Maoist chief Basavaraju, 26 Naxals dead in Bastar encounter

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ Narayanpur

n a major success in the ongoing fight against left wing extremism, topmost leader and the backbone of the Naxal movement, Nambala Keshav Rao alias Basavaraju, and 26 other dreaded Maoists were killed by security forces in a fierce encounter in the dense forests of Abhujmad in Bastar region of Chhattisgarh on Wednesday. Basavaraju carried a reward of ₹one crore on his head in Chhattisgarh. He was believed to be 71 years old.

Hailing the operation, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said he was proud of the security forces for the "remarkable success", while Union Home Minister Amit Shah termed it a "landmark achievement' in the battle to eliminate Naxalism. Police said the gunfight took place in dense forests of Abhujmad on the trijunction of Narayanpur-Bijapur-Dantewada districts.

The operation was launched two days back following intelligence inputs about the presence of Central Committee and Politburo members of the CPI (Maoists) as well as senior Maad Division cadres and PLGA (Peoples' Liberation Guerrilla Army) members

So far, bodies of 27 Naxalites and a large number of weapons have been recovered from the spot. A member of the District Reserve Guard (DRG), a unit of Chhattisgarh Police, was also killed in the action while some others sustained injuries, police said.

Prime Minister Modi said he was proud of the security forces who killed 27 Maoists in Chhattisgarh. "Proud of our forces for this remarkable success. Our Government is committed to eliminating the menace of Maoism and ensuring a life of peace and progress for our people," he said in a social media post.

The union home minister said this was for the first time in three decades of India's battle against Naxalism that a general secretary-ranked leader has been neutralised 31st of March 2026," he said. Basavaraju by the security forces. "A landmark achievement in the battle to eliminate Naxalism. Today, in an operation in Narayanpur, Chhattisgarh, our security forces have neutralised 27 dreaded Maoists, including Nambala Keshav Rao, alias Basavaraju, the general secretary of CPI-Maoist, the topmost leader, and the backbone of the Naxal movement," Shah wrote on social media.

Applauding the "brave security forces and agencies for this major breakthrough", the home minister said he was glad to share that after the completion of Operation Black Forest, 54 Naxalites have been arrested and 84 others have surrendered in Chhattisgarh, Telangana, and Maharashtra. "The Modi Government is resolved to eliminate Naxalism before the was in his early 70s, officials said. Hailing from undivided Andhra Pradesh, Basavaraju was the brain behind several major attacks on security forces in Chhattisgarh. He was associated with the banned movement since the 1970s and elevated to the top post in CPI (Maoist) seven years ago, when Naxal activities in their stronghold Bastar region were appearing to be wearing out, officials said.

A resident of Jiyannapeta village in Srikakulam district of Andhra Pradesh, Basavaraju held a BTech degree from the Regional Engineering College, Warangal, and was seen as an enigmatic leader of the outlawed Naxal outfit. Known by the aliases of Prakash, Krishna, Vijay, Umesh and Kamlu, he joined the armed movement as a ground-level organiser. He was considered to have developed expertise in imparting military training and triggering explosives and landmines. Basavaraju's age and looks are still a matter of speculation, with security agencies suggesting he was around 71 years of age. They have only a bundle of old photos from his youth.

Basavaraju carried a reward of ₹one crore in Chhattisgarh. The Governments of other States, including Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra and Telangana, have also announced rewards, an official said. With the latest action, 200 Naxalites have been killed in separate encounters in Chhattisgarh so far this year. Of them, 183 were eliminated in the Bastar division, which includes districts of Bijapur, Narayanpur, Dantewada and

Ashoka professor granted interim bail, SIT to probe

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ New Delhi

◄he Supreme Court on Wednesday granted interim bail to Ashoka University professor Ali Khan Mahmudabad, arrested for his social media posts on Operation Sindoor, but refused to stay the investigation against him. A bench of Justices Surya Kant and N Kotiswar Singh directed the Haryana DGP to constitute a three-member Special Investigation Team (SIT) headed by an IG rank officer also including a SP rank woman officer within 24 hours to investigate the case.

The court said the interim bail was granted to the petitioner to facilitate further investigation and directed Mahmudabad to surrender his passport. The SIT, the bench said, should comprise three directly recruited IPS officers — not from Haryana but serving in the State. The bench said aside from the IG rank officer, two others should be police superintendents or above rank officers. The bench, which examined the online post by the professor, who heads the political science department in the Sonipat-based Ashoka University, questioned his choice of words, saying they were used deliberately to humiliate, insult, or put others in discomfort.

"The choice of words are deliberately made to insult, humiliate or cause discomfort to others. The professor, who is a learned person cannot lack a dictionary...He could have conveyed the very same feelings in a simple language without hurting others. He should have shown respect for the sentiments of others. He could have used a simple and neutral kind of language, respecting others," Justice Kant said.

The bench said though everybody had the right to freedom of expression, Mahmudabad's remarks seemed like "dog whistling", used in legal parlance. 'This is what we call it as dog whistling in law. He should have used more respectful and neutral language," the

Storm, rain, power outage exposes Capital preparedness

RAJESH KUMAR ■ New Delhi

eavy rain, hail stones and strong winds crippled the Delhi-NCR on Wednesday evening, exposing the Delhi Government's much vaunted preparedness to meet such existency. The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) issued a red alert for Delhi-NCR around 8.30 pm, warning of more intense weather activity over the next couple of hour.

A sudden dust storm with heavy rain accompanied a hailstorm hit Delhi and the National Capital Region (NCR), bringing relief from the heatwave conditions prevalent in the national Capital but also disrupting traffic, leading to water logging and power outages in several areas. Many areas reported disruption in electricity supply at the time filing of this report.

Flight operations were hit at the Delhi airport, while Metro passengers on the Yellow Line were stranded for hours. Hoardings fell and trees were uprooted in many localities, with some areas reporting wind speeds of up to 79 kmph.

was nearing Srinagar when it encountered intense weather activity. Hail stones pounded the aircraft as it descended, resulting in what the airline described as "weather-related damage" to the nose of the aircraft. Airline companies issued advisories, ule. In separate advisories, Air India and IndiGo advised passengers to check their flight status before reaching the airport. According to Tata Powers, power disruptions were witnessed in areas across the Capital such as parts of Bawana, Narela, Jahangirpuri, Civil Lines, Shakti Nagar, Model Town, Wazirabad, Dhirpur, Burari. Power lines were damaged by falling trees and branches. "To ensure public safety, electricity supply had to be temporarily suspended in certain areas as a precaution to prevent electrocution," it said. The storm hit just around 8 pm with sudden gusts of winds, and was followed by rain, thunder and hail. While it caused a disruption in life, it also brought relief for the residents of the region from the intense heat experienced in recent days. Top five SC judges skip summer vacation or the first time, Supreme Court's top five judges will sit on summer vacation. Earlier, two judges sat on the vacation benches. It is expected that during vacation the court will hear Presidential Reference on timeline placed on Governors and the President on giving assent to Bills.

The first five judges are sitting through the vacation and continuing to work, yet we are blamed for the backlog. In reality, it is the lawyers who are unwilling to work during the vacations," said CJI BR Gavai on Wednesday. He was responding to an advocate seeking to adjourn the case to mid July, after vacation.

CJI Gavai said lawyers don't want to work during vacation but the judiciary is blamed for the backlog of cases. A bench comprising Chief Justice B R Gavai and Justice Augustine George Masih got miffed when a lawyer urged listing of a petition after the summer vacation. Recently, the top court issued a notification on the benches that will function during the upcoming summer vacation, rechristened as "partial court

Significantly, there will be two to five vacation benches sitting during the partial court working days and even top five courts during this period. According to earlier practice, there used to be only two vacation benches during the summer vacation, and senior judges were not supposed to hold courts. The notification outlined the weekly allocation of Justices

From May 26 to June 1, the CJI, Justices

Suryakant, Vikram Nath J K Maheshwari and B V Nagarathna will be heading the five benches respectively. During this period, the apex court registry will remain open from 10 am to 5 pm for all officers and staff. The registry will be closed on all Saturdays (except July 12), Sundays, and public holidays.

Ram Temple consecration to avoid Central and State VIPs reducing visibility.

RANJAN DIMRI

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

he construction of the iconic Ram temple in Ayodhya will be completed by June 5 and the consecration of 'Ram Darbar' will be performed in a ceremony beginning June 3, according to Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Construction Committee Chairman Nripendra Misra. In an interview on Wednesday, Misra informed that the 'pran pratishtha' (consecration) ceremony, which is expected to be grand, will be held on June 5. However, the guest list is expected to be different this time, he added. The consecration of Ram Lalla (child Ram) was held on January 22 last year in a ceremony led by Prime Minister . Narendra Modi.

"The idols of Ram Darbar will be consecrated on June 5... The rituals will begin from June 3. Besides that seven other temples have been constructed in the complex and the religious ceremony for those temples will also be performed on the same day. "The construction of the temple will be completed by June 5, except for murals depicting the story of Lord Ram which are to be pitched in the lower plinth of the temple," he said.

Asked whether the June 5 consecration ceremony will be as grand as it was last year, Misra said the temple trust is taking a call on the final modalities. "... The consecration ceremonies are grand always. Because you are obviously invoking and the 'pratishtha' of the Lord is being performed. "But maybe the guest list will be different. Maybe the priests who will come there to perform the puja may be different. So I won't say that it is a similar kind. But I would say it has the same objective and it will achieve the same thing," he said. Misra said the guest list will not include VIPs from the States or the Centre.

"The trust is taking a call on that. And perhaps they would also be inviting many spiritual gurus of different beliefs at the time of that ceremony. The trust has also decided that no VIPs either from the States or the Centre Government will be invited to the ceremony," he added. Misra denied that there were any political objectives behind the construction of the temple. "I do not think that it is any political gimmick or there are any political objectives behind it. It has happened on the order of our Supreme Court and the moment has come after over 500 years of struggle," he said. The new portions of the temple are expected to be opened to the public within a week of the June 5 ceremony, Misra informed.

Gandhis ask for time, Swamy

gets chargesheet in ED case

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ New Delhi

Delhi Special court on Wednesday directed Enforcement Directorate to give a copy of its Chargesheet against Congress leaders Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi in the National Herald case to Subramanian Swamy. Congress leaders sought more time to study ED's chargesheet and Special Judge Vishal Gogne of the Rouse Avenue Court said that it would hear the National Herald money laundering case on a daily basis from Senior Advocate Abhishek Manu Singhvi, appearing for the Gandhis, sought more time to go through the voluminous case record of more than 5,000. They asked that the matter be adjourned to July. However, the Court proceeded to allow the Enforcement Directorate (ED) to make its opening arguments today. Learned ASG has advanced opening submissions. The matter shall be taken on a day to day basis from July 2 till July 8 for submissions on behalf of ED and the proposed accused." Appearing for the ED, Additional Solicitor General

(ASG) SV Raju and Advocate Zoheb Hossain sought to establish the proceeds of crime garnered in the case. In addition to Section 3 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, Section 411 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), which deals with the offence of dishonestly receiving or retaining stolen property, was also applicable to this case, they argued. "Young Indian had no business activity except for continuing for benefit of accused. The shares, assets and rent are the proceeds of crime.

The advertisements and loans have kept out...Once the share has been issued, it is a property. The issuance of shares [of AJL] to Young Indian amounts to an offence of cheating," Hossain said. The Court then asked, "These shares are the derivatives of scheduled offence? Scheduled offence is a trigger for money laundering. It has to be derivative. Not every activity of company may be money laundering. It may be criminal activity." The judge sought clarification on whether the alleged wrongful acts are ascribed to individuals, and whether the Congress party was a victim.

Mane attraction: Lions increase in Gujarat

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ Ahmedabad

The estimated population of Asiatic lions in Gujarat has increased to 891 from 674 five years ago as per the census conducted this month, officials said on Wednesday. Not only has the count gone up by 217, but the animals were found outside the Gir National Park, their traditional habitat, and spread across 11 districts of Saurashtra including nonforested and coastal areas, the officials said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed happiness at the rise in the population of lions in Gujarat, and said 'Project Lion' has helped create a conducive environment for the big cats and ensured their protection. He was reacting to Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel's social media post that the number of lions has risen to 891 in the State. Modi said, "It is very encouraging information. It is heartening to note that the efforts under 'Project Lion' are providing them (lions) a conducive environment and ensuring their protection." "Estimated population of Asiatic lions has increased to 891," Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel told a media briefing on the issue. As per the last census conducted in June 2020, the population of Asiatic lions, a subspecies only found in Gujarat's latest count, there are estimated 196 males, 330 females, 140 sub-adults and 225 cubs, said the Gujarat forest department.

As the population of lions is increasing, their spread in Saurashtra region has also expanded. The big cats were earlier confined to the Gir National Park in Junagadh and Amreli districts, but now they have spread to 11 districts, an official said. As many as 384 lions were counted in Gir National Park Gir area, was estimated at 674. As per the and Wildlife Sanctuary and 507 were found outside its limits, said Jaipal Singh, principal chief conservator of forest. The areas outside Gir where lions were spotted included sanctuaries like Pania, Mitiyala, Girnar and Barda. Some animals were seen in non-forested areas and coastal areas too. Seventeen lions were counted in Barda sanctuary, 15 km from Porbandar. The highest number of lions recorded in a single pride was 17 in Bhavnagar district, official said.

nding the 20-day sit-in protest at the Nangal Dam, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Wednesday declared a symbolic "victory" over what he termed as the "systematic plunder" of Punjab's waters by the Bhakra Beas Management Board (BBMB), and vowed to continue the fight for the state's rightful share. Mann also announced that the Punjab Government would push for the reconstitution of Bhakra Beas Management Board (BBMB) at the upcoming NITI Aayog meeting on May 24, chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Mann, addressing a massive rally organized to mark the conclusion of the dharna observed by the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) as 'Fateh Diwas', lambasted the BBMB, branding it a "white elephant" that had outlived its utility. "Punjab will never accept the BBMB in its current form," he declared, accusing the Board of acting at the behest of the Centre and the Haryana Government to deprive Punjab of its legitimate water share.

He alleged that Haryana had exhausted its allocated water quota by March, but BBMB officials, under political pressure, orchestrated an "unprecedented move" by having its chairman release water from Nangal to Haryana. "It was effectively the theft of Punjab's water," he asserted, stating that Haryana consumed 1.42 lakh cusecs more than its share between September 2024 and Terming BBMB's functioning as opaque and discriminatory, the Chief Minister said: "They took Rs 32 crore from Punjab for various projects but never returned it. With interest, the amount now exceeds Rs 130 crore. We will stake a legal claim to recover it."

Mann also targeted the BBMB for failing to fill over 3,000 posts reserved for Punjab, alleging that it was a deliberate attempt to weaken the state's influence within the Board. "Efforts are underway to ensure that Punjab's representation is restored and our rights safeguarded," he added.

"Efforts will be made to fill these posts at the earliest so that the interests of the state can be safeguarded," he said, adding that even the township of Nangal, which had been aesthetically designed, has been ruined due to the neglect of the BBMB, which is really deplorable. Highlighting symbolic injustices, Mann pointed out that BBMB headquarters showcased photographs of Haryana and Rajasthan Chief Ministers but not of Punjab's. "This kind of systemic exclusion will no longer be tolerated," he said.

Reviving the long-standing canal dispute, Mann suggested building a Yamuna-Sutlej Link (YSL) canal instead of the controversial Satluj-Yamuna Link (SYL). "The Sutlej is already dry. There is no question of sharing a single drop of water. Instead, water from the Yamuna and Ganga should be supplied to Punjab through YŠL," he proposed.

He also criticized the previous SAD and Congress Governments for failing to protect Punjab's water interests. "They stood by silently while our waters were looted," he said.

The dharna, launched by AAP on May 2, protested BBMB's alleged bias in distributing water. The protest intensified after BBMB's decision to release an additional 4,500 cusecs to Haryana. Mann claimed that previous governments never objected to such practices, but "those who defend Punjab's water have now arrived".

The event saw posters of Mann as 'Pania Da Rakha' (saviour of waters) plastered across Nangal town. Senior cabinet ministers including Harjot Bains, Laljit Bhullar, Barinder Goyal, and others were in atten-

Despite the end of the dharna, AAP leaders vowed to persist with their campaign to renegotiate water-sharing agreements like the Bhakra Nangal Agreement (1966) and Ravi-Beas Agreement (1982). As per these pacts, Punjab is entitled to 57.88 percent of Sutlej water, while Haryana and Rajasthan are allotted 32.31 percent and 9.81 percent respectively. With groundwater levels in Punjab depleting rapidly and large parts of the state categorized as red zones, Mann stressed the need for reviewing all water-sharing agreements every 25 years. "These pacts were inked in a different era and do not reflect the current climatic or hydrological realities," he said.

He emphasized the state's renewed focus on canal irrigation to reduce dependency on tube wells. "From now on, villages receiving canal water will get power at night to promote sustainable irrigation," he said.

Minister and Union Minister Manohar Lal Khattar of politicizing the issue. "They turned it into a prestige battle. We have no animosity with Haryana's people, only with the politics they chose," he said, referring to Haryana as a "younger brother" who must act responsibly. "From 1 pm today, water will be released to Haryana as per the state's allocation and in keeping with the capacity of the infrastructure. But the neighbouring state should make judicious use of the water and not hope for extra water during the current cycle," he said Centre Deploys CISF at Bhakra Dam Amid Punjab-Haryana Water Dispute

The Union Government on Wednesday deployed 296 personnel from the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) to take charge of security at the Bhakra Dam, amid ongoing tensions between Punjab and Haryana over river water distribution. The decision, taken by the Union Ministry of Home Affairs, comes on the same day the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) concluded its dharna at the Nangal Dam, marking a politically sensitive turn in the ongoing standoff.

The move is being viewed as a significant assertion of central authority, effectively removing the Punjab Police from their security role at the dam site. Punjab had increased its police presence at the Nangal Dam earlier this month, after BBMB chairman Manoj Tripathi was gheraoed by protestors during a contentious visit to oversee water release to Haryana.

With a financial sanction of Rs 8.58 crore for the deployment, the Bhakra Beas Management Board (BBMB) has been instructed to bear the cost of the CISF personnel - approximately Rs 2.9 lakh per member — and provide necessary infrastructure, including accommodation, communication systems, and transport.

The timing of the deployment has drawn sharp attention, as it coincides with AAP's celebration over blocking the release of additional water to Haryana, which had already exhausted its share for the depletion period ending May 2025. The water-sharing dispute, currently under judicial scrutiny, saw the Punjab and Haryana High Court recently directing Punjab not to interfere in BBMB's operations and authorizing the Board to seek entral forces if needed.

The latest development signaled the Centre's firm intervention in managing a politically volatile issue, while sidelining statelevel resistance and reinforcing federal control over inter-state river water governance.

fter inaugurating the Jail Training Academy in Karnal, Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Wednesday said that around 1300 posts of jail warders will be filled shortly to further strengthen the state's judicial and correctional system. Also, medical and paramedical vacancies in the Prison Department, as well as essential staff positions for the newly built Jail Training Academy in Karnal, will also be filled soon, he added.

Addressing the gathering, Saini also announced that new jails will be constructed in Panchkula, Dadri, and Fatehabad, with an investment of approximately Rs 300 crore. Furthermore, a Gaushala will also be started in the premises of the District Jail, Karnal.

He said that Jail Training Academy was set up to provide comprehensive training to prison personnel with a focus on reform, rehabilitation, and modernization. The academy, spread over 6.5 acres and constructed at a cost of Rs 30.29 crore, incorporates energy-efficient and temperature-optimized techniques. Saini said that the new jail training academy marks the beginning of a transformative approach in the correctional system. "This is not just the inauguration of a building, it is a change of perspective, the beginning of a new vision. Our prisons must become centers of change, revival, and reconstruction, not just punishment," he said.

Saini said that the newly built academy will offer induction training for new recruits and refresher courses for existing staff, ensuring that prison department officers and officials are trained in modern technologies, human rights, and psychological aspects of inmate reform. With changing times, it is essential to equip our jail employees with not just the tools of discipline, but also the spirit of empathy, justice, and social rehabilitation, he

He said in line with the goals of Digital India, Haryana is also moving towards establishing Smart Jails, where modern tools and systems will improve prison management. Earlier, the Chief Minister also visited an exhibition displaying various products creited by jail inmates.

Speaking on the occasion, Cooperation and Jail Minister Arvind Sharma praised the progressive initiatives being undertaken by the Prison Department. He said that Haryana's jails are being modernized and equipped with the latest technology to improve overall management and ensure better rehabilitation outcomes. Highlighting the evolving role of prisons, Sharma said that today, jails are not just centres of confinement, they are spaces for transformation where inmates leave as reformed and better individuals. He said that inmates are actively contributing to jail revenue through various skill-based programmes initiated within the prison system. Sharma also urged CM Saini to consider starting weekly 'Gita Shloka' sessions and to ensure that regular yoga classes are held across all jails in the Additional Chief Secretary, Home and Jails Department, Sumita Misra expressed pride in the establishment of the Jail Training Academy, calling it a prestigious project brought to life through the vision and support of Chief Minister Saini. She highlighted that such a modern and specialized jail training facility is not available in neighbouring states, and may well be the first-of-itskind in North India. Misra said that the state government is actively investing in advanced technologies to modernize prison department. She stated that over 1,100 CCTV cameras have been installed across various jails in the state, significantly enhancing surveillance and security. She further stated that comprehensive mapping of jails with respective courts has been done, enabling undertrial prisoners to appear in court virtually from within jail premises. This initiative not only reduces logistical costs and saves time, but also strengthens security and ensures smoother judicial processes, she said.

The curated day will include participation in official meetings, visits to cyber cells, attendance at grievance redressal sessions, field inspections of developmental projects, and strategy discussions. Students will also enjoy a shared lunch with the DC and SSP, creating a space for mentorship, open dialogue, and career guidance.

At the end of the day, participants will be awarded a Certificate of Participation, a motivational book or diary, and a group photograph with the officers. Each district will compile student reflections into a "District Merit Booklet", documenting the initiative's impact. He also urged that quantitative restrictions should be imposed on import-

In a letter to the Prime Minister, the Chief Minister said that Himachal Pradesh is known as 'Apple Bowl' of the country and is famous for producing delicious varieties of apples. The apple is the prime cash crop of the State and generates an income of about Rs. 4500 crore annually. He said that about 10 lakh mandays are generated due to the apple crop, thereby providing direct and indirect employment to more than 2.50 lakh fam-

Sukhu stated that at present, apples are being imported from nearly 31 countries and about 5.19 lakh metric tonne of fresh apples was imported during the year 2024, an increase of 500 times as compared to 1100 metric tonne imported during the year 1998. He said that the import share from Turkey increased during the year 2020 and recorded the highest increase with 1.29 lakh metric tonne during 2023. He said that a substantial import of 1.17 lakh metric tonne was done from Turkey during 2024, which is 23 percent of the total apple import.

He said that apples from Turkey have been flooding the Indian markets in recent years, which has posed a great threat to the apple growers of the country. "The influx of apples from Turkey has not only undermined the competitiveness of local apple producers but also jeopardizes the livelihoods of small and marginal apple growers of Himachal Pradesh, Uttarakhand and Union Territory of Jammu & Kashmir," he said.

Sukhu said that he would also personally take up the issue of enhancing $\bar{\text{th}}\text{e}$ import duty on apples being procured from Turkey with the Prime Minister during his upcom-

Education issued a revised result of its Class 12 exam on Wednesday after correcting an error in the evaluation process of the English paper. The revised results showed that 88.64 per cent of the students who appeared in the exam held in March have passed, a marked improvement from the previous figure of 83.16 per cent. Moreover, 76,315 of the total 86,373 students have now been declared passed, 3,838 placed under the compartment category and 5,868 have failed. The initial results, announced on May 17, had shown 71,591 students as passed, 5,847 under compartment, and 8,581 as failed. The board reevaluated the Class-12 English paper using the correct answer keys following a "human error" in the compilation of marks for the paper, which was cancelled once, officials said. The paper held on March 8 was rescheduled for March 29 after teachers at the Government Senior Secondary School in Chowari in Chamba district mistakenly opened the question paper of Class 12 in place of Class 10, a day before the exam on March 7. After announcing the Class-12 board exam results on May 17, the board received complaints from many students who secured lower marks in English. The matter was brought to the notice of the authorities by the Himachal Pradesh Government Teachers Union (HPGTU) and private school associations, prompting Education Minister Rohit Thakur to ask the board to probe the matter and take appropriate action.

Heat crisis deepens as summer peaks early

The unprecedented heat has gripped the capital and the worst part — the monsoon is still weeks away

elhi is in a heat emergency. The threat is not just what the thermometer shows — it's in the air we breathe, the infrastructure we rely on, and the fragile lives caught in between. Delhi finds itself teetering on the edge of a climate emergency. With daytime temperatures already breaching unbearable levels and heat indices - the "feels like" temperature - soaring towards a blistering 50°C, the capital is caught in an escalating crisis. A new report by the Council on Energy, Environment and Water (CEEW), titled "How Extreme Heat is Impacting India," paints a stark picture of what's driving this relentless heat. Delhi now ranks among the top 10 most heat-vulnerable regions in the country. The report highlights a dramatic increase in very warm nights — indicating that nights are no longer bringing respite from daytime heat. This disturbing trend, combined with the city's dense infrastructure, is fueling what's known as the urban heat island effect, where tightly packed buildings and roads absorb and trap heat, pushing local temperatures higher than in surrounding rural areas.

To make matters worse, relative humidity in Delhi has climbed nearly 9 per cent in the past ten years. When humidity rises, the body's natural cooling mechanism - sweat evaporation - slows down, making it harder to cope and significantly increasing the "feels like" temperature. Compounding the crisis is the shrinking diurnal temperature range: the difference between day and night temperatures is narrowing, which means the city simply doesn't cool down enough after sunset.

More buildings, more energy use, more vehicles - all these lead to the heat load. While no one is entirely safe, the burden falls heaviest on the most vulnerable. Children, the elderly, and those who work outdoors are at serious risk. Residents of informal settlements, where homes lack insulation, proper ventilation, or consistent electricity, are also disproportionately affected. Low-income families struggle to afford cooling appliances, while people with heart or respiratory issues face compounding health risks. Despite relatively good access to healthcare and electricity in Delhi, the scale of exposure and intensity of the hazard overwhelms these buffers, especially during prolonged heatwaves.

In these conditions, adaptation is the key for survival. People are urged to stay indoors during peak heat hours. Hydration is crucial water intake should be frequent, even without thirst, while alcohol, caffeine, and sugary drinks should be avoided. Wearing loose, lightcolored cotton clothing helps, as does using fans, wet towels, or mist sprays to cool down. And at the first sign of heat-related illness dizziness, excessive sweating, confusion, or nausea — immediate medical attention can save lives. Meteorologists indicate that some relief may arrive with the pre-monsoon showers expected in late June. The Delhi Government's newly launched Heat Action Plan is a timely and vital step, aiming to reduce both short-term harm and long-term risk. However. implementation and execution are vital. What's clear is that this extreme weather is the new normal, and it demands urgent, systemic change.

Balochistan: The search for nationhood

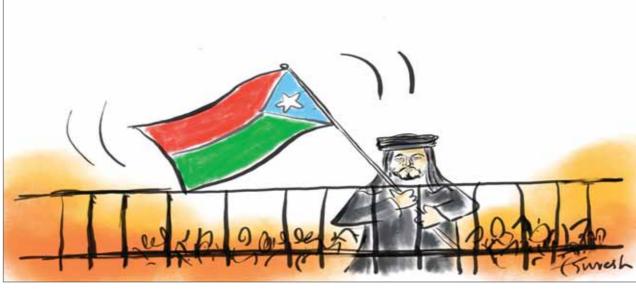

Citing decades of oppression and neglect, Baloch leaders are demanding international recognition for a longsuppressed cause — now thrust into global focus amid rising insurgency and regional turmoil n May 12, 2025, Baloch nationalist leader Mir Yar Baloch made a historic and audacious move: he declared the Republic of Balochistan as an independent nation. In his impassioned address, he called upon the United Nations and the global community to recognise the new state, free from Pakistani domination. What was once seen as a peripheral movement has now emerged as a central fault line in South Asia's geopolitical landscape. The roots of the Baloch nationalist movement run deep. Balochistan — a region straddling Pakistan, Iran, and Afghanistan-has a long history of tribal autonomy and cultural uniqueness. Historically ruled by tribal confederacies and princely states such as the Khanate of Kalat, Balochistan fiercely resisted centralised control. During British colonial rule, the region served as a buffer zone against Russian expansion, with Britain exercising indirect rule while allowing internal autonomy. When British India was partitioned in August 1947, Pakistan was born on the 14th, followed by India a day later. But just before these momentous events, on August 12, 1947, the Khan of Kalat declared Balochistan an independent state. Pakistan's founder, Muhammad Ali Jinnah, initially acknowledged Balochistan's separate identity.

However, pressures from global powers and regional considerations led to a shift. On March 27, 1948, Pakistan forcibly annexed Balochistan — a move widely viewed by the Baloch as illegitimate. This annexation marked the beginning of a long and bitter struggle for autonomy and justice. The decades that followed were marked by uprisings and brutal crackdowns. Major rebellions erupted in 1958-59 and again in 1963-69, led by Nawab Nauroz Khan and Sher Muhammad Marri. In 1973, Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto dismissed the provincial Government, sparking another wave of insurgency. Inspired by the secession of East Pakistan in 1971, Baloch rebels fought for nearly four years before being crushed by superior military force and lack of internal cohesion.

A pivotal moment came in 2006 with the assassination of Nawab Akbar Bugti, a prominent Baloch leader. His death galvanised insurgent groups like the Balochistan Liberation Army (BLA) and the Balochistan Liberation Front (BLF), who began targeting Pakistani military installations, infrastructure, and Chinese investments-particularly those associated with the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC).

Balochistan's grievances are not merely historical. The region, which comprises 44 per cent of Pakistan's landmass and houses around 15 million people, remains one of the most impoverished and underdeveloped areas in the country. Despite its rich reserves of natural gas and minerals, its people face chronic unemployment, illiteracy, and political marginalisation. Baloch representation in Pakistan's power structures — military, bureaucracy, and politics remains negligible. For many Baloch, Pakistan is not a nation but an occupying force.

The Tectonic Shift

Tensions escalated sharply after the May 7, 2025 launch of Operation Sindoor by the Indian armed forces. The operation was a direct response to the Pahalgam massacre, where terrorists-allegedly backed by Pakistan's military-attacked Indian tourists in Jammu and Kashmir. The attack was perceived as an affront to Îndia's post-Article 370 peace efforts, prompting calls for decisive action across India. Operation Sindoor was swift and strategic. As Pakistan reeled from the fallout and turned its focus eastward, the Baloch insurgency surged. On May 11, the BLA launched a coordinated attack across 52 locations, hitting 71 strategic targets in one of the most extensive operations in the movement's history. The very next day, the declaration of independence followed. What had long been simmering beneath the surface exploded into full view.

A Region on the Brink

RAJIV

MALHOTRA

Balochistan has re-ignited debates around suppressed ethnic identities within Pakistan. On social media and in diaspora forums, Baloch voices are gaining traction, framing their struggle as a legitimate fight for self-determination.

Regional stability

Pakistan now finds itself fighting an internal battle on multiple fronts. Already diplomatically isolated and militarily stretched, Islamabad risks further alienating global opinion if it responds with forceful suppression. The haunting memory of Bangladesh's liberation in 1971 looms large. Should the movement gain momentum, the specter of Pakistan's fragmentation becomes a real and pressing concern.

 $\bar{\text{China}}$, deeply invested in CPEC, finds itself in a precarious position. Gwadar Port-a linchpin of Chinese strategic ambitions-is located in Balochistan. A hostile or unregulated Balochistan could disrupt trade routes and force Beijing into direct involvement. Already wary of unrest in its Xinjiang region, China may feel compelled to support Pakistan militarily or deploy private security contractors, effectively internationalising the conflict.

Iran, too, is watching closely. The province of Sistan-Balochistan, home to a significant Baloch population, shares ethnic and cultural ties with Pakistani Balochistan. A successful separatist movement could inspire similar demands within Iran, pushing Tehran into a closer security alignment with Islamabad.

Afghanistan, governed by the Taliban, remains an unpredictable wildcard. Depending on how events unfold, Kabul could either offer safe haven to Baloch militants or leverage the unrest to strengthen its influence The emergence of a declared Republic of along the volatile Durand Line. India stands at a critical juncture. Since Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 2016 Red Fort speech expressing solidarity with the Baloch, India has maintained a position of moral support. Balochistan's declaration presents an opportunity to diplomatically highlight Pakistan's internal contradictions. However, overt support may invite international criticism or military escalation. India is more likely to pursue a strategy of diplomatic engagement, and outreach to the global Baloch diaspora.

Will the world recognise the Republic of Baluchistan? As of now, no state has done so officially. However, support from exiled leaders, sympathetic legislatures, and human rights organisations could slowly tilt the narrative. Symbolic recognitions could embolden the movement and complicate Pakistan's internal dynamics. Islamabad is expected to respond with a mix of force and political maneuvering. Constitutional changes, emergency laws, or military crackdowns may be deployed to suppress the rebellion. Yet, history suggests such measures may deepen the wounds rather than heal them. In truth, whether or not Balochistan gains full statehood, its declaration has laid bare a longneglected crisis.

This is more than a separatist bid-it is a demand for dignity, justice, and self-determination. The Republic of Balochistan may still be a contested dream, but its voice can no longer be silenced. South Asia now stands at a crossroads. Ignore this declaration, and the region risks repeating history. Confront it with wisdom, and perhaps a new, inclusive order can emerge from the shadows of discontent.

Rural India can lead the biodiversity revolution

ith its rich biodiversity, deep-rooted farming traditions, and a population that still lives close to the land, rural India holds the key to reversing India's biodiversity crisis and achieving true sustainable development. As the world observes International Day for Biological Diversity (IDB), the spotlight turns toward the communities that have long lived in harmony with nature and the urgent need to empower them as agents of ecological change.

As we near the 2030 deadline for the Sustainable Development Goals and the Kunming-Montreal Global Biodiversity Framework (KMGBF), it becomes increasingly clear that rural India is not only central to India's biodiversity agenda — it could well be the catalyst that tips the scales.

Biodiversity is far more than an environmental concern; it is the foundation of life. It supports our food systems, sustains livelihoods, regulates the climate, purifies water, and provides protection against natural disasters. The rapid loss of species and ecosystems, both globally and in India, is not just a tragedy for nature — it is a threat to human survival and wellbeing. The KMGBF calls for a global transformation:

a new way of living that restores the balance between people and the natural world. In India, this transformation is most possible and most needed-in our villages and agricultural farmlands. The legacy of the Green Revolution, while pivotal in of depleting it. And yet, this transition requires more than just addressing food shortages in post-independence India, also set farmers on a path heavily reliant on chemical fertilisers, pesticides, monoculture crops, and genetically modified seeds. Over time, this model has led to soil degradation, declining biodiversity, water stress, and increased input costs — leaving many smallholders vulnerable. As the ecological costs of this type of farming become more evident, the need of the hour is to re-educate and enable farmers helping them reconnect with time-tested traditional methods that work with nature, not against it. Natural farming, agroecology, and organic techniques offer a path toward regeneration. And it's not a case of 'easier said than done. Rural India is home to nearly two-thirds of the country's population and the majority of its agricultural production. For centuries, Índian farmers and indigenous communities have worked with, rather than against, nature. They've practised traditional farming systems that nurture biodiversity-rotating crops, saving seeds, maintaining mixed farming systems, and using organic inputs long before they were branded as "sustainable." These time-tested approaches offer valuable solutions to today's challenges — if only we can help our farmers remember them and adopt them.

By building on these traditions and expanding nature-friendly practices like agroecology, organic farming, and natural farming, India can move toward a truly sustainable agri-food system-one that supports biodiversity instead technical changes. It demands a shift in how we value and support rural communities. Farmers must be recognised not only as food producers but as stewards of biodiversity. Their knowledge must be respected, their leadership encouraged, and their work made economically viable.

This moment also calls for greater synergy between policy and practice. India's National Biodiversity Strategies and Action Plans have an opportunity to meaningfully integrate the ambitious targets of the Kunming-Montreal Global Biodiversity Framework (KMGBF) while aligning with national and state-level development priorities. Government support will continue to play a crucial role-through enabling policies, incentives, training, and infrastructure. Just as vital, however, is the active engagement of civil society, CSR bodies, local institutions, and farmers themselves, who bring invaluable on-ground experience and insight. By working together across sectors, we can co-create solutions that are both locally rooted and globally relevant.

As the 2030 deadline looms, the need for action is urgent. But there is still time to rewrite the story. The International Day for Biological Diversity reminds us to recognise that India's future lies not in distant boardrooms or global summits-but in its villages, fields, and forests. Here, harmony with nature is a way of life-waiting to be recognised, revitalised, and scaled for a better tomorrow.

Healthy living is a fundamental right!

CHANDRAKANT

KUMBHANI

Yet in our country, it often feels like a privilege reserved for those who can afford it. Access to quality fitness programme, preventive care, and balanced nutrition remains out of reach for many.

It's time we change that. We must make affordable, high-quality wellness options a part of everyday life for every Indian. At the same time, we face a growing mental health crisis that is dangerously overlooked — chronic loneliness among young urban Indians. Many young people are silently struggling surrounded by people but disconnected within.

This includes regular medical check-ups, mental wellness support, physical fitness, and nutritional balance. A crucial first step is to normalise conversations around mental health. Concerns about loneliness, anxiety, and depression should not be dismissed as mood swings. We must recognise the deeper emotional wounds our society often ignores — anxiety, grief, conditional love, feelings of insignificance, shame, and broken relationships.

These unspoken burdens often lead to depression, which is a prolonged state of despair, hopelessness, and emotional exhaustion. Being excessively self-critical, and enduring toxic work environments are all triggers of emotional stress. It's time we see mental health as integral to overall well-being. Only then can we build a society where healthy living is truly a right for all.

THE INDO-BANGLADESH

he once-warm relationship between India and Bangladesh now shivers under the shadow of trade tensions. India has boldly restricted $770 million of Bangladesh's imports, 42 per cent of its total exports, in response to Bangladesh's restrictive policies, including bans on Indian rice, yarn, and consumer goods, coupled with stringent border inspections. Bangladesh's policies stem from political motives. Post-regime change, hardline forces have fueled anti-India sentiments, straining trade. Last year's $660 million in readymade garments will now enter only through

Kolkata and Nhava Sheva ports, closing northeastern land routes. Bangladesh's economy, reliant on $45 billion in textile exports, faces challenges as its LDC status ends, threatening tariff-free access. India, which offered zero tariffs, now demands a review. By limiting import routes while granting transshipment exemptions to Nepal and Bhutan, India strengthens regional diplomacy. Bangladesh must now choose between cooperation or confrontation. India's move is a masterstroke on the diplomatic chessboard RK JAIN ARJEET | BARWANI

India's semifinal victory in the fight against terrorism

The message of Operation Sindoor was clear: the path to a secure, developed, and globally respected India — Viksit Bharat — demands continued resolve, multidimensional preparedness, and an unflinching stand against terrorism in all its forms n a bold reaffirmation of India's commitment to counter cross-border terrorism, Prime Minister Narendra Modi established a 'new normal' through Operation Sindoor as a strong response to Pakistan-sponsored terrorism. This operation, which featured deep and precise strikes on terror camps located not only in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) but also well within Pakistan's heartland, was unprecedented. It showcased India's strong willpower, operational maturity, and ability to deliver high-precision strikes with minimal collateral damage. India's air defence capabilities were proven effective in neutralising advanced and coordinated drone threats. The successful hits on strategic air bases of Pakistan underscored India's operational readiness and deterrent strength.

Yet, as PM Modi remarked, "We will keep taking decisive steps," which subtly foreshadowed that a full-scale final confrontation is inevitable. Although the exact timeline remains uncertain, decisive engagement appears to be a necessary milestone toward realising the vision of Viksit Bharat — a developed, secure, and globally respected India. Therefore, India needs a multidimensional and proactive strategy to prepare for the final stage of this prolonged conflict.

Diplomatic Front

Despite the operational success, the global diplomatic response did not meet our expectations. China, predictably, stood by its long-time ally Pakistan. The United States, while posturing as the champion of global peace, took a balanced, almost ambivalent stance, attempting to preserve its strategic interests on both sides. The European Union, meanwhile, continued to misinterpret the conflict through a limited prism of the Kashmir issue, failing to grasp the larger menace posed by Pakistan, which is the epicentre of terrorism the world over.

The short-duration conflict has made it amply clear that India was not just fighting Pakistan; rather, it appears to be a broader coalition of actors who perceive India's growing assertiveness as a threat to their geopolitical agendas. This apprehension reached new heights after Operation Sindoor, where India's swift, coordinated and targeted strike incapacitated multiple Pakistani military installations, including airbases, radars, drone depots, and air defence systems.

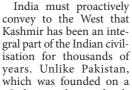

Western powers must reassess their assumptions. While China continues to back Pakistan both economically and militarily, India remains the most stable and democratic partner capable of upholding a rules-based global order in the Indo-Pacific region. The United States, in particular, must recognise that strengthening India is strategically aligned with its interest in counterbalancing Chinese expansionism. However, the American response so far indicates a hesitancy to decisively back India — opting instead to maintain a superficial equilibrium between India and Pakistan. This approach is neither sustainable nor strategic. More importantly, India has to make efforts to shift the prevailing global narrative. The world must be reminded that the Indo-Pak conflict is not simply a territorial dispute over Kashmir — it is fundamentally a battle against state-sponsored terrorism. Pakistan remains a breeding ground for radical Islamic ideologies that have manifested in global tragedies such as the 9/11 attacks, London bombings, Madrid train attacks, and the Charlie Hebdo massacre. These events are enough evidence that the terror ecosystem nurtured by Pakistan's military intelligence, especially the ISI, has global ramifications.

India must proactively rigid two-nation theory, India is a vibrant, pluralistic, and multi-polar democracy that cannot be confined within communal or sectarian boundaries.

WESTERN POWERS MUST REASSESS THEIR ASSUMPTIONS.
WHILE CHINA CONTINUES TO BACK PAKISTAN BOTH ECONOMICALLY AND MILITARILY, INDIA REMAINS THE MOST STABLE AND DEMOCRATIC PARTNER
CAPABLE OF UPHOLDING A RULES-BASED GLOBAL ORDER IN THE INDO-PACIFIC REGION

This historical and cultural context must be highlighted consistently in global forums to counter Pakistan's manipulative propaganda. We need to actively counter-propaganda to reshape the Western perspective on the Kashmir issue.

External Security/Military Front

In the aftermath of the Pahalgam incident and the latest escalation with Pakistan, there is no scope for complacency. The emerging battlefield is not limited to traditional warfare — technological superiority is now decisive. China's rapid advances in military tech, artificial intelligence, and unmanned systems must alert us to the urgency of preparedness. There is no room for laxity. Constant feedback loops from ground-level intelligence, robust cybersecurity infrastructure, and rapid response mechanisms must become the norm.

To effectively counter the growing China-Turkey-Pakistan nexus, India must ensure that it retains a decisive edge in armaments and warfare doctrine. Superior technology, robust logistics, and interoperability across forces are non-negotiable. This preparation must take place with the knowledge that while Pakistan appears on the back foot, its backing from China gives it a dangerous strategic cushion.

The Border Security Force (BSF) currently fulfils its peacetime mandate well, leveraging its familiarity with the terrain and local intelligence. However, it must now evolve into a battle-ready force capable of handling wartime contingencies. This includes enhanced access to artillery support, drone and counter-drone technology, as well as electronic warfare capabilities. Training modules should be updated, and regular joint exercises with the Indian Army must become a routine to ensure coordination during high-stress scenarios.

Internal Security Front

Internal security presents equally pressing challenges. One of the most serious is illegal immigration, particularly from Bangladesh. In 2016, then Minister of State for Home Affairs Kiren Rijiju stated that "as per available inputs, there are around 20 million illegal Bangladeshi migrants staying in India." This mass influx not only strains local resources but has also begun altering demographic compositions in sensitive border states — posing both security and social threat. Implementing the National Register of Citizens (NRC) is imperative. However, it must be done transparently and fairly, shielded from political agendas and vote-bank compulsions. Handling illegal immigration with an iron hand is the need of the hour so that demographic changes can be stopped.

To maintain national harmony, India has to take strong steps against anti-national elements who are out to exploit societal divisions. India is under constant assault from psychological and information warfare, much of it orchestrated by hostile actors across the border. These campaigns are designed to sow discord, spread fake narratives, and erode the nation's trust in its institutions. Social media has emerged as the frontline for such attacks and combating them requires a blend of technological vigilance and legal framework. We must consistently reinforce values of unity, national pride and patriotism. Fake news, hate speech and misinformation must be countered strongly.

In Conclusion

As India stands at a pivotal moment in its security journey, Operation Sindoor must be recognised not as a finale, but as a resounding declaration of intent. It represents India's capability, resolve, and strategic acumen. However, the road to a decisive final confrontation will demand far more — visionary diplomacy, state-of-the-art military readiness, iron-clad internal unity, and above all, an unflinching political will. This is no longer just a regional struggle — it is a defining moment for India's role as a global power. The semifinal has been decisively won. Now, the time has come to prepare — strategically, diplomatically, and militarily — for the final. Victory will pave the way for a truly Viksit Bharat.

Be part of the plan: India's bold vision for biodiversity conservation

s we approach the International Day for Biological Diversity on May 22, the 2025 theme, "Be Part of the Plan," resonates deeply with India's ongoing efforts to safeguard its extraordinary natural heritage. As one of the world's 17 mega-diverse countries, India is home to over 45,000 plant species and 91,000 animal species, many of which are endemic. This rich biodiversity underpins our ecological stability, cultural identity, and economic prosperity. Drawing from my experience as PCCF & Chief Wildlife Warden of Haryana and former IUCN Country Representative, I am proud to share how India aligns with the Kunming-Montreal Global Biodiversity Framework (GBF) to lead global conservation efforts.

Adopted at COP15 under the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD), the GBF sets four global goals and 23 targets to be met by 2030. India played a pivotal role in shaping this framework and is now integrating it into our National Biodiversity Strategy and Action Plan (NBSAP). Our priorities — sustainable agriculture, water security, climate resilience, and disaster risk reduction — are seamlessly woven into this plan, with a strong focus on the 30x30 target (protecting 30% of terrestrial and marine areas), equitable genetic resource access, and enhanced biodiversity financing.

A Unified Conservation Strategy

India's strength lies in its "whole-of-Government and whole-of-society" approach. We are converging sectoral schemes like MGNREGA, the National Mission for Clean Ganga, Jal Shakti Abhiyan, the National Bamboo Mission, and PM Kusum with biodiversity goals. In Haryana, the Aravalli Green Wall Project is a testament to this synergy. By uniting the Forest Department, Rural Development, Panchayati Raj Institutions, and corporate social responsibility (CSR) support, we are restoring degraded Aravalli landscapes with native flora, enhancing water recharge, and boosting carbon sequestration.

Preserving Agro-Biodiversity and Empowering Communities

Our agricultural legacy, with over 160 cultivated species and thousands of climate-resilient landraces, is a treasure we are determined to protect. Through the National Mission on Sustainable Agriculture, Paramparagat Krishi Vikas Yojana, and Plant Genetic Resources Conservation, we are safeguarding indigenous varieties and traditional farming systems. State Biodiversity Boards and over 2.7 lakh Biodiversity Management Committees (BMCs) at the Panchayat level are documenting this knowledge in People's Biodiversity Registers (PBRs). With over 2.9 lakh PBRs, India leads the world in community-based biodiversity documentation.

In states like Maharashtra, Kerala, and Odisha, BMCs are driving conservation reserves, sacred grove restoration, and marine biodiversity monitoring by local fisherfolk and coastal communities. This grassroots momentum embodies the spirit of "Be Part of the Plan." Restoring Ecosystems for a Sustainable Future

To meet the GBF's Target 2-restoring 30% of degraded ecosystems by 2030 — India is scaling up forest landscape restoration, wetland rejuvenation, and coral reef revival. The Namami Gange Programme is a global benchmark, integrating fish diversity monitoring, turtle nesting conservation, and riverine ecosystem restoration. The National Wetland Mission and MISHTI scheme for mangrove plantations further protect ecologically sensitive habitats, ensuring community participation and climate resilience.

Reviving Wildlife and Engaging Youth

Our flagship species recovery programs — Project Tiger, cheetah reintroduction in Kuno National Park, vulture conservation in Pinjore (Haryana), and blackbuck protection in Gujarat and Haryana — demonstrate targeted action. The expansion of Protected Areas, Eco-Sensitive Zones, and Conservation Reserves balances conservation with community livelihoods.

The youth are our future stewards, and the National Green Corps (NGC) Eco-Clubs, active in over 1 lakh schools, are proof of this. These clubs lead plantation drives, cleanliness campaigns, and biodiversity documentation. Digital platforms like iNaturalist India and the India Biodiversity Portal empower citizens to contribute to science and climate action.

Innovative Financing and Global Leadership

India is pioneering biodiversity financing with Green Bonds, Payment for Ecosystem Services, and CSR partnerships. The National CAMPA Authority directs funds toward restoring degraded ecosystems, while the Access and Benefit Sharing (ABS) mechanism ensures communities benefit from biological resource use. Globally, India leads the Global Biodiversity Framework Fund and shares expertise in community forestry, medicinal plant conservation, and biodiversity law with Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

Call to Collective Action

"Be Part of the Plan" is more than a slogan — it is a responsibility. Whether you are a policy-maker crafting biodiversity-friendly laws, a student planting trees, a farmer cultivating indigenous seeds, or a forest officer patrolling a sanctuary, every action counts. As India links biodiversity conservation with climate action, health, and sustainable development, we set a global example. This International Day for Biological Diversity is a moment to commit — a collective pledge to protect our planet's living legacy. Will you join us?

How terror stilled the dreams of Kashmiri women

SHINGHAL SOMANI

Pahalgam, often called "the valley of shepherds," rests gently in the cradle of the Himalayas. With its snow-fed Lidder River, dense pine forests, and sprawling meadows, it's easy to see why this corner of Kashmir is called "paradise on Earth." Each spring, travelers from across the world arrive to ride ponies into the hills, sip hot kahwa by the riverside, and breathe in the crisp mountain air. It is a place where time slows down and serenity fills every breath.

This year, the arrival of spring brought more than blooming flowers — it brought hope. After years of pandemic lockdowns and political tensions, Kashmir's tourist season was finally stirring back to life. Markets began buzzing again, homestays reopened their doors, and visitors started returning. For many local women, this revival wasn't just economic — it was deeply personal. Tourism had become a path to independence. Women were stepping out of their homes and into new roles: hosting travelers in homestays, selling traditional crafts, running food stalls, leading nature walks, and offering embroidery workshops to curious tourists. Slowly, silently, they were stitching together lives of dignity.

Then came April 22, 2025. On that day, in broad daylight, five armed militants attacked a group of people in Pahalgam, opening fire with chilling precision. It was sudden, merciless. Twenty-six people lost their lives, and more than twenty others were injured. It was the deadliest terror attack India had witnessed in recent years, and its impact reverberated far beyond the blood-stained valley.

National headlines captured the horror of the moment — but what happened in the days that followed, especially to the women of Kashmir, was barely mentioned. Tourists began cancelling in droves. According to a recent LocalCircles survey, more than 62 families across India abandoned their travel plans to Kashmir. Travel agencies were flooded with calls for refunds. Hotels and guesthouses stood empty. The laughter, the click of cameras, the joyful hum of a region trying to heal—all of it vanished overnight. And once again, silence returned to the valley. But this silence was not just the absence of visitors. For countless women, it meant the loss of their only source of income. It meant doors closing—on opportunity, on movement, on possibility. Rubeena, who runs a modest kahwa stall near Aru Valley, spoke through tears: "We had just started recovering from COVID-19. April was supposed to be our busiest time. And now, we are back to nothing."

In Anantnag, artisan Shabnam echoed the pain: "We had tourists who returned every year, who remembered our names. Now, they're afraid to come.

And just like that, we are invisible again."

Studies in recent years have shown that tourism in Kashmir offered women more than jobs — it gave them confidence, skills, and a space in the public sphere. In a place long scarred by conflict, these acts — selling tea, guiding a walk, teaching embroidery — were radical steps forward.

Every kahwa poured, every shawl stitched, was a quiet act of resilience.

Now, with fear in the air again, families are reluctant to let women step outside. Daughters are told to stay home. Homestays once proudly run by women stand deserted. Kahwa stalls are shuttered. Craft workshops lie still. The energy that was just beginning to return has gone cold again.

And this is where the true damage of terror lies — not just in lives lost, but in dreams interrupted. In the retreat of women from the spaces they had only just begun to inhabit. In the silence that replaces the sound of ambition. Kashmir's instability doesn't just make headlines; it crushes livelihoods. And while the world debates security and geopolitics, it is the women — without safety nets or alternative employment — who bear the brunt of the fallout. Every cycle of violence sets them back years. When we speak of Kashmir, let us not reduce it to borders and political disputes.

Let us also see the human cost — especially for those whose stories rarely reach the surface. It's not just about danger. It's about lost dignity, interrupted growth, and deferred dreams. Pahalgam has always symbolised peace. But if we allow violence to keep defining this region, we are not just losing a tourist destination — we are losing the women who dared to hope. We are letting fear win over freedom, silence over voice, and darkness over the promise of spring. And that, truly, would be the greatest loss of all.

India-US may announce interim trade agreement before July 8

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

ndia and the US may announce an interim trade agreement before July 8, with New Delhi seeking full exemption from the additional 26 per cent tariff on domestic goods, an official said. The US on April 2 imposed an additional 26 per cent reciprocal tariff on Indian goods, but suspended it for 90 days till July 9. However, the 10 per cent baseline tariff imposed by America remains in place. The government official said India's endeavour to protect its sensitive sectors may entail some quota or minimum import price (MIP). Such sectors include agri goods and dairy.

Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal was there in Washington earlier this week to give an impetus to the trade talks. He held meetings with US Trade Representative (USTR) Jamieson Greer and US Commerce Secretary Howard Lutnick.

"Talks are moving positively. Before July

8, we are looking at concluding an interim deal before the first tranche. It will trying that the 26 per cent additional duty include goods, non-tariff barriers, some areas of services also like digital. We are and the 10 per cent baseline tariff should

At present, the Trump administration requires approval from the US Congress to bring tariffs below the MFN (most favoured nation) rates.

But the administration has the authority to remove the reciprocal tariffs imposed on a number of countries, including India. India may look at certain commitments from the US on the duty concessions for its labour-intensive sector in the first tranche of the proposed bilateral trade agreement (BTA). Both countries have fixed a deadline to conclude the first phase of the pact by fall (September-October) of this year to more than double bilateral trade to $500 billion by 2030.

The minister-level meetings were followed by the deliberations between chief negotiators of the two countries, which will continue until May 22.

Officials from New Delhi and not be there for India," the official said, Washington are looking to take advantage of the 90-day tariff pause window to advance the talks.

The US has suspended the additional 26 per cent tariffs on India till July 9. It was announced on April 2 to bridge the widening trade deficit.

To boost bilateral trade, India is seeking duty concessions for labour-intensive sectors like textiles, gems and jewellery, leather goods, garments, plastics, chemicals, shrimp, oil seeds, chemicals, grapes and bananas in the proposed pact with America.

On the other hand, the US wants duty concessions in sectors like certain industrial goods, automobiles (electric vehicles in particular), wines, petrochemical products, dairy, agriculture items such as apples, tree nuts and GM (genetically modified) crops.

While the import of GM crops from the US continues to remain a non-starter due to regulatory norms in India, New Delhi is open to import non-GM products like Alpha alpha hay (a kind of cattle feed) The US has on multiple occasions raised concerns over certain non-tariff barriers being faced by American goods in the Indian markets. Whether another round of talks will happen on the proposed pact between the two countries, the official said, "We are trying to finalise things as early as possible."

The US remained India's largest trading partner for the fourth consecutive year in 2024-25, with bilateral trade valued at $131.84 billion. The US accounts for about 18 per cent of India's total goods exports, 6.22 per cent in imports and 10.73 per cent in the country's total merchandise trade.

With America, India had a trade surplus (the difference between imports and exports) of $41.18 billion in goods in 2024-25. It was $35.32 billion in 2023-24, $27.7 billion in 2022-23, $32.85 billion in 2021-22 and $22.73 billion in 2020-21. The US has raised concerns over this widening egotiations for a proposed trade pact between India and the 27nation European Union are progressing at a faster pace and both the sides are looking at concluding the talks for an early harvest trade agreement by July this year, a government official said on Wednesday.

The early harvest or an interim trade agreement would include issues such as intellectual property rights (IPRs), government procurement, tariff and non-tariff barriers, the official said.

An Indian official team from the commerce ministry is visiting Brussels this week for the next round of negotiations on the trade agreement with the European Union (EU).

This visit comes in the backdrop of recently-concluded eleventh round of talks between chief negotiators of both the sides on May 16 here in the national capital.

"We are looking for an early harvest. We are trying to do it as early as possible. Targeting by July for early harvest," the official added. The two sides have agreed to conclude the agreement in two phases on account of the uncertain global trade environment, particularly due to the US tariff actions under President Donald Trump.

India has followed the practice of negotiating trade pacts in two phases with Australia.

The early harvest pact would lead to a full fledged free trade agreement.

Besides demanding significant duty cuts in automobiles and medical devices, the EU wants tax reduction in products like wines, spirits, meat, poultry and a strong intellectual

Indian goods' exports to the EU, such as ready-made garments, pharmaceuticals, steel, petroleum products, and electrical machinery, can become more competitive if the pact gets concluded successfully.

It stalled in 2013 due to differences over the level of opening up of the markets. On February 28, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the European Commission President agreed to seal a much-awaited free trade deal by the end of this year.

The India-EU trade pact negotiations cover 23 policy areas or chapters, including Trade in Goods, Trade in Services, Investment, Sanitary and Phytosanitary Measures, Technical Barriers to Trade, Trade Remedies, Rules of Origin, Customs and Trade Facilitation, Competition, Trade Defence, Government Procurement, Dispute Settlement, Intellectual Property Rights, Geographical Indications and Sustainable Development.

India's bilateral trade in goods with the EU was $137.41 billion in 2023-24 (exports worth $75.92 billion and imports worth $61.48 billion), making it the largest trading partner enchmark stock indices Sensex Band Nifty rebounded sharply on Wednesday, snapping their threeday falling streak on the back of buying in blue-chips HDFC Bank and ICICI Bank and a firm trend in Asian peers. The 30-share BSE Sensex jumped 410.19 points or 0.51 per cent to settle at 81,596.63. During the day, it surged 835.2 points or 1.02 per cent to 82,021.64. The NSE Nifty climbed 129.55 points or 0.52 per cent to Among Sensex firms, Bajaj Finserv, Tata Steel, Sun Pharma, Tech Mahindra, Bajaj Finance, NTPC, Nestle, Tata Motors, Hindustan Unilever and Mahindra & Mahindra were the biggest gainers. IndusInd Bank, Kotak Mahindra Bank, Power Grid and ITC were among the laggards.

Moody's Ratings said on Wednesday said India is well-positioned to deal with the negative effects of US tariffs and global trade disruptions as domestic growth drivers and low dependence on exports anchor the economy.

In a note on India, the agency said government initiatives to boost private consumption, expand manufacturing capacity and increase infrastructure spending will help offset the weakening outlook for global demand.

Among Asian markets, South Korea's Kospi, Shanghai's SSE Composite index and Hong Kong's Hang Seng in settled in the positive territory while Japan's Nikkei 225 index ended lower.

Markets in Europe were trading in the negative territory. US markets ended lower on Tuesday.

"Markets exhibited a broadly positive undertone today; however, overall sentiment remained confined within a narrow range, indicating risk of "sell on rallies" strategy in the near future amid escalating uncertainty around India -US trade negotiations," Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Investments

Oil prices climb after CNN report that Israel may attack Iran

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Washington

rorld shares were mixed on Wednesday while oil prices jumped more than 1 per cent after a report by CNN said Israel may be planning an attack on Iranian nuclear facilities. A CNN report cited unnamed intelligence officials saying Israel may be preparing for an attack on Iranian nuclear facilities. Oil prices tend to rise with conflicts that might disrupt oil supplies, and they jumped early Wednesday but lost some of those gains by midday.

US benchmark crude oil gained 93 cents to $62.96 per barrel while Brent crude, the international standard, rose 90 cents to $66.27 per barrel.

In talks on the nuclear issue, Iranian officials have warned they could pursue a nuclear weapon with their stockpile of uranium enriched to near weapons-grade levels. US President Donald Trump has repeatedly threatened to unleash airstrikes targeting Iran's programme if a deal isn't reached. In early European trading, Germany's DAX fell 0.3 per cent to 23,967.81, while the CAC 40 in Paris declined 0.7 per cent to 7,891.05. Britain's FTSE 100 was little changed, at 8,780.46.

The futures for the S and P 500 and the Dow Jones Industrial Average were down 0.6 per cent. In Asia, Tokyo's benchmark Nikkei 225 fell 0.6 per cent to 37,298.98.

Gains have been limited by the continued worries over higher tariffs Trump has imposed on many US trading partners since taking office. Earlier this week, Japanese officials said they were insisting all of his higher tariffs on imports from Japan be removed as part of talks with Washington. Japan's exports have slowed due to the tariffs, the government reported Wednesday. Exports to the US, Japan's largest single trading partner, fell almost 2 per cent year-on-year in April and the annual rate of growth in its global exports slowed to 2 per cent from 4 per cent in March, preliminary customs data showed.

In a step that further weakened Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba's faltering administration, the agriculture minister, Taku Eto, resigned after an outcry over comments he made about not having to buy rice, but getting it for free, at a time when shortfalls in supply have pushed prices of the staple grain sharply higher. In Hong Kong, the Hang Seng picked up 0.6 per cent to 23,827.78 while the Shanghai Composite index edged 0.2 per cent higher to 3,387.57.

SEBI cautions on stock market scams through social media

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ New Delhi

arkets regulator SEBI on Wednesday cautioned investors Wednesday cautioned and against unsolicited messages from unverified people and asked them to refrain from joining WhatsApp groups or communities. This warning comes amid a rise in cases where entities are using social media platforms to entice and deceive gullible investors in the securities market.

SEBI has observed that such entities use various strategies to gain investors' trust and confidence. Generally, these entities send unsolicited invitations in the form of links to join WhatsApp groups or "Free Trading Courses" — targeting prospective clients.

To appear credible, these entities often create fake profiles that depict them as experts in the securities market. In many instances, they impersonate SEBIregistered intermediaries, well-known public figures, celebrities, or CEOs/MDs of established organisations. They exploit investors by showcasing fake testimonials of large profits, supposedly earned by other group members who are actually playing a supporting role in the scam. This misleading portrayal tricks investors into transferring funds to the bank accounts of these entities, lured by false promises of similarly high returns.

Accordingly, SEBI, in a statement, advised investors "to not trust such unsolicited messages from unverified people and refrain from joining such Whatsapp groups/ communities. Investors are advised to deal with only SEBI-registered intermediaries and through authentic trading apps".

According to the latest EY Future Consumer Index (FCI) — India edition, the growing preference for private label products is transforming consumer perceptions, positioning store brands as the favoured alternative to traditional branded options.

The EY Future Consumer Index tracks changing consumer sentiment and behaviours across time horizons and global markets, identifying the new consumer segments that are emerging. The 15th edition of the EY Future Consumer Index surveyed over 1,000 consumers across India, between January 24, 2025, to February 20, 2025. The report said the growing preference for private label products is transforming consumer perceptions, positioning store brands as the favoured alternative to traditional branded options.

It said 52 per cent of consumers are switching to private labels, with 70 per cent agreeing that these brands are increasingly providing better quality products. Around 70 per cent of the consumers believe that private labels meet their needs just as effectively as branded products, it added.

"Even when brands turn to innovation and 'brand improvements' such as changing ingredients or formulas to create more value, 34 per cent of respondents perceive these efforts as cost-cutting measures rather than genuine innovation," it said. Furthermore, 59 per cent of consumers indicated that they only purchase branded products when they are on sale, prioritizing discounts over brand loyalty.

The EY report further said that retailers also appear to be responding to this shift, with 74 per cent of consumers noticing more private label options where they shop and 70 per cent observing more private label items positioned at eye level on store shelves. Additionally, a significant 69 per cent of consumers said that store brands and private labels help them save money. Angshuman Bhattacharya, Partner and National Leader, Consumer Products and Retail Sector, EY-Parthenon said consumer behaviour has traditionally evolved in response to changing economic situations, but the current shifts appear to be more permanent. Retailers are confidently launching private labels and allocating prime shelf space to them, while technology is enhancing the shopping experience by providing consumers with limitless options and the ability to compare products, he said.

"The rapid growth of private labels is further evidenced by the rising popularity of fresh, new brands among Indian consumers. At the same time, this presents established brands with both the opportunity and the imperative to deepen their connection with consumers and explore innovative ways to stay relevant," Bhattacharya added.

The report also noted that 47 per cent of respondents expressed willingness to return to a branded product if it offers superior taste, quality or performance. Additionally, 44 per cent of consumers indicated they would switch back to branded products for better value for money. The EY report also reveals that artificial intelligence (AI) has emerged as a key shopping tool, with 62 per cent of respondents making purchase decisions based on AI recommendations. As many as 58 per cent of consumers stated that AI has significantly enhanced their shopping experience.

Maradona doctors trial suspended after judge authorised documentary

he trial of seven health professionals accused of negligence in the death of Diego Maradona was suspended for a week on Tuesday after one of the judges was accused of being impartial and authorising a documentary about the hearings.

Prosecutor Patricio Ferrari made the request for a suspension and the trial will be halted until May 27 while the court reviews judge Julieta Makintach's role in allegedly allowing a documentary to be filmed during the trial.

Makintach is one of three judges hearing the case and has denied any wrongdoing, but Ferrari argued that "the situation compromises the prestige of the judiciary". The attorneys representing Maradona's family had joined the prosecutor's request for a suspension. The lawyer for two of the former soccer player's daughters, Fernando

Burlando, said the temporary halt would bring about "serenity, thoroughness, and the continuation of the process"

Last week, the lawyer representing Makintach's removal from the trial, argu-

Leopoldo Luque, Maradona's primary physician at the time of his death and one of the main defendants, had requested of impartiality in the proceedings.

Luque's lawyer, Julio Rivas, said he had been contacted by British broadcaster BBC requesting an interview because they were making a documentary about the trial. He added that he had received information that the production company involved in the documentary was associated with Juan Makintach, the judge's brother. Police said Friday they saw a camera in the courtroom, and a courtroom official said its presence was approved by Makintach. Maradona, who led Argentina to the World Cup title in 1986, died on Nov 25, 2020 while undergoing home hospitalisation on the outskirts of Buenos Aires, days after undergoing surgery for a hematoma that formed between his skull and brain. He was 60.

Valencia makes legal threats of racism on documentary

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Madrid

inícius Júnior isn't expected to get involved as Valencia threatens legal action over what it described as "falsehoods" in a Netflix documentary about the player and the racist insults made against him at the Spanish club's stadium two years ago.

Valencia said a recently launched documentary mistakenly accuses a large group of Valencia fans of making racist chants against the Real Madrid forward in a league match in 2023. The club has demanded an immediate rectification by the documentary's production company.

Vinícius' representatives on Tuesday said the demand is against Netflix and the producers of the documentary, and that the player doesn't have anything to do

A request for comment sent to Netflix was not immediately answered.

The documentary includes a social media video showing what appeared to be a large crowd at Mestalla Stadium chanting at Vinícius. The video has the word "mono," Spanish for monkey, in the subtitles. But Valencia claims the fans were actually chanting "tonto," which is

"Because of the injustice and falsehoods against Valencia fans, the club has demanded an immediate written rectification from the documentary's production company regarding the events at Mestalla, which do not correspond to reality. The truth and respect for our fans must prevail. Valencia reserves the right to take legal action," the club posted in Real Madrid coach Carlo Ancelotti was quick to accuse the Valencia fans of racially insulting Vinícius, but later apologised after saying he realised that it wasn't the entire stadium chanting the word monkey. There were fans who did racially abuse Vinícius during that match. Three of them became the first fans to be convicted in racism-related cases in professional soccer in Spain, being handed eighth-month prison sentences.

During their trial, experts showed that the video with the subtitles "monkey" was edited and did not correspond to reality, according to Spanish media.

Vinícius, who was repeatedly subjected to racist insults, was in tears during that match against Valencia in 2023. He confronted a Valencia fan who called him a monkey and made monkey gestures from the stands behind one of the goals. The Brazil forward initially didn't want to continue playing that day.

Would quit than have a bloated squad: Guardiola

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Manchester

Guardiola said he would rather leave Pen Guardioia said in would failed the Manchester City than have to work with a bloated squad next season. The City manager has begun to rebuild his team after the club's first trophyless campaign since 2017.

But he said on Tuesday he had told the club that he will walk away rather than oversee an oversized squad. "I said to the club I don't want that. I don't want to leave five or six players in the tribune," Guardiola said after the 3-1 win against Bournemouth. "I don't want that. I will quit. Make a shorter squad, I will stay. It's impossible for my soul to give (leave) my players in the tribune, that they cannot play."Guardiola left James McAtee, Savinho and Rico Lewis out of his squad for Tuesday's Premier League game. He had to make similarly tough calls for Saturday's FA Cup final loss against Crystal Palace. He has traditionally liked to work with a smaller squad, but a spate of injuries this season including knee surgery for Rodri — severely hampered City's title defense, which unraveled by Christmas. City spent more than $200 million in January to try to salvage the campaign, brining in Omar Marmoush, Nico Gonzalez, Abdukodir Khusanov and Vitor Reis. Guardiola is expected to make major signings in the offseason, with Kevin De Bruyne leaving as a free agent and Kyle Walker also likely to go, but has made it clear he wants to keep his squad numbers down. "I don't want to have 24, 25, 26 players when everyone is fit," he said. "If I have injuries, unlucky.

We have some players for the academy and we do it. "(We) cannot sustain for the emotion of the club, the soul of the team, create another connection with each other that this season we lost it a bit.

Marmoush scores as Kevin De Bruyne says goodbye

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Manchester

mar Marmoush's stunning long-range strike upstaged Kevin De Bruyne on the Manchester City great's Etihad farewell. Marmoush let fly from around 30 yards (meters) to put City ahead in its 3-1 win against Bournemouth in the Premier League on Tuesday.

The victory moved Pep Guardiola's team up to third in the standings and left Champions League qualification in its own hands heading into the last round of the season. "It's really important. To be in the Champions League after what happened (this season) will be really nice," the City manager said. De Bruyne was making his final home appearance for City before leaving the club as a free agent at the end of the season. After a trophy-laden 10 years, the Belgium international was greeted with a huge banner declaring him "King Kev" and given a standing ovation when he was substituted off in the second half. But it was Marmoush's goal after 14 minutes that lit up the match as his dipping shot clipped the post before crashing into the top corner.

It was the type of goal that De Bruyne would have been proud of in a career that has seen him score numerous spectacular strikes of his own. De Bruyne missed a glorious chance to cap his farewell with a goal when missing an open net from close range — shooting against the bar. "Terrible, terrible," De Bruyne said of his miss. "There's no excuses. My son is going to be very tough on me today."

Bernardo Silva doubled City's lead in the 38th and substitute Nico Gonzalez added a third in the 89th. Deniel Jebbison pulled one back for Bournemouth in added time in a game that saw both teams reduced to 10 men. The win saw City bounce back from its FA Cup final loss to Crystal Palace on Saturday. It also means City needs a point in its final game against Fulham on Sunday to all but guarantee Champions League soccer next season, given its superior goal difference to top-five rivals Chelsea and Aston Villa. After ending the season trophyless for the first time in eight years, City can at least secure the consolation of a place in European club soccer's top competition. The loss, however, ended Bournemouth's slim hopes of qualifying for Europe. De Bruyne tribute

De Bruyne was fighting back tears as he addressed the crowd after the match and watched a video montage of tributes from club greats on the stadium's big screen. He was given a guard of honor by his teammates as he walked to the middle of the field with his wife and three children.

City said it would erect a statue in his honor outside the stadium.

"It means I will always be part of this club," De Bruyne said. "Whenever I come back with family and friends, I will be able to see myself so I will always be here."

City also unveiled a mosaic of De Bruyne at the club's academy and named a road on its campus after him. The 33-year-old De Bruyne was part of a period of unprecedented success for City, which saw it win 16 major trophies including six Premier League titles and the Champions League. He waved to the crowd and City fans serenaded him as he left the field in the second half before embracing Guardiola on the touchline. "There are players that are unique," Guardiola said. "In 10 years there are a lot of games, a lot of titles, a lot of moments. Today summarised how much love was there (for him)."

He is the latest City great to have a mural made in his honor, joining Yaya Toure, Joe Hart, David Silva, Vincent Kompany, Sergio Aguero, Fernandinho and Ilkay Gundogan.

Rodri returns

Rodri returned to action eight months after having surgery on an ACL injury that ruled him out for the majority of the season.

The Ballon d'Or winner came on as a second half substitute to make his first appearance since being injured against Arsenal on Sept. 22. His return means he is likely to be available for the Club World Cup in the United States in June and

Palace party

There was no hangover for Crystal Palace after Saturday's FA Cup victory over City.

Eddie Nketiah scored twice in a 4-2 win against Wolves. Just days after Palace's win at Wembley secured its first major trophy, the team kept the party going in front of its home fans at Selhurst Park. Wolves went ahead through Emmanuel Agbadou, but two goals from Nketiah in the space of five minutes in the first half put the home side in front. Eberechi Eze — who scored the winning goal in the final — was on target again late on.

Amorim, Postecoglou say they don't fear losing jobs

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Bilbao

anchester United coach Ruben Amorim and Tottenham manager Ange Postecoglou don't think their jobs are at stake in Wednesday's Europa League final.

Both coaches are under heavy pressure going into the game after dismal campaigns in the Premier League, and the loser is certain face a fresh wave of criticism immediately after the match.

Both coaches were asked about the possibility of their clubs — or themselves wanting to make a change after the final. "I don't think my job is done here," Postecoglou said. "I really feel like we are building something. And what a trophy does is hopefully accelerate this. I still think there's a lot of work to be done. That's quite obvious with the challenges that we've had this year. But also, there's been some growth that I would like to see through. I'm far from thinking that this job is finished."Tottenham is looking for its first title since 2008, having lost the Champions League final in 2019, but has struggled under Postecoglou this season. It sits in 17th place in the Premier League

Man United, meanwhile, is only one spot ahead of Tottenham in the league standings, leaving Amorim in the hot seat. The Portuguese coach said he doesn't know whether he is under more or less pressure than his counterpart at Tottenham. "I know but especially Manchester United, it's strange, because you have some coaches that loses some games and they are sacked," he said. "I think people see what we are trying to do. I think people see that sometimes I'm thinking more (about) the club than myself. People understand, especially the board, that we have a lot of issues. I will try to prove myself to the fans, to the board?

Postecoglou is set to become the first Australian coach to take charge of a team at a major European final, in what will be his 100th match as Tottenham manager. He said he knows "nothing is guaranteed in life, nothing is guaranteed in sport." "You've just got to try and make sure you take every opportunity before you and that's what I've done my whole career," he said. "I've been in this position before, where a big game was the last game I manage. So it's not unusual territory for me. I've always navigated that pretty well."

Postecoglou has a history of changing jobs after leading his clubs to a title.

"I wouldn't be the first person who changes jobs, we all change jobs," he said. "My future is assured. I've got a beautiful family, I've got a great life, I'll keep on winning trophies until I finish, wherever

MAN UNITED AND TOTTENHAM CLASH IN ALL-ENGLISH EUROPA FINAL

Bilbao (Spain): Manchester United and Tottenham will meet in an all-English final in the Europa League later on Wednesday, with both clubs hoping to end a dismal season on a high note.The trophy will offer some relief for the winner, while the loser is likely to face a fresh wave of criticism. United is unbeaten in the Europa League this season but is down in 16th place in the Premier League, one spot ahead of Tottenham. Tottenham was beaten in the 2019 Champions League final by Liverpool, and has not lifted a trophy since the 2008 English League Cup. United picked up its last silverware in the 2024 FA Cup. There was fan trouble overnight in the Basque Country city of Bilbao, where more than 50,000 English fans were expected, many of them without tickets. Supporters from both clubs confronted each other on the streets and in bars, with some throwing trash bins. bottles and other objects at each other. There were also Spanish media reports of confrontations in nearby towns and cities where many of the fans were staying to avoid overpriced accommodation in Bilbao. There were no reports of serious injuries in the confrontations. Tottenham has won all three matches it has played against United this season. It is unbeaten in six straight games against its final rival, with the last five under manager Ange Postecoglou. United and Tottenham have met in just one previous final.

All three players took part in training on Tuesday and could play at least a few minutes if needed.

"Very good for us," Amorim said. "Of course, they are limited in the minutes for the game but they can help us win the game." Matthijs de Ligt will not be available but traveled to Bilbao to support his teammates. Lisandro Martinez is the only other first-team player not available as he remains out with a serious knee injury. The return of Zirkzee was the biggest surprise as he had initially been ruled out for the season because of a hamstring injury he picked up in April. "Me neither," Amorim said when told nobody expected the forward's return. "They recover quite well. They push, of course, and we have to respect the feeling of the player but we push a little bit, as they wanted to be part of the team. That is a very good sign." Dalot was nursing a calf injury since April, and Yoro had been out since earlier this month.

We need to show some humility, says England coach McCullum

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ London

ngland head coach Brendon McCullum feels his players have lacked humility in their recent public utterances and he would like ✓ to see them win back respect from fans ahead of the tough home series against India and the Ashes later this year.

McCullum, while speaking to the media ahead of a lone Test against Zimbabwe starting Thursday in Nottingham, said the players need to be more attuned to public mood. "It's not just about what you do on the cricket field. It's how you carry yourself. It's how you interact with the public. It's the messaging that you give," McCullum told the British media. "The ability these guys have to be able to play on the biggest stage, under the brightest lights and the pressure that takes is one thing, but also the ability to be humble and show some humility and not feel out of touch with the general population is something I'd like to see us improve on.

England's players have drawn criticism for their seemingly nonchalant attitude towards on-field setbacks, the most recent being a winless Champions Trophy campaign in Pakistan. They were also lambasted by former batting star Kevin Pietersen for playing golf while skipping training during a poor limited-overs tour of India before the Champions Trophy. England are playing a one-off Test against Zimbabwe at Trent Bridge before next month's marquee series at home against India and the away Ashes rubber in Australia.

McCullum's remarks come after comments made by some players dismissing criticism came under scrutiny, forcing England's director of cricket Rob Key to say that they need to 'stop talking rubbish'.

Even last month, fast bowler Mark Wood admitted that they can be 'a bit dumb'. "We've just got to be a bit smarter with some of our comments. What we say in that dressing room is often very different to what you expect to come out in a public forum," McCullum said.

"We've got we just got to be aware of that, smart enough to be able to make sure that we articulate things when we get the opportunity so that we don't

Since taking charge of the team in 2022, McCullum changed England's style of play, popularly called the 'Bazball' approach, which emphasises on taking positive decisions in

The move paid dividends initially as from one win in 17 Tests prior to McCullum's era, England emerged victorious in 10 of their next 11 matches. England are currently second in world rankings, but of late, they have been guilty of producing some sloppy performances. Gujarat Titans eye top as LSG look to salvage pride

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Ahmedabad

¬ormer champions Gujarat Titans will aim to extend their winning streak to solidify a top-two finish when they face a struggling Lucknow Super Giants in their Indian Premier League clash here on Thursday.

With 18 points from 12 matches, table-toppers Titans have already booked their place in the playoffs. However, with Royal Challengers Bengaluru and Punjab Kings close behind on 17 points, the race for a top-two spot is still very much alive.

For Gujarat, everything seems to have fallen into place. Their top-order trio of Orange Cap holder B Sai Sudharsan (617 runs), skipper Shubman Gill (601), and Jos Buttler (500), has been in prolific form, laying the foundation for most of the team's victories. Together, they have racked up 16 halfcenturies and a century, dominating the tournament's batting attacks with clinical consistency. Such top-order dominance, however, has left the middle order largely untested. Gujarat's bowling unit has been equally formidable. Their Indian pace battery has led the charge, with Prasidh Krishna being the leading wicket-taker this season after snaring 21 wickets. Mohammed Siraj and lanky left-arm spinner R Sai Kishore have chipped in with 15 wick-Adding further firepower to the attack is the return of South African pace ace Kagiso Rabada, who missed most of the season following a suspension for recreational drug use. On the other hand, Lucknow Super Giants saw their playoff hopes dashed after a comprehensive defeat to Sunrisers Hyderabad on Monday. The Rishabh Pant-led side, now on a four-match losing streak, has endured a campaign riddled with inconsistency and injuries.

LSG have leaned heavily on their overseas recruits — Mitchell Marsh, Aiden Markram, and Nicholas Pooran — for runs. The lack of noteworthy contributions from Pant, who has endured a woeful season, and the middle order has compounded their problems.

Injuries to key bowlers further derailed their campaign. Left-arm pacer Mohsin Khan missed the entire season, while express quick Mayank Yadav, who was retained with high hopes, spent most of it on the sidelines. Avesh Khan and Akash Deep also struggled with fitness, leaving LSG's bowling attack depleted. Pant acknowledged the devastating impact these absences have had on the team. "Definitely, it could have been one of our best seasons but coming into the tournament we had a lot of gaps, injuries and as a team we decided to not talk about that, but it became difficult to fill those gaps for us," he said after their previous game.

Probably fitting that we're at the bottom: Fleming

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

n a candid admission of their pathetic run this IPL season, Chennai Super Kings head coach Stephen Fleming said they deserve to finish at the bottom of the table but promised to come back with "strong ideas".

One of the most consistent sides in the popular league, five-time champions CSK are set to finish last behind Rajasthan Royals to whom they lost by six wickets on Tuesday in their penultimate IPL clash this season. It is not a sight cricket fans are used to considering ČSK's tremendous success in the past. 'No, we don't obviously like being down here, but it's not a motivation. We wanted just a good performance. We're trying to string some performances together. The aim was two good performances (in last two matches).

"Now it'll be one good one to finish. It's probably fitting that we're at the bottom. We've played that type of cricket, so you can't hide away from it," Fleming said after the match. The New Zealander said they know the road ahead and failure of toporder batters has played huge role in the ordinary run. "Our order is not right at this stage, and that is something that we are always looking to rejig. We've got some strong ideas for next year, so all those facets are covered. But that hasn't been possible this year because of the lack of runs at the top. A lot of the batting positions are determined by how well a start we have, and then guys can fall into line. We haven't had that. So we've been just patching innings up, really, rather than constructing good innings," he explained the reason behind the wretched run.

Pacer Anshul Kamboj has managed to impress this season with his pace and Fleming feels he will be a good asset for India after his selection in A side for the England tour. "His speeds have been around 138, 139 (kph). He is deceptive and the ball always seems to hit the gloves harder. His big strength is his length and he just gets the ball to wobble. You saw that today on a reasonably flat wicket and he'll do well on that tour (of England) if he gets conditions that seam a bit and a little bit of swing. He'll be an absolute handful. He has got some real potential with both white and red ball. We're happy with his development and the opportunity he has taken this year."

Diksha leads Indian charge at Jabra Open

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Evian-les-Bains

n-form Indian golfer Diksha Dagar will look to build on her top-10 finishes and aim for the title when she tees off at the Ladies European Tour's Jabra Open starting here on Thursday.

Aside from Diksha, the Indian challenge will also include Tvesa Malik, Avani Prashanth and Hitaashee Bakshi.

Pranavi Urs, who injured her wrist during the Dutch Ladies Open and had to withdraw, will rest out this and the next week. Diksha has moved into the top five of the Order of Merit after finishing tied ninth at the Dutch Ladies Open while Avani is placed 39th in that list after her tied 19th finish at the same event.

Hitaashee also impressed last week as she finished tied 12th in her first LET (Ladies European Tour) appearance this season. Tvesa will be keen to find her rhythm after she failed to make the cut at the Dutch Ladies Open. Diksha has enjoyed a great season with four Top-10 finishes. In nine starts, she has missed the cut just once and one event in Australia was cancelled.

It's going to be a tough England tour: Rathour

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

ormer batting coach Vikram Rathour is expecting a tough England tour for a young Indian side that is now without three stalwarts, who left the Test arena in quick succession. First it was veteran spinner Ravichandran Ashwin and then skipper Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli too walked into the sunset, leaving a huge gap.

Shubman Gill will most likely be India's new Test skipper and will have a new-look top and middle order.

The five-match series will begin on June 20 at Leeds, marking the start of a new World Test Championship cycle ."It's going to be a tough tour. It's not going to be an easy tour because the seniors have retired a lot. So, the young team is leaving. There could be a new captain. So, all these things will add a little bit of pressure," said Rathour, who spoke after Rajasthan Royals' win over Chennai Super Kings

"But also it's an opportunity to showcase your talent and your ability." Rathour, who shared a good rapport with all top Indian batters during his stint, said the fans must respect the decision taken by the senior players.

"All three of them were phenomenal cricketers who retired. So, I would have loved for them to carry on. But its, again, a very, very personal decision. I'm close to all three of them. "So, you know, I would have, as I said, I would have loved to see them play more. But, again, it's a very, very personal decision, I think. And if they've taken this decision, we should respect that," he said.

Rathour, who is the batting coach of RR, was expectedly effusive in his praise for their find of the season, the 14-year-old Vaibhav Suryavanshi, who played a key role in the team signing off with a win against CSK. Instead of an extravagant approach, he took some time and waited before unleashing his shots on Tuesday.

"We've been working with him for quite some time now, maybe three to four months now. We've seen all these aspects, but it's great to see when he's doing that in a game, in pressure situations, in a big game like even today. You're right, the ball was doing a bit when he went in, hardly got any balls, didn't get on strike too much in the power play," Rathour said.

England prepares for first test against Zimbabwe in 22 years

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Nottingham

¬or England, it's little more than a warmup match ahead of much sterner examinations to come.

For Zimbabwe, it means everything. Trent Bridge in Nottingham will host a four-day test match — something of a rarity for the usual five-day format but perhaps a sign of the future — from Thursday when England and Zimbabwe meet for the first time at international level in 18 years since a Twenty20 World Cup match in Cape Town.

You need to go back four more years — to Chester-le-Street in 2003 when Jimmy Anderson, a 20-year-old with highlights in his hair, was playing in his first series — for the last test match between the teams.

Zimbabwe's return to English soil continues the African nation's gradual reintegration to test cricket after two decades of political interference, poor governance and sanctions that resulted in the team being exiled from test cricket for around six years. The Zimbabweans didn't play a test from 2005-11. From 2022-24, they played just four tests. But between December last year and August this year, they'll have played in 10 tests, with two-match series against South Africa and New Zealand to come this summer.

Zimbabwe still isn't part of the World Test Championship but, in the bigger picture, progress is being made.

Zimbabwe Cricket will receive a touring fee from the England and Wales Cricket Board for being the first test opponent of the summer, ECB chief executive Richard Gould confirmed last year while speaking about the 'huge responsibility' to maintain the strength of bilat-

Zimbabwe isn't expected to offer much resistance to England, having slumped to a 138-run defeat to a Professional County Club Select XI in Leicester last week. Before that, however, it did earn a first test victory since 2021 — beating in Bangladesh on the way to sharing the

Debut for Cook

While Zimbabwe's view is very much about the present, England's sights will be on the future. Ahead this summer is a five-test series against India and then an Ashes tour Down Under. For England, it doesn't get much bigger than that, so the match against Zimbabwe will be important preparation, especially for a bowling department at the start of a new era following the test retirements of Stuart Broad (in 2023) and Anderson (last year).

For the Zimbabwe test, England will give a debut to Sam Cook, fellow pacer Josh Tongue is returning to the team after a two-year absence, and Gus Atkinson is about to start his second tion marks about the only specialist spinner in the team, Shoaib Bashir, and the fitness of allrounder Ben Stokes, returning after a hamstring tear to regain the captaincy. Then there's the batting lineup where opener Zak Crawley and No. 3 Ollie Pope have been retained despite continued speculation about their worthiness in the team. There's the welcome sight of a return for wicketkeeper Jamie Smith after missing the tour of New Zealand in November and December while on paternity leave. England is No. 2 in the test rankings but coach Brendon McCullum said 'there's a lot of meat on the bone for us' in the next stage of the so-called 'Bazball' era.
