It will help the investigators to ascertain the cause of mishap. The search is still underway for the second black box, the Cockpit Voice Recorder (CVR), with no confirmation on its status vet. Tata Sons Chairman N Chandrashekhar said investigative teams from India, the US and the UK have arrived at the crash site in the last 24 hours.

ishwas Kumar Ramesh, a 40-year-old British businessman from Leicester and the sole survivor of the Air India plane crash in Ahmedabad, says his astonishing escape was a combination of fortune and quick decision in identifying a crucial space amidst the wreckage and acting fast. Talking to DD News a day after the air disaster, Ramesh, originally a native of coastal town of Diu adjoining Gujarat, said his seat, 11A, was close to an emergency door on the left side of the illfated plane, a Boeing 787 Dreamliner.

The London-bound aircraft smashed into a hostel building, part of BJ Medical College complex, soon after taking off from Ahmedabad's Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel International Airport on Thursday afternoon. "Luckily, the portion of the plane where I was seated fell on the ground floor of the hostel premises after the plane crash landed. When I saw that the door of the plane was broken, I told myself 'I can try and get out'. Eventually, I got out of

He is currently being treated at the Ahmedabad Civil Hospital, where Prime Minister Narendra Modi met him on Friday morning during his visit to the city. "I believe that others could not escape because there was a wall on that side (of the hostel) while there was a small gap where I was sitting. I still can't believe how I survived the crash because I saw people dying in front of my eyes," he said.

Ramesh escaped with injuries for which he is undergoing treatment. "Though I managed to escape, my left he recalled.

In a viral video shot by a local resident immediately after the crash, Ramesh can be seen walking towards the ambulance after getting hurt in the crash. "It all happened in front of my eyes. I cannot believe how I survived...For a brief moment, I felt I was about to die but when my eyes opened, I was alive. I unbuckled myself from the seat and exited from an opening,"

It appeared to be the most significant attack on Iran has faced since its 1980s war with Iraq.

Simmering tensions over Iran's rapidly advancing nuclear program boiled over and Iran quickly retaliated, sending a swarm of drones at Israel as Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei warned of "severe punishment".

Countries in the region condemned Israel's attack, while leaders around the globe called for immediate de-escalation from both sides.

Israel's military said about 200 aircraft were involved in the initial attack on about 100 targets. Two security officials said the country's Mossad spy agency was also able to position explosive drones inside Iran ahead of time and then activate them to target missile launchers at an Iranian base near Tehran.

Israel launches strike on Iran's nuclear sites

Washington: Just hours before Israel launched strikes on Iran early on Friday, President Donald Trump was still holding onto tattered threads of hope that a long-simmering dispute over Tehran's nuclear programme could be resolved without military action.But with the Israeli military operation called "Rising Lion" now underway - something Israeli Prime Minister Beniamin Netanyahu says will go on for "as many days as it takes" - Trump will be tested anew on his ability to make good on a campaign promise to disentangle the US from foreign conflicts.

The administration's first reaction to the Israeli assault came not from Trump, but from Secretary of State Marco Rubio who is doubling as Trump's national security adviser.

He sought to make clear the US was "not involved" and that the Republican administration's central concern was protecting US forces in the region.

Later in the morning, Israel said it had also destroyed dozens of radar installations and surface-to-air missile launchers in western Iran.

Among those killed were three of Iran's top military leaders, one who oversaw the entire armed forces, General Mohammad Bagheri, one who the paramilitary Revolutionary Guard, General Hossein Salami, and another who ran the Guard's ballistic missile programme, General

Amir Ali Hajizadeh. Iran confirmed all three deaths, which were a significant blow to Tehran's governing theocracy and will complicate efforts to retaliate against Israel.

Khamenei said other top military officials and scientists were also killed.

In its first response, Iran fired more than 100 drones at Israel, with both Iraq and Jordan confirming they had flown over their airspace. Israel said the drones were being intercepted outside its airspace, and it was not immediately clear whether any got through.

In his first public comment about the attacks, US President Donald Trump again urged Iran to reach a deal with Washington on its nuclear programme, warning on his Truth Social platform that Israel's attacks "will only get

VAISHNAVI MISHRA ■ New Delhi

¬or the very first time, the Delhi Traffic Police is preparing to set up 328 new cameras equipped to simultaneously identify various traffic infractions such as riding without a helmet, carrying three passengers on two-wheelers, failing to wear seatbelts, driving against traffic, having defective number plates and even using mobile phones while driving, across 133 locations across the city, as said by the senior traffic officials on These new cameras will connect to a system that automatically generates challans, assist in identifying vehicles travelling in the wrong direction and uniquely target two-wheeler violations that current cameras are unable to capture.

The addition of these devices will almost double the total number of traffic cameras in the national Capital from 334 to 662, enabling the traffic police to reduce the number of personnel needed for manual

Out of the 328 new cameras, 203 will be placed at 57 locations under the Red-Light Violation Detection (RLVD) initiative, while the other 125 will serve the Over-Speed Violation Detection (OSVD) program and will be set up at 76 locations. RLVD cameras are specifically positioned at crucial intersections, while OSVD cameras focus on open areas where speeding is frequently an issue.

We have conducted surveys on the ground to identify areas with the highest incidence of speeding and other violations, finalising over 70 locations such as Civic Centre,

Shanti Path, Saket metro station, Vidhan Sabha, Pampas enclave on the outer ring road, Gokulpuri flyover, Jail Road and Hanuman Temple at Kashmere Gate," the officer explained. Most of these cameras will be deployed on both carriageways, allowing for detection of vehicles approaching from dedicated cameras. The survey for RLVD cameras is expected to take place soon. The completion of the project is anticipated by October of this year, the officer mentioned. "Existing cameras can only monitor a limited range of violations including speeding, red-light infractions and zebra crossing breaches. We recognised the necessity for cameras capable of detecting a wider array of traffic violations. We convened meetings with multiple producing companies advanced technology cameras. Demonstrations of their models assisted us in refining our needs," the officer stated. He also said that the cameras will also include capabilities for vehicle recognition, which can aid in tracking suspects involved in hit-and-run incidents. "If a suspect escapes in a vehicle with a known colour, the sophisticated cameras will identify vehicles of that same colour travelling along identical routes. Such filtering will facilitate the identification and capture of the offending vehicle. They can recognise multiple violations by a single vehicle and generate corresponding challans for each offence," he added.

The new cameras will also provide evidence through photographs and short videos for situations involving speeding and wrong-way driving, according to the officer.

He indicated that these new cameras will also be able to ments by two-wheelers, a feature that is not commonly available in most existing traffic cameras. Moreover, the automatic identify traffic rule infringenumber plate recognition (ANPR) feature in the cameras will assist officials in identifying diesel vehicles older than ten years and petrol vehicles over fifteen years, both of which are prohibited in the city. "Our traffic personnel will evaluate the data on such older and banned vehicles captured by the cameras and will take appropriate action following the regulations," Singh noted, adding that the installation of cameras for traffic violation detection is part of the Delhi Traffic Police's initiative. At present, Delhi has 209 red light cameras installed at 43 sites, along with 125 speed cameras located at 66 locations.

aunching a scathing attack on the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government, Punjab BJP chief Sunil Jakhar on Friday questioned Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann's commitment to fighting corruption and drug abuse in the state.

Jakhar said while the chief minister repeatedly claims to eradicate corruption and drugs, nothing concrete is being done on the ground. "You claimed to have files of all the corrupt leaders and asked others to look you in the eye. Yet, no action has been taken against a single one. Why is only a select group like tehsildars being targeted? If you truly have evidence, take action, start from your own house," he said, referring to Mann's earlier statements. Jakhar, who was talking to reporters here, urged Ludhiana West voters to "vote wisely" in the bypoll. "The people are being fooled and Punjab is paying the price," he said. Earlier, Jakhar had demanded

He said, wherever he goes and whoever he meets, tells him only one thing that the Congress was on the way back while the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) was on the way out. He noted that there was a reason for such pro-Congress sentiment as people were fed up with the massive failure of the AAP government. He said the law and order was at its worst in the state. He said, the media was not reporting the level of crime that has been taking place in Punjab.

The PCC president said that there was a strong undercurrent against the government in Punjab and this will be reflected in voting on June 19. He observed, people may be attending the AAP meetings for multiple reasons since the AAP is in power, but if anybody can read the faces of those attending such meetings, the result would be known right

The bypoll to the Ludhiana West Assembly seat in Punjab will take place on June 19 and the counting will be held on June 23. The Assembly seat fell vacant following the death of AAP MLA Gurpreet Bassi Gogi in January.

The BJP has fielded Jiwan Gupta for the bypoll, while Rajya Sabha member Sanjeev Arora is the AAP's candidate. The Congress has fielded former minister Bharat Bhushan Ashu, who was an MLA twice from this seat in 2012 and 2017. Ashu was defeated by AAP's Gogi by a margin of 7,512 votes in the 2022 Punjab Assembly polls. The SAD has nominated Parupkar Singh Ghuman, a lawyer, for the bypoll.

DEPARTMENTS MUST SHOW CONCRETE PROGRESS ON CM'S BUDGET ANNOUNCEMENTS BY DEC: OFFICER

Chandigarh: Haryana additional Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister, Saket Kumar on Friday said that the announcements made by Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini in the budget speech of the year 2025-26 as Finance Minister are now being implemented at the administrative level. Chairing a high-level meeting, Kumar said that these announcements are not just promises, but resolutions for public welfare, which are a priority. He directed all the departments that concrete progress of all the announcements should be visible before December 2025. In the meeting, the status of 79 announcements related to the departments of Electricity, Panchayati Raj and Rural Development, Urban Local Bodies, Secondary, Higher and Technical Education, Tourism and Heritage, Social Justice and Empowerment, Town and Country Planning, Archives and Housing was thoroughly evaluated.He said each department should fix the responsibility of nodal officers for the implementation of its announcements so that there is clarity and accountability in the functioning. 46 New Hi-Tech Ambulances Inducted in Punjab

PNS CHANDIGARH

Dunjab Health and Family Welfare Minister Dr Balbir Singh on Friday flagged off 46 hi-tech ambulances, further enhancing the emergency medical services across the state. This expansion takes Punjab's emergency ambulance fleet strength to 371, boosting its lifesaving capabilities.

The newly inducted fleet also includes seven 'Child Memorial Ambulances' dedicated to Samana (Patiala) in memory of the children who tragically lost their lives in a road accident on May 7 this year. These ambulances, equipped with cuttingedge advanced medical equipment, will serve as a tribute while strengthening emergency response in the region.

The minister said that all newly inducted ambulances are fitted with state-of-the-art medical equipment, including oxygen and ambu-bag, life-saving drugs, and GPS-enabled tracking systems to ensure rapid response— 15 minutes in urban areas and 20 minutes in rural areas, which is among the best in the country and well within the international standards. "Our goal is to fur-

Ambulance Service, Punjab's most trusted emergency response network, has served over 30 lakh citizens since its inception in 2011, providing critical care during accidents, cardiac emergencies, maternal health crises, and trauma cases. "The 108 service is the backbone of our emergency healthcare system. With these new ambulances, we are ensuring that no call for help goes unanswered," said Dr Balbir

The Health Minister emphasised that the first hour after an emergency is considered as the 'golden hour', where timely medical intervention can save lives. The 108 ambulances, working in close coordination with the Sadak Surakhiya Force (SSF), have played a pivotal role in reducing fatalities by providing immediate on-site medical aid, he said.

The new ambulances will be deployed across various districts of Punjab to strengthen emergency services at the grassroots level. These include deployments in Barnala (1), Bathinda (1), Faridkot (1), Fatehgarh Sahib (3), Fazilka (1), Ferozepur (1), Gurdaspur (2), Hoshiarpur (1), Jalandhar (1), Kapurthala (2), Ludhiana (4), Mansa (2), Moga (2), Mohali (2), Muktsar Sahib (1), Malerkotla (2), SBS Nagar (2), Pathankot (2), Patiala (11), Rupnagar (1), Sangrur (2), and

The BJP leader was then replying to a query on a statement made by state Finance Minister Harpal Singh Cheema, seeking a dope test of the Congress and Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) leaders in the state. "Before conducting the dope test, I request that the Income Tax department be allowed to conduct an 'income trail test' of the state's political leaders," said Jakhar, adding that he never took any money from any drug seller.

AAP LEADER HITS BACK AT

JAKHAR AAP leader Baltej Pannu has hit back at BJP Punjab President Sunil Jakhar over his statements

regarding drugs, stating that the drug problem is not new but a two-decade-old mess. However, the AAP government is determined to eliminate drugs from Punjab. Pannu said that during Captain Amarinder Singh's government, only false claims were made about eradicating drugs. At that time, only drug users were targeted, while the AAP government is taking strict action against drug traffickers and those associated with them. Pannu challenged Jakhar, saying that during Captain's tenure as Chief Minister, Jakhar was the Punjab Congress President. During that time, Captain Amarinder took a file to Congress President Sonia Gandhi, which contained the names of corrupt Congress leaders and ministers. Today, all those individuals are in the BJP. If Jakhar has the courage and honesty, he should bring that file and hand it over to the ED for an impartial investigation. Responding to Jakhar's statement on corruption, Pannu said that the AAP government has maintained a zero-tolerance policy against corruption since day one. In matters of corruption, the AAP government has never discriminated between its own or others. This is the first government to have taken action against its own MLAs and ministers. Pannu questioned Jakhar, asking how many corrupt leaders and officers faced action during the Akali-BJP and Congress governments

Digital revolution: A giant leap forward

The digital wave must carry every citizen forward.

empowering them with tools, access and opportunities ver the past 11 years, India has undergone a sweeping digital transformation that has redefined governance, empowered citizens, and reimagined the nation's developmental trajectory. Spearheaded by visionary leadership and powered by a blend of political will, technological innovation, and mass participation, India's digital revolution has moved beyond urban confines to touch the remotest corners of the country, bridging the once-formidable digital divide. Union Minister and BJP President JP Nadda recently remarked that this transformation has not only connected millions of people but also ensured that technology reaches Today, governance is more transparent and efficient than ever before.

Real-time dashboards, data integration, and digital infrastructure have brought a level of accountability and speed to welfare delivery that was previously unimaginable. Major Government schemes like DigiLocker, CoWIN, Ayushman Bharat Digital Mission, U-WIN, and e-Sanjeevani have become lifelines for millions, particularly in rural and underserved areas. These platforms are not merely digital tools — they represent access, empowerment, and dignity for the common citizen.

One of the most celebrated facets of this revolution is the rise of digital payments through the Unified Payments Interface (UPI). The Government is actively investing in future-ready domains like artificial intelligence (AI). Plans are underway to set up three Al Centres of Excellence in top educational institutions, and several indigenous Al models – such as BharatGen, Sarvam-1, Chitralekha, and Hanooman's Everest 1.0 - are being developed to place India at the forefront of the global AI race. The digital revolution has also brought connectivity to the grassroots. With more than 94 crore broadband connections, India is among the most connected nations on the planet. Under the BharatNet project, over 2.18 lakh Gram Panchayats have been linked with high-speed internet, and more than 6.9 lakh km of optical fibre has been laid across the country. India also offers the world's cheapest mobile data, further enabling digital inclusion at scale. However, the road to a truly digital India is not without its challenges.

Despite the vast spread of digital infrastructure, a significant portion of the population still struggles with digital literacy. Many people, especially in rural areas and among vulnerable groups, lack the skills to use digital platforms effectively. This gap in digital understanding threatens to limit the benefits of technological progress. Additionally, the rapid growth of digital activity raises serious concerns about cybersecurity and data privacy.

As digital transactions and data usage rise, there is a pressing need for strong legal frameworks, robust cyber defences, and widespread public awareness to ensure safety and trust in the digital ecosystem. Infrastructure gaps also persist in certain remote and geographically difficult regions, where inconsistent power supply and connectivity remain major hurdles. The challenge now lies in making digital pushy more inclusive, secure, and equitable. As India marches toward its vision of Viksit Bharat @2047, the digital wave must carry every citizen forward, empowering them with tools, access, and opportunities.

From Nobel Laureate to National Liability

Muhammad Yunus, once hailed as a visionary economist and social reformer, now accused of steering Bangladesh into deeper division and decay through a caretaker regime defined more by personal retribution than national stewardship his week's attack on Rabindranath Tagore's ancestral home in Sirajganj is no mere incident but a stark symptom of Bangladesh's deterioration. Once a cultural sanctuary, it now lies desecrated by mob violence over a trivial dispute - reflecting a nation fraying under extremism, institutional decay, and political chaos. The state's feeble response exposes its waning control, while the turmoil mirrors the catastrophic misjudgements of Chief Adviser Muhammad Yunus's fractured stewardship. Once revered worldwide as the architect of microfinance and a Nobel laureate whose work redefined social entrepreneurship, Muhammad Yunus's trajectory into Bangladesh's political arena has proved paradoxically corrosive. His appointment as the head of the caretaker Government, intended to ensure impartiality and a smooth transition, has instead become synonymous with deepening partisan rancour and administrative shortsightedness. Yunus's virulent antipathy towards the Awami League, and particularly its leader Sheikh Hasina - scion of the revered Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman — has become the defining characteristic of his Governance. It is widely known that Sheikh Hasina once sought to imprison Yunus on charges of financial irregularities, charges that Yunus has deftly manipulated to foment public dissent against her and to galvanise efforts not merely to dislodge her from power but to systematically excise her family's enduring imprint on Bangladesh's national consciousness. This vendetta is no more visible than in the excision of Bangabandhu's visage from the nation's currency notes.

Since 1971, the Father of the Nation's image has been etched onto the Taka, an emblematic tribute to the liberation struggle and a unifying symbol of identity. The Yunus administration's replacement of this enduring iconography with cultural landmarks, framed under the pretext of "depoliticising" currency, reveals itself as an act less of sober governance than of emotional retribution. To excise the very face that personifies Bangladesh's birth is to leave the country from its roots, a symbolic mutilation that threatens to fracture collective memory.

Yunus's rhetoric has further inflamed divisions. In a contentious address at London's Chatham House, he openly questioned the legitimacy of the Awami League. His inflammatory statements do not merely delegitimise a political party; they alienate millions of citizens who have invested their faith in the Awami League over decades. This polarising discourse deepens the fissures within an already fragile polity, fostering discord where unity is desperately needed. Compounding these political fissures is the dire economic reality confronting Bangladesh under Yunus's recent diplomatic mission, a pointed gesture leadership. At the same Chatham House forum. Yunus lamented that the economy had not simply stalled but regressed beneath zero, burdened by "immense debt pressure" and foreign reserves "at the bottom — because they're empty." The banking sector, he revealed, has "completely collapsed," the victim of "rampant corruption, bribery and money laundering" allegedly perpetrated during the previous Government's tenure.

The revelation that billions — estimated at $234 billion — have been siphoned off via illicit channels paints a grim picture of systemic plunder, one that threatens to choke any prospects of recovery. However, the indictment of the past also illuminates the present conundrum: the interim Government itself inherited and perpetuated systemic rot. The wholesale replacement of bank boards with cronies issuing loans as "gifts" compounds institutional dysfunction. The challenge of rehabilitating a banking sector crippled by nepotism, impunity, and political interference looms large, a task made all the more formidable by ongoing factional infighting and a deteriorating governance framework.

NILANTHA ILANGAMUWA

Globally, Yunus's stature has suffered a perceptible decline. Despite proclamations of 'enormous support" from the IMF and foreign Governments, reality paints a more sobering tableau. Notably, the UK Prime Minister of diplomatic coolness that exposes his precarious standing on the world stage. This tacit rebuff marks a sharp contrast to his previous global acclaim, highlighting how domestic political entanglements and perceived instability have diminished his credibility. The interim Government's revisionist approach to history and national symbolism has only served to alienate broad swathes of the population. The rewriting of textbooks, removal of Sheikh Mujib's statues from public spaces, and suspension of Awami League activities are widely perceived not as reforms but as punitive purges. This behaviour reeks of sectarianism disguised as statesmanship — a profound breach of the mature leadership Bangladesh urgently needs. Responses from emergent political entities, such as the National Citizen Party, articulate the widespread scepticism gripping the political milieu. While tentatively welcoming the prospect of elections in the first half of next year, the NCP conditions its support on the implementation of the July Charter and Declaration, alongside comprehensive institutional reforms.

Their insistence on restructuring the Election Commission and prioritising local elections signals a demand for foundational renewal before any credible national vote can transpire. This cautious posture encapsulates the broader anxieties of a civil society wary of being entrapped in another cycle of compromised democracy. The quest to recover stolen assets in countries riddled with entrenched patronage systems is widely acknowledged as Sisyphean. Extensive research by governance watchdogs like Transparency International and the World Bank elucidates that such endeavours demand reportedly declined to meet Yunus during a not only domestic resolve but also robust international cooperation, forensic accounting expertise, and a judiciary capable of withstanding political pressure. Bangladesh's current fissures and institutional weaknesses severely constrain such ambitions, casting doubt on the feasibility of Yunus's promises to repatriate illicit capital without a concerted, unified national effort. Yunus's tenure illustrates the peril inherent when a fragile democracy is entrusted to a leadership that substitutes vindictiveness for statesmanship — rewriting history not to enlighten but to erase. The rise and precipitous fall of Muhammad Yunus as Bangladesh's political architect serve as a sobering admonition of the consequences wrought when personal animus supplants public duty.

His relentless pursuit of political objectives, seemingly intertwined with an abiding enmity towards the Awami League and its storied egacy, has not only imperilled his standing but threatens to thrust the nation further into fragmentation and despair. The symbolic purging of Bangabandhu from the currency and public memory is more than mere iconoclasm; it is an affront to the nation's very soul. Consequently, the future of a 'New Bangladesh' hangs precariously in the balance, burdened by economic stagnation, vindictive politics, and a rising tide of extremism. Without a fundamental shift towards inclusive governance, respect for historical legacy, and robust institutional reform, Bangladesh risks becoming a cautionary case study in the devastating aftermath of regime-change projects orchestrated by warmongering Western democracies nations devoid of conscience in their interventions, willing to sacrifice anything for political expediency.

Is Chirag Paswan emerging as the BJP's CM Face in Bihar?

SECOND

oung, dynamic, and often referred to as the "Hanuman of PM Modi," Chirag Paswan seems poised to emerge as the BJP's potential Chief Ministerial face for Bihar. The BJP currently lacks a compelling CM candidate from within its ranks to present to Bihar's electorate. After the demise of Sushil Modi, it has failed to fill the void. The Bihar Assembly elections, covering 245 constituencies with over 7.64 crore registered voters, are expected to be held by November 2025. As the political climate begins to shift, the BJP appears to be preparing to position Chirag Paswan as a serious contender to lead the state.

Nitish Kumar and BJP's Dilemma

The current Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, popularly known as "Sushasan Babu," has gained a reputation for frequent political realignments. Having shifted alliances between the Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) and the BJP, Nitish's credibility has taken a hit. His past partnerships, especially with Lalu Prasad Yadav's RJD and his son Tejashwi Yadav as Deputy CM, followed by a return to the BJP-led NDA, have created a trust deficit both within the electorate and among his allies. Although the BJP has stuck with Nitish Kumar for pragmatic reasons, the party is known to be uncomfortable with his unpredictable political manoeuvres. With Samrat Chaudhary, a senior BJP leader and Deputy Chief Minister, lacking the mass appeal to rival Nitish, the BJP is in urgent need of a charismatic, youth-driven leader who can bridge this gap and Chirag Paswan fits the bill.

Why Chirag Paswan?

Chirag Paswan brings a unique mix of youthful energy, softspoken charisma, and a clean image. The son of the late Ram Vilas Paswan, he leads a splinter group of the Lok Janshakti Party (LJP) and has demonstrated unwavering loyalty to Prime Minister Modi. Despite being a Union Cabinet Minister, Chirag is reportedly discontent with his current portfolio — Food Processing Industries, a ministry often considered low in political weight. His preference is clear: to play a larger, more influential role in his home state. According to party insiders, two primary scenarios are under discussion between the BJP high command and Chirag Paswan:

Full Merger into BJP

Chirag merges his party, LJP (Ram Vilas), into the BJP and is officially declared the party's CM candidate for Bihar. This option would likely offer Chirag greater political stability and authority but requires his total integration into the BJP, which some of his party colleagues may resist.

CM face of the alliance

Chirag contests the elections as an NDA ally, projected as the

CM face. However, this route is fraught with challenges-primarily the seat-sharing dilemma. As the dominant partner, the BJP would demand a major share of constituencies and ministerial portfolios, potentially limiting Chirag's influence

A Calculated Risk or Strategic Shift?

Chirag's potential elevation to the top post could serve multiple purposes for the BJP. It would allow the party to refresh its leadership in Bihar, address the vacuum created by Nitish Kumar's waning influence, and tap into the Dalit vote bank, a demographic traditionally loyal to his father, Ram Vilas Paswan. While Chirag Paswan has not publicly committed to either path, his growing restlessness within the Union Cabinet and increasing clout in Bihar politics indicate that a shift is imminent. A merger, though complex, might offer him a long-term political future with deeper roots in Bihar's governance. In the 2020 Bihar elections, LJP managed to win just one seat and its nine candidates were placed second. In the last General elections, Chirag Paswan's LJP got five seats. To sum it up, LJP merger with the BJP could mean a win-win situation for both parties as Chirag's candidates would get a fair share of upper caste votes in the name of the BJP and the BJP could benefit from Chirag's vote bank and the legacy of his father, late Ram Vilas Paswan. As the 2025 Bihar Assembly elections draw closer, the question looms large: Will Chirag Paswan become the face of BJP's new Bihar?

Air India plane crash

It is deeply shocking that Air India Flight-AI171, a Boeing 787-8 Dreamliner en route from Ahmedabad to London Gatwick, crashed shortly after take-off on June 12, 2025, into the BJ Medical College hostel in Meghani Nagar. Of the 242 people on board, only one British national, seated near the emergency exit, miraculously survived and is now in stable condition.

Tragically, 241 passengers and crew lost their lives, along with at least 28 individuals on the ground, bringing the total fatalities to approximately 269. Among the victims were 169 Indian nationals, 53 Britons, seven Portuguese, and one Canadian. The crash also claimed the lives of several medical students and staff; five medicos were killed and over 60 others injured in the hostel. Rescue teams from NDRF, IAF, BSF, and NSG responded rapidly, and the aircraft's black boxes have been recovered.

Preliminary data indicates the plane reached just over 600 ft before descending and issuing a mayday call, with initial reports citing a possible mechanical issue, such as the landing gear not retracting. The nation mourns this rare but utterly devastating tragedy. With rescue operations completed, a thorough technical investigation is now critical to uncover the root cause and prevent future incidents. International condolences continue to pour in, underlining the global impact of this catastrophe.

Mumbai local turning into death line

Apropos news item, "Mumbai's death line: four killed, nine injured", published on June 10, this is my response. The accident that took place in Thane district, Maharashtra, when passengers fell off two overcrowded running local trains, resulting in four dead and several others injured, raises a serious question over the safety standards in Mumbai's suburban railway system, well known as the "lifeline" of the city. Reportedly, several passengers, clinging to the footboards due to lack of space inside, were seen brushing against each other as the trains passed closely. With over 80-lakh daily commuters, Mumbai's suburban train system is arguably the busiest in the world. Yet, overcrowding, outdated infrastructure, and lack of real-time monitoring make it a frequent site of accidents.

Railway experts point out that lack of platform screen doors, dedicated city rail governance, and insufficient rolling stock are core issues behind such recurring tragedies. The incident serves as a grim reminder of the urgent need to modernise Mumbai's railway system, not technologically alone, but structurally and administratively also. This tragic event underscores the critical need for immediate action. Without swift and comprehensive reforms, the "lifeline" risks becoming a constant threat to those who rely on it daily. Ensuring commuter safety must be the absolute top priority.

Wife poisons husband: Eroding Values

VIVEK AWASTHI

A 33-year-old woman poisoned her husband, kids, and in-laws' food with sleeping pills to hide an extramarital affair. Husband-killing crimes are coming into existence rapidly in India. Women are becoming beasts in domestic life. It is affecting society badly. Society is required to be reformed from such heinous moves, or else it will be a social crisis for prospective generations.It marks a lack of nurturing. Parents must nurture their children in a proper order. They must be aware of domestic responsibilities, affection, and rights to the husband and other members to overcome such dreadful crimes. Life is very limited; it shouldn't be destroyed due to extramarital affairs after tying knots. Parents must ask their children what they want; until they understand their psychology, society will deteriorate in such a way.

A woman poisoning her family to conceal an affair is not just a crime but a reflection of deep societal decay. Such incidents underline the urgent need for emotional education, responsible parenting, and moral grounding. Without reform, unchecked impulses and broken values may lead future generations into a moral and social crisis. This alarming trend necessitates a collective introspection on familial values and marital sanctity. Only through fostering empathy and commitment can society hope to curb these devastating betrayals.

RAFALE FUSELAGE DEAL: A BIG BOOST FOR MAKE-IN-INDIA

n a big boost to Make-in-India. Dassault Aviation of France and India's Tata Advanced Systems Limited will partner for Rafale aircraft fuselage manufacturing at a dedicated facility in Hyderabad. The key structural sections of the aircraft to be manufactured in India include the central fuselage, rear section, lateral rear shells, and the front section.

The first fuselage sections are expected to roll out by FY2028, with a production capacity of up to two complete fuselages per month. Investing in strategic and hightech manufacture of fuselage parts for Rafale as an offset adjunct is admirable. Such foreign tech deals to build local jobs along with domestic capability need to be replicated across other sectors where advanced R&D is twinned with job creation. There are any number of emerging areas for similar initiatives. Aerospace & Defence Manufacturing. Biotech and Genomics, EVs and Battery Tech, Space Tech & Satellite Systems, Al.

Robotics & Ouantum Tech. Agri-Tech and Food Engineering are sectors that carry exciting possibilities. In all these, we are equipped with the needed technical and engineering make-up and eager manpower, India can turn strategic spending into a jobs and innovation engine for not only local markets, but global exports. Outlays on R&D-intensive, job-multiplying sectors like aerospace. biotech, and energy is an investment to future-proofing India's workforce.The Rafale fuselage project in Hyderabad signals India's ascent in high-tech manufacturing. By aligning foreign partnerships with domestic capabilities. India can transform strategic spending into engines of innovation, jobs, and exports. Scaling such initiatives across emerging tech sectors will help secure India's global competitiveness and future proof its workforce. R NARAYANAN | MUMBAI

Aung San Suu Kyi at 80: Forgotten Behind Bars

Once a global icon of democracy, her plight now draws diminishing international outrage. Yet even as the West looks away, resistance forces in Myanmar are gaining ground. The junta's grip is slipping, but Suu Kyi's life remains in peril as the battle for Myanmar's future intensifies n June 19, 2025, Aung San Suu Kyi, will complete 80 years of her life and step into the 81st year. She remains in prison. The last one of her sham trials—all widely condemned the world over—which ended on December 30, 2022, sentenced her to seven years in prison. With this, the total number of years to which she was sentenced came to 33, which was subsequently reduced to 27 years. This suggests that Myanmar's ruling junta, which calls itself State Administration Council, wants her to die in prison.

What is striking in this context is the waning interest of the Western democracies in her incarceration and the struggle for democracy in Myanmar. They, doubtless, continue treat the junta as an outcast and retain the sanctions imposed on it and its leaders. Yet expressions of outrage over her continued imprisonment and the junta's savage military action against civilian populations in the areas controlled by the People's Defence Force (PDF), the armed force of the opposition National Unity Government (NUG), and the ethnic armed organisations (EAOs), which are waging war against it in cooperation with one another, are now fewer and less strident.

This, of course, is a result of the emergence of new issues like the Ukraine war and Israel's action in Gaza which now occupy centre stage in the general global discourse. Nevertheless, this diversion of global attention helps to reduce the pressure on the junta to restore democracy in the country and conduces to making sure that it will be ousted only if, and when, it is defeated in the civil war now raging in Myanmar.

The opposition forces include, besides the PDF, the Three Brotherhood Alliance (henceforth the Alliance) comprising the Myanmar National Democratic Alliance Army (MNDAA), active in the Kokang Special Region of northern Shan State, the Ta'ang National Liberation Army (TNLA), also active in the Shan State and the Arakan Army (AA), based in the Rakhine State in the country's western part, acting in close cooperation with the PDF and other ethnic armies. They are increasingly gaining the upper hand.

The Sit-Tat (as Myanmar's army is called), has suffered a series of reverses since the Alliance launched its offensive, codenamed Operation 1027, on October 27, 2023. The AA had brought almost the entire Rakhine State under its control by April, 2024. The MNDAA claimed on July 31, 2024, that it had captured Sit-Tat's military base in Lashio, a city in Shan State close to the border with China, and its airport. This was a major loss for the junta. As Vivek Shankar has pointed out in a piece in The New York Times datelined August 5, 2024, the "city of Lashio and its airport lie on a crucial trade corridor to Yunnan Province in China, which is spending hundreds of millions of dollars on a high-speed rail link and other infrastructure projects on both sides of the border."

The opposition forces now control large swathes of territory along Myanmar's borders and mountainous regions; the military retains control over the major cities and lowlands in the central Irrawaddy Valley.

It is losing even the cities and towns. A report (datelined August 13, 2024) by-lined The Irrawaddy, in the website The Irrawaddy, and carried under the headline "Junta Controls Fewer Than 100 of Myanmar's 350 Towns: NUG," cited the latter's defence minister, U Yee Mon, as saying that only 98 of Myanmar's 350 townships remained under the junta's control. According to the report, the NUG's Defence Ministry divided Myanmar's towns into four categories — 75 completely captured by anti-regime groups, 105 surrounded by anti-regime groups; 75 being fought over, and 98 towns remaining under the regime's control.

THE OPPOSITION FORCES NOW CONTROL LARGE SWATHES OF TERRITORY ALONG MYANMAR'S BORDERS AND MOUNTAINOUS REGIONS; THE MILITARY RETAINS CONTROL OVER THE MAJOR CITIES AND LOWLANDS IN THE CENTRAL IRRAWADDY VALLEY. IT IS LOSING EVEN THE CITIES AND TOWNS

According to an article (datelined June 4, 2025) by Banyar Aung, carried in The Irrawaddy, the ethnic Arakan Army (AA) has notched up major gains since launching its Rakhine offensive in November 2023, seizing control of 14 out of 17 townships in the western state. Of the three townships still under junta control, battles are raging in Sittwe and Kyaukphyu, while Manaung is the only township from where clashes have not been reported

The AA has also secured the entire stretch bordering India and Bangladesh following its capture of territory along the Naf River including Maungdaw, Buthidaung, and Chin State's Paletwa Township. This has led to Bangladesh establishing direct contact with it and India maintaining ties through the Government of Mizoram.

The junta, doubtless, has sought to hit back. In an article (datelined March 19, 2025), appearing under the headline "Mapping the Myanmar Junta's Gains, Losses and Stalemates Since 1027", in The Irrawaddy, Moe Sett Nyen Chan, a military analyst, writes that in 2024, the Sit-Tat, as the junta's army is called, switched to a more dynamic strategy, employing mobile and pro-active defensive tactics and launching counter-offensives across the country, relying heavily on war planes and drones. These tactics, however, have yet to produce meaningful or decisive victories. As stated in the article, the areas reclaimed by the junta collectively account for less than one per cent of the territory, towns, and camps previously seized by resistance forces. Besides, the regained areas remain under constant threat, encircled by resistance forces.

The article further states that the opposition forces have responded by intensifying guerrillastyle operations involving ambushes, the laying of mines, and repeated attacks on the Sit-Tat's positions. They doubtless have to battle numerous odds. The junta, for example, recaptured most of Loikaw Township in 2024 after Karenni resistance forces withdrew, apparently because of ammunition shortage.

The Sit-Tat, however, is facing serious problems of its own, and is staring at almost certain defeat in the long run. Its morale is very low. Internal discord is growing. Several three-star generals have been removed. Many younger officers are unhappy as they recognise that almost the entire country is against them. According to a piece by Ye Myo Hein (datelined May 4, 2023) featured by the United States Institute of Peace, it was found that the Sit-Tat, whose "headcount," showed a "strength of a total 300,000-400,000 before the coup," currently "had a strength of about 150,000 personnel."

Roughly 70,000 are combat soldiers. At least 21,000 service members have been lost through casualties, desertion and defection since the coup. The advantage the Sit-Tat has in its possessions of tanks and armoured vehicles, is, to a great extent, neutralised by the fact that these are very difficult to deploy in the densely-forested mountainous areas, marked by deep gorges and steep climbs, which are the strongholds of the opposition.

It has artillery and air-support. These, however, do not win wars even when supported by heavily-armed trained troops. Otherwise, the United States would have romped to a victory in Vietnam.

It is a matter of time before the junta is ousted. When that happens, it will be a great vindication of the prolonged struggle Aung San Suu Kyi has waged, at great cost to herself, for freedom and democracy in Myanmar. There is, however, a very serous danger that needs to be talked about. It is of the junta getting her murdered in prison and trying to pass it of as death caused by old age-related natural causes.

If this happens, one of the causes will be the junta's belief that the West has lost interest in Myanmar and will do no more than expressing routine condemnation before passing on to subjects considered more pressing.

From Eden to Eternity: A Fan's Fifty-Year Journey with Indian Cricket

Test at Eden Gardens, Calcutta — the moment my lifelong romance with cricket began. It was the winter of 1974, during the India-West Indies Test series. I was just eight years old, a curious boy drawn by the electric buzz of the crowd and the anticipation of something big. The chill in the December air did nothing to dampen the excitement. That morning, unknowingly, I stepped into a world that would accompany me through the next five decades. That game, that series — it wasn't just cricket. It was the spark that lit an eternal flame.

India, under the regal leadership of Mansoor Ali Khan Pataudi, was down 0-2 in the five-match series. The team had lost in Bangalore and Delhi, and the third Test at Eden Gardens was a must-win. The West Indies, led by the charismatic Clive Lloyd, were a powerhouse brimming with pace and power. India won the toss and batted. What followed was a spirited fightback, and India clinched a memorable win The stadium was packed memorable win. The stadium was packed — 80,000 fans roared with every stroke and wicket. I can still hear those cheers echoing in my ears.

The series then moved to Chepauk, Madras — a ground that favours the artistry of spin. There, Gundappa Viswanath played an elegant 97, full of delicate wristwork and clever placements, helping India level the series 2-2. And then came the decider at Bombay's Brabourne Stadium, a historic venue that predates the Wankhede. That was my initiation into the magic of radio commentary, listening to the crackle of Sunil Gavaskar's blade as he took guard.

Though India lost the final Test, and the series 3-2, something even more lasting had been born — my love for cricket. It wasn't just about scores or wins. It became a part of who I was, something woven into the fabric of my being. From that day on, I've followed every Test match, every Indian series — first as a wide-eyed child, then a college student, a public servant, and now a senior officer nearing the end of a long career. Cricket has been my constant. Through this fifty-year journey, five cricketers have symbolised different stages of my life — five icons who inspired, moved, and accompanied me as time unfurled.

Sunil Gavaskar: The Pathbreaker

During my school and college years, Sunil Gavaskar was my north star. Calm, precise, and courageous, he stood up to the might of the West Indies pace battery with nothing but a cap and unshakable technique. No helmets, no flamboyance — just resolve. His debut series in 1971, with 774 runs, announced that India had still vividly remember the first day of the third Test at Eden Gardens, Calcutta — the moment my lifelong romance with cricket began. It was records, but a legacy.

Gavaskar gave Indian cricket an identity. We called him the "Little Master," but his influence was monumental. His final Test innings — a poetic 96 on a difficult pitch against Pakistan in 1987 — was a masterclass. I was in college, captivated by every stroke. He taught us that we could be world-class, that Indian batsmen could dominate with skill and patience.

Kapil Dev: The Gamechanger

As I entered Jawaharlal Nehru University for my postgraduate studies, Kapil Dev exploded onto the scene. Fast-bowling, hard-hitting, and fiercely proud, he was the antidote to all the clichés about Indian cricketers. Hailing from Haryana, Kapil broke barriers with his athleticism and charisma.

He took 434 Test wickets and scored over 5,000 runs. But what sealed his place in the hearts of millions was that magical summer of 1983 — leading India to summer of 1983 — leading India to their first World Cup win at Lord's. His unbeaten 175 against Zimbabwe remains etched in legend. He was raw courage. Kapil didn't just change matches — he changed mindsets. He told us, through every action, that India could win, anywhere, against anyone.

The God of Cricket

By the time Sachin Tendulkar made his debut in 1989, I had joined g to the police force. It was a demanding life, but no matter where I was — in a distant district, on night duty, or in a high-pressure post — I found a way to follow Tendulkar. At 16, he took on Pakistan's fearsome bowlers. From then on, he carried our hopes with unmatched consistency.

Tendulkar's career — 100 centuries, 34,000 runs — is astonishing. But even more inspiring was how he carried himself. His Sharjah heroics, his double century in Gwalior, his resilience after the Mumbai attacks — they were more than just cricket. They were moments of collective healing and pride. For me, Sachin was not just a cricketer. He was a life lesson. His poise, discipline, and humility were as instructive as his batting. I remember watching his farewell at Wankhede with moist eyes. It felt like the end of a personal era.

MS Dhoni: The Calm Conqueror

Then came MS Dhoni, just as I had reached the peak of my career. Hailing from Ranchi, he showed that dreams didn't require big cities. With his lightning glove work and icy nerves, he revolutionised Indian cricket.

His leadership was fearless. Under him, India won the inaugural 2007 T20 World Cup, the 2011 ODI World Cup, and the 2013 Champions Trophy — a trifecta never achieved before. That last six at Wankhede in 2011 is a memory etched in national consciousness.

Dhoni was my modern hero — understated, tactical, and unfailingly composed. Even amidst my busiest days, I made time for his matches. His helicopter shot, his late flourishes, his cool behind the stumps — they were moments of joy in an otherwise hectic life. He taught us that silence could be strength, and success could be simple.

Virat Kohli: The Modern Warrior

Virat Kohli came into my life as I took on challenging leadership roles and even represented India in UN missions. In the fast-paced, digital world, cricket became more accessible — but no less meaningful.

Kohli, with his aggression and ambition, brought a new edge to Indian cricket. He led from the front — fit, fierce, and unrelenting. His centuries overseas, especially in England and Australia, were not just personal triumphs but national milestones. Under his captaincy, India became the world's No. 1 Test side and won a historic series in Australia.

His recent retirement, alongside Rohit Sharma, marks the end of another golden chapter. But his legacy will endure — one of passion, purpose, and pride. Kohli redefined belief. He made us expect victory — not just hope for it.

A Constant Companion

As I now stand at the threshold of retirement, I find myself reflecting on this extraordinary fifty-year bond with cricket.

From transistor radios to mobile apps, from whites to coloured kits, from five-day Tests to T20 thrillers — cricket has evolved, and so have I. But the emotion remains unchanged. Every boundary still brings a smile. Every wicket still raises my heartbeat. I've seen stadiums change, formats shift, players come and go — but the love has never dimmed. Cricket has mirrored my life — full of struggle, grace, intensity, and occasional triumphs. Today, as I complete five decades of being a fan, I feel only gratitude. Cricket has been my joy, my escape, my teacher. It taught me patience, resilience, teamwork, and above all, hope.

For many, cricket may just be a sport. But for me, it is memory, meaning, and music — a rhythm that continues to play in the background of my life, beautifully uninterrupted.

How India's Rural Revolution Redefined Global Development

ome statistics stop you in your tracks. They don't just tell you a story — they change the very narrative of a nation. One such number is this: India's extreme poverty rate has fallen from 27.1 per cent in 2011-12 to just 5.3 per cent in 2022-23. That means 269 million Indians — nearly the population of an entire continent — have broken free from the clutches of extreme poverty in just over a decade. Behind this staggering statistic lies not just good luck or economic growth, but a quiet revolution led by Prime Minister Modi. Eleven years of determined, ground-level governance, hard-nosed reforms, and the revival of India's most ignored strength — its cooperative economic framework.

This isn't just a policy shift; it's a transformation of mindset, of machinery, and of the meaning of development itself. For too long, poverty alleviation was viewed as charity or top-down welfare. But under PM Modi's leadership, poverty reduction has become an outcome of empowerment, not entitlement. And the beating heart of this transformation?

The recent World Bank report gives global recognition to this shift, but Indians have been living it daily. It acknowledges what we on the ground already knew: that this isn't mere statistical luck. It is the result of deliberate structural reforms, institutional innovations, and a relentless push to bring prosperity to the last mile. For the first time, the World Bank is forced to rethink the way poverty is measured and tackled — not with foreign aid or fiscal sops, but through farmer-centric systems, rural institutions, and localised wealth creation.

Let's not forget: this isn't about cities. The most significant poverty reduction has taken place in Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Bihar, West Bengal, and Madhya Pradesh — states that are as rural and agrarian as they are populous. That's no coincidence. These are also the very states where cooperative movements have taken deep root over the past decade, where PACS are being digitised, where FPOs are thriving, and where rural women lead dairy and seed cooperatives with pride. Over the past eleven years, PM Modi has not just created schemes — he's reformed governance itself. Ministries have become mission-oriented. The Ministry of Cooperation was established not as an afterthought, but as a declaration that India's villages matter. Cooperative societies are no longer marginalised — they are central to our economic planning. With the creation of three new national-level multistate cooperative institutions for export, seed, and organic produce, the message is loud and clear: Bharat will rise from its grassroots.

And this is no longer an emotional or cultural belief—it is an economic reality. Procurement planning is now integrated with production. Farmers are no longer growing in the dark. They know in advance who will buy their produce, at what price, and when.

ome statistics stop you in your tracks. They don't just tell you a story — they change the very narrative of a nation. One such number is this: lia's extreme poverty rate has fallen from 27.1 per

it stays with the farmer.

This transformation is not just an Indian success story — it is a model that challenges the very foundations of global development thinking. For years, institutions like the World Bank, IBRD, and various climate finance bodies have equated development with billion-dollar urban projects, often disconnected from rural realities. However, India has shown that structural poverty reduction, economic dignity, and climate resilience can go hand in hand when rooted in cooperative — led governance.

Investment in agriculture — especially in procurement infrastructure — has reoriented India's supply chain around the farmer. This is no longer a system of distressed sales and middlemen. It is a model of forward-planned procurement, storage, and distribution anchored by local institutions. This subtle but powerful disruption in the supply chain has already begun reshaping how development is financed, measured, and delivered. Warehousing reduces post-harvest losses — that's climate action. Local procurement cuts down on emissions and transport costs — that's mitigation. Community irrigation saves water — that's adaptation. But most importantly, these are models of development that are owned, run, and sustained by the people themselves. This is why the upcoming High-Level Political Forum at the United Nations, beginning July 5, must pause and reflect. The SDG playbook can no longer ignore India's cooperative-led success. Suppose the world is serious about achieving SDG 1 (No Poverty), SDG 2 (Zero Hunger), SDG 13 (Climate Action), and SDG 8 (Decent Work and Economic Growth). In that case, it must look beyond outdated aid paradigms. It must look towards India. India has proven that poverty isn't defeated by dependency — it is crushed by dignity. When farmers are seen not as beneficiaries but as entrepreneurs, when supply chains revolve around producers, and when communities build their resilience, transformation becomes inevitable. The World Bank report isn't the end of the story — it's the beginning of a new chapter. A chapter where the world rethinks its assumptions, where financial institutions align with grassroots wisdom, and where rural India shows the way forward. Let us send a message from Bharat to the world: Poverty is not destiny. Prosperity is not a privilege. With the right structure, spirit, and support, any nation can rise. But for that to happen, the world must finally listen to Bharat's voice — from its villages, its cooperatives, and its people.

IMEEC to have impact on world connectivity: Jaishankar

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Marseilles (France)

erming connectivity as an important part diplomacy, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Friday said the IMEEC once completed will offer a significant land-and sea-based connectivity to Europe all the way up to the Pacific.

The India-Middle East Europe Economic Corridor (IMEEC) will comprise two separate corridors, the east corridor connecting India to the Gulf and the northern corridor connecting the Gulf to Europe. Highlighting the need for land, sea, and air connectivity "in as many options and as many variants as possible," Jaishankar told a panel discussion at the inaugural Raisina Mediterranean 2025 here, "The connectivity initiatives, I think, have become a very important part of diplomacy today."

Even when the IMEEC is not in place as yet, Europe has a "fairly ready and efficient access" to India's western coast, despite the threats by Houthis to shipping, he said. "We are making very major investments in railways, and then trying to connect eastern India all the way to Vietnam."

Reminding the audience how the Suez Canal took ages to make, he said, "But once it was done, you see what a profound impact it's had on the world. So actually, if we can pull that (IMEEC) off, you will get from Europe a route all the way to the Pacific, which will be significantly land based, but partly sea based."

"And in some ways, it would be a counter to the reliance on the Arctic, whenever the Arctic opens up. The connectivity game is a long game," he said.

On the sidelines of the G20 Leaders' Summit in New Delhi in 2023, India, European Union, France, Germany, Italy, Saudi Arabia, UAE and the US announced an MoU committing to work together to develop the IMEEC.

The two corridors intend to enhance connectivity, increase efficiency, reduce costs, secure regional supply chains, increase trade accessibility and generate jobs, resulting in a transformative integration of Asia, Europe and Middle East, according to the Ministry of External Affairs. The panel discussion was themed 'The Next Special Relationship:

Deepening the Strategic Partnership between the Indo-Pacific and Europe. Jaishankar was joined by Ararat Mirzoyan, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Armenia; Abigael mid rate moderation by the Reserve Bank, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman is scheduled to meet heads of public sector banks (PSBs) on June 27, to discuss host of issues including review of financial performance and implementation of various government schemes.

This is going to be the first review meeting after the Reserve Bank on Friday carried out a jumbo policy rate cut of 50 basis points, and unexpectedly reduced the cash reserve ratio for banks to make available more money to rent financial year.

The RBİ's six-member monetary policy committee, headed by Governor Sanjay Malhotra and consisting of three external members, voted five to one to lower the benchmark repurchase or repo rate by 50 basis points to 5.5 per cent. It also slashed the cash reserve ratio by 100 basis points to 3 per cent in tranches that will add ₹2.5 lakh crore to already surplus liquidity in the banking system.

According to sources, the Finance Minister would review the financial performance of public sector banks and their targets for the cur-

The year-on-year increase in profit in absolute terms rose by about ₹37,100 crore Out of the total profit of ₹1,78,364 crore earned during FY'25, market leader State Bank of India (SBI) alone contributed over 40 per cent of the total earnings, as per the published numbers on stock exchanges.

SBI logged a net profit of ₹70,901 crore in FY25, 16 per cent higher than the previous fiscal (₹61,077 crore).

In percentage terms, Delhibased Punjab National Bank reported the highest net profit growth of 102 per cent to 16,630 crore, followed by Punjab & Sind Bank with a 71 per cent rise to ₹1,016 crore.

he Ministry of Agriculture on Friday organised the National Conference on Agri Stack: Turning Data into Delivery. The conference served as a strategic platform for senior officials from the Centre and States key stakeholders to deliberate on the progress, challenges and future roadmap for the implementation of Agri Stack under the Digital Agriculture Mission (DAM).

The conference began with a welcome address by Devesh Chaturvedi, Secretary (Agriculture), who reiterated the government's commitment to leveraging technology for transparent, farmer-centric governance. He highlighted the urgent need for States to dynamically link their Farmer Registries with updated Records of Rights (RoR) and actively utilise the dig-and personalised agricultural services. In his keynote, the Secretary, Department of Land Resources (DoLR), emphasised the foundational role of digital land records and Aadhaar seeding for accurate farmer identification, noting the challenges of declining land value and income

The conference also witnessed the introduction of upcoming services such as farmer authorisation systems and Digitally Verifiable Certificates (DVCs), empowering farmers to share land and crop information securely and

quity benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty tumbled nearly one per cent on Friday as weak global markets and a spike in Brent crude oil prices after Israel attacked Iran's capital weighed on investor sentiment.

Falling for the second day in a row, the 30-share BSE Sensex dived 573.38 points or 0.70 per cent to settle at 81,118.60. During the morning trade, it tanked 1,337.39 points or 1.63 per cent to 80,354.59.

As many as 2,469 stocks declined while 1,516 advanced and 137 remained unchanged

The 50-share NSE Nifty dropped 169.60 points or 0.68 per cent to 24,718.60.

On a weekly basis, the BSE benchmark tanked 1,070.39 points or 1.30 per cent and the Nifty declined 284.45 points or 1.13 per cent.

Investors stayed away from and Iran and foreign fund outflows. "Rising tensions in the Middle East after Israel attacked key Iranian areas drove investors to safe-haven assets like gold as riskier equities continued to face battering. Along with fresh concerns of the US likely to impose unilateral tariffs over next few weeks and higher valuations of domestic equities resulted in consolidation of markets," Prashanth Tapse, Senior VP (Research), Mehta Equities Ltd, said. Among the Sensex firms, Adani Ports, ITC, State Bank of India, IndusInd Bank, HDFC Bank, Titan, Kotak Mahindra Bank and UltraTech Cement were the major laggards. On the other hand, Tech Mahindra, Tata Consultancy Services, Sun Pharma and Maruti were the gainers.

The BSE midcap gauge declined 0.32 per cent and smallcap index dipped 0.30 per cent. Among BSE sectoral indices, services tumbled 2.06 per cent, bankex (1.01 per cent), FMCG (0.94 per cent), financial services (0.85 per cent), metal (0.81 per cent) and power (0.75 per cent).

Healthcare index and realty were the only winners.

"Indian equity benchmarks experienced downward pressure, driven by weak global cues and foreign institutional outflows. Market sentiment was notably impacted by heightened geopolitical tensions following Israel's military strike on Iran, which significantly increased risk aversion among investors. Although India's CPI for May eased below the RBI's comfort threshold, offering a positive macro signal, this was largely overshadowed by external headwinds.

"Brent crude prices climbed to near $76/barrel, their highest this year, raising fears of inflation if tensions persist," Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Investments Limited, said. Global oil benchmark Brent crude jumped 7.44 per cent to $74.52 a barrel. In Asian markets, South Korea's Kospi, Japan's Nikkei 225 index, Shanghai's SSE Composite index and Hong Kong's Hang Seng settled lower. European markets were quoting lower. US markets ended in positive territory on Thursday. Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) offloaded equities worth ₹3,831.42 crore on Thursday, according to exchange data.

Meanwhile, a Londonbound Air India plane carrying 242 passengers and crew crashed in Ahmedabad minutes after taking off from the airport on Thursday afternoon. Air India has confirmed the death of 241 people in the plane crash. One passenger miraculously escaped.

On Thursday, the 30-share BSE Sensex dropped 823.16 points or 1 per cent to settle at 81,691.98. The Nifty tumbled 253.20 points or 1.01 per cent

Gold rallies ₹2,200 to ₹1.01 lakh/10 gm

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Rising for the third consecutive day, gold prices on Friday surged ₹2,200 to trade near a record high of ₹1,01,540 per 10 grams in the national capital amid heightened tensions following Israel's military strike on Iran, which drove investors to the safe-haven asset.

According to the All India Sarafa Association, the precious metal of 99.5 per cent purity rallied by ₹1,900 to ₹1,00,700 per 10 grams (inclusive of all taxes). On April 22, the yellow metal had climbed ₹1,800 to hit a lifetime high of ₹1,01,600 per 10 grams. In addition, silver prices jumped by ₹1,100 to revisit the all-time high of Rs 1,08,100 per kg (inclusive of all taxes) on Friday.

The metal rose by ₹1,000 to hit a lifetime high of ₹1,08,100 per kg on Monday. On the Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX), the mosttraded August delivery contracts of the precious metal zoomed ₹2,011 to hit a record high of ₹1,00,403 per 10 grams in the morning trade. Gold prices touched a new high and scaled past the Rs 1 lakh-mark per 10 gram while in the international markets, the bullion soared past USD 3,440 per ounce as investors flocked to safe-haven assets amid mounting global insta-President of Commodities at Mehta Equities, said.

Later, the yellow metal trimmed its early gains and was trading at ₹99,906 per 10 grams. Globally, spot gold rose by $ 28.30 per ounce or 0.84 per cent to $ 3,415.13 per ounce. The sharp rally in gold came after Israel's military pre-emptive strike on Iran, escalating fears of a broader conflict in the Middle East. Simultaneously, renewed uncertainty over US trade policy, including threats of unilateral tariffs by President Trump-fuelled risk-off sentiment, Kalantri said. US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent's remarks about possibly extending the 90-day tariff pause failed to ease concerns. Additionally, weaker-than-expected US inflation data strengthened expectations for further interest rate cuts by the Federal Reserve, enhancing gold's appeal, he added.

US benchmark crude oil rose by $5.6, or 8.2 per cent, to $73.61 per barrel. Brent crude, the international standard, increased by $5.52 to $74.88 per barrel. In share trading, Tokyo's Nikkei 225 fell 1.2 per cent to 37,721.63 while the Kospi in Seoul edged 0.7 per cent lower to 2,900.14.

Hong Kong's Hang Seng retreated 0.4 per cent to 23,929.62 and the Shanghai Composite Index lost 0.2 per cent to 3,394.52. Australia's S&P/ASX 200 drifted 0.3 per cent lower to 8,540.80.

indexes ticked higher following another encouraging update on inflation across the country

The S&P 500 rose 0.4 per cent to 6,045.26. The Dow Jones Industrial Average added 0.2 per cent to 42,967.62, and the Nasdaq composite gained 0.2 per cent to 19,662.48.

Oracle pushed upward on the market after jumping 13.3 per cent. The tech giant delivered stronger profit and revenue for the latest quarter than analysts expected, and CEO Safra Catz said it expects revenue growth "will be dramatically higher" in its upcoming fiscal year. That helped offset a 4.8 per cent loss for Boeing after Air India said a London-bound flight crashed shortly after taking off from Ahmedabad airport Thursday with 242 passengers and crew onboard. The Boeing 787 Dreamliner crashed into a residential area near the airport five minutes after taking off. The cause of the crash wasn't immediately known. Stocks broadly got some help from easing Treasury yields in the bond market following the latest update on inflation. Thursday's update said inflation at the wholesale level wasn't as bad last month as economists expected, and it followed a report on Wednesday saying something similar about the inflation that US Consumers are feeling. Wall Street took it as a signal that the Federal Reserve will have more leeway to cut interest rates later this year in order to give the economy a boost.

Each handmade piece carries care, patience and a deep connection to the maker's world, says SAKSHI PRIYA

he future has often been imagined through the lens of machines fast, exact, endless. In the rush to automate and accelerate, the human hand stepped aside. Yet today, something quiet and deliberate is taking its place again. Across India, in both city studios and village courtyards, hands are shaping objects of meaning. Clay, thread, wood, pigment materials are being touched, turned, pressed, and dyed in ways that feel deeply alive.

A handwoven textile carries the mark of each movement, each decision. A carved wooden toy, slightly uneven, carries personality. A kantha quilt, stitched over months, feels like a conversation. These objects speak. They hold time. They connect people to people. Digital platforms have entered this space, but they are not erasing the handmade. Many young creators are choosing to celebrate the hand while using technology to amplify it. In Kutch, weavers share their looms with the world through short videos. In Jaipur, block printers open their stu dios for online workshops. A new energy flows through these traditions, bringing them into today without making them feel ornamental or nostalgic.

The craftsperson is no longer hidden behind a brand name. Viewers can now watch the entire process, see the hand dip into dye, press a block onto fabric, stitch slowly and steadily. The surface of the product now carries the presence of the maker, and that presence is being recognised. Young designers and artists are also leaning in this direction. Some travel to remote villages, not to extract designs, but to learn. They sit with women who embroider Phulkari, watch the preparation of natural dyes, speak to families who have passed knowledge across generations. Others are working side-by-side with artisans in cities, helping with quality control, digital access and logistics. The idea is to honour craft in its own language.

During Diwali, people continue to bring home 'gharonda' made by potters in villages. Because they belong. There's comfort in their familiar curves, in the way the paint may be a little smudged, in how they carry a feeling of home. This includes traditional forms and newer explo-walls. There is care in the time taken to make something, in the decision to continue a tradition, in the willingness to share it with others. Many families still light diyas made of earth, place rangoli made by hand. These gestures, small as they are, keep something alive. The hands that create these pieces are part of modern life. They answer phone calls, open parcels, post photos online. They return to thread, to cloth, to clay. In markets and fairs, more people now ask who made a product, where the material comes from, how long it took. These questions mark a shift.

They speak of interest, of intention. At the same time, the label "handmade" has found a new currency. People are selling their work by highlighting its handmade nature even when the touch of the hand is minimal. The term has become a selling point, a mark of value.

This growing interest must be met with honesty, ensuring that the essence of the hand its time, effort, and presence, is truly honoured. India, with its range of materials, languages, and visual cultures, carries endless forms of handcraft. From mirror work in Gujarat to alpana art in Bengal, from woodwork in Kashmir to blue pottery in Rajasthan, each form carries a different touch, a different pace. As people seek meaning beyond speed and screens, the handmade offers presence. A hand-painted pot, a scarf dyed with marigold, a scroll painted with folk tales, all feel real in a way that standardised objects do not. Art and craft have always spoken of their times. Today, they speak of return of slowing down, of looking again, of choosing something that feels made with care. In doing so, they remind us that progress does not always mean replacing the old. Sometimes, it means looking at it again with ome canvases speak quiet-Sly, in gentle lines and layered textures, with no need for spectacle. The Silent Canvas Speaks Again, currently showing at the India International Centre, revives the legacy of Professor Sukhvir Sanghal with an emotional gravity that lingers long after one leaves the gallery. and decades, revealing the many facets of a man who remained committed to Indian thought, aesthetics, and spirituality throughout his artistic journey. The exhibition opens with a suite of wash paintings rooted in the Bengal School tradition. Sanghal's mastery of this delicate technique is immediately evident. Muted tones and precise lines create a quiet Works like intensity. Departure of Rama and Marriage Procession carry mythological grandeur but retain a deeply personal essence. His themes remain consistent: identity, devotion, transience, and the sacred. Every intentional and aligned with his artistic philosophy. He preferred silence over spectacle, control over chaos. His brush seemed less concerned with depicting reality and more attuned to evoking emotion.

Archival photographs, handwritten notes and rare documents trace his role as an educator, thinker, and cultural leader. In an era where art often chases novelty, Sanghal's work remains rooted and relevant. It calls for a slowing down, a return to introspection, a closer look at the soul of Indian tradition through art. This show does not seek to impress, it invites reflection. It reminds us that quietude can carry weight, and that legacy is not just medium Sanghal explored felt remembered, it is reawakened.

Sita's Journey in Madhubani Brushstrokes

BY RAJDEEP PATHAK

riving down the tranquil Vinay Marg in New Delhi, one is greeted by the golden bloom of Amaltas trees — their radiant canopies shimmering like sunlight in the summer air. Amid this quiet charm stands the Civil Services Officers' Institute (CSOI) that recently hosted the Vaidehi Utsav — a soulful exhibition celebrating the spirit of Indian womanhood through Sita.

The road, the trees, the soft rustle of petals underfoot, all echo the quiet strength and grace embodied in the display ahead. At the entrance, a smiling security guard gestures toward the first floor, where a series of exquisite Madhubani paintings narrate Sita's timeless journey. The spirit of the place lies not in indulgence, but in the quiet dignity it radiates, now through Sita's vibrancy.

We are welcomed by warm, smiling faces. I have accompanied my family on this trip. Among them stands Bharti Dayal, a celebrated National Award-winning Madhubani artist, who is joined by Dr Savita Jha, the visionary and driving force behind this remarkable exhibition.

The gallery comes alive with vibrant Madhubani paintings, each narrating the profound and timeless journey of Vaidehi (Sita). From her birth to her graceful youth, from her sacred marriage to her silent sacrifices, the artwork captures every nuance of her womanhood.

It portrays her awakening, her selfawareness, her spiritual strength in invoking divine forces to vanquish Ravana, and her unwavering faith, even in a single blade of grass in the desolate Ashok Vatika where she was held captive. Through every intricate and delicate brushstroke, the indomitable spirit of Sita shines forth. Savita Jha speaks with the same passion that made her bring Madhubani artists from the villages of Bihar to a city still indifferent to their art. "Mithila, historically renowned for its rich intellectual and spiritual heritage, has long cultivated a worldview where aesthetic inquiry and philosophical depth are intertwined and the Mithila tradition holds space for transcendence through harmony", says Savita, adding, "It is withing this context that Sita, Vaidehi emerges as a unique cultural and intellectual presence".

She continues, "Born ayonia (without a womb), Sita defies conventional narratives of origin and embodiment. She is at once a divine figure, and a symbol of high philosophical possibility, embodying the region's spiritual depth, linguistic richness and artistic vitality", emphasising, "Sita, as a cultural and spiritual figure, continues to offer a rare form of unity. In her, conflicting values — obedience and defiance, love and renunciation, suffering and strength — they converge into a coherent ethical vision; she embodies dharma, not as a blind submission, but as a lived clarity". Savita draws our attention to Bharti Dayal's evocative artwork — rich in vibrancy and emotion — that beautifully sets the tone for Sita's journey. Her painting captures a pivotal moment in the forest during the 14 years' exile, the enchanting, shimmering golden deer. Entranced, Sita urges her husband Ram to catch it, unknowingly triggering a chain of fate. The deer, a disguised demon Marich, lures Ram away, enabling Raavan to abduct Sita in vengeance for his sister Surpanakha, as the Ramayan narrates. Dayal's art poignantly portrays this fleeting yet fateful encounter, one that unravels a saga of Sita's courage, devotion, and spiritual transcendence, echoing through time and legend. Equally captivating is Juli Jha's portrait of Sita as a Bhoomija sitting in fire during her 'Agni Pariksha'. Even in burning flames, her serene strength stands out. Amidst the flames, Sita remains calm, her heart anchored in love and reverence for Shri Ram. Shades of blue reflect her inner peace. Juli begins with a soulful song — "Sita's closed eyes, tranquil mind, and a soft moonlit glow behind her, while a peacock gazes in awe, witnessing the fire outside but divine serenity within, born of unwavering faith and devotion".

Bharti Dayal explains, "Every ritualistic drawing is accompanied by a song. During the festival of Devotthan, for instance, the deity is awakened and symbolically steps out of the sanctum. On this occasion, a special song is sung, and an elaborate drawing is created on the courtyard floor." This is a timeless tale woven with love, romance, sacrifice, and heroism delicately pure and profoundly subtle. Ram and Sita dwell in the humble hut that holds the artist's heart and soul, a legacy carried forward through generations of Madhubani painters.
