India flags Pakistan at FATF

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ New Delhi

tepping up its efforts to corner Pakistan on the issue of terrorism, India is likely to approach Financial Action Task Force(FATF) and World Bank and urge the latter to reconsider its expected approval of a $20 billion package to Islamabad in June.

New Delhi will take up terror funding charges against Pakistan to make a case for putting it back in the 'grey list' of FATF, the global money laundering and terror financing watchdog, Government sources said. India is specifically going to point out the non-compliance of legal provisions that Pakistan had promised to comply with when it was taken off the 'grey list' in 2022, they said. The Government is preparing a dossier to be submitted at the next plenary meeting of FATF likely to be held in June, sources said.

India will also actively pursue the FATF to get Pakistan back on to its 'grey list,' which will increase scrutiny on Pakistan's financial transactions, potentially restricting foreign investments and capital inflows.

Pakistan was put on the FATF 'grey list' in June 2018. However, it was removed from the list in October 2022 after the Government committed to curb terror funding. Pakistan also claimed to have jailed and confiscated assets of individuals linked to terror groups. Sources said the Government was disappointed with the $1 billion (around ₹8,500 crore) bailout package granted by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to Pakistan on May 9 at the height of hostilities.

The Government conveyed its disappointment directly to IMF managing director Kristalina Georgieva and pointed out how the package was approved during a war-like situation.

The Government cited IMF data to indicate that out of the 28 support programs for Pakistan, the funds have largely been used for arms and weapons and not to improve fiscal health. For India to initiate a nomination process demanding a 'grey list' status for Pakistan, India would require the support of other FATF member countries. The plenary is the decisionmaking body of the FATF, which meets

Union External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar with German Chancellor Friedrich Merz during a meeting, in Berlin, Germany

JAISHANKAR BLASTS WEST

New Delhi: External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar has said no one has supported the military regime and undermined democracy in Pakistan in so many ways as much as the West. He also described the threat of terrorism as a major "collective challenge" facing the world alongside climate change and growing poverty.

Making these assertions in an interview to Danish daily Politiken. Jaishankar criticised Europe for backing Pakistan when it was under military dictatorship, "Our borders have been violated by Pakistan in Kashmir ever since our independence in 1947. And what have we seen in the eight decades since then," he asked. "That large, democratic Europe, to use your own term, has stood side by side with military dictatorships in the region.

"No one has supported the military regime and undermined democracy in Pakistan in so many ways - as much as the West." he said. The external affairs minister was in Copenhagen as part of his three-nation tour of the Netherlands, Denmark and Germany laishankar emphasised that India supports countries' sovereignty and internationally recognised borders. "But my worldview and my view of Europe are shaped by my own experiences. You talk about the inviolability of borders - well, why don't we start with the inviolability of my borders?

"That's where my world begins. But we've always been told that we had to solve that ourselves," he said. Jaishankar's remarks came when asked about "democratic" India's support to authoritarian Russia in terms of its large oil purchases when Moscow has been waging a war against Ukraine. On India's oil purchases from Russia, Jaishankar said Europe was driving up energy prices for all developing countries, including India by sourcing crude oil from the Middle-East.

three times a year, usually in February, June is not a member of FATF, but of Asia and October. The FATF has 40 members. Pacific Group on Money Laundering and over 200 jurisdictions have commit-(APG), the largest FATF-Style Regional ted to the FATF recommendations through Body. India is a member of APG as well the FATF-Style Regional Bodies. Pakistan

Stormy affair of crew, pax

¬he IndiGo flight en route to Srinagar that encountered severe turbulence initially requested the Indian Air Force's Northern control Air Traffic Control (ATC), to deviate towards International Border (IB) due to weather related turbulence. However it was not approved. Later, the crew of the airline contacted Lahore ATC to enter their airspace to avoid the turbulence but the same was refused too. Crew members initially attempted to return but as they were close to the thunderstorm cloud, they decided to penetrate the weather, forcing the pilot to navigate the hailstorm and severe turbulence. Crew members chose to continue at the same time heading to exit the weather by the shortest route towards Srinagar.

In a detailed statement about the incident, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) said there was no injury to any passengers who were on the flight and that the aircraft's "nose radome" was damaged.

"As per crew statement, experiencing severe turbulence, the crew first requested Northern control (IAF) for deviation towards left (International Border) due to weather on the route, however, it was not approved. "Later, the crew contacted Lahore to enter into their airspace to avoid the weather but the same was refused too," DGCA said.

According to the DGCA, the crew initially attempted to return back but as they were close to the thunderstorm cloud, they decided to penetrate the weather. "Subsequently, they encountered hailstorm and severe turbulence. Crew chose to continue at the same heading to exit the weather by the shortest route towards Srinagar," the statement said.

According to Indian Air Force (IAF) sources, the Northern Area Control advised the IndiGo crew within the frame of the NOTAM, ensuring safety of aircraft and passengers. Sources said the IndiGo crew was guided to a safe landing by Indian Air Force authorities on May 21, after it was denied emergency access to Pakistani airspace while navigating a severe hail-

INDIA, PAKISTAN CLOSE SKIES

New Delhi: India and Pakistan have both extended their mutual airspace bans, preventing each other's airlines from operating within their respective territories.

Pakistan on Friday extended the closure of its airspace for Indian aircraft and aircraft operated by Indian airlines and operators by a month-till the early morning of June 24, according to a fresh notice to airmen (NOTAM) issued by Pakistan's aviation authorities.

Soon after that, India also issued a new NOTAM extending the ban on Pakistani aircraft and airlines in its airspace. As per a Notice to Airmen (NOTAM) released by the Ministry of Civil Aviation, on Friday, aircraft registered in Pakistan-including those owned, operated, or leased by Pakistani airlines or operators - are barred from entering Indian airspace until June 23. The restriction also applies to Pakistani military aircraft, the notice stated.

"Pakistan civil aviation authorities have issued the NOTAM (Notice to Airmen) shutting the country's airspace for Indian aircraft. The sources said the IndiGo aircraft was immediately assisted in co-ordinating their route diversion by contacting Delhi Area and passing requisite contact frequencies of Lahore control for overflight weather diversion request. Once Lahore refused overflight clearance, and the aircraft proceeded towards Srinagar, the flight was subsequently professionally assisted till a safe-landing at Srinagar airfield by giving control vectors and groundspeed readouts, the sources said.

The incident pertains to IndiGo's 6E 2142 flight that was caught in bad weather, including strong turbulence, on Wednesday evening. Though passengers and crew escaped without injuries, the aircraft's nose cone was damaged leading to its grounding for inspection and maintenance.

Dramatic visuals that have emerged on social media show the A321 Neo aircraft shaking violently amid the storm, which ravaged Delhi-NCR and Uttar Pradesh, leaving over 50 dead and several trees uprooted.

Delhi issues advisory as COVID-19 cases rise

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ New Delhi

¬he national Capital has reported 23 COVID-19 cases, prompting the Delhi Government to issue an advisory asking all hospitals to prepare for availability of beds, oxygen, medicines and vaccines. The advisory, issued by the Health Department, comes in the wake of several States reporting COVID-19 cases.

This proactive step comes as several Indian cities, including Mumbai, Chennai, and Pune, ramp up surveillance and preparedness measures in response to an uptick in cases. Mumbai has emerged as a focal point in this current wave, reporting 95 COVID-19 cases in May alone.

In its advisory, the Delhi Government has asked health institutions to send all positive samples for genome sequencing to Lok Nayak Hospital. "The hospitals must ensure preparedness in terms of availability of beds, oxygen, antibiotics, other drugs and vaccine. All equipment such as ventilators, Bi-PAP, oxygen concentrators and PSA must be in functional condition," it stated.

Daily reporting of all parameters must also be done on the Delhi State Health Data Management Portal, it said. "Refresher training of dedicated staff may be conducted. Reporting of Influenza-like Illness (ILI) and Severe Acute Respiratory Illness (SARI) cases in all health facilities (OPD/IPD) on a daily basis on the Integrated Health Information Platform (IHIP) portal. Confirmed influenza and CÔVID-19 cases may also be reported on IHIP under L form. Adequate testing as per Covid-19 testing guidelines. Ensure COVID-19 testing of 5 per cent ILI cases and 100 per cent

Herald case gets murkier

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ New Delhi

→ he Enforcement Directorate's (ED) chargesheet in the National Herald case names several Congress leaders for giving funds to Young Indian, a company controlled by Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi. The ED in its chargesheet said that several senior leaders across several States contributed lakhs of rupees to the company, which is now under investigation for what it described as a well orchestrated financial cover-up. The agency further charged that Rahul and Sonia Gandhi were beneficiaries of the funds transferred to Young Indian under the guise of donations. Major donations came from Congress ruled States like Telangana, Karnataka and Punjab. The ED's chargesheet also names Telangana Chief Minister Revanth Reddy, money into Young Indian Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivkumar and former party treasurers Ahmed Patel and Pawan Kumar Bansal as major fundraisers for Associated Journal Limited (AJL) and Young Indian, controlled by Sonia and Rahul.

According to the chargesheet crores were received by Associated Journal Limited (AJL), the publisher of National Herald daily, for advertisements. The ED also found that similar payments were made to Young Indian on the instructions of Congress leaders. More than 12 entities gave ₹6.8 crore rupees to AJL in the name of advertisements. In the chargesheet, the Enforcement Directorate (ED) has named several individuals who contacted people to raise money for advertisements in the National Herald through Associated Journals Limited (AJL).

The ED's investigation also points to similar donation patterns in Karnataka and Punjab. Former Congress treaurer Pawan Bansal allegedly instructed Karnataka Congress President DK Shivakumar and his brother, MP DK Suresh, to contribute ₹25 lakh each in April 2022. In the same month, a trust linked to Shivakumar, the National Education Trust, donated a staggering ₹2 crore to Young Indian.

In Punjab, Amit Vij, who contested the Assembly elections, donated ₹3.30 crore in three separate tranches in 2015. The ED suspects these donations were not voluntary contributions but were instead routed as part of a deliberate scheme to funnel money into Young Indian. Sources indicate that the agency is now looking into whether these transactions violated provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act

'The pattern, timing, and coordination of these donations suggest a systematic effort to inject funds into Young Indian using party loyalists and State-level leaders," said ED officials. According to the ED, among those who solicited funds were current Telangana Chief Minister and former State Congress president Revanth Reddy, the late Ahmed Patel, and former Union Minister Pawan Bansal.

From bombs to semiconductors: PM Modi hails rising north east

rime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday here said the Northeastern region, once synonymous with "bombs, guns and blockades", is now witnessing unprecedented progress, with the Government determined to accelerate its growth story. He also said his Government follows a zero tolerance pol icy, be it terrorism or Naxalism.

Underlining these points while addressing the 'Rising North East Investors Summit, the prime minister said diversity of the Northeast is its biggest strength, and every State in the region is declaring its readiness for investment and leadership.

"The Northeast is emerging as a key destination for two strategic sectors energy and semiconductors," he said and added that the role of Assam is growing in strengthening India's semiconductor ecosystem. He said the first Made in India chip from a Northeast-based semiconductor plant will soon be introduced, signaling a major milestone for the region that will unlock opportunities for cutting-edge technology and solidify the region's position in India's high-tech industrial growth. The prime minister said peace and law and order are the most crucial factors for any region's development. He said the Northeast was once associated with "bombs, guns and blockades" that severely impacted opportunities for its youth. "Our Government has a zero-tolerance policy against terrorism and insurgency," he said. The Government's consistent efforts towards peace agreements resulted in 10,000

young individuals abandoning arms to embrace peace over the past 10-11 years, Modi said. He said this shift has unlocked new employment and entrepreneurial opportunities within the region. The prime minister said the Government has made extensive investments in hydropower and solar power across all Northeastern States, with several thousand crore worth of projects

He said beyond investment opportunities in plants and infrastructure, there is significant potential in manufacturing, including solar modules, cells, storage solutions and research. Modi said the Northeast is synonymous with a thriving bio-economy and bamboo industry, tea production and petroleum, sports and skill, as well as an emerging hub for ecotourism.

SC seeks reply on Kota suicides

PIONEER NEWS SERIVICE ■ New Delhi

¬he Supreme Court on Friday grilled the Rajasthan Government over the surge in student suicides in the city of Kota calling the situation "serious".

A bench of Justices JB Pardiwala and R Mahadevan said 14 suicide cases were reported from the city so far this year. What are you doing as a State? Why are these children dying by suicide and only in Kota? Have you not given a thought as a State?" Justice Pardiwala asked the counsel representing State of Rajasthan.

The counsel said a special investigation team (SIT) was formed in the State to examine cases of suicides. The top court was hearing a matter over the death of a 22-year-old student studying in IIT, Kharagpur. The student was found hanging in his hostel room on May 4. It was also dealing with another case of a girl, who was a NEET aspirant and was found hanging in her room in Kota where she lived with

The bench learnt that an FIR was lodged in connection with the death of IIT Kharagpur's student. The top court, however, questioned the four-day delay in the FIR which was registered on May 8. "Don't take these things lightly. These are very serious things," the bench said.

The bench referred to a March 24 verdict of the top court which took note of recurring cases of student suicides in higher educational institutions and formed a national task force to address the mental health concerns of students and prevent such incidents.

On Friday, the bench said a prompt filing of the FIR was necessary in such cases in line with the verdict. "Why you took four days to lodge an FIR?" the bench asked a police officer concerned, present in court. The officer said the FIR was lodged and the investigation in the case was underway.

SARI cases.

"You continue with the investigation in accordance with law," the bench told him. It came on record that the IIT Kharagpur authorities alerted the police soon after they learnt about the suicide. The bench, however, was not convinced with the explanation of the IIT Kharagpur counsel and the police officer. "We could have taken a very strict view of the matter. We could have even proceeded for contempt against the police officer in-charge concerned of the jurisdictional police station,"

The bench then refrained from saying "anything further" with the FIR being lodged and progressing investigation. The investigation, it said, should be carried out expeditiously in the right direction. In the Kota suicide case, the bench disapproved non filing of the FIR. The State's counsel said the investigation in the case was ongoing and the SIT was aware of suicide cases in the State.

"How many young students have died so far in Kota?" the bench asked the counsel. After the counsel said 14, the bench retorted, "Why are these students dying?" It said the task force constituted by the apex court would take its time before giving a composite report to the court.

Ramlila this year to salute Operation Sindoor in Delhi

VAISHNAVI MISHRA ■ New Delhi

¬o celebrate the victory of righteousness over evil as embodied by Lord . Ram, the stellar performance of the Indian armed forces against terror sponsoring Pakistan during Operation Sindoor will reverberate at 850 Ramlila venues through short films across the city during Navratras from September 22 to October 3.

As autumn arrives in Delhi and the air turns festive with the onset of Navratri, a powerful blend of devotion, patriotism, and tradition is set to unfold across the city. This year, the capital's age-old Ramlila performances—revered for their vivid retelling of the Ramayana—will open with something never seen before: a heartfelt tribute to the bravery of the Indian armed forces. Before Lord Ram takes the stage to vanquish evil in his timeless battle against Ravan, the audiences will witness another tale of couragethis one rooted in present—day India. In a decision that blends mythology with modern-day heroism, around 850 Ramlila committees across Delhi will either stage a play, a tableau or will screen a 15 to 20minute short film titled "Sainya Shaurya: Operation Sindoor" before their nightly shows, as per their budget.

This short film or stage enactment will highlight the Indian Army's recent offensive, Operation Sindoor, launched on May 7. This daring mission targeted terror camps in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Jammu and Kashmir, following the horrific Pahalgam attack in April that took 26 innocent lives. The operation, which hit nine high-profile terror locations, is now being recognised not just in military records but on cultural stages steeped in centuries-old

Acquitted at 104 after trial for 48 years

BISWAJEET BANERJEE ■ Kaushambi

¬or 104-year-old Lakhan Saroj, the last five decades have been a long wait for justice. Accused of murder in 1977, when he was just 56 years old, Lakhan has finally been acquitted-48 years after the incident, and decades after his life was forever changed. Sitting on a woven cot in a mud courtyard in Kaushambi district, Lakhan's frail frame and pained legs tell the story of time more clearly than his words. He cannot stand for long or walk without support. When asked what led to the fight all those years ago, his memory remains vivid. "There was tension with Jagan and Prabhu—people from our own community. They broke my aunt's hand, then later my uncle's leg," he recalls. "We were told not to retaliate. But on August 6, 1977, 10 or 12 of them came drunk, with sticks in their hands. They attacked us, and we fought back. Prabhu got injured in the clash. He later died." Lakhan, along with Kalesar, Deshraj, and Kallu, was arrested by the Sarai Akil police and sent to jail. Though granted bail after a few days, the murder trial dragged on. In 1982, the Sessions Court in Prayagraj sentenced all four to life imprisonment. Lakhan challenged the verdict in the High Court, but what followed was a saga of legal delays, missing lawyers, and sheer neglect.

"We hired several lawyers over the years, but they took money and left," he says. "We did not understand court matters. Every time we went to the police station to ask, they told us nothing will happen, go home." Years passed in limbo. Then, in 2014, he was sent to Naini Jail in Prayagraj-now over 90 years old and barely able to walk. "They did not make me do any jail work due to my age. Everyone treated me kindly," Lakhan says quietly.

AAP MLA Arrested in Major Corruption Case; Mann Govt Says No Mercy for the Corrupt

hockwaves rippled across Punjab's political landscape on Friday as the ruling Aam Aadmi Party's (AAP) MLA from Jalandhar Central, Raman Arora, was arrested by the Vigilance Bureau (VB) on corruption charges. The high-profile arrest came mere days after the State Government withdrew Arora's security cover — an action that, in hindsight, signaled impending disciplinary steps.

Arora, a first-time legislator and considered a close confidant in party circles, now joined the growing list of AAP leaders facing corruption charges, raising both political heat and questions of internal accountability.

The arrest followed an early morning raid by the VB at Arora's residence in Ashok Nagar, Jalandhar. By evening, the MLA was formally taken into custody, accused of orchestrating a racket involving bogus notices sent via municipal officials and extorting money to suppress these official Multiple bags filled with documents were seized during the operation, exposing what officials are calling a "network of extortion" operated under the guise of civic administration. The case stemmed from the arrest of an Assistant Town Planner (ATP), Sukhdev Vashisht, a municipal official linked to Arora, who allegedly acted on the MLA's instructions to issue fabricated notices.

Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann, maintaining the party's consistent posture of "zero tolerance for corruption", took swift ownership of the action, publicly stating: "No one is above the law — not even our own. The Aam Aadmi Party was born from the anticorruption movement, and we will never allow betrayal of that cause." AAP's official social media handles echoed this sentiment, posting: "Be it our own or anyone else, the corrupt will face consequences."

The VB's operation began at around 8:45 am, when a team arrived at Arora's home At the time, the MLA was reportedly heading out but was intercepted near a local temwhere the search commenced. Later, Officers left the premises carrying three bags filled with incriminating documents. The arrest is linked to an earlier case involving a Municipal Corporation officer arrested on bribery charges, with Arora allegedly being the "kingpin" of a "recovery racket" that extorted money by misusing official notices.

Sources confirmed that substantial documentary evidence was recovered, including records of transactions, falsified municipal notices, and other materials linked to the extortion scheme. Later in the day, Arora was formally arrested, and his personal assistant was also detained for questioning. A simultaneous raid at the residence of Arora's relative, Rajiv 'Raju' Madan, did not yield additional evidence.

According to the Vigilance Bureau, the MLA is accused of misusing his influence over the Jalandhar Municipal Corporation to target local residents — particularly small traders and industrialists — by issuing notices related to illegal construction. These notices, allegedly sent at Arora's behest through ATP Vashisht, were later 'settled' in exchange for bribes. As per sources, the racket had been operational for months before Vashisht's recent arrest helped the Bureau unravel Arora's involvement. The VB confirmed that a formal FIR had already been registered in connection with the case.

'The system functioned like a coordinated extortion racket — notices were issued under fabricated pretexts, panic was created, and "settlement" demands were made. Files would then be closed, often with digital trails erased or manipulated. The investigation uncovered several objectionable documents during the raid, which is expected to further expose the depth of the scam," he added.

Ironically, just four days before the arrest, Arora had been appointed to the Punjab Vidhan Sabha's Committee on Public Undertakings, further highlighting the political disconnect between perception and internal investigation. The MLA's sudden fall from grace was preceded by the quiet withdrawal of his security — previously comprising 12 police personnel — by the State. When confronted about the security withdrawal, Arora had, at that time, said: "I don't know the reason. I am a loval and honest member of the party. Whatever the government decides, I respect.'

Opposition Attacks

The opposition wasted no time in capitalizing on the development. Senior BJP leaders including Manoranjan Kalia, KD Bhandari, Jagbir Singh Brar, and Sheetal Angural held a joint press conference demanding that the action not remain symbolic. "The Mann Government must take this case to its logical conclusion. Previous arrests like that of Vijay Singla and Fauja Singh Sarari lost steam after initial hype," Kalia said. The BJP also questioned AAP's seriousness in fighting corruption, citing instances where arrested leaders later attended party functions. Sheetal Angural further revealed that crucial audio evidence had been handed over to the authorities weeks earlier and warned against "political whitewashing".

Senior Congress leader and the Leader of Opposition in Vidhan Sabha Partap Singh Bajwa dubbed it another "optics exercise" by the Mann Government to salvage its image. Accusing AAP of shielding tainted leaders, Bajwa said that no real convictions have followed previous corruption allegations. "This isn't a crusade, it's a political theatre," he remarked, citing cases involving other AAP Ministers and MLAs. He questioned why action wasn't taken earlier if misdeeds were known. Bajwa dismissed AAP's "zero-tolerance" claim as a hollow slogan, saying that Punjab needs accountability, not gimmicks.

Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) spokesperson Arshdeep Singh Kler said that AAP's socalled "92 jewels" are now being exposed one by one. He questioned whether this action was genuine or just political theatre ahead of the Ludhiana bypoll. "Is this just another scripted drama to divert public attention from the Centre's takeover of BBMB?" he Kler also demanded clarity on the status of earlier corruption cases involving Dr Vijay Singla, Fauja Singh Sarari, Amit Rattan Kotfatta, Charanjit Channi, and Raja Warring, asking, "What happened to those investigations?" AAP Hails the Move

Meanwhile, AAP insiders emphasized that the arrest proved the party's commitment to probity. "This is what real accountability looks like. No favouritism, no shielding. Íf our MLA is guilty, he will face the law like anyone else," said party spokesperson Neel

Sources in the Vigilance Bureau revealed that the case against Arora had been building for nearly a month. Following Vashisht's arrest, the VB had closely scrutinized financial records, call logs, and digital communication between the ATP and the MLA. Vigilance Jalandhar SSP Harpreet Mander, who led Friday's operation, remained tightlipped but affirmed that the Bureau had gathered "substantial evidence" before proceed-

As investigations continue, Raman Arora remains in custody. The Vigilance Bureau is expected to seek further remand to delve deeper into the financial web linked to the extortion operation. The extent of political fallout — and whether it affects AAP's cleangovernance image — will depend not only on the robustness of prosecution but also on the consistency of the government's future

AAP's Anti-Corruption Image Takes a Hit as More MLAs Face Serious Allegations

Raman Arora's arrest is far from an isolated case — it is merely the latest in a troubling series of corruption allegations against Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) legislators in Punjab, casting a long shadow over the party's lofty promises of clean governance. Since assuming power in March 2022, the Mannled State Government has repeatedly found itself battling controversies triggered not by opposition forces, but by its own elected representatives. The list of MLAs embroiled in corruption or financial irregularities is steadily growing, and public patience is wear-

Among the most high-profile early casualties was Mansa MLA Vijay Singla, who was dramatically sacked as the Health Minister and arrested in May 2022, within months of coming to power, for allegedly demanding kickbacks on departmental tenders. While the swift action was initially hailed as a bold stand against corruption, the momentum faded once Singla was released on bail and quietly resumed political activity, with the case lingering unresolved in the courts.

Guru Har Sahai MLA and former Minister Fauja Singh Sarari also stepped down in January 2023 following a viral audio clip that purportedly exposed an extortion plot — but no formal charges were ever filed, and Sarari remains politically active. Then came Bathinda Rural MLA Amit Rattan Kotfatta, arrested in February 2023 after his aide was caught red-handed accepting a bribe to release development funds. Kotfatta, too, secured bail and continues to function as an Amargarh MLA Jaswant Singh Gajjanmajra's arrest by the Enforcement Directorate in a Rs 40-crore bank fraud case, and ED raids against Mohali MLA Kulwant Singh in the massive Rs 48,000-crore Pearl Group scam, further complicate the party's claim of probity. While the party has attempted to distance itself from these financial cases by branding them "non-political" or "personal", the public perception of widespread impropriety within AAP's Punjab unit is hard to ignore.

Despite Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann's repeated assertions that "no one is above the law", the ground reality is more ambiguous. Many of the accused continue to wield influence, attend party events, and represent their constituencies, even as investigations drag on without clear outcomes. Critics argued that the government's selective and incomplete enforcement undercuts its own narrative. making the difference between optics and accountability increasingly difficult to dis-

'No One Will Be Spared, Ours or Theirs": Mann Reaffirms Zero-Tolerance Stand on

As another Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) legislator finds himself in the dock over corruption charges, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Friday doubled down on his government's declared war on graft, asserting that there would be "no pick and choose" in his administration's sweeping crackdown.

Responding to the arrest of Jalandhar (Central) MLA Raman Arora, Mann issued a sharp and unapologetic video message: For us, corrupt is corrupt — whether ours or theirs. Anyone whose hands are drenched in corruption will not be spared by my government." Mann, reiterating his administration's zero-tolerance policy, said that no individual, regardless of political stature or affiliation, will be shielded. "Mere affiliation to the ruling party or the opposition does not give license for corruption. The law will take its course — swiftly and sternly," he declared in a video statement.

The Chief Minister emphasized that the fight was not personal but systemic. "This crusade is not against a single person. It is against a corrupt system that has hollowed out governance and looted public resources. Since taking office in 2022, we've been committed to restoring integrity to public life,"

Referring to corruption as a "heinous crime against humanity", Mann accused the corrupt of plundering taxpayers' money and betraying public trust. He pointedly warned both politicians and bureaucrats that misuse of power — especially when it comes to blackmailing traders, shopkeepers, or harassing the common citizen — would not be tolerated under any circumstances.

Calling upon citizens to become active participants in the anti-corruption drive, Mann encouraged the people to report instances of bribery, harassment, or extortion. "This is a people's movement. If anyone delays or obstructs your work for corrupt reasons, raise your voice. My government will stand with you and take action,"

By taking tough stands even against members of his own party, Mann seeks to flip the political narrative, positioning AAP as a party that does not shield the guilty, but leads from the front in cleaning up public life. "There is no favouritism in this fight. We owe honest governance to the people of

Punjab Cabinet Amends Property Rules; Reforms Approved for Industry, Police and Governance

o strengthen municipal finances and foster administrative efficiency, Punjab Cabinet on Thursday approved a series of policy decisions, including an amendment to streamline property payment procedures, a boost to industrial innovation, and reforms in police service rules.

At the heart of the Cabinet meeting was the approval of a key amendment to the Punjab Management and Transfer of Municipal Properties Rules, 2021. The amendment reduces the time allotted for the payment of sale price by allottees of urban local body properties to six months. Earlier, allottees had the option of paying in six halfyearly installments, stretching over three years. Now, buyers will be required to deposit the full amount within 180 days of

Rs 5-cr for Punjab Innovation Mission

In another forward-looking move, the Cabinet approved an allocation of Rs five crore to the Punjab Innovation Mission, a strategic initiative designed to position the state as a hub for industrial growth and entrepreneurial development. The Mission aims to generate employment, attract investment, and promote a robust innovation ecosystem across Punjab. Officials stated that the Punjab Innovation Mission has already begun playing a vital role in catalyzing economic development. Health Deptt monitoring Covid-19 situation, no cause for panic: Hry Minister

PNS CHANDIGARH

7ith Haryana reporting four new Covid-19 cases amid similar reports emerging from other parts of the country, Haryana Health Minister Arti Singh Rao on Friday said the State Health department is closely monitoring the situation to ensure public safety and preparedness. She also said that there was no cause for panic

Haryana currently has four active Covid-19 cases - two in Gurugram and two in Faridabad, with no international travel history. All four cases (two male and two female patients) are mild in nature and are currenty under home quarantine. The Minister said that there has been no requirement for hospitalization, and all patients are under regular medical supervision.

All four individuals were previously vaccinated against Covid-19, which has helped keep symptoms minimal. A person from Gurugram district who was earlier detected with the virus has already recovered.

Rao further said, "There is no need to panic. This variant is mild and manageable, and we are following all advisories issued by the Government of India from time to time. Citizens are advised to remain calm and continue following Covid-appropriate behaviour.

The Health Minister said that to ensure readiness, civil surgeons across the state have been directed to maintain logistics and treatment facilities. The Haryana Government continues to prioritize the health and safety of its citizens, Rao added.

Covid-19 is now considered another type of viral infection in which basic precautions such as hand hygiene, wearing masks in crowded areas and avoiding unnecessary gatherings are encouraged.

Governor Felicitates players of Gully Cricket Tournament

Chandigarh: The Prize Distribution Ceremony of the Gully Cricket Tournament, jointly organized by the UT Cricket Association (UTCA) and Chandigarh Police, was held at the Punjab Raj Bhawan on Friday. Governor of Punjab and UT Administrator, Gulab Chand Kataria, presided over the ceremony and felicitated the winners and outstanding players in the presence of UTCA President Sanjay Tandon, SSP Kanwardeep Kaur, Education & Sports Secretary Prerna Puri, SSP City Geetanjali Khandelwal, and others. Team No. 187 was crowned champion in the boys' category, while Team No. 1 secured the title in the girls' category. In his address, Kataria praised the UTCA and Chandigarh Police for not only promoting grassroots talent but also playing a crucial role in eradicating social evils. Citing players' statistics from the tournament, he expressed confidence in the tremendous potential of young athletes and emphasized the need to guide them in the right

Jagdish Jhinda elected head of Haryana SGMC

KURUKSHETRA: Jagdish Singh Jhinda was unanimously elected as the president of the Haryana Sikh Gurudwara Management Committee (HSGMC) in a meeting held in Kurukshetra on Friday. Special buses to be operated in Hry for UPSC examinees Chandigarh: The Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) is conducting its Preliminary Examination across the country on May 25. To help students appearing for this exam, the Harvana State Transport Department has decided to run special buses from all districts of the state to the exam centres in Gurugram and Faridabad. Buses will be operated from all districts depending on the demand and number of passengers, and will run one day before the exam and on the day of the exam. Complete work of Int'l Horticulture Market by June 2026: Minister Chandigarh: Haryana Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare Minister Shyam Singh Rana on Friday directed the officials to complete the development works in the International Horticulture Market, Ganaur (Sonipat) by June 30, 2026 so that the market can be started. Rana was reviewing the development works going on in the International Horticulture Market. On this occasion, the Agriculture Minister told the officials that this market will prove to be especially beneficial for the farmers of Haryana, as fruits and vegetables can be sold in the international market.

Haryana Minister urges farmers to use treated water for irrigation, inspects STP

GURUGRAM: Haryana Environment and Forest Minister Rao Narbir Singh on Friday urged farmers in the Farrukhnagar and Pataudi regions here to support the government's efforts in water conservation by using treated sewage water for agriculture and horticulture. The minister made the appeal after inspecting the sewage treatment plant (STP) channel between Gurugram and Jhajjar. A plan is underway to supply treated water from STPs to around 30 villages in the region for irrigation purposes, he said, adding that he will personally engage with the farmers next with to encourage participation in the initiative.

PSCHRC Orders Fresh Inquiry into Youth's Mysterious Death, ASI Summoned for "Procedural Lapses" tiable," he said.

→he Punjab State and Chandigarh (UT) Human Rights Commission (PSCHRC) has reopened the case of Bramhjit Singh Bawa's mysterious death, directing a fresh inquiry and issuing a show cause notice to the investigating ASI for serious procedural lapses. PSHRC chairperson Justice Sant Parkash, while acting on a complaint by the victim's father, observed that the initial investigation was marred by critical omissions, including the failure to collect CCTV footage and reliance on unverified claims, potentially undermining the integrity of a case involving allegations of murder. The deceased's father, Maninder Singh Bawa, had alleged that his son was murdered by an acquaintance, Mr Tanwar, under suspicious circumstances following a late-night a roadside ditch. Highlighting serious deficiencies in the original investigation, the Commission noted that the Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI) at Police Station Mullanpur Garibdass failed to retrieve and examine CCTV footage from the Mullanpur-Shimla Toll Plaza, which could have helped reconstruct the critical timeline. Moreover, the ASI's report cited intoxication as a contributing factor in the ed by technical evidence, while mechanical inspection reports revealed no indication of a vehicle collision, contradicting earlier assumptions. Most damning, however, was the omission of verifiable electronic evidence such as call data records and surveillance footage - that the complainant claimed could implicate Mr Tanwar.

In its April 30, 2025 inquiry report, submitted by the Commission's Additional Inspector General (AIG), investigators established that Bramhjit and Tanwar had met at Omex Market around 10:30-11:00 pm. They departed separately around 1 am. Bramhjit's vehicle was later discovered crashed, and he was declared dead at the

The Commission has now recommended that the SAS Nagar senior Superintendent of Police (SSP) appoint a Gazetted Officer to reinvestigate the case, particularly focusing on the overlooked CCTV footage and discrepancies in Tanwar's version of events. The Commission has also issued a show cause notice to the ASI, demanding his personal appearance before the panel on July 3, 2025 — the next date of hearing — to explain his investigative failures and justify why departmental action should not be initiat-

Himachal CM pleads for increase in allocation of funds from Centre

PNS SHIMLA / NEW DELHI

machal Pradesh Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu on Friday ■pleaded with Chairman of the Finance Commission Arvind Panagariya for increasing the allocation of funds to the state, saying hill states with geographical challenges should get their due.

The officers of the state government made a presentation to the Commission in the presence of the chief minister and submitted an additional memorandum on behalf of the state to press upon Himachal's rights, a statement issued here stated.

The chief minister later told reporters that he will press for the state's rights at the meeting of the Niti Aayog under the chairmanship of Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday, where he will also raise the issue of promoting tourism and hydro projects and building a big airport at Dharamshala. He said Himachal Pradesh harnesses 12000 MW of power, but gets only 12 per cent as free royalty out of the total power generated. "The state's royalty should be increased as we harness the state's waters," Sukhu said, adding that public-sector units should be allowed to take over power projects in the state and Himachal should get a bigger share. Asked about the state's finances, the chief minister said the state is focusing on fiscal discipline and fiscal prudence by cutting down on wasteful expenses.

He accused the BJP of indulging in financial indiscipline by granting freebies and subsidies just to remain in power, but people rejected their politics of allurements. Sukhu said Himachal is the only state that gives MSP on milk and is promoting natural farming by giving a subsidy to farmers.

Sukhu also said that the Kishau hydroelectric project is of national importance and the financial burden of the project should be borne entirely either by the Centre or by the major beneficiary states such as Delhi, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan.

Govt Institution in Hry & a Square in Ladwa to be named after Maharishi Kashyap: CM Saini

PNS CHANDIGARH/KURUKSHETRA

aryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Friday announced that a government institution in the state will be named in honour of Maharishi Kashyap. In addition, he also announced a grant of Rs 21 lakh each for the expansion of Kashyap Rajput Dharamshalas located at the pilgrimage sites of Kurukshetra and Kapal

Addressing the gathering at the state-level celebration of Maharishi Kashyap Jayanti organised under the 'Sant-Mahapurush Vichar Samman and Prasar Yojana' in Ladwa, he also declared that a square in Ladwa will be named after Maharishi Kashyap. He further announced that a plot will be given for the construction of a Kashyap Rajput Dharamshala in Ladwa, Kurukshetra or Indri, subject to a feasibility assessment. All other demands presented would be referred to the relevant departments to assess the feasibility so that they can be fulfilled on a priority basis, he added.

While paying tribute to Maharishi Kashyap, Saini said that the Kashyap coming back to ancient times. During the Ramayana era, it produced powerful rulers such as King Nishad, who offered shelter to Lord Ramchandra Ji during his exile. The community also made significant contributions to India's freedom movement.

Saini said that the State Government is fully committed to spreading the messages and teachings of great spiritual and historical figures through the Sant-Mahapurusha Samman Vichar Prasar Yojana. In order to realize their vision of equality and social justice, the present government is implementing a range of welfare schemes aimed at uplifting the most underprivileged sections

India's stern message to Turkey

In a sharp message, India asks Turkey to press Pakistan to dismantle its cross-border terror infrastructure

· n a significant diplomatic signal, India has asked Turkey to "strongly urge" Pakistan to dismantle its decades-long support to cross-borly urge "Pakistan to distinance its decease its general services and der terrorism. This comes amid escalating tensions between New Delhi and Ankara, particularly in the aftermath of Operation Sindoor, India's recent military response to terror threats emanating from Pakistan.

The statement from the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) was unequivocal. "We expect Turkey to strongly urge Pakistan to end its support to cross-border terrorism and take credible and verifiable actions against the terror ecosystem it has harboured for decades," MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said. The latest diplomatic chill traces back to Turkey's public condemnation of India's precision strikes against terror camps in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir under Operation Sindoor. While India maintained that the strikes were defensive and targeted infrastructure linked to terrorism, Turkey chose to align itself with Pakistan, issuing statements that echoed Islamabad's narrative and reportedly offering diplomatic and material support.

Further complicating matters, Turkey supplied drones were reportedly used by Pakistan during recent escalations, raising strategic and security concerns in New Delhi. This alignment has only deepened India's perception of Ankara's growing closeness with Islamabad, especially on issues directly affecting India's sovereignty and internal security. India's response has been both diplomatic and administrative. India's expectations from bilateral partnerships include respect for its core security concerns, especially those related to terrorism. This direct message to Turkey now one of the closest ally of Pakistan, comes not only as a warning but also as a recalibration of India's diplomatic engagement with Turkey, which has in recent years sought a broader role in South Asia's geopolitics under President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

Apart from diplomatic initiatives India has also taken some action to show its displeasure with Ankara. India recently revoked the security clearance of Çelebi Aviation Pvt Ltd, a Turkish-origin company that manages ground services at nine Indian airports. India's firm stance reflects its evolving foreign policy approach, especially toward countries that attempt to take positions on South Asian conflicts without acknowledging India's security imperatives.

As India asserts itself as a leading voice in the Global South and a major global economy, its message to Turkey may also be aimed at a broader international audience: partnerships cannot be one-sided or blind to terrorism. For now, India's message is clear, international partnerships must be grounded in mutual respect, and there can be no ambiguity when it comes to terrorism. As regional alliances shift and global fault lines emerge, How Turkey responds to India's call to action may well define the trajectory of its bilateral relationship with the world's largest democracy.

The rebel poet who roared against Empire

Through defiant poetry, soul-stirring songs and justice-driven prose, Nazrul emerged as a symbol of resistance and unity. As we mark his 126th birth anniversary, his legacy still echoes — challenging injustice and stirring conscience n the grand arena of India's fight for freedom, Kazi Nazrul Islam's voice roared like a tempest, shattering the stillness of colonial oppression. Known affectionately as the Bidrohi Kobi (the Rebel Poet), Kazi Nazrul's verses, prose and melodies pulsed with an unyielding spirit of defiance, fervent nationalism, and profound humanism.

He transcended the role of a mere poet. He was a cultural luminary, a visionary who wielded his pen as a sword, igniting revolutionary fervour with every drop of ink. As Pulak Kumar Das of Kalinagar Mahavidyalaya, West Bengal, perfectly encapsulates, "Nazrul strives boldly to decolonise the territory of the Indian subcontinent through the voice in his rebellious poetry."

Born into a humble Muslim family on May 24, 1899, in Churulia village, Asansol subdivision, Burdwan district of undivided Bengal, Kazi Nazrul Islam was the son of Kazi Fakir Ahmad and Zaheda Khatun. He fearlessly employed his powerful poetry as a tool for decolonisation across the Indian Subcontinent against the British Raj, through his literary works like 'Jugobani' (The Message of the Age), 'Rudra Mangal' (The Violent God), 'Anandamoyir Agamone' (The Advent of Coming of Joy,1922), and his publication 'Dhumketu' (The Comet).

Kazi Nazrul Islam's literary power goes beyond mere words; it awakens the Bengali consciousness in general and societal consciousness per se - through time. His poetry, prose and music combine to form a rich expression of revolutionary thought and deep emotion, weaving together themes of social justice, equality, and nationalism with remarkable skill. His poetry resonates with a visceral intensity, channelling the collective pain and hopes of the oppressed.

His involvement in the Indian Independence movement drew the ire of the British authorities, leading to his imprisonment. But Nazrul's revolutionary spirit remained unbroken, evidenced by his writing. 'Rajbandir Jabanbandi' (Deposition of a Political Prisoner) — is one such masterpiece that documents Nazrul's experience and perspective. Further, his literary works delved into the lives and struggles of the marginalised masses in the undivided Bengal, championing their emancipation and thereby igniting a fire in millions of Indians, urging them to rise against all forms of socio-political and economic oppression.

One of Nazrul's poems, Bidrohi (The Rebel), published in 1922, running into almost seventeen stanzas, marked a literary earthquake in Bengali poetry. It was unapologetically fierce, infused with mythic allusions, and defied the passive tone prevalent among poets of the time.

Nazrul did not merely write — he roared with defiance. Through poems like Bhangar Gaan (The Song of Destruction) and fiery writings in Dhumketu (The Comet), he scathingly attacked British colonial rule. His mission was India's liberation. Pulak Kumar Das, in his June 2024 paper "Kazi Nazrul Islam The Voice of Protest Against British Rule' (JETIR, Vol. 11, Issue 6), notes Nazrul's arrest in 1923 for his fearless critiques. As Nazrul declared, "I am a poet, sent by God to speak the unspoken Truth... I have not rebelled against a mere King; I have rebelled against injustice." Even books like Jugbani and Bisher Banshi were also banned. In the area of songwriting, Kazi Nazrul composed nearly 4,000 songs, now collectively known as Nazrul Geeti. These compositions were (read are) far more than just melodies, they're powerful expressions of justice and spirituality. Even today, they continue to be performed on various platforms around the world by artists dedicated to this unique musical genre. The rebel poet and writer masterfully fused folk, classical, and Sufi traditions, channelling, both divine yearning and revolutionary fervour. His songs, such as "Amar Shonar Bangla" (My Golden Bengal) and "Dolonchapa," (swinging or undulating Jasmine), radiated lyrical grace and patriotic pride. As Abu Rayhan observes in his paper Kazi Nazrul Islam and His Impact on Bengali Culture and Society," "Nazrul's music transcended barriers of class, caste, and creed," becoming a unifying force in Bengal's cultural identity. "His songs, imbued with themes of love, longing, patriotism, and spiritual devotion," Rayhan writes, "resonated deeply with the masses," weaving a timeless musical legacy that still stirs hearts

A similar sentiment echoes in Bidrohi Kobi's essays and articles, where the authorpoet critiques the unjust social order with a passionate call for equality. In his powerful piece 'Samyabadi' (The Communist), Nazrul envisions a classless society grounded in 'socialism and human solidarity.' With compelling rhetoric, he champions the cause of the working class and denounces capitalist exploitation. His prose becomes "a clarion call for revolutionary change," urging readers to confront injustice and work towards a just future, embodying his lifelong commitment to social justice, dignity, and collective emancipation.

Kazi Nazrul Islam also transcended the conventional boundaries of his Muslim faith to compose a mesmerising collection of devotional songs, particularly those dedicated to Goddess Kali, popularly called 'Shyama Sangeet', that are not merely hymns, but profound expressions of a soul deeply immersed in the divine mother's fierce yet compassionate embrace.

Rachel Fell McDermott, (Professor of Asian and Middle Eastern Cultures, specializing in South Asia, especially India and Bangladesh) observes in her work on "Encountering Kali" that, "Nazrul's Kali songs are a remarkable example of how a poet from an ostensibly different religious background could not only understand but also profoundly articulate the devotee's intimate relationship with the Goddess, imbuing his verses with a unique blend of passion, surrender, and a revolutionary spirit that saw in Kali the embodiment of liberation." This fusion of fervent devotion with an inherent rebellious streak made Nazrul's Kali songs resonate deeply with a diverse audience, solidifying his unique position in the pantheon of Bengali devotional literature.

These songs, suffused with intense emotion and raw surrender, reflect a unique confluence of bhakti (devotion) and rebellion, where Nazrul sees Kali not only as a divine Mother but also as a symbol of cosmic energy, justice, and transcendence.

The legacy of Kazi Nazrul Islam is multifaceted and enduring, continuing to inspire and influence Bengali culture, literature, music, and social discourse even after 126 years, as we celebrate his 126th birth anniversary on May 24. His designation as the 'National Poet of Bangladesh' underscores his monumental importance. As societies grapple with divisiveness and extremism, Nazrul's call for humanism and interfaith harmony provides a powerful counter-narrative. Let we cleanse our hearts!

Finding shelter in God amid spiritual confusion verses 15.1 to 3 of the Bhagavad Gita, Lord Krishna states that this material world is upside down. Its meaning is, "What appears good doesn't turn out to be so good, and what appears not so good maybe really good." A couple of examples will illustrate the message of the Lord. Video games with lots of violence attract children. They love to spend a lot of time in it. What is its effect on them? It contributes to aggressive behaviour and negatively affects their sleep, mental health, attention and academic performance.

Contrarily, healthy foods like vegetables, fruits, etc. are not preferred as they should; one loves what is tasty, but does not have much nutritional value like

In another verse, Lord Krishna states that spiritual practices are avoided by a common man, while a realised soul shuns lustful activities. (2.69) What do we see? The answer is given by the Lord Himself, "Out of thousands of men hardly anyone strives for perfection." (7.3) This perfection refers to taking active shelter from God and gaining unimaginable benefits both material and spiritual. I am a real beneficiary. Because I am mortally afraid of my past bad karmaphalas, which can manifest over time. If I remain in the shelter of God, He is sure to extricate me from any bad situation. (18.58) Similarly, I am not at all prepared to be relocated helplessly life after life in different places and species. I would rather remain in the shelter of my Lord and be assured of a nice next birth, leading to liberation from this painful birth and death cycle in a few births.

The question to be answered is: "Why it is so rare to become a devotee of God?" The reasons are many. The first one, as stated earlier, is everything is upside down. And with our material knowledge, of which we are so proud, we cannot see. Then, harmful sense objects are proliferating. They are actively being promoted for commercial interests. One has to be very disciplined to avoid them. Believe me, I have to practically isolate myself. Even then, my so-called smartphone tries to trap me. Fortunately, my determination to stay on the right path helps me be guided and protected by my Lord as I am. I cannot imagine staying away from God's shelter for long.

If harmful sense objects are so dangerous, the three gunas (modes) are not any less. Let me explain. Everything we see has been made up of the three gunas. They are the basic ingredients of the Creation. Even our bodies and natures are made up of them. These guns are present in our natures in some proportions. For example, a good man will have say 60 per cent goodness, 30 per cent passion and 10 per cent darkness. Contrarily, a bad man will have 60 per cent darkness, 30 per cent passion and 10 per cent goodness. All of us will have some percentage of the three gunas. (18.40) And these three guns always compete against one another. That is why even a good person becomes lusty, greedy, angry, hateful or fearful sometimes. One does not realise this fact and gets in trouble helplessly. He or she feels that whatever is being done by him or her is alright when he is being driven by the mode of darkness. Lord Krishna has stated this fact quite clearly, "I his material nature of Mine, consisting of the three modes, is divine and very difficult to overcome. Only those, who take shelter in Me, they are able to transcend this maya." (7.14) The same is true about our minds. Arjuna has voiced his fear of being unable to control the mind. I have the same apprehension. That is the reason I try to stay in the shelter of God; He protects me from my mind. The list of challenges is long.

Whatever has been stated earlier is not all. We get attached to material objects, our bodies, families, etc. It is so natural, and it causes lots of suffering. We don't realise that everything we possess will be taken away sometime even before death. What has Lord Ramachandra counselled in the Ramacharitamanas, "Get attached with Me, then, your other attachments will be easily controlled." (Sundarkanda 47.2-3) One will be able to do duties about whatever we are attached to. That is all one can do. Do we own anything in the actual sense? Our bodies? They are taken away without us wanting to. What should we do then? The answer is: Do what great devotees of the past have done. They actively remained in the shelter of God. They had realised that material knowledge gives no protection whatsoever; one needs spiritual intelligence.

Pak must dismantle terror dens

Weeks after Operation Sindoor, India has called on Turkey to "strongly urge" Pakistan to dismantle its decades, old terror infrastructure and end its support for cross-border terrorism." We expect Turkey to strongly urge Pakistan to end its support to cross-border terrorism," said Randhir Jaiswal, spokesperson for the Ministry of External Affairs.

The remarks come amid escalating diplomatic tensions between India and Turkey, especially after Ankara voiced support for Pakistan during Operation Sindoor. India had earlier revealed that on the night of May 8, shortly after the launch of the operation, Pakistan deployed 300-400 Turkish drones to infiltrate Indian airspace at 36 locations. In a consequential move, India's Bureau of Civil Aviation Security has revoked the security clearance of Çelebi Aviation Pvt Ltd, a Turkish ground-handling firm operating at nine Indian airports. The diplomatic fallout also reflects a broader regional shift. In the aftermath of the Pahalgam terror attack, Turkey, along with China and Azerbaijan, expressed open solidarity with Pakistan — pointing to a tightening axis in South Asia.

Of these nations, Turkey has become Pakistan's closest strategic ally, with deepening defense cooperation across air, naval, and cyber domains. Joint ventures between the two include advanced projects involving fighter jets, submarines and drone technology.

A Cry for Justice

The recent actions of Israeli forces reflect a harrowing truth — for them, humanity seems to hold no meaning. In Palestine, children are born into a world of bombings, shattered homes, and unending fear. They grow up amid rubble, their childhoods stolen, their schools turned to dust, their parents lost to violence, and their dreams broken before they could begin. How can a child dare to imagine a future when even surviving the present feels uncertain?

Gaza continues to function as an open-air prison. Each new wave of violence deepens the wounds, pushing Palestinians further into hopelessness. The prospect of a peaceful, stable future fades into a distant, unattainable illusion. Meanwhile, the world's powerful voices preach human rights and justice — but their actions betray their words. Their selective solidarity exposes a painful hypocrisy. In place of justice, Palestinians receive only empty condemnations and the deafening silence

The time for empty words is over. The world must act — with decisive, sustained pressure — to end Israel's aggression and occupation. Peace cannot grow where oppression thrives. The lives of innocent people, especially children, must no longer be sacrificed on the altar of political expediency.

Pre-Monsoon Showers expose preparedness

BISHNOI

The arrival of pre-monsoon showers has once again highlighted the unpreparedness of many southern cities in India. Torrential rains have hit coastal regions like Kerala, Tamil Nadu, and Karnataka, throwing life out of gear. Bengaluru, for instance, witnessed a few hours of intense rain that submerged roads and crippled traffic, stalling the city's rhythm for hours. Similar scenes unfolded in towns across coastal Karnataka, Kerala, Goa and Every year, the same blame game ensues — civic bodies, politicians, and corporations pointing fingers while the public suffers. The real culprits, however, remain ignored: poor planning, outdated drainage systems, unchecked plastic waste, and a lack of accountability.

Drains choke within minutes of rainfall, overflowing with silt and garbage that should have been cleared well before the season. While leaders make lofty promises, implementation remains a distant dream. Citizens too must introspect. Indiscriminate waste disposal into sewers worsens the situation.

Unless local authorities invest in planned drainage infrastructure, enforce regular maintenance, and educate the public on waste management, this cycle of chaos will continue. Until then, each downpour will be a dreaded event rather than a welcomed relief.

BIODIVERSITY ON THE BRINK: A WAKE-UP CALL

he editorial on Biodiversity (23-5-25) should sensitise all the concerned. Destruction and threat to biodiversity is growing at an alarming rate and the Governments remain so callous.

Experts and organisations committed to preserve biodiversity are cautioning repeatedly and crying foul so loudly over the damage being done to nature and its gifts which are so essential to sustain our life. Avaricious attitude of the capital and reckless posture of the rulers hasten the process of destruction of the very eco system.

Biodiversity is primarily threatened by habitate loss, over exploitation of resources, pollution, climate change and invasive species. Population growth, consumption of resources and technological advancements are the direct human contribution to the damages that are not addressed with the amount of seriousness it requires. Pecuniary benefits are dominating over all the other aspects that are related to the very existence of the human race. It is said if bees are totally annihilated, in another twenty years the human race will be extinct.

The list of species extinct and in the brim of extinct are increasing without any concern shown from any quarter. Many hotspots of biodiversity are facing threat due to adverse human activities. In India the Himalayas, Western ghats and Andaman islands are a few of the identified hotspots.

All the three areas are becoming more vulnerable due to various contributing factors. Disappearing glaciers in the Himalayas, destruction of forests for various projects in Western ghats and urbanisation projects taken up in the Andaman islands are a few to quote here. It is time to open our eyes and ensure a safe globe for our future generations. Promoting and glorifying God and destructing his most valuable gifts cannot go together.

Ramaphosa in the US: Diplomatic poise, domestic paradox

South African President Cyril Ramaphosa's US tour was diplomatically successful, but beneath the polished optics lie stark contradictions: A post-apartheid nation still burdened by deep economic inequality and a liberation movement entangled in neoliberal compromises outh Africa's President and his team-including a considerable cohort of white South Africans. otably Afrikaners — were hosted at the Oval Office by President Trump, immediately following what was hailed as a remarkably successful diplomatic mission to Arab countries, where even Trump himself was bestowed the gift of one Air Force One flight by Qatar-an unprecedented endowment, the largest of its kind ever received by the United

In addition to Ramaphosa's delegation, there was an intriguing presence of an Afrikaner on Trump's side, Elon Musk. During the meeting, Ramaphosa exhibited enviable political maturity and dexterity, manoeuvring through the maze of Trump's diplomatic traps with subtlety while carefully avoiding incendiary pitfalls that could have compromised his nation's delicate balancing act.

During the meeting, Ramaphosa notably sidestepped fraught questions about the so-called "persecuted white Afrikaners," a narrative amplified by the likes of US Secretary of State Marco Rubio, who has recently sought to expand refugee programmes ostensibly designed to shield white South Africans. Trump, for his part, acknowledged South Africa's pivotal role in geopolitics. However, earlier this year he had dismissively branded BRICS as 'dead'-a miscalculation that belies the intricate global recalibrations currently underway.

This Oval Office episode unfolded as Israel prepares for a possible series of pre-emptive strikes on Iran's nuclear facilities, an ominous prospect with potential ramifications extending well beyond West Asia. Meanwhile, South Africa continues to spearhead a genocide case against Israel at the ICC — a legal crusade emblematic of its self-appointed role as a global moral arbiter, a paradox that exposes its own unresolved historical and domestic con-

To unpack the import of these events and declarations demands a journey through the turbulent and often tragic arc of South African history, the vicissitudes of its liberation movements, and the dissonant realities that confront the post-apartheid state. It compels one to confront the stark incongruities between high-flown rhetoric and tangible outcomes, between aspirational promises of freedom and the sobering arithmetic of socioeconomic decay.

The African National Congress (ANC), led for decades by icons such as Nelson Mandela, is frequently lionised for dismantling apartheid's edifice. Yet, as Ramaphosa himself implicitly acknowledged during the Oval Office encounter, the real challenge lies not in achieving political emancipation but in the herculean task of economic liberation — a task that has stubbornly eluded successive administrations. "What we want," Ramaphosa asserted with diplomatic prudence, "is place," signalling a continued reliance on foreign direct investment (FDI), predominantly controlled by white-owned corporations, particularly Afrikanerdominated economic entities.

This reality is hardly surprising given South Africa's historical trajectory. The economic structures of apartheid were deliberately engineered to concentrate wealth and power within a narrow white minority, primarily Afrikaners and English-speaking elites. Post-1994, despite the political turnover, these economic bastions remained largely intact. As Patrick Bond, a political economist, noted, "the struggle against apartheid was fundamentally a struggle against the apartheid state, but the economic apparatus that undergirded it survived largely unscathed."

Mandela's magisterial legacy — his embrace of reconciliation and nationbuilding — undoubtedly a triumph in moral and political terms, has also been subject to trenchant criticism. His famous injunction that "we must build a society in which all South Africans, black and white, will be able to walk tall without any fear in their hearts" embodies a noble ideal.

NILANTHA ILANGAMUWA

Yet critics contend that this emphasis on social harmony, while indispensable in the post-conflict milieu, has ossified economic inequalities. It arguably deflected urgent demands for structural redistribu-tion that might have addressed the stark disparities entrenched by centuries of colonial and apartheid-

The ANC's post-apartheid governance reveals a tragic ambivalence, caught between the demands of social justice and the pressures of neoliberal global This tension is evident in the contentious Black

Economic Empowerment (BEE) policies, which, despite good intentions, have been criticised for creating a nouveau riche black elite often complicit with the very privilege and corruption the liberation struggle sought to dismantle, while the majority remain trapped in poverty, with unemployment near 30% and widespread informal settlements.

The ANC's political failures highlight a core postcolonial African dilemma: the gap between liberation as rhetoric and governance as reality. As Steve Biko of the Black Consciousness Movement warned, "The most potent weapon in the hands of the oppressor is the mind of the oppressed," yet after decades of freedom, we must question whose minds are truly free and what liberation millions of marginalised South Africans experience. Ramaphosa's Oval Office discourse highlighted these tensions. When queried about South Africa's regulatory environment and the willingness of US companies like Tesla and Amazon to invest, he noted the necessity of creating a "conducive environment" for investment — implying a tacit acceptance of existing economic realities.

The example of Tesla's negotiation with China to build a gigafactory, circumventing local partnership mandates, was evoked as a model of pragmatic economic diplomacy. Yet, this pragmatism stands in stark contrast with South Africa's fraught attempts at regulatory reform, particularly in the communications sector, where an "equity equivalent programme" is under consideration — echoing the very legacies of racialised economic control the nation ostensibly seeks to dismantle.

Moreover, the discourse around the so-called "Afrikaner genocide" — a deeply controversial and polarising claim — reflects broader social fractures in post-apartheid South Africa. While violent crime, including attacks on white farmers, is undeniably high, scholars and international observers largely reject framing these events as genocide. Yet this narrative resonates politically in some domestic and international circles, stoking racial fears and complicating nation-building.

Crime affects all communities, but incarceration rates reveal persistent racial and economic inequalities disproportionately impacting Black South Africans. The "white genocide" claim, especially against farmers, collapses under scrutiny: in 2024, eight farmers died amid 26,232 homicides, and no mass land confiscations have occurred since apartheid exposing societal fracture rather than ethnic cleansing. Allegations of "crimes against whites" expose enduring tensions between diasporic Afrikaners and the post-apartheid state, with such narratives serving as soft power tools that influence global perceptions and complicate South Africa's political development.

The juxtaposition of South Africa's efforts at international moral leadership, such as the genocide case against Israel at the ICC, with its unfinished reckoning with inequality and social justice, reveals a profound dissonance.

The post-apartheid state's self-image as a defender of human rights and international law is undermined by its inability to resolve fundamental domestic contradictions — a disjunction aptly captured by W.E.B. Du Bois's prescient observation that "the problem of the twentieth century is the problem of the colour line," a problem that remains obstinately alive and unresolved in South Africa.

The tragic irony is that the very movements that liberated South Africa remain, in many respects, prisoners of their rhetorical legacy - a legacy of hope and liberation that too often masks a reality of governance marked by factionalism, corruption, and unfulfilled promises. Ramaphosa's skilful diplomacy in Washington, while commendable, is but one chapter in a longer, more fraught story.

The challenge ahead lies not only in maintaining political alliances or courting foreign investment but in confronting the ineradicable legacies of colonialism and apartheid with boldness and honesty.

tion, land reform, and radical economic transforma to create an environment for investments to take Green revolution rooted in cooperation, consciousness and climate justice magine a future where every Indian village isn't just an agricultural base, but a living, breathing factory of green energy - where cow dung becomes currency, where climate action is as common as sowing seeds, and where our farmers are not just cultivators, but guardians of the Earth. With the visionary announcement by Union Home and Cooperation Minister Amit Shah to institutionalise three new Multistate Cooperative Societies for cow dung management, carbon credit valuation and compressed biogas (CBG) production within the cooperative framework. India has moved beyond mere climate rhetoric. We are entering an era of grassroots-led green revolution, and this time, it is not about food alone, it is about energy, ecology, and

This bold shift isn't just administrative, it is civilisational. It marks a new model for climate governance rooted in the soil of Bharat, powered by its villages, and held together by the time-tested values of Sahuarita (cooperation). For decades, the climate debate was dominated by distant capitals, highlevel negotiations, and top-down frameworks. But India has flipped the script. Through the Cooperative Economic Framework, we are building a decentralised climate economy from the ground up, starting from Primary Agricultural Co-op Societies (PACS) and scaling to national-level apex cooperative institutions. This isn't just a new economic model, it is a new democratic environmentalism, where the farmer becomes the financier of a greener future, and the village becomes the vanguard of net-zero

Every PACS has a potential climate command centre. These grassroots institutions, long associated, are now being repositioned as gateways to carbon markets and bio-energy hubs Imagine decentralised biogas sprouting in every block, feeding clean energy into the rural economy, generating carbon credits that can be monetised globally, and creating a new stream of income for farmers, especially in rain-fed, tribal, and hilly regions. From the cow shed to the carbon exchange, the entire value chain can now be organised, monitored, and scaled through the cooperative economic framework.

Integral to this transformation is the restructuring of rural resource cycles, especially around fodder management, water governance, and dead cattle economics. Millions of farmers struggle due to erratic fodder availability and mismanaged water resources, which in turn affect livestock productivity and rural resilience. Simultaneously, dead cattle markets, often a source of environmental decay and social tension, remain underutilised economic zones. By creating a multistate cooperative dedicated to integrated livestock resource management, India can formalise and monetise these neglected rural streams. Fodder banks, decentralised water recharge systems, and organised carcass processing units can provide dignified employment, biofertilizers, organic leather, and feedstock for CBG plants. Such a cooperative would not only > uplift rural livelihoods but create a closedloop bio-economy — fueling agriculture, improving nutrition, restoring ecology, and generating revenue across multiple layers of rural society. It is not merely a reform — it is a rural renaissance waiting to be unlocked.

And the beauty of this approach lies in its inclusivity. The PACS-to-Apex structure ensures that no region is left behind — not the snowbound villages of Uttarakhand and Himachal Pradesh. not the fragile communities of the Northeast, and certainly not the border settlements of Ladakh or Arunachal.

constrained by geography, but the bioeconomy of cow dung and carbon offers a rare opportunity one that aligns with the region's cultural values, ecological needs, and national priorities. When farmers in these areas gain the ability to generate income from climate stewardship, they are not just contributing to GDP — they are also strengthening national security. A prosperous border village is a stable border village. When livelihoods are secure, migration is reduced, local pride is restored, and external threats are diminished. The World Cooperation Economic Framework offers the architecture to take this model to scale. It ensures that financing, training, policy guidance, and market access do not remain siloed. It connects the micro to the macro. It allows the smallest PACS in a tribal hamlet to link with global climate finance and ESG funds. It transforms cow dung — a symbol of rural India's ignored potential — into a goldmine for clean energy, caron credits, organic farming, and rural employment. Through this, India isn't just creating a circular economy — it is building a circular civilisation.

In these places, traditional economic activities are

This is more than a Government scheme — it is a spiritual call to action. A call to revive our ancient ethos of living in harmony with nature now rearmed with modern science, blockchain traceability, and global carbon accounting. It is a call to stand tall on the world stage — not as climate victims begging for compensation, but as climate victors offering solutions. This is our surgical strike - not through bullets, but through biogas, not with missiles, but with methane management, not by harming — but by healing the Earth through cooperation.

We are witnessing a new economic independence movement — this time against carbon dependencv and global climate injustice. As the world watches, India rises. And it rises not from the skyscrapers, but from its soil, its villages, and its unyielding cooperative spirit.From Sahkarita se Samriddhi to Sahkarita se Sanrakshan, the cooperative model is no longer just about managing credit — it is now India's frontline defence in the fight for global climate equity and national unity.

Let the world take note "When Bharat's villages rise, the Earth heals — and the Nation stands stronger". Let us remember that this journey is not just economic or environmental; it is deeply spiritual. This is the Vedic economics meeting of 21stcentury governance. This is Yajna — a collective sacrifice and contribution, where every farmer, every cow, every drop of water, and every seed of cooperation becomes part of a sacred offering to protect the Earth and uplift the Nation.

Let the world understand this clearly, India's climate action is not born of compulsion, but of conviction rooted in consciousness. And as Bharat's villages rise once again in the light of Sahkarita, the prayers of our ancestor's echo in unison, May all be happy, may all be healthy, may all see auspiciousness, and may none suffer." This is the dharma of cooperation. This is the soul of India rising.

How Uttar Pradesh is quietly rewriting the climate story

BISWAJEET

n a country where urban growth often erases green landscapes and worsens pollution, Uttar .Pradesh is carving out a different path — one rooted in sustainability, innovation, and local solutions. The state is quietly transforming its cities through a range of initiatives that seek to restore balance between development and the environment. From forests growing in dense city pockets to roads built with plastic waste and rooftops lined with solar panels, Uttar Pradesh is proving that climate resilience can be built one tree, one street, and one rooftop at a time.

This transformation is not the result of a single grand plan, but rather a series of focused, interconnected efforts. Each addresses a key area — air quality, heat mitigation, carbon capture, or waste management. Together, they reflect a growing realisation: to fight climate change effectively, action must be both local and layered.

One of the standout strategies is the use of the Miyawaki method of afforestation — a technique developed by Japanese botanist Akira Miyawaki that creates dense, fast-growing forests using native species. In Uttar Pradesh, over 310 acres have been converted into such forests. These patches, often planted in highly polluted urban zones, grow rapidly into green oases that regulate microclimates, absorb carbon, reduce noise, and improve biodiversity. A striking example is found near Lucknow's Kukrail forest reserve, where a once-vacant plot now supports over 60 native species in less than two years. Local residents now use the forest patch for walking, birdwatching, and quiet reflection. Similar projects are thriving in Kanpur, Varanasi, and Meerut, highlighting that even small spaces can have a big ecological impact.

This afforestation push is supported by the Upvan Policy, which focuses on greening larger, often degraded urban lands. Under this initiative, an additional 32 acres of green space have been added across cities. These areas are designed not just as parks but as ecosystems — spaces that can absorb up to 30 times more carbon dioxide than standard tree-planting efforts. While planting trees pulls carbon from the air, the state is also addressing another major challenge: plastic pollution. Under a bold new initiative, Uttar Pradesh is using shredded single-use plastic to build roads. Mixed with bitumen, this plastic-asphalt blend is being used to construct nearly 1,500 kilometers of roads. The project has repurposed around 2,000 tonnes of waste plastic so far, reducing landfill loads and offering a durable, water-resistant road surface. In Ghaziabad, a three-kilometer stretch built using this method has withstood two monsoons with minimal damage. The success of such roads is inspiring other districts to follow suit. Importantly, this strategy also encourages better waste segregation and ives economic value to plastic waste, creating tunities for waste collectors and recyclers.

Solar Rooftops: Clean Energy at the Top Another pillar of Uttar Pradesh's green revolution is solar energy. Under the PM Surya Ghar Yojana, the state is promoting solar rooftop installations across urban centers. Cities like Noida, Lucknow, and Gorakhpur are seeing a surge in installations — over one lakh rooftops already host solar panels, with more than 11,500 new systems being added each month.

These solar panels are not only reducing dependence on fossil fuels but are also helping to cool homes, mitigating the urban heat island effect. By insulating rooftops, they reduce the need for air conditioning, indirectly lowering electricity consumption. The state's target of eight lakh installations by 2027 makes it one of India's most ambitious decentralised solar programs. Renuka Sharma, a homemaker in Rae Bareli, is among the many who have benefited. Her power bill has dropped by more than 60%, and she now advocates solar energy to her neighbors.

"It's just there — on the roof-saving money and helping the environment," she says. The impact of these green initiatives is already visible. Under the National Clean Air Programme (NCAP), cities like Agra, Ihansi, and Rae Bareli have reported consistent reductions in particulate matter levels. Agra, once infamous for the smog clouding the Taj Mahal, now sees clearer skies thanks to a combination of road sweeping, dust suppression, and increased green cover. Urban planners emphasise that these results are not due to one policy, but a synergy of efforts: more trees, better waste management, solar energy, and innovative infrastructure all working together. Despite the progress, Uttar Pradesh still faces serious environmental challenges, from seasonal pollution spikes to groundwater depletion and the pressures of fast-paced urbanisation. The state's per capita green cover remains below the national average, and solar adoption in rural areas is still limited. However, what's encouraging is the shift in mindset. Environmental stewardship is no longer limited to token tree-planting drives or political speeches. It's becoming embedded in urban planning and civic development. Climate action is now part of housing schemes and infrastructure planning. As India confronts the reality of a warming planet, its largest states will shape the country's response. UP, with its scale and diversity, has the potential to lead by example. If it can continue to transform challenges into opportunities for green innovation, the impact could ripple far beyond its borders. The journey is ongoing, but the direction is clear. The seeds of a sustainable future have been planted, and they're beginning to take root.

India highlights unified stance against terrorism

n Indian Parliamentary delegation on Friday highlighted India's unified and determined stance against terrorism, as it met members of Japan's ruling Liberal Democratic Party.

The all-party delegation led by JD(U) MP Sanjay Jha is in Japan to sensitise global leadership about terror emanating from Pakistan, a month after the Pahalgam attack that left 26 people

"All-Party Delegation from India met Mr Yasuhiro Hanashi, Acting Chairperson of the Research Committee on Counter-terrorism of the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP) and Former Minister of Justice. India's unified and determined stance against terrorism in all its forms was highlighted. Both sides reiterated their zero-tolerance approach to terrorism," the Embassy of India in Japan posted on X.

The delegation also held fruitful interaction with Minoru Kihara, Former Defence Minister of Japan, and Shinako Tsuchiya, Director General of the International Bureau, Liberal Democratic Party (LDP).

"India's strong resolve to fight every form of terrorism was reiterated," it said. The delegation that Jha is leading is one of the seven multi-party delegations

Bangladesh changes top foreign ministry bureaucrat

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Dhaka

 $B^{\text{angladesh's interim government of Muhammad Yunus on} \\ \text{Thursday made a change to the top-level bureaucracy in} \\ \text{the foreign ministry assigning a senior diplomat to temporarily discharge routine duties saying foreign secretary} \$ Jashim Uddin relinquished his responsibilities.

"A decision has been made that until further order, M Ruhul Alam Siddique will discharge the routine tasks of foreign secretary against the backdrop of foreign secretary Jashim Uddin's relinquishment of responsibilities," read a foreign ministry office

The brief order, signed by a foreign ministry director general, said it would be effective from May 23 and it was issued in public interest. The development came while media reports suggested that the government decided to remove Uddin around two weeks ago for "obscure reasons". The Daily Star newspaper two days ago said a sense of uncertainty prevailed in the foreign ministry over reports that Uddin would be removed ommerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal on Friday met US Commerce Secretary Howard Lutnick in Washington, their second meeting within a week, to discuss the proposed bilateral trade agreement currently under negotiation between the two countries. On May 20 also, Goyal held a meeting with Lutnick to expedite the talks on the first phase of the trade pact.

"Held a constructive meeting with Secretary @HowardLutnick for a mutually beneficial trade agreement. Committed to enhancing opportunities for our businesses and people," Goyal said in a post on X. The meeting assumes significance as both the countries are looking at finalising an interim trade pact by July 9, the day America's 90-day suspension of reciprocal tariffs on Indian goods comes to

The US on April 2, imposed an additional 26 per cent reciprocal tariff on Indian goods but suspended it for 90 days. However, the 10 per cent baseline tariff imposed by America remains in place. The four-day discussions between the chief negotiators of both the countries have also concluded in Washington on May 22.

In the interim trade deal, New Delhi is pushing for full exemption from the 26 per cent reciprocal tariff on Indian goods.

Due to the 90-day suspension of the 26 per cent additional import duty, Indian exporters are at present paying just 10 per cent baseline tariffs, instead of 26 per cent earlier proposed. At present, the Trump administration requires approval from the US Congress to bring tariffs below the MFN (most favoured nation) rates. But the administration has the authority to remove the reciprocal tariffs imposed on a number of countries, including India.

India may look at certain commitments from the US on the duty concessions for its labour-intensive sector in the first tranche of the proposed bilateral trade agreement (BTA). Both countries have fixed a deadline to conclude the first phase of the pact by fall (September-October) of this year to more than double bilateral trade to $ 500 billion by 2030 from the current $ 191 billion.

To boost bilateral trade, India is seeking duty concessions for labour-intensive sectors like textiles, gems and jewellery, leather goods, garments, plastics, chemicals, shrimp, oil seeds, chemicals, grapes, and bananas in the proposed pact with

Naidu seeks Centre support for defence manufacturing hub

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

ndhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu on Friday met three Union ministers here and sought the Centre's support for the state's renewable energy initiatives, a defence manufacturing hub proposal and a major water transfer project.

In his meeting with Union New and Renewable Energy Minister Prahlad Joshi, Naidu requested for the allocation of rooftop solar capacity under the Pradhan Mantri Surya Ghar Muft Bijli Yojana and urged expediting approval of the proposals submitted by state electricity distribution companies (DISCOMs) in January.

"Had a fruitful meeting... With the Centre's support, we will reduce energy costs, empower our people, and lead India's clean energy transition," Naidu, a key ally of the NDA, said in a post on X after meeting Joshi. The chief minister has set a target of installing 20 lakh rooftop solar units by 2025. Under the scheme, SC/ST households will receive free rooftop solar systems, while backward caste households will get ₹10,000 per kWp subsidy for up to 2kWp installations. The state's Clean Energy Policy 2024-29 targets an additional 72.6 GW of renewable energy, including 40 GW of solar power.

In a separate meeting with Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Naidu presented strategic vision to position Andhra Pradesh as a national hub for defence manufacturing and aerospace innovation, an official statement said.

The proposals include development of integrated defence facilities, revival of critical manufacturing units, support for indigenous aviation programmes, establishment of testing and training centres, and creation of thematic defence hubs, it said. "We discussed a comprehensive roadmap for Andhra Pradesh to emerge as a cornerstone of India's defence and aerospace future. With proposals ranging from thematic defence hubs and DRDOlinked Centres of Excellence to strategic infrastructure and policy innovations, Andhra Pradesh is fully geared to contribute to Aatmanirbhar Bharat. Grateful for his encouraging response and assurance of full support," the chief minister said in a post on X.

Adani Group to double investment in Northeast

Billionaire Gautam Adani on Friday committed to investing an additional ₹50,000 crore over the next 10 years in green energy, road construction and creating digital infrastructure in the North Eastern states as his conglomerate looks to expand its presence in the east. This investment is on top of ₹50,000 crore that his group had committed to investing in Assam in Speaking at the Rising NorthEast Investors Summit here, the head of ports-to-energy conglomerate said his group's initiative will prioritise local jobs, local entrepreneurship and community engagement.

"Three months ago, in Assam, we pledged an investment of ₹50,000 crore. Today, once again, humbled and inspired by your leadership, I announce that the Adani Group will invest an additional ₹50,000 crore across the Northeast over the next 10 years," he said in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The investments will span green energy, including smart-meters, hydro, pumped storage, power transmission, roads & highways, digital infrastructure, logistics, as well as capacity-building through skilling and vocational training centres.

'But more than infrastructure, we will invest in people. Every initiative will prioritise local jobs, local entrepreneurship, and community engagement. This is what Viksit Bharat 2047 is all about," he said. Adani said over the past decade, in the hills and valleys of the Northeast, a new chapter in India's growth story is unfolding. "A story rooted in diversity, resilience, and untapped potential," he said. "This region is now a source of our cultural pride, economic promise, and strategic direction." And behind this rise is the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who recognised no borders, only beginnings, he said. "When you said, 'Act East, Act Fast, Act First, 'you gave the Northeast its wake-up call." This has been reflected in 65 personal visits by the Prime Minister, ₹6.2 lakh crore of investment since 2014, doubling the road network to 16,000 kms and doubling the number of airports to 18.

Transmission sector grappling with supply side constraints

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi

ndia's power transmission sector is grappling with supply side constraints that is causing a significant delay in completion of ongoing projects, industry officials said. The situation is particularly alarming in the case of High Voltage Direct Current (HVDC) equipment, which is critical for long distance evacuation of renewable energy to align with India's renewable energy 2030 goals. This problem, they said, has been accentuated due to the restrictions imposed on suppliers from countries sharing land borders with India from participating in public procurement. Further, under works contracts, including turnkey contracts, contractors are not allowed to sub-contract to any contractor from a country that shares a land border with India.

The Electric Power Transmission Association has written to the Power Ministry seeking a level-playing field in procurement policy to address the disparity in imports of HVDC transmission equipment from neighbouring countries.

While renewable energy developers are exempt from restriction on subcontracting with companies from neighbouring countries, transmission projects under TBCB (tariff based competitive bidding) framework are subject to these restrictions,

The association added that since HVDC projects are vital for the development of renewable energy, transmission projects under the TBCB framework should also be governed by the same procurement regulations as renewable energy projects. Industry officials said only two domestic OEMs (original equipment manufacturers) provide LCC (the conventional line-commutated AC-to-DC converter) technology, while global vendors are fully booked for the next few years.

This restricted market is pushing project costs upward and extending execution timelines. Also, the monopolistic environment has resulted in higher-than-levelised tariffs (up to 17 per cent) with project timelines from the stage of RFP (request for proposal) to commissioning stretching to as long as 6 years.

According to industry officials, while the order is binding on ministries, autonomous bodies, public sector enterprises, and projects under PPP (public-private partnership) model, the restrictions have also been extended to players that are building transmission infrastructure under BOOT (Build-Own-Operate-Transfer) model with 100 per cent private investment and no government support.

Further, restrictions are being treated differently by two ministries—Power Ministry and New and Renewable Energy Ministry—operating within the power value chain

"Despite tariff based competitive bidding (TBCB) projects not being PPPs, the transmission service providers cannot procure or subcontract from countries sharing land borders with India, thereby severely limiting supplier choices," said an industry

Further, restrictions are being treated differently by two ministries operating within the power value chain. While transmission companies under power ministry face full restrictions, the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy issued a clarification in October 2022 that SECI's procurement of power qualifies as public procurement, but the contracts will not be classified as 'works contracts' and so subcontracting does not apply.

Reliance to invest ₹75,000 crore in North-East: Mukesh Ambani il-to-telecom conglomerate Reliance Industries Ltd will invest ₹75,000 crore in North Eastern states in setting up 350 biogas plants, expanding its telecom services, retail footprint, and clean energy projects, chairman Mukesh Ambani

Speaking at the Rising NorthEast Investors Summit here, Reliance Industries Ltd chairman and managing director said his group will invest in factories for highquality FMCG products in the region and setting up a 150-bed cancer hospital in Manipur. "Reliance has invested around ₹ 30,000 crore in the region in the past 40 years. In the next five years, we will more than double our investments, with our target at ₹75,000 crore," he said. This will create over 2.5 million direct and indirect employment opportunities as the conglomerate aspires to touch the lives of most of the 45 million population in the North-East. Ambani said he is making six com-

In clean energy, Reliance will look to "greatly" enhance generation of solar power in the region, he said without giving details. In line with the vision of converting waste to wealth, Reliance will convert the region's vast 'wasteland into wealth-land', by setting up 350 integrated compressed biogas plants which will turn organic waste into gas which could be used as CNG for transportation as well as fuel in industries and cooking in kitchens, he said. Hybrid vehicles complementing growth of EVs in India: HSBC report ybrid vehicles have complemented the growth of electric vehicle sales In India rather than competing with the latter, according to a report by HSBC Global Research. Reiterating that the Indian automotive landscape will remain a multi-powertrain industry over the medium to long term, HSBC Global Research said hybrids, CNGs, and biofuels are practical medium- to long-term solutions, while the country moves towards eventual electrification.

"We think Strong Hybrid Electric Vehicles

(SHEVs) and Battery Electric Vehicles (BEVs) are not cannibalising each other but, rather, are attracting different sets of customers," the report said.

In states where incentives are offered for SHEVs, BEV sales have also seen strong growth, it added. "In FY25, the growth in EV sales was similar to the growth in SHEV sales, despite incentives being offered on SHEVs by Uttar Pradesh, the largest PV-selling state in India. This trend suggests that SHEV adoption is having a positive effect on BEV sales," the report pointed out.

Asserting that the perception that promoting SHEVs will hinder EV adoption is misplaced, the report said, "This is not a zerosum game, but rather an incremental opportunity where incentivising SHEVs contributes to the broader development of the clean mobility ecosystem, benefiting BEVs and advancing overall market growth."

It noted that EV penetration has improved with new model launches over the last six months. Four-wheeler (4W) EV penetration has improved from 1.9 per cent in the first half of FY25 to 2.5 per cent in the fourth quarter of FY25 and 3.2 per cent in the first quarter of QFY26 quarter-to-date period, driven by launch on MG Windsor and M&M BEVs, the report said.

The company has reported a net profit of ₹2,721.81 crore for the March quarter of FY24, and its revenue from operations stood at ₹37,727.13 crore, according to a regulatory filing by the company on Thursday. Grasim reported a decline of 21.85 per cent in its net profit to ₹7,756.33 crore for the financial year ended March 31, 2025, due to investments in the building Materials business. The company has posted a net profit of Rs 9,925.65 crore in FY24.

Grasim's revenue from operations rose 13.36 per cent to Rs 1,48,477.89 crore, reaching an all-time high, according to the company. The total consolidated income of Grasim, which controls companies as UltraTech, Aditya Birla Capital and businesses such as textiles, chemicals and Building Materials, stood at ₹1,49,936.93 crore, marking an increase of 13.4 per cent from ₹1,32,242.58 crore in FY24.

"Specifically, the Building Materials and Financial Services businesses delivered a robust performance. EBITDA for the year stood at Rs 20,023 crore, down by 4 per cent Y-o-Y due to initial investments for building a strong consumerfacing Paints business, Birla Opus," it said. However, profit after tax (PAT) declined due to "higher interest and depreciation charges on account of investments in the Building Materials business," the company said.

During the March quarter, Grasim's revenue from its Cellulosic Fibre business rose 7.68 per cent to ₹4,050.93 crore. "Domestic sales volumes of CSF (Cellulosic Staple Fibre) grew by 4 per cent Y-o-Y, though overall CSF sales volume stood flat," it said.

Forex traders said, the rupee which had lost 53 paise in the last three trading sessions, settled with significant gains on Friday largely supported by the weakness of the American currency in the overseas market. However, a slight recovery in crude oil underlying weakness in the US dollar index and on rise in risk appetite in global markets and prices and foreign fund outflows capped the appreciation bias in the local unit to some extent. At the interbank foreign exchange market, the rupee witnessed heavy volatility. It opened at 85.95 then touched an intra-day high of 85.11 and a low of 86.10 against the US dollar.

The domestic unit settled for the day at 85.25 (provisional), higher by 70 per cent over its previous close. On Thursday, the rupee depreciated 36 paise to close at 85.95 against the US dollar. "We expect the rupee to trade with a positive bias on improved global risk sentiments. However, selling pressure from foreign investors may cap sharp upside movement," said Anuj Choudhary Research Analyst at Mirae Asset Sharekhan. Choudhary further noted that traders may take cues from existing home sales data from the US. "$-INR spot price is expected to trade in a range of 85 to 85.70," he said.

Meanwhile, the dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, was trading lower by 0.60 per cent at 99.36, strength in riskier currencies. Easing of US treasury yields also pressurised the greenback. Brent crude, the global oil benchmark, fell 0.22 per cent to $ 64.30 per barrel in futures trade. In the domestic equity market, the 30-share BSE Sensex advanced 769.09 points, or 0.95 per cent, to close at 81,721.08, while the Nifty rose 243.45 points, or 0.99 per cent, to 24,853.15.

The report has drawn insights from individuals who attended at least one interview in the past year, with 67 per cent experiencing virtual interviews, followed by 61 per cent phone interviews, and 57 per cent in-person rounds. The report further revealed that nearly half (49 per cent) of candidates with over six years of experience feel wellprepared for interviews.

Confidence declines among mid-career professionals, with just 34 per cent of those having 3 to 6 years of experience reporting readiness. The level of confidence dips further to 29 per cent among early career professionals with 1 to 3 years of experience, it stated.

It also revealed sharp contrasts in confidence level among candidates in different cities. Job seekers in tier I cities lead the way, with 45 per cent saying they feel prepared for interviews, compared to 32 per cent in tier II cities and just 26 per cent in tier III towns, the report said.

an art truly mirror the spirit of resilience and Jself-discovery? At Kalamkaar Gallery, Ritika Aurora's solo exhibition, Celebrating Women and Nature through Art curated by Georgina Maddox, answers with a confident, resounding yes. This show is an intimate exploration of womanhood, inner strength and the quiet power of nature.

Figurative and semiabstract styles come together across her canvases. Delicate pinks, golds, off-whites and earthy browns speak a language of feminine energy and emotional depth. Winged women, butterflies, blooming florals and shimmering gold mists appear throughout, each a metaphor for growth, freedom and transformation. Her art seems to whisper, embrace who you are, let yourself evolve.

The artist's journey itself is one of transformation. Once a homemaker, Ritika has emerged as a confident voice in contemporary Indian art, guided by intuition and inspired by the Art Nouveau and Abstract movements. Her artistic process, as curator Georgina Maddox notes, is deeply intuitive, starting with free-flowing inks and textures before evolving into rich, layered compositions. Elements like paisley prints, lacework, henna patterns and gold leaf carry cultural memory and personal symbolism.

A particularly moving piece features a fragile paper boat floating on turbulent waters, capturing the show's central themes, resilience, vulnerability and the quiet strength that keeps one afloat. It's both deeply personal and widely relatable, encouraging viewers to reflect on their own emotional journeys. Ritika's work champions the

she has represented India at the national level in painting and photography, and has exhibited her works at prestigious platforms including the Jehangir Art Gallery, India Art Fair and international venues in London and Dubai.

There is also a subtle undercurrent of optimism in her work. While the compositions are minimal, they are not cold. The viewer finds warmth in the textures and openness in the forms. These are not meditations on absence, but on presence on the act of being fully aware, both of one's inner world and the space one occupies. The abstraction is not disorienting; it is guiding.

Artist's work is deeply connected to her own journey as an artist. She writes, paints and blogs not for external validation but as an extension of her emotional and creative process. That belief is felt throughout Soul on Canvas. The paintings do indeed speak and they do so gently, insistently, with a voice that is both personal and universal. In an age where much of contemporary art seeks to shock, provoke or dazzle, this exhibition takes a different path. It neither shouts nor performs. It simply exists-like a breath held in stillness, like a moment of realisation. And in doing so, it offers something rare, an experience that lingers not in the eyes but in the mind.

For those willing to pause, this exhibition offers to look at a space to feel. It is not only about meditation as a subject but about making the very act of viewing a meditative one.

With their exit, India will not only need a new Test captain but will also be without two of their most seasoned players, a leadership and experience void, Gambhir admits, won't be easy to fill.

"And yes, we've got to be without two senior players to really experience players. And sometimes I believe that it's the opportunity for some other people to put their

it". He drew a parallel with India's Champions Trophy triumph, which came despite the absence of pace spearhead Jasprit Bumrah.

So yes, it will be tough, but then there'll be people putting their hand up for sure because this question was asked to me before. Champions Trophy as well.

"When Jasprit Bumrah wasn't there and I said exactly the same thing, someone missing out might give another person an opportunity to do something special for the country, hopefully, there'll be other guys waiting for that opportunity," he said. While Kohli and Rohit have bid adieu be available for India in the 50-over

Asked if the two can make the team for the 2027 ODI World Cup, Gambhir said "Look, it's still a long way away. We still have a T20 World Cup before that, and that is again a huge tournament that is going to happen in India, which is in February-March," he pointed out.

"So the entire focus at the moment, after England, will be on the T20 World Cup, and November-December 2027 is still twoand-a-half years away. And I've always said one thing - if you keep performing, age is just a number," he added.

Gill front-runner as India decides on new Test captain

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Mumbai

ndia's cricket selectors will set the ball rolling for the team's long transition Liourney in the longest format when they pick a new Test captain and finalise the squad for what is expected to be a challenging five-match series in England, here on Saturday

The 25-year-old Shubman Gill is a clear favourite to land the high-profile job as Indian embarks on a new World Test Championship cycle following the retirement of stalwarts Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma in a span of one week.

By simple logic, Jasprit Bumrah was the vice-captain on the previous tour of Australia and he should be elevated to the leadership role but question marks over his long-term fitness and workload management are likely to go against him on the discussion table Rishabh Pant has had a forgettable IPL but he remains a vital part of India's transition phase in the Test format. The selectors are likely to make him vice-captain. Barring the leadership conundrum, no major shake-up is expected.

Though Rohit and Kohli's exit leaves a massive void, the likes of K L Rahul can provide much-needed experience in the batting department.

Rahul and Yashasvi Jaiswal are expected to open in the first Test beginning in Leeds on June 20 but hot on their heels will be Sai Sudharsan, who is likely to be picked as a reserve opener.

It remains to be seen if one among Karun Nair, Sarfaraz Khan or Shreyas Iyer make it as an additional specialist batter. Following the retirement of another stalwart, R Ashwin, Ravindra Jadeja will be lead spinner in the squad and it would be interesting to see if the selectors go with two or three spinners in English conditions. If the number is two, then Washington

Sundar may get the nod ahead of Kuldeep Yadav, who is a proven matchwinner across formats. Pant is the leading wicket-keeper batter and the choice for a reserve too his rather straight forward with Dhruv Jurel set to be retained.

Chief selector Ajit Agarkar is expected to address the media after squad announcement and talk about the road ahead for the team undergoing a rebuilding process. There is enough experience in the pace department led by Bumrah but will he last the rigours of a five-match series? There are also concerns over Mohammed Shami's fitness

Can his ageing body recover fast enough in between a long series? Mohammed Siraj is set to be the third pacer in the squad. If the selectors decide to pick five fast bowlers then Prasidh Krishna, Akash Deep and Arshdeep Singh, who is yet to play Test cricket, will also be in the mix.

If the five wise men go for a left-arm pacer, Arshdeep will have competition from Khaleel Aĥmed. The squad will be made public a week before India A begin their tour of England. Any last minute replacement to the Test squad is likely to come from that shadow tour comprising two four-day games.

Three English batters hit centuries against Zimbabwe

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA | Nottingham

the top three batters hit centuries as England posted a mammoth score of 498-3 on the first day of a one-off test against Zimbabwe on Thursday

Openers Ben Duckett and Zak Crawley got their fifth test centuries while No. 3 batter Ollie Pope claimed his eighth ton and ended the day unbeaten on 169. Harry Brook was with him on nine.

The sides met for the first time at test level in 22 years and it was a one-sided start to England's summer of cricket.

Duckett scored 140 and Crawley struck 124. Not to be left out. Joe Root became the fifth batter and first from England to reach 13,000 test runs, joining Sachin Tendulkar (India), Ricky Ponting (Australia), Jacques Kallis (South Africa) and Rahul Dravid (India). But he was out for 34 when, in a rare misjudgment, he top-edged a pull to fine leg to give tall seamer Blessing Muzarabani a first test victory since 2021. Zimbabwe won the toss and bowled first in overcast conditions, but the home side reached 130-0 at 231 came off just 41.3 overs and ended when Duckett holed out to cover off Wes Madhevere. Duckett's knock came off just 134 balls and featured 20 fours and two sixes. Crawley emerged from a poor stretch, including a dismal average of 8.66 on the tour of New Zealand, to pass 3,000 test runs. Pope blazed six fours off the first 18 balls he faced and reached 50 just after the tea Pope was in fine touch and on 61 by the time Crawley reached a patient-looking century off 145 balls. Crawley was out when he swept off spinner Sikandar Raza and fell leg before wicket. Fit-again captain Ben Stokes returned for England after lengthy rehabilitation from a hamstring tear.

England seamer Sam Cook, following several successful seasons in county cricket with Essex and more than 300 wickets, made his test debut at 27 in an inexperienced attack, with Josh Tongue returning after two years for his third test. Zimbabwe brought in batting allrounder Raza, after he was on duty for Lahore Qalandars in the Pakistan Super League. England plays India in a five-test series this summer before trying to win back the Ashes in Australia.

Eyeing top-two Punjab Kings face ousted Delhi Capitals

Riding a wave of success after a decade of pain, a full-strength Punjab Kings will fancy their chances of securing their first top-two finish in 11 years, when they face Delhi Capitals in the Indian Premier League here on Saturday. Apart from the 2014 season when they topped the league table and finished runners-up, PBKS have only made one other playoff appearance in a competition that has been in existence for the past 18 years. Having ended an 11-year drought, PBKS are now relishing the prospect of not just finishing in the top two, but also enter the summit clash and then make a dash for a maiden title.

A squad that is already brimming with confidence was shored up further when their overseas quartet of Marcus Stoinis, Josh Inglis, Aaron Hardie and Kyle Jamieson joined their extremely talented Indian teammates in the Pink City three days ago. All four will be available for selection as PBKS look to book a top-two finish with a win over their beleaguered opponents who were knocked out of the playoffs reckoning after a big defeat to Mumbai Indians on Wednesday

These foreign players left the team after the BCCI had to suspend the tournament for a week due to the military conflict between India and Pakistan that led to the abandonment of the match between these two teams midway through the first innings in Dharamsala on May 8.

The match was called off after 10.1 overs of play after a blackout in the picturesque

The PBKS think tank did well to promptly bring back their overseas contingent after the tournament's resumption, and the squad now resembles a band of men determined to make up for the years of disappointment the franchise faced in the widely watched event. PBKS skipper Shreyas Iyer, who has recently made history by becoming the first captain to lead three franchises to IPL playoffs, has been the key to their success and for the side to go all the way, the stylish batter will need to continue in similar vein in the remain-

Prior to his triumphant campaign with Kolkata Knight Riders last year, Iyer had led Delhi Capitals to the playoffs in 2019 and 2020, including their only IPL final appearance in 2020.

He is also the second highest run scorer this season with 435 runs in 12 matches, and he is gunning for more.

Thanks to the performance of players such as Prabhsimran Singh (458 runs), Priyansh Arya (356 runs), Arshdeep Singh (11 wickets) and Yuzvendra Chahal (13 wickets), PBKS have emerged as the most consistent side this season, accumulating 17 points from 12 matches to secure a playoff berth with two games to spare.

As far as Delhi Capitals are concerned, they have had their chances this season but the lack of big runs in the powerplay consistently and the absence of lead pacer Mitchell Starc towards the end has had an adverse impact on their prospects.

They will look to end to end their disappointing campaign on a high note, but up against an in-form opponents like PBKS, it is easier said than done.

Angelo Mathews to retire from Test next month

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Colombo

eteran Sri Lankan all-rounder Angelo Mathews on Friday announced that the first Test against Bangladesh next month will be his last five-day game as he makes way for younger talent in the traditional format with a "grateful heart and unforgettable memories.'

The 37-year-old will, however, continue to play white-ball cricket for his country. His final Test appearance will be in Galle from June 17 to 21.

"With a grateful heart and unforgettable memories. It is time for me to say goodbye to the most cherished format of the game, International Test Cricket!...The first Test match against Bangladesh in June will be my last redball appearance for my country," he posted on 'X'.

"Whilst I bid adieu to the Test format, as discussed with selectors I will remain available for selection for the white ball format, if and when my country needs me.

"I believe this Test team is a talented side with many future and present greats playing the game. Now seems like the best time to make way for a younger player to take the mantle to shine for our nation," he added.

Since making debut in 2009, Mathews has turned up in 118 Tests, scoring 8167 runs — the third-highest tally in Sri Lanka's history, behind Kumar Sangakkara (12,400) and Mahela Jayawardene (11,814).

He has a fairly good average of 44.62 and has so far smashed 16 hundreds and 45 centuries with a 200 not out being the best of his lengthy career. He also has 34 wickets to his credit.

"A true servant of Sri Lanka Test Cricket. Thank you...For 17 years of unwavering dedication, leadership, and unforgettable moments in the red-ball format. Your commitment and passion have inspired a generation," Sri Lanka Cricket stated in its tribute.

"We wish you all the very best as you step away from Test cricket and look forward to seeing your continued contributions in white-ball cricket," it added. Mathews, who was Sri Lanka's all-format captain from 2013 to 2017, said he has considered playing the format the highest honour.

"Nothing can match that feeling of patriotism and servitude when one dons the National Jersey.

Javagal Srinath named match referee for WTC final

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA Dubai

⊣he Indian team may not have reached the World Test Championship final but former pacer Javagal Srinath will ensure the country's presence in the upcoming marquee clash by serving as its match referee with WTC debutant Nitin Menon doing duty as the fourth umpire.

England's Richard Illingworth and Chris Gaffaney of New Zealand will be the on-field umpires in the WTC final at Lord's. Defending champions Australia will take on first-time finalists South Africa for the mace from June 11-15 at the hallowed venue.

Richard Kettleborough, also from England, who has officiated in the finals of several marquee ICC events, including the Men's World Cup and the Champions Trophy has been appointed as the TV umpire, after having played the same role in the inaugural WTC 2021 final between India and New Zealand. Menon has been named as the fourth umpire for the contest, after having served as the TV umpire for the ICC Men's T20 World Cup final in 2021. Illingworth will be making history in the ultimate Test, having stood as an on-field umpire for all the three

India reached the finals of the first two WTC cycles but both times stumbled at the last hurdle against New Zealand and Australia respectively. ICC chairman Jay Shah commended the experience and merit of the appointed officials and expressed confidence in their performance. "We are pleased to announce an experienced team of match officials for the ICC World Test Championship Final at Lord's, marking the culmination of a highly competitive two-year cycle of Test matches played around the world," Shah

Scheffler opens Colonial with an eagle and trails tour rookie John Pak by 5 shots

cottie Scheffler and John Pak enjoyed the same start to the Charles Schwab Challenge at Colonial with eagles on their respective first holes. The world No. 1 couldn't keep up with the PGA Tour rookie from there. Four days after winning his third major at the PGA Championship, Scheffler opened his attempt at three consecutive victories with a 2-under 68 Thursday. Pak shot 63 for a three-shot lead over nine players, J.J. Spaun the highestranked among them at 27th. Tommy Fleetwood and 2023 British Open champion Brian Harman were among a group of nine players four back of Pak, and Scheffler headlined the 15 players who were five strokes behind.

Defending champion Davis Riley, who is playing the first two rounds with Scheffler, had two double bogeys on the front nine and shot 3-over 73 on the cozy course made famous by Ben Hogan, the only player to win Colonial in consecutive years (1946-47 and 1952-53). Riley is coming off a runner-up finish to Scheffler at the

The others at 4 under with Spaun were Patrick Rodgers, Ryo Hisatsune, Matti Schmid, Beau Hossler, Bud Cauley, J.T. Poston and Ben Griffin. Jordan Spieth, Schettler's fellow hometown favorite and former Texas Longhorn, shot 69 with birdies on two of his final four holes.

Scheffler opened the second of what he considers his hometown events by holing a putt for eagle from off the green on the par-5 first hole and a 23-footer for birdie on No. 2. The Dallas resident played the final 16 holes in 1 over, missing enough fairways and greens to prevent a run at Pak, who finished several hours earlier.

The first of Scheffler's consecutive wins came three weeks ago at his hometown CJ Cup Byron Nelson, which he led wire-towire for an eight-shot victory while tying the tour scoring record of 253.

Scheffler will have to come from behind this time, just as he did in the PGA Championship at Quail Hollow, where he faced the same first-round deficit before surging into the lead in the third round and repelling a Sunday charge from Jon Rahm.

Barcelona seeks three-peat of Women's Champions League titles in Lisbon final

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Lisbon

arcelona is aiming to complete a three-peat of Women's Champions League titles and win its fourth European crown in five years when it faces Arsenal in Lisbon on Saturday. Barcelona is out to reaffirm its status as the dominant force in European women's soccer after it finally beat Lyon and successfully defended its title in last year's final. Its possessionhungry and high-scoring attack is led from the midfield by Ballon d'Or winners Aitana Bonmatí and Alexia Putellas and several other members of Spain's World Cup-winning team that beat England in the 2023 final.

Barcelona will be play its sixth Champions League final in seven seasons and a record-equaling fifth in a row at Lisbon's 50,000-capacity Estádio José Alvalade. The Catalan club has the chance to become the only team other than Lyon to lift the European Cup in three consecutive years.

Standing in its way is an Arsenal team that has excelled as a spoiler this campaign and hopes it can pull off another upset and win its second European title. "They're a fantastic team and they've obviously got the recent history to prove it," Arsenal defender Leah Williamson said about Barcelona in the buildup to the final. "We respect them a lot, but it's a final, so everybody turns up and everybody gives their best."

First-year Barcelona coach Pere Romeu has a side that can hit from all angles with multiple scoring options. It leads all the major team statistics in attack: most goals scored with 44 — to Arsenals' 25 — the highest possession, best pass accuracy and most shot attempts.

Barcelona forward Claudia Pina leads the competition in scoring with 10 goals, ahead of Arsenal pair Mariona Caldentey, who joined from the Spanish club last summer, and Alessia Russo with seven each. Bonmatí and teammate Patri Guijarro lead the competition with five assists each.

Barcelona added to its winning squad in the offseason by signing Poland striker Ewa Pajor, who went on to lead the Spanish league with 23 goals. Pajor, 28, is seeking her first European title after losing four finals with former club Wolfsburg, including the 2023 final to Barcelona after leading 2-0.

"The final is played in the details and we can prepare the details before the game," Pajor said. "What I have also learned because I've played in four finals - you have to be there in the first minute until the end." Barcelona has rolled to a sixth consecutive Liga F title and has reached another Copa de la Reina final, but at the same time it has proven beatable.

Barcelona's home unbeaten run in Liga F came to an end after a record 64 games this season, and it lost to Real Madrid for the first time in 19 clasicos since its top rival founded a women's team. It also started the Champions League with a rare group stage loss to Manchester City.

"We lost a couple more games than we are used to and we lost some games that hurt more than others," Barcelona forward Caroline Graham said, adding about the City defeat: "A lot of people thought that our run to be good in the Champions League was a bit over.

Sudharsan currently focussed on IPL, not on England tour

RESS TRUST OF INDIA ■ Ahmedabad

ujarat Titans opener Sai Sudharsan is thrilled about his Sugnarsan is unined a selection for the upcoming India A tour of England but for now his sights are firmly set on guiding the former champions to Qualifier 1 and final of IPL 2025. The 23-year-old, who has the experience of representing Surrey and scoring a century for the English county side, has been named in the India A squad and is also set to become the rookie face in the Test squad.

"Mentally, we will have to be switched on for the IPL first. Once that story is over, then we can probably think about the India 'A' story. But definitely happy for that opportunity, and I think I would have a great time there," Sudharsan told reporters on Thursday.

The Tamil Nadu opener, currently leading the Orange Cap race with 638 runs in 13 matches, has been one of the standout performers of the season.

"Right now, the most important thing is to finish in the top two so that we get an extra opportunity (of playing in Qualifier 2), if at all we need.

The focus is more on that. Obviously, there are a lot of experiences and learnings in these 13 games (that we have played). So, we keep on filling the gaps wherever we feel like, and we will be ready for the playoffs." Sudharsan said.

Sudharsan has been a vital cog in Gujarat's top order alongside skipper Shubman Gill and wicketkeeper-batter Jos Buttler, forming one of the most formidable top-three combinations of the season. However, all three fell after getting starts in the game against Lucknow Super Giants, leaving the daunting 236-run chase to the largely untested middle order.
