ram Path.

Despite his strong local connections and presence at community events, Singh is actively canvassing to retain his position.

The caste composition of the Faizabad constituency includes 26 per cent Dalits (Rawat, Chamar, Kori), 14 per cent Muslims, 12 per cent Kurmi, 12 per cent Yadav, 12 per cent Brahmin, 6 per cent Rajput, 4 per cent Vaish, 5 per cent Kewat/Mallah/Nishad, and 12 per cent other OBCs. This diverse demographic will play a critical role in the upcoming election.

As Ayodhya continues to evolve, the intersection of religious significance and electoral politics makes the Faizabad Lok Sabha seat a focal point in the 2024 elections.

Nautapa adds heat to remaining phases

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

On the day the people of 58 parliamentary constituencies in six States and two Union Territories, including Delhi, Haryana, and Uttar Pradesh, go to the polls for the sixth phase of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, the hottest nine days of the year, also known as Nautapa, will begin.

Nautapa, which will continue until June 2, is also considered the birth time of the southwest monsoon. During Nautapa, the Sun is closest to the Earth, resulting in intense heat. The maximum temperature is expected to range from 42 degrees Celsius to 45 degrees Celsius, which may feel like 50

degrees Celsius. Polling during Nautapa has raised concerns about a low voter turnout in the gigantic plains in the remaining phases.

According to weather astrologer Dr SN Vajpayee, Nautapa will begin from May 25, the day people of Delhi will cast their vote and will continue till June 2.

"It is believed that due to the heat of the Sun and the water element of Rohini, this is the birth time of the monsoon and due to this reason Nautapa is considered to be the birth time of the monsoon," he said.

According to astrologers, during the nine days of Nautapa, a large portion of the earth experiences severe heat when four planets — Sun, Mars, Mercury and Saturn — are at the same place in the horoscope.

The combination of these four planets is called Samasaptaka Yoga. The conjunction of the Sun, Mars, Mercury and Saturn is observed annually during Nautapa.

It is believed that rain during Nautapa indicates less rainfall during the monsoon. Nautapa without rain means there will be sufficient rain during the monsoon.

Vajpayee said, "Nautapa will begin with the entry of the Sun into Rohini Nakshatra on May 25 at 3:17 pm. On the second day of Krishna Paksha, the Sun will enter Rohini Nakshatra from Kritika and will remain in this Nakshatra till June 8."

Modi enhanced India's prestige: Rajnath

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Addressing a 'jan sabha' along with Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath at Munshipulia on Friday, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh emphasised India's strengthened global standing. "India is no longer considered weak," he asserted. He also visited the Yahiyaganj Gurudwara after addressing the gathering. Reflecting on the enthusiastic turnout, Singh said: "I often engage in dialogue with people on a personal level. Based on the turnout, I believe we will win 400 seats in the four phases of elections."

Singh attributed India's enhanced prestige on the international stage to Prime Minister Narendra Modi. "India was previously not taken seriously on the international stage but is now listened to attentively," he added. Asserting India's stance on defence, Rajnath said: "While India does not initiate attacks, it will retaliate if attacked." Highlighting the BJP's commitment to social justice, Singh stated, "We have made reservation more effective and provided ten per cent reservation to the backward communities." He criticised parties spreading rumours and emphasised the BJP's commitment to positive politics through direct engagement with the public. Regarding concerns about democracy, Singh referenced historical events, stating, "Congress party's imposition of emergency during Indira Gandhi's tenure was a threat to democracy." Sharing a personal experience, he said: "For three months I was kept in isolation. I did not get parole when my mother died to attend her last rites." Singh criticised Delhi Chief Minister Kejriwal, citing mistreatment of a woman MP from his own party, and accused him of betrayal and spreading rumours about BJP. On the issue of POK, Singh said: "POK was India's part, is India's part, and will remain India's part." He emphasised seeking blessings from voters to fulfil their expectations rather than making promises during elections. Singh credited Lucknow's development to Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, praising his administration's maintenance of law and order and emphasising Uttar Pradesh's potential for growth.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh with UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath in Lucknow on Friday

No cakewalk for Rajnath, say political experts

SHARMILA KRISHNA ■ LUCKNOW

Political experts predict that Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, the BJP candidate for Lucknow Lok Sabha constituency, is heading for a win, though it would not be a walkover. BJP's Mohanlalrajni Lok Sabha candidate Kaushal Kishore is likely to face a tough fight, while Lucknow East bypoll candidate OP Srivastava is tipped to have an easy win. However, a veteran politician said on the condition of anonymity that predictions aside, it would not be a cakewalk for Rajnath. "Lucknow Lok Sabha constituency will not be a cakewalk for Rajnath Singh because Samajwadi Party candidate Ravidas Mehrotra will put up a good fight. There are people dissatisfied with the BJP. The youth are questioning why exam papers are consistently leaked. It's understandable when it happens once or twice, but not repeatedly. The issue isn't that Rajnath Singh is a towering personality and Ravidas Mehrotra is no match; it's that people want to see the BJP lose. Ravidas Mehrotra may not win, but he is in the contest," he said. He added that He also suggested that the Mohanlalrajni seat might see a victory for the Samajwadi Party candidate. Regarding the BSP, he noted it is largely absent. "The BSP has a vote bank among the Dalits. Reservation issues resonate with the Dalits, who believe the BJP will tamper with the Constitution, and they may vote for the Samajwadi Party this time," he said. A political expert from a university in Lucknow pointed out that while the BJP has traditionally dominated the Lucknow Lok Sabha constituency, this election would not be a walkover. "The Samajwadi Party has their voters, and there is also an anti-BJP vote going to them. In the 2022 elections, the Samajwadi Party crossed 30 per cent vote share, which is significant in Uttar Pradesh's electoral politics. Ravidas Mehrotra has been an MLA and has a presence that will challenge Rajnath Singh. However, Rajnath Singh's stature and the respect he commands, even among some Muslims, give him an edge," he explained. He further remarked that Kaushal Kishore is facing a tough fight due to family controversies. "Kaushal Kishore has been embroiled in controversies regarding his family, making his race a tough one," he said. About OP Srivastava, he noted that ruling parties generally have an advantage in by-elections. "Since the seat was with the BJP, they have an upper hand," he added. Another political expert from a prominent university in the city predicted a clear win for Rajnath Singh. "Rajnath Singh has been here for a long time and has support from several castes and professions. He is well-connected and grounded, familiar with the Lucknow setup," she said. She also noted that Srivastava from the Lucknow East Assembly constituency enjoys significant support due to the Kayastha lobby. "Caste dynamics play a crucial role, and Srivastava has substantial backing," she added. Addressing the opposition parties' claims that the BJP would alter the Constitution, she dismissed it as propaganda. "Most parties are addressing similar issues like inflation. Caste will influence votes, and the SC/ST communities are unlikely to vote for the BJP due to reservation concerns," she added.

CITY BRIEFS

MEETING

Lucknow Divisional Commissioner Roshan Jacob addressed a meeting held at the auditorium of Indira Gandhi Pratishthan on Friday. It was attended by over 700 people from various sectors of society. The purpose was to encourage maximum voter turnout in the elections on May 20. The meeting saw participation from lawyers, state and Central government pensioners, civil defense personnel, human rights activists, traders, doctors, engineers, and representatives of state employee unions. The meeting commenced with an oath-taking ceremony, where participants pledged to exercise their franchise and motivate others to vote. The divisional commissioner unveiled an electronic signboard featuring actor Ashutosh Rana urging people to vote in large numbers. Jacob highlighted the poor voter turnout in previous elections due to lack of awareness. She said that times have changed, and people should be educated about their voting rights. She pointed out that special arrangements were made at polling stations for senior citizens to help them locate the right booths. ASHA volunteers and NGOs will also guide them.

PULMONARY PALLIATIVE CARE

King George's Medical University has become the first centre in the state to provide pulmonary palliative care. On the occasion, head of the respiratory medicine department Prof Surya Kant said that pulmonary palliative care is a boon for patients with severe and chronic respiratory diseases. "When such a patient comes to us, our first objective is to treat them, the second is to control the symptoms of their disease, the third is to provide relief from the disease, and the fourth is to manage the severity of their disease. If we are unable to stop it, this is where pulmonary palliative care begins," he explained. Pulmonary palliative care is a multi-dimensional medical approach that includes subtle exercises, yoga, pranayama, pain treatment, counselling, diet, humane compassion, oxygen nebulisation, and other supportive medical therapies.

ILLEGAL VENDORS HELD

An intensive checking campaign against illegal vendors was conducted at stations in the Lucknow division of North Eastern Railway on Friday. # Probe begins into suicide by LESA worker

Lucknow (PNS): An investigation has been initiated into the case involving LESA contractual employee Gulab Kumar, who allegedly ended his own life by jumping in front of a train near Sitapur road police station crossing on Thursday. The bereaved family members alleged that Gulab committed suicide due to harassment by the JE and SDO posted at Kathwara power house, who threatened to file an FIR against him for electricity theft. The family members, who staged a protest at the power house demanding the registration of an FIR against the JE and SDO in question, also managed to forcibly switch off the feeder. The victim was employed at Kathwara power station in the area. In a complaint filed with the police on Thursday evening, Gulab's wife Bitti alleged that SDO Rajkumar, JE Ajay Kumar, and SSO Rahul Gautam threatened to file a case against him for allegedly tampering with his house meter and pilfering electricity. Furthermore, the bereaved family members claimed that Gulab was transferred to Ahibaranpur sub-centre two days ago following an alleged conspiracy against him. Itaunja SDO Rajkumar stated that JE Ajay Kumar had asked Gulab to report to the power house on Wednesday night regarding an 11KV breakdown. When Gulab did not comply, Ajay Kumar visited Gulab's house and allegedly found evidence of power theft, resulting in an FIR being lodged against Gulab. He was the sole breadwinner for the family. Executive engineer DP Singh reached the scene and assured the family of Rs 6 lakh in compensation. He added that the SDO and JE would be removed from their positions due to opposition from family members and villagers.

Youth makes attempt on life of his gay partner

Lucknow (PNS): A sensational case of dispute and brutal attack on homosexual partner has come to the fore in Barabanki. One of the individuals, who said he was in a homosexual relationship, attacked his partner with a sharp knife and then tried to commit suicide on Wednesday evening. According to reports, the incident reportedly took place on Wednesday in Rasulpur village of Barabanki. The accused, identified as Mohammed Junaid, was allegedly in a homosexual relationship with Mohammed Saif for the past two years. On Wednesday evening, Junaid asked Saif to meet him outside the village. During the meeting, the duo was involved in a verbal brawl which escalated resulting in the attempt on Saif's life. Junaid allegedly took out his knife and slit Saif's throat. The accused later slit his wrist and ran away from the spot as Saif lost consciousness. The villagers, meanwhile, heard the screams of Saif, who had become unconscious by the time they reached to help him. The villagers saw Saif struggling for life in a pool of blood and immediately took him to the hospital and informed his parents about the incident. Saif is alive and is being treated by the doctors who have referred him to KGMU Trauma Centre. Based on the complaint filed by the parents of Saif, the police have registered a case against Junaid.

Coming together of Cong, SP results in bad omen: Yogi

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath actively participated in the election campaign of the Bharatiya Janata Party across three districts of Uttar Pradesh on Friday. He teamed up with Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Barabanki to canvass for party candidates contesting from Mohanlalganj and Barabanki Lok Sabha constituencies. Additionally, he addressed a rally in Bahraich in support of the candidate from Gonda Lok Sabha seat. In Ayodhya, Yogi addressed a large gathering to back the party's candidate for the Faizabad Lok Sabha seat. The chief minister mainly targeted the Samajwadi Party and Congress, describing the new alliance between them as "khoonchuswa" (bloodsucker). He remarked that whenever these two parties come together, it always results in some bad omen. Furthermore, Chief Minister Yogi said, "The nation will not pardon those who perpetrate violence against devotees of Lord Ram." He then shifted his attention to the SP, highlighting its involvement in food grain scams in Gonda while now promoting 'Free Atta and Free Data'. Addressing a massive public meeting in Barabanki in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath said, "With three phases of elections remaining, the entire population is already confident about the results on June 4. Thus,

'Abki baar, 400 paar', echoing nationwide, has become a public declaration." This is a call to action by the country's common people against the divisive, appeasement and anarchic policies of the Congress and the INDI Alliance across the country. He appealed to the people to vote in favor of BJP's candidates Rajrani Rawat in Barabanki and Union minister Kaushal Kishore in Mohanlalganj. Chief Minister Yogi described Prime Minister Narendra Modi as the pioneer of India's cultural renaissance, the architect of 'Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat', and the world's most popular politician. Addressing a public meeting in Balrampur, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath said that the strategy to construct a grand Ram temple in Ayodhya was formulated in Balrampur in 1949, giving the people of the district the "first right" on Lord Ram. He credited Prime Minister Modi with ending a 500-year wait by establishing the divine Ram temple in Ayodhya. Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, in a powerful statement, underscored that the achievement of the Ram temple was a testament to the power of democratic voting. "This is why the slogans 'Abki Baar Modi Sarkaar' and '400 Paar' resonate across the nation, symbolising the triumph of democratic processes in our country," he said. The public also shouted, 'Jo Ram ko laye hain, hum unko layenge'. Attacking the opposition, the chief minister said, "The Congress and SP have a history of being against Lord Ram." He emphasised that this election was a contest between 'Ram Bhakts' and 'Ramdrohis'. Continuing his attack, Chief Minister Yogi said, "There was a food grain scam in Gonda during the SP regime which cannot be forgotten. Today, they talk about giving 'free atta and free data', whereas they used to rob the poor." He was addressing a public meeting in the Gonda Lok Sabha constituency in Utraula. During the meeting, he appealed to voters to vote for Gonda Lok Sabha candidate Kunwar Kirtivardhan Singh. Addressing the rally for the Faizabad Lok Sabha seat in Milkipur, Ayodhya, Chief Minister Yogi attacked the opposition and said, "The current version of Congress and SP are very dangerous. Whenever

Cong, allies driven by nepotism: Shah

SP MLA joins BJP

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

In a fervent address at a public meeting in Daultpur in Rae Bareilly, Union Home Minister Amit Shah criticised the Congress and its allies, accusing them of familial politics and claimed decisive victories for the Bharatiya Janata Party in the upcoming Lok Sabha elections. The event was organised in support of BJP candidates Smriti Irani (Amethi) and Dinesh Pratap Singh (Rae Bareilly), and saw the defection of SP MLA Manoj Pandey to the BJP, along with several block chiefs. Shah asserted that the Congress and its allies, including Lalu Prasad Yadav, Mamata Banerjee and Sonia Gandhi, are driven by nepotism. He claimed Lalu Prasad Yadav wants his son to become the chief minister, Mamata Banerjee wants her nephew to become the chief minister, and Sonia Gandhi desires her son to become the prime minister. He accused them of intending to "re-consecrate the Ram temple" and potentially lock it again, undermining its sanctity.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah at a rally in support of BJP's Amethi candidate Smriti Irani

Referring to Rae Bareilly and Amethi, Shah declared these parliamentary constituencies belong to the people, not political families. "This time, Smriti Zubin Irani from Amethi and Dinesh Pratap Singh from Rae Bareilly will win and reach Parliament," he asserted confidently. Amit Shah also addressed national security, stating, "Congress leaders like Mani Shankar Aiyar and Ferooz Abdullah call Pakistan-occupied Kashmir Pakistan. But let me tell them, it was, is, and will always be India's. Soon, it will be merged with India." He lauded Prime Minister Narendra Modi for abolishing Article 370 and criticised the Congress for wanting to reinstate it. He emphasised Modi's resilience, referring to his "56-inch chest" as a symbol of strength. Shah challenged Rahul Gandhi, suggesting that corrupt leaders from Congress will face jail under Modi's administration. He claimed that under Modi's leadership, Uttar Pradesh has seen significant development, with new factories and industries creating employment. He contrasted this with previous administrations, highlighting that Amethi did not have a collectorate office for 70 years until Smriti Irani became the MP, after which the BJP government constructed one. He concluded by condemning the Gandhi family's perceived neglect of their constituencies, pointing out that over 200 people died in an NTPC accident without a visit from Sonia Gandhi.

People have understood BJP's drama, rhetoric: Mayawati

Lucknow (PNS): Bahujan Samaj Party supremo Mayawati, who went to Pratapgarh district on Friday, said the people of the country had understood the drama and rhetoric of the Bharatiya Janata Party. "Now the time has come to answer; this time BJP is not going to form the government," she said. Addressing an election rally near Vishwanath Ganj town in support of BSP candidate Prathamesh Mishra from Pratapgarh parliamentary constituency, Mayawati said that the government had oppressed the Brahmins a lot. "This government has made the lives of poor labourers and traders miserable. Election manifestos are just slogans, which no party ever implements. That is why we do not believe in election manifestos but in work," the BSP chief said. Attacking the Narendra Modi government, Mayawati said it does not give free ration to those who are getting it from its own pocket. "The money for free ration is not spent from the pockets of the Sangh and BJP. The Central government is against the Constitution and reservation," she added. Mayawati said that BSP was fighting the elections strongly without any alliance as it respects everyone by involving all communities in ticket distribution. Mayawati warned her voters and supporters not to be misled by the rival parties, including BJP, who made tempting promises. Taking Congress to task, Mayawati said that the grand old party was in power the most since Independence and most of the scams happened during its regime. She added that the Samajwadi Party talks about nutritious ration but all these are tricks to get votes. "On the instructions of the Supreme Court, it has come to light that the rival parties, including Congress and BJP, fill their coffers in elections by taking billions of rupees from capitalists. BSP is the only party that contests elections on the strength of workers. BSP has not taken a single rupee from capitalists," she said. Mayawati said that Dalits and tribals were not getting jobs in the whole country. "Unemployment, corruption and inflation are increasing in the country. In this election, BJP wants to come to power at the Centre by using all means. The election manifestos of the opposition parties prove to be hollow after the elections," she said.

I have power to make PM say anything: Rahul

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Congress leader and party candidate from Rae Bareilly, Rahul Gandhi, on Friday claimed that he has the power to make Prime Minister Narendra Modi say anything. "I said Narendra Modi never takes the name of Ambani, Adani. After two days, he took the names of Adani and Ambani. Then I said we would credit money to bank accounts taka-tak, Narendra Modi repeats 'khata-khat' in his speech. Tell me what you want to hear from Narendra Modi, I will make it happen in two minutes. And also tell me if you don't want Modi to say something. I will make that happen as well," Rahul Gandhi said while campaigning in Rae Bareilly, the second seat that he is contesting from in the Lok Sabha elections 2024. "Modi is accepting his defeat. I can give it in writing that Narendra Modi will not remain the prime minister on June 4," Rahul Gandhi said. Rahul struck an emotional chord while addressing an election rally in Amethi, the constituency that sent him to the Lok Sabha for three consecutive terms before electing Smriti Irani in the 2019 general elections. While speaking at the rally, Rahul asserted that he continues to "belong" to Amethi even though he is not contesting the seat this time. Rahul said he would treat Amethi and Rae Bareilly equally when it comes to development if his party comes to power at the Centre. "If Rs 10 is spent for development work in Rae Bareilly it would be the same for Amethi too... this is my promise," he said addressing a joint rally with Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav in support of Congress candidate KL Sharma, a longstanding party confidante. The Congress has fielded KL Sharma from Amethi for the ongoing Lok Sabha election. He is pitted against Amethi's sitting Bharatiya Janata Party MP and Union minister Smriti Irani, among other candidates. Sharma has the hopes of the Congress as well as the INDIA bloc pinned on him. Rahul reiterated the party promise of giving Rs 8,500 to each youth per month — Rs 1 lakh in a year — if the party forms government at the Centre.

He also said his party would do away with the Agniveer scheme for recruitment in the armed forces and bring back the permanent appointment system with the provision of pension. Striking an emotional chord with the people of Amethi, Rahul said, "I came here for the first time 42 years ago with my father. Whatever I have learned about politics, it has been taught to me by the Amethi public. At that time, there were no roads and no development. And I have witnessed the relationship of love between the people here and my father." Rahul's father and late former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi represented Amethi in the Lok Sabha for 10 years in a row until his assassination in 1991. Speaking further, Rahul said, "So, you do not think that I am contesting from Rae Bareilly... I was, am and will belong to Amethi." Rahul Gandhi said, "On June 4, a list of poor people of every state will be made, the name of one woman will be selected from every poor family and then on June 5, we will make a law and send one lakh rupees per year to every woman's bank account. If they can make 22 billionaires, then we can make crores of lakhpatis." Akhilesh Yadav appealed to the public to vote for both INDIA bloc candidates Rahul Gandhi from Rae Bareilly and Kishori Lal Sharma from Amethi Lok Sabha constituencies. Besides Rahul, Akhilesh Yadav and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, former chief minister of Rajasthan Ashok Gehlot, KC Venugopal, UP Congress in-charge Avinash Pandey were also present on the stage with Akhilesh Yadav.

Giving son Rahul to Rae Bareilly people, he won't disappoint you: Sonia

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Congress leader Sonia Gandhi said on Friday that she had giving her son to the people of Rae Bareilly and Rahul would not disappoint them. Sonia Gandhi, was present on the stage along with her son Rahul Gandhi to campaign for the first time in this poll in Uttar Pradesh. She also thanked the people for giving her an opportunity to serve them as a Member of Parliament for 20 years. "My everything is all given by you. So, brothers and sisters, I am giving you my son. You consider me yours," she said. Trying to strike an emotional chord with the voters, Sonia asked the people to consider Rahul Gandhi too as their own. "Rahul will not disappoint you," she said as Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi stood by her side on the stage at a joint election rally in Rae Bareilly on Friday. The Lok Sabha campaign in Rae Bareilly where Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav was also present, was a special one as Sonia Gandhi addressed the rally at the end. "I taught the same lessons to Rahul and Priyanka which Indira Gandhi and the people of Rae Bareilly had taught me. To respect all, protect the weak, fight against injustice for the rights of people. Don't be afraid, because your roots of struggle and traditions are very deep," she said. Sonia Gandhi, who was first elected as a Member of Parliament from Rae Bareilly in 2004 and represented the seat till earlier this year when she vacated it on getting elected as a member of the Rajya Sabha, said that "You gave me a chance to serve you as MP for 20 years. "This is the biggest asset of my life. My head bows down in front of you in respect. Rae Bareilly is my family and Amethi is my house. I have many fond memories associated with these two places. The relationship is as pure as Maa Ganga," she said.

Fight in Amethi between actor and humble leader: Akhilesh

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Samajwadi Party president Akhilesh Yadav on Friday, along with former Congress president Rahul Gandhi, campaigned in Amethi Lok Sabha constituency. Akhilesh Yadav targeted Bharatiya Janata Party candidate in Amethi, Union minister Smriti Irani, saying the battle in the Congress stronghold was between "actor and a humble leader". Sitting Amethi MP Smriti Irani is the BJP candidate while KL Sharma, a confidant of Gandhi family, is the congress candidate in Amethi. Rahul Gandhi lost the Amethi Lok Sabha seat to Smriti Irani in the 2019 elections. "Smriti will soon be 'smriti' (memory) for the people of Amethi as she has packed her bag after the INDIA bloc announced KL Sharma, a humble Congress leader, as its candidate, the SP chief said. Referring to the Ujjawala yojana under which free LPG connections have been provided to the rural households, Akhilesh Yadav said "cylinder walon ne Amethi mein surrender kar diya hai". "Chaar phase ke chunaav ke baad BJP charon khane chit ho gai hai (BJP has fallen flat after four phases of Lok Sabha elections). BJP is no longer making the tall claim of 'Abki Baar 400 Paar', the SP chief said and added, "The actual meaning of this slogan is that the BJP will get only 143 seats out of total 543 seats in Lok Sabha." Akhilesh Yadav also targeted the two SP MLAs from Amethi district, Maharaji Prajapati and Rakesh Pratap Singh, who recently switched loyalty to the BJP. "The BJP first framed Gayatri Prajapati in a false case and sent him to jail. Now they have surrendered before his wife Maharaji Prajapati for her support to win the Lok Sabha election in Amethi," he said. Without naming the SP MLA Rakesh Pratap Singh, the SP chief said, "He has recently been gifted a new vehicle by his new political masters. He is in the process of purchasing a new flat in Lucknow as recently he visited a couple of apartments." Akhilesh Yadav reminded the people about the unfulfilled promise made by the Prime Minister Narendra Modi during the 2022 UP assembly election regarding the stray cattle menace. "The prime minister had promised to end the cattle menace during the assembly elections. So far no action has been taken and innocent people are still dying and farmers are suffering huge losses due to the damages caused by the stray animal to the standing crops," he said, adding that after over two years of state assembly elections, the farmers were forced to guard their agricultural fields round the clock. Playing the caste card, the SP chief reiterated his charge that the BJP intends to amend the Constitution to deprive the poor and disadvantaged sections of the society of their special rights and privileges enshrined in the Constitution. "The BJP is conspiring to amend the Constitution to delete the provisions for reservation to Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes. We have to dislodge this party from power as it intends to amend the Constitution," the SP chief said. Akhilesh Yadav asserted that the INDIA bloc government would come to power on June 4 would work for the prosperity of the farmers by bringing legislation for giving guarantee for minimum support price for agricultural commodities.

For our unemployed youth
For the backbreaking inflation
For our suffering farmers
For our molested women
For the attacks on reservation

'Insulting' women will sink AAP, says BJP leader

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ VARANASI

State secretary of Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and in-charge of Youth and Mahila Morcha Archana Mishra, launching a scathing attack on Delhi Chief Minister (CM) Arvind Kejriwal, strongly condemned the "misbehaviour" with Rajya Sabha MP Swati Malwal. She said that "insulting" a responsible public representative at the CM's residence is a disgrace to the society and it will sink the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) due to sigh of woman power.

"It is surprising that on such episode of insulting a woman, not only Congress and Samajwadi Party (SP) but also Congress leader Priyanka Vadra being a woman, remain silent", she said, reacting sharply on the statement of SP chief Akhilesh Yadav who reportedly said that apart from this incident, there are other works too. Archana Mishra said that on one hand, the PM is uplifting women through

Terrorism started to consume those who long practised it: Jaishankar

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said here on Friday Asia is witnessing new tensions in land and sea as agreements were dishonoured and rule of law disregarded while terrorism has started to consume those who have long practised it. These assertions came in the backdrop China's military continuing posturing along the frontier in eastern Ladakh and Pakistan's support to cross-border terrorist activities.

In an address at an event hosted by the Confederation of Indian Industries (CII), Jaishankar also talked about the power of currency and how "threat of sanctions" are deployed in the "toolbox" of global diplomacy, in remarks that came days after the US warned of punitive measures after India and Iran sealed a deal on the Chabahar port. Jaishankar extensively delved into the consequences of the Ukraine conflict, escalation of violence in West Asia and disruption of logistics in view of the geopolitical tensions, sanctions, incidents of drone attacks in the Red Sea and climate events. "The world is experiencing a 3F crisis of fuel, food and fertilisers. In Asia, new tensions have emerged in land and sea as agreements are dishonoured and rule of law disregarded," he said at the annual general meeting of the CII. "Terrorism and extremism have started to consume those who have long practised it. In many ways, we are actually going through the perfect storm," he said. "For India, the task is to mitigate its impact on itself and contribute to stabilising the world to the extent possible. It is this judicious combination of 'Bharat First' and 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' that defines our image as 'Vishwa Bandhu,' he said. In remarks seen as a reference to China, Jaishankar also flagged concerned over "weaponisation" of economic activity and how access to raw materials or even stability of tourism are being utilised to exert political pressure.

"A different dimension of the concerns that we harbour is one emanating from a combination of excessive market shares, financial domination and technology tracking," he said. "Between them, they have actually allowed for the weaponisation of virtually any form of economic activity. We have seen how both exports and imports, access to raw materials or even stability of tourism has been utilized to exert political pressure," he said.

"At the same time, the power of currency and the threat of sanctions have been deployed in the toolbox of international diplomacy," he said.

The external affairs minister highlighted challenges of uncertain logistics and supply chains. "Quite apart from these conscious efforts, there have been collateral consequences of hard currency shortages and uncertain logistics. All these are driving countries to re-look at the working of globalization and devise their own solutions," he said.

"This includes exploring new partners, it includes creating shorter supply chains, building inventories and even devising new payment arrangements. Each of these has some consequence for us," he added. The external affairs minister said the government is focusing on economic growth and stronger manufacturing besides making efforts to accelerate the flow of requisite capital, technology and best practices.

"Our export promotion efforts, already yielding results, will intensify across the world. The use of credit lines and grants to familiarize the world with our products and capabilities will also deepen," he said. Jaishankar said there is the larger branding endeavour of the attractions of today's India that will make a case to the world of the benefits of partnership.

The current times call for something more than business as usual because trust and reliability have become so important, he said.

"We must recognize that our economic priorities will have to align with our strategic interests, whether we are speaking of market access, investments, technologies, or even education and tourism. This will be even more so as 'Make in India' gathers more steam in domains like defence, semiconductors and digital," he said.

"An economy with India's prospects also has to look at accessing global resources more seriously if we are to fuel our growth," Jaishankar said.

"For long, we have looked at Russia from a political or security perspective. As that country turns eastwards, fresh economic opportunities are presenting themselves," he said. Jaishankar said the world is today "paradoxically rebuilding itself even as it is being disrupted. As new production and consumption centres emerged in the last few decades, there is an accompanying compulsion to create commensurate logistical corridors," he said.

Protests in PoK result of Pak's policy of systemic plundering of resources: India

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India on Friday said the protests witnessed in several parts of Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) are a "natural consequence" of Islamabad's continued policy of systemic plundering of resources from the region that remains under its "forcible and illegal" occupation.

India also asserted that the entire Union territories of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh "have been, are and shall always remain integral parts of India".

Violent protests erupted in PoK over rising costs of food, fuel and essential utilities as Pakistan reels under a severe economic crisis.

"We have seen reports on protests in several areas of Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir," external affairs ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said at his weekly media briefing. He was responding to a question on the protests in PoK. "We believe that it is a natural consequence of Pakistan's continued policy of systemic plundering of resources from these territories which remain under its forcible and illegal occupation," Jaiswal said. "Such exploitative policies deny the local people, rights over their own resources and the benefits thereof," he said. "We reiterate that the entire Union territories of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh have been, are and shall always remain integral parts of India," he added. Two days ago, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar asserted that Pakistan-occupied Kashmir was, is and will always be part of India.

"I have no doubt in my own mind that someone living in PoK is comparing their situation with someone actually living in Jammu and Kashmir, saying that how is it that people today are actually progressing there," he said. Earlier this month, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said India will never give up its claim of PoK but it won't have to capture it with force because its people, on their own, would want to be part of India after seeing the development in Kashmir.

Government's proposal to sell over the counter medicines in general stores opposed

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Government's proposal to sell over-the-counter (OTC) drugs, including antibiotics and other habit-forming medications, in general stores and grocery stores has sparked significant opposition from retail chemists and pharmacists associations across the States.

They are vehemently opposing the move, expressing concerns about the potential risks associated with easier access to these medications. Bengal Chemists and Druggists Association (BCDA), under the All India Organisation of Chemists & Druggists (AIOCD) a leading association of pharmacists in India, said the move will pose significant public health risks due to the lack of pharmacist oversight and potential for misuse of drugs.

Sankha Roy Chowdhury and Sajal Gangopadhyay, President and General Secretary respectively of the BCDA said, "Approximately 400 compositions in general stores and grocery stores including antibiotics, other habit forming drugs, nasal spray and others will be on the OTC at traditional grocery shops. "Such a move would flout the existing drug and cosmetics laws of India, pharmacy regulations and pertinent legal charters including directives from the supreme court."

The Associations asserted that India's existing network of nearly 12.40 lakh retail chemists and 13.5 lakh pharmacists is sufficient to meet the population's needs for OTC drugs. They urged the government to consider these concerns and involve all stakeholders in discussions before implementing any policy changes regarding OTC drug sales.

Rajiv Singhal, secretary general of the AIOCD too criticised the move. It has submitted a memorandum to the Centre apprising the authorities about the adverse effects of selling medicines to the common man by unqualified persons.

"Drug sale is a regulated area, and all the common medicines need to be regulated by authorized officials as per drug rules and monitored by qualified pharmacists," he asserted and equated the move with like unlicensed permission to sell grocery shop owners medicines to the common man because it will affect the health of the people. "This will affect the credibility of the whole medicine traders also," he added.

EC issues notice to former Judge turned BJP candidate for remarks against Mamata

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

The Election Commission of India (ECI) on Friday issued a notice to former Calcutta High Court judge and current BJP candidate for Tamluk Lok Sabha constituency Abhijit Gangopadhyay after finding his recent remarks about West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee to be "improper" and a prima facie violation of the Model Code of Conduct.

The EC said it had found Gangopadhyay's remarks against Mamata Banerjee "violative" of the model code and its advisory. The poll panel acted on a complaint by the Trinamool Congress against Gangopadhyay for his remarks against Banerjee while addressing a public meeting held on May 15 in Haldia. Gangopadhyay who who joined the BJP after resigning from his post as the Calcutta high court judge, allegedly asked what "Mamata Banerjee's price" was. The BJP has fielded Gangopadhyay from Tamluk seat in West Bengal where voting will be held on May 25.

The EC in its notice noted that Gangopadhyay's comment has been found to be "improper, injudicious, beyond dignity in every sense of term, in bad taste" and prima facie violative of the provisions of the Model Code of Conduct and its advisory to political parties.

"Now, therefore, you are hereby called upon to show cause by 17.00 hrs of 20.05.2024 as to why appropriate action for violation of Model Code of Conduct should not be taken against you. In the event of no response from your side within the stipulated time, it will be presumed that you have nothing to say in the matter and the Election Commission will take appropriate action or decision in the matter without making any further reference to you," the EC said.

The TMC on Thursday moved the Election Commission against former high court judge and BJP candidate, Abhijit Gangopadhyay, for allegedly making "misogynistic" remarks against West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee.

According to the letter TMC leader Derek O'Brien wrote to the Chief Electoral Officer of West Bengal, Gangopadhyay, in his speech had said, "Mamata Banerjee, how much are you being sold for? Your rate is 10 lakhs. Why? Because you're getting your make-up done by Keya Seth? Mamata Banerjee, is she even a woman? I keep wondering sometimes." As per the MCC, parties and candidates should not criticise aspects of the private lives of opponents, should not make unverified allegations, and should not make statements that may be malicious or offend decency and morality.

Climate change worsens patients' neuro diseases: Study

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Living with neurodegenerative diseases such as Parkinson's and Alzheimer's disease has its daily struggles, but climate change is all set to add another layer of difficulty to people with such conditions, a study published in The Lancet Neurology has warned.

Following a review of 332 papers published across the world between 1968 and 2023, the team, led by Professor Sanjay Sisodiya (UCL Queen Square Institute of Neurology), said they expect the scale of the potential effects of climate change on neurological diseases to be substantial. The team underscored the urgency of comprehending the impact of climate change on this vulnerable population to mitigate adverse health outcomes and prevent exacerbating existing health disparities.

They considered 19 different nervous system conditions, chosen on the basis of the Global Burden of Disease 2016 study, including stroke, migraine, Alzheimer's, meningitis, epilepsy and multiple sclerosis. Impact of climate change on several serious but common psychiatric disorders, including anxiety, depression and schizophrenia was also analysed.

Professor Sanjay Sisodiya, who is also Director of Genomics at the Epilepsy Society and a founding member of Epilepsy Climate Change, said: "There is clear evidence for an impact of the climate on some brain conditions, especially stroke and infections of the nervous system.

"The climatic variation that was shown to have an effect on brain diseases included extremes of temperature (both low and high), and greater temperature variation throughout the course of day - especially when these measures were seasonally unusual.

"Night time temperatures may be particularly important, as higher temperatures through the night can disrupt sleep. Poor sleep is known to aggravate a number of brain conditions." The researchers found that there was an increase in admissions, disability or mortality as a result of a stroke in higher ambient temperatures or heat waves which are becoming more frequent and intense due to climate change. They considered 19 different nervous system conditions, chosen on the basis of the Global Burden of Disease 2016 study, including stroke, migraine, Alzheimer's, meningitis, epilepsy and multiple sclerosis.

Meanwhile, the team stated that people with dementia are susceptible to harm from extremes of temperature (e.g. heat-related illness or hypothermia) and weather events (e.g. flooding or wildfires), as cognitive impairment can limit their ability to adapt behaviour to environmental changes.

"Reduced awareness of risk is combined with a diminished capacity to seek help or to mitigate potential harm, such as by drinking more in hot weather or by adjusting clothing. "This susceptibility is compounded by frailty, multimorbidity, and psychotropic medications. Accordingly, greater temperature variation, hotter days, and heat waves lead to increased dementia-associated hospital admissions and mortality."

Heat stress can exacerbate symptoms such as cognitive impairment, fatigue, and motor dysfunction, leading to increased morbidity and mortality among this population.

Moreover, disruptions in healthcare services and access to essential medications and treatments resulting from extreme weather events, such as hurricanes, floods, and wildfires, can further compound the challenges faced by individuals with neurodegenerative conditions.

Yet another review on studies investigating climate change and neurodegeneration has found evidence that a 1.5°C increase in mean ambient temperature correlated with more hospital admissions for dementia of Alzheimer's type (DAT) disease patients. Higher temperatures may accelerate Tau phosphorylation, a characteristic of Alzheimer's disease, serving as a potential explanation for increased disease severity, said the review published in StressMarq Biosciences platform.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Hot as Hades

The Indian Meteorological Department has forecast severe heatwave, leading to high health risk

As if the scorching sensation on the skin and mercury's validation of the heat and humidity were not enough, the Weatherman has issued a stark warning for north-west India, forecasting a severe heatwave with a high health risk over the next week. The announcement comes as temperatures continue to soar, posing significant challenges to people's wellbeing and safety. With temperatures likely to reach alarming levels, the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) advisory underscores the urgency for residents, authorities and healthcare providers to take proactive measures to mitigate their impact. Heatwaves are characterised by prolonged periods of excessively high temperatures, often accompanied by high humidity levels, which can exacerbate the risk of heat-related illnesses and even fatalities. Northwest India, comprising States such as Rajasthan, Gujarat, Punjab, Haryana and parts of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh, is particularly susceptible to extreme heat events due to its geographical location. Prolonged exposure to high temperatures can lead to various ailments, including exhaustion, heatstroke, dehydration and cramps. Vulnerable populations – such as the elderly, children, pregnant women and those with pre-existing health conditions – are at heightened risk during such extreme weather conditions. Heat-related illnesses can manifest swiftly and escalate rapidly, necessitating prompt medical attention. Symptoms such as dizziness, nausea, rapid heartbeat, confusion and fainting should not be taken lightly. Of course, one cannot fight Nature but one can always be prepared to minimise its ill effects.

To mitigate the adverse effects of the IMD forecast, it is essential to launch comprehensive public awareness campaigns to educate residents on the risks and preventive measures of heatwaves. As a thumb rule, those living on pavements and in shanties are at bigger health risk. Establishing cooling centres with air conditioning, fans and hydration facilities will provide critical relief to the vulnerable population. Encouraging people to stay hydrated and seek shelter in cool, shaded areas during peak heat hours is vital. The old system of piyaus is long gone; instead, now only bottled water is available. The Government must set up water kiosks so that people can get free, clean drinking water on the go. Additionally, urban planning strategies that incorporate green spaces, tree cover and reflective surfaces can mitigate the urban heat island effect and enhance thermal comfort in urban environments. During summers, water scarcity and power cuts turn things worse. The authorities must ensure that load shedding is kept to a minimum and clean drinking water is available; otherwise the chances of outbreak of waterborne diseases are high. As northwest India braces for a severe heatwave, prioritising public health and safety is paramount. The IMD forecast serves as a crucial reminder to remain vigilant, stay informed and make concerted efforts to mitigate the risks. We have braved many adversities; this too will pass!

Gifting power to the underserved children

Collaborative efforts aid underserved kids facing resource scarcity and socio-economic gaps, enabling education access and job market success

Underserved children face multifaceted challenges - limited resources, inadequate infrastructure, lack of access and opportunity to holistic education and socio-economic disparities. As a result, these children are left without the life skills and leadership skills necessary to thrive in today's rapidly evolving job market. According to the UNICEF Global Framework on Transferable Skills, an estimated 825 million children are expected to leave school without the basic skills necessary for work and life by 2030. To tackle this issue effectively, it's imperative to embrace innovative approaches to skill-based learning. One such approach involves incorporating experiential learning opportunities into the curriculum. Research indicates that life or leadership skills cannot be taught in a traditional classroom environment but are inculcated when children experience situations, reflect upon them and make changes to their behaviour and habits. Team sports, the arts and free play are considered the best mediums to create these experiential learning environments. The dynamic and often ambiguous nature of work in the 21st century demands a greater emphasis on teaching essential life skills, such as critical thinking, problem-solving, communication and financial literacy. Another essential life skill is developing emotional resilience, especially for children dealing with hardship and difficulty. Children growing up in poverty experience stress, trauma and uncertainty. Communication skills are another important component in determining the course of one's personal and professional life journey. Through activities involving team sports, music, role-playing, public speaking and collaborative projects; children acquire the confidence and abilities. Life skills training has been proven to be the most powerful antidote to reducing intergenerational poverty since it equips children to overcome the odds stacked against them and become productive and responsible adults capable of taking care of themselves and the world around them. They can not only ensure that their families are no longer in the same socio-economic situation, but they also become powerful role models for their communities, encouraging others to believe in the prospect of a better future and take concrete steps toward realising it. Close collaboration between education institutions, non-profit organisations, Government agencies and local community stakeholders will allow resources, expertise and networks to be pooled to design and implement effective programs. By working together, these stakeholders can identify the specific needs of underserved communities and tailor educational initiatives to address them. Whether it is a customised curriculum, setting up a training centre, apprenticeships or mentorship; collaborative efforts can have a transformative impact on bringing change to skill development at scale. There is ample evidence to suggest that in developing countries, entrepreneurship is an essential ingredient to economic empowerment. In addition to generating employment through large companies, encouraging individuals and small businesses to thrive is equally important. By instilling principles of innovation, creativity, risk-taking and resilience, entrepreneurship education equips individuals with the tools to identify problems, develop solutions and pursue their aspirations with confidence. Closing the gap in skill-based learning opportunities in underserved children requires a holistic approach that addresses the systemic barriers to education and economic empowerment. By fostering collaboration, promoting experiential learning and prioritising the development of essential life skills, we can create a more inclusive and equitable educational landscape where every child has the opportunity to reach their full potential. ## Assault most foul for kindness to animals

HIRANMAY KARLEKAR

The man who savagely assaulted a young girl who was feeding stray dogs in Delhi must receive exemplary punishment

According to a report in the Free Press Journal, a young girl, Manisha Solanki, who feeds 150 stray dogs daily, was abused, harassed, beaten with a stick and left bleeding and crying in pain in Raghbir Nagar in North Delhi on May 14, 2024. The man, who reportedly attacked her, works in a roadside shop. He is also said to have savagely attacked the dogs who were quietly and peacefully eating the food she had brought. At least one dog was severely injured as the stick had nails attached to it.

The police, who have lodged an FIR following a complaint by the girl's father, need to follow up the matter vigorously and ensure that exemplary punishment is handed out to the culprit. The report that the stick had nails attached to suggest indicates that the intention was not just to hit but cause the maximum amount of pain. Also, the report that Manisha Solanki was doing no more than pleading with the man not to attack the dogs who were just peacefully eating, suggests that the person is utterly vicious by disposition. Such men are a threat to society and have to be regarded as such by the police. This is not the first incidence of its kind. In July, 2021, a 28-year-old woman was assaulted in East of Kailash by a mother-daughter duo. For the same reason, a woman was savagely beaten in Delhi's Sunlight Colony May, 2018. These are just two examples; others can be cited. Besides being assaulted, those who feed and care for stray dogs in India are also abused and harassed. It is often argued that this is because stray dogs bite and feeding ensures that their numbers grow. What is not realised is that there has been a steep fall in the number of dog bites in recent years. According to a report in The New Indian Express (dated December 3, 2023), by Jitendra Choubey, over 75 lakh cases of dog bites were reported in India in 2018; the figures were over 72 lakh in 2019, 46 lakh in 2020. It was over 17 lakh in 2021 and 21.8 lakh in 2022. Another report by Nikhil Ghanekar in The Indian Express

(dated March 27, 2024) cites data tabled in Parliament by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare showing an increase to 27.8 lakh in 2023. Despite being higher than the preceding two years, the figure of 27.8 lakhs marks a massive decline from that of over 75 lakh recorded in 2018. Besides, the accuracy of these figures has been a subject of scepticism. A report (dated March 19, 2024) by Shainu Mohan in The New Indian Express cited N. Jayachandran, an animal rights activist and a former member of the Kerala State Animal Welfare Board, as describing the figures of dog bites as inaccurate and saying that there were no specific details and even scratches by cats were recorded as dog bites. Doubts about the reliability of the existing figures of dog bite cases, is implied in the communication dated March 7, 2024, from the Union Government's Directorate-General of Health Services (DGHS), to State Governments asking them to provide quality data on animal bites from all public health centres, community health centres, district hospitals and tertiary care facilities with inclusion of specific details regarding bites by pet and stray dogs. Of particular significance is the directive to avoid multiple entries of the same animal bite victims by maintaining separate records for new and follow-up patients in the animal bite exposure register. The suggestion is clear: there have been duplications. In many cases, pet and not stray, dogs have been responsible. Reliable figures for the whole of India do not exist. The ones that are available clearly underline this point. According to a report by Anuradha Kher in The Times of India of May 24, 2004, Sassoon Hospital at Pune had recorded as many as 3,185 dog bite cases until May that year. She quoted Namdeo Patil, the hospital's medical officer, as saying that pet dogs were responsible for 70 per cent of the cases. That the percentage of bites by stray dogs continues to be very high and one needs accurate statistics regarding their involvement, is clearly reflected in the DGHS's communication directing that the cases of pet dogs biting people be separately recorded. Unfortunately, people who assault, abuse and harass those who feed and care for stray dogs do not realise this. They are emotional cripples brimming with hatred. Notwithstanding their aggression, the number of people looking after stray dogs is increasing all over India. Twenty years ago, one rarely saw people feeding them or vaccinating them on the streets. Today, one sees them in most neighbourhoods. This is hardly surprising given the nature of dogs. Konrad Lorenz (1903-1989) wrote in Man Meets Dog, "The whole charm of the dog lies in the depth of the friendship and the strength of the spiritual ties with which he has bound himself to man." Lorenz, ethnologist and ornithologist and recipient of the 1973 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine along with Nikolaas Tinbergen and Karl von Frisch, should know. ### LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BATTLING FOR HIGHER POLLING

Madam — Apropos the news article "Sachin, IPL legends bat for higher polling," published on 17 May, this is my response. It's intriguing to see the Election Commission leveraging cricket legends like Sachin Tendulkar and IPL stars to drive voter turnout. This strategy, pairing the beloved sport with civic duty, could significantly boost engagement, especially among young voters. With the heatwave and general voter apathy threatening participation, such innovative outreach is crucial.

The integration of voter awareness messages into various digital platforms and services, from PhonePe to Swiggy, shows a commendable effort to reach people where they are most active. The collaboration with these companies and the BCCI during the IPL season represents a novel approach to a persistent issue. Encouragingly, the turnout in the recent phases shows an upward trend, suggesting these initiatives might be making an impact. This extensive, multi-platform campaign underscores the importance of every vote, aiming to strengthen our democratic process. It's a robust example of how popular culture and technology can be harnessed to foster civic responsibility.

STRATEGIC PORT PARTNERSHIP

Madam — Apropos the news article "India and Iran sign Chabahar Port Pact," published on 17 May, this is my response. The recent long-term contract signed by India for the Shahid Beheshti Port Terminal in Chabahar marks a significant milestone in Indo-Iranian relations. This agreement underscores the strategic importance of Chabahar as a key gateway for India into Central Asia, bypassing Pakistan. The port's development, first envisioned in 2003, highlights India's consistent efforts to establish robust trade routes and enhance regional connectivity. Despite the changing political landscape and varying degrees of focus from successive Indian Governments, the Modi administration's renewed push has revitalized the project.

Modi-Yogi powerhouse

Apropos the news article "Modi filing nomination boosts BJP morale," published on 17 May, this is my response. As an avid newspaper reader, it's clear that Prime Minister Modi's nomination in Varanasi has electrified the political scene, highlighting Uttar Pradesh's critical role in national politics. The dynamic partnership between Modi and Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath is undeniably a force to reckon with. Their joint presence in Varanasi not only bolstered the morale of BJP supporters but also underscored their confidence in securing a strong mandate in the upcoming Lok Sabha elections. Uttar Pradesh, with its 80 Lok Sabha seats, remains the epicentre of Indian electoral politics. The BJP's ambitious target of sweeping the State again, fueled by Modi's national appeal and Yogi's governance track record, sets a formidable challenge for the opposition. The development strides made under Yogi's tenure, particularly in law and order and economic growth, resonate with the electorate. Despite the unpredictability of elections, the Modi-Yogi duo's sustained popularity suggests a potential repeat of their past electoral successes, reinforcing their influence over the political landscape of both UP and the nation.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF SKILLS

Madam — Apropos the news article "The rising significance of skills in learning," published on 17 May, this is my response. Every era leaves its mark on language, reflecting its emotions and trends. From renaming departments to emphasising skills in education, societal shifts shape vocabulary. While some debate the elevation of skill, it's undeniable that skills underpin all relationships, from parent-child bonds to professional interactions. Today, degrees in skills offer new avenues for earning and learning, reshaping the landscape of education. Yet, this evolution prompts a reevaluation of traditional degrees and curriculum structures. To truly understand and integrate skills into education, a fundamental overhaul is necessary, starting with revisiting teacher training programs. This blend of philosophical reflection and practical action serves as a pivotal point for further discourse and implementation. Ultimately, recognising the centrality of skills enriches both education and livelihoods, expanding the horizons of learning and earning.

FINDING DIVINE INSPIRATION

One must explore the intricacies of karma and surrender to a higher power

AJIT KUMAR BISHNOI

I was looking out one very cold morning in January when it was raining lightly also. What I saw inspired me greatly. One woman, not appearing well off was walking purposefully holding her child oblivious of the rain falling. What struck me was the beauty of the Lord's creation. This woman, not so fortunate in material terms, had still something very precious - a soul in the form of a dear child. She would be able to accept all her hardships in the hope that her dear child would look after her in her later years. What is the message from the Lord? That He punishes but never condemns anyone. Ultimately, reformation is the goal of all punishments. What else? We should follow God's example. All those placed lower than us have already been punished. Be very kind and generous towards them. It is not for us to compound their misery with ill behaviour. We will be punished for sure if we do that. If anything, those, who personally serve us due to their unfortunate circumstances, should be treated with respect in addition to giving them reasonable remuneration.

My next example is the mind - a faculty given to us to think, will and feel. It has a double use. This mind can dream of anything far from reality. It can help us to do very difficult tasks and it can make us feel very good also. Lord Krishna describes, "A person, having consciousness unattached to external sense objects, enjoys that happiness within, which is extraordinary. He, having consciousness linked to the Brahman, experiences eternal bliss." (The Bhagavad-Geeta 5.21) Now the opposite role of the mind. It can make one highly depressed even in the most opulent surroundings.

The strongest man can feel completely helpless like Arjuna did who was depressed, affected by compassion and thus suffering; his eyes were full of tears. (2.1) Lord Krishna had to preach to him to bring him around. He did, "My delusion has been dispelled by Your mercy; my memory has been restored. I, free from doubt, am composed." (18.73) God is very kind to us human beings. It is up to us to make proper use of this faculty, which is subtle and very powerful, much more than our bodies can be. God has guided us in great detail how to make the best use of it. Most everyone feels that good times can continue indefinitely. What is the reality? They don't, because we bring from our past life/lives both good and bad karmaphalas. Their manifestations are destined. No one has only good Karamaphalas, because, then, such a person would have qualified for liberation. Therefore, both good and bad ones keep on maturing. What happens then to one who has a faulty expectation when bad times come? He or she becomes highly depressed, sad, etc. with no preparation to deal with them. God has provided a solution, which is to take His shelter. This will ensure God's help to deal with bad times. Pains/sufferings will become tolerable and one will not break down. God's help to those, who preach God's message is almost unlimited. Why? Because, "He, who will preach this supreme knowledge amongst. My devotees will be doing highest devotion towards Me." (18.68) Many highly advanced preachers have travelled to the West and spread God's consciousness. They have gained great success thanks to God's support to them.

I will cite one more example of God's magnificent creation. We all suffer due to our egos and others causing us lots of botheration. But there is one superb use of this faculty of ego if we take shelter from God. Lord Krishna tells Arjuna, "Having My consciousness, you will cross all impediments by My 'kripa' (grace). But if you will not heed on account of the feeling of being the doer (egoist), you will perish." (18.58) As mentioned earlier, God can and will help if we can drop our false sense of ego.

Reflections on the end of a 30-year war

NILANTHA LANGAMUWA

Amidst scenes of unspeakable horror and relentless violence, the echoes of past atrocities resonate, urging a deeper understanding of the human cost of conflict

Fifteen years ago, on a day like today, the final bullet was fired, bringing an end to the 30-year-long war in Sri Lanka. The harrowing memories we witnessed have become a thing of the past, but their echoes still reverberate in our minds. However, I don't intend to offer a political analysis; instead, I aim to reflect on the unimaginable suffering endured by fellow human beings in this troubled land. Pain was not unique to the location where this brutal war took place, nor was any specific community singled out for oppression. The entire country, in various ways, was haunted by enemies in different forms. In my memory, there's a chilling scene that's deeply ingrained, a moment of unspeakable horror from my childhood innocence. At just six years old, I held tight to my mother's hand, driven by morbid curiosity like the others in our village who gathered hastily. Together, we witnessed the grim sight of a half-charred corpse, a stark reminder of the darkness plaguing our land. The overpowering smell of death overwhelmed us, defying our feeble attempts to shield ourselves from its grip. By the roadside, where our community thrived, lay the lifeless body of a man, his agonising death a haunting echo of the brutality lurking in the shadows. As the fire consumed his flesh, the echoes of his cries pierced the night, mourning a future stolen by merciless hands. To this day, the identity of his attackers remains a mystery, their cruelty matched only by their cowardice. In their relentless pursuit of violence, they showed no regard for the family he left behind, extinguishing life with a cold indifference that sends shivers down the spine.

That fateful day remains a solemn reminder of the darkness within the human heart, a stark acknowledgement of life's fragility in a world torn by chaos and despair. The sight of a skull, once full of life, now a grotesque symbol of agony, serves as a testament to the depths of human cruelty. Its gaping maw and charred teeth tell of the unspeakable suffering endured by its unfortunate owner - a chilling reminder of the atrocities committed by those in power. Illuminated by a burning tyre, this macabre scene exposes the brutality of oppressors who sought to crush dissent with an iron fist. Yet, this is just one episode in the chaos that engulfed Sri Lanka during the second uprising of the Janatha Vimukthi Peramuna (JVP). The horrors of that time still linger in my mind, a grim reminder of the generation born into a world besieged by violence and despair. For the parents of this generation, survival was the sole pursuit, each day a desperate struggle against the spectre of death. To stand with the State was to invite the wrath of revolutionaries who lurked in the shadows, waiting to mete out their brand of justice in the dead of night. Conversely, to align oneself with the revolutionaries was to invite swift and merciless retribution from the State apparatus, which spared no effort in its quest to crush dissent with utmost brutality. This was the grim reality that defined an era - a reality where horror knew no bounds and mercy was but a distant memory.

In the Sinhalese-dominated areas of the country, flames of rebellion raged unchecked, while in the north and east, where Tamils and Muslims held sway, the spectre of terror loomed large, casting a pall of fear over all who dared to defy the status quo. In this fractured landscape, where lines of ethnicity and ideology blurred in the face of unrelenting violence, the suffering of innocent lives knew no bounds.

In the crucible of my high school years, the Tamil Armed groups, notably the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE), cast a long shadow over the land, their reign of terror reaching its zenith. Following the peace talks convened in Thimpu, Bhutan, the LTTE embarked on a ruthless campaign to assert their dominance, ruthlessly eliminating rival Tamil factions that dared to challenge their authority. Even those groups previously supported by the central Government under the leadership of Indira Gandhi and the State Government of Tamil Nadu were not spared from their wrath, as the LTTE sought to establish itself as the sole arbiter of Tamil interests.

Concurrently, amidst this bloody power struggle, the LTTE unleashed a wave of terror aimed at forcibly displacing Sinhalese and Muslim communities from the Northern peninsula, affording them scant hours to abandon their homes and livelihoods. Many Muslims scrambled to escape the impending violence, seizing whatever means of transportation they could find to flee to Government-controlled territories, where they hoped to find sanctuary from the chaos engulfing their homeland. Among these displaced individuals emerged tales of resilience and triumph, as some managed to rebuild their lives, ultimately ascending to positions of prominence as successful businesspersons and influential politicians. Yet, these stories of triumph are tempered by the grim reality of displacement and loss, serving as poignant reminders of the human cost exacted by the unrelenting tide of conflict and upheaval.

The reign of terror orchestrated by the LTTE unfolded with chilling precision, sparing none who dared to oppose its fascist ideology. Beginning with the systematic elimination of rival armed factions, the LTTE's campaign of violence soon expanded to target not only other ethnic communities but also Tamil intellectuals who dared to advocate for political solutions and the right to self-determination. Rajani Thiarangama, a revered intellect and champion of Tamil rights, met a tragic end at the hands of LTTE militants in Jaffna - stark evidence of their ruthless intolerance of dissenting voices.

In my discussions with her father, A Rajasingham, years later in Colombo, the heartbreaking tale of his daughter's untimely demise offered a glimpse into the insidious tactics employed by the LTTE to silence its critics. This chilling account serves as but one example of the lengths to which the LTTE would go to impose its will upon the Tamil people, resorting to violence and coercion to enforce compliance. As the ranks of Tamil intellectuals dwindled, the LTTE turned its sinister gaze towards a new target: the recruitment of children into its ranks. Thousands of innocent youths were forcibly torn from their families, subjected to relentless indoctrination and thrust onto the battlefield, their tender frames bearing the weight of weapons far beyond their years.

Tragically, some would be groomed as suicide bombers, indiscriminately targeting politicians and unarmed civilians alike in a twisted bid for supremacy. As a war reporter, I witnessed the grim reality of child soldiers within the LTTE and its breakaway faction; some of them were even unable to hold their weapons properly. Many of them were malnourished, their skeletal frames visible and for them, attending school was a dream that never came true.

The horrors unleashed by the LTTE knew no bounds, wreaking havoc upon innocent lives while lining the pockets of those who profited from the chaos. Even in distant Western nations, Tamil communities were subjected to extortion and intimidation, coerced into financing the LTTE's reign of terror under threat of violence or retribution against their loved ones back home. Despite damning reports by organisations like Human Rights Watch exposing these atrocities, the truth was often overshadowed by pro-LTTE propaganda, whitewashing the brutality of their so-called "liberation struggle." Consequently, those who fought against this unimaginable terror of tyranny were blamed. That is why, understanding this brutal reality and the plight Tamils were forced to endure is essential homework before succumbing to prejudice.

War came to an end in May 2009, after a prolonged conflict that lasted for over three decades. Since then, numerous discussions have been held regarding the identification and condemnation of those actively involved. In the aftermath, countries have rapidly developed, logistics have been enhanced and connectivity has tremendously improved. Simultaneously, thousands of ex-LTTE members have been rehabilitated and reintegrated into society, with some even marrying Sinhalese individuals. However, the victory over terror has not been wisely utilised to address systemic issues within the State structure. Excessive politicisation and the exploitation of this "victory" for personal gain by certain parties have undermined social responsibilities.

The Government's failure to effectively respond to false allegations regarding casualties and mission details has had lasting repercussions. Many misconceptions and fabricated stories, propagated by vested interests aiming to distort the true nature of this brutal period, have further complicated matters. Regrettably, there is a glaring absence of discussions on safeguarding peace and averting the recurrence of past atrocities. There is no meaning in celebrating 'victory' over the loss of human lives, but rather in building a national conscience to unite everyone towards a common goal, where peace is a precious gem cherished by all, to safeguard for generations to come.

The changing face of Indian philanthropy

The stage is set for a monumental leap forward in the philanthropic movement, heralding an era of 'More, Sooner and Better Giving'

India has always been a nation with a deeply ingrained concept of philanthropy. This ethos has given rise to many philanthropists, who have contributed immensely and helped build and support many of the great institutions of modern India. The Tata's being the foremost example of such modern Indian Philanthropy.

Today, philanthropy in India stands at a transformative juncture in terms of both, the quantum and the quality of giving. According to Knight Frank's wealth report for 2023, the number of Ultra-High Net Worth Individuals (UHNIs), in India will grow by over 58 per cent in the next five years. India has seen the rise of many Unicorns in the past decade and is poised to see a rise of another ~150+ unicorns in the next few years, indicating a massive wealth surge. This is fortuitous as the demands on philanthropists for greater philanthropy will only increase which we hope will be met with a surge in philanthropic giving as well. UHNIs are redefining the giving landscape in India - they are now more actively engaged in the giving process, dedicating time to ensure their wealth drives substantial systemic improvements. Amit & Archana Chandra, Ashish Dhawan, Ajit Isaac, Harsh Mariwala, Kris Gopalakrishnan, Romesh and Sunil Wadhvani, Desh Deshpande and Vikrant Bhargava are a few of the great examples of new-age philanthropists, developing a portfolio of philanthropic initiatives including institution building and systemic change projects. This trend is only going to accelerate. Another key trend to emerge is the gradual reduction in the average age of philanthropists. These younger and newer donors, representing both current family benefactors and first-generation wealth creators, are breaking through traditional barriers with innovative and disruptive approaches to giving and are branching out to address issues beyond the historically favoured domains of healthcare, education and livelihoods. The emerging tribe of NextGen philanthropists coupled with the next generation of grassroots organisations - driven by young, committed and tech-savvy professionals - is set to transform the giving landscape in the coming years. The proportion of technology entrepreneurs is also increasing and these philanthropists have given more generously when compared to other sectors. While they account for about 8 per cent of overall wealth in the space, their philanthropic contribution makes up nearly 35 per cent of all giving - Azim Premji, the Infosys founders, Rohini Nilekani, Shiv Nadar, the Kamath brothers, Subroto Bagchi and Sanjeev Bikhchandani are great examples of new age Philanthropists from the Tech sector. There's also a growing sensitivity to privilege among the younger generation of family donors and they are increasingly putting that privilege to work. Some of them are also carving out professional paths dedicated to philanthropy. However, despite the many positive trends in UHNI giving in India, challenges remain. First, there's an urgent need for India's UHNIs to increase the relative proportion of their giving. The current rate of giving doesn't match the pace of wealth accumulation. The 2023 India Philanthropy

Report by Bain & Company indicates that excluding contributions from Wipro's founder Azim Premji, UHNI donations fell by 5 per cent in fiscal year 2022 even as their wealth increased by over 9 per cent. Also, when compared to their peers in the United States, the UK and China, Indian UHNIs contribute significantly less relative to their wealth, in some cases, giving is lower by as much as a 10x factor. Second, philanthropic causes are becoming more diverse and varied, as some causes become more urgent like climate change and humanitarian crisis while traditional causes - education, healthcare, poverty alleviation and livelihoods - remain at the top of the agenda. Philanthropic capital is also increasingly being tapped to address newer and often neglected causes in India such as sports, arts and culture and mental health amongst many others. Therefore, prioritising and allocating appropriate philanthropic capital to causes becomes crucial. Third, UHNIs need to engage themselves more in philanthropy by giving more time and effort. They also need to collaborate more with other philanthropists to pool their resources - money, time and effort - and take on more ambitious projects, create greater institutions and experiment with newer models to make a difference. They also need to experiment to see how technology can be leveraged to transform and scale services and service delivery in almost all areas, particularly in education, healthcare, skilling and climate change. This transformation will also be aided by a new compact between the donor and the donee that is based on greater mutual respect and sees greater participation by all stakeholders in the decision-making processes for where, how and when resources get deployed and how the impact is measured. We can expect 2024 to be a milestone year for the philanthropic movement in India with More, Sooner and Better Giving than ever before. Personal philanthropy can play a unique catalytic role in helping resolve many challenges in India, the time is now. # Refrain from interfering in ongoing electoral process in JK: Mufti

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Hours after the Union Home Minister Amit Shah returned to New Delhi after meeting several delegations including J&K unit Bharatiya Janta Party (BJP) leaders in Srinagar, Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) President Mehbooba Mufti Friday issued a formal appeal to the Union Government and the Home Minister to refrain from interfering in the ongoing electoral process in Jammu and Kashmir.

The surprise visit of Amit Shah ahead of the fifth phase of polling on May 20 raised many eyebrows in the valley. Speculations were also rife in the corridors of power over the agenda of the close-door meetings the Union Home Minister was scheduled to chair during his brief stay. Meanwhile, Mehbooba Mufti while addressing campaign meetings called on the Union Government and the Home Minister to ensure that the elections in Jammu and Kashmir are conducted with the same fairness and integrity as in other regions of India.

PDP chief also stressed the need to avoid pre-poll rigging and to cease intimidating the electorate and officers involved in the election process. "Today, the situation is that the proxy parties of the BJP, which are coercing people, threatening people, and spending huge sums of money, are misinforming the Union Home Minister", Mehbooba alleged.

On his arrival in Srinagar late Thursday evening Shah met several delegations including Gujjars, Bakerwals, Paharis and Sikhs.

In the end, Shah met the BJP delegation and directed the party functionaries to ensure a healthy mobilization of voters in the next two rounds of polling on two Lok Sabha seats of Baramulla and Anantnag.

While Baramulla goes to the polls on May 20, voting for the Anantnag-Rajouri constituency is scheduled for May 25 after it was deferred from its earlier schedule of May 7 due to bad weather.

In the absence of a BJP candidate the Union Home Minister reportedly directed the party men to ensure that the vote of every single BJP worker, leader, and activist goes against NC, PDP, and Congress.

According to a Kashmir-based BJP leader, Shah also clearly stated during the meeting that BJP will contest all seats of J&K in the upcoming Assembly polls slated in September this year.

Reflecting on past electoral issues, Mehbooba recalled the 1987 elections, where rigging undermined public trust in the democratic process. She warned that any repeat of such manipulation could have disastrous consequences similar to the violence and turmoil that followed the 1987 elections.

She criticized the BJP's proxy parties for using coercion, threats, and financial incentives to influence the election outcomes, particularly highlighting reports of the Union Home Minister's meetings with Pahari officers to sway support in favor of certain parties.

During a series of roadshows in north Kashmir's Watrgom, Rafiabad, Kralgund, Poshpora, Trehgam, Kawari, Awoora, and several other areas, the PDP President said that the active participation of people in the elections is a strong message to New Delhi, opposing the August 2019 decision that revoked Jammu and Kashmir's special status. She pointed out the high levels of unemployment, exorbitant power tariffs, and overcrowded jails filled with Kashmiri youth as indicators of the prevailing misgovernance.

She asserted that voting is the most powerful tool available to the disenfranchised people of Jammu and Kashmir to challenge this misrule.

Three cornered fight in Kerala for lone RS seat

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

Even before the results of the Lok Sabha polls are announced, another electoral battle is keeping the mainstream political parties in Kerala, especially the CPI(M) led LDF engaged. Come July and the State will see three sitting members of Rajya Sabha retiring as they complete their six-year tenure. Elamarom Kareem, the Islamic face of the CPI(M), popularly addressed as Kareemikka, Jose K Mani of the Kerala Congress (Mani) faction and Binoy Viswam, intellectual and the global face of the CPI are retiring on 1 July.

Based on the current strength of the Legislative Assembly, the LDF will be able to nominate two candidates while the third seat would go the UDF. The Congress has announced that the lone seat has been given to Muslim League. There is a big fight between the constituents of the LDF for the two seats, The CPI(M), the big brother, has declared that it will keep one seat for its nominee leaving the third seat for the other constituents.

The CPI(M) wants to re-nominate Kareemikka to the Rajya Sabha. Though he is a candidate from Kozhikode Lok Sabha constituency, chances of him winning the seat look bleak because he is pitted against the Congress strongman M K Raghavan who has endeared himself to the electorate. In the eventuality of Kareemikka losing from Kozhikode, he would be the automatic choice of the CPI(M) for the Rajya Sabha seat as he has the backing of the powerful Muslim lobby in the party.

That leaves the lone remaining seat as the bone of contention between the CPI and the Kerala Congress (Mani). "It is important for Jose K Mani to get nominated as Rajya Sabha member because there is no possibility of him winning a direct election. He is not accustomed to fight an election suffering the scorching heat and mixing with the party workers belonging to the downtrodden sections," said P C George, veteran Kerala Congress leader who switched over to BJP earlier this year. Jose K Mani, son of late K M Mani, former finance minister of Kerala and chairman of the Kerala Congress faction named after him lost the 2021 assembly election against Mani C Kappen, a former Kerala Congress leader from the former's home constituency of Pala.

This led to Roshi Augustine, representative of the party getting sworn in as a minister in the Pinarayi Vijayan led Government. If Jose Mani does not get nominated, he will be left without any option to serve the people. For politicians in Kerala, a membership in parliament or legislative assembly is a must to serve the poor. But what bothers Mani Junior is the cold shouldering of him by Augustine.

The UDF of which the KCM was one of the constituents till the 2019 Lok Sabha election has sent feelers to Jose K Mani to return to their camp. But ingenious Roshi Augustine feels that this is a golden opportunity given to him by Saint Alphonsa of Bharananganam and it is certain that he would continue with the LDF leaving Jose K Mani high and dry.

The CPI is no mood to part with the seat which it claims to be its own. "Comrade Binoy Viswam's presence in New Delhi is a must as the global Communist movements look towards him more than anybody for guidance and directives in this era of turmoil. Moreover, he is a poet and intellectual of international repute which further strengthens the party's claim," said P Sujathan, author and political commentator.

Yet another claimant for the seat is RJD leader and planter M V Shreyams Kumar, who is also a major shareholder of a Malayalam daily. He has been singing paean to the chief minister through his newspaper. As on Friday, it is a three horse race for the lone June Derby.

Narrow view should not be taken on Chabahar port project: MEA

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

India on Friday said a "narrow view" should not be taken on the long-term agreement between New Delhi and Tehran on the Chabahar port project as it would benefit landlocked Afghanistan, Central Asia and the entire region.

The remarks by Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal came days after the United States warned of sanctions following India and Iran sealing the deal. India and Iran on Monday signed a 10-year agreement that provided for Indian operations at the Chabahar port.

"India's commitment towards the Chabahar port is to realise its potential as a connectivity hub for Afghanistan and Central Asian countries, which are landlocked," Jaiswal said at his weekly media briefing. He said an Indian company -- India Ports Global Limited -- has been operating the port since 2018 on an interim lease. "Now, we have concluded a long-term agreement which is essential for port operations," Jaiswal said.

"Since then, we have provided humanitarian assistance, including 85,000 metric tons of wheat, 200 metric tons of pulses and 40,000 litres of pesticide Malathion, to Afghanistan through this port," he said. Located in the Sistan-Balochistan province on the energy-rich Iran's southern coast, the Chabahar port is being developed by India and Afghanistan to boost connectivity and trade ties.

"The US has shown an understanding of the importance of the Chabahar port operations for continued humanitarian supplies to Afghanistan and to provide Afghanistan with economic alternatives," Jaiswal said.

"I would like to reiterate what the EAM (External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar) had earlier said that we should not take a narrow view of this issue," he said.

Two days ago, Jaishankar said a narrow view should not be taken of the agreement between India and Iran to develop the Chabahar port as the project will benefit the entire region. Jaiswal said the Chabahar port project will benefit the entire region, particularly landlocked Afghanistan and Central Asia. "The US has, in the recent past, appreciated the larger relevance of the Chabahar project, particularly in the context of humanitarian supplies to Afghanistan," he said.

MALI WAL'S...

"In an attempt to protect myself, I pushed him away with my legs. At that moment, he aggressively attacked me, pulled my shirt up deliberately, causing the buttons to come undone, and my shirt flew up. I fell down and hit my head on the centre table. I continued to scream for help as he did not stop and proceeded to kick me in my chest, stomach, and pelvic area with his legs," she claimed in the FIR.

"I was in extreme pain and pleaded with him to stop. Despite my pleas, he continued to assault me. My shirt was pulled up, but he persisted in attacking me. I kept begging him to stop. Eventually, I was taken outside the CM residence, where I sat briefly on the floor due to the intense pain. The PCR police arrived, but I was in a dazed state and left, walking towards my previous residence in Civil Lines. I was crying and managed to reach my earlier residence. I sat on the ground there for some time until some personnel who had accompanied me from the CM house called an auto for me. I sat in it and started towards my house, as I was in terrible pain and was traumatised and shattered," Maliwal said.

"Somehow, I gathered the strength to reach the PS Civil Lines to report the matter. I reached there and informed the SHO about the incident while crying. I was in severe pain and experiencing severe cramps. I also started receiving numerous calls from the media on my mobile. Due to the trauma, pain, and my reluctance to politicise the incident, I left the police station without filing a written complaint. My head was splitting with pain, and my arms and legs were aching terribly," she said.

"The past days since the incident have been extremely painful for me. It is one of the most difficult times of my life. The pain, trauma and harassment have been mind-numbing. My head and neck have been hurting constantly since the attack. My arms are very sore and my abdomen is also hurting. I am also experiencing difficulty walking. My situation is exacerbated by the fact that I have worked all my life for women's issues and have helped lakhs of women get justice," the FIR read.

"I ended up being brutally beaten by a person whom I have known for a long time. I am deeply disturbed by this incident and am distraught that someone could display such goonda behaviour. I feel totally shattered. It has taken me 3 days to gather myself and report the matter through a written complaint. I request you to kindly take the strongest possible action in the matter. I am shocked that this brutal attack happened to me completely unprovoked at CM residence," it added.

The FIR has been registered under sections 308, 341, 354 D, 506, and 509 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) at Civil Lines police station.

TMC facing exodus in minority votes

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

There is trepidation inside the Trinamool Congress. After the end of the fourth phase of polling and just ahead of the fifth phase the party's research teams do not project a very rosy picture for the outfit, inside sources say.

According to the inside sources the party may lose as much as 15 to 19 percent votes if compared to the 2023 panchayat elections and a good 3 to 5 percent votes vis a vis what it got in 2021 Assembly elections. "If you are expecting 25 seats then you are in a fool's paradise ... try to retain what you won in 2019 that is 20 seats ... if you can do that you know you are through ... because there is tremendous anger down below," says none other than a State minister.

Out of the 18 seats that went to polls in the first four phases the TMC had won six seats in 2019 general elections. The rest were won by the BJP and the Congress which picked up 10 and two seats respectively. "Though the leadership took all the seats very seriously they knew that some of these would be conceded to the BJP and the Congress which had tied up with the Left in the North and central Bengal districts including those of Murshidabad and Malda where Left, Congress have regained a good throttlehold ... but the phase four elections for two seats of Birbhum and five seats of Burdwan-Durgapur, Asansol, East Burdwan, Krishnagar and Ranaghat have given the leadership a creased forehead," said the TMC leader who is quite in the know of things.

According to internal reports though the party may just scrape through in Asansol despite conceding a sizeable Muslim vote to the Left things could be worse in Krishnagar and East Burdwan where the Muslims might have voted silently and definitely to the Left. "This means the BJP may get an edge and Mohua Moitra may lose from Krishnagar," he says.

Once a formidable vote bank of Mamata Banerjee the Muslims have started to leave her not so much because of the series of scams and a number of her cabinet colleagues going to jail but because of the Left and Congress propaganda that TMC and BJP are hands-in-gloves in Bengal.

People are asking questions as to why the ED has spared Mamata Banerjee and Abhishek Banerjee while it has arrested Arvind Kejriwal and Hemant Soren despite the fact that there are more concrete evidence against the Banerjees and despite repeated refrain expressed by the Calcutta High Court that the central agencies are going slow in Bengal, says BN Chakrabarty a professor of political science.

"It seems that the Muslim voters are gradually leaving us and if they continue to do so in the remaining phases then the party will be in deeper trouble ... in that case if the BJP gets the advantage of a split in the minority votes then their dream of winning more than 25 seats may come true and in that case Narendra Modi may topple this Government well ahead of 2026 State elections if he comes back to power," a TMC MLA and a former minister says adding, "this is why some leaders want the leadership to take things seriously now and take some measures ... you know what I mean to say."

No wonder why there is trepidation in the security forces

too. The reason: According to sources the TMC may resort to massive violence and booth capture in the last three phases of polling in order to make up for the lost seats in the earlier phases.

While the officials at the Election Commission remained tight-lipped TMC sources said "arrangements" have already been made with the district level police and administrative officers in districts like, Hooghly, Howrah and North 24 Parganas.

"There would be trouble and even deaths if the Left and the BJP resist ... that is the reading within though a section of the party does not want bloodshed because it does not want the TMC's face to fall further," he said.

Notwithstanding, CPI(M) leader Md Salim said, "this time round we too are prepared ... remember 2024 is not 2016, 2019 or 2021 ... the people are united this time and so they will be made to taste their own medicine if they foment trouble." BJP leader Dilip Ghosh too said that this time people were alert and it would not be that easy to win polls by violence.

Nautapa adds heat to...

The first 9 days of this period are called Nautapa. At this time, the Sun's rays will fall directly on the Earth but this time their effect will be less due to the setting of the stars Venus and Jupiter.

"There is a possibility of drizzle in some parts of the country and rain in other places with strong wind and storms. It is mentioned in the Brihatsamhita text of Varahamihira that the weather changes due to the setting of the planets," he said. According to science, the rays of the Sun come directly to the Earth during the Nautapa. Due to which the temperature of the earth rises very high. Due to excess heat, a low pressure area is formed in the plains which attract sea waves, causing good rain.

As per religious beliefs, it is a tradition to worship the Surya Dev during the Nautapa period. In the nine days of Nautapa, the Sun is believed to be in its fierce form causing the temperature to rise even higher. Worshipping the Sun god at this time is believed to protect families from the soaring temperatures. Some of the rituals also add to the happiness and prosperity in the lives of the devotees. It is advised to consume water, curd, milk, coconut water, and other foods with cold temperatures in the Nautapa time. Besides consuming these items, the devotees should also take the initiative to donate them.

According to astrology, if the Sun heats up fully on all the days of Nautapa, it is considered a sign of good rain. During this time, the Sun will remain at 23 degrees to 40 degrees till June 8. The reason is that the ruling planet of Rohini Nakshatra is the Moon. The Sun is considered to be a symbol of brightness and majesty, while the Moon is a symbol of coolness.

Maximum temperature touches 43.6 degrees

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

As the maximum temperature in Delhi touched 43.6 degree Celsius on Friday, the power demand pushed to 6,800 MW, highest this summer, discom officials said. The minimum temperature is recorded at 25.4 degree Celsius, a notch below the normal. The reduced gap between the maximum and minimum temperature leads to discomfort for the people of the national capital, giving the feel of 47-48 degree Celsius. Most observatory stations have recorded a maximum temperature above 45 degree Celsius here. Ayanagar recorded over 46 degree Celsius, highest in the national capital.

The State Load Dispatch Centre (SLDC) Delhi real-time data showed the peak power demand in the city shot up to 6834 MW around 23.10 PM on Thursday. It was 6,780 MW at 3.26 PM on Thursday.

The peak power demand was 6,703 MW around 3.29 PM on Friday, showed SLDC data.

Tata Power Delhi Distribution Limited (TPDDL) successfully met peak power demand of 2,035 MW on Friday which is highest for this season in its area of operations, which include localities in the north Delhi, said a spokesperson of the discom. It is expecting the peak power demand to touch a high of 2,351 MW this summer. The company has signed agreements of up to 2,500 MW, apart from contingency arrangements, through long-term and short-term arrangements.

The discoms in Delhi have estimated Delhi's peak power demand to cross 8,000 MW this summer.

Nirmala Sitharaman blames Kejriwal for assault on Rajya Sabha MP

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday, blamed Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal for the "shocking assault" on AAP Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal which took place at his official residence and said he is instead "shamelessly" moving around with accused Bibhav Kumar.

Addressing a press conference at BJP headquarters, Sitharaman said, "The fact that Swati Maliwal did not register a complaint in Police for 3-4 days (after the incident) means that there was pressure on her from high-level. There is reason to believe that there was enough pressure on her and probably will continue on with her." A visibly angry FM Sitharaman also dug up old cases of some AAP leaders who are facing legal action over the incidents involving women.

The Finance Minister said that Chief Minister Kejriwal owes an explanation and an apology as to how the attack on the AAP leader took place in his own house, carried out by "his right-hand man" Bibhav Kumar, while he was present there.

She lashed out at Kejriwal saying that instead of being apologetic over the deplorable incident, he has been "shamelessly" roaming around with the culprit Bibhav Kumar, while campaigning in UP. FM Sitharaman took Kejriwal to task for ignoring such a serious issue and refusing to say anything over the assault, when journalists asked for his comment on the incident. She said it was shocking that the Delhi CM just pushed aside the journalists' mic and shamelessly moved on with his political campaigning.

"The women in Delhi are asking - can this CM (Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal) even provide security to the women in the city? Arvind Kejriwal is responsible for this incident," Sitharaman said. She said it was unbelievable and unacceptable that Arvind Kejriwal had not spoken anything on the issue.

"Since May 13, the CM Arvind Kejriwal has not spoken even a single word on the act of violence against his own party's Rajya Sabha female member. It is unbelievable and unacceptable that his party's female member, who was the chief of the Delhi Commission for Women, was assaulted, and he did not even say anything about it," she said.

Congress, SP will run bulldozer over Ram temple if voted to power: Modi

PTI ■ BARABANKI (UP)

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday claimed that the Congress and Samajwadi Party will run a bulldozer over the Ram temple if elected to power, and asked them to take "tuition" from Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on "where to run bulldozers".

Addressing a rally here, he also said the INDIA bloc is in the fray to create "instability" and is collapsing like a pack of cards as the polls progress. Asserting that his government is going to score a hat-trick, Modi said in the new government, he has to take many big decisions for the poor, youth, women and farmers, and for that he has come here to seek the blessings of the people of Barabanki and Mohanlalganj. "June 4 is not far. Today, the whole country and the world knows that the Modi government is going to score a hat-trick," he asserted. "On one side there is the BJP-NDA alliance dedicated to national interest and on the other side, the 'INDI alliance' is in the field to create instability in the country. As the elections progress, these 'INDI alliance' people have started collapsing like a pack of cards," he said.

"You need MPs who will work and do good for you. We need MPs who will develop the area, not those who will abuse Modi for five years. For this you have only one option - lotus (poll symbol of BJP). Can you achieve a speed of 1,000 CC with a 100 CC engine? If you want rapid development, only a strong government can provide it... Only the BJP government can give it," he asserted. The prime minister also raised the Ram temple issue to hit out at the SP and Congress. "A senior SP leader had said on the day of Ram Navami that Ram temple is useless. At the same time, the Congress is preparing to overturn the Supreme Court's decision on Ram Temple. For them, only their family and power matter. If the SP-Congress come to power, they will send Ram Lalla back to the tent and bulldoze the temple," he claimed while asking them to take "tuition" from Adityanath as to where bulldozers should be used. The Adityanath government has been accused of using bulldozers to raze property of alleged criminals in the state. Samajwadi Party leader Ram Gopal Yadav had recently courted controversy with his remarks that the Ram temple in Ayodhya is "bekaar (useless)" as it has not been properly constructed, inviting sharp criticism from Adityanath who said this shows the "reality" of the INDIA bloc. Maintaining that "nothing is bigger than vote bank for the SP-Congress," Modi said, "But, when I expose them, they become restless and lose sleep. They start saying anything and start hurling abuses." "The SP-Congress have surrendered to appeasement. And when Modi is telling their truth to the country, they say Modi is creating Hindu-Muslim divide. The vote bank these people run after has also started understanding their truth now. Our mothers and sisters are happy with the law on triple talaq and are continuously blessing the BJP," Modi said. Taking a dig at Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav, he said, "The Babuji here, the socialist prince, has now taken shelter of a new aunt". Apparently referring to West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, Modi said, "This new aunt of his is in Bengal. Now his aunt from Bengal has told the 'INDI alliance' people that I will support you from outside". Yadav earlier used to address BSP chief Mayawati as his 'buba' (aunt). He also alluded to the fight between INDIA bloc partners - the AAP and Congress in Punjab. "An INDI alliance party has told another that don't speak anything against us in Punjab." Modi said they were day dreaming about getting the prime minister's post. He also mocked former Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel for his remarks that the people of Rae Bareilly are now going to elect the prime minister of the country, saying "Look at the extent of their dreams". "A Congress leader said the people of Rae Bareilly will elect the prime minister. Hearing this, the heart of the Samajwadi prince broke. No tears came out but all his heart's desires were washed away," the prime minister said. Baghel had said that the people of Rae Bareilly are not just electing a Lok Sabha member but also a prime minister. Modi also targeted RJD leader Lalu Prasad Yadav, saying "The champion of fodder scam from Bihar, who is currently out of jail on the pretext of ill health, is even saying that the entire reservation should now be given to Muslims. This means that Dalits, tribals and backward classes will not be able to achieve anything." Targeting the opposition on the issue of reservation, Modi said, "When the Constitution was made, the Constituent Assembly had decided that there would be no reservation on the basis of religion. But, 10 years ago these people (Congress) had tried to give reservation on the basis of religion. They have even done this in Karnataka. There they made all the Muslims OBC overnight. They looted a huge portion of the reservation given to OBCs." Invoking Lord Ram, the prime minister said, "Beyond Ram's work ('Ram kaaj'), now it is time for national work ('rashtra kaaj'). The inspiration for Ram's work is for national work. I am asking you for 400 'paar' to protect your rights." The main contest in Barabanki is between Tanuj Punia of the Congress and BJP's Rajrani Rawat. Tanuj Punia is the son of senior Congress leader PL Punia, a former Lok Sabha MP from Barabanki (SC) Lok Sabha seat. Barabanki will vote in the fifth phase of the Lok Sabha elections in the state on May 20.

Ladakhis united over Sixth Schedule demand despite division on LS polls: Buddhist leader

PTI ■ LEH

Even as the Lok Sabha elections for the Ladakh appear to be divided on regional basis, it will not affect the unity over the demands for statehood and safeguards under the Sixth Schedule of the Constitution, said Chering Dorjay Lakruk, president of Ladakh Buddhist Association (LBA).

A three-cornered election in Ladakh, with the BJP and the Congress candidates from Leh and an Independent nominee from Kargil, gives an edge to the Kargil candidate.

In an interview with PTI, Lakruk stressed the need for safeguards to protect the land and culture of Ladakh, and also raised concerns over the pasture lands, used for grazing by the local nomadic tribes, being taken over by China. LBA, a prominent social and religious organisation of Ladakh, has had a key role in developing a consensus on the need for the Sixth Schedule.

The Sixth Schedule of the Constitution deals with provisions for the administration of the tribal areas in the states of Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura and Mizoram.

Founded in 1933, the LBA had raised the demand for making Ladakh a separate state soon after Independence. However, it was included in Jammu and Kashmir at that time. But the demand for a separate identity continued. "After the abrogation of Article 370, there were celebrations initially. But then we realised it is not good for us," Lakruk told PTI.

He said various social, religious and other organisations and individuals came forward to press for the demand, which resulted in the Leh Apex Body (LAB) and Kargil Democratic Alliance (KDA) coming together.

Their representatives were in talks with a high-powered committee of the home ministry over four key demands -- Sixth Schedule, statehood, a separate public service commission and Lok Sabha seats in Leh and Kargil. Presently, the Union Territory of Ladakh has only one Lok Sabha constituency. "During the talks with the home ministry, we felt they were buying time before the election. They did not have much to offer. Only some assurance was given on the public service commission," he said. He also dismissed reports that they were assured of extending Article 371-like protections to the region which would enable them to create elected bodies with the power to administrate tribal areas. "The home ministry did not give any offer of Article 371. It was a speculation. They told us our existing councils will be strengthened and they will create an advisory council. We already have the LAHDC Act (Ladakh Autonomous Hill Development Council Act, 1997). But now the powers of the council have also been curtailed," he said. With a three-cornered fight between BJP's Tashi Gyalson, Congress' Tsering Namgyal and Independent candidate from Kargil Mohd Hanifa Jan being witnessed here, Lakruk said the Kargil candidate has an edge over his rivals. Both Gyalson and Namgyal are from Leh. "Unfortunately in Ladakh the tradition is that voting is on a regional basis. So the independent candidate will have some edge. Votes in Kargil will get consolidated behind him. There are more chances for him to win," Lakruk said. He said they had anticipated that some regional and religious sentiments may come to the fore during elections, but it will not impact the unity of the two regions over their demands. "We could see that at the time of election, some religious or regional sentiments may come in. Apex body and KDA have discussed this. Whatever the results of elections are, our unity on the four demands will not be affected," he said. He said the LBA went to every village and settlement to educate people on the demand for the Sixth Schedule. As the talks with the Union government failed, they were forced to take the path of protest.

Fight of heavyweights in Sambalpur where farmers, weavers hold the key

PTI ■ SAMBALPUR

Unemployment and distress sale of paddy are the pressing issues in Odisha's Sambalpur Lok Sabha constituency, where Union minister Dharmendra Pradhan of the BJP and influential BJD general secretary (organisation) Pranab Prakash Das are poised for a showdown. The candidates' attention is squarely on farmers and weavers, who are crucial in a region that encompasses the catchment area of the Hirakud reservoir and has a thriving handloom industry. The majority of Sambalpur's population, concentrated in five of its seven assembly constituencies, relies either on agriculture or the harvesting of Kendu and Sal leaves for their livelihoods. Pradhan, who is a Rajya Sabha MP from Bihar, is contesting elections after a gap of 15 years. He had last unsuccessfully contested assembly elections from Parlahara assembly segment in 2009. Das, on the other hand, is the sitting MLA of Jajpur seat in the coastal region. He is known to be an influential organiser of the party. The prestigious Sambalpur parliamentary constituency was represented by the BJD during its alliance with BJP three times in a row in 1998,

1999 and 2004. In 2009, 2014 and 2019, however, voters of the constituency elected Congress, BJD and BJP candidates respectively. Pradhan, a resident of Talcher town in Angul district and son of former Union minister Debendra Pradhan, has been a central minister since 2014 and is banking on the initiatives of the Union government to register a victory. "We are optimistic that people will vote on the lotus symbol. The BJP-led Centre has established IIM Sambalpur and people are happy with the developmental work of the Union government," he said. Das, a three-term Jajpur MLA and son of former Janata Dal state president Ashok Dash, claimed that people love Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik and have been benefited from the BJD governments' schemes for farmers, weavers, students, youths and women. "The BJD government's Kalia scheme for farmers is very popular in this region," Das said. Although a total of 14 candidates are in the fray, the contest is directly between Pradhan and Das. Congress has nominated former BJD MP and ex-minister Nagendra Pradhan, who quit the ruling party in the state and joined the grand old party a few days before filing his nominations. The Congress had first named Dulal Chandra Pradhan from the seat but later changed its candidate to Nagendra Pradhan, who had won from the constituency in 2014 on a BJD ticket, after he joined the grand old party. Aggrieved by the party's decision, Dulal Chandra Pradhan later joined the BJP.

Lalu's daughter seeks to wrest back her father's stronghold Saran

PTI ■ SARAN (BIHAR)

Sitting BJP MP Rajiv Pratap Rudy's remark that "my name could enter record books for winning against the maximum number of members of one family" has set the political mood in Bihar's Saran where RJD president Lalu Prasad's daughter Rohini Acharya has entered the fray to wrest back her father's erstwhile pocket borough. Rudy, a former Union minister, who lost to Prasad whenever the RJD supreme was himself in the fray, has been successful against the latter's wife Rabri Devi in 2014. Five years later, Rudy defeated Prasad's elder son Tej Pratap Yadav's father-in-law Chandrika Roy. Acharya, 47, happens to be the sixth member of her family, and fourth among her siblings to enter politics, yet, in more than one respect, she stands out as an atypical politician. Rudy, 62, had made his debut in parliamentary elections in 1996 from Chhapra, as Saran was known before the 2008 delimitation. In 2004, Prasad wrested the seat in a contest marred by large-scale electoral violence that had necessitated a repoll in the entire constituency.

RMP leader Hariharan held over sexist remarks against Shailaja, Manju Warriar

PTI ■ KOZHIKODE (KERALA)

Revolutionary Marxist Party (RMP) leader K S Hariharan was on Friday arrested over his alleged sexist remarks against senior CPI(M) leader K K Shailaja and Malayalam film actress Manju Warriar. Vadakara police here recorded his arrest and then released him on station bail, an officer said. The action was taken based on a complaint recently lodged by the All India Democratic Women's Association (AIDWA), a Left outfit. The police had, on May 12, booked Hariharan under IPC Sections 509 (insulting the modesty of a woman) and 153 (wantonly giving provocation with intent to cause riot). After he was released on station bail, Hariharan told reporters that in Kerala a lot of people make controversial remarks in their speeches, but cases are not registered against them. He further said that after his speech, both he and his party leader K K Rema were attacked on social media. "We have decided to face it legally and politically," he added. Hariharan also said that what he said was wrong and that is why expressed regret regarding it. The RMP leader said that following the incident bombs were hurled at his home, but no one has been caught in connection with that. An unidentified gang, which came on a two-wheeler, hurled some explosives at the house at around 8.15 pm on May 12, he had claimed earlier. Hariharan had made the objectionable remark on the night of May 11 while speaking at a meeting in Vadakara here, which was inaugurated by the Leader of Opposition in the Assembly, V D Satheesan. The event was organised in response to the ruling LDF's charges that UDF workers had made a morphed video of Shailaja, who was a candidate in Vadakara in the recently concluded Lok Sabha polls. As the remark sparked a huge political storm, his own party high command and the UDF openly criticised him and said Hariharan should not have made such objectionable comments against any woman. Later, Hariharan came out with a Facebook post saying friends and journalists brought to his attention that he had made an "inappropriate" remark during the speech.

In Mumbai North, Piyush challenges outsider tag against bhoomi putra Bhushan

PTI ■ MUMBAI

As BJP leader Piyush Goyal faces the challenge of overcoming the "outsider" tag, Congress's Bhushan Patil is riding on the badge of being a "bhoomi putra" (son of the soil) in Mumbai North seat. Goyal is pitted in a straight fight with Patil for the May 20 election. Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut and Congress leader Varsha Gaikwad called Goyal an "outsider" earlier this month. Slamming the opposition

Maha Vikas Aghadi for labelling him as an outsider, Goyal said, "There can be nobody more Mumbaikar than me." "That is a very ridiculous argument. Not even worth responding to. I am a born Mumbaikar. Lived in Mumbai all my life, worked in Mumbai all my life," Goyal told PTI during a roadshow. The Rajya Sabha MP, who started his career as a chartered accountant, is the son of former BJP minister Vedprakash Goyal and Chandrakanta Goyal, three-term BJP MLA from Matunga.

Goyal said he was born in Mumbai, studied in H R College and Government Law College, and started his Chartered Accountancy practice in Lalbaug and worked as an investment banker on Nepean Sea Road. The opportunity of proving his salt as a Mumbaikar comes with the challenge of matching up to the big winning margin of 4.65 lakh votes recorded by BJP's Gopal Shetty in the last election. Of the 9.88 lakh votes polled in 2019, Shetty got 7.05 lakh while actor and Congress nominee Urmila Matondkar polled 2.41 lakh. Meanwhile, Congress' Patil is asserting his identity as a local resident and a "Maharashtrian" to garner maximum votes for his party. The Congress leader is also attempting to tap the BJP's traditional vote bank, the Gujarati community, by involving his wife, a Gujarati Jain, in his campaign. Patil enjoys the support of Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Vinod Ghosalkar whose son, former corporator Abhishek Ghosalkar, was killed in Borivali earlier this year during a Facebook Live interaction with his constituents. Patil said he is a "bhoomi putra" (son of the soil) who would continue to live among his voters in Borivali and would be approachable 24x7 to resolve their grievances. Goyal's candidature was declared much earlier than that of Patil, so the BJP leader has had an early mover advantage, holding rallies and crisscrossing the constituency much before Patil's nomination was announced. Vanchit Bahujan Aghadi's advocate Sonal D Gondane is another candidate in the fray. Historically, the Mumbai North seat has been a BJP bastion with former union minister Ram Naik winning five straight elections from 1989 till 2004. In the 2004 Lok Sabha elections, actor Govinda, who was the Congress candidate, defeated Naik. In 2009, Sanjay Nirupam was elected as a Congress candidate. In the next two elections, in 2014 and 2019, Gopal Shetty was elected. He hasn't been fielded this time and instead the BJP chose Goyal.

BJP ended crisis of credibility in politics by fulfilling promises: Former Haryana Minister Vij

PTI ■ CHANDIGARH

The BJP ended the "crisis of credibility" in Indian politics by fulfilling the promises it made to people, former Haryana minister and six-term MLA Anil Vij said on Friday. The Ambala Cantonment MLA said his party does what it promises. Referring to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's scheduled visit to Haryana on Saturday to address two rallies in support of the Bharatiya Janata Party's (BJP) Lok Sabha poll candidates, Vij said, "Modiji's visit will further boost the party's campaign in the state." According to state BJP leaders, the prime minister is scheduled to address a rally each in Ambala and Gohana (in Sonapat district) on Saturday. It will be his first visit for campaigning in the election season to Haryana, which goes to polls on May 25. "There is great enthusiasm among people about the prime minister's visit," Vij said. Slamming the Congress, the former Haryana home minister alleged that there was a "crisis of credibility" in the country's politics earlier because the grand old party did not fulfil what it promised to people and thus, betrayed their trust. "When the Congress was in power, it used to say it would eradicate poverty. But it failed to do so. The Congress fought elections after elections on the

'garibi hatao' slogan, but took no steps towards poverty alleviation. It is during Modi's government that 25 crore people have come out of poverty in 10 years," Vij told PTI. It is the Modi government that scrapped Article 370 of the Constitution that had bestowed a special status on the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir, enacted the Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA), a law against instant "triple talaq" and passed a bill for reserving one-third of the seats in the Lok Sabha and state assemblies for women, he said.

Revolt by six former Congress MLAs was a slap in party's face for cheating people, claims Himachal BJP chief

PTI ■ SHIMLA

The revolt by the six former MLAs, who had voted in favour of BJP nominee Harsh Mahajan in the Rajya Sabha polls, was a slap in the face of the Congress for "cheating" the people of Himachal Pradesh by making false promises, state BJP chief Rajiv Bindal has said. In an interview with PTI, Bindal claimed the Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu-led state government has no achievements to show for the 15 months it has been in power and that Congress leaders are frustrated with this. "The Congress and the state government are bankrupt in terms of leadership and policies and have cheated the people of the state by making false promises and people with scruples are leaving the party. The revolt by its (former) legislators was a slap in the face of the Congress for cheating the public," the BJP leader said. Calling these leaders rebels shows Sukhu's frustration, he said. "One thing is clear that people are motivated by the developmental policies and charisma of Prime Minister Narendra Modi," he added.

Putin concludes trip to China

AP ■ BEIJING

Russian President Vladimir Putin concluded a two-day visit to China on Friday, emphasizing the countries' burgeoning strategic ties as well as his own personal relationship with Chinese leader Xi Jinping as they sought to present an alternative to U.S. global influence. Putin praised the growth in bilateral trade while touring a China-Russia Expo in the northeastern city of Harbin. He met students at the Harbin Institute of Technology, which is said to work closely with the People's Liberation Army. Harbin, capital of China's Heilongjiang province, was once home to many Russian expatriates and retains some of that history in its architecture, such as the central St. Sophia Cathedral, a former Russian Orthodox church. Speaking to reporters, Putin thanked Xi and praised their talks as "substantive," saying that he spent "almost a whole day, from morning till evening" with the Chinese leader and other officials in Beijing the previous day.

The partnership between China and Russia "is not directed against anyone," Putin said in a veiled reference to the West. "It is aimed at one thing: creating better conditions for the development of our countries and improving the well-being of the people of China and the Russian Federation." But he still had a back-handed rebuke for the U.S., and others who oppose the Moscow-Beijing relationship, saying an "emerging multipolar world ... is now taking shape before our eyes." "And it is important that those who are trying to maintain their monopoly on decision-making in the world on all issues ... do everything in their power to ensure that this process goes naturally," he said. Both Russia and China have frequently spoken of the "emerging multipolar world" in response to what they view as U.S. hegemony. Joseph Torigian, a research fellow at Stanford University's Hoover Institute, said the message being sent by China and Russia was clear: "At this moment, they're reminding the West that they can be defiant when they want to."

Taiwan's Foreign Minister Joseph Wu addressed Putin's visit in an interview with The Associated Press, saying Western powers should continue to support Ukraine as part of sending a message that democracies will defend one another. "If Ukraine is defeated at the end, I think China is going to get inspired, and they might take even more ambitious steps in expanding their power in the Indo-Pacific, and it will be disastrous for the international community," Wu said. Putin this month began his fifth term in power and Xi began his third last year. The Russian leader's trip "is an example of the two big authoritarian countries supporting each other, working together with each other, supporting each other's expansionism," Wu added. Russia has become isolated globally following the 2022 invasion of Ukraine. China has a tense relationship with the U.S., which has labeled it a competitor, and faces pressure for continuing to supply key components to Russia needed for weapons production.

French police fatally shoot suspect in synagogue arson

AP ■ PARIS

France's Interior Minister said Friday that a man who was shot and killed by police after a suspected arson attack on a synagogue in the Normandy city of Rouen was an Algerian national who sought medical treatment in France and wasn't flagged as a suspected extremist. The minister, Gerald Darmanin, praised the 25-year-old police officer who shot and killed the man, saying he will be decorated for his "extremely courageous, extremely professional" behavior faced with the suspected attacker who rushed at him with a kitchen knife early Friday after the blaze broke out at the synagogue. Earlier the French police shot and killed the man armed with a knife and a metal bar who is suspected of having set fire to a synagogue in the Normandy city of Rouen early on Friday, the latest apparent act in a storm of antisemitism roiling France amid the Israel-Hamas war. Fire services were alerted early Friday morning to a blaze at the synagogue. Police officers who deployed discovered the man on the roof of the building, clutching the metal bar in one hand and the kitchen knife in the other, and smoke rising from the synagogue's windows, Rouen prosecutor Frederic Teillet said at a brief news conference. He said the man hurled abuse and threw the metal bar at the police before jumping off the roof and then running at one of the officers with his knife raised. The officer fired five shots, hitting the man four times, fatally wounding him, the prosecutor said. He said authorities are seeking to verify the man's identity. The prosecutor took no questions. Interior Minister Gerald Darmanin posted on the social media site X that the man was "clearly wanting to set fire to the city's synagogue." He congratulated officers for "their reactivity and their courage." Tensions and anger have grown in France over the Israel-Hamas war. Antisemitic acts have surged in the country, which has the largest Jewish and Muslim populations in western Europe. Rouen Mayor Nicolas Mayer-Rossignol said the man is thought to have climbed onto a trash container and thrown "a sort of Molotov cocktail" inside the synagogue, starting a fire and causing "significant damage." "When the Jewish community is attacked, it's an attack on the national community, an attack on France, an attack on all French citizens," he said. "It's a fright for the whole nation," he added. Photos taken inside the synagogue and seen by The Associated Press showed that walls and the ceiling were charred and blackened. In Paris, Yonathan Arfi, head of the main French Jewish umbrella group, expressed fury at what he described as the "climate of terror" facing Jews in France. This week, a Paris memorial honoring people who distinguished themselves by helping to rescue Jews in France during the country's Nazi occupation in World War II was also attacked, defaced with painted blood-red hands.

Slovak PM Fico remains in serious condition after another operation

AP ■ BRATISLAVA

Slovak Prime Minister Robert Fico has undergone another operation two days after being shot multiple times and remains in serious condition, officials said Friday. Fico, 59, was attacked as he was greeting supporters after a government meeting in the former coal mining town of Handlova. A suspected assailant has been arrested. Miriam Lapunikova, director of the University F D Roosevelt hospital in Banska Bystrica, where Fico was taken by helicopter after he was shot, said Fico underwent a CT scan and is currently awake and stable in an intensive care unit. She described his condition as "very serious." She said the surgery removed dead tissues that had remained inside Fico's body. "I think it will take several more days until we will definitely know the direction of the further development," Robert Kaliniak, the defense minister and deputy prime minister, told reporters at the hospital. Still, Kaliniak stressed that the government continues to work. "The ministries are working on all their duties, nothing is frozen or halted, the country goes on," he told reporters. "The state is stable and today the patient is stable as well." Fico has long been a divisive figure in Slovakia and beyond. His return to power last year on a pro-Russian, anti-American platform led to worries among fellow European Union and NATO members that he would abandon his country's pro-

Western course, particularly on Ukraine. Earlier Friday, the man charged with attempting to assassinate Fico was escorted by police to his home. Local media reported that it was part of a search for evidence. Markiza, a Slovak television station, showed footage of the suspect being taken to his home in the town of Levice on Friday morning, and reported that police had seized a computer and some documents. Prosecutors have told police not to publicly identify the suspect or release other details about the case. The suspect's detention will be reviewed at a hearing Saturday at Slovakia's Specialized Criminal Court in Pezinok, outside the capital Bratislava. Unconfirmed media reports suggested he was a 71-year-old retiree who was known as an amateur poet, and may have previously worked as a security guard at a mall in the country's southwest.

Israel denies genocide charges

Insists it's protecting Gaza civilians

AP ■ THE HAGUE

Israel strongly denied charges of genocide on Friday, telling the United Nations' top court it was doing everything it could to protect the civilian population during its military operation in Gaza. The International Court of Justice wrapped up a third round of hearings on emergency measures requested by South Africa, which says Israel's military incursion in the southern city of Rafah threatens the "very survival of Palestinians in Gaza" and has asked the court to order a cease-fire. Tamar Kaplan-Tourgeman, one of Israel's legal team, defended the country's conduct, saying it had allowed in fuel and medication to the beleaguered enclave. "Israel takes extraordinary measures in order to minimize the harm to civilians in Gaza," she told The Hague-based court. A protester shouting "Liars" briefly interrupted Kaplan-

A protester holds a poster of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu during a rally commemorating the 76th anniversary of the mass expulsion of the Palestinians from what is now Israel in 1948, often called the "Nakba" or Arabic for catastrophe, outside the U.S. Embassy in Jakarta, Indonesia on Friday. Tourgeman's final remarks. The hearing was paused for less than a minute while security guards escorted a woman from the public gallery. South Africa told the court on Thursday that the situation in the beleaguered enclave has reached "a new and horrific stage" and urged judges to order a half to Israeli military operations. The court was holding a third round of hearings on emergency measures requested by South Africa since it first filed its genocide case at the end of last year. According to the latest request, South Africa says Israel's military incursion in Rafah threatens the "very survival of Palestinians in Gaza." In January, judges ordered Israel to do all it can to prevent death, destruction and any acts of genocide in Gaza, but the panel stopped short of ordering an end to the military offensive. Judges will now deliberate on the request and are expected to issue a decision in the next weeks. ICJ judges have broad powers to order a cease-fire and other measures, though the court doesn't have its own enforcement apparatus. A 2022 order by the court demanding that Russia halt its full-scale invasion of Ukraine has so far gone unheeded. Most of Gaza's population of 2.3 million people have been displaced since fighting began.

Rishi Sunak and wife Akshata's wealth rises in 2024 Rich List

PTI ■ LONDON

British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak and wife Akshata Murty, who made their debut in the annual 'Sunday Times Rich List' two years ago, have moved up the ranks in the 2024 edition released on Friday thanks to the Murty's lucrative Infosys shareholding. The couple, both 44, have risen from 275th last year to 245th with an estimated wealth of GBP 651 million, making them the "wealthiest people to call 10 Downing Street home". Murty's earnings are said to far exceed that of her husband as financial statements published in February are quoted to say Sunak made GBP 2.2 million in 2022-23 compared to Murty's estimated GBP 13 million in dividends over the past year. "The couple's most valued asset is Murty's share-holding in Infosys, a Bangalore-based IT company co-founded by Murty's father [Narayan Murthy]," reads the newspaper's analysis. "Over the past year, the shares have grown in value by GBP 108.8 million to nearly GBP 590 million. The latest annual report suggests that Murty received about GBP 13 million in dividends during that time — adding to the more than a million pounds she has been paid in previous years. She is poised to receive another GBP 10.5 million this year," it notes. The annual compilation of Britain's wealthiest families is once again topped by the Indian-origin Hinduja family, who saw their wealth increase over the past year to hit GBP 37.196 billion in the wake of the opening of their brand-new luxury OWO Hotel in the heart of London.

Vatican updates norms for evaluating Mary's vision to tackle internet hoaxes

AP ■ VATICAN CITY

The Vatican on Friday radically reformed its process for evaluating alleged visions of the Virgin Mary, weeping statues and other seemingly supernatural phenomena, putting the brakes on making definitive declarations unless the event is obviously fabricated. The Vatican's doctrine office overhauled norms first issued in 1978, arguing that they were no longer useful or viable in the internet age. Nowadays, word about apparitions or weeping Madonnas travels quickly and can actually harm the faithful if hoaxers are trying to make money off people's beliefs or manipulate them, the Vatican said. The new norms make clear that such an abuse of people's faith can be punishable canonically, saying, "The use of purported supernatural experiences or recognised mystical elements as a means of or a pretext for exerting control over people or carrying out abuses is to be considered of particular moral gravity." The new norms reframe the Catholic Church's evaluation process by essentially taking off the table whether church authorities will declare a particular vision, stigmata or other seemingly divinely inspired event supernatural. Instead, the new criteria envisages six main outcomes, with the most favourable being that the church issues a noncommittal doctrinal green light, a so-called "nihil obstat." Such a declaration means there is nothing about the event that is contrary to the faith, and therefore Catholics can express devotion to it. The Catholic Church has had a long and controversial history of the faithful claiming to have had visions of the Virgin Mary, of statues purportedly weeping tears of blood and stigmata erupting on hands and feet mimicking the wounds of Christ. When confirmed as authentic by church authorities, these otherwise inexplicable signs have led to a flourishing of the faith, with new religious vocations and conversions. That has been the case for the purported apparitions of Mary that turned Fatima, Portugal, and Lourdes, France, into enormously popular pilgrimage destinations. Church figures who claimed to have experienced the stigmata wounds, including Padre Pio and Pope Francis' namesake, St. Francis of Assisi, have inspired millions of Catholics even if decisions about their authenticity have been elusive. Francis himself has weighed in on the phenomenon, making clear that he is devoted to the main church-approved Marian apparitions, such as Our Lady of Guadalupe, who believers say appeared to an Indigenous man in Mexico in 1531. But Francis has expressed scepticism about more recent events, including claims of repeated messages from Mary to "seers" at the shrine of Medjugorje in Bosnia-Herzegovina, even while allowing pilgrimages to take place there. "I prefer the Madonna as mother, our mother, and not a woman who's the head of a telegraphic office, who sends a message every day at a certain time," Francis told reporters in 2017. But the phenomena have also been a source of scandal. That was the case when the Vatican in 2007 excommunicated the members of a Quebec-based group, the Army of Mary, after its founders claimed to have had Marian visions and declared herself the reincarnation of the mother of Christ.

US military: First aid shipment delivered via new Gaza pier

AP ■ WASHINGTON

Trucks carrying badly needed aid for the Gaza Strip rolled across a newly built US pier and into the besieged enclave for the first time Friday as Israeli restrictions on border crossings and heavy fighting hindered the delivery of food and other supplies. The shipment is the first in an operation that American military officials anticipate could scale up to 150 truckloads a day, all while Israel presses in on the southern city of Rafah in its 7-month offensive against Hamas. But the US and aid groups warn that the floating pier project is not a substitute for land deliveries that could bring in all the food, water and fuel needed in Gaza. Before the war, more than 500 truckloads entered the territory on an average day. The operation's success also remains tenuous because of the risk of militant attack, logistical hurdles and a growing shortage of fuel for the trucks to run due to the Israeli blockade of Gaza since Hamas' October 7 attack. Militants killed 1,200 people and took 250 others hostage in that assault on southern Israel. The Israeli offensive since has killed more than 35,000 Palestinians in Gaza, local health officials say, while hundreds more have been killed in the West Bank. Aid agencies say they are running out of food in southern Gaza and fuel is dwindling, while the US Agency for International Development and the World Food Program say famine has already taken hold in Gaza's north. Troops finished installing the floating pier on Thursday, and the US military's Central Command said the first aid crossed into Gaza at 9 am Friday. It said no American troops went ashore in the operation. "This is an ongoing, multinational effort to deliver additional aid to Palestinian civilians in Gaza via a maritime corridor that is entirely humanitarian in nature, and will involve aid commodities donated by a number of countries and humanitarian organizations," the command said. The Pentagon said no back-ups were expected in the distribution process, which is being coordinated by the United Nations. The UN humanitarian aid coordinating agency said the start of the operation was welcome but not a replacement for deliveries by land. "I think everyone in the operation has said it: Any and all aid into Gaza is welcome by any route," spokesperson Jens Laerke, of the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs, told journalists in Geneva on Friday. "However, getting aid to people they need into and across Gaza cannot and should not depend on a floating dock far from where needs are most acute." The UN earlier said fuel deliveries brought through land routes have all but stopped and that would make it extremely difficult to bring the aid to Gaza's people. "It doesn't matter how the aid comes, whether it's by sea or whether by land, without fuel, aid won't get to the people," UN deputy spokesperson Farhan Haq said. Pentagon spokesperson Sabrina Singh said the issue of fuel deliveries comes up in all US conversations with the Israelis. She also said the plan is to begin slowly with the sea route and ramp up the truck deliveries over time as they work the kinks out of the system.

Abu Dhabi opens first brewery as UAE relaxes alcohol laws

AP ■ ABU DHABI

In 2018, Chad McGehee opened Side Hustle Brews and Spirits, an Abu Dhabi-branded brewery and distillery with funky camels on its cans and playful names familiar to anyone living in the United Arab Emirates. The only problem was it was illegal to produce alcohol in the country, so his company made its hoppy India pale ale in the United States and then imported it to the UAE for sale. That's all changed as Abu Dhabi has overhauled its laws to allow for the micro and craft breweries that have taken the rest of the world by storm, part of a wider reconsideration of alcohol policies in the Islamic nation increasingly drawing tourists. And McGehee's dream of IPAs in Arabia became a reality — though it took hard work as they were the first to open. "The government had created a regulation around fermentation, but the steps of getting a permit, the steps of inspection, all of these things were not put on paper yet. So that had to be built out as we were going through this process," McGehee said on a recent afternoon at his brew pub on Abu Dhabi's Al Maryah Island.

Abu Dhabi long has been considered by those living in the UAE to be more buttoned-up than the rambunctious neighbouring emirate of Dubai, home to night clubs, beach bars and pubs drawing tourists and residents to imbibe. In the seven emirates of the UAE, Sharjah outright bans the sale and consumption of alcohol, like neighbouring Saudi Arabia. But beginning in 2020, Abu Dhabi changed its policies. It eliminated its licensing system for alcohol purchases for drinkers to boost sales and tourism during the coronavirus pandemic. Eliminating the licenses allowed Muslims, if they chose, to drink, as well as decriminalised alcohol possession for those without a license.

"I think progression in this country is par for the course, they're always moving things forward," said Nadeem Selbak, one of the partners at Craft, which is Side Hustle's brew pub. The Emirates still maintains a strict no-tolerance policy on drunken driving and public intoxication. Islam also considers alcohol consumption as "haram", or forbidden. But alcohol sales long have been a major driver of tax revenue and a moneymaker for the UAE. Dubai Duty Free, for instance, sold 6 million cans of beer last year, as well as 3.8 million bottles of liquor and 2.3 million bottles of whiskey for thirsty travellers. But despite that demand, there was no local equipment available to open a brewery in the UAE. McGehee ended up importing almost everything for the brewery, nearly all of it coming from the US. Abu Dhabi represents a completely untapped market for Side Hustle. "The idea for me was like going back in time, when I started almost 20 years ago," said Mitchell Dougherty, Side Hustle's brewmaster. At any given point, Craft has 14 beers on tap. So far this year they have brewed 34 and aim to reach up to 100 by the end of the year. The names of the beers include some winking reminders of life in the UAE, including one called "Massage Card Ninja" — a nod to business cards showing scantily clad women that appear under car windshield wipers in some Dubai neighbourhoods.

India likely to lose Olympic boxing quota as WADA suspends Parveen for three whereabouts failures

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

World championship bronze medalist boxer Parveen Hooda is likely to lose her Paris Olympic quota after being suspended by World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) for three whereabouts failures in 12 months. Parveen, who fetched an Olympic quota in the women's 57kg weight class during the Asian Games last year, failed to file her whereabouts in the period from April 2022 to March 2023 as per the WADA rules. "She has been suspended by WADA for 1.5 years. The suspension starts this month. It will go on till November 2025," Parveen's coach Sudhir Hooda told PTI. Athletes included in the Registered Testing Pool (RTP) must provide full address for their overnight location, the name and full address of each location where they train, work or conduct other regular scheduled activities, as well as the usual time-frames of each activity. RTP athletes must also identify a 60-minute window and location for each day of the quarter, during which they must be available for testing. Failure to comply with whereabouts and testing obligations will result in a whereabouts failure. According to WADA rules,

"any combination of three whereabouts failures (filing failure and/or missed test) within a period of 12 months constitute an anti-doping rule violation, for which the applicable sanction is 2 years' ineligibility subject to a reduction to a minimum of 1 year depending on your degree of fault." Lawyer Vidushpat Singhania, who is handling Parveen's case, said they are in correspondence with the International Testing Agency

(ITA) and are pushing to get the sanction removed or shortened. "We have been in correspondence with multiple parties including the ITA and WADA ombudsman. We are trying our best for a no sanction or reduced one," Singhania said. "We are trying for them to withdraw the notice for whereabouts failure, if that happens there will be no sanction. We are looking to finalise it immediately because of the Olympic quota place," he added. However, even if the sanction is reduced to a year, Parveen will not be able to compete at the Paris Games in July-August this year. In October last year, it had come to light that Parveen had committed multiple whereabouts failures in one-year period and had received a notice form ITA, which is overseeing the anti-doping programme for boxing at the Olympics. The Boxing Federation of India (BFI) was confident of a favourable result. Currently, only four Indian boxers — Nikhat Zareen (50kg), Preeti (54kg), Parveen (57kg) and Lovlina Borgohain (75kg) — have won quota places. In boxing, a quota is awarded to the athlete not the country. The final Olympic qualifier is scheduled to begin on May 24 in Bangkok.

Team captain, two other players arrested over alleged soccer match fixing in Australia

AP ■ SYDNEY

Australian professional soccer was rocked Friday by accusations that the captain of A-League club Macarthur FC paid two younger teammates up to 10,000 Australian dollars ($6,600) to deliberately receive yellow cards in a scheme set up by a South American gambling connection. The player were identified Macarthur team leader Ulises Davila and fellow players Kearyn Baccus and Clayton Lewis as the players arrested over their alleged involvement in the match-fixing scheme, which police say led to hundreds of thousands of dollars being paid out in winnings. All three players were formally charged and granted bail on Friday afternoon, with Davila scheduled to appear in court on June 24. Authorities still want to interview a fourth player allegedly involved in the scheme, threatening to extradite him if he does not return to New South Wales state to face questioning. Investigators allege yellow cards were manipulated during games played on Nov. 24 and Dec. 9. They also allege unsuccessful attempts were made to do similar during matches on April 20 and May 4. Macarthur played out a 1-1 draw with Melbourne Victory on Nov. 24 before beating Sydney FC 2-0 on Dec. 9. All three players were given yellow cards in the Dec. 9 game against Sydney. The team beat Sydney 1-0 on April 20 before being beaten 4-0 by Sydney FC in a playoff elimination game on May 4. Macarthur finished in fifth place during the regular season. Police Assistant Commissioner Michael Fitzgerald said the players had "betrayed the trust of their supporters and the code." "Yellow cards and the subsequent penalties that arise out of those yellow cards could change the result of that game," he said a media conference Friday. "$10,000 may seem a lot of money to a young sports person, (but) that is incredibly insignificant when you consider the damage that being charged with this offense and convicted results in." No further information was given about the South American gambling connection. The southwest Sydney club said it was "shocked" by the allegations, which came after a six-month police investigation. State police said the probe was launched in December 2023 with the help of Britain-based officials after suspicious betting patterns were identified. Macarthur FC chief executive Sam Krslovic said the club was caught off-guard by the arrests but it would work with authorities, adding: "Integrity of our game is a foundation pillar and we will work closely with all relevant agencies on this matter." Australian Associated Press reported that Davila was arrested on Friday at South Coogee, in Sydney's east, when police executed a search warrant as part of the investigation. Lewis was arrested in Parramatta and Baccus was arrested in Campbelltown, both western Sydney suburbs. Davila was expected to be charged with two counts of engaging in conduct that corrupts a betting outcome of an event and two counts of facilitating conduct that corrupts a betting outcome of an event. The other two players will be charged with engaging in conduct that corrupts a betting outcome of an event.

My records not under threat for now: Usain Bolt

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Usain Bolt is going to be back at the Olympics after eight years. But competitors need not worry, the world's fastest man will be in Paris to merely watch the action and feel chuffed about his phenomenal records which, he believes, are "not under threat" in the foreseeable future. In a telephonic interview with PTI from New York, where he is currently promoting next month's ICC T20 World Cup as its ambassador, Bolt spoke about life after retirement, the nagging itch to compete, especially when he watches his sport, and also a desire to visit India some time in future. His superhuman effort of 9.58 seconds (100m) and 19.19 seconds (200m) at the 2009 World Championships in Berlin have not been threatened ever since. "Well, for me, I don't think so. Not right now. I think there's a long way to go. You understand, I don't see anybody really break the record. So I think I still have a few more years to go (laughs)," said Bolt, the only sprinter to have won both the 100m and 200m gold medals in three consecutive Olympics. "No, I don't think the world record will be under threat. For me, I'm watching what's going on now when it comes to the race, it's picking up a few times," he added. Five sprinters, including USA's Christian Miller and Kendal Williams (both 9.93), have hit the sub-10 second mark this season, but Bolt's time remains way out of reach. The fastest time in 200m this season was set by USA's Kenneth Bednarek (19.67). "A few of them have run under 10 seconds. So I'm just observing now. I think by July we'll see who will be out in front and we can definitely see where the race will go. But for now, we're still just watching and see. The leads are progressing," said Jamaican, who has been nicknamed 'Lightning Bolt'.

Bolt is now a family man and his varied commercial commitments continue to take him around the world but at times, he does miss the adrenaline rush of sprinting. "Definitely, you know, it's been good. I can't complain," he said when asked about life after retirement. "I try to stay busy. I have a family now so I try to... Figure out the time and stay home sometimes, spend some time with the family. But I do miss competition, especially when I watch it. "I know I'm going to be itching when I get to the Olympics this year. For me, that should be interesting. I'm also excited to be there first time to actually watch a championship. So that should be good," said the Olympic legend. Among a host of track and field stars in Paris, Bolt is also keen to track the performance of India's path-breaking javelin thrower Neeraj Chopra, who in Tokyo, became the first Indian to win an Olympic gold in athletics. Bolt too remembers that iconic moment for Indian sport. "Of course, of course," responded Bolt when asked if he was aware of Chopra and his stellar achievements. "When I saw that, the first thing I said, it must have been really exciting for him. So that's a big, big deal for a country. To win the Olympic gold medal, you know what I mean? "He must have been proud of the work that he put in. Because I understand the effort and the time it takes to really work hard and to dedicate to your craft," he said. Bolt last visited India close to a decade ago and hopes to return in the near future. "I know I have a lot of Indian fans and I get a lot of tags (on social media) so I just want to say thanks for the support. I look forward to coming there again in the near future. "I've not been there in a while. So I'm excited to get a chance to come there and spend a lot more time than just a few days. So thanks for everything and just all love," added the legendary sprinter.

Brazil picked by FIFA to get soccer's 2027 Women World Cup, a first for South America

AP ■ BANGKOK

Brazil will host the 2027 Women's World Cup after a vote of FIFA's full membership chose the South American bid over a joint proposal from Belgium, Netherlands and Germany. The FIFA Congress on Friday voted 119-78 for Brazil in the reduced field of two candidates to host the 2027 tournament after a joint bid by the United States and Mexico was pulled late last month, and South Africa withdrew its candidacy in November. It will be the first time the global women's tournament, first played in 1991, is staged in South America. Brazil was strongly favored to win since October when FIFA brokered deals for the men's World Cups of 2030 and 2034. It left South American neighbors Argentina, Paraguay and Uruguay getting just one game each of the 104 in the 2030 tournament that will be mostly co-hosted by Spain, Portugal and Morocco. A key point for FIFA was clearing the way for its close ally Saudi Arabia to get the 2034 World Cup uncontested in a fast-track process. South American soccer body CONMEBOL's agreement to take a small part of the 2030 tournament removed it from the subsequent bidding. The US-Mexico decision to opt out and focus on bidding for the 2031 World Cup — that decision is due next year — was another indicator of Brazil's expected win. The Brazilian bid team hugged and celebrated on the podium after the result was announced, and described it as a victory for women's soccer, for their country and for South America. "We are a South American country that achieved the victory for women's soccer," Brazil's soccer federation president Ednaldo Rodrigues said before reflecting on recent flooding that has devastated parts of the country. "After the things that impact all Brazilians — a catastrophe due to the climate change — our achievement today, the first Women's World Cup in South America, will help strengthen us." It was the first time that all of FIFA's member associations had the opportunity to weigh in on the host of the women's tournament. Previously, it was decided by the FIFA Council, the governing body's decision-making committee. There were 207 of the 211 members eligible to vote in the electronic ballot which gave three options: Brazil, BNG or abstain. Brazil was even more favored to win the contest after ranking higher in an evaluation report by a FIFA-appointed panel. The next World Cup votes, to endorse the 2030 and 2034 hosts, will be on Dec.

Xavi reportedly under pressure at Barcelona after saying it will struggle to compete with Madrid

AP ■ BARCELONA (SPAIN)

Xavi Hernández's honesty about Barcelona's ongoing financial strife has reportedly not sat well with the club. In a message directed at Barcelona fans, Xavi said earlier this week that no one should get too excited about the summer transfer market since there is little money to spend. Spanish sports media has been rife with reports since then that club president Joan Laporta was not pleased with those comments and could be thinking of firing the former Spain great. After Barcelona's 2-0 win over last-placed Almeria on Thursday, Xavi said he "understood the noise" that his comments generated, but that he is convinced his job is secure. "I understand the noise, Barça is always like this, but I am calm and fully motivated, and that is what I transmit to Laporta and (sports director) Deco, who are the most important people in his project," Xavi said. The reported friction between coach and club came after Xavi said on Wednesday that "our fans and club members must understand the situation is very difficult, above all on the economic level, for us to compete with our top rivals, whether it be Real Madrid or teams in Europe. "We have to accept that. That doesn't mean we don't want to compete and that we won't fight for titles, but this is the situation Barça is in." Officially, the club said it had no comment on the media reports that Xavi's job could be in danger. Barcelona will finish the season without a title. It has lost all three Clasico matches with Madrid across all competitions and lost both its league games with Girona by the score of 4-2, in addition to other big losses. Xavi said at one point that he was giving up and would not finish his contract after a 5-3 loss to Villarreal in January, only to take that back in April and commit to staying at Barcelona after the team had improved. And, all the while Madrid has won the domestic league, reached another Champions League final, and is widely expected to acquire France star Kylian Mbappé. Barcelona still has a goal to achieve, secure the second-placed finish in the table that will earn it a spot in the Spanish Super Cup next season. It gets six million euros (USD 6.5 million) if it participates in the mini-tournament held in Saudi Arabia, money that it can ill afford to miss out on. Barcelona can lock up the second spot with a victory when it hosts Rayo Vallecano on Sunday in the second-to-last round. It is four points ahead of third-placed Girona, which is at Valencia. Laporta inherited a club mired in debts of more than 1.3 million euros, and soccer's most expensive payroll, when he returned to run the club for a second time in 2021. His policy of selling off future television revenues and other club assets, which Laporta dubbed financial "levers," allowed Barcelona to sign Robert Lewandowski and other players two seasons ago. But, the club's wages still exceed the salary cap established by the Spanish league and it is more likely to sell players this off-season than bring in new talent. EUROPA, RELEGATION: Real Sociedad visits Real Betis on Sunday with both fighting for a Europa League spot. Sociedad is in sixth place and holding the berth, while Betis is a point behind in seventh and currently in the Europa Conference League position. Cadiz is in the relegation zone, four points behind Mallorca, the last team clinging to safety. Rayo and Celta Vigo are a point ahead of Mallorca. Cadiz hosts Las Palmas on Sunday, while Mallorca hosts Almeria and Celta is at Granada. Champion Madrid is at Villarreal as it eyes the Champions League final against Borussia Dortmund on June 1.

Archer Deepika Kumari to train in Korea ahead of World Qualifiers

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Archer Deepika Kumari will train in South Korea ahead of next month's Final Olympic World Qualification tournament in Antalya, Turkey after the sports ministry approved her request to finance the stint. Deepika, who was reinducted into the Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS) core group following a silver medal at the World Cup in Shanghai last month, is part of the Indian women's team that will aim to seal a Paris Games quota in the tournament. She will train at the Kim

Archer School for 13 days before heading to Antalya for the qualifiers beginning June 14. Under TOPS, the ministry will be covering her airfare, boarding and lodging, training expenditure and local transport among other expenses. The Mission Olympic Cell (MOC) also granted financial assistance to the archery teams (both men and women) for procurement of physiotherapy equipment ahead of the Paris Games. Besides, the MOC approved assistance towards procurement of archery equipment for Pravin Jadhav and request of shooter Raiza Dhillon to train in India for 11 days followed by training in Italy with coach Ennio Falco for a week. The TOPS will cover Dhillon's boarding and lodging cost, coaching fee in Italy and ammunition and clay birds among other expenses. Trap shooter Rajeshwari Kumari's request for assistance towards vision and eye training coach was also approved. Proposals from athletes Eldhose Paul and Kishore Kumar Jena and badminton player HS Prannoy were also given the go-ahead.

The TOPS will provide assistance to Eldhose to compete in two international events in France, while Jena, his coach and physiotherapist will be given financial assistance so that he can compete in the Paavo Nurmi Games in Finland, and Paris Diamond League. Prannoy, his coach, trainer and physio will be provided financial assistance for travel to the Australia Open. The MOC also approved para-athlete Bhagyashree Jadhav's request for financial assistance towards engaging personal support staff till the Paralympics.

RCB AND CSK CLASH FOR FINAL PLAYOFF BERTH AMID RAIN THREAT

PTI ■ BENGALURU

Royal Challengers Bengaluru's fairytale resurgent run will be up against the might of five-time champions Chennai Super Kings and the weather gods when the two sides clash in an epic do-or-die match to decide the fourth and final team for the IPL play-offs, here on Saturday. Thursday's washout in Hyderabad meant that Sunrisers Hyderabad joined Kolkata Knight Riders and Rajasthan Royals as the three confirmed teams for the playoffs and the race is now for only one spot with two teams in fray -- CSK and RCB. Boasting of a better net run-rate and more points, defending champions CSK (13 points, NRR 0.528) start favourites at a venue where they have lost to the home side only once in eight matches. RCB has 12 points and a net run-rate of 0.387. However, what has heightened the drama surrounding the game is the forecast of rain. A washout will take CSK through to the playoffs, while RCB will need to win by at least 18 runs or chase the target with about 11 balls to spare. The odds are therefore stacked against the home side, which is the most in-form unit in the tournament's final stretch. They've staged a spectacular comeback, securing five straight wins after enduring a six-match losing streak. Orange Cap holder Kohli has been in phenomenal form with three fifties in last five innings as he is poised to ignite the field with yet another stellar show. They will hope that skipper Faf du Plessis is back among runs, having capped single digit scores in his last two outings. In the middle order, Rajat Patidar and Cameron Green have both showcased compelling form. Mahipal Lomror and Dinesh Karthik would be looking to make the most out of the Chinnaswamy track, which is typically a good batting wicket. As for RCB's bowling, Yash Dayal has been their star, bagging the most wickets this season. Lockie Ferguson, Mohammed Siraj, Green, and Swapnil Singh face a formidable task ahead. Will Jacks, who has impressed with the bat, is a part-time spin bowling option. But it will be interesting to see if he is utilised on this track. For CSK, Ruturaj Gaikwad has been the team's top run-scorer this season and is expected to give them a fine start. Fellow opener Rachin Ravindra is also back among runs and he along with Daryl Mitchell will be expected to lift the top order. They will hope that Shivam Dube gets back into his rhythm. He has failed to score in his last four outings. In bowling, pacer Srimarjeet Singh and Tushar Deshpande have done a neat job after they missed their premier trio of Mustafizur Rahman, Matheesha Pathirana and Deepak Chahar. The inspiring presence of Mahendra Singh Dhoni will continue to be a factor for the side but it remains to be seen how big a role he is able to play given some nagging injury concerns. TEAMS (FROM): RCB: Faf du Plessis (c), Glenn Maxwell, Virat Kohli, Rajat Patidar, Anuj Rawat, Dinesh

Karthik (wk), Suyash Prabhudessai, Will Jacks, Mahipal Lomror, Karn Sharma, Manoj Bhandage, Mayank Dagar, Vijaykumar Vyshak, Akash Deep, Mohammed Siraj, Reece Topley, Himanshu Sharma, Rajan Kumar, Cameron Green, Alzarri Joseph, Yash Dayal, Tom Curran, Lockie Ferguson, Swapnil Singh and Saurav Chauhan. CSK: Ruturaj Gaikwad (c), Rachin Ravindra, Ajinkya Rahane, Daryl Mitchell, Shivam Dube, Ravindra Jadeja, Sameer Rizvi, MS Dhoni (wk), Maheesh Theekshana, Tushar Deshpande, Shardul Thakur, Shaik Rasheed, Moeen Ali, Nishant Sindhu, Mitchell Santner, Ajay Jadav Mandal, Prashant Solanki, Mukesh Choudhary, Srimarjeet Singh, RS Hangargekar and Aravelly Avanish.

When Chhetri sounded out Virat Kohli before retirement announcement

PTI ■ NEW DELHI/BENGALURU

As Sunil Chhetri sat contemplating how he would break his retirement plans to the world, he knew there was one man who would understand what exactly he was going through and Virat Kohli did not disappoint the iconic Indian football captain. The 39-year-old Chhetri, the most capped India footballer with 150 matches to his credit and the country's top-scorer with 94 goals, will hang up his boots after the World Cup qualifying match against Kuwait on June 6 in Kolkata. Chhetri's announcement came on Thursday, driven by, what he described as, rather inexplicable instincts. And he chose Kohli as one of his confidantes before going public with his decision. "I did talk to Virat Kohli before my retirement decision, he is very close to me. I discussed with him because we both understand that we would know this thing exactly the way it is," Chhetri said in an online media interaction from Bhubaneswar where he is currently part of a national camp for the World Cup qualifiers. "The ups and downs of sports, this part of retirement, we do understand that the other person would understand," he added, trying to describe in words the deep bond they have shared over the years. Earlier on Friday, Kohli had acknowledged the communication from Chhetri and stated that his fellow Delhiite was at peace with the decision.

"He (Chhetri) is a really great player. He actually messaged me as well informing that he's going to do that. But I would actually say I felt like he is at peace with the decision," Kohli said in a short video interview on his IPL side Royal Challengers Bengaluru's 'X' page. "I have become very close with him over the years and I wish the best. He is a lovely, lovely guy." Chhetri and Kohli have often spoken about each other fondly with the former stating that they share jokes and also some deep and meaningful chats whenever they catch up. "...It just hits the right note," Chhetri had stated in an earlier interaction. Kohli was among the first to offer support to Chhetri when he made an emotional plea to fans to show up for the national footballers during the 2018 Hero Cup in Mumbai. Kohli later described Chhetri as "a man I can call a true friend." "Very grateful for the friendship we have skip," he had stated on Chhetri's birthday in 2022. VAMIKA HAS STARTED BATTING: KOHLI: Kohli, besides talking about Chhetri, also informed that his daughter Vamika has recently started swinging the bat but said he would never force his kids to take up cricket. Kohli and his actor wife Anushka Sharma recently also welcomed a son, Akaay after the birth of Vamika in 2021. "My daughter picked up a bat and she is really enjoying swinging the bat. But it's their choice," he said. RCB are currently placed sixth in the IPL standings with 12 points from 13 games and will take on defending champions Chennai Super Kings in a must-win match here on Friday. RCB made a remarkable comeback with five straight wins after enduring a six-game losing streak to stay afloat in the play-off race. "The month of May has been very good. We found a ray of sunlight. We are glad that we have made the fans happy again," Kohli said of their fightback.

Shooter Manu Bhaker continues to dominate Olympic Selection Trials

PTI ■ BHOPAL

Olympian Manu Bhaker displayed complete dominance in 10m air pistol Olympic Selection Trials (OST), shooting a superb score to overcome the challenge of Asian Games medallist Esha Singh here on Friday. Bhaker, coached by the legendary pistol marksman Jaspal Rana, shot a superb 241.0 in the third OST to push back the challenge of Esha (240.2) and Rhythm Sangwan (220.3) at the MP State Shooting Academy ranges. Surbhi Rao (199.3) and Palka (179.1) were fourth and fifth respectively. Manu's performance is all the more creditable as she came into the 10m air pistol trials on the back of a superb showing in the 25m sports pistol trials. The National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) is conducting a series of four trials in pistol and rifle to select the squad for the Paris Olympics. The top-three scores in the trials along with Paris Olympics quota points will count towards the selection of the Indian squad for the Summer Games. The range, however, was set on fire by Naveen in men's 10m air pistol OST T3 final, as he shot a 246.8, 0.3 points more than the existing world record, to emerge victorious. Sarabjot Singh (242.4) was a distant second, while Arjun Singh Cheema (218.8), Varun Tomar (197.3) and Ravinder Singh (176.9) were third, fourth and fifth respectively. Ramita Jindal emerged winner in women's 10 air rifle finals (Trial 3), posting 252.6 to edge past Olympian Elavenil Valarivan (252.1). Nancy was Nishchal (587), Shriyanka Sadangi (580) and Ashi Chouksey (577) were third, fourth and fifth respectively going into the finals to be played on Saturday.

New skipper Salima ready for European leg of Pro League after SA lessons

PTI ■ BENGALURU

Indian women's hockey team's new captain Salima Tete hopes to utilise the "valuable lessons" learnt from the recent home series against South Africa to make a fresh start in the European leg of the FIH Pro League, beginning in Antwerp, Belgium on Wednesday. Under former skipper Savita Punia, India managed just two wins from eight matches in the first leg held in Bhubaneswar and Rourkela to slip to sixth spot in the nine-team standings. The midfielder from Jharkhand was handed over the captaincy baton, while Navneet Kaur was named her deputy ahead of the friendly series against South Africa at the SAI south centre here earlier this month. India won the series 4-2. "As the captain of the Indian women's hockey team, it's a great honour to lead our talented squad into the European leg of the FIH Hockey Pro League," Salima said before leaving for Antwerp on Friday. "We are determined to showcase our best performance and make our nation proud on the international stage. The recent series against South Africa has taught us valuable lessons, and we are eager to apply them as we face formidable opponents in Europe. With teamwork, dedication, and a fighting spirit, we aim to leave a mark in every match we play." India will face Argentina in Antwerp on Wednesday in their first match of the European leg. This leg of the league will unfold in Belgium and England, with Antwerp hosting the matches till May 26, while London will host the matches from June 1-9. In the six-match friendly series against South Africa held from May 3 to 11, India won the first three games 1-0, 5-1, and 3-1 respectively. However, the visitors mounted a strong comeback in the fourth 2-2 (2-4 SO win) and fifth 1-1 (3-1 SO win) matches. In the final game of the series, India won 4-3 in the shootout following a 1-1 tie at the end of regulation time. Vice-captain Navneet said she is committed to support her Salima and the team to achieve success. "Being appointed as the vice-captain is both a privilege and a responsibility. Alongside our captain, Salima Tete, I am committed to supporting and motivating our team members to give their all in every game. "The recent series against South Africa showcased our resilience and determination, and we carry that momentum into the upcoming challenges in Europe," she said.

Please let us compete in Paris, we need mental peace before Olympics: Women quota winners

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Paris Games quota-winning women wrestlers on Friday pleaded with the national federation not to subject them to selection trials, saying that every single step they take and every little thing they do from now on will have a bearing on India's medal chances at the Olympics. Anshu Malik, India's first female wrestler to reach the senior World Championships final in 2021, said all they need now is "mental peace" to prepare for the Games. If selected, it will be 22-year-old Anshu's second shot at an Olympic medal, having competed at the Tokyo Games. She had exceeded expectations by locking a quota in women's 57kg category as a 17-year-old but lack of big-stage experience meant that she crashed out in the first round. However, the attacking wrestler from Nidani village has made tremendous progress since then, winning a historic Worlds silver and four Asian Championships medals. She missed the Asian Games due to a knee injury she suffered during the Asian Championships last year and fears that putting her body under pressure so close to the Games may spoil her preparations. "We have to be very, very careful with every little thing we do. We are cautious in every single step we take from here on. I have competed at a number of competitions in the recent past, international events, nationals, trials and then the Qualifiers, so I am not required to be assessed on fitness through trials," Anshu told PTI from Tokyo where she is training these days. "We need mental peace before the Olympics. Already two months is too less a period to prepare. At this stage, every single day counts. We plan our training on a weekly basis and if I am called to India for trials, it will disrupt plans and affect medal chances.

"I also want to go to Europe for an international training camp from June 10 but I can't finalise that because of uncertainty around the trials. We need to strategise bouts with rivals but how will I do that if I prepare for the trials and not for the Olympics?" she asked. The Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has called its selection committee meeting on May 21 in Delhi to decide on the trials criteria. Nisha Dahiya (68kg) and Reetika Hooda (76kg) are among the five women wrestlers who have secured quotas for India. "I am still recovering from the weight-cut at the qualifiers, if again we undergo trials, it will affect our body. We have to complete with elite wrestlers and need to plan well, but if keep thinking about trials, how will we strategise," said Nisha, who trains at Satywan's akhada in Rohtak. "In Bishkek, I got caught in crossing (Nordic system) and did not get enough points and the wrestler who I had beaten qualified. I was pretty sure that I will qualify in Istanbul. I am competing in 68kg for many years now, so I knew who my rivals could be and wrote down around 20-22 rivals, who I was expected to clash with and started watching their bouts. "I was well-prepared. I expected China to win, for me China is the strongest rival, though I have beaten her." After securing the quota, Nisha has not met her family in Panipat. "I came straight to my training centre from Istanbul. I did not want to lose time and focus, so began training here. I did not allow even my parents to come here. We will meet now only after the Olympics." According to the criteria explained earlier, it was said that the wrestlers, who finished in the top-four at the last trials will compete against each other and the winner from the group will fight it out with the quota winner.
