OPPOSITION JOINS CENTRE FOR INDIA

Among the parties whose MPs will be part of the delegation include the BJP, the Congress, TMC, AIMIM, SP, etc

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ New Delhi

-ndia has initiated a major diplomatic offensive by deciding to send several allparty delegations to different countries to expose Pakistan-sponsored terrorism. The exercise likely to begin next week and comes in the wake of Operation Sindoor undertaken earlier after the Pahalgam terror incident last month claiming 26 innocent lives.

Senior leaders, including MPs, of various political parties, including those from the opposition, have been sounded out by the government and some parties have also given their go-ahead to the presence of their members for the diplomatic exercise, it was learnt here on Friday.

Sources said some former ministers will lead the delegations of MPs from different parties to a cluster of countries across the world. While there was no clarity on the exact number of delegations or their members, some leaders said more than 30 MPs could be included in the outreach exercise. The delegations will visit different countries for a period of 10 days. The MPs will visit different blocs of countries, as earmarked by the government. Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) will brief the MPs before they

Among the parties whose MPs will be part of the delegation are the BJP, Congress, TMC, DMK, NCP (SP), JDU, BJD, CPI(M), and some others, the sources said.

A leader of a party that has been sounded out for the exercise said they were told to be ready to leave by May 22-23 for a period of 10 days and that the MEA would be in touch with them to provide the necessary details, including the itinerary. Former Union minister Anurag Thakur and BJP MP from Odisha, Aparajita Sarangi, are among the ruling party members to be part of the delegations, the sources said. At least four MPs from the Congress, besides members of other parties, have been tapped by the government about the diplomatic exercise.

Congress MPs included in the government's list are Shashi Tharoor, Manish Tewari, Salman Khurshid and Amar Singh, and the party has confirmed it would be a part of the delegations, the sources said. The TMC's Sudip Bandyopadhyay, JDU's Sanjay Jha, BJD's Sasmit Patra, John Brittas of the CPI(M), Priyanka Chaturvedi of Shiv Sena (UBT), Supriya Sule of NCP (SP), the DMK's K Kanimozhi, AIMIM's Asaduddin Owaisi and AAP's Vikramjit Sawhney are also being tapped to be part of the delegations, the sources said. While Khurshid, a former external affairs minister, has been asked to lead a delegation of seven MPs to south and southeast Asia, covering countries such as South Korea, Japan and Singapore, Baramati MP Sule is likely to lead a delegation to the Middle East and Africa, including the likes of Oman, Egypt, Kenya and South Africa, the sources said. Congress leader Tewari is likely to lead a delegation to Europe or the Middle East and has been asked about his availability, the sources said. Tharoor is likely to lead another delegation, they added. While Thakur will be part of the delegation that will visit the Middle East and Africa, his colleague Sarangi will be part of the delegation to southeast Asia. Sawhney will also be a part of this delegation.

Shiv Sena (UBT) MP Chaturvedi will be part of a delegation to Saudi Arabia, Algeria, Kuwait and Bahrain. This delegation will also include the Congress' Amar Singh. While there was no official word on the del egations from the government, Congress general secretary in-charge communications Jairam Ramesh said Union minister Kiren Rijiju had spoken to Congress president Mallikarjun Kharje in this regard.

rndia on Friday called on the International Monetary Fund (IMF) Lto reconsider its $1-billion assistance to Pakistan, suggesting that Islamabad could use it for terror funding.

Making this assertion, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh also said Operation Sindoor is not over yet. "Whatever happened was just a trailer. We will show the entire picture to the world at the right time, he said.

India does not want that the funding it gives to the IMF should be used directly or indirectly to create terror infrastructure in Pakistan or any other country, the defence minister said while addressing military personnel at Bhuj airbase. "I believe that in today's time, any kind of financial assistance to Pakistan is nothing less than terror funding. India would like the IMF to reconsider its assistance of one billion dollars to Pakistan and refrain from giving any kind of assistance in future," he said.

day after its security clearance was revoked by the Centre citing national security reasons, Turkey-based aviation firm Celebi Aviation Holding has approached the Delhi High Court challenging the decision. Soon after the Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS) revoked its security clearance to it in the "interest of national security", Celebi Aviation Holding has seen its shares plunge nearly 20 per cent since Thursday, effectively bringing its operations in the country to a sudden halt. The security clearance of the firm was revoked days after Turkey backed Pakistan and condemned India's strikes on terror camps in the neighbouring country.

Celebi Aviation has argued that the action taken against it is sudden and not justified. "The national security reason for revocation is vague," the company has said. According to the petition, the government's move was not properly explained and has badly affected the company's work in India. It has asked the Court to set aside that decision, arguing it would impact hundreds of jobs and investor confidence, and was issued without any warning to the company. The case is likely to be heard on Monday. Earlier, in a regulatory filing to the Turkish stock exchange on Friday, Celebi revealed that four key agreements between its Indian subsidiaries and airport authorities have been terminated without prior notice. Among these is a concession agreement valid until 2034 between Celebi Delhi Cargo Terminal Management India Pvt Ltd and Delhi International Airport Ltd (DIAL). Çelebi holds a 74 per cent stake in this venture. Similarly, the licence agreement for ground handling services between Celebi GH India Pvt Ltd (CGHI)-61 per cent owned by Celebi-and Ahmedabad International Airport Ltd (AIAL), valid until 2032, has also been terminated.

Also, the licence agreement for ground handling services between Celebi GH India Pvt Ltd (CGHI), which is 61 per cent owned by Celebi, and Ahmedabad International Airport Ltd (AIAL) has been terminated. The pact was valid till 2032, senior officer of the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) lost his life, and three other personnel were injured, after a lightning strike struck a joint anti-Maoist task force in the dense, hilly terrain of Baliba, under the Chotanagara police station limits in West Singhbhum

The incident occurred on the evening of May 15, when sudden and intense thunderstorms swept across the region, catching the deployed task force off-guard during an ongoing operation in the Saranda forest-a long-time Maoist stronghold. The fallen officer, Second-in-Command M Probo Singh of the CRPF's 26 Battalion, was severely injured by the lightning strike. Despite immediate efforts to stabilise his condition, he succumbed to his injuries. Singh was a highly respected officer, known for his commitment and courage in leading several successful operations against left-wing extremism.

Three others-Assistant Commandant Subir Kumar Mandal, Sub-Inspector Suresh Bhagat, and Sub-Inspector Chandlal Hansda-sustained injuries in the same incident. All three were quickly evacuated and are currently reported to be in stable condition.

Following the lightning strike, an urgent rescue operation was initiated with the assistance of Jharkhand Police Headquarters and CRPF Jharkhand Sector. The injured were promptly airlifted by helicopter.

The Delhi government is keen to appoint officers with proven track records. However, the ongoing delays in the transfer and posting of officials are increasingly affecting the routine functioning of the government. At present, many officers are holding additional charges of important

The reshuffle aims to optimise governance and strengthen administrative presence across key Union Territories and northeastern states including the national capital. PNS CHANDIGARH/TARN TARAN

a breakthrough, Punjab Police on Friday busted an international narcosmuggling module allegedly operated under the patronage of Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI), seizing a staggering 85 kilograms of heroin — the biggest drug haul of 2025 so far. The operation led to the arrest of Amarjot Singh alias Jota Sandhu, a key Indian operative of the syndicate, from the Tarn Taran district.

The narcotics syndicate, according to the police officials, was being remotely operated by a UK-based drug handler identified as Lalli. The module was receiving heroin consignments from Pakistani smugglers, reportedly facilitated by ISI, through crossborder drone drops. Amarjot was responsible for receiving and distributing these consignments across various parts of Punjab. His residence in Bhittewad village, Amritsar

Punjab Director General of Police (DGP) Gaurav Yadav, confirming the development, called it a significant achievement in the anti-drugs campaign 'Yudh Nashian Virudh, launched under the directions of Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann. Taking to social media platform X (formerly Twitter), the DGP wrote, "In the biggest drug seizure of 2025, Tarn Taran Police busts a cross-border, ISI-controlled, Pakistan-based narcosmuggling module operated by UK-based handler Lalli. The arrest of Amarjot Singh and recovery of 85 kg heroin reaffirms our resolve to make Punjab drug-free." According to Tarn Taran Senior Superintendent of Police (SSP) Abhimanyu Rana, the arrest was made following a meticulously planned operation by the CIA staff team, acting on reliable intelligence. Amarjot was apprehended near Chabhal road while riding an Activa scooter. During his search, police recovered five kg of heroin.

Upon interrogation, Amarjot disclosed the location of two additional consignments — 40 kg each — hidden at separate places. One was buried in the fields at Rakh Sarai Amanat

Rural, served as a primary stash point for the Khan, and the other concealed in a washing machine at his house in Bhittewad. Raids were conducted immediately, resulting in the seizure of the entire consignment, totaling > SSP Rana said, "This is a major blow to cross-border drug networks. We are now investigating both backward and forward linkages to unearth the entire chain, including local dealers, buyers, and hawala handlers." He added that efforts are underway to identify the total quantity of narcotics smuggled by Amarjot and his associates over time.

An FIR, dated May 15, 2025, has been registered at Tarn Taran City Police Station under Sections 21(c) and 25 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act. Officials indicated that more arrests and recoveries are expected in the coming days as the probe expands.

The Punjab Police has intensified its surveillance across border areas to prevent the inflow of narcotics through drones, underground tunnels, and other covert means. Senior officials reiterated their zero-tolerance policy against drugs and assured that such operations would continue until Punjab is free from the clutches of drug mafias.

MONIKA MALIK CHANDIGARH

n a politically significant development, the Union Minister of State for Railways and Food Processing Industries, Ravneet Singh Bittu's one-on-one meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday set off a flurry of speculation within Punjab's political circles. The 40-minute-long interaction at the PM's official residence in New Delhi was far more than a courtesy call it reflected the BJP's strategic recalibration in Punjab, a state where the party has struggled to find firm electoral footing post its split with its decades-old ally – Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD).

While Bittu publicly framed the meeting as a discussion on development and shared admiration for Modi's leadership, particularly following India's recent military triumph over Pakistan, the undercurrents of the conversation revealed deeper political and strategic concerns. Among the primary issues discussed were Punjab's worsening water crisis, the ensuing Ludhiana West Assembly bypoll, the religious and political atmosphere in the state, and the long-standing demand for a special economic package for Punjab, sources informed The Pioneer.

the internal crisis and inter-state disputes. With the Indus Waters Treaty currently suspended, Bittu raised the possibility of divert-Bittu's meeting comes just days after Modi ing excess waters from western tributaries such as the Ravi and Beas to alleviate Punjab's groundwater stress. He also proposed a canal network for Doaba and Majha regions, akin to Malwa's irrigation system, to ensure equitable agricultural support across the state. These demands are not new, but what sets this pitch apart is its direct escalation to the highest office in the country. As Punjab battles with Haryana over Bhakra water allocations, and faces ecological collapse due to depleting aquifers, the political importance of sustainable water management has never

Besides, the upcoming Ludhiana West Assembly bypoll was another key point of discussion. A former MP from Ludhiana, Bittu briefed Modi on the BJP's impressive performance in the constituency during the recent Lok Sabha polls, where it led in six out of nine assembly segments in Ludhiana, despite ultimately losing to state Congress president Amrinder Singh Raja Warring. The BJP is yet to announce its candidate, but the Prime Minister's direct interest signaled the saffron party's intention to aggressively contest and perhaps even use this seat as a springboard for rebuilding urban support in

Sources also suggested that Modi inquired about the demographic and political landscape of the constituency, underlining the seriousness with which the party views the

Importantly, Bittu raised concerns about youth recruitment from border areas into the armed forces and paramilitary units, seeking relaxed criteria for those hailing from Punjab's six border districts. This aligned with the Centre's broader national security calculus but also speaks to BJP's attempt to regain traction among the state's youth, especially in regions where unemployment and radicalization fears run high.

The issue of 'Bandi Sikhs' (Sikh prisoners) also featured in the discussion, a sensitive topic in Punjab's religious discourse. The Centre's engagement with this issue could be an attempt to neutralize criticism from panthic groups and show cultural sensitivity an area where the BJP has often faced skepticism in the state.

Bittu's meeting with PM Modi marks more than an administrative briefing-it's a calculated political reset. At a time when the BJP is trying to reposition itself in Punjab's fragmented political space — amidst AAP's governance fatigue, Congress's internal churn, and the SAD's declining relevance — the direct engagement between Modi and a Punjab-based Minister signals a renewed, perhaps more localized, strategy.

AYUSH Deptt in Haryana gears up for preparations of Int'l Day of Yoga

the Department of AYUSH, Government of Haryana, is all set and geared up for the preparations of the upcoming International Day of Yoga (IDY) to be celebrated on June 21. This will be the 11th edition of IDY, which was first established by the United Nations General Assembly in 2014 and celebrated for the first time on June 21, 2015.

Gujarat Police Nabs Bihar Youth from Jalandhar with Suspicious Indo-Pak Conflict Data

ujarat Police on Thursday arrested a man from Jalandhar's Bhargav Camp area for his alleged involvement in a high-profile cyber fraud case. The accused, identified as Mohammad Murtaza Ali, a native of Bihar and currently residing in Jalandhar's Gandhi Nagar in Bhargava Camp area, was apprehended with assistance from Authorities recovered four mobile phones and three SIM cards from Ali, which, according to sources, contained suspicious videos, news links, and phone numbers allegedly linked to the India-Pakistan conflict. While Gujarat Police have booked the youth under cybercrime charges, the nature of digital content found on his devices has raised serious concerns about a potential espi-

Initial speculation suggested that Ali might have links to Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI), though Jalandhar Police Commissioner Dhanpreet Kaur clarified that the arrest was related to cyber fraud, not direct espionage. However, investigators are not ruling out deeper cross-border connections, especially after preliminary forensic analyses hinted at strategic media content transfers during periods of heightened Indo-

Ali allegedly developed a mobile application aggregating real-time content from Indian news channels, which investigators believed was used to feed information to handlers across the border when Pakistan restricted access to Indian broadcasts. The app, reportedly distributed for a price to ISI operatives, allowed near-instant tracking of internal affairs within India, prompting suspicions of covert surveillance and data leak-

Adding to the intrigue, it was revealed that the accused had recently purchased a 25marla plot in Jalandhar's Gandhi Nagar locality and was building a luxurious house worth an estimated Rs 1.5 crore. A financial probe into his bank accounts showed transactions worth Rs 40 lakh in just one month. The origin, routing, and purpose of these funds are now under investigation by Gujarat Police in collaboration with the state's Anti-Terrorism

Sources within Gujarat Police confirmed that Ali has been transported to Gandhinagar for detailed interrogation and digital forensics. The case is being closely monitored by central intelligence agencies given the potential implications for national security.

Though officially termed a cyber fraud case, the recovery of conflict-related media, financial irregularities, and suspected ISI linkages indicate the possibility of a larger conspiracy — a matter likely to see deeper scrutiny in the days ahead.

Haryana Postgrad student's links with Pak intelligence come to fore after arrest in different case

Kaithal: Alleged links of a 25-year-old oost-graduate student with Pakistani intelligence operatives have come to the fore during his interrogation in a separate matter, a senior police official said on Friday.

The accused, Devender Singh, from Kaithal district's Guhla area, was arrested after an FIR was registered against him on Sunda for uploading photos on social media with weapons, Superintendent of Police Astha Modi said. The SP said during the investigation, it was learnt that Singh, who had been pursuing a Master's degree in political science from a college in Punjab, had gone to Pakistan on pilgrimage in November last year.

During the visit, he allegedly came in contact with Pakistani intelligence operatives and remained in touch with them even after his return, she said. "We have seized his phone and sent it for forensic analysis," Astha Modi said. Asked whether he has sent any sensitive information, the senior police officer said, "He has admitted to sending some photos of Patiala cantonment by clicking pictures from outside. We are also doing an audit of his finances and checking his bank account." She said that now another FIR has been registered against him. The latest incident comes close on the heels of another case in which a 24-year-old youth, Nauman Ilahi, was arrested in Panipat district for allegedly supplying sensitive information to some individuals in Pakistan. PSEB Class X Results: Girls Steal the Show — All 3 Toppers Score Perfect 100% hree girls. Three perfect scores. One powerful message. As the Punjab School Education Board (PSÉB) unveiled the Class X results for 2024 on Friday, it was a moment etched in brilliance not just for the 100 percent scorers, but for what the numbers said loud and clear girls are leading Punjab's academic march with confidence and consistency.

From clinching all three top positions with an impeccable 650 out of 650, to dominating the merit list and outperforming boys in pass percentages across the Board, this year's results have turned into a resounding celebration of girl power in Punjab's classrooms. This year's results show an overall pass percentage of 95.61 percent, but the real story lies in the outstanding performance by girls. With a pass percentage of 96.85 percent, girls have outperformed boys (94.40 percent) by a significant margin of 2.45 percent, echoing the continuing trend of academic excellence among female students in Punjab.

Despite the celebratory headlines, this year's overall pass percentage of 95.61percent reflected a gradual decline since the post-COVID years. In 2021, the Board recorded an all-time high of 99.93 percent, largely attributed to alternative assessment methods due to pandemic disruptions. That figure dipped to 97.94 percent in 2022, 97.54 percent in 2023, 97.24 percent in 2024, and now 95.61 percent — indicating a continued return to traditional, more rigorous evaluaTriple Crown for Punjab's Daughters

The top three spots were all clinched by girls from different parts of the state -Aksnoor Kaur of Sant Mohan Das Memorial Senior Secondary School, Kot Sukhia (Faridkot) was declared the first rank holder, followed by Ratinderdeep Kaur of Baba Farid Public School, Chhattiana (Sri Muktsar Sahib); and Arshdeep Kaur of Ram Sarup

Memorial Sr. Sec. School, Chaunda

(Malerkotla). All three girls scored 650/650

marks, but were ranked based on date of birth

as per PSEB guidelines, said the PSEB chairman Dr Amarpal Singh.

But the celebration of girl power doesn't end with the toppers. A look at the top 300 merit list revealed that an overwhelming 256 students (85 percent) are girls, with boys accounting for just 44 positions. This landslide dominance on the merit list is a testament to the growing academic confidence and capabilities of girls in Puniab's schools.

Performance Across Schools

A total of 2,77,746 regular students appeared for the Class X examination this year. Of these, 2,65,548 students passed, while 782 failed and 11,391 were placed in the compartment category. Among them, students from private schools recorded the highest pass percentage at 96.96 percent, with 71,412 out of 73,649 candidates clearing the exams. Government school students weren't far behind, with 1,76,605 of 1,84,984 passing marking a success rate of 95.47 percent. Aided schools, however, trailed slightly with a pass rate of 91.72 percent (17,531 out of 19,113). Rural Students Outperform Urban Peers

The urban-rural divide in this year's results also added another layer to the story. While urban students recorded a pass percentage of 94.71 percent (92,368 out of 97,524), rural students surpassed them with 96.09 percent (1,73,180 out of 1,80,222) and once again, girls in rural areas were key contributors to this success. The educational surge in rural Punjab, particularly among girls, underscored the effectiveness of outreach programs, awareness, and improved school infrastructure in less privileged areas. Amritsar Tops Among Districts, Ľudhiana

Among districts, Amritsar emerged as the top performer with a 98.54 percent pass rate, followed by Gurdaspur (98.22 percent), Tarn Taran (98.08 percent), and Pathankot (98.02 percent). These districts are known for strong school systems and have seen girls regularly outperforming boys in board exams. On the flip side, Ludhiana fared the lowest at 91.62 percent, with other underperforming districts including Bathinda (93.17 percent), Sangrur (93.67 percent), Barnala (93.78 percent), and Fazilka (94.05 percent).

The subject-wise performance also reflected the same trend of academic excellence — Punjab History and Culture had a 100 percent pass rate, followed by Sanskrit (99.95 percent), Health and Physical Education (99.76 percent), Hindi (99.54 percent), and Social Studies (99.38 percent).

This year's results not only uphold the state's legacy of producing high-achieving girls but also offer a sharp counter-narrative to traditional gender biases in education. This wave of girl-led academic excellence aligns with the Punjab government's renewed focus on education — particularly the empower-ment of the girl child through scholarship schemes, better school facilities, and initiatives like 'Padho Punjab'. Punjab's Jail Minister Laljit Singh Bhullar, who conducted surprise inspections at the Central Jails of Rupnagar and Kapurthala on Friday, said that the State Government is taking urgent and stringent measures to enhance jail security. He said that jails across Punjab are being equipped with the latest security technology to ensure foolproof surveillance and to deter criminal operations being carried out behind bars.

"AI-based cameras will not only help monitor daily activities but will also assist in automatically flagging suspicious movements or gatherings inside jail premises," said the Minister, adding that this initiative marked a major leap forward in the state's commitment to prison reform and

During his inspection, Bhullar issued clear directives to jail officials and staff to remain vigilant and fulfill their responsibilities with utmost honesty and dedication. He warned that strict action will be taken against any government employee or inmate found involved in smuggling, drug use, or unauthorized mobile phone use within prison premises. "Negligence in duty will not be tolerated under any circumstances," he asserted. Reaffirming the government's zero-tolerance policy against corruption and crime in prisons, Bhullar highlighted that officials recently found complicit in illegal activities in Sangrur jail have already faced severe action. To further secure jail communications, jammers are being installed across all prisons in Punjab, following the approval of the Chief Minister.

Bhullar also emphasized the government's dual focus - not only on enforcement but also on rehabilitation. He said the Mann government is committed to transforming prisoners into responsible citizens through constructive programs and sup-

Threats to the idea of India

Vijay Shah's remarks on Col Sofiya Qureshi are a threat to India's unity and an affront to free Speech

n a nation where the armed forces stand as the ultimate symbol of unity, sacrifice, and national pride, any attempt to sully their dignity is an attack not just on individuals, but on the very fabric of the Republic. When that attack comes from a sitting minister of the state Government, it ceases to be a matter of political impropriety and crosses into the territory of constitutional disgrace.

This is precisely what unfolded when Madhya Pradesh cabinet minister Kunwar Vijay Shah made derogatory and inflammatory remarks directed at Colonel Sofiya Qureshi, a decorated officer of the Indian Army. His statement - laced with communal undertones and vile innuendos implied that Colonel Qureshi was the "sister of terrorists" involved in the Pahalgam attack, a slander that the Madhya Pradesh High Court described as "nauseating," "disparaging," and "dangerous." Taking suo motu cognisance of the statement, a division bench comprising Justices Atul Shreedharan and Anuradha Shukla ordered the Director General of Police to register an FIR within four hours, warning that failure to do so would invite contempt of court. The court invoked provisions under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, including — Section 152 — for acts endangering the sovereignty and integrity of India, Section 196(1)(B) - for statements prejudicial to religious harmony and Section 197 – for assertions that could harm national integration.

The Court did not mince words. By referring to Colonel Qureshi, a Muslim woman serving the nation with distinction, in the language of "gutters," the minister not only undermined the integrity of the Armed Forces, but also fanned the flames of religious divisiveness.

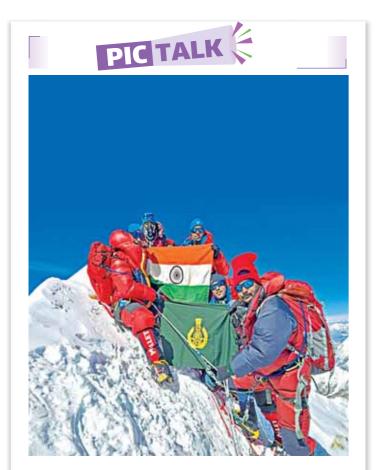

This is not a political issue. This is a moral and constitutional failure. Colonel Sofiya Qureshi represents the finest values of India — duty, courage, and commitment. To question her loyalty based on her faith is not just intellectually bankrupt, it is constitutionally untenable.

To drag religion into the realm of military service is to strike at the root of national unity. It demoralises not just the officer in question, but every soldier in uniform who expects, and deserves, that their sacrifices will be recognised without prejudice.

Free speech is the cornerstone of democracy. But free speech is not a free pass for hate. It is not a license to defame, communalise, or incite. The Constitution of India allows freedom of expression with reasonable restrictions. Among these are the preservation of public order, decency, and national security

Shah's comments fail on all these counts. This incident is not just about one minister's reprehensible conduct. It's about drawing a line — a line that demarcates democratic dissent from communal defamation, leadership from irresponsible demagoguery.

No one — regardless of political stature — has the right to degrade those who serve the country selflessly. When we fail to speak up against such verbal violence, we normalise it. And when that normalisation reaches the ranks of the armed forces, we risk tearing apart the very idea of India.

Why military operation names matter

As missiles fly and headlines fade, it is time we look beyond the spectacle and decode the deeper purpose behind these evocative titles — stories etched not just in military annals, but in the very soul of a sovereign India n the grand narrative of India's post-independence journey, the names given to military and security operations are far more than functional labels — they are powerful emblems of national spirit, strategic vision, and unwavering determination. Each title echoes with purpose, carrying within it the soul of the mission and the will of the nation. From the fragile dawn of independence to the intricate security landscapes of today, these operational names have served as rallying cries, steeped in symbolism, shaped by historical context, and crafted to inspire conviction.

They not only reflect the tactical objectives of the Indian armed forces, paramilitary units, and police but also embody the collective aspirations and resilience of a nation determined to protect its sovereignty. Behind every such operation lies a story of immense sacrifice of brave hearts in uniform and the silent endurance of their families, who uphold the spirit of service to keep India secure and moving forward.

It is time we move beyond making reels and taking videos of flying missiles and engage with the deeper motivations behind these evocative names. It is time we understand their role in shaping public memory and appreciate the sacrifice of thousands of young men in uniform — over the last 76 years marked by both monumental challenges and hard-won victories.

These codenames of operations often serve as more than just operational identifiers. They are powerful linguistic tools — symbols of intent, strategy, and resolve of the Indian Armed Forces, Paramilitary Units, and State Police Forces who, from time to time, have launched several strategic operations to safeguard the country's sovereignty, unity, and integrity. These operations were not only pivotal in countering external aggression and internal insurgencies, but they also shaped public consciousness and national discourse.

From 'Operation Blue Star' (anti-terrorist actions) in 1984, which sent shockwaves across the country, to 'Operation Meghdoot', which established India's presence on the world's highest battlefield and strategic adaptability in high-altitude ongoing warfare in Siachen, and the very recent 'Operation Sindoor', launched in response to a brutal terrorist attack — each codename chosen by the Indian military establishment has carried layered meaning.

Some evoke elements of nature, others draw from Indian mythology, and many others reflect poetic or symbolic references tied to cultural identity, emotion, and national resolve. Operation Sindoor, for example, carries a deep emotional and symbolic resonance. Media reports pointed out that SINDOOR essential-

'Sindoor' is the vermillion powder worn by married Hindu women, symbolising their marital status. Reports suggested the name was chosen by Prime Minister Narendra Modi as a tribute to women widowed by a preceding terror attack at Pahalgam on April 22, 2025, thus linking the operation to delivering justice for them. It signifies the reason for the retaliatory action.

Naming a military operation is an act of strategic communication. It influences morale, affects public perception, and sometimes even > conveys subtle political messaging. As a military historian and author Dr Shiv Kunal Verma writes in his book "1962: The War That Wasn't", "Every operation is a story in itself, and the name is its headline — short, striking, and deliberately chosen" - ranging from conventional wars to counterinsurgency missions and international peacekeeping. Early actions like 'Operation Polo' (1948), for Hyderabad's integration, were used as a seemingly innocuous name, possibly to downplay its scale. It was during the First Indo-Pak War of 1947-48, when Pakistan launched Operation Gulmarg' by infiltrating tribal forces into Kashmir, in response, India executed 'Operation Rescue' to airlift troops and save Srinagar. This set the stage for a long hisly stands for 'Strategic Initiative for tory of Indian military preparedness and swift responses to aggression. Over time, operations like 'Operation Vijay' in 1961 for the liberation of Goa and the 1971 Indo-Pak War ['Operation Cactus Lily' (symbolising resilience and strategic reach)] not only expanded India's territory but also underlined India's support for democratic movements, such as in Bangladesh's liberation.

Subsequent operations highlighted India's strategic adaptability and overseas interventions, such as 'Operation Cactus' in the Maldives in 1988 and 'Operation Pawan' (wind) by the Indian Peace Keeping Force (IPKF) in Sri Lanka in 1987. The 'Kargil War' of 1999 saw a reuse of the name 'Operation Vijay', affirming victory against infiltrators, supported by the IAF's 'Operation Safed Sagar' ('White Sea' — a metaphor for snowy peaks where operations occurred). These counterinsurgency and internal security missions derived their names indicating their purpose. In recent decades, the military's focus shifted to counter-insurgency and surgical precision, evident in operations like 'All Out' in Kashmir and 'Operation Bandar' in 2019 after the Pulwama attack. These reflect a doctrine of swift and decisive strikes.

The naming of operations often reflects deep cultural resonance and psychological messaging. Many names are derived from Sanskrit or Indian mythology, like 'Parakram' (valour), 'Meghdoot' (cloud messenger), or Bandar' (a Monkey symbol akin to Lord Hanuman). Others carry symbolic weight, such as 'Cactus' (resilience), 'Rakshak' ('protector', initiated in J&K in 1990), or 'Sankalp' (determination/commitment — Indian Navy's initiative at Gulf region aimed at ensuring the security of the regional maritime domain and curbing anti-piracy activities) — reinforcing the moral justification and purpose behind the military action. Names also serve operational needs — either to deceive, inspire, or signal strategic intent — underscoring how India's military engagements are not only about tactics on the ground but also narratives that echo national identity, resolve, and sovereignty, like "Operation Trident" (December 4, 1971) by the Indian Navy on Karachi Harbour. 'Trident' also refers to the mythical weapon of Lord Shiva, symbolising power, precision, and destruction.

Similarly, "Operation Python" (December , 1971), symbolising a snake known for quietly stalking and suffocating its prey - used as a codename — reinforced the precision and strike of the Indian Naval forces.

Further, humanitarian and evacuation operations frequently employ names reflectng care and assistance. 'Operation Maitri' (Friendship) during the 2015 Nepal earthquake, 'Operation Ganga' (evoking the sacred river) for evacuating citizens from Ukraine in 2022, 'Operation Dost' (Friend) for aid to Turkey and Syria in 2023; or 'Operation Kaveri' (named after the river Kaveri, symbolising life and continuity) 2023, for evacuating Indians from Sudan during the crisis, communicate their compassionate objectives.

In a world where language shapes narratives and perceptions, the codenames assigned to military operations are not random. In the Indian context, they carry deep semantic weight. They are, in essence, history written in real-time — designed to inspire confidence, symbolise national identity, and preserve operational integrity.

AI: Rewriting patient-centric healthcare

earthcare communication is undergoing a seismic shift, and the stakes couldn't be higher. Misinformation is flooding the digital landscape-studies show 52 per cent of online health content contains inaccuracies, according to a 2023 Journal of Medical Internet Research report, while 19 per cent of AI-generated health content harbours errors, per a 2024 Nature Medicine analysis. Globally, the healthcare industry spends a staggering $8.3 billion annually on content creation (Statista, 2024), yet patients still struggle to find reliable, timely, and personalised information. Meanwhile, healthcare professionals are bogged down, dedicating 35 per cent of their time to drafting and reviewing content instead of caring for patients (American Medical Association, 2023). Enter Health Content Management (HCM) — a game-changing approach to streamline content creation and marketing in healthcare. Powered by AI, HCM promises to deliver accurate, engaging, and patient-centric communication that's transforming the industry.

AI-driven Health Content Management is flipping the script on how healthcare organisations produce and share information. With 70 per cent of patients now seeking health advice online (Pew Research, 2024), the demand for credible, tailored content is skyrocketing. AI steps in by automating the creation of evidence-based content that's not just medically sound but also dynamic.

Unlike static articles that gather digital dust, AI can refresh content in real-time-think updated treatment guidelines or breaking health alerts — Keeping patients in the loop with the latest insights. But it's not just about speed. AI personalises like never before.

By analysing patient data-symptoms, demographics, even browsing habits — AI crafts bespoke recommendations. Imagine a 45-year-old diabetic receiving a tailored video on carb counting, a text reminder for their metformin dose, and a podcast on stress management — all delivered via an AI-powered app.

This isn't sci-fi; it's happening now, with platforms reducing patient confusion and boosting adherence rates by 28 per cent, per a 2024 Health Affairs study. AI doesn't stop at creation — it's rewriting the rules of engagement. Intelligent systems tap into patient behaviour and medical histories to deli er hyper-relevant content at the perfect moment.

For instance, a heart patient might get a push notification about low-sodium recipes right before dinner, while a new mom receives a breastfeeding FAQ as she googles late-night feeding tips. Healthcare providers are also reaping the rewards.

AI-powered content marketing ditches the one-size-fits-all model for targeted campaigns that resonate. In India alone, where 1.5 million patients miss follow-ups annually due to poor communication (Lancet India, 2024), AI could bridge the gap, ensuring no one slips through the cracks.

For doctors and nurses drowning in paperwork, AI is a lifeline. A 2024 World Health Organisation survey revealed that clinicians spend 1/ hours a week on administrative tasks including drafting patient letters and educational materials. AI slashes that burden by auto-summarising reports, generating discharge instructions, and even creating multilingual health guides — all in seconds. This frees up to 40 per cent more time for patient care (HealthTech Magazine, 2025).

AI isn't here to replace humans-it's here to amplify them. While 85 per cent of healthcare leaders see AI as a productivity booster (Accenture, 2025), experts stress the need for human oversight. Why? Emotional nuance and clinical judgment can't be coded. A 2024 BMJ Open study found that 23 per cent of AI health content lacked empathy, highlighting the need for doctors and editors to fine-tune the output.

Privacy, bias, and transparency remain hot-button issues; 68 per cent of patients worry about data misuse (PwC, 2024). The fix? AI systems are built on trust, with clear accountability and patient, first design. By 2030, AI-driven HCM could save the global healthcare system $150 billion annually (McKinsey, 2025) while empowering patients with knowledge that sticks. It's not just about efficiency — it's about trust, engagement, and outcomes. The future isn't coming; it's here, and it's patient-centric to the core.

Letters to the Editor

Donald Trump the peacemaker!

Donald Trump is bent upon implementing cease-fire between India and Pakistan, rather in the whole world! This reminds one of the Charlie Chaplin film 'The Kid.' Almost all the wars and disturbances are being fought by weapons provided Trump's America or prominent countries who want to establish peace on earth and save mankind! Charlie Chaplin's accomplice.

Jackie Coogan, the kid, breaks windows and then conveniently Chaplin, the window repairer arrives to carry out his trade!

He has tried to broker end of hostlities between Ukraine and Russia. This is still work in progress, but he has already confirmed the receipt of rare metals from Ukraine in the bargain. Israel is just a proxy fighting America's war.

He has urged Israel to clear Palestine of its inhabitants, either by bombing them or forcing a modern day exodus! He is eyeing to build a French type Riveria there! Even in case of India and Pakistan He has threatened to withhold trade with them! We all know that Donald Trump is not all there, but equating India with Pakistan takes the cake even for his addled brains!

What kind of leadership we have in the world today; meglo-maniacs, machevillian politicians, traders and upstarts? You will hardly find a single statesman among them.

Irresponsible remarks

Our politicians are past masters in resorting to every trick of the trade when it comes to owning up for their mistakes. Rarely, if ever, has an Indian politician tendered an apology for his omissions and commissions. Vijay Shah's vituperative remarks against a senior Army officer offers proof of this. He did apologise, but only under intense public pressure. The Chief Justice of India, BR Gavai, described the minister's comments as unacceptable and insensitive, and has asked him to apologise in the High Court of MP It is distressing to note that the BJP national President JP Nadda, has asked for a report instead of acting swiftly on the matter (Shah's remarks were made in public, and there is fool proof evidence of his mala fide remarks).

India's armed forces are perhaps the nation's last bastions of integrity, probity, honesty and patriotism. Nobody should feel free to take potshots at our defence forces. The episode reflects a troubling attern: political accountability remains elusive in India. When even blatant disrespect towards the armed forces elicits only delayed, pressured apologies, it signals a dangerous erosion of values.

Our leaders must act decisively — not defensively, to uphold the dignity of institutions that safeguard the nation's honour.

Trump claims credit for ceasefire

SRIVASTAVA

It is height of ludicrousness that US president Donald Trump has repeatedly claimed that his administration had successfully brokered the ceasefire between India and Pakistan, averting a potential nuclear conflict.

His statement has drawn angry reactions back home and has raised an important and obvious question that why a top leader of a third country should intervene in the Indo-Pak bilateral issues and make such intolerable claims. As the international community watches the fragile peace between India and Pakistan, Trump's claim adds a complex layer to the narrative of how the ceasefire was achieved, and it clearly underscores the intricate dance of international relations in a region fraught with historical tensions. Meanwhile, it is surprising why Prime Minister Narendra Modi is keeping a hushed silence on Trump's bizarre claim.

He must show his hardiness in such a manner that the US establishment is told in no uncertain terms that India cannot allow any intervention or any conciliatory act by America in the hostile relations between the two neighbouring Asian nations. If such assertions are left unchecked, they risk distorting the global perception of India's sovereignty. Silence at this juncture may be mistaken for consent.

A LANDMARK MOMENT FOR JUSTICE

ountry's first tribal and second female resident administered the oath of office to India's second Dalit and first-ever Buddhist Chief Justice of India, BR Gavai. As the 52nd Chief Justice of India assumes office, it marks not only a personal milestone but also highlights the arduous journey of the nation's highest judicial authority in recognising and striving for the rights, equality, justice, diversity, and representation of its citizens.

Chief Justice Gavai's elevation to this apex constitutional post comes with the immense responsibility of maintaining the credibility and integrity of the judiciary. Though his tenure may be short, it can be made exemplary if he builds upon the legacy of his predecessors and strengthens the foundation of judicial independence and fairness However, it is also a sobering reflection of our judicial system that, to date, only a handful of Supreme Court judges have come from marginalised communities.

There have been only 11 women judges, two Chief Justices from the OBC community, none from Scheduled Tribes, and only 27 judges in total from SC, ST, or OBC backgrounds. Although the judiciary has made significant progress, the pool of candidates from which top court judges are selected must become more inclusive. The collegium system must embrace reform. It must build systems that reward and ensure equal representation of India's diverse social fabric

Klaus Schwab: The Oracle of Davos falls

World Economic Forum, once seen as a summit of global solutions is turning out to be curated illusion — where altruism was performance, and power wore the mask of benevolence

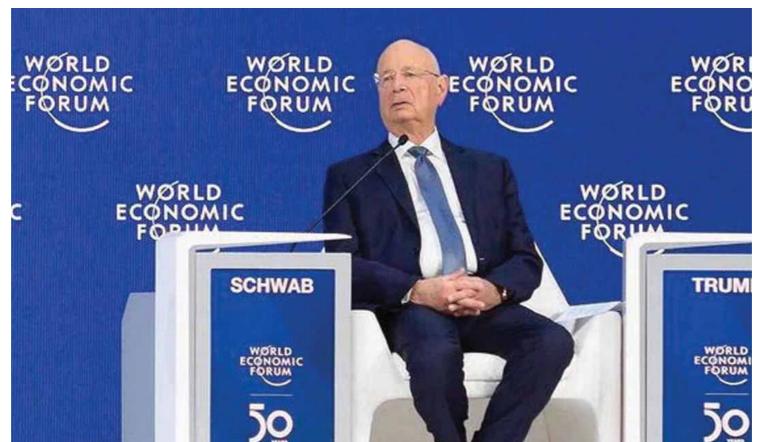

ach year, the anointed elite flew to Davos to witness Klaus Schwab's pageantry where lofty proclamations drowned out the unresolved crises of poverty, health emergencies, and food insecurity. They gathered in alpine luxury, more suited to honeymoons than humanitarian reckoning, to moralise about catastrophes unfolding continents away. The spectacle revealed not merely paradox, but a deliberate choreography of geopolitical theatre — where privilege cloaked itself in altruism and global suffering was repurposed as elite currency

Klaus Schwab, the architect of this icy Olympus, the World Economic Forum's omnipresent paterfamilias, has long styled himself as the cerebral messiah of stakeholder capitalism. With almost oracular cadence, he declared: "The pandemic represents a rare but narrow window $\bar{\text{of}}$ opportunity to reflect, reimagine, and reset our world." It was the kind of proclamation that sounded benevolent to some and Machiavellian to others. To his admirers, he was a prophet of multilateralism and sustainable development; to his critics, a grandiose technocrat cloaked in the language of humanism, who sought not to dismantle the system of inequity but to rebrand it.

Schwab's legacy, now embroiled in scandal and precipitous retreat, was always a palimpsest: the elegant prose of visionary change obscuring darker subtexts of elitism, opacity, and manipulation. The recent whistleblower allegations — detailing misuse of institutional funds, methodological tampering in flagship reports, and attempts to solicit a Nobel Peace Prize, have only validated the long-held suspicions of those who viewed Davos as a vaudeville of virtue signalling. The Financial Times called it a "downfall in Davos," yet it is not merely the top-pling of a man, but the implosion of a grand narrative that spanned five decades.

One cannot ignore the irony that the very man who exhorted the world to "build back better" is accused of bending institutional mechanisms to bolster personal prestige. That Schwab allegedly altered the methodology of the Global Competitiveness Report to curry favour with petulant governments speaks volumes-not only about his imperium within the WEF but about the pliability of 'truth' within the elite consensus. "Over the years I continued to engage with the methodology to improve and maintain the credibility of the report," Schwab protested. But in the realm of epistemic governance, "engagement" too often becomes a euphemism for expedient distortion.

That Schwab's decline coincides with his octogenarian twilight lends the entire episode a tragic Shakespearean air-Lear exiled from his castle not by storm or sword, but by memo. A figure who once dined with monarchs and ministers now pens rebuttals to anonymous emails and threatens defamation lawsuits. His supporters insist he is the target of "character assassination"; others call it a karmic revelation. In his April 1st, email to the trustees, Schwab remarked with characteristically self-assured solemnity, "It is evident that I do not have to strive any more to create a legacy." And yet now, with his departure expedited and ignominy encroaching, that legacy appears less a monument and more a mausoleum. Few remember that Schwab's intellectual lineage was forged not merely in the groves of academia but in the grey spaces between policy, industry, and ideological hegemony His 1971 book Modern Enterprise Management in Mechanical Engineering proposed the then-novel idea that corporations ought to serve all stakeholders, not just shareholders. On the surface, this was prescient. But the WEF he built around that idea became a quasi-aristocracy of corporate nobles, where virtue was worn as adornment and seldom as a burden. He mastered the theatre of global benevolence, wrapping laissez-faire capitalism in the warm hues of inclusivity and green ambition.

In Davos, climate activists mingled with oil executives, AI ethicists with surveillance capitalists. To attend was to be consecrated among the responsible elite — a spectacle of noblesse oblige, where the powerful confessed the sins of others while affirming their salvific role.

Behind the curtains of this alpine symposium, Schwab reportedly centralised control, maintaining a grip so unrelenting that one senior WEF member remarked: "He should have left years ago, but he obviously couldn't. I am sure he'll fight tooth and nail." That insight now reads as prophecy, as Schwab's once — invulnerable façade disintegrates under the weight of new probes, internal dissent, and boardroom tremors.

To speak of Schwab without addressing the WEF's governance is to narrate Hamlet without Denmark. The 2015 Swiss designation of WEF as an "international organisation for public-private cooperation"— complete with tax privileges and special legal status-revealed not neutrality, but institutional sanctification of elite opacity. The requirement that a Schwab family member remain on the board perpetuates not merely nepotism, but a dynastic arrogance that belies the Forum's democratic posturing. What began as an initiative for transnational dialogue became, over time, an ecclesiastic council for technocratic orthodoxy. And still, despite these revelations, Schwab clings to the mythos of personal sacrifice: he waived bonuses, accepted below — market salaries, and saw his spouse offer unpaid labour. One is reminded of Talleyrand's dictum: "They have learned nothing and forgotten nothing." That Schwab, in the end, saw his predicament through the lens of personal martyrdom rather than institutional accountability is less surprising than it is depressingly emblematic.

Uncommonly recounted is Schwab's fierce control over the Forum's narrative architecture. Staff have long whispered of ghostwritten books produced under WEF auspices, generating royalties attributed to Schwab, marketing funded by the Forum, and arguments constructed by its analysts. While commonplace in think tanks, the scale and lack of disclosure here were part of a broader pattern: an empire of ideas with a singular sovereign. Even his aspirational bid for a Nobel Peace Prizeallegedly encouraged by staff at his behest-reveals a man intoxicated not only by influence but by

What remains of Klaus Schwab's WEF is uncertain. Børge Brende and Peter Brabeck-Letmathe may attempt to re-legitimise its mission, dust off its public trust and reaffirm its relevance. But among the Forum's financiers and acolytes, there is growing apprehension: does Davos remain magnetic without its high priest? One insider put it plainly: "That is the biggest worry at the moment. Does it die with him or stick to WEF?"

As Klaus Schwab recedes into the footnotes of history, his final chapter remains unwritten-perhaps he will pen memoirs to catalogue his intentions and proclaim his innocence. Yet, even if he evades formal censure, the myth he so carefully constructed is unravelling. He may be remembered less for the ideals he championed than for the grand illusion he perpetuated: that Davos was a fortress of solutions rather than a gilded stage of detached spectacle. Men like Schwab are often seen as the disease itself, but in truth, they are the symptoms-the parasites-deeply versed in the art of manipulation, thriving within societies long afflicted by such endemic corruption.

Like all ideologues who outlive their eras, Schwab is not merely fading; he is being unmasked, his carefully woven illusions stripped away by the very crises he sought to orchestrate. The page turns, and the Forum endures, but the man who made it immortal now stands conspicuously mortal, and the mountain echoes differently when its oracle have consistently maintained that organised terrorism is a complex low-cost war and not a crime of rage or passion. Terrorists kill unarmed civilians by stealth and deception. They abuse wider trust among communities. They seek to degrade the identity of victims and destroy the faith of people in the ability of their state to protect them. Terrorism seeks to paralyse and cripple the all-round potentials and capacities of a state and society. But a deeper examination suggests that it is also a potent weapon of geopolitics.

Hence, neither the conventional military means nor the routine criminal justice system is in a position to eradicate the threat of terrorism in a definitive time frame and that too at sustainable material-human costs. The Pakistani military has built an elaborate transnational support structure for Islamic terrorism to attack India. It seeks to fracture our national cohesion and destroy the security of our public spaces to cripple our optimal rise as a nation.

Terrorism may have generated a degree of boomerang impact for Pakistan, where some of its proxies have turned against it, but it has consistently and consciously nurtured terrorism to deploy it against India.

A terror attack on the soil of any nation indicates the failure or incapacity of at least some of its institutions. Under these circumstances, a military response is the only option. Successful military attacks on terrorists and their infrastructure help prevent further attacks at least temporarily. But given the symbiotic linkages of terrorism with organised crime and radicalism at one end and geopolitics at the other, I doubt that military strikes are sufficient to eliminate the threat of terrorism. Besides, over-reliance on conventional military means against irregular war of any shade drains national energies, impacting long-term capacities.

JITENDRA KUMAR OJHA

A total military victory against terrorism may be possible only at exorbitant material, human and developmental costs. A developing nation that depends largely upon imported hardware for its military security has to be particularly careful. Terrorists are low-cost dispensable proxies of terror perpetrators. A large pool of radicalised youth, alongside easy access to weapons and dirty cash, shall ensure an abundant supply of terrorists willing to kill and die in the name of Islam.

Hence, the Indian state has to explore effective, innovative and sustainable strategies to win this war within a definite time frame. Prime Minister has been consistently highlighting the twin threat of organised crime and radicalism alongside terrorism. It is assessed that organised crime may be generating hundreds of billions of dollars of dirty money in India itself to feed local and regional infrastructure of terrorism. Organised criminals are suspected of subverting the integrity of state institutions not in the developed world. The entire phenomenon is so clandestine and fluid that the real global masterminds of organised crime can never be pinned down.

As per the Cost War project of Brown University, the United States has spent nearly 8 trillion dollars in the war against terror, which also involved human casualties of around 5 million. Yet the war remained inconclusive. The resultant hit to the US economy depleted its capacity to dominate the world the way it had done in the previous century. It conceded an edge to China in many of the cutting-edge advanced technologies. The hidden complexities of Pak-linked Islamic terrorism may also be formidable. Despite the detection of Osama Bin Laden in Pakistan, there was no serious consequence for the Pakistani military. This generates an apprehension that powerful global forces consider Pakistan's terror capacity as an effective weapon to pursue their geopolitical agenda. We have a very professional military. Pakistan is no match for us. Even impartial global media, including the anti-India New York Times, has confirmed precision strikes of targets deep inside Pakistan territory by Indian defence forces. They have also exposed the bluff and falsehood of Pakistani counter-claims of hitting Indian targets.

Yet Pakistan's unfettered access to advanced Chinese weapons may potentially dilute our advantage. Besides, the Pak military is least committed to its people. Its senior functionaries continue to enrich themselves through dirty and deniable means. They con their masses and serve the agenda of other powerful global forces. Pakistan shall continue to retain its utility for certain global powers who will never let it sink completely. Hence, despite the discontinuation of military supplies to Pakistan by the West, it is assessed that sections of powerful incumbents within their establishments may be having an illicit nexus with the Pak deep state.

On the other hand, India is indeed being bled through thousands of invisible cuts. Apart from external enemies, many influential locals may knowingly or unknowingly — be doing the same. This is what explains our relatively deficient output on most parameters of governance and national power compared to China. This is even though we are an open and competitive society and they are an opaque and authoritarian state. The primary culprit in this direction is bound to be a higher degree of subversion, backed by global organised crime networks. Clandestine global organised crime networks derive their strength from subverted criminal- justice systems in the developing world. It allows them to run parallel regimes in selected pockets and sectors through their proxies. They do not merely infiltrate key institutions but succeed in even hijacking them. It helps neuter the overall capacities of the concerned state to optimally empower and protect itself.

This phenomenon is particularly glaring in most of South America and parts of Africa. But our challenges may be formidable given the sheer geopolitics of the region and the extent of radicalisation amongst Muslim youth amidst Pakistani capacity to aggregate and coordinate terror and organised crime networks.

Hence pursuit of our Prime Minister's aspiration for zero tolerance for terrorism calls for a larger transformation of our systems and psyche. We need a model of governance that optimises our economic and technological strength at a faster pace to bolster our capacities in the sphere of national security. Simultaneously we must focus on innovative strategies to deter and win all shades of irregular. hybrid, covert or even conventional warfare at sustainable costs to protect our growth and developmental goals and potentials.

Beyond report card: Rethinking parenting

n the age of cut-throat competition and an everchanging global landscape, education has become the cornerstone of every child's future. Across India, and indeed the world, academic performance is often seen as the most reliable yardstick of a child's success. Parents leave no stone unturned be it through extra tuition, enrolling them in competitive exams, or monitoring every grade they receive to ensure their children excel in school. While this focus is understandable, it is also shortsighted.

As the old proverb goes, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." A child is not just a vessel to be filled with information but a personality to be nurtured. A parent's responsibility stretches far beyond report cards and test scores; it is a lifelong commitment that includes emotional support, moral grounding, and preparation for real-life challenges.

The recent COVID-19 pandemic laid bare many of the gaps in our educational and parenting systems. With schools closed and children confined to their homes, parents found themselves donning multiple hats not just as caregivers, but also as teachers, counsellors and companions.

In India, the digital divide further highlighted inequalities in access to education. For many parents, especially in rural or economically weaker sections, the burden was twofold: ensuring their children could keep up academically while also coping with the mental health implications of isolation and uncertainty. This scenario was not unique to India; across the globe, families faced similar trials, reminding everyone that it takes a village to raise a child, and that village starts at home.

While academics remain important, the world no longer rewards only rote learning. The global job market increasingly values creativity, adaptability, critical thinking, and emotional intelligence.

India's National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 recognises this shift, advocating for holistic education. One thing that everyone should take note of is that the policies alone cannot shape a child's future; it is the parents who must walk hand-in-hand with schools to implement these ideals. Supporting a child's talents, whether in music, sports, art, or even entrepreneurship, goes a long way in building self-esteem and identity

Mental health, once a taboo subject, is now rightly gaining attention in parenting discussions. According to recent studies, India has one of the highest rates of depression and anxiety among adolescents.

Many of these issues stem from pressure to perform academically, lack of communication at home, and the absence of emotional validation In today's digital world, children are bombarded with unrealistic comparisons on social media, heightening insecurities and stress. Here, the parent's role becomes that of a steady anchor. Lending a listening ear, encouraging open dialogue, and teach ing children that failure is not the end but a stepping stone to growth can make all the difference.

Furthermore, values and ethics are areas that schools can teach only to a limited extent. Parents are the first and most consistent role models for children. Children observe, imitate, and internalise behaviours they witness at home.

Lessons in honesty, kindness, respect, tolerance and humility are best taught through lived examples. In an increasingly polarised and fast-paced world, these qualities are not just admirable but are necessary. As the adage goes, charity begins at home and instilling strong morals in children creates not just good students but responsible citizens of the world.

The role of parents also extends into the digital realm, which has become inseparable from modern education and lifestyle. With children spending more time online for both learning and leisure, guiding them on safe and responsible digital behaviour is crucial.

Parents must teach children how to distinguish credible information from fake news, how to interact respectfully online, and how to set boundaries for screen time. In India, where digital literacy is still catching up with digital access, this role is even more critical.

Encouraging empathy, teamwork and good manners at home prepares children for real-world interactions. Moreover, in today's uncertain world with climate change, political unrest, and economic instability, resilience and adaptability are the new survival skills. These cannot be taught through textbooks alone. Parents encourage children to think independently, solve problems creatively, and face failures with courage.

Life rarely goes according to plan, and children must learn that setbacks are not signs of inadequacy but invitations to try again. When the going gets tough, the tough get going, and parents must help instil that inner toughness.

In the Indian context, especially among middleclass families, academic achievement is often viewed as the golden ticket to a secure future. While this belief has roots in reality, it has sometimes led to tunnel vision, with creativity, curiosity, and emotional wellbeing sacrificed at the altar of grades. When observed globally, there is a growing understanding that success is multidimensional. Parenting styles are evolving from Scandinavian models of child-centred learning to American approaches that integrate mental health and diversity education. Indian parents, too, must broaden their horizons, blending traditional values with modern understanding to raise children ready for the world stage.

Man arrested for setting fire to UK prime minister's properties

Ukrainian man charged with setting fire to the personal home of British Prime Minister Keir Starmer, along with another property and car linked to him, was held in custody Friday after facing three counts of arson in court.

Roman Lavrynovych, 21, is accused of setting fire to Starmer's house, a building where the prime minister once lived and a small SUV he had owned. He is charged with three counts of arson with intent to endanger life.

Prosecutor Sarah Przybylska said Lavrynovych denied setting the fires and, at this point, there is no explanation for the crimes. No injuries were reported from the three fires that occurred over five days in north London in the past two weeks.

Starmer had moved out of his person-resident Donald Trump used the District Bolland IIIII ond term to outline a vision for restoring global stability that is grounded in pragmatism and self-interest rather than values, holding out US ties to wealthy Gulf countries as a model for America's longtime foes.

His four-day swing through Saudi Arabia, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates, which ends Friday, put a spotlight on Trump's transactional approach to foreign affairs as he was feted by autocratic rulers with a trio of lavish state visits where there was heavy emphasis on economic and security partnerships.

His trip played out against the backdrop of stubborn global conflicts, including Gaza and Ukraine, that showed the limits of his influence.

But Trump insisted he was turning the page on American "interventionalism" in the region as he moved to recognise the new government in Syria for the first time and prodded Iran to engage on nuclear talks before it's too late.

Some takeaways from Trump's travels:

Not this one, as Trump celebrated his business deals with Gulf royals and admired their wealth. Texas mother accused of terrorism for allegedly arming 13-year-old

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Houston

Texas mother has been charged with a terrorism-related crime after being accused of buying her 13-year-old son ammunition and tactical gear as he allegedly planned mass violence at his middle school, authorities said Thursday.

The boy, who was also charged with terrorism, had shown up to the school this week wearing a mask and tactical gear but left shortly after, according to San Antonio police.

He was later detained off campus. In recent years, parents of children who committed school shootings around the US have been taken to court, though in this case no attack hap-

The gun control group Everytown for Gun Safety said it had not found a similar case in which a parent was charged when violence did not occur.

Authorities in San Antonio said the boy's mother had previously been contacted by police, her son's school and Child Protective Services with concerns about her son.

"She appeared to be dismissive and unconcerned with her son's behaviour,"

San Antonio police Chief William P McManus said at a news conference. "Her behaviour is not only dangerous, it's abhorrent, especially as a parent."

The mother has been charged with aiding in the commission of terrorism. She is free on a $75,000 bond.

Joseph Appelt, the mother's attorney, said he was unable to comment as he had just been appointed to the case Thursday and was still learning about it.

Michael Wynne, a Houston-based criminal defense attorney not connected to the case, said he believes laws and prosecutions of parents over allegations they played some sort of role in a school shooting or plans for one "are headed in this direction because of the tragic consequences that can ensue if a parent continues to neglect their responsibilities."

"What we've had in place so far clearly has not worked," Wynne said. We have to do something else because the consequences are so tragic and so dire."

Around October, Child Protective Services reported its concerns about the boy's family to police.

In January, he was found in his school drawing violent pictures and in April he was suspended after researching mass shootings on a school computer, McManus said.

He was allowed to return to campus earlier this month.

On Sunday, a family member saw the boy with a bullet, McManus said.

hen white smoke rose from the Sistine Chapel on 8 May, few outside ecclesiastical circles recognized the name Robert Francis Prevost. However joy erupted in Trujillo, Chiclayo, and among the dusty Andean towns of northern Peru. The man now known as Pope Leo XIV had walked their streets, celebrated Mass in their parks, comforted their sick, and built their churches sometimes literally with his own hands.

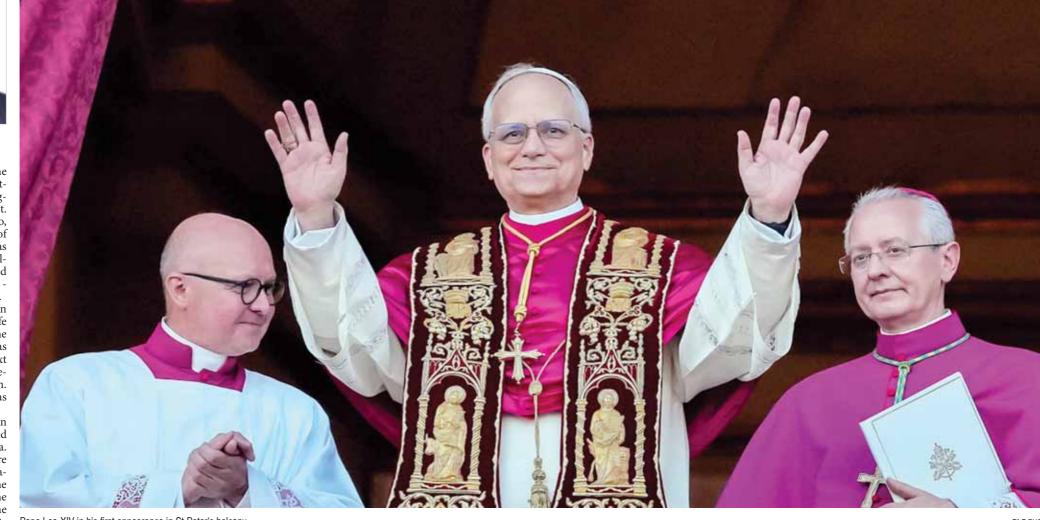

Born in Chicago and ordained as an Augustinian priest, Robert Prevost's life took a decisive turn in 1985 when he arrived in Peru at the age of 30. This was no brief missionary tour. Over the next four decades, Peru would shape his theology, pastoral style, and spiritual vision. In the words of Leo XIV himself, "I was formed by Peru."

His journey began in the Vicariate of San Juan de Sahagún de Chulucanas, tucked into the Andean foothills east of Piura. Later, he moved to Trujillo in 1988, where he became prior of an Augustinian formation community. There, he taught in the seminary, served as judicial vicar for the archdiocese, and led parish work. The parish of Our Lady of Montserrat was little more than a concrete shell when he arrived. With no pews, no electricity, and no running water, it was more construction site than church. Undeterred, Prevost coordinated permits, sourced cement, and even chose the paint for the altar - a celestial blue, to honor Our Lady, though not without some debate from parish-

A Pastor Among the People

To speak of Leo XIV's Peruvian heritage is to speak of a man who embraced the language, customs, and culture of the people. He learned Quechua, the ancient language of the Incas, and urged young seminarians to never forget their roots. "Don't lose your culture," he would say. "Don't forget where you come from."

His pastoral work was grounded in presence - not just symbolic but tangible. He was seen at wakes, feasts, baptisms, and in flood-logged villages, where he waded through water in wellington boots to deliver food. He celebrated Mass in parks when churches were not yet built. He preached simply, advised catechists to "keep homilies short," and often signed off conversations with a typically Peruvian phrase: lo justo - "just enough."

As Bishop of Chiclayo from 2015, Prevost was not content with administrative duties. He engaged directly with crises, from COVID-19 to mass migration. When the pandemic hit, he persuaded wealthy donors to fund oxygen plants for the region. When Venezuelan migrants began streaming into northern Peru - fleeing economic collapse and political repression - Prevost mobilized diocesan resources to shelter, feed, and assist them. "Helping them was his priority," said Yolanda Díaz, who worked closely with him on the pastoral commission for

He recruited laypeople and religious orders alike, including the Daughters of the Blood of Christ and the Society of St Vincent de Paul, to welcome over 1.4 million Venezuelans who had made Peru their home. Prevost even brokered cooperation with hospitals that had previously denied medical care to non-Peruvians and lobbied state agencies to respect migrants' rights. He urged his team to listen first: "Ask them what they need," he said. "Most wanted to legalize their status and enroll their children in school."

A Church Rooted in Justice

Prevost's Peru was not only shaped by natural beauty or cultural richness; it was also marked by injustice. He aligned himself with this mission, founding pastoral ministries for health care, prisoners, and the environment. He understood that evangelization required social engagement - that preaching the Gospel meant building shelters, organizing legal aid, and planting trees. One of his projects involved engaging Venezuelan migrants in reforesting parts of Chiclayo, the "city of friendship," thereby giving dignity through work and healing to scarred land.

His work was in line with the Church's "preferential option for the poor," a phrase popularized in Latin America's theological discourse and lived out by missionaries like Fr Peter Hughes, a longtime friend of Prevost. Hughes, like Prevost, emphasized the need to learn from the poor. "The poor evangelize us," he said. "We cannot be the only ones who proclaim the Word. We must walk with the people and learn what it means to hope in the midst of suffering."

From Bishop to Pope

Despite his deep-rooted love for Peru, Prevost was called to the Vatican in 2023

by Pope Francis to serve as prefect of the Dicastery for Bishops and president of the Pontifical Commission for Latin America. It was a reluctant departure. Friends and colleagues recall his sadness at leaving his adopted country. But even in Rome, his identity as a "Latino Yankee" remained intact — a phrase that reflects both his US-Peruvian heritage and his cross-cultural heart. On the loggia of St Peter's, following his election as Pope Leo XIV, he began his first words in Italian, then immediately shifted to Spanish. "I would like to greet my beloved Diocese of Chiclayo," he said, acknowledging the faithful who had walked with him, challenged him, and, in many ways, made him.

His old friend, parishioner, and catechist, Yvonne Leyva, recalled her disbelief when her daughter told her about the white smoke. "I wasn't watching TV," she laughed. "Then I saw him on the screen and said, 'That's Judith's godfather!" She had once argued with him about the color of an altar. Now, he was Pope.

A Papacy Shaped by the Andes

As he begins his pontificate, Leo XIV carries with him not just theological formation or canonical expertise, but the lived wisdom of Latin America -catechesis in Quechua, and sacramental grace in impoverished barrios.

In him, the Church finds not only a leader but a listener, a builder, and a man who has broken bread with the forgotten. The altars he raised in Peru may have been painted in blue, but they rest on foundations of justice, compassion, and solidarity. In the words of one of his collaborators, "He is what the Church needs."

Pak Foreign Minister calls for 'composite dialogue' with India

slamabad, May 16 (PTI) Pakistan's Foreign Minister Ishaq Dar has called for a "composite dialogue" with India to address the contentious issues between the two sides.

India made it clear that it will only have a dialogue with Pakistan on the return of Pakistan-occupied Kashmir and the issue of terrorism.

Addressing the Senate on Thursday, Dar said the "ceasefire" with India has been extended till May 18, but a political dialogue will ultimately have to take place to resolve the problems between the two neighbours.

India carried out precision strikes under 'Operation Sindoor' on terror infrastructure early on May 7 in response to the April 22 Pahalgam terror attack that killed 26 people. Following the Indian action, Pakistan attempted to attack Indian military bases on May 8, 9

India and Pakistan reached an understanding on May 10 to end the conflict after four days of intense cross-border drone and missile strikes.

"We have told the world that we will hold a composite dialogue," Dar, who is also the Deputy Prime Minister, said. He also said that the Director Generals

He said the event was held with the understanding that preserving the Himalayas means preserving the Earth, the oceans, and humanity itself.

"Our homes are being washed away by landslides. Floods and droughts arrive unexpectedly, yet we remain strong. Our emissions are low, but our contributions to environmental conservation are significant. We hope that this dialogue becomes high-high in moral clarity, strong intellectual courage, and a firm shared vision to create a beautiful future," Oli said, as he underlined the need for global collaboration to save the mountain ecosystem.

In her opening remarks, Foreign Minister Arzu Rana Deuba hoped that the event would foster greater cooperation and political will and result in impactful action for combating the spectre of climate change.

"The tragedy is that the Himalayas are facing an unprecedented stress test in real time today, exposing not only the fragile nature of our mountain ecosystems but also glaring evidence of the lack of meaningful global climate Noting that the cascading impacts of global warming and climate change far exceed "our capacity and resources to mitigate them," Deuba called for "predictable and adequate climate finance as we require greater resources to implement our national and local action plan". India's environment minister Yadav underscored the need for transboundary cooperation between Nepal and India in the area of conservation of big cats, including snow leopards, "considering the importance of high-altitude biodiversity and mountain landscape of both countries.

He noted that South Asia is "responsible for only 4 per cent of cumulative global carbon emissions despite being home to almost 25 per cent of the global population".

Strikes overnight hit across Gaza, including the outskirts of Deir al-Balah and the city of Khan Younis. Gaza's health ministry said hundreds more were injured in addition to those killed. The widespread attacks across come as

Trump finishes his visit to Gulf states but not Israel. There had been widespread hope that his regional trip could usher in a ceasefire deal or renewal of humanitarian aid to Gaza. An Israeli blockade of the territory is now in its third month. Speaking to reporters at a business forum in Abu Dhabi on the final day of his trip, Trump said he was looking to resolve a range of global crises, including Gaza. "We're looking at Gaza," he said. "And we've got to get that taken care of. A lot of people are starving. A lot of people are - there's a lot of bad things going on." Israel said Friday it was continuing its operations against militants in Gaza and that it struck 150 targets in the past day, including anti-tank missile posts and military structures. In northern Gaza, it eliminated several militants who were operating in an observation compound, it said.

The strikes lasted for hours into Friday morning and sent people fleeing from the Jabaliya refugee camp and the town of Beit Lahiya. They followed days of similar attacks that killed more than 130 people, according to Gaza's Health Ministry.

After the strikes, dark smoke was seen rising over Jabaliya as people grabbed what they could of their belongings and fled on donkey carts, by car and foot.

"The army entered upon us, bombing, killing... We got out of the house with difficulty, killing and death, we did not take anything," said Feisal Al-Attar, who was displaced from Beit Lahiya.

Netanyahu vows to step up war

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu vowed earlier in the week to push ahead with a promised escalation of force in Israel's war in the Gaza Strip to pursue his aim of destroying the Hamas militant group, which governs Gaza. In comments released by Netanyahu's office Tuesday, the prime minister said Israeli forces were days away from entering Gaza "with great strength to complete the mission... It means destroying Hamas." An Israeli official said the strikes on Friday were preparatory actions in the lead-up to a larger operation to send a message to Hamas that it will begin soon if there isn't an agreement to release hostages. The official was not authorised to brief media and spoke on condition of anonymity

The same official said that Cabinet members were meeting Friday to assess the negotiations in Qatar, where ceasefire talks are taking place, and to decide on next steps.

Israeli government spokesman David Mencer told The Associated Press on Friday that Israel's military is intensifying its operations as it has done since Hamas stopped releasing hostages. "Our objective is to get them home and get Hamas to relinquish power," he said. He said Israel will continue pressuring Hamas while negotiating, saying that it's getting results.

Historic opportunity

On Friday, families of the hostages said they awoke up with "heavy hearts" to reports of increased attacks and called on Netanyahu to 'ioin hands" with Trump's efforts to release the hostages. "Missing this historic opportunity for a deal to bring the hostages home would be a resounding failure that will be remembered in infamy forever," the families said in a statement released by the hostage forum, which supports them. The war began when Hamas-led militants killed 1,200 people in an Oct 7, 2023, intrusion into southern Israel. Israel's retaliatory offensive has killed more than 53,000 Palestinians, many of them women and children, according to Gaza's Health Ministry, which does not say how many were combatants. Almost 3,000 have been killed since Israel broke a ceasefire on March 18, the ministry said. Hamas still holds 58 of the roughly 250 hostages it took during its attack on Israel, with 23 believed to still be alive, although Israeli authorities have expressed concern for the status of three of those.

Gaza blockade enters third

The attacks come as Israel enters its third month of blockading Gaza, preventing food, fuel medicine and all other supplies from entering, worsening a humanitarian crisis. Israel says the blockade aims to pressure Hamas to release the hostages it still holds and that it won't allow aids.

Earlier this week, a new humanitarian organisation that has US backing to take over aid delivery said it expects to begin operations before the end of the month - after what it describes as key agreements from Israeli officials

India, US to start ministerial-level meetings to assess BTA's progress

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

· ndia and the US will commence ministerial-level meetings in Washington from May 17 to assess the progress Lof negotiations for the proposed Bilateral Trade Agreement (BTA), provide political guidance to chief negotiators and push forward efforts to deepen economic ties, an official said.

Commerce and Industry Minister Pivush Goval will hold deliberations on the agreement first with US Commerce Secretary Howard Lutnick and later with US Trade Representative (USTR) Jamieson Greer during his four-day visit, the official said.

"The minister will be holding political-level discussions to give negotiations a political steer. They will assess the progress made in the negotiations in the past two months," the official said. This will be the Goyal's second visit to the US.

The minister-level meeting will be followed by the deliberations between chief negotiators of the two countries from May 19 to May 22. The meetings come against the backdrop of both countries exploring ment in goods to secure "early mutual wins" ahead of finalising the first phase of the trade agreement by fall (September-October) this year. The main issues that will figure in the negotiations include market access, rules of origin, and non-tariff barriers. India's proposal to impose a retaliatory duty under the WTO norms on certain US products over American tariffs on steel and aluminium would also figure in the BTA deliberations. Officials from New Delhi and Washington aim to take advantage of the 90-day tariff pause window to advance the talks. The US has suspended the additional 26 per cent tariffs on India till July 9. It was announced on April 2 to bridge the widening trade deficit.

However, the 10 per cent baseline tariff imposed on the countries will continue to remain in place. To give impetus to the talks, India's Chief Negotiator for BTA Rajesh Agrawal, special secretary in the Department of Commerce, and Assistant US Trade Representative for South and Central Asia Brendan Lynch last month held three-day deliberations in Washington. In March this year, Goyal Lutnick. India and the US have already initiated sectoral-level talks for the pact.

To boost bilateral trade, India is seeking duty concessions for labour-intensive sectors like textiles, gems and jewellery, leather goods, garments, plastics, chemicals, shrimp, oil seeds, chemicals, grapes, and bananas in the proposed pact with America. On the other hand, the US wants duty concessions in sectors like certain industrial goods, automobiles (electric vehicles in particular), wines, petrochemical products, dairy, agriculture items such as apples, and tree nuts.

The terms of reference (ToRs) for the BTA have been finalised by India and the US, which include around 19 chapters covering issues like tariffs, goods, services, rules of origin, non-tariff barriers, and customs facilitation. The US has on multiple occasions raised concerns over certain non-tariff barriers being faced by American goods in the Indian markets.

The US remained India's largest trading partner for the fourth consecutive year in 2024-25, with bilateral trade valued at $131.84 billion.

Singtel sells 1.2 per cent stake in Bharti Airtel

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

ingtel on Friday said it has sold about 1.2 per cent of its direct stake in Bharti Airtel for SGD two billion (roughly $1.5 billion) in sync with its active capital management approach to optimise its asset portfolio and drive shareholder returns. Following the sale of 1.2 per cent equity, Singtel will hold a 28.3 per cent stake in India's second-largest telecom operator Airtel. The transaction was executed on a private placement basis to international and Indian institutional investors, including existing shareholders of Airtel, according to Singtel.

"Singtel has sold approximately 1.2 per cent of its direct stake in regional associate Airtel today for SGD 2.0 billion as part of its active capital management approach to optimise its asset portfolio and drive shareholder returns sustainably," Singtel - Southeast Asia's largest telecoms provider — said in a statement.

It said the private placement drew strong interest from existing shareholders and new investors and was well oversubscribed, resulting in an increase in transaction size and tighter final pricing than initial guidance. A large majority of the transactions were sold to domestic mutual funds and international long-only funds. A long-term strategic investor in Airtel for over two decades, Singtel said it has been working with Bharti Enterprises to equalise its effective stake in Airtel in the medium term.

Post the sale of 1.2 per cent holding, Singtel will have a 28.3 per cent stake in Airtel, valued at an estimated SGD eight billion, and generate an estimated gain of SGD 1.4 billion. In 2022 and 2024, Singtel raised a total of about SGD 3.5 billion from the progressive sale of Airtel shares — a 3.3 per cent stake to Bharti Telecom and 0.8 per cent direct stake to GQG Partners. This has helped to support the Group's 5G deployment, digital infrastructure expansion and sustainable shareholder distributions, Singtel said.

"This transaction allows us to crystallise value at an attractive valuation while remaining a significant shareholder of Airtel. "We are pleased to welcome new like-minded investors who share our conviction in Airtel's strong growth potential as India pursues its vision of achieving a $1 trillion digital economy," Arthur Lang, Singtel's Group Chief Financial Officer, said. This, the Singtel CFO said, will further strengthen Airtel's shareholder base, so that long-term growth can be collectively supported.

"The divestment underscores Singtel's commitment to disciplined capital allocation and sustained value realisation for shareholders," Lang pointed out.

This is a key tenet of 'Singtel28' growth plan that has identified active capital management and the financial flexibility it brings as integral to funding growth initiatives while supporting capital returns. Bharti Airtel shares closed at ₹814.35 per share on BSE on Friday, 2.8 per cent lower than the previous close. Other details of the transaction would be available once the stock exchange uploads the related data. Telecom operator Bharti Airtel posted about a five-fold jump in consolidated net profit to ₹11,022 crore in the March 2025

quarter, mainly due to the tariff hike impact and one-time gain on tax benefits. During the reported quarter, Bharti Airtel received favourable orders in certain tax-related matters, which helped it with a one-time tax benefit of around ₹ 5,913 crore. The company's revenue from operations grew 27 per cent to ₹47,876.2 crore during the quarter under review from ₹37,599.1 crore in the March 2024

For the year ended March 31, 2025, Airtel posted about a four-fold increase in consolidated net profit to ₹33,556 crore

The annual revenue from the operations of Bharti Airtel grew 15.33 per cent to at the end of the reported quarter from ₹1.94 lakh crore a year ago.

UP Government set to increase GI-tagged products

VN BHATT Lucknow

he Uttar Pradesh Government is set to significantly expand the number of Geographical Indication (GI) tagged products.

Already leading the nation with 77 GItagged items, Uttar Pradesh is poised to take this achievement to new heights. The Government has formulated a comprehensive action plan to reach the milestone of 152 GI-tagged products. According to the plan, the government aims to secure GI tags for 75 products in the financial year 2025–26. Applications for 25 products are already being submitted to the GI Registry in Chennai and are expected to be completed soon. In addition to increasing the number of GI tags, the State Government is taking robust measures to promote GI products, raise public awareness, and expand the base of authorised users.

The MSME Department is developing a detailed framework to enhance the recognition and reach of GI-tagged products across the state.

A key component of this initiative is identifying and onboarding more entrepreneurs as authorized users of GI products. These users will be officially recognised and play a vital role in promoting GI goods and encouraging wider participation among local producers. The production and marketing of GI-tagged products will catalyse entrepreneurship and awareness at the grassroots level.

It is noteworthy that Uttar Pradesh currently holds the highest number of GItagged products in India. Other leading states in this domain include Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Kerala and Maharashtra.

The MSME Department is signing a Mou with the Human Welfare Association, a renowned GI expert organisation, to strengthen this initiative further. This partnership will be instrumental in expanding the network of authorised GI users and supporting the addition of new GI tags. The move will help safeguard the unique identity of traditional and indigenous products, protecting them from unauthorised use and imitation.

Overall, this initiative will contribute to rural development, preservation of traditional knowledge, and increased marketing and export potential for Uttar Pradesh's

SEBI extends timeline for implementing framework on issuance of ODIs by FPIs

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

arkets regulator SEBI on Friday extended the Timeline for implementing the framework regarding tightening of rules on issuance of offshore derivative instruments (ODIs) by FPIs to November 17.

SEBI, in December, came out with the framework, which was to become effective from May 17.

The framework provides for additional disclosures to be made by ODI subscribers and FPIs (Foreign Portfolio Investors) with segregated portfolios.

"Based on representations received from market participants and in order to ensure smooth implementation of the said circular (issued in December), it has been decided to extend the timeline to November 17, 2025," SEBI said in a circular. The circular proposed to prohibit FPIs from issuing ODIs with derivatives as the underlying or using derivatives to hedge their ODIs in India. This was aimed at addressing regulatory arbitrage for ODIs and FPIs with segre-Further, FPIs cannot hedge ODIs

This registration will have the suffix "ODI" under the same PAN.

For existing FPIs, adding the suffix would not be treated as a name change and a separate registration would not be required for ODIs with government securities as the underlying.

SEBI mandated that ODI subscribers disclose detailed ownership information, up to the level of natural persons, if they meet either of the following criteria: their equity ODI positions account for 50 per cent or more of securities linked to a single Indian corporate group, or their total equity positions in Indian markets exceed ₹25,000 crore. This includes ODI positions taken

¬he hall settled into silence, as though preparing itself for something deeply personal. Could a concert, through sound alone, make you feel the presence of someone who is no longer there? As Mangalotsav began, in honour of Padma Vibhushan Dr Vidushi Girija Devi, it felt as though the audience was stepping into a space shaped by memory and music rather than ceremony.

Girija-Darshan Trust organised a musical tribute concert celebrating the 96th Birth Anniversary of the legendary Padma Vibhushan Dr Vidushi Girija Devi (lovingly called Appa ji). It was a festival of music and memory, aiming to raise awareness of her immense contributions to Indian classical music and to ensure her legacy lives on, as it continues to inspire with dedication. Vidushi Sunanda Sharma and Pandit Rupak Kulkarni opened the evening with a jugalbandi between voice and flute that felt like a conversation between kindred spirits. Sharma's vocals carried the clarity and control of someone trained in a style where detail matters. Kulkarni's flute provided a subtle contrast, each note rising and falling like breath. The dialogue between them was intimate without being inward. Could the memory of an artist live on in the pauses between notes? That question hung in the air as Padma Bhushan Pandit Sajan Mishra and Shri Swaransh Mishra took the stage. Their

SILENCE, AND SUBTLETY

The connection between the two was unmistakable: one led, the other followed, then reversed, as though the raga itself were guiding them both. In a time when tributes can feel staged or hurried, Mangalotsav offered something different. No overstatement. No display. Just music, shaped by love and memory. Isn't that where true tribute lies-in giving space for someone's spirit to be felt, rather rt, at its most powerful, does not imitate life, it Linterrogates it. It holds a mirror to our contradictions, our fragility, and our ceaseless transformations. Metamorphosis, an exhibition by Phaneendra Nath Chaturvedi and curated by Sanya Malik, centres itself around this very idea-the ever-shifting nature of being.

This is a display of artistic mastery and a philosophical inquiry into what it means to live, change, and be human. Chaturvedi's practice is rooted in precision. With pen-and-ink drawings of astonishing intricacy, vivid brushwork, and sculptural guage that questions rather than declares. His works are intense-technically, emotionally, intellectually. The pieces compel the viewer to stop, to look closer, and to think deeper.

The show begins with figural compositionsdetailed drawings that present human forms caught in private moments of awareness, as though engaged in internal monologues. They are states of mind. As one moves further, the artworks towards abstraction. Figures distort and disperse into fluid spaces, where body parts become landscape, and landscape becomes metaphor. It is not a transition guided by chronology, but by thought-by the artist's growing urge to dismantle form and loosen fixed identities. The artist's works often place softness beside steel, delicacy beside density. His recurring use of fragile symbols-butterflies, petals, wings, are poignant rather than ornamental.

They serve as meditations on impermanence, on how the delicate and the transient are the very things that define us. His sculptural interventions, in metal and fibreglass, shimmer with an almost ethereal quality. These are not fixed objects; they react to light, to movement, to mood. In doing so, they mirror the unstable terrain of our emotional lives. There is a compelling contrast in how he pits architectural rigidity against organic drift. Sharp edges dissolve into curving, flowering forms. These tensions are deliberate-they refuse easy resolution. Chaturvedi's art does not comfort; it provokes, yet with a quiet restraint that respects the viewer's intellect and emotion. This exhibition left me not with answers but with questions, the kind that stir and stay. It offers no neat conclusions. Instead, he opens a space for contemplation, where beauty coexists with discomfort, and change is not a narrative arc but a state of existence.

Contours of a Changing Self Lambani Art: Stitching a Heritage and Craft

raditional arts and crafts have long been the soul of cultural heritage, carrying stories, skills, and traditions passed down through generations. However, in today's fast-paced world, many of these age-old art forms are on the brink of extinction due to industrialisation, changing consumer preferences, and a lack of sustainable opportunities for artisans.

Lambani embroidery, a rich and intricate art form practised by the nomadic Lambani community, has long been a symbol of India's vibrant handicraft heritage. Characterised by elaborate stitch work, mirror embellishments, and vibrant colours, this craft carries stories of culture and tradition. The history of Lambani embroidery is a captivating one, rooted in centuries of tradition and craftsmanship. Originating from the nomadic Lambani tribe in India, also known as the Banjaras, this intricate art form has evolved over time while preserving its cultural essence.

As they began settling in the 16th century, embroidery became an integral part of their daily lives, adorning clothing, tents, and household items. Primarily practised by women, this craft played a significant role in shaping Lambani identity and heritage. Characterised by rich symbolism, Lambani embroidery features motifs inspired by nature, including animals, birds, flowers, and geometric patterns. Over time, Lambani embroidery has adapted to new influences and techniques. Despite these changes, the essence of Lambani embroidery remains deeply tied to its historical roots, continuing to be a testament to the tribe's artistic legacy. To preserve and propel this exquisite craft onto a larger stage, Jaypore, a leading advocate for India's artisanal heritage, has embarked on a meaningful collaboration with Lambani artisans. Among them is Uma Devi, a skilled craftswoman whose life has been transformed meet, has now found a sustainable source of income, allowing her to educate her children and improve her family's standard of living. She shares her journey, recalling the financial hardships she faced and how her craft, once undervalued, has now become a means of empowerment. "As we take our first steps in collaborating with the Lambani artisan community, we see immense potential in bringing their intricate embroidery and unique artistry to the forefront." says Manu Gupta, Vice-President and Brand Head of Jaypore.

A crucial part of this initiative is Jaypore's partnership with Sandur Kushala Kala Kendra, a prominent organisation dedicated to supporting traditional crafts. "As we embark on this collaboration, our focus is on learning from these master artisans and working towards reviving their traditional techniques while exploring ways to give them a modern expression," says Radhika Chhabra, Creative Head of Jaypore. This partnership is not just about reviving an ancient art form-it's about creating sustainable livelihoods, fostering gender empowerment, and ensuring that the legacy of Lambani embroidery continues to inspire generations.

IPL resumes with RCB vs Kolkata Knight Riders face-off

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Bengaluru

rought to a halt by the recent India-Pakistan border tensions, the IPL will resume on Saturday with Roval Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) taking on Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) in a high-stakes contest where the spotlight will firmly be on Virat Kohli following his recent Test retirement. The unexpected 10-day break has left both the RCB and the KKR with different goals to achieve and common challenges to hurdle over.

The RCB are second on the table with 16 points from 11 matches and a win here can propel them to the playoffs.

KKR are sixth on the table with 11 points from 12 games and a slip-up will evaporate the defending champions' hopes of making the knockouts.

elhi Capitals' (DC) Mitchell Starc and Donovan Ferreira have opted not to return for the remainder of the IPL, while England all-rounder Will Jacks will rejoin Mumbai Indians (MI) for their final two league fixtures.

Australian pacer Starc and South African batter Ferreira have communicated their decision to the Delhi Capitals management.

Starc has been a pivotal figure in DC's campaign, emerging as their leading wicket-taker with 14 scalps in 11 matches at an average of 26.14. His absence is a significant setback to Delhi's already slim playoff hopes. Ferreira, meanwhile, has played only once this season.

Fellow South African Tristan Stubbs has joined the DC squad for the remaining three league matches. The World Test Championship Final-bound Stubbs will be unavailable for the playoffs should DC

For Punjab Kings, Marcus Stonis and Josh Inglis have agreed to join the team but will be missing its first game post IPL resumption on May 18.

MI batter Jacks confirmed his return by posting a photo of his flight ticket to Mumbai on Instagram on Friday.

But like compatriot Jos Buttler, Jacks will leave for national duty after completing Mumbai Indians' last two league engagements as the IPL play-offs are clashing with England's white ball series against the West Indies starting May 29.

Mumbai Indians currently sit fourth on the points table and must win both their remaining matches to confirm a playoff

The IPL was stopped for a week due to military tension between India and Pakistan. It resumes on Saturday with the final pushed back to June 3 from May 25, clashing with international commitments of players from South Africa, England, Australia and the West Indies.

The jarring notes will be the t was an evening marked by confusion, chaos, rumours and lack of clarity for the Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) players and staff when the IPL game in Dharamsala was called off. team's Director of Cricket Mo Babat said on Friday, adding that they didn't expect the conflict to resolve so soon. The RCB players were returning to their hotel by the team bus after a practice session when they saw images of Punjab Kings and Delhi Capitals cricketers leaving the Dharamsala stadium in darkness on May 8. RCB were scheduled to play Lucknow Super Giants on May 9, the day when IPL was suspended for a week due to India-Pakistan military conflict.

Yes, quite chaotic. Tried to stay quite calm and tried to get as much information from the BCCI as possible and try to communicate with clarity," Bobat, the former England men's team performance director, told RCB Bold Diaries.

"It was a pretty eventful evening. We practiced the day before the Lucknow game. And, then, actually on the bus on the way back, a lot of the guys were watching the game on their phones, the Punjab

"And then we saw the floodlights had gone out and the players had come off the field. We were not too sure what was going on, and only when we got back to the hotel we kind of got a proper sense of what was happening," he added.

Bobat said the team only came to know about the IPL suspension only the next day. His initial thought was that the tournament would be called

"So that evening a lot of rumours, a lot of chat and the next morning we found out that our game wasn't taking place and the competition had been suspended for a period.

"Our initial impression was that the competition would be called off for a period of time. You don't expect a conflict like that to resolve itself, as it did."

He said RCB was mindful of the fact that the players, both Indian and overseas, would want to return to the safety of their homes, given the deteriorating situation.

'We were quite keen to send the players home because actually (it was) a good chance for them to have a break. So for the indian players, that's relatively straightforward.

Was sad, angry when I was not picked, then called up as injury replacement: RCB Patidar

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Bengaluru

ajat Patidar, who is leading Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) this IPL, revisited the 2022 season when he was left "sad" and "angry" after being ignored by the franchise despite assurances, only to be called up later as an injury replacement.

Patidar also admitted that being handed over the captaincy by the inimitable Virat Kohli ahead of IPL 2025 did put him under pressure, but supportive words from the legend calmed him.

Patidar has been one of RCB's middleorder mainstays this season, scoring 239 runs in 11 games as the southern franchise aims for a maiden men's IPL title.

"I had got a message (ahead of the mega auction for IPL 2022) that you be ready... That we will pick you. I had a little hope that I will get another chance (to play for RCB). But I wasn't picked in the mega auction. I was a little sad," said Patidar on an RCB Podcast.

However, the 31-year-old Madhya Pradesh cricketer didn't have to wait long to again wear the RCB colours as one of his state-mates got injured. But Patidar was not really keen on coming back to Bengaluru, knowing that he would hardly get an opportunity to play in a starstudded lineup.

I (had) started playing local matches in Indore (after not getting picked in the auction). Then, I got a call that 'we are picking you as a replacement for Luvnith Sisodia'

- RAJAT PATIDAR, CRICKETER

"I (had) started playing in my local matches in Indore (after not getting picked in the auction). Then, I got a call that 'we are picking you as a replacement for Luvnith Sisodia, who was inured. To tell you frankly, I didn't want to come as a replacement because I knew that I won't get a chance to play there and I always feel that I do not want to sit there

"I wasn't angry. It was like, if they didn't pick me (during the auction), then I won't get it (get to play). I was angry for a while but then I was normal," said Patidar, who led Madhya Pradesh to the 2024-25 Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy final.

Being handed over the reins of a side that has the iconic Kohli in its ranks did pressure on Patidar, but the star batter's backing gave him confidence.

"I had a lot of questions like, there are so many (big players) in the team. Virat Kohli is such a big player, how will you do it under him. I know how supportive he is about this (captaincy change).

"I knew I have his full support. Like I said, this is a learning for me, it's an opportunity for me. So, I will learn as much as I can from him. Because no one has the experience and ideas that he has in every role — be it batting, as an individual and as a captain," said Patidar.

The day he was unveiled as the RCB skipper was one of the most memorable days for Patidar and he says he went "completely blank" while receiving the plaque from Kohli.

Johnson urges overseas players to skip remainder of IPL due to safety concerns ormer Australian speed merchant Mitchell Johnson said it is not wise for overseas players to return for the remainder of the IPL and urged them to prioritise safety over pay cheques in the prevailing circumstances arising out of India Pakistan military hostilities. The world's biggest T20 league was suspended on May 9 due to the tensions on the border triggered by the April 22 terrorist attack in Pahalgam. A day after its suspension, a ceasefire between the two countries was announced, paving the way for IPL's resumption from Saturday.

Johnson, however, believes it would be prudent for the foreign players to skip the remaining matches.

Lamine Yamal scores decisive goal to clinch Barcelona's 28th Spanish league title

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Barcelona

⊣his was Lamine Yamal's season. So it just had to be the teenage phenom who scored the decisive goal to clinch Barcelona's 28th Spanish league title. And what a goal it was for the player who still wears dental braces and sports a new dyed-blond hairdo. The 17-year-old struck the winner in Barcelona's 2-0 victory at crosstown rival Espanyol on Thursday when he slid past two defenders outside the area and whipped one his now trademark left-footed curlers into the corner of the net. It was a perfect culmination to Yamal's last 10 months. After helping Spain win the European Championship last summer, Yamal excelled for Barcelona this campaign with his goals, dribbling and playmaking as he confirmed his status as the next big star of global soccer. Along with Raphinha, Pedri and company, and Barcelona was unstoppable. "I always try my best and today I was lucky it went in," Yamal said. "I am very happy I could help the team and celebrate it."

Fermín López ensured the win in stoppage time after Espanyol was reduced to 10 men in the 80th when Leandro Cabrera received a direct red for hitting Yamal in the stomach while disputing a ball.

Barcelona won the title with two rounds remaining. It completed a domestic double with the Copa del Rey title — treble if you add the Spanish Super Cup — and reached the Champions League semifinals in a fantastic first season for coach Hansi Flick. Flick's team virtually ended Madrid's title defense when it beat its top rival 4-3 on Sunday, making it thankful for what Xavi have us, but it is true that four of four clasico victories across all competitions coach (Flick) has given us a new life," Yamal said.

Madrid's victory over Mallorca on Wednesday prevented Barcelona from winning the title without playing. But the Catalan club needed just two points from its final three games of the season. Barcelona's players danced briefly on the field to celebrate while sprinklers doused them with water. 'You don't win a league every day and we have to enjoy this and give it the value it has," said Barcelona midfielder Pedri after completing his 200th game for his club at age 22. Lionel Messi posted a message on Instagram sending his "Congratulations' for his old team. Real Madrid also congratulated its fierce rival on X, while thousands of Barcelona fans gathered to celebrate in downtown Barcelona.

Barcelona dominated the domestic competitions, winning 15 and drawing two of its league games in 2025. Toss in the cups, and the only tiny blemish was coming ohso-close to reaching the Champions League final before it fell in gut-wrenching fashion at Inter Milan.

Yamal credited his coach for inspiring a core of players who had won nothing last season under Xavi Hernández. "We are
