China makes rapid and steady progress in developing COVID-19 vaccines

The country will make its COVID-19 vaccine a global public good when it is ready for application after successful research and clinical trials

Investment

China reports rising inflow in foreign direct investment

Foreign direct investment (FDI) into China recorded a year-on-year increase in the first half of 2021, with a 34.4% increase in June alone.

In the first six months of 2021, China’s实际利用外资金额 reached 211 billion yuan ($32.8 billion), up 34.4% year on year.

The total amount of FDI inflow into China in June alone reached 46.1 billion yuan ($7.1 billion), up 34.4% year on year.

FDI inflow into high-tech industries increased by 79.3% year on year, with data processing and software services, and computer, electronic and communications equipment sectors seeing 62.3% and 76.2% increases respectively.

FDI inflow from selected countries also increased, with the United States seeing a 101.6% rise, the United Kingdom up 56.2%, and Canada up 49.2%.

In the first six months of 2021, the country’s total FDI inflow reached 535.1 billion yuan ($82.4 billion), up 34.4% year on year.

FDI inflow to the country’s six most important regions saw increases of over 100% year on year.

In the first six months of this year, China has rolled out a string of policies to better support foreign enterprises and promote the healthy and stable growth of the FDI industry.

During the period, the inflow of FDI from advanced countries saw steady growth, with inflows from the United States, Hong Kong, and the United Kingdom up 67.2%, 101.6%, and 56.2% respectively.

POVERTY ALLEVIATION

Grape growing helps township reduce poverty

In recent years, the Heihe grape industry has developed steadily, and the town of Heihe, located in the Huanghe Mang Ya Town, has successfully alleviated poverty.

In 2018, the town’s grape planting area reached 3,500 mu (226.67 hectares), with 1,500 mu (100 hectares) used for grape cultivation.

By 2020, the town’s grape yield reached 10,000 tons, with 25 percent of the income of farmers in the town coming from grape cultivation.

In 2021, the town’s grape yield is expected to reach 12,000 tons, with 30 percent of the income of farmers in the town coming from grape cultivation.

The grape industry has become an important part of the poverty alleviation strategy in the town, with the town government providing technical support and guidance to farmers in grape cultivation.

The grape industry has also created many job opportunities for local farmers, who can now earn a stable income from grape cultivation.

The town government is planning to expand the grape planting area to 5,000 mu (333.33 hectares) by 2023, with the aim of achieving full poverty alleviation in the town.

The grape industry has also attracted investors from outside the town, with several new grape processing factories set to be established in the town.

Tourism

“ICH+tourism” creates new models for Yunnan tourism development

The second Saddle of June each year is the “Cultural and Natural Heritage Day” in Yunnan, a special day that celebrates the cultural heritage and natural diversity of the province.

Yunnan province has a rich cultural heritage, with over 26 ethnic minorities living in the province, including the Bai, Yi, and Miao ethnic groups.

Various activities are held each year to celebrate the cultural heritage day, including traditional music and dance performances, traditional sports, and cultural exhibitions.

Tourism is a major industry in Yunnan, with over 100 million tourists visiting the province each year.

The “ICH+tourism” model has been adopted in Yunnan, with the aim of integrating cultural heritage and tourism to create a new model for tourism development.

The model has been successful, with tourist numbers and revenue increasing significantly.

Chi Yang village, a traditional Yi village in Yunnan, has been transformed into a popular tourist destination.

The village has been restored to its traditional form, with traditional Yi houses and traditional Yi cultural elements.

Tourism activities are held in the village, including traditional Yi music and dance performances, traditional sports, and cultural exhibitions.

The village has become a popular tourist destination, with over 100,000 tourists visiting the village each year.

The “ICH+tourism” model has been adopted in other parts of Yunnan, with similar success stories.

The model has the potential to transform other traditional villages in Yunnan into popular tourist destinations.

The “ICH+tourism” model is a new model for tourism development in Yunnan, with the potential to create a new model for tourism development in other parts of China.

Yunnan speeds up infrastructure construction

With a history of over 200 years, Dian Opera, a kind of opera which combines Chinese classics and distinctive Yunnan elements, is listed as a national intangible cultural heritage by the State Administration of Cultural Heritage. Dian Opera is a traditional and popular form of opera in Yunnan, known for its lively, colorful, and expressive performances.

The province has taken measures to protect and promote Dian Opera, including establishing Dian Opera schools, organizing Dian Opera performances, and promoting Dian Opera in various cultural activities.

The province has also invested in infrastructure construction in Dian Opera, including the construction of a new Dian Opera theater, which is set to open in 2023.

The theater will be located in the center of the city, with a seating capacity of 1,000, and is expected to become a major cultural landmark.

The theater will be used to host Dian Opera performances, as well as other cultural events.

The province has also invested in Dian Opera training and education, with the establishment of Dian Opera schools in various cities.

The schools aim to train new Dian Opera performers and ensure the continuation of this traditional art form.

The province has also invested in Dian Opera research and documentation, with the establishment of a Dian Opera research center.

The center aims to collect and preserve Dian Opera materials, as well as to conduct research on Dian Opera history and performance.

In addition to infrastructure construction and education, the province has also invested in Dian Opera promotion and marketing.

The province has organized various Dian Opera performances and exhibitions, both at home and abroad, in order to promote Dian Opera and raise its international profile.

The province has also invested in Dian Opera exports, with the establishment of a Dian Opera export company.

The company aims to export Dian Opera performances, products, and materials, in order to promote the global reach of this traditional art form.

The province has also invested in Dian Opera tourism, with the development of Dian Opera-themed tourism products and destinations.

The province has also invested in Dian Opera media and digital platforms, with the establishment of a Dian Opera digital platform.

The platform aims to promote Dian Opera online, in order to reach a wider audience.

With a focus on promoting Dian Opera, the province has taken a comprehensive approach to protect, promote, and preserve this traditional art form. The province aims to continue investing in Dian Opera, in order to ensure its survival, growth, and international recognition.