Sunita Williams touches down on Mother Earth tuck in space no more, NASA astronauts Butch Wilmore and Sunita Williams returned to Earth on Tuesday, hitching a different ride home to close out a saga that began with a bungled test flight more than nine

Their SpaceX capsule parachuted into the Gulf of Mexico in the early evening, just hours after departing the International Space Station. Splashdown occurred off the coast of Tallahassee in the Florida Panhandle, bringing their unplanned odyssey to an end

Within an hour, the astronauts were out of their capsule, waving and smiling at the cameras while being hustled away in reclining stretchers for routine medical

It all started with a flawed Boeing test

The two expected to be gone just a week or so after launching on Boeing's new Starliner crew capsule on June 5. So many problems cropped up on the way to the space station that NASA eventually sent Starliner back empty and transferred the test pilots to SpaceX, pushing their homecoming into February. Then SpaceX capsule issues added another month's delay.

Sunday's arrival of their relief crew meant Wilmore and Williams could finallv leave. NASA cut them loose a little early, given the iffy weather forecast later this week. They checked out with NASA's Nick Hague and Russia's Alexander Gorbunov, who arrived in their own SpaceX capsule last fall with two empty seats reserved for the Starliner duo.

Wilmore and Williams ended up spending 286 days in space - 278 days longer than anticipated when they launched. They

"On behalf of SpaceX, welcome home," radioed SpaceX Mission Control in California. "What a ride," replied Hague, the capsule's commander. "I see a capsule full of grins ear to ear."

Dolphins circled the capsule as divers readied it for hoisting onto the recovery ship. Once safely on board, the side hatch was opened and the astronauts were helped out, one by one. Williams was nextto-last out, followed by Wilmore who gave two gloved thumbs-up.

Wilmore and Williams' plight captured the world's attention, giving new meaning to the phrase "stuck at work" and turning "Butch and Suni" into household names. While other astronauts had logged longer spaceflights over the decades, none had to deal with so much uncertainty or see the length of their mission expand by so much

HYDERABAD

Wilmore and Williams quickly transitioned from guests to full-fledged station crew members, conducting experiments, fixing equipment and even spacewalking together. With 62 hours over nine spacewalks, Williams set a record: the most time spent spacewalking over a career among female astronauts.

Both had lived on the orbiting lab before and knew the ropes, and brushed up on their station training before rocketing away. Williams became the station's commander three months into their stay and held the post until earlier this month.

Their mission took an unexpected twist in late January when President Donald Trump asked SpaceX founder Elon Musk to accelerate the astronauts' return and blamed the delay on the Biden adminis-

"The daughter of our village is the pride of the world. She stayed in space for such a long time and came back safe. We performed garba, burst firecrackers and distributed sweets. Our happiness knows no end," he said.

When Sunita Willaims left for ISS on June 5 last year and her mission was delayed, the villagers came together to light up an 'Akhand Jyot' here on June 27 and took out a procession carrying the eternal flame to the temple of Dola Mata, praying for her safety, said a local resident.

'We are very proud and happy that she is back on earth. We are from the same family. Sunita is a great inspiration for the children, who all want to become like her,"

Villagers chanted prayers by placing Williams' photo near the temple goddess and distributed sweets as 'prasad', the offering to the goddess.

Earth missed you: Prime Minister Modi

President Droupadi Murmu, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Home Minister Amit Shah and Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge joined celebrities, politicians and others on Wednesday to celebrate the return of NASA astronaut Sunita Williams to Earth after nine months, terming her an inspiration for generations to come and lauding her determination. The Prime Minister said "the Earth Missed

The President said in a social media post India's daughter and her fellow astronauts have inspired everyone with their perseverance, dedication and neversay-die spirit.

'Congratulations to the entire team behind the safe return of NASA's Crew 9 mission on Earth! Their historic journey is a tale of determination, teamwork and extraordinary courage. I salute their unwavering resolve and wish them excellent health!" she said.

"Welcome back, #Crew9! The Earth missed you," the prime minister said in his post. "Theirs has been a test of grit, courage and the boundless human spirit... Their unwavering determination in the face of the vast unknown will forever inspire millions. Space exploration is

¬he Delhi government's Anti-Corruption Branch (ACB) has registered a case against former PWD minister and senior Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader Satyendar Jain over alleged corruption in a ₹571-Crore CCTV project. The case revolves around claims that Jain waived damages worth ₹16 Crore imposed on Bharat Electronics Limited (BEL) for delays in installing CCTV cameras across Delhi. In exchange, he allegedly accepted a bribe of ₹7 Crore through contractors who benefited from additional orders. The Pioneer was the first newspaper to report the CCTV project scam.

Joint Commissioner of Police (ACB) Madhur Verma said the FIR was registered on Tuesday after obtaining prior sanction under Section 17A of the Prevention of Corruption Act. An FIR was filed under Sections 7 and 13(1)(a) of the Prevention of Corruption Act and Section 120B (criminal conspiracy) of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) after obtaining approval under Section 17A of the Prevention of Corruption Act from the competent

In August 2019, the Delhi government under the AAP proposed a penalty of Rs 16 Crore on Bharat Electronics Limited (BEL) for its "slow pace" in installing 1.4 Lakh CCTVs in the capital. The Rs 571-Crore project, which included an annual maintenance clause for five years, specified the installation of 2,000 CCTVs in each of the 70 Assembly constituencies.

Farmers' MSP Talks with Centre End in Deadlock; Punjab Police Detain Key Leaders

Dallewal, Pandher Among Those Held En Route To Protest Sites; Combing Operations Amidst Heavy Security at Shambhu-Khanauri Borders

MONIKA MALIK CHANDIGARH

¬he seventh round of negotiations ■ between Punjab's farmer leaders and Union Ministers ended in yet another deadlock on Wednesday. Despite hours of deliberation, the farmers remained steadfast in their demand for a legal guarantee of Minimum Support Price (MSP) for all crops, vowing to continue their agitation until their demands are met. Even as the meeting in Chandigarh concluded without any breakthrough, tensions escalated at the Punjab-Haryana borders with Punjab Police detaining key farmer leaders en route from Chandigarh to their protest sites at Shambhu and Khanauri. The crackdown, which sparked outrage among farmer unions, came amid concerns from the Punjab Government over the economic impact of the ongoing agitation.

The four-hour-long meeting, held at the Mahatma Gandhi State Institute of Public Administration (MGSIPA) at Chandigarh, saw the participation of key Union Ministers led by Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Piyush Goyal, and Pralhad Joshi, along with Punjab Cabinet Ministers, including Agriculture Minister Gurmeet Singh Khuddian and Finance Minister Harpal Singh Cheema. However, the Centre's delegation failed to provide concrete assurances to the farmer representatives, who reiterated that they would not withdraw their protest until their demands were met.

While Dallewal, who has been on a hunger strike for 114 days now, is likely to be hospitalized at DMC Ludhiana amid concerns over his deteriorating health; other detained leaders, including Pandher, have been taken to Bahadurgarh Fort Commando Police Training Centre in Patiala, which has now been transformed into a makeshift detention

The decision to take stringent action against protesting farmers was reportedly made on Monday night following a high-level meeting between top AAP functionaries and industrialists. Sources indicated that industrialists raised concerns over the financial losses caused by the prolonged agitation, pushing the government to act swiftly.

COMBING OPERATIONS AT KHANAURI, SHAMBHU; POLICE DISMANTLES PROTEST INFRASTRUCTURE

Massive combing operations started late in the evening at both Shambhu and Khanauri protest sites at Punjab-Haryana border. Amidst heavy security, bulldozer action was being carried out (at the time of filing this report) at both Shambhu and Khanauri to remove the tents and stage set up by the farmers. All the farmers, present at the protest sites, have been asked to either go to their homes and taken into custody.

A large-scale combing operation, led by Sangrur DIG Mandeep Singh Sidhu, has been launched at Khanauri border, where police personnel are inspecting tents and detaining farmers found inside. So far, over 200 farmers have been detained from the site.

Simultaneously, police personnel have started dismantling the stage and tent city at Shambhu border also, a move seen as a decisive step to break the protest.

Patiala Senior Superintendent of Police (SSP) Dr Nanak Singh, leading the operation at Shambhu, said that in the presence of district magistrates, the farmers have been removed from protest sites. "There was no resistance and we did not use any force, the farmers cooperated with us and by morning, all the roads, including service roads, will be completely cleared," added the SSP.

In another aggressive measure, authorities have begun clearing the National Highway at Shambhu border, which had been blocked by farmers since February 13, 2024. The process of removing trollies parked at Khanauri border is also underway.

Since Tuesday, the Punjab Government has mobilized a massive police force at key protest sites. Earlier in the day, SSPs from Sangrur, Barnala, and Malerkotla districts have been dispatched to the Khanauri border to oversee operations. Farmers also started gathering in large numbers at both Khanauri and Shambhu borders apprehend-

At Shambhu, the authorities have stationed over 1,000 police personnel, supported by more than 25 ambulances and 50 buses, positioned near Bapror village, just six kms from the protest site.

To manage the situation, two AIGs, four SP-ranked officers, and over a dozen inspectors have been assigned to monitor developments at Shambhu. Farmers, however, remain resolute in their stand, accusing the Punjab government of siding with corporate interests to suppress their movement.

Meanwhile, anticipating potential medical emergencies, Sangrur's Civil Surgeon has put medical officers in all districts on high alert, with hospitals instructed to prepare for possible cases of injuries or critical health conditions among the detained farmers.

DEADLOCK IN TALKS, A ROADBLOCK FOR FARMERS

The meeting, which began at 11 am, revolved around the farmers' primary demand for a legal guarantee of MSP, debt waivers, and concerns over international trade policies that could impact Indian agriculture. Farmer leaders, including Sarwan Singh Pandher and Jagjit Singh Dallewal, presented data supporting their demand for MSP legislation, citing reports from the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD).

Union Agriculture Minister Chouhan acknowledged the farmers' concerns and assured them that the government would hold discussions with all stakeholders before taking a final call on MSP legislation. However, he maintained that such a law could pose challenges. "The meeting was positive and purposeful. We will continue discussions with all stakeholders before taking any decision. The next meeting is scheduled for May 4," Chouhan said after the talks.

Despite the government's reassurances, farmer leaders remained unconvinced. "The government claims it wants to continue talks, but it is merely buying time. We have made it clear that the farmers of India need a legal guarantee on MSP, and this movement will not stop until that happens," said Pandher.

Farmer leader Abhimanyu Kohar raised concerns about international pressure on India to reduce import duties on agricultural produce. "We made it clear to the Ministers that any decision against the interests of farmers will not be tolerated. India should not bow down to pressure from foreign nations," he said. Chouhan dismissed the allegations, calling them "rumours" and assuring the farmers that India would not compromise on its agricultural policies.

While the discussion remained largely focused on MSP, the meeting did not yield any tangible results, leaving farmers frustrated. "The government keeps delaying, but we are not leaving without our demands being met," said Kaka Singh Kotda, a farmer leader.

CRACKDOWN ON FARMERS AS THEY RETURN FROM TALKS

Not long after the meeting ended, Punjab Police launched a coordinated crackdown on the farmer leaders returning to their protest sites. Key leaders, including Sarwan Singh Pandher and Jagjit Singh Dallewal, were detained at different locations. Pandher was taken into custody on Mohali's Airport Road, while Dallewal, who was traveling in an ambulance, was intercepted in Sangrur and detained along with the vehicle. Other prominent leaders such as Kaka Singh Kotda, Abhimanyu Kohar, Manjeet Rai, and Omkar Singh were also detained. The move sparked outrage among farmer unions, who accused the Punjab Government of

betraying their cause. PUNJAB GOVT DEFENDS POLICE

Defending the police action, Punjab Finance Minister Harpal Singh Cheema cited the economic loss suffered by the state due to prolonged border blockades. "Industry in Punjab is suffering because of the protests. We need to revive the state's economy, and the blockade of these borders is causing major losses to trade and businesses," he said

Cheema further linked the action to the state's anti-drug efforts, stating, "We are committed to eliminating drugs from Punjab, and for that, we need employment opportunities. If industries continue to suffer due to these protests, it will only worsen unemployment and drug addiction in the state."

However, farmer leaders condemned the government's stance, stating that their protest was a legitimate struggle for their rights. "Punjab Government is siding with industrialists rather than farmers. The same government that supported our cause earlier is now trying to suppress us. We will not be silenced," said Pandher.

PUNJAB-HARYANA BORDERS TURN INTO FORTRESSES

Following the detentions, the Punjab and Haryana Governments heightened security at Shambhu and Khanauri borders. Over 1,000 police personnel, along with riotcontrol vehicles, ambulances, and towing tractors, were deployed at key locations, fueling speculations that the authorities might attempt to dismantle the protest sites.

At the Khanauri border, Haryana Police deployed four companies of security personnel. Farmers, in response, began gathering in large numbers at the protest sites, preparing for possible confrontation. At Shambhu, protestors placed tractors and trollies across highways to prevent police from advancing.

We have been peacefully protesting for over a year, and now the government is trying to crush our movement through force. But we will not back down," said Kaka Singh Kotda. Farmer leader Manjit Rai alleged that the government had stationed tractors with towing hooks near police posts, suggesting a planned crackdown on protest sites. "If they think they can clear us out with force, they are mistaken. Farmers from across Punjab are joining us in large numbers, and we will resist any attempt to dismantle our movement," he asserted. Meanwhile, internet services were reportedly suspended in several areas around Shambhu and Khanauri since Monday evening, further escalating tensions. Senior police officials maintained that the security build-up was only a precautionary measure. "We have been directed to remain stationed at key points. Our instructions are to maintain law and order," said a senior police officer deployed at Shambhu.

AAP Defends Police Action Against Farmers; Opposition Calls It "a Betrayal"

Chandigarh: Punjab government, led by Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann and the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), on Wednesday defended the police action against protesting farmers and the detention of senior farmer leaders at Khanauri and Shambhu borders. The move has sparked widespread criticism from opposition leaders, who have labeled it a By evening, most of the Cabinet Ministers and senior AAP leaders issued back to back statements defending the government and the police action against the farmers.

Punjab Finance Minister Harpal Singh Cheema, who also attended the meeting between farmers and the Central Ministers and appealed the farmers to lift the protest, justified the government's decision stating that the prolonged blockade of Punjab's borders by agitating farmers has severely impacted the state's economy. "The state is facing an economic crisis due to the agitation. New investments are not coming, and industries are hesitant to set up operations here. All the farmers' demands are related to the Central Government, and they should protest in Delhi instead," said Cheema.

AAP MP Malwinder Kang echoed similar sentiments, emphasizing that the police action was taken in the "larger interest of Punjab". Kang highlighted the adverse effects of the protests on tourism and industrial growth, stating, "The agitation has disrupted daily life and deterred tourists and industries from coming to Punjab. None of the farmers' demands fall under the State Government's jurisdiction, and they should direct their protests toward the Central Government in Delhi."

Industries Minister Tarunpreet Singh Sondh, expressing grave concern over the prolonged closure of highways due to farmers' protests, warned of severe economic and social repercussions for the state. Reaffirming AAP Government's support for farmers, Sondh emphasized the need for a balanced approach to address their demands without crippling Punjab's economy.

"Highways are the lifelines of our state. Their closure has disrupted trade, tourism, and daily commutes, leading to massive economic losses and unemployment," said Sondh, highlighting how the blockade has stalled industrial investments, exacerbating joblessness and drug abuse among Punjab's youth. Urging farmers to reopen highways, Sondh assured them of the State Government's unwavering support in their fight for MSP and other demands. "Let's unite to safeguard Punjab's interests. Closing highways is not the solution; we must find constructive ways to address our grievances with the central government," he appealed.

OPPOSITION CONDEMNS CRACKDOWN ON FARMERS

AAP Government's actions have drawn sharp criticism from opposition leaders. Union Minister of State for Railways and BJP leader Ravneet Singh Bittu condemned the police crackdown, while former Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi accused the AAP Government of succumbing to pressure from the BJP-led Central Government.

Punjab Congress president Amarinder Singh Raja Warring slammed both the Central and State Governments, calling the arrests a "betrayal of farmers". He questioned the timing of the crackdown, suggesting it might be an attempt to divert attention from the recent Patiala incident, where 12 Punjab Police officers were involved in the manhandling of a serving colonel.

Senior SAD leader and former Minister Bikram Singh Majithia, strongly condemning AAP Government for trying to suppress voice of Punjab farmers, said that he has backstabbed farmers of the country. He cautioned that if anything happened to any farmer, Mann alone would be held responsible for the same. "CM had called a meeting of farmers but backstabbed them by provoking them to do whatever they could...Now he is trying to crush their voice on the lines of Indira Gandhi who had implemented Emergency in the country," he said.

SKM SLAMS PUNJAB GOVT

The Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) — a conglomeration of 30 farmers' outfits — strongly condemned the arrest of farmer leaders and the deployment of heavy police forces at protest sites. SKM accused the AAP Government of aligning with corporate interests and the RSS-BJP-led Central Government, alleging that the crackdown followed a meeting between AAP leaders and industrialists.

The government's actions against peaceful protesters reveal its unwillingness to address the livelihood and survival issues of farmers across India," SKM stated in a strongly word-

HC's decision on inspectors' recruitment: CM Saini

MANOJ KUMAR CHANDIGARH

Haryana Assembly on Wednesday continued to witness a heated debate between the treasury and Opposition benches on the issue of alleged irregularities in the inspector recruitment, which was reported during Congress regime under the then Chief Minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda for the second consecutive day.

Citing an order of the Punjab and Haryana High Court in the matter, the BJP MLAs have accused former Chief Minister Hooda of overlooking meritorious candidates and getting his own as well as several other Congress leaders' kin in government jobs. The issue was first raised by BJP MLA Om Prakash Yadav during Tuesday's proceedings on the Budget discussion. On Wednesday, Yadav even threatened to walkout demanding a clear reply from the government over the action it was taking in the issue of the alleged irregularities in the inspector recruitment.

Senior Congress leader Hooda said that such accusations cannot be discussed on the floor of the House. At that time, Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini read out a portion of the judgement and said, "There were candidates who submitted blank answer sheets, yet they were selected".

Ágitated over Saini's statement, Hooda said: "If this is the case, as the Chief Minister is saying, I resign from membership of this House".

Hooda also read out the portions from the same judgement and asserted that "at no point, the High Court's judgement had said anything that raises questions on his government". But Saini said that he "can get this inquired

Speaker Harvinder Kalyan said that the Government had already given its reply on the matter. At this point, Hooda stood up and started reading out certain portions of the High Court's judgement. He claimed that the government was wrongly interpreting the portions of the Yesterday too, there were arguments on the issue of inspectors' recruitment. The Court had passed some remarks. The petitioner had alleged that two persons -Ariun Rathi and Deepak – did not even take a written examination. They submitted blank answer sheets. Yet, they were selected," Saini said.

To which Hooda said: "You cannot discuss the court's judgement in the House. There are several Court decisions involving you too. Also, the Supreme Court is above the High Court. If this is the case, then I shall resign from this House".

Saini said that the State Government will seek Advocate-General's opinion regarding the High Court's decision concerning the recruitment of 20 Inspector posts in the Haryana Police during the Congress tenure. He said that if the Haryana Staff Selection Commission (HSSC) can initiate an investigation into the matter necessary services immediately He informed the House that in 2011, a petition was filed in the High Court by an individual, alleging irregularities in the recruitment process for 20 posts of Inspectors in Haryana Police conducted by the HSSC in 2008. The petitioner claimed that despite securing the highest marks in the written examination, insufficient marks were awarded in interview. In addition, the petitioner alleged that two of the selected candidates had not even appeared for the written examination. The court ruled that if the petitioner is not satisfied with this decision, then it is his legal right to appeal.

Saini informed that the Court had formed a threemember committee to investigate the petitioner's allegations. In its report, on this allegation of impersonation, the HSSC stated that the attendance sheet of the written examination is no longer available. Therefore, to investigate this, a forensic match of handwriting recorded in the answer sheet should be done by a specialized agency by taking a sample of HARYANA BUDGET SESSION the handwriting of both the selected candidates. On this, the court in its order said that it could not perform the role of an investigative agency, but the HSSC has the freedom to get the facts investigated.

The Chief Minister also highlighted that during the Congress tenure, the recruitment process for government jobs was flawed. At that time, qualified youth were exploited, and many deserving candidates, especially from economically disadvantaged backgrounds, could not think to get a government job.

VIDHAN SABHA EXPRESSES HAPPINESS AT SAFE RETURN OF NASA ASTRONAUTS

Haryana Vidhan Sabha, on the eighth day of the Budget session, expressed happiness at the safe return of NASA astronauts — including Indian-origin Sunita Williams and her fellow Crew-9 members — to Earth after a prolonged mission to the International Space Station.

BJP leader and Transport Minister Anil Vij moved a resolution saying that Williams and her fellow Crew-9 members had returned to Earth after a prolonged mission and the Assembly should express its happiness over

Speaker Harvinder Kalyan, expressing his support for the resolution, assured that best wishes and congratulations from the Haryana Assembly would be conveyed to Sunita Williams and her entire team.

NASA astronauts Williams, Nick Hague and Butch Wilmore, and Roscosmos cosmonaut Aleksandr Gorbunov, returned to Earth early Wednesday onboard SpaceX's Dragon spacecraft, which splashed down in the sea off the coast of Tallahassee, Florida.

RS 60,060 CR AGRI LOAN LYING OUTSTANDING TOWARDS 27L FARMERS

Haryana Assembly was informed that the amount of agriculture loan lying outstanding towards more than 27 lakh farmers in the state stood at Rs 60,060 crore. Raising the matter during Question Hour, Indian

Will seek AG's opinion regarding through a specialized agency, in compliance with the National Lok Dal MLA Aditya Devi Lal said: "Is there ers of the state at present? If so, please provide the extent of the total outstanding amount together with the number of farmers and district-wise details." In response, Cooperation Minister Arvind Sharma informed the House that the "amount of agriculture loan outstanding as of December 31, 2024, was Rs 60,060 crore against 27,71,676 farmers". Among the districts, outstanding loan in Sirsa was Rs 6,102 crore against 2,07,517 farmers, while in Hisar it was Rs 5,873 against 2,68,227 farmers, Sharma said. However, in the urbanized districts such as Gurugram and Faridabad, the outstanding amount stood at Rs 842 crore and Rs 533 crore, respectively, he added.

RS 8K/ACRE INCENTIVE FOR ADOPTING ALTERNATIVE CROPS IN PLACE OF PADDY

Chief Minister Saini, replying to a query regarding crop loans for farmers, said that under the 'Mera Pani Meri Virasat' scheme, farmers will now receive an incentive of Rs 8,000 per acre for switching from paddy to alternative crops — an increase from the previous Rs 7,000 per acre. In addition, crop loans are being provided to farmers through cooperative banks at a zero percent interest rate. Saini informed the House that crop loans are given to farmers through Harco Bank and other cooperative banks at an interest rate of seven percent. However, Haryana Government bears four percent of the interest, while the Centre covers three percent.

STATE'S ALL ROADS TO BE RENOVATED IN 6 MONTHS

In response to a question regarding the repair of roads, Saini announced that all the roads in the state will be renovated in the coming six months. He assured that no damaged road will remain in the state in the next six months, and the State Government will renovate all the roads to provide quality infrastructure to the citizens and further accelerate the pace of development.

BILL TO CURB ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES OF TRAVEL AGENTS

Haryana Government has introduced 'The Haryana Registration and Regulation of Travel Agents Bill, 2025' in the state assembly aimed at curbing activities of unscrupulous travel agents and safeguard the interests of residents. The development comes amid the US deportation of illegal Indian immigrants, many of them from Punjab and Haryana, who entered America through "donkey route" — an illegal and risky pathway used by travel agents to send people abroad.

The Government also tabled 'The Haryana Prevention of Public Gambling Bill, 2025' that proposes a jail term of up to five years for those indulging in match fixing or spot fixing in sports. Saini, who also holds the Home portfolio, tabled the Bill that provides for the prevention and punishment for those indulging in public gambling, keeping of common gambling house, betting in sports or elections, match fixing or spot fixing in sports.

Both the Bills, moved by Chief Minister Saini, will likely be taken up for discussion in the ongoing bud-

The quicksand of communalism

Clashes have erupted over Aurangzeb's tomb, exposing the deep historical roots that gnaw away at the socio-cultural fabric of our nation

n India, the spectre of communalism rears its ugly head every once in a while, often serving as a convenient political tool for those ascend-■ ing the stairway to power. Grievances left behind as relics of history in a country as religiously diverse as India are manipulated for political gains to fuel unrest and keep the communal cauldron burning. Maharashtra has often been the epicentre of such clashes, the recent one adding yet another bleak chapter to a deeply riven society. The past few days have witnessed a surge of violence as Hindu nationalist groups demanded the removal of Mughal emperor Aurangzeb's tomb, reigniting age-old conflicts. The ensuing agitation led to arson, stone-pelting, and clashes in Nagpur, forcing authorities to impose a curfew. However, to limit introspection on an issue so raw to the bone to Maharashtra alone would indeed be a fatal mistake, both for our political classes and the masses. The latest incident displays how historical narratives can be weaponised to serve regional political aspirations, and expose an already vulnerable society to centuries of wrongs committed in the name of religion.

Aurangzeb, the sixth Mughal emperor, remains a divisive figure in Indian history. His reign was marked not only by brutal territorial expansions but also by policies that amounted to a brazenly oppressive attitude toward his Hindu subjects. He imposed a crushing jizya tax on non-Muslims, dictated temple demolitions through royal firmans, and mercilessly butchered Maratha ruler Chhatrapati Sambhaji Maharaj, silencing every voice raised against him and decapitating every hand that rebelled against his atrocities. Aurangzeb invoked the Mughal Empire's ulema to sentence Sambhail to death for his apparent acts of atrocities on Muslims. In essence, the foreign invader, much like his British successors, wanted to leave behind a legacy that disinherited India's indigenous inhabitants. Admittedly, he employed Hindus in high administrative positions, patronised some temples, and engaged in diplomatic relations beyond religious boundaries. However, it is his relentless religious persecution of Hindus that fuels what is unfolding in Maharashtra today.

Here, it would be prudent to bear in mind that howsoever burdened by historical injustice one may be, violence by any community must be condemned and controlled. The recent violence in Maharashtra is to be seen as much in the present context as in the past. Hindu right-wing groups have long called for the removal of Aurangzeb's tomb, arguing it stands as a symbol of historical oppression. A contemporary Indian film, Chhaava, portraying the brutal torture of Sambhaji by Aurangzeb, is now been cited by some analysts as the reason behind the reignited anger against the Mughal emperor. However, this is too facetious a premise to debate upon a historical wound still dangerously raw. The truth is that the current controversy intensified after statements by politicians, particularly Samajwadi Party MLA Abu Azmi's remarks, on Aurangzeb's rule, which were seen as attempts to whitewash a bloodied history, an argument his party members were quick to distance themselves from. The question of the hour is how to put this monster to rest. Indeed, educating people about the nuances of history can prevent the glorification or demonisation of historical figures. But that is easier said than done. The problem is that nobody wants to read history, let alone understand it, yet everyone remains opinionated. Aurangzeb was neither evil nor benevolent - his autocratic reign and religious chauvinism must be studied in the context of his times, the fact that he was last in the line of a foreign dynasty that had ruled India for centuries with an iron hand. For one, political leaders and groups would do well to desist from exploiting historical grievances for limited gains. Strict action should be taken against those inciting communal hatred.

Weathering the storm of US trade winds

The global economy is at a crossroads as the US introduces a disruptive reciprocal tariff model, challenging the foundation of global trade. This shift threatens developing nations, including India, by undermining WTO principles

he world is facing an uncertain and challenging time. The reciprocal tariff model introduced by the new Trump administration's economic policies has disrupted the seamless flow of global trade and commerce. This poses a significant economic challenge for developing nations, as it undermines the World Trade Organization (WTO) model, which upholds the principle of higher tariffs imposed by developing nations on imports from developed nations to protect their domestic

The immediate consequences include the crippling of these industries, creating an unequal playing field. Rising unemployment and a slowdown in export-driven growth appear inevitable. India is not immune to this trade war, where global cooperation is being overshadowed by forced trade negotiations favoring the stronger party. A new world order is taking shape, and India must navigate this landscape not cautiously, but courageously.

Between April 2024 and November 2024, India, the second-largest trading partner of the US, exported goods worth USD 52.89 Billion while importing USD 29.63 Billion, resulting in a trade surplus of USD 23.26 Billion in India's favor. This trade imbalance is at the heart of the issue. India's key exports include diamonds, medical appliances and accessories, jewelry, agricultural products, refined petroleum, rice, textiles and apparel, automotive components, chemicals and petrochemicals, and machinery. Meanwhile, India's imports from the US primarily consist of mineral fuels and oils, pearls, precious and semi-precious stones, nuclear reactors, boilers, machinery, electrical equipment, crude petroleum, petroleum products, electronic components, and

A closer look at these product categories reveals that India has room to further expand its market share in these sectors by enhancing cost efficiencies and quality standards. In contrast, the US has limited options for increasing its exports to India, apart from pushing crude oil and defense products-both heavily supported by the US government. This is due to the cost and consumption limitations of US goods in the Indian market. Consequently, the US, in its bid to reduce the trade deficit, will likely attempt to penetrate new segments currently dominated by Indian domestic industries, such as automobiles.

This is not just a trade negotiation, it is a full-fledged trade war aimed at capturing market share with little regard for global cooperation or diplomatic considerations. The reciprocal tariff strategy is a veiled attempt to lower tariffs and open new markets for the US. ibrating trade agreements and calculating compensation. What the US is currently pro-

The true agenda is now apparent.

The concept of reciprocal tariffs, introduced under the Trump administration's "Fair and Reciprocal Plan," seeks to impose high import duties on trade partners in an effort to reduce trade deficits. The administration argues that exporting countries impose high tariffs on US products. However, this is not a product-to-product reciprocity but a nationto-nation policy. The term "reciprocal" itself is misleading, as there is no defined framework governing its application. Instead, it grants the IS government the flexibility to impose tariffs arbitrarily, leaving exporting countries uessing about their potential impact and forcing them to react after the tariffs are already in place. In a world marked by unequal wealth distribution, economic development, and technological progress, these tariffs are more punitive than reciprocal, disproportionately arming developing nations.

In international trade, the true meaning of reciprocal tariffs, as governed by the WTO, differs significantly from what the US administration is advocating. Under Article 22.4 of the WTO's Dispute Settlement Understanding, reciprocity serves as the basis for tariff retaliation when a country fails to comply with a WTO ruling. Additionally, Article XXVIII of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) establishes legal guidelines for recalibrating trade agreements and calculating moting deviates from these principles.

As global trade policies continue to be shaped by dominant economies, the US's reciprocal tariff strategy is expected to cause significant disruptions until countermeasures emerge to stabilise the situation. However, the key question remains: Will this retaliatory tariff policy achieve its intended goal for the US?

The likelihood is low. A closer analysis reveals that the US trade-to-GDP ratio stands at just 26.9 per cent, compared to 38.4 per cent for China, 46.8 per cent for Japan, and 50 per cent for India. Moreover, US import intensity is nearly three times higher than its export intensity. The real issue behind the US trade deficit is not high foreign tariffs but the poor performance of US merchandise trade, which accounts for only 8.3 per cent of global exports. In contrast, the US enjoys a USD 200 Billion trade surplus in the services sector, making it the global leader in both imports and exports of services. The primary constraints on US merchandise exports stem from supply-side limitations and a failure to achieve economies of scale, not unfair tariff structures. Given the strong global demand for US service exports, why should the US merchandise trade struggle to com-

With a population of 1.4 Billion, India must support its citizens through various welfare programs funded by budgetary allocations. These expenditures rely heavily on trade and commerce, with export-driven industries playing a crucial role. India's ability to produce low-cost goods sustains its economy and provides employment to millions. Protecting these industries is imperative.

Allowing an influx of US products into new market segments could disrupt domestic industries in the short term and erode supply chains in the long run if US manufacturers fail to achieve economies of scale in affordable segments. While India can afford to reduce its diamond exports to the US, it canrisk destabilising domestic industries.

It is time for India to adhere strictly to WTO guidelines and advocate for a globally accepted trade policy to counter coercive trade deficit measures. A production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme to boost domestic industries, along with stronger ties with alternative trading partners, can help mitigate the impact of reciprocal tariffs. India must remain vigilantthis phase is temporary, but its long-term economic stability depends on strategic resilience.

A new India: A journey through the decades

Jpinion

was recently invited to participate in a panel discussion during which the young moderator posed a query — what did I think of a New India? This was an interesting subject that made me reflect.

Like most around me, I too had been engrossed in leading a routine life till about a decade back. I would also often crib about a stagnant life. It was as I turned 60 that I started indulging in selfreflections about the way my life had evolved each decade

The first decade saw our family living a more frugal life. We acquired a radio set six years after my birth and a refrigerator two years later. Even though the voltage fluctuated and light was often dim at night, we had electricity at home. Our homes had fans.

The second decade witnessed a carefree me, not much stressed about what I would do after school or college. The government had invested in the creation of innumerable public sector undertakings. There were enough jobs. We also graduated to having desert coolers at home.

The mid-third decade saw me buckling down to the onerous professional responsibilities and simultaneously getting used to married life and raising a family. Though, to be fair, it was my wife who was at home to bring up our two daughters. I spent more time in the ositions in the railways sometime towards the end of my career. My promotions ensured that I had an air-conditioned cabin in office and I was able travel in the upper first class airconditioned coach for office tours. But we were still happy with fans and desert coolers The beginning of the fourth decade saw me travelling for a 12-week official training to Japan. This was my first overseas trip. The money that I saved from the allowance ensured that I was able to take my family for a holiday to Goa by flights. We stayed in resorts, inexpensive, but better than the official guest houses that I had been exposed to so far. I went for my next overseas official trip to Europe. I also opted to move to Delhi in a railway public sector undertaking. It was towards the end of this decade that I came into my own professionally. I travelled extensively within India and outside

I could save enough to buy one second-hand air conditioner. We slept in the single room, but it felt heavenly in the sweltering summers of north India. A home loan from the department on easier terms also ensured that we could afford to buy a decent sized house in an upcoming small-town locality.

The beginning of the 21st century was also the start of railway control rooms to ensure smooth run- my fifth decade. The government had hiked salaries ning of trains. My young age and diligence though successive pay commissions. We no longer lived made me dream about one of the topmost hand to mouth. We could spend lavishly by our middleclass standards and still be left with a saving. We could afford decent education for our daughters. We could encourage them to fly and pursue their dreams. I could afford to buy air-conditioners for all the rooms in our house. I could take my family on annual vacation by flights and stay in hotels or resorts. Professionally too, government's continued investments in infrastructure saw me busier than ever as we won contracts after contracts. The end of this decade saw me quitting the government to join the private sector. This too was a new experience. The salary I took home far exceeded the wildest imagination and gave me financial security. I happily shifted to my own apartment in a condominium complex. I could afford more gadgets at home. I had the financial safety net to quit working and indulge in creative passions through writing. Life has changed, and continues to get better, for many people, be it the middle-class or the daily service providers. We do not realise it from one day to the next. If we look back each decade, or in slices of five years, or even from year to year, it has been a new India. It is more than a slogan. It is a continuous process. And, this is how it will be — for us and the next generations.

Silver prices goes over the top

Madam —Silver, once known as the "poor man's gold", is slipping out of the reach of the very people who cherished it the most. With prices soaring to ₹1,04,000 per kilogram, what was once an affordable metal for savings, traditions, and investment has now become a luxury. The middle-class Indian, who once celebrated festivals by buying silver coins, now finds it nearly impossible to do so. The tradition of gifting silver jewellery and utensils at weddings is weakening, and households that once prided themselves on their silverware are now struggling to keep up.

The metal that symbolised security and tradition is fast becoming a privilege of the wealthy. The rise in silver prices is not an accident, it is a direct result of global economic shifts and market manipulations.

The strengthening of the US dollar, increased industrial demand, and government policies are driving prices upward. Silver is no longer just a household commodity - it has become a critical component in industries such as electronics, solar energy, and medical devices. The increasing demand from these sectors has led to large-scale hoarding by big investors, leaving the common man out of the equation.

instead Indian government, providing relief, has raised import duties, further pushing silver beyond the reach of ordinary citizens.

Education is a shambles

Madam—The article 'Transforming education' (March 19) presents good points to ponder over. Every change brought in education has added to the process of commodifying education instead of improving the quality of learning process. The very fact that the government is pushed to the corner of introducing an internship scheme incentivising the youth, who are already holding a certificate or diploma or degree, to be trained again and the industries offering the training depicts the status of education that prevails in the Frantic efforts are on to give an ideological quote to education instead of inculcating the scientific temper as directed by the constitution.

Government is shirking its responsibility of providing meaningful education and left it to the private players for whom education is a mere commodity to mint profits than a process of learning. It does not equip them with at least skills to be employable. We have only institutions to produce students who carry marks for their memorising ability and nothing more. The government is happy with growing number of the unemployed as it helps the employers to pay less and extract more labour. The callousness of the government could be better understood from offering the title of University of excellence while inaugurating the university itself.

Nagpur riots: A symptom of deeper issues

Madam —This is in response to the news report titled "Riots sets Nagpur ablaze" (March 19). Perhaps Nagpur forms the latest specimen reflecting the "spirit" and "unity" of "Rising India"! On the one hand environment will get shattered on the zealous shout of "vikas", on the other the society would be continuously dragged towards the past (history/epic/mythology) spanning several centuries with stories getting webbed one after another in the name of Ram Krishna Babur Aurangzeb and who not! And wherever their exist even an iota of fact, hatred gets raised without going into the social context of the concerned period (16th-17th century) and also ignoring the ultimate reality that history cannot be rewinded!

What about the Maratha Bargis who used to ransack villages after villages in Bengal in the 18th century killing innocent helpless unarmed persons and looting resources! Do the "nationalists", seething in "anger" in Maharashtra and baying for the interred bones of the "outsider" Mughal emperor (passing away more than 300 years ago), have any answer to such plunder of Bengal and Bengalis by the "insider' Maratha Bargis!

It will be better if the sleeping dogs are allowed to lie, else lot of skeletons are bound to tumble out from the cupboard of "nationalists" hailing from "proud" Hindutva vintage!

BAIL, NOT JAIL: SUPREME COURT MOOTS FOR REASONABLE JUSTICE

upreme Court (SC) had again exposed its anguish on denial of bail in 'not very serious cases despite the completion of probe and further said a democratic country must not function like a police state where law enforcement agencies exercised arbitrary powers to detain individuals without genuine necessity and such type of actions of the police should be brought to the notice of public so that they may be discouraged to follow such undemocratic attitude which downgrade the democratic values of the country.

The SC further said "do not burden top court "bail matters in cases triable by magistrates are being brought before us because people are not getting bail when they should and moreover "It is shocking that the Supreme Court is adjudicating bail pleas in cases that should be disposed of at the trial court level and the system is being burdened unnecessarily "the Supreme Court also noted that two decades ago, bail pleas in smaller cases rarely reached high courts, let alone the

And it is unfortunate that bail matters in cases triable by magistrates are being brought before the Supreme Court and we are sorry to say that litigants are approaching the highest court whereas such cases should had been easily disposed of at the lower level and also said that granting bail to a cheating case accused who remained in custody for more than two years and it shows that natural justice is being denied to an accused. Here in this case both the trial court and the Gujarat High Court had rejected his bail plea, despite the fact that the chargesheet had already been filed after completion of the probe.

The top court has been repeatedly asking trial courts and high courts to be liberal in granting bail, particularly in not so serious cases.

Mid-level officers: The backbone of India's defence

India's evolving security landscape demands proactive empowerment of mid-level tactical communication and engineering officers. These officers are the operational backbone and technological brain of India's modern military, translating national defence strategies into battlefield readiness ndia's defence capability and strategic dominance in modern warfare are not solely dependent on high-ranking commanders or frontline soldiers. A critical yet often underappreciated element lies in the mid-level officers, tactical communication specialists, and engineering officers who serve as the vital link between strategic planning and operational execution. Their expertise ensures that India's military maintains technological superiority, robust battlefield communication, and seamless multi-domain operations. This analysis delves into their indispensable contributions across the Army, Navy, and Air Force, emphasising their roles in engineering innovation, cyber and electronic warfare (EW), and actionable policy measures needed to strengthen and empower them.

Mid-level officers-including majors, colonels, wing commanders, group captains, commanders, and technical or engineering specialists-are the core leadership managing battlefield dynamics. They oversee unit command, tactical communications, and the integration of cutting-edge technologies into operations. Despite being pivotal in India's AI-driven, networkcentric warfare structure, their contributions are often overshadowed by senior leadership. Recognising and institutionalising their roles is vital to ensuring success in modern combat.

Indian Army

The Corps of Signals, led by mid-level officers, enables real-time, encrypted communication, battlefield networking, and electronic warfare capabilities.

Their responsibilities include securing tactical communication during high-intensity and joint operations, integrating EW and cybersecurity measures, and managing communication networks within Integrated Battle Groups (IBGs). The organisational structure comprises signal companies led by majors and signal regiments commanded by Colonels, with specialised trades such as Operator Radio and Line (ORL) and Technician Electronics and Systems (TES).

Engineering officers play a crucial role in combat engineering, rapid construction of strategic infrastructure, and executing counter-mobility tactics. They deploy AIbased Battlefield Surveillance Systems (BSS) and robotics to enhance warfare efficiency.

A notable example is the India-China standoff (2020-21), where Signals Officers maintained encrypted communications in high-altitude conflict zones while engineering officers constructed operational infrastructure like bridges and logistics hubs under extreme conditions

Indian Air Force

Force (IAF) are integral to maintaining a state-of-theart, in-house communication network. These skilled

The communication engineers of the Indian Air professionals ensure seamless, secure, and resilient connectivity by leveraging advanced technologies such as Software-Defined Networking (SDN) and 5G. Their expertise supports real-time situational awareness, mission-critical data exchange, and robust cybersecurity, enabling uninterrupted operations in high-intensity scenarios. By continuously adapting to evolving technologies and threats, IAF communication engineers strengthen air defence operations, enhance operational readiness, and uphold national security while setting new standards in military-grade communication technology. Mid-level IAF communication officers ensure uninterrupted and secure

NISHAKANT OJHA communication for air defence and combat operations. They manage Air Defence Control Units (including S-400, Akash, and SPYDER systems), UAV and satellite networks, and cyber defences for air assets.

IAF engineers specialising in Aeronautical, Electronics, and Mechanical fields oversee aircraft readiness, system maintenance, and the integration of missile systems, radars, and EW platforms. Their expertise has been crucial in indigenous system development, such as the LCA Tejas and AMCA. During the Balakot Airstrike (2019), Communication Officers ensured real-time, encrypted communication for operational secrecy, while engineers guaranteed the operational readiness of Mirage-2000 aircraft, including EW systems and radar evasion measures

IAF vs Chinese PLAAF mid-level

A comparison between India's IAF and China's PLAAF reveals key operational differences. Indian mid-level officers, including Squadron Leaders and Wing Commanders, are empowered for independent decision-making and multi-platform management. In contrast, Chinese officers operate under a centralised command model, limiting battlefield initiative. Reports from RAND Corporation and the Pentagon (2020-22) highlight that PLAAF officers face systemic challenges in joint operations and adaptive warfare. In contrast, Indian officers, seasoned through real combat experiences, lead the integration of advanced indigenous and Western technologies, whereas PLAAF officers primarily operate evolving domestic platforms with less proven combat capability.

Indian Navy

Naval communication officers manage secure ship-to-ship and ship-to-shore communication, Blue Water Communication Systems (BWCS) for longrange coordination, and encrypted submarine and stealth platform communications.

Naval engineers oversee the maintenance and readiness of warships, submarines, and aircraft Eastern and West Asian countries. Views expressed are personal carriers. They also integrate sophisticated weapons such as BrahMos missiles and torpedoes while managing stealth and radar-evading systems. A case in point is the anti-piracy operations in the Gulf of Aden, where communication officers coordinated multi-national, encrypted communication while engineers maintained operational readiness of naval platforms throughout extended deployments.

Mid-level officers play a pivotal role in coordinating tri-service communication and operational integration, ensuring seamless joint missions across land, air, and sea. Mid-level officers are at the frontline of cyber and EW defence.

Communication officers ensure robust cybersecurity frameworks, while engineers lead the design and operation of AI-based EW platforms and cyberresilient technologies. These officers spearhead the induction and field application of indigenous defence systems like BrahMos, Akash, and AI-driven surveillance. They work closely with DRDO, BEL, and private defence innovators to enhance technological self-reliance.

Empowering India's defence

To strengthen mid-level officers, the government should implement AI, Cyber, EW, and space warfare training, conduct integrated tactical communication-engineering exercises, and facilitate global exposure through collaborations with allies like the US, France, and Israel.

National awards should be introduced to recognise excellence in tactical communications and engineering. Defence technology fellowships should be launched for innovation leaders in these domains. Mid-level officers should have representation in defence technology boards and policy-making bodies to ensure that operational insights shape defence strategies. Promotions should be fasttracked for excellence in emerging tech domains like EW, AI, and Cyber.

Additionally, foreign exchange programs and specialised leadership incentives should be introduced. Collaboration with DRDO, clean startups, and established industries should be strengthened. Mid-level officers should play an active role in innovation ecosystems like iDEX to foster indigenous technological advancements.

Conclusion

India's evolving security landscape demands proactive empowerment of mid-level Tactical Communication and Engineering Officers. These officers are the operational backbone and technological brain of India's modern military, translating national defence strategies into battlefield readiness.

India's green growth: Balancing carbon sequestration with development

s the world grapples with the escalating impacts of climate change, tree plantation and carbon sequestration have emerged as indispensable tools in promoting environmental sustainability.

For India, an emerging global economy with a significant reliance on carbon-intensive industries, transitioning to greener practices is not just an option-it is an imperative.

India's current forest and tree cover stands at 25.17 per cent, falling significantly short of the 33 per cent target set by the National Forest Policy of 1988. Bridging this gap is essential to counter the effects of deforestation, urban expansion, and surging greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions. Tree plantations serve as natural carbon sinks, capturing and storing atmospheric carbon dioxide, which is crucial in mitigating the impacts of global warming.

Recent initiatives, including the National Agroforestry Policy of 2014 and the Trees Outside Forests in India (TOFI) program, have sought to encourage private landowners, farmers, and industries to actively participate in plantation activities.

These efforts aim to reduce dependency on natural forests, address ecological degradation, and create employment opportunities in rural areas. By integrating agroforestry with tree-based enterprises, India can ensure that environmental restoration goes hand in hand with sustainable livelihoods.

Global pressure on Indian industries

Indian industries are increasingly feeling the heat of stringent global carbon footprint regulations. The European Union's Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM), set to take effect in 2026, will impose tariffs on carbonintensive imports such as steel, cement, and chemicals. In 2023, trade between India and the EU reached 2124 Billion, making the potential impact of these tariffs on Indian exports substantial.

To adapt, industries are looking toward carbon-offset projects, including large-scale tree plantations, as a viable solution. Investments in such initiatives not only help companies align with international sustainability benchmarks but also provide opportunities to secure carbon credits under globally recognised schemes like the Verified Carbon Standard (VCS) or the Clean Development Mechanism (CDM). These credits can offset industrial emissions, enabling businesses to comply with international regulations while maintaining their competitiveness

Economic and social advantages

Beyond their environmental benefits, tree plantations significantly contribute to economic and social development. Agroforestry, in particular, creates opportunities for farmers and marginalised communities by offering income from multipurpose tree species that yield both ecological and economic returns. This dual approach addresses rural poverty while promoting environmental restoration.

Active community participation in plantation projects enhances their success and sustainability. Involving local stakeholders fosters a sense of ownership and ensures long-term viability. Training and capacity-building initiatives further empower communities with the knowledge and skills required to manage these projects effectively.

While tree plantations offer a promising path forward, several challenges remain. The rising cost of carbon credits poses a significant financial obstacle for industries. For instance, in 2023, carbon credit prices under the European Union Emissions Trading System (EU ETS) averaged ⊠83 per tonne of carbon dioxide, with projections suggesting a rise to $238 per tonne by 2050. For Indian businesses, investing in tree plantations presents a more cost-effective alternative to purchasing expensive credits from international markets. Îndia also needs a robust and transparent carbon trading policy to engage in global carbon markets effectively. Under Article 6 of the Paris Agreement, countries can trade carbon credits to meet their emission reduction goals. Establishing credible policies and governance mechanisms is critical for India to attract international investments and solidify its position in these markets.

Toward sustainable development

Strategic partnerships and innovative project designs offer a way to tackle the dual challenges of environmental degradation and industrial sustainability.

Collaborations between industries, government agencies, and local communities can lead to scalable plantation models that integrate agroforestry, address climate change, and enhance rural livelihoods.

As India strives to achieve its net-zero emissions target by 2050, tree plantation and carbon sequestration will play pivotal roles in bridging the gap between policy objectives and on-ground realities. These initiatives align economic growth with environmental stewardship, offering a roadmap for a greener future.

Tree plantations are no longer an optional solution but a necessity in combating climate change. They provide a scalable and impactful strategy to reduce carbon footprints while improving rural livelihoods. With tightening global regulations and the rising costs of inaction, Indian industries must embrace sustainable practices and invest in carbon offset projects.

By prioritising tree plantation and carbon sequestration, India can balance its industrial growth with ecological preservation, paving the way for a sustainable future that benefits both the economy and the environment. Integrating these initiatives into national policies and industry strategies will ensure that India remains a key player in the global fight against climate change.

Conclusion

India stands at a crucial juncture where economic growth and environmental responsibility must go hand in hand.

Tree plantations and carbon sequestration offer a viable path to achieving sustainability while ensuring industrial competitiveness in a carbonconscious global market. The nation's commitment to expanding forest cover, promoting agroforestry, and engaging in carbon trading mechanisms will determine its success in mitigating climate change and meeting international sustainability benchmarks.

Strategic investments in large-scale afforestation projects and partnerships between industries, policymakers, and local communities are essential for achieving meaningful progress. These initiatives not only enhance carbon capture but also create economic opportunities, particularly for

By integrating tree-based enterprises into national development strategies, India can harness the economic potential of sustainability while addressing pressing ecological concerns. As global climate regulations become increasingly stringent, Indian industries must proactively invest in carbon offset initiatives, including afforestation and reforestation programs.

Establishing a transparent and efficient carbon trading policy will further strengthen India's position in international markets.

The road ahead requires a multi-faceted approach that aligns industrial growth with environmental stewardship. By prioritising tree plantation and carbon sequestration, India can strike a balance between economic development and ecological preservation, ensuring a sustainable and resilient future for generations to

The confidence crisis holding back a talented team

RAVI VALLURI

♦ he South African cricket team, is blessed with expansive talent and are successful champions in the various formats of the game. However, for impenetrable reasons they are unable to deliver something startling during the ICC

Why does this happen? Marcus Garvey, a Jamaican entrepreneur and politician wrote, "If you have no confidence in self, you are twice defeated in the race of life."

Many years ago, in the Meiji era lived a wrestler known as the Great Waves, who possessed the uncanny ability to defeat even his teacher. However, in official tournaments, he was vanquished by opponents much inferior, which sullied his estimable reputation following every bout. There appeared to be a psychological problem.

To circumvent this unenviable state, he approached a Zen Master. The Master directed his new tutee to meditate in a Buddhist temple that night, which was located on the seashore and guided him to focus only on his breath and swallow even the greatest of waves that would arise from the depths of the sea. As night fell, there were high tides in the sea and the waves assumed gargantuan proportions and subsumed everything in its trajectory. Even the reclining Buddha was not spared and was inundated by the spectre that followed the path of the tidal waves. The waves had run amok, obliterating every object in the way.

But Great Waves, following the instructions of the Master, focused his attention on his breath and meditated passionately and with total concentration.

The next morning the Zen Master was a witness to both the destruction as well as the poise maintained by his stolid student. He merely said, "Upon conquering your wavering mind, be confident of sustained success in all the wrestling engagements and bouts."

To be confident, individuals, entrepreneurs, corporates, spiritual seekers, political leaders and parties, sportspersons and teams all need to metamorphose their thinking patterns from, "It is not possible," to a mental state of confidence that "It is very much within the realm of possibility."

The bedrock of success follows a pattern which is based on optimism, self-belief and self-motivation, leading to confidence. Talent and endurance alone are not adequate to ensure confidence and unalloyed successes. It is quite possible that these could be mere flashes in the pan. It is exigent upon an individual or an organisation to harness the trait of self-belief and self-confidence.

Paradoxically, while hard work alone does not boost confidence levels, it is impinging upon an individual not to resort to shortcuts, as deep within it leads to an inferiority complex and the person would not be technically sound to adapt or to take up chal-

The 3 Cs — Confidence, Credence and Conviction in a leader develops the personality to enhance latent potential, and to view muddled-up situations holistically.

Negative emotions like guilt, skepticism, being over critical of self and colleagues, self-pity, shame, lack of humility, idolising individuals without any concrete results, extreme laziness, a depressed state of mind, team members not trusting one another or excessive pride act as impediments in the progress of an individual or an organisation, consequently reducing the levels of confidence and

Buddha's prescription for such indolent individuals is to meditate on the purification of the mind, meditate on the impermanent nature of existence, meditate on the vast emptiness that surrounds us and simultaneously vow to develop self-esteem. It is universally agreed by sages, philosophers and psychologists that life is full of vicissitudes and filled with challenges. Optimism and self-confidence can be developed by practising breathing techniques like Sudarshan Kriya, practising pranayama, meditating and observing the self.

Conclusion

The South African cricket team's struggles in ICC tournaments may not stem from a lack of talent but from the absence of unwavering confidence. Just as Great Waves, the wrestler, needed to conquer his mind before achieving victory, teams and individuals must cultivate a deep-seated belief in their abilities. Confidence is not merely a byproduct of skill or endurance but a mental state shaped by optimism, self-motivation, and conviction. The 3 Cs—Confidence, Credence, and Conviction—enable leaders, athletes, and organisations to navigate challenges with clarity. Negative emotions like self-doubt, excessive pride, and lack of trust within a team can erode confidence, stalling success. Buddha's wisdom encourages individuals to purify the mind, embrace impermanence, and cultivate self-esteem.

For the South African team to break their ICC tournament jinx, they must transform their mindset from doubt to certainty, from hesitation to resilience. Meditation, breathing techniques, and selfawareness can help instill the mental fortitude needed to thrive under pressure. True champions are not just skilled but also possess unshakable confidence. With the right psychological approach, South Africa can harness its immense potential and turn promise into triumph on the world stage.

Everything around us is given by nature. Everything made by nature is very beautiful. Nature gives peace to man. We grow up in his lap. The beauty of nature fascinates everyone. Nature is our best friend. Benefits of Nature Nature provides us with all the natural resources. Nature always gives us something and never takes anything from us in return. It also provides us with pure water to drink, clean air to breathe, food to eat and other resources. Fruits and flowers make its beauty attractive. Nature is a source of inspiration for many writers and poets. After spending a little time with nature, man becomes anxiety-free and feels very good. Nature also keeps us healthy. It gives us many medicines with which it is possible to treat serious diseases. Nature gives us many benefits. Loss of nature by man-Man is harming nature every day for his personal benefit. He is forgetting that nature is priceless. He is reducing the beauty of nature and polluting it by cutting trees day by day. The problem of global warming etc. is increasing due to human activities. We are harming nature which is benefiting us all the time.

JFK assassination files released, sending history buffs hunting for new clues

Dallas (PTI): More than 63,000 pages of records related to the 1963 assassination of President John F Kennedy were released following an order by President Donald Trump, many without the redactions that had confounded historians for years and helped fuel conspiracy theories. The US National Archives and Records Administration posted to its website on Tuesday roughly 2,200 files containing the documents. The vast majority of the National Archives' collection of over 6 million pages of records, photographs, motion pictures, sound recordings and artifacts related to the assassination have previously been released. Larry J Sabato, director of the University of Virginia Centre for Politics and author of "The Kennedy Half-Century," said it will take time to fully review the records.

India focuses on core trade issues for faster FTA outcomes

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ New Delhi

ndia is focusing on core trade issues such as import duty and non-tariff barriers in the proposed Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) for faster outcomes from these negotiations, Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal said on Wednesday.

He said this approach is important as sometimes it takes "so much time" to conclude negotiations for these agreements and because of that businesses lose

"The experience has been that when we look at these free trade agreements, sometimes they are so much time taking that people lose interest, the businesses lose

"So we are also reviewing some of these issues in the department (of commerce) as well, as we are talking to our partners who are doing FTAs with us that why can't we first look at the core trade issues, and even if it is early tranche, or even if it is first phase of that comprehensive agreement, but let there be some kind of outcome which should come out of these negotiations. So we are taking that approach, that let us first focus on the core trade issues," Barthwal said at CII's India-LAC (Latin America and Caribbean) Business adding there is a target to double two-way Conclave here.

The secretary said that the core trade issues are tariffs, non-tariff barriers, SPS (sanitary and phyto-sanitary) barriers, and regulatory factors.

He added that there is a need for India and the LAC region to follow this approach.

"Look at the core trade issues with you, and start working in that direction. I think that is going to be a great way forward by which we will be able to achieve many things, and the businesses will be able to see that the outcomes are very, very fast," Barthwal said. He added that the multi-sectoral approach, which India is talking to the US with under the proposed bilateral trade agreement is also important.

In this approach, "we look at the sectors of mutual advantage, of mutual benefit", he

India is negotiating trade agreements with MERCOSUR (Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay, and Uruguay), Chile and Peru.

"We are also thinking of how to look at this (LAC) region in terms of looking the impediments, whether it is non-tariff barriers, whether it is tariff barriers or the regulations, to see that trade grows between these two regions," he said, commerce from USD 50 Billion to USD 100 Billion in the coming years.

The secretary said that huge potential is there to boost trade between the two

LAC region imports are at USD 1.8 Trillion and exports of goods and services are around USD 1.8 Billion.

He also said that countries will have to cut down protectionism to increase trade because that is the need of the nations.

You cannot grow your GDPs, unless and until the trade also grows...we are embarking upon our trade promotion mission, which would be a kind of umbrella, a kind of scheme, where we look at how to take our trade further. "So trade is going to be an engine of growth, not only for that region, but also for India and that is the path which we will be taking forward," Barthwal said.

He added that sectors where cooperation can be increased included automobile, medical devices and pharmaceuticals. "So can we look at the automobile sector, in a manner in which there are gains to both the regions. Similarly, the pharmaceutical sector, again, India has developed that ability of focusing on generic drugs, which can provide affordable medicines," he said.

Government recommends 12 per cent safeguard duty on certain steel imports

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ New Delhi

he commerce ministry's investigation arm DGTR has recommended imposition of a 12 per cent provisional safeguard duty for 200 days on certain steel products with an aim to protect domestic players from surge in

Last year in December, the Directorate General of Trade Remedies (DGTR) started the investigation into the sudden surge in imports of 'Non-Alloy and Alloy Steel Flat Products', used in various industries, including fabrication, pipe making, construction, capital goods, auto, tractors, bicycles and electrical panels.

The investigations were conducted following a complaint from the Indian Steel Association on behalf of its members including ArcelorMittal Nippon Steel India, AMNS Khopoli, JSW Steel, JSW Steel Coated Products, Bhushan Power and Steel, Jindal Steel and Power and Steel Authority of India Limited.

The directorate in its probe has preliminarily found that there is a recent, sudden, sharp and significant increase in the imports of these products into India, causing and threatening to cause serious injury to the domestic industry/producers.

The directorate has said in a notification dated March 18 that there exist critical circumstances, where any delay in application of provisional safeguard measures would cause damage which would be difficult to repair.

There is a necessity for immediate application of provisional safeguard measures.

"The authority recommends imposition of provisional Safeguard Duty at the rate of 12 per cent ad valorem for 200 days pending final determination on imports of the product under consideration," the DGTR has said in a notifica-

The finance ministry will take the final decision to impose the duty.

According to the industry, the existence of significant excess capacity far exceeding domestic consumption in China, Japan and South Korea have arisen due to slowing demand in those countries.

Import of these products increased from 2.293 Million tonnes during 2021-22 to 6.612 Million tonnes during the period of investigation (October 2023 to September 2024, and the three preceding fiscal years - 2021-24).

The imports have increased from countries including China, Japan, Korea and Vietnam.

The notification added that the objective of the duty is to protect the Indian domestic industry against the surge of

While some big domestic steel makers are advocating for imposition of the duty, the user industry is strongly against it as the duty would push raw material prices, impacting their competitiveness. Domestic steel players have raised concerns over increasing imports of steel from nations like China. However, MSME exporters from the engineering sector have stated that any move to impose additional duties on steel imports would make domestic products uncompetitive and impact the country's outbound shipments from the sector.

Hand Tool Association Chairman S C Ralhan said that the imposition of the duty would hurt exports from India.

"It will be very damaging for MSME exporters and manufacturers as the duty will increase prices of steel which is a key raw material for our industry. It will make exporters uncompetitive in global markets," Ralhan said.

Safeguard measures in the form of duty or quantitative restrictions are trade remedies available to the World Trade Organisation member-countries.

They are imposed to provide a levelplaying field to domestic players in case of sudden and significant increase in imports of a product.

Telangana presents ₹3.05 Lakh Crore Budget for 2025-26

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Hyderabad

The Congress government in Telangana on Wednesday presented a budget of nearly ₹3.05 Lakh Crore for 2025-26, with over ₹56,000 Crore for the implementation of the party's 'six poll guarantees', while expecting to raise ₹64,000 Crore through open market loans.

The budget estimates revenue expenditure of ₹2.27 Lakh Crore and capital expenditure of ₹36,504 Crore, said Deputy Chief Minister Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka, who tabled the financial document in the state Assembly. "For the fiscal year 2025-26, I am proposing a total expenditure of ₹3,04,965 Crore, with revenue expenditure of ₹2,26,982 Crore and capital expenditure of ₹36,504 Crore," he said, describing it as a "perfect balance between welfare and development".

The 'six poll guarantees' of the Congress government include ₹ 2,500 per month, gas cylinder for ₹500 and free travel in staterun RTC buses under 'Mahalakshmi' scheme meant for women, ₹15,000 per acre for farmers and tenant farmers under 'Rvthu Bharosa'. As many as 200 units of free electricity for all households under 'Gruha Jyothi', house site and rupees five lakh for people not owning a house under the 'Indiramma Indlu', rupees five lakh for students under 'Yuva Vikasam' and social security pension of ₹4,000 monthly as per 'Cheyutha' scheme are the rest.

The state government has proposed an allocation of ₹24,439 Crore for the Agriculture Department, including towards the Rythu Bharosa Scheme, under which each farmer receives ₹12,000 per acre annually as investment support and towards the Rythu Bharosa Scheme, under ₹23,108 Crore. Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes Welfare will get ₹40,232 Crore and ₹17,169 Crore respectively.

The state's outstanding liabilities stood at over ₹4.51 Lakh Crore (FRBM loans) during 2024-25 (revised estimates) and it is expected to go over ₹5 Lakh Crore next fiscal

In 2024-25, total outstanding liabilities (FRBM Loans) of the state were budgeted at 27.38 per cent of GSDP. The revised estimates indicate that the outstanding liabilities will be contained at 27.98 per cent

To address the issue of off-budget borrowings, the state is actively negotiating with financial institutions to lower borrowing costs and extend the repayment periods associated with these borrowings, the Budget document said, adding that the guarantees will be extended to only those Public Sector Undertakings which have sufficient cash flows of their own to service the debt.

"Most of the borrowings of the government are being utilised for capital expenditure. This will result in income generating assets and more income to people," it said. Expecting that the growth momentum will pick up further, own tax revenue in 2025-26 is budgeted at ₹1,45,420 Crore as compared with the revised estimates of ₹1,38,181 Crore in 2024-25. # Let us secure farmers' future through reform and unity t's time to end the agitation. Let's Focus on Real Solutions for Indian ▲ Farmers.Indian agriculture stands at a defining moment. The image of a farmer sowing seeds in the fertile fields of Punjab or harvesting crops in the sun-drenched plains of Maharashtra reflects the soul of the nation. Over the past decade, India's farmers have seen unprecedented support and transformation under the visionary leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. From the sunburnt fields of Rajasthan to the fertile plains of Uttar Pradesh, farmers today stand more empowered, more secure, and more hopeful than ever before. Prime Minister Modi's unwavering commitment to transforming Indian agriculture has not only revitalised rural livelihoods but also restored the dignity and strength of India's farmers. The rollout of direct financial assistance, improved irrigation, access to credit, and strategic market reforms have given farmers a new lease on life. Yet, at a time when Indian agriculture is poised for a golden era, the misguided agitation led by the Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) threatens to derail this hard-earned progress.

As a Founder Member of Rashtriva Kisan Mahasangha (RKM), I have witnessed firsthand how Indian farmers, fragmented by geography and economic disparity, came together under a single banner. The formation of the Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) was a historic moment for India's agrarian community a united front aimed at protecting farmers' interests and ensuring that their voices were heard at the highest levels of government. The SKM gave farmers a platform, a collective strength that made the government sit up and listen. However, the current agitation stands in stark contrast to that spirit of unity and purpose. It has been hijacked by political forces that seek to exploit farmers' grievances for electoral gain, diverting attention from the real issues facing Indian agriculture. Under Prime Minister Modi's leadership, Indian agriculture has witnessed a historic transformation. The PM-KISAN (Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi) scheme has been a game changer. Over ₹2.8 Lakh Crore has been directly transferred to more than 11 crore farmers' bank accounts, providing them with financial security and flexibility to invest in inputs and equipment. For decades, farmers struggled with soil degradation and poor productivity. The Soil Health Card Scheme addressed this challenge by distributing more than 23 crore Soil Health Cards, enabling farmers to make informed decisions about fertilizers and improving soil fertility. The Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY) has been another milestone. As India's largest crop insurance scheme, it has provided over ₹1.4 Lakh Crore in claims, shielding farmers from crop loss due to weather extremes and natural calamities.

Recognizing the critical role of water in agriculture, the government launched the Per Drop More Crop initiative under the larger umbrella of the Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchayee Yojana. Over 72 lakh hectares have been brought under microirrigation, ensuring better water efficiency and higher yields. The expansion of the Kisan Credit Card (KCC) scheme has given farmers unprecedented access to affordable credit. Över 3 crore new Kisan allowing farmers to access institutional credit at low-interest rates, reducing dependence on informal moneylenders. To strengthen market access, the government has integrated over 1,260 mandis through the National Agriculture Market (e-NAM) platform. This has empowered farmers with better price discovery and reduced dependency on middlemen, ensuring fair prices for their produce.

Credit Cards have been issued since 2020,

India's global leadership in millet production is another testimony to Prime Minister Modi's agricultural vision. India has emerged as the world's largest producer of millets, and the United Nations' declaration of 2023 as the International Year of Millets was a direct result of India's

While MSP provides a safety net for farmers, making it legally binding for all crops would force the government to procure excess produce it cannot store or distribute diplomatic and agricultural leadership. The government's push for crop diversification, sustainable farming, and export-driven growth has positioned Indian agriculture as a powerhouse in global markets.

Despite this remarkable progress, the SKM's agitation threatens to reverse these gains. The demand for a legal guarantee for Minimum Support Price (MSP) is economically unsustainable and strategically flawed. While MSP provides a safety net for farmers, making it legally binding for all crops would force the government to procure excess produce it cannot store or distribute. This would create market distortions, drive up fiscal deficits, and ultimately harm the very farmers it seeks to protect. India's agricultural sector thrives when farmers are competitive in the global market—not when they are dependent on artificial price supports.

The same holds true for the demand to scrap the Electricity Amendment Bill. The bill aims to improve the efficiency and distribution of electricity, especially in rural areas. Privatization, when regulated properly, will ensure more reliable power supply, reducing input costs and increasing production efficiency. Rejecting reforms without exploring their benefits only ensures that rural India remains stuck in outdated systems.

One of the most distressing demands is the call for compensation for the families of those who died during the previous farmers' protests. While the loss of life is tragic and deserves compassion, tying it to political leverage is morally wrong. Farmers' lives are not bargaining chips. Seeking compensation without addressing the underlying issues—better market access, improved irrigation, and insurance against crop loss—only shifts focus away from real solutions. Farmers need dignity, not charity.

The Government of India has shown unprecedented willingness to engage with farmers and address their concerns. The repeal of the three farm laws in 2021 was a testament to the government's commitment to listening to farmers' voices. A committee on MSP was formed, and multiple rounds of talks have been held. Yet the SKM's rigid stance, driven more by political ideology than by farmers' welfare, has stalled meaningful progress.

In a significant step toward resolving this crisis, the government has agreed to hold a detailed discussion with all stakeholders before the next date of talk on May 4ththe day with farmers' representatives. This creates a genuine opportunity for farmers' leaders to present their case in a structured and solution-oriented environment. The government will and possible stakeholders. The engagement will aim for viksit Bharat by 2047 and net zero emitter Indian economy and all representatives from agricultural cooperatives, financial institutions, Private sector, and farmer producer organizations (FPOs) to join the dialogue and create a comprehensive solution for SKM to shift from confrontation to collaboration. If the government is showing willingness to listen, why continue the agitation? Why let political narratives hijack an opportunity for meaningful reform?

What India's farmers need is support not hollow slogans, not political posturing, not temporary fixes. They need to know that when their crops fail, there's a safety net. They need to know that they can access affordable credit without falling into the clutches of moneylenders. They need to know that their produce will find a fair price in the market, not through artificial price supports but through competitive value chains and export opportunities. This is not the time for confrontation, it is the time for cooperation. The SKM has a moral responsibility to step back from the brink and steer the movement toward meaningful reform. Farmers have already sacrificed enough. Let's not ask them to sacrifice more in the name of misguided political narratives. To the leaders of SKM—your movement was born from a genuine cause. It gave a voice to the voiceless, brought farmers' issues to the national stage, and forced the government to listen. But now you stand at a crossroads. You can either continue down the path of confrontation, risking the very livelihoods you claim to protect—or you can choose the path of dialogue and India's farmers have achieved remarkable progress under PM Modi's leadership. It is time to stop the agitation—not as a sign of defeat, but as a gesture of strength and wisdom.

Let dialogue replace protest. Let solutions replace slogans. Let farmers finally breathe the air of hope and dignity. If the SKM genuinely cares about farmers' future, it should call off the agitation immediately and walk into the May 4th meeting with a constructive mindset. India's agricultural future depends on it.

(Founder Member, Rashtriya Kisan Mahasangha and Member, PM-MSP framework. This is a golden opportunity Committee, GoI)

NCA rechristened to COE

he National Cricket Academy has been rechristened (NCA) to Centre of Excellence (COE) as it found a new home in Bengaluru but it appears to be a case of "old wine in a new bottle", with still no clarity on injury management timelines for specific players.

Whether it is India's Number 1 pacer Jasprit Bumrah or country's fastest bowler Mayank Yadav, the COE has maintained an iron curtain regarding the timeline and process of injury management.

There used to be a running joke about the COE for injured players few years back: "You can check-in anytime of the year but

From injury management (by the physios) in COE's Sports Science and Medical team to rehabilitation and injury prevention (by Strength and Conditioning coach) to return to play (handled by bowling coaches cum biomechanics experts), a player goes through a complicated three-

For any and every injury and subsequent 'Return To Play', there are timelines, which obviously vary from player to player. But not being able to even provide a rough estimation of a player's return hasn't actually amused anyone related to Indian cricket. "Over the past year, in most injury and rehabilitation cases, the medical team has simply stated 'clinically fit,' which offers no real clarity on a player's Return to Play. Don't want to name but many players resume skill training under bowling coach only to still experience discomfort."

The medical team is always non-committal on Return to Play," a BCCI source privy to developments in COE told PTI on conditions of anonymity.

"It is a strange situation where there remains a question mark with regards to proper co-ordination between the various verticals which needs work in tandem to get a an elite athlete back on track."

In case of Mayank, he had a six-month lay-off between April and October when he first suffered a side strain. He made his international debut against Bangladesh in October. He last played on October 12 and has been out with lower back stress fracture for last five months.

While he is expected to miss the first few games for LSG, Shardul Thakur training with the team suggests that Mayank's injury might be more serious than what people

For Bumrah, the last official statement that came was from chairman of selectors Ajit Agarkar, who had informed that pace ace required five weeks of off-loading (complete rest from any rigorous exercise) before he can start training. That was back in early February and with IPL starting in next few days, Bumrah still isn't fit. "There is a reason why England and Wales Cricket Board has renowned sports and exercise medicine expert Dr Nick Pierce as their Chief Medical Officer (CMO). There is too much at stake for a physio to stick his neck out and give a proper overview of a player's medical condition. Hopefully, BCCI would have a sports medicine expert as head and not just a physio," a former national selector, who has seen how NCA functions said.

There is also a perennial problem when it comes to co-ordination between the national team's travelling support staff and the team working at BCCI's COE base in Bengaluru.

If multiple sources are to be believed, the

"co-ordination is nothing to write home

The IPL franchises spend millions on their key fast bowlers and they have every right to have a proper feedback from the COE not just the player updating them, a senior franchise official said.

Another interesting aspect that came out while talking to a number of people who have witnessed or worked in the COE is lack of "historical database" which also goes a long way in quick diagnosis and prognosis in terms of injuries.

The BCCI now has an Athlete Management System (AMS) where the state team S&C trainers and physios update the injury management database. But what we need is a system of collecting body structure related data of all registered U-16 players.

"Someone from Tamil Nadu would have a very different body type to one in Punjab, Delhi or Haryana and boy from Bengal would be very different from ones in North East," a S&C coach, who has worked with COE said.

"One needs to collect data of their bone density, the kind of injuries each might have sustained early on and also kind of injuries each different body can be subjected to. It would take five to seven years of that historical data and then you can be sure about timelines when you are treat ing a player within the system," he added.

Khelif says she is not intimidated by Trump

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ London

lgerian boxer Imane Khelif says that President Donald Trump's stance on gender in sports "does not intimidate" her and plans to defend her gold medal at the Los Angeles Olympics. Khelif, who found herself in the middle of a bitter divide about gender eligibility during the Paris Olympics, was asked about Trump's policies during an interview with British broadcaster ITV scheduled to be aired on Wednesday.

"I will give you a straightforward answer: the US President issued a decision related to transgender policies in America. I am not transgender. This does not concern me, and it does not intimidate me. That is my response," Khelif said in excerpts of the interview that were released ahead of the broadcast.

Khelif then interrupted a question about her dream of repeating gold at the next Summer Games in 2028: "Second gold medal, of course," she said. "In America, Los Angeles."

born as women, they have been raised as women, they have competed as women and nobody ever claimed even that they are transgender," IOC President Thomas Bach said in a recent interview with The Associated Press.

Both had been disqualified from the 2023 world championships run by the Russian-backed International Boxing Association, which said they failed eligibility tests.

"What happened there was a Russianled misinformation campaign which then distorted the truth, the facts, and now we have this unfortunate situation that these two athletes are considered to be transgender. ### Keeping captaincy, batting apart is better: Shubman Gill

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Ahmedabad

hubman Gill believes that a successful captain needs to keep his batting separate from leadership as mixing the two is never in the best interest of the team.

Gill took over the mantle of Gujarat Titans from Hardik Pandya last season and his start was an inauspicious one with the team finishing a lowly eighth after playing back-to-back finals in 2022 and 2023.

The more you keep the captaincy and batting separate, the better it is. In my experience, if I am going to bat, the best thing for me is, that I concentrate on batting. The decision I take as a batter, that is the best decision for me," Gill said at the pre-season media conference here on Wednesday.

"When we are fielding, at that time, or off the field, I get more involved in captaincy. The more I bat, as a batsman, the better it is for me," said Gill, who had scored a massive 890 runs during the 2023

However in his first season as skipper, the tally had come down by more than half to 426 runs and even the strike-rate dropped by 10 percent from 157.70 to 147.40.

The first season as skipper might not have gone as per plans but there were things that he learnt along the way. "I think, the most interesting, and challenging thing, as a captain, is that, every day, you learn something new, about a player, or about yourself. If I want to be a good captain, these are the things I need

Gill thanked Director of Cricket Vikram Solanki and head coach Ashish Nehra for helping him in strategic matters as he himself is evolving as a young leader.

"The experience that I get here, from Ashu bhai (Nehra) and Vikram, is immensely treasurable for me."

Gill believes that whenever GT have played well at home, they have tended to perform well in away games too. "If you look at our record, the better we performed, at home, the better we performed away as well. So, performing away, is just as important, and just as important, as performing at home."

The last season didn't go as per plan but Gill doesn't believe in doing something strikingly different.

"If you look at our record over the past three years, we are a team with the highest percentage of wins. So, if we continue to do that, it's going to be another great season for us. And, just because it's a new season, I don't think we have to do anything different."

The dynamics of T20 bating upfront is changing fast but Gill didn't want to be a soothsayer when asked if GT can breach the magic figure of 300 in this coming edi-

"That's not what our aim is. We want to play the kind of cricket where we will assess what the condition is and what the situation is. If the wicket or the situation allows us to make 240, 250 or 260 runs, then we are not saying no to that. But there might be a situation where 150 or 160 would be an ideal total on specific wickets.

"And hence, I feel as a team, if you are only looking to play one wicket, then you are not adapting the things how you should. The hallmark of a great team is that it adapts the best to the suitable conditions and the challenges that are coming up," he concluded.

Rory McIlroy wins The Players Championship

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Ponte Vedra

ory McIlroy winning The Players Championship gave him so much of what he doesn't need.

The $4.5 Million prize is the largest for any tournament in the world. It pushed McIlroy's career earnings on the PGA Tour alone to just over $99.7 Million, second only to Tiger Woods.

The perks include a five-year exemption on the PGA Tour (his 28 wins make him a life member) and three-year exemptions to the majors (he's been eligible for all of them since 2009). It also raised expectations for McIlroy going into the Masters. He probably doesn't need those, either. Even at the TPC Sawgrass for the premier championship of the PGA Tour, the week for McIlroy started and ended with talk about the Masters. It was last Tuesday when a University of Texas golfer watched McIlroy hook his tee shot into the water on the 18th during a practice round and told him it was just like the shot McIlroy hit on the 10th hole at Augusta National the one that started his shocking collapse in the 2011 Masters. That remains as close as McIlroy has come to winning a green jacket. McIlroy took his phone and handed it to security, the Longhorn lad was removed and McIlroy didn't want to talk about the incident a few days later.

Far more pleasant was the end of the week. Disappointed after losing a threeshot lead with five holes to play in regulation Sunday, more nervous than he would have expected at the start of a three-hole playoff Monday, McIlroy made quick work of JJ Spaun with three great swings. The last one was a threequarter 9-iron in the wind that left everyone hopeful until it plopped down in the middle of an island at Number 17.

Winning The Players is a big deal, and McIlroy now has won it twice.

"I don't want to put any sort of label on it, but it is one of the biggest championships in the world," McIlroy said. This also is the first time in his career he has two victories leading to the Masters, having won at Pebble Beach last month. Go back to last November, when McIlrov won the DP World Tour Championship in Dubai, and that makes three wins in his last six starts. The first question from Sky Sports: 'Have you ever been in a better head-space going into the majors after those two big wins?" The majors start with the Masters. For McIlroy, it's always the Masters. This starts the 11th year since he last won a major, his 11th time going to Augusta National knowing it's the one major keeping him from the career Grand Slam. "I've had good starts to years before," McIlroy said, and this much is true. Go back to 2019 when he started the year with seven straight top 10s, including a victory in The Players Championship. He tied for 21st at the Masters. "Look, I'm in good form," he said. "I'm playing well. I feel like all aspects of my game are under control. I just have to keep working hard, keep my head down. It's another opportunity to just refine little bits that need refining." But this is setting up nicely for him.

Scottie Scheffler had to wait a month to get going because surgery to his right palm that was punctured by a wine glass still hasn't had all the pieces fall together since returning at Pebble Beach, though he does not appear to be far off.

he was using to make ravioli. Scheffler

Xander Schauffele, winner of two majors last year, just returned from two months away because of a rib injury. His only celebration has been making the cut on the number the last two weeks to extend his streak to 59 in a row.

McIlroy plans one more start the Houston Open before the Masters, the ultimate measure. He feels more equipped than ever to bag another major, and he certainly has been hardened by more failures than he would like to remember. St. Andrews in 2022 and the U.S. Open the last two years were his for the taking and someone else took home the trophy. Pinehurst No. 2 was particularly brutal last year when he missed a pair of short putts on crispy greens down the stretch.

McIlroy believes he began to turn the corner last fall in a playoff loss at Wentworth, and spending quality time on finding freedom in his swing. He also points to the second round of the Masters last year, when the wind came up and he went down with a 77 that effectively took him out of the tournament.

Now he has a shorter swing for the occasion, once for his wedge and now down to the 7-iron. He employed those beautifully in the Pacific wind when he won at Pebble Beach. His 9-iron to the par-3 17th in the playoff at Sawgrass on Monday was masterful.

"When the conditions come like that," he said, reflecting on that Friday round at Augusta last year, "I just feel like I'm a lot better prepared to handle them. It's always been ok off the tee, but it's flighting the wedges and short irons, which have been the issue, and I feel like I've been able to rectify that."

is to get a win and build from there. Yes,

Dominguez apologises for comparing Brazilian clubs to Tarzan's chimp

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Sao Paulo

lejandro Dominguez, the president of South American soccer body CONMEBOL, apologised for his remarks comparing Brazilian clubs to a chimpanzee from Tarzan films. Domínguez told journalists after the Copa Libertadores draw in Paraguay that the South American club tournament without Brazilian teams that have dominated it in recent years would be like Tarzan without Cheetah.

"Regarding my recent statement, I want to express my apologies," Domínguez said in a statement. "The expression I used is a popular phrase and I never intended to belittle or discredit anyone. The CONMEBOL Libertadores is unthinkable without the participation of clubs from the 10 member countries. I reaffirm my commitment to continue working for a fairer, more united soccer, free from discrimination."

CONMEBOL has been under increased pressure to act decisively against racism. Moments before his comment to journalists, Domínguez spoke in Portuguese and claimed CON-MEBOL has worked hard to stop racism. Several Brazilian players and fans have been targeted by monkey chants at away matches in recent years, which has also brought more pressure on the confederation's president to act.

Varun Chakravarthy to be key part of Kolkata Knight Riders' spin in IPL: Sunil Narine

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA | Kolkata

resh from his exploits in India's triumphant Champions Trophy campaign, Varun Chakravarthy will be a key component of Kolkata Knight Riders' spin attack with his element of "uncertainty" in the upcoming Indian Premier League (IPL), veteran Sunil Narine said on Wednesday.

The West Indian spin-bowling allrounder, heading into his 14th IPL season with KKR, believes Chakravarthy's ability to keep batsmen guessing would be key to their bowling unit's success.

"Over the years, we have proven it. We bowl well in tandem. It's always good to have him on my side. He keeps that pressure, that uncertainty something you're never sure about," Narine said in a select media interaction while launching 'PariMatch' here. Chakravarthy, who picked up nine wickets in three matches in the Champions Trophy, has been a mainstay in KKR's lineup since 2020. After an impressive first season with 17 wickets, he earned his maiden India callup, though fitness issues delayed his international debut until 2021. Retained by KKR in 2023, he delivered his best performance yet with 20 wickets and played a key role in their triumph last season.

Have family-like bond with

Narine, one of the most decorated spinners in IPL history, is eager to embrace another season with a franchise that is like 'family" to him.

"It's good to be back here. It's a place that I love being in, and I obviously enjoy the fans. The IPL is the hardest level of cricket, and as time goes on, it keeps getting tougher. All teams are competitive, and there are no easy games," Narine said.

Beyond his bowling, Narine's explosive batting at the top of the order has also played a crucial role in KKR's third IPL title

"Cricket has evolved so much; you have to evolve with it. At times, you need to contribute with both bat and ball. It's all about confidence and belief in your ability. You have a God-given talent, and you try to make the best out of it," he said.

Reflecting on his journey so far, Narine said: "Starting off, franchise cricket felt like just another tournament. But as time went along, you developed a relationship, and it became like a family.

'This is going to be my 14th year in the IPL. I've played with them outside of IPL Eden Gardens on Saturday. as well. It's like a family-based team for me. Every time I play with the Knight Riders logo, it feels like this is where I belong."

KKR will begin their title defence

Narine emphasised the importance of a strong start as they have often slumped after winning a title. "It's all about how you begin. The key Narine remains optimistic. "GG (Gambhir) ĥad his own way of playing cricket, and he was very successful in the IPL. He will be a big miss, but

The leadership shift

win the title again," he said.

KKR will see new leadership this season with Gautam Gambhir departing to take charge as India's head coach and Ajinkya Rahane replacing Shreyas Iyer as the captain. Dwayne Bravo, IPL's all-time highest wicket-taker, has joined as team mentor.

I'm sure he will be backing us from behind," he said.

On Rahane's captaincy, Narine added: "Rahane is a very experienced cricketer and leader. He has a big responsibility, but he also has senior players to back him. I know we will gel together it's about finding the right combinations and winning games." Speaking about Bravo's addition, Narine said: "He has the most T20 wickets that speaks for itself. He has plenty of knowledge and a winning spirit. He knows how to win games, and coming to KKR will be no different for him."

Despite the leadership changes, KKR have retained key players, including Venkatesh Iyer, who has been re-signed at a huge price of ₹23.75-Crore and named the team's vice-captain.

"When you win a championship, you try to keep the core. We are in a good space, carrying a lot from last year, so the guys know their roles. Hopefully, we can get a good start," Narine said.

Opening with de Kock?

Asked whether he would continue opening the batting alongside South African Quinton de Kock, Narine said he remains flexible. "It depends on the team's needs. Obviously, I'd love to open after how things went last year, but it will be based on the team's requirements," he said.

Overcoming adversity

Having faced setbacks like a ban for a suspect bowling action, Narine also reflected on what drives him to keep going. "It's all about legacy and the game you play. You always want to do well. It boils down to hard work nothing is guaranteed. Yes, there will be pressure, but by consistently playing, you find yourself in different scenarios and learn how to get out of them," he concluded.

MI to approach IPL 2025 with togetherness: Hardik

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Mumbai

umbai Indians (MI) captain Hardik Pandya on Wednesday said now that the contentious Impact Player rule has been extended by three years, a cricketer has to be a pure all-rounder to find place in the starting eleven.

The rule allows a team to replace a player from their playing XI at a later stage of the match. The teams bring in a batting or bowling specialist as the situation demands.

The BCCI extended the rule to at least the 2027 edition despite reservations from leading Indian players, including Rohit Sharma who said the Impact Player strategy was holding back the development of Indian all-rounders with teams replacing them with an extra batter or bowler during the game.

"In the current scenario, it becomes difficult if you are not completely a 50-50 all-rounder to find your place. Going forward this can change or will change, we will have to see. But yes, definitely if you want to encourage more all-rounders they will need a fix spot for them to develop over the years," said Pandya during the season-opening media interaction.

Pandya will miss MI's opening game on Sunday due to one match suspension for overrate related offences last year. Surya Kumar Yadav will lead the side.

Sitting next to him, head coach Mahela Jaywardene also had his say on the matter.

"It has given a different set of challenges. So we have to adapt and get better. My only concern at that time was that sometimes you have a pure all rounder and they have a specific role to play but the other all-rounders are taken out of the game because you can get a genuine bowler or batter, that is something we have to see in the long term," reckoned the Sri Lankan great. Pandya upbeat about Mumbai Indians' revival after memorable 12 months

Pandya's return to Mumbai Indians last season was not the smoothest as the storied franchise finished last among 10 teams. He was also booed by the home fans. Considering their five IPL titles, Mumbai Indians have had a dry run since 2021. The premier all-rounder said he will carry the confidence of winning two ICC titles with India over the past year.

"Playing for India has always been prideful. It has also been my number one priority, winning two trophies is very close to our hearts and that joy will carry forward to the IPL.

"Last four seasons have been dry for Mumbai Indians. This season we will approach the season with joyness and togetherness," said Pandya who linked up with his IPL team hours after winning the Champions Trophy in Dubai.

Pandya believes that he is constantly evolving as a cricketer notwithstanding his "unshakeable" confidence. Considering the rollercoaster last 12 months, his focus will be to help youngsters excel.

"My life has been about ups and downs. I have enjoyed the learning. It has taught me about sport as well as life over the years. It is a fresh year. Lot of things have changed. Every year there is .0 added. Hardik 3.0, if you want to call that, there will be passion, grit and challenges which I love.

"For me the crucial part is to make sure, if the challenges are thrown at boys how I can help them and add value."

On his own batting position, he added: "I like to play situations and entry points, specific batting number, it has gone from my cricketing journey." Mumbai's core group remains intact despite the low returns over the past four seasons. Besides Pandya, the team has India captains in Rohit Sharma and Suryakumar Yadav. Jasprit Bumrah has also captained India.

Players' association files antitrust suit against tennis organisers

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Miami Gardens

alling the groups in charge of professional tennis "a cartel," the co-founded by Novak Djokovic filed an antitrust lawsuit against the women's and men's tours, the International Tennis Federation and the sport's integrity agency in federal court

The suit by the Professional Tennis Players' Association says the organizations that run the sport hold "complete control over the players' pay and working conditions" and their setup constitutes "textbook violations of state and federal law" that "immunise professional tennis from ordinary market forces and deny professional tennis players and other industry participants their right to fair competition." The lawsuit seeks a jury trial and wants players to gain access to more earnings, arguing that the governing bodies that oversee the four Grand Slam tournaments Wimbledon, the U.S. Open, the French Open and the Australian Open — and other professional events "cap the prize money tournaments award and limit players' ability to earn money off the court." On top of the case in U.S. District Court, the PTPA made filings with the European Commission in Brussels and the Competition Markets Authority in London. "There is a complete and utter lack of competition that exists in professional tennis, and we believe by filing these actions, we will ultimately inject the kind of competition that will be fair to the players, to the fans and actually to the people (who) operate the system," said Jim Quinn, a lawyer working with the PTPA.

"It's going to require a restructuring," Quinn said.
The WTA Tour and ATP Tour issued separate statements Tuesday saying they would "vigorously" defend themselves.

The WTA said it has "committed to a $400 million increase in player compensation" in recent years and labeled the PTPA action a "baseless legal case" that is "regrettable and misguided." The ATP touted a "major increase in player compensation" that created a jump of "$70 million in the past five years," and called the PTPA's case "entirely without merit."

"The PTPA has consistently chosen division and distraction through misinformation over progress," the ATP's statement said. "Five years on from its inception in 2020, the PTPA has struggled to establish a meaningful role in tennis, making its decision to pursue legal action at this juncture unsurprising.

The International Tennis Integrity Agency — which investigates and adjudicates doping and corruption — said it noted the PTPA's action but did not offer any direct reaction to the case itself.

A spokesman said the ITF "will take the appropriate time to consider our response." The PTPA was founded by 24-time Grand Slam champion Djokovic and Vasek Pospisil in August 2020, aiming to offer representation for players who are independent contractors in a largely individual sport. One of the goals made clear along the way was to become a sort of full-fledged union that negotiates collective bargaining agreements like those that exist in team

"Beyond just the economics, we see ... Player welfare is completely disregarded in everything, from the tour schedule to anticompetitive practices, to abusing our rights around name, image, likeness," Pospisil said. He is one of the players listed as a plaintiff; Djokovic is not. Players whose names are attached to the U.S. Lawsuit include 2022 Wimbledon runner-up Nick Kyrgios, Sorana Cirstea, Varvara Gracheva, Reilly Opelka, Tennys Sandgren and Nicole Melichar-Martinez.

PTPA executive director Ahmad Nassar said Djokovic is "certainly very involved, very up to speed. He is still a sitting member of our executive committee at the PTPA. ... This is about much more than one player."

The PTPA said it met with more than 250 players women and men, and a majority of the top 20 in the WTA and ATP rankings before going to court.

"We've seen the Grand Slams try to change some things unsuccessfully. We've seen the tours themselves try to change things unsuccessfully. We've seen outside money try to come in and change things unsuccessfully. And so we really think this is the only path forward, and we don't do this lightly, whatsoever," Nassar said. "But we think it was necessary, because the players really do demand to be heard, to have their issues taken seriously, to address these structural issues that plague tennis and really choke it as an international sport, and to create a system that brings balance and equality and fairness to really the entire business of tennis.
